

Accession Number

Shelf Number

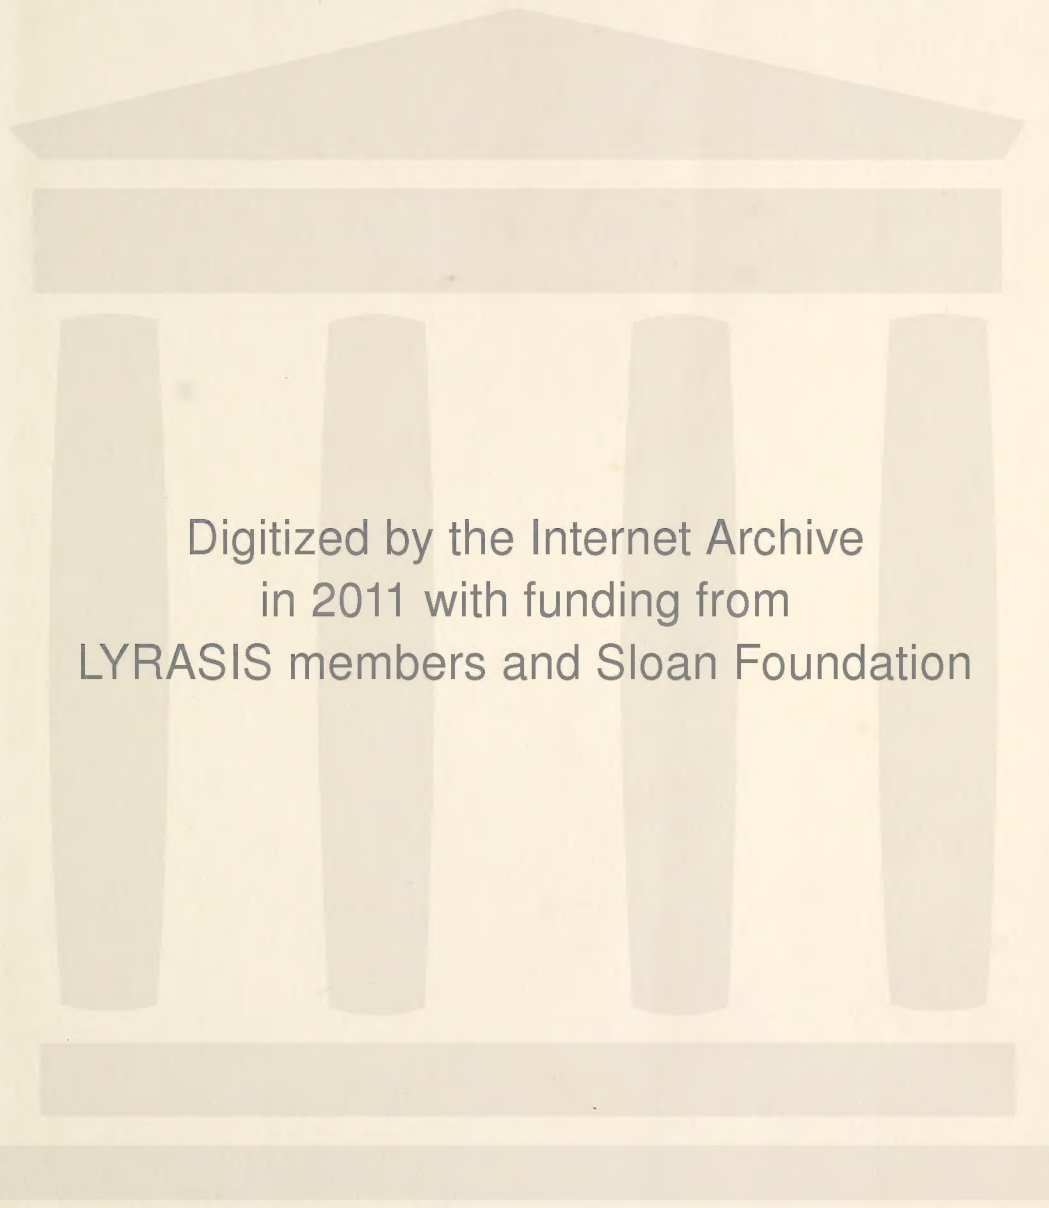

FROM THE LIBRARY OF
DR. ALVA J. McCLAIN, FOUNDER AND FIRST PRESIDENT OF
GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

For Reference

Not to be taken from this room

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2011 with funding from LYRASIS members and Sloan Foundation

The Boston

Journal of the

1

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 1

FOREIGN MISSION NUMBER

JANUARY 3, 1953

LYON, THIRD LARGEST CITY IN FRANCE, CHOSEN FOR OUR FIRST PERMANENT TESTIMONY (SEE PAGE 3)

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Is This New Year the Last Year?

This new year may well be our last year of opportunity to get the Gospel out to the lost and dying of the world; if so, whose shall all the vain earthly things be? We may have all of 1953 as a year of opportunity, but on the other hand it could well be that these words which I have written may be read only by those who are left in the world after the rapture of the church. If we are in the end days, the very edge days, if it's only a half-minute until 12, then how we should be challenged to spend and be spent for Jesus Christ!

The goose flies high in America, as we in this new year think of the prosperity ahead. Oh, yes, we are in a war in Korea, but not so many are thinking too much about it, other than those who have loved ones in the danger zone. Why, aren't we making more money than ever before? Aren't prices good? Isn't the new administration in Washington going to change everything for the better? Sure, we're losing some American boys in Korea, but what's that compared to this great prosperity? I hope not one single reader has such wicked thoughts. Such thoughts are certainly carnal. They make us more dependent on things of this world, and less dependent on the goodness and mercy of God.

Christ Really First?

Is Christ really first in our lives? We sing "I Surrender All," but can we honestly sing it when we are spending unbelievable amounts for home comforts, modern conveniences, the latest model inventions, and yet spend only a pittance for the work of Jesus Christ? Jesus spoke of those who put love and loyalty to parents, children, lands, goods, and such in a higher position than love for the blessed Son of God. I fear most of us don't even catch a gleam of what it is to put Jesus Christ first. But our foreign missionaries know! When they leave home, loved ones, children, parents, modern conveniences and comforts, health, social and educational advantages; when they face bodily danger, disease perils, hatred, communism, superstition, loneliness, heartache; when they are willing to lose themselves in the jungles of a distant land, when they face the embarrassment of being told they are not wanted, when they fight for existence in an antagonistic society; they are able to tell us something of putting Christ first. If they do all these things "for Jesus' sake," should we consider the giving of our money, even money we had planned to spend for selfish or family pleasure, as a comparable thing? Until we have been pained by sacrificial giving as much as they have been pained in sacrificial service we can claim no comparable blessing.

Serving With Many Tears

We know a lot about serving with laughter and hilarity, about serving while enjoying great earthly bounties, about serving as we walk in very pleasant places, but do we know so very much about "serving with many tears"? The Apostle Paul understood, mothers with children 10,000 miles away understand, one sitting by the jungle bedside of a dying loved one understands. How often have we served with many tears? Thousands of people gave $5 for foreign missions last year, thousands more gave $10 or $20, and the sad part of the story is that many thousands more gave absolutely nothing to tell the lost men and women of the world of the living, saving Christ. Do such small gifts, just as we speak of them, make you think of serving with tears? Serving with tears is serving while brokenhearted over the sins of the world, serving when the affection for Jesus Christ is so much greater than any other affection. We must sow in tears and serve in tears if we would abound in the joys of Jesus Christ.

Lyon, France, Chosen

The board of trustees of the Foreign Missionary Society unanimously approved the recommendation of Bro. Fred Fogle, our missionary in France, in approving Lyon, France, as the location for our pioneer work in France. Brother Fogle has been given the "go" sign, and will be moving from Paris to Lyon in the very near future. If suitable housing is found, the moving will have been accomplished at the Christmas season. Few men, even those who have been for many years in France, know the evangelical situation in France better than Brother Fogle. We urge that you remember the Fogle's daily in prayer as they make a start in this new area. It will be hard; not one person has ever suggested that it will be easy. But we have the God of the impossible as the God who makes things possible for us. We march on! Those who are studying in France preparatory to going to Africa will remain in Paris at least for the present.

Missionary Outfit Clubs

We're rejoicing that so many of our churches are really functioning in relation to the Missionary Outfit Clubs. Gifts from the first 14 churches have reached a total of $350. We are especially thrilled by many of the larger gifts which have come from our smaller and newer churches. When all or most of our churches respond in any way proportionate to the first 14, we will have sufficient to care for the outfit needs of the Zielas-kos—that is, its purchase, transportation, and customs. We so greatly appreciate all who are helping in such a gracious manner. We would appreciate having your reports in at the earliest possible time.

Some have written of problems in the execution of the outfit club plan. Please understand that this thing need not be done just the way we suggest. We believe the plan suggested has many merits, but if your church can accomplish the purpose by any variation of the plan, feel free to make changes. Our desire is for a great volume of prayer for our missionary candidates as they go to the field, and for an opportunity to be given for all missionary-minded members of our congregations to make some love gift toward the outfit of every missionary or missionary family. The goal, of course, is at least $1 toward the outfit needs of every such unit.

More Seed for the Church

"The blood of the martyrs, the seed of the church" has been the church's character since the early days. Martyrdoms haven't ceased. Sr. Ricardo Garcia, one of the faithful national evangelists of the Mexican Indian Mission, suffered martyrdom on October 19. He and 2 other national evangelists were serving in the State of Hidalgo when a mob of about 30 fanatics broke into the place of meeting and announced their intention to kill all 3 evangelists. They were taken off to the woods. One was set free; a second, who was stabbed, fell over a precipice and escaped, but the third, Brother Garcia, was shamefully mistreated, beaten, and kicked. They made fun of his Bible and his faith, and finally shot him and left him in the woods. Our sympathies are extended to his loved ones; our prayers are for his fellow laborers and for the Mexican Indian Mission. Pray, too, that our missionaries serving in Baja California may be protected and empowered as they present the gospel message. This fanatical attitude is not characteristic of the Mexican people, except as they are incited by unfriendly priests.

---

WHY LYON?

In the editorials you will have noticed that Lyon, France, has been unanimously approved by the board of trustees of our society as the location for our first permanent testimony in France. We feel you should know something of this great city and some of the reasons for our choice. The paragraphs following, except the last paragraph, are from material prepared by Bro. Fred Fogle and sent to the members of our board for their information. They will answer many of your questions. The picture on the front cover is of just one small section of this great city.

Lyon is the third city of France with a population of 800,000. The surrounding area is rather densely populated—a city of over 200,000 is located 40 miles from Lyon, another of 100,000 or more is 80 miles from Lyon, and yet another of 100,000 or more is 110 miles from Lyon. In addition, there are many smaller cities of 50,000 and less within close proximity.

In comparison to population, Lyon is the least evangelized city in France. In the vast area to the south, north, and west of Lyon, as far as Normandy, there are fewer Protestant churches and fewer gospel testimonies than in any other part of France. There are a few faithful workers in the city and area, but, oh how few, when one considers the estimate made recently that there are not more than 175 or 200 believers in that city of 800,000 souls. Just to the west is an area called the "Auvergne" where there is practically no testimony. Many of the smaller towns with populations as large as 30,000 have NO GOSPEL WITNESS. There are real possibilities for an itinerant ministry; the opportunities are unlimited!

Lyon is one of the business capitals of France and is known as an intellectual center. There are available any number of travel agencies which could be used in caring for the transportation needs of the various missionaries traveling between the United States and Africa by way of France. Plane connections may be had from this area to Bangui just as well as from Paris, and boats from Douala and New York City come regularly to Marseille, which is approximately 150 miles from Lyon.

The educational possibilities in Lyon are second only to Paris. The University of Lyon, second in France, gives a course in French for foreigners very similar to the one offered at the University of Paris. Another school, the University at Grenoble, just a drive of 2 hours from Lyon, has been a favorite of many foreign students of French. Living accommodations in this area for our future missionaries would not be any more difficult to secure than in Paris, and should be much easier.

Of interest, but not having a bearing on the decision to open our testimony in Lyon, are a few historical facts. Lyon was the ancient capital of Gaul. Irenaeus, the "grandson" in the faith of the Apostle John, was a missionary in this area and later became pastor of the church of Lyon. This city was a capital of Protestantism during the Reformation, but is far, far from that now.

On a trip to Lyon during October, in order to spread the Gospel and investigate the area, over 500 gospel posters were put up in Lyon on which were written a Bible text and an offer of a free New Testament. To date I have in my possession 10 letters written by people in Lyon who saw the posters and were interested enough to write and ask for a New Testament.

It is our plan to move into the Lyon area at the earliest possible time, preferably in a town separate from, but at the same time touching on the city proper. As the Lord opens up possibilities and gives contacts, a Bible class will be begun in the town in which we will live and also one in Lyon proper.

Work in the city of Lyon is only a beginning. Testimonies in additional unevangelized areas should begin at the earliest possible moment. From the beginning the burden for such evangelization will be placed as a challenge before French national believers. But we must have more missionaries—2, 3, and if possible, 4 families. Furloughs considered, 4 families would be the minimum requirement in any field. Such expansion in France, considering the needs of all our fields, seems impossible. The flesh says it is impossible, but I am reminded of a Scripture—"With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:26). Our board would be happy to talk with young people interested in serving in France. Self-supporting missionaries in France are a possibility.

THE CASE OF THE MISSING SUNDAY SCHOOL PUPILS

By Mrs. James B. Marshall, Corral de Bustos, Argentina

My Sunday school pupils are missing, it is true, but their whereabouts is not a mystery. I know where to locate each child that should be attending my class. I could go to each one today and invite him to Sunday school, but when Sunday comes he still will be missing from the class. The mystery lies in the problem of how we are going to win these boys and girls for the Lord.

Olga is an attractive child of 12. Although her family are not believers, she attended my Sunday school class during the summer months. As soon as classes started in the public school where she attends, Olga stopped coming to Sunday school. Her teacher is an attractive divorced woman, whose name the whole town links with that of the local priest in a malicious way. Olga is practically forced to attend the Catholic church by the pressure brought upon her by this woman.

A chubby youngster, Carlos, came to my Sunday school class for the first time one Sunday last winter. One of our faithful women talked to him about the Lord and explained to him about the Bible. Carlos became very interested. He lingered to talk after the class, and expressed enthusiastically his interest and his desire to return to the meetings. He attended a few and then we began to miss him. The next time he came to Sunday school I asked him why he hadn't been coming so faithfully as before. He replied, "My mother permits me to come, but my grandmother, who lives with us, beats me for coming to the evangelical church. But I like it, I like it, I like it, and I'm going to come as long as my mother lets me." But Carlos didn't come to the meetings again. When we see him on the streets he expresses the same interest as before, but says that he can't come because of his grandmother's hatred of the evangelicals.

Last summer Marta entered my Sunday school class and assisted quite faithfully for 2 or 3 months. She was very enthusiastic about taking part in our Christmas program. After classes started in the public schools we lost Marta completely. In the school Marta and her little sister claim to be evangelicals and thus are exempt from taking the class in religion. We have visited the mother, seeking an explanation, but lies flow so freely from her lips that we have little confidence in what she tells us. However, she explained that in their neighborhood lives a very faithful Catholic woman who is always stopping Marta on the street and talking to her about coming to our meetings, telling her that only bad women enter the door of the evangelical church. What can a child do when the parents show no interest in the Gospel, when classmates make fun, and when neighbors threaten?

Michael, a boisterous, mischievous boy of 13, never attended my class regularly, but during the vacation months he attended other church meetings quite regularly. He prayed in prayer meeting for his unconverted parents, but when school started Michael stopped coming. He gives as his excuse that he has to study at night and on Sunday afternoon he attends the movie. We believe that the real reason is because he doesn't like the jeers of his classmates.

At one time Chocha was one of the most faithful members of the class and had professed to accept Christ as her personal Saviour. Chocha, unfortunately, is one of many children in a very poor family. Many such children are placed in homes as servants. They receive their room and board and a sum of money which amounts to about $2 per month. Chocha, who is now 13 years old, and her younger sister, who before came faithfully to our primary class, have been placed in Catholic homes as servants. Now they never come to our Sunday school. We are trusting that their professions of faith in Christ were sincere, and that in spite of such strong opposition they will continue faithful to the teaching they have received in our Bible classes.

Sunday school and D. V. B. S. pupils in Argentina.

Such is the case of the missing Sunday school pupils. What is the solution? We face much opposition in our efforts to win children and young people for the Lord, but God is able to overcome all obstacles and we trust that through prayerful, patient effort we'll soon see our missing pupils returning.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fetters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balvo.

JOSEPH OF BATA

By Rev. Harold Dunning, M'Baiki, Africa

The song says that some from every tribe and nation will be there—in heaven! For years now it has looked as though the M'Baka and M'Baiti peoples were striving to be excepted as old David, who died shortly after becoming a Christian, was the only M'Baka believer, and we knew of no M'Baiti believers. It is with great joy that we can now report conversions among these people.

A few years ago a traveling evangelist from M'Baiki stopped to preach to the workmen at a sawmill. Those willing to listen to the "Protestante" preach about the "God of the English" were very few, but among them was a man named Joseph. He asked questions. He was interested. He was a mechanic working on the steam engine which furnished the power for the sawmill, but his home was many miles away in the Belgian Congo—at Stanleyville.

To Joseph the Gospel was good news indeed and brought salvation to his soul. To be saved meant to serve—the modern sophistication that a soul can be saved by Christ and yet not serve Christ never occurred to him. But Joseph could not read or write. What could he do? Joseph did 2 things—he started witnessing for Christ, and he started learning how to read. For some reason he has never been very successful at the second; even today he can barely read a few familiar verses. God has mightily blessed him in witnessing. He led his wife to Christ, and he led several of his friends and fellow workmen to Christ. He has built a little thatch-roofed chapel and has labored to fill it with believers.

A few weeks ago I heard the story of his work. The local priest, visiting his own church at the sawmill, found the congregation much slimmer. He asked the local Catholic teacher for an explanation. The teacher said, "Joseph has stolen them."

"How?" asked the priest.

"He is always visiting people and preaching to them."

The priest then visited the white manager of the mill.

the black man. Often bigoted priests have persuaded managers and owners of plantations, mining camps, and sawmills to suppress the preaching of the Gospel. So Joseph "held his breath" and waited.

Joseph's testimony as a Christian had reached his employer as well as his fellow workmen. He has refused gifts of beer and cigarettes. He has performed his work faithfully and cheerfully. His white boss said to me, "Joseph is a 'brave type' (a good fellow)." We do not know if the priest said anything about the affair. More than likely he did not; he must realize that the people in question are only nominally Catholic. So far Joseph has heard nothing further. He has gone on preaching and the work is growing.

Brother Dunning ready for a trip.

A few weeks ago I stopped to visit Joseph. The chapel was filled and overflowing. The people purchased every New Testament, songbook, Gospel, and verse booklet I had. But joy upon joy, there were M'Baka and M'Baiti people listening! Recently some from these tribes gave witness to their faith by being baptized.

Any work for God costs. Church people at home realize that their gifts are needed. Joseph also has had to give. He has given his free time. Last month the price he has to pay was raised. The company installed electric power and the steam engine has been shut down. The white boss offered Joseph a job on the company steamboat, which would mean that he would have to go to Brazzaville and give up his chapel work. Joseph refused and humbly accepted a job as an assistant mechanic in the garage at more than a 50-percent cut in pay—from $60 to $24 a month. Yes, there is a price to pay in this service—the price of many temporal advantages. The pay, however, is eternal, and there is no substitute.

Pray for Joseph; pray for his work at Bata; pray for his witness among the M'Baka and M'Baiti people. Pray for a young man whom he recently led to the Lord. This young man has expressed a desire to prepare himself for preaching to his own people—the M'Baka.

A native evangelist preaching to his people.

Then he came to Joseph, saying, "Now my white man will make you stop preaching to Catholics. You can preach only to the heathen."

This caused Joseph no little concern. The white man rules Africa. Very often unscrupulous whites oppress

Foreign Missionary Editor's Mail Box

Bossembele, Africa—

"The Lord continues His blessing upon the work at Bossembele. There were 12 decisions this morning (December 1). The crowd was about as large as at any time, even though the service was in the hot sun—the roof has been taken down in the process of enlarging the church.

"Several weeks ago a very wicked woman was saved. Quite a number of the natives are wondering if she will stick it out, but even more are praying for her, so we know He is able if she will but trust Him for victory. All of which makes us praise the Lord.

"The church also made some moves for which we had been praying ever since coming here. In fact, they did so many things all at once that we were hoping they would do that it makes us think they are getting ready to ask us for something.

"1. They adopted a system (envelopes) for tithing. The first Sunday their offerings were 8 times the best they had ever done before.

"2. This so surprised them as to what could be done that they promptly raised the preacher's salary. They tripled it. He isn't even a member of a union.

"3. They appointed 3 (all who were willing at the time—we are praying for a few more to go too) men to go out to 3 large villages that are too far for the people to come in on Sundays. They go out Saturday evenings and hold converts' classes and then preach at a central point on Sunday. We have had several hundred decisions from this method so far.

"Thus is our joy.

"On Wednesdays I have a 'school' for these 3 men and other leaders of the church on methods of teaching a converts' class, singing, how to prepare messages, etc.

"I should have said that point #4 was the fact that the church divided Bossembele town into districts and placed a leader and his wife over all the converts on that road. They hold classes and see that those in charge of the classes are faithful in their teachings. In other words, the teaching of the converts has been farmed out. With close to 400 on the list of those having made decisions, it is too difficult for the native pastor to keep track of them. As soon as the system is working here, we will move on to concentrate on another church. Pray for us."

—"Bob" Hill.

Santa Rosalia, Baja California—

"I arrived here safely by plane on Friday, the 5th of December. On Saturday I tried to locate the believers who were here a year and a half ago. The 2 families who sort of carried the load have recently moved to Guaymas. The reason for the move was mostly that they wanted their children in a church, as the older girls are perhaps 15 and 16 years old. That leaves about 3 adult believers here who were here a year and a half ago, and 2 more they tell me of who live out of town a ways. I met 2 days with the most active of the group, a woman, and there were a few others interested in listening too each time, but as a group they are now inactive. Two other families moved to Mexicali and Ensenada about a year ago, so I don't know what to think of the prospects here unless there were a full-time worker.

"Hope to go to San Ignacio tomorrow or as soon as possible. Will try to keep you informed."

—Walter Haag.

[Editor's note—What a challenge—8,000 people living in Santa Rosalia and only 5 of them believers!]

Bozoum, Africa—

"Yesterday (November 28) 23 men graduated from the Bible institute. Besides the regular people at the Bible institute and Bozoum, we had Dr. Floyd Taber, Miss Marybeth Munn, and Brother and Sister Roy Snyder as guests. Marc Volongou gave the graduation address.

"We burned the tall grass around the concession last evening, and today the place is covered with charred grass stubs. Once again our God has protected and kept through the flames. I always think of the verse, 'Saved, yet so as by fire.' Of course, as long as there are the unburned spots, even at a good distance, there is danger."

—Orville Jobson.

Macapa, Brazil—

"I want to tell you about the chapel we have completed in the 'Creek of the Women.' This 1-room building is covered with grass, has a board floor, and the walls are about 12 by 19 feet. This last Friday evening (October 31) we had our first service there and had about 130 inside and over 50 outside the building. We are praising the Lord for the interest and trust that souls will be saved in the future as we labor here. We will have a Sunday school on Sunday afternoons and at least 1 week-night service per week. This building when painted (whitewash) and equipped with electricity will cost about $120. You can't build for that at home, can you? The believers here have already paid for half this amount, besides giving their time in the building.

"I just recently made a trip to Mazagao with the director of works here in Macapa. We went in the governor's airplane, a trip of only 10 minutes. The mayor of that town has very generously given us 2 lots, or an area of about 125 by 140 feet. It is located right in the center of the town. Since this is located right in the center of the town and in such a desirable location, we feel we must build a little better than the building mentioned above. We purpose to build a 1-room type building, slightly larger than the one at Macapa. This building will cost about $300, and the believers in Mazagao will be helping us."

—Edward D. Miller.

REPORT OF GIFTS

To the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church—July 1, 1952, to December 1, 1952

ATLANTIC DISTRICT

Chambersburg, Pa. ....	$ 15.50
Hagerstown, Md. ....	80.00
Harrisburg, Pa. ....	28.63
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	545.00
Philadelphia, Pa. (1st) ..	125.75
Philadelphia, Pa. (3d) ..	40.67
Seven Fountains, Va. ....	44.50
Washington, D. C. ....	2,003.17
Atlantic District .....	42.00
Atlantic District WMC .....	50.00
	2,975.22

Grace Brethren Church, Chambersburg, Pa.

General Fund .....	50
Rottler Funds .....	15.00
	15.50

Grace Brethren Church, Hagerstown, Md.

General Fund .....	10.00
Rottler Funds .....	70.00
	80.00

Melrose Gardens Brethren Church, Harrisburg, Pa.

Zielasko Funds .....	28.63
----------------------	-------	--

Rosemont Brethren Church, Martinsburg, W. Va.

General Fund .....	415.00
Africa Special Fund ...	130.00
	545.00

First Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

General Fund .....	76.00
Goodman Funds .....	5.00
Maconaghy Funds .....	14.75
Schwartz Funds .....	30.00
	125.75

Third Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa.

M. Kennedy Funds .....	15.17
Maconaghy Funds .....	25.50
	40.67

Trinity Brethren Church, Seven Fountains, Va.

General Fund .....	44.50
--------------------	-------	--

First Brethren Church, Washington, D. C.

General Fund .....	2,003.17
--------------------	----------	--

Atlantic District

Africa Special Fund ...	7.00
Foster Funds .....	10.00
Schwartz Funds .....	25.00
	42.00

Atlantic District WMC

Missionary Residence Fund .....	50.00
---------------------------------	-------	--

CALIFORNIA DISTRICT

Chico .....	9.31
La Crescenta .....	13.91
Long Beach (1st) .....	3,057.64
Los Angeles (1st) .....	146.90
Los Angeles (2d) .....	415.00
Los Angeles (3d) .....	210.00
Modesto (La Loma) .....	5.00
San Diego .....	52.61
Seal Beach .....	288.92
South Gate .....	113.62
South Pasadena .....	421.90
Temple City .....	25.30
Tracy .....	54.59
Whittier (Community) .....	509.78
California District .....	45.00
California District WMC .....	15.00
	5,384.48

Grace Brethren Church, Chico, Calif.

Maconaghy Funds .....	9.31
-----------------------	------	--

Mountain Brethren Church, La Crescenta, Calif.

Maconaghy Funds .....	13.91
-----------------------	-------	--

First Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif.

General Fund .....	2,189.75
Africa General Fund ..	16.00
Africa Leper Fund .....	70.89
Argentina General Fund ..	5.00
Argentina Special Fund ..	100.00
Baja Calif. General Fund ..	25.00
Bickel Funds .....	5.00
Coon Memorial Fund .....	100.00
France General Fund .....	5.00
Nielsen Funds .....	100.00
Samarin Funds .....	61.00
Zielasko Funds .....	380.00
	3,057.64

First Brethren Church, Los Angeles, Calif.

General Fund .....	4.00
Baja Calif. Special Fund ..	115.00
Maconaghy Funds .....	27.90
	146.90

Second Brethren Church, Los Angeles, Calif.

Balzer Funds .....	400.00
Howard Funds .....	7.50
Maconaghy Funds .....	7.50
	415.00

Third Brethren Church, Los Angeles, Calif.

Baja Calif. General Fund ..	10.00
Brazil General Fund .....	109.00
Brazil Special Fund .....	100.00
	210.00

La Loma Grace Brethren Church, Modesto, Calif.

Africa Special Fund .....	5.00
---------------------------	------	--

First Brethren Church, San Diego, Calif.

Baja Calif. General Fund ..	7.56
Haag Funds .....	30.03
Howard Funds .....	15.02
	52.61

First Brethren Church, Seal Beach, Calif.

General Fund .....	288.92
--------------------	--------	--

First Brethren Church, South Gate, Calif.

General Fund .....	75.00
Teeter Funds .....	38.62
	113.62

Fremont Avenue Brethren Church, South Pasadena, Calif.

Maconaghy Funds .....	10.00
Teeter Funds .....	411.90
	421.90

Temple City Brethren Church, Temple City, Calif.

Altig Funds .....	5.30
Baja Calif. General Fund ..	10.00
Maconaghy Funds .....	10.00
	25.30

First Brethren Church, Tracy, Calif.

General Fund .....	20.00
Maconaghy Funds .....	13.31
E. Myers Funds .....	21.28
	54.59

Community Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif.

General Fund .....	502.78
Baja Calif. General Fund ..	7.00
	509.78

California District

General Fund .....	20.00
Argentina General Fund ..	5.00
Kliever Funds .....	20.00
	45.00

California District WMC

Bickel Funds .....	10.00
Howard Funds .....	5.00
	15.00

CENTRAL DISTRICT

Alto, Mich. ....	21.55
Berrien Springs, Mich. ....	39.50
Berne, Ind. ....	20.75
Clay City, Ind. ....	227.00
Covington, Ohio .....	15.75
Dayton, Ohio (1st) .....	140.22
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ..	87.39
Dayton, Ohio (Patterson Park) ..	10.00
Flora, Ind. ....	10.18
Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	210.75
Huntington, Ind. ....	18.29
Lake Odessa, Mich. ....	126.53
New Troy, Mich. ....	21.00
Osceola, Ind. ....	600.00
Sharpsville, Ind. ....	51.80
South Bend, Ind. ....	147.80
Troy, Ohio .....	26.40
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	51.53
Central District .....	655.00
Central District Camp .....	61.81
Central District WMC .....	29.81
	2,706.11

Calvary Brethren Church, Alto, Mich.

General Fund .....	9.00
C. Taber Funds .....	12.55
	21.55

Grace Brethren Tabernacle, Berrien Springs, Mich.

C. Taber Funds .....	7.50
Foster Funds .....	15.00
Zielasko Funds .....	17.00
	39.50

Bethel Brethren Church, Berne, Ind.

Hoyt Funds .....	20.75
------------------	-------	--

First Brethren Church, Clay City, Ind.

General Fund .....	200.00
Foster Funds .....	13.50
V. Meyers Funds .....	13.50
	227.00

First Brethren Church, Covington, Ohio

C. Taber Funds .....	15.75
----------------------	-------	--

First Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio

Byron Funds .....	36.12
Jobson Funds .....	25.00
Magazine Fund .....	3.50
C. Taber Funds .....	75.60
	140.22

North Riverdale Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio

General Fund .....	15.00
C. Taber Funds .....	72.39
	87.39

Patterson Park Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio

C. Taber Funds .....	10.00
----------------------	-------	--

Grace Brethren Church, Flora, Ind.

Foster Funds .....	10.18
--------------------	-------	--

First Brethren Church, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Beaver Funds .....	23.00
Habegger Funds .....	32.00
Mason Funds .....	117.30
C. Taber Funds .....	13.25
F. Taber Funds .....	25.20
	210.75

Grace Brethren Church, Huntington, Ind.

C. Taber Funds .....	18.29
----------------------	-------	--

Grace Brethren Church, Lake Odessa, Mich.

General Fund .....	51.71
Goodman Funds .....	5.00
C. Taber Funds .....	69.82
	126.53

New Troy Brethren Church, New Troy, Mich.

C. Taber Funds .....	21.00
----------------------	-------	--

Bethel Brethren Church, Osceola, Ind.
General Fund .....	500.00
C. Taber Funds .....	100.00
		600.00

Peru Brethren Church, Peru, Ind.
General Fund .....	5.00
C. Taber Funds .....	128.05
		133.05

Grace Brethren Church, Sharpsville, Ind.
General Fund .....		51.80

Sunnymede Brethren Church, South Bend, Ind.
C. Taber Funds .....	15.80
Zielasko Funds .....	132.00
		147.80

First Brethren Church, Troy, Ohio
C. Taber Funds .....		26.40

Winona Lake Brethren Church, Winona Lake, Ind.
Baja Calif. Special Fund	16.53
G. Jones Funds .....	35.00
		51.53

Central District
General Fund .....	630.00
F. Taber Funds .....	25.00
		655.00

Central District Camp
General Fund .....	11.81
E. Myers Funds .....	50.00
		61.81

Central District WMC
Foster Funds .....		29.81

EAST DISTRICT
Aleppo, Pa. ....	10.00
Altoona, Pa. (1st) .....	40.21
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	210.35
Everett, Pa. ....	24.17
Holidaysburg, Pa. ....	10.00
Hopewell, Pa. ....	27.60
Johnstown, Pa. (1st) .....	20.00
Kittanning, Pa. (1st) .....	55.60
Kittanning, Pa. (N. Buffalo) .....	16.95
Martinsburg, Pa. ....	427.95
Meyersdale, Pa. ....	361.20
Mundy's Corner, Pa. ....	69.50
Singer Hill, Pa. ....	10.00
Summit Mills, Pa. ....	28.65
Uniontown, Pa. ....	9.54
East District .....	25.00
East District SMM .....	50.00
East District WMC .....	395.75
		1,792.48

Aleppo Brethren Church, Aleppo, Pa.
General Fund .....		10.00

First Brethren Church, Altoona, Pa.
L. Kennedy Funds .....		40.21

Conemaugh Brethren Church, Conemaugh, Pa.
General Fund .....	10.35
G. Jones Funds .....	200.00
		210.35

Everett Grace Brethren Church, Everett, Pa.
Bickel Funds .....	10.00
Foster Funds .....	14.17
		24.17

Vicksburg Brethren Church, Holidaysburg, Pa.
L. Kennedy Funds .....		10.00

Yellow Creek Brethren Church, Hopewell, Pa.
Bickel Funds .....	14.85
Foster Funds .....	12.75
		27.60

First Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa.
General Fund .....		20.00

First Brethren Church, Kittanning, Pa.
General Fund .....		36.00

Foster Funds .....	13.60
Goodman Funds .....	6.00
		55.60

North Buffalo Brethren Church, Kittanning, Pa.
General Fund .....	13.46
Foster Funds .....	3.50
		16.96

First Brethren Church, Martinsburg, Pa.
Foster Funds .....	29.75
Sumey Funds .....	400.00
		427.95

Meyersdale Brethren Church, Meyersdale, Pa.
General Fund .....	230.80
Africa General Fund ...	60.00
Argentina General Fund	24.00
Foster Funds .....	25.30
L. Kennedy Funds .....	21.10
		361.20

Pike Brethren Church, Mundy's Corner, Pa.
General Fund .....		69.50

Singer Hill Grace Brethren Church, Conemaugh, Pa.
Dunning Funds .....		10.00

Summit Mills Brethren Church, Meyersdale, Pa.
Foster Funds .....	17.50
L. Kennedy Funds .....	11.15
		28.65

First Brethren Church, Uniontown, Pa.
L. Kennedy Funds .....		9.54

East District
General Fund .....	15.00
Baja Calif. General Fund	10.00
		25.00

East District SMM
Africa Special Fund .....		50.00

East District WMC
Africa Special Fund ...	50.00
Brazil Special Fund ...	145.75
G. Jones Funds .....	200.00
		395.75

IOWA DISTRICT
Dallas Center .....	92.76
Garwin .....	71.43
Leon .....	27.15
North English .....	35.85
Waterloo .....	24.11
Iowa District .....	25.00
Iowa District WMC .....	60.00
		336.30

First Brethren Church, Dallas Center, Iowa
Byron Funds .....	25.02
Maconaghy Funds .....	37.06
E. Myers Funds .....	30.68
		92.76

Carlton Brethren Church, Garwin, Iowa
Maconaghy Funds .....	5.50
Thurston Funds .....	65.93
		71.43

Leon Brethren Church, Leon, Iowa
General Fund .....	5.00
Maconaghy Funds .....	22.15
		27.15

Pleasant Grove Brethren Church, North English, Iowa
Byron Funds .....	22.10
Maconaghy Funds .....	13.75
		35.85

Grace Brethren Church, Waterloo, Iowa
Maconaghy Funds .....		24.11

Iowa District
General Fund .....		25.00

Iowa District WMC
Thurston Funds .....		60.00

MIDWEST DISTRICT
Albuquerque, N. Mex. ....		19.00
Beaver City, Nebr. ....		15.00
Cheyenne, Wyo. ....		14.83
Portis, Kans. ....		50.00
Llano Quemado, N. Mex. ....		3.60
Ranchitos, N. Mex. ....		3.00
Talpa, N. Mex. ....		3.85
Taos, N. Mex. ....		6.00
		115.28

Grace Grethren Church, Albuquerque, N. Mex.
Baja Calif. General Fund	15.00
E. Myers Funds .....	4.00
		19.00

Grace Brethren Church, Beaver City, Nebr.
E. Myers Funds .....		15.00

First Brethren Church, Cheyenne, Wyo.
Africa Special Fund .....		14.83

First Brethren Church, Portis, Kans.
E. Myers Funds .....		50.00

D. V. B. S., Llano Quemado, N. Mex.
Baja California General Fund ....		3.60

D. V. B. S., Ranchitos, N. Mex.
Baja California General Fund ....		3.00

D. V. B. S., Talpa, N. Mex.
Baja California General Fund ....		3.85

Canon Brethren Church, Taos, N. Mex.
Baja California General Fund ....		6.00

NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT
Akron .....	10.00
Ankenytown .....	20.00
Canton .....	10.00
Cuyahoga Falls .....	10.00
Homerville .....	1,015.00
Wooster .....	30.00
Northern Ohio District .....	54.61
Northern Ohio District SMM .....	39.22
Northern Ohio District WMC .....	172.21
		1,361.04

First Brethren Church, Akron, Ohio
Byron Funds .....		10.00

First Brethren Church, Ankenytown, Ohio
General Fund .....		10.00

First Brethren Church, Canton, Ohio
General Fund .....		10.00

Grace Brethren Church, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio
General Fund .....		10.00

West Homer Brethren Church, Homerville, Ohio
General Fund .....	15.00
Inman Funds .....	1,000.00
		1,015.00

First Brethren Church, Wooster, Ohio
L. Kennedy Funds .....		30.00

Northern Ohio District
Africa Special Fund ...	44.61
Byron Funds .....	5.00
Hoyt Funds .....	5.00
		54.61

Northern Ohio District SMM
Mishler Funds .....		39.22

Northern Ohio District WMC
Africa Special Fund ...	142.21
Byron Funds .....	30.00
		172.21

NORTHWEST DISTRICT
Albany, Oreg. ....		97.45
Sunnyside, Wash. ....		189.09
Yakima, Wash. ....		25.11
Northwest District .....		36.14

Northwest District WMC .....	15.50	Limestone, Tenn. ....	5.00	Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.
	363.29	Radford, Va. ....	37.35	Africa Special Fund .....	85.00
Grace Brethren Church, Albany, Oreg.		Roanoke, Va. (Clearbrook) .....	121.98	NATIONAL MISCELLANEOUS DISTRICT
Argentina General Fund .....	62.66	Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) .....	85.00	National Miscellaneous .....	59.75
E. Myers Funds .....	34.79		693.40	National WMC .....	2,367.20
	97.45	First Brethren Church, Buena Vista, Va.			2,426.95
First Brethren Church, Sunnyside, Wash.		Maconaghy Funds .....	30.36	National Miscellaneous
Dunning Funds .....	10.00	First Brethren Church, Covington, Va.		Africa Special Fund ...	56.75
Maconaghy Funds .....	50.00	F. Taber Funds .....	1.71	Baja Calif. General Fund	2.00
E. Myers Funds .....	129.09	Mountain View Brethren Church, Hollins, Va.		Zielasko Funds .....	1.00
	189.09	General Fund .....	405.30		59.75
Grace Brethren Church, Yakima, Wash.		Kingsport Brethren Church, Kingsport, Tenn.		National WMC
Maconaghy Funds .....	25.11	General Fund .....	6.70	Africa Leper Fund ...	90.84
Northwest District		Vernon Brethren Church, Limestone, Tenn.		Africa Special Fund ...	686.58
Argentina General Fund .....	36.14	Africa Special Fund .....	5.00	Argentina Special Fund	682.39
Northwest District WMC		Fairlawn Brethren Church, Radford, Va.		Baja Calif. Special Fund	100.00
Maconaghy Funds .....	15.50	Maconaghy Funds .....	37.35	Brazil Special Fund ...	682.39
SOUTHEAST DISTRICT		Clearbrook Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.		France Special Fund ...	100.00
Buena Vista, Va. ....	30.36	General Fund .....	108.98	Nielsen Funds .....	10.00
Covington, Va. ....	1.71	Maconaghy Funds .....	13.00	Wagner Funds .....	15.00
Hollins, Va. ....	405.30		121.98		2,367.20
Kingsport, Tenn. ....	6.70			Total Gifts .....	18,154.55

Ruth E. Reddick, financial secretary.
Homer A. Kent, treasurer.

THE PRICE OF A SLAVE

(A PARABLE FROM AFRICA)

By Miss Ruth Snyder, Bozoum, Africa

Once upon a time in the far-away country of Africa there was a great man. This great man lived in the days when Africa was truly the dark continent. In the days of this great man the light of the glorious Gospel of Jesus Christ had not yet begun to dawn among his people. The very thing which made this man great shows how dark was the African wilderness of his day. His only claim to greatness was that he never needed to work. So numerous were his slaves that it was not necessary for him to take a hoe in his hand to cultivate his garden, yet in his household there was an abundance of food. This food was earned by the sweat of the brows of his enslaved fellow creatures.

Miss Snyder

One wonders how often this hand which had never touched a hoe might have lifted the lash to some poor black back bent over his garden. How often did this hand smite the face of some child whose only offense was to have been born of slave parents? Or perhaps this great man had a genial and paternal attitude toward his extensive household. Whatever he may have been, we cannot know, for he long since has disappeared from the scene of his earthly glory.

One thing we do know about this man is how he obtained the wealth to buy so many slaves. By trade he was an elephant hunter. The tusks of this huge animal were valuable, even in the eyes of the primitives. From the value in exchange, we would probably be safe in saying that the primitives placed a higher price on ivory than do the people of this plastic age. Three ivory bracelets bought a slave. Three ivory bracelets gave the body of one human being to the absolute control of another. Three ivory bracelets bought a man and all his descendants, for the children of slaves are always slaves. Three ivory bracelets were all that was required to gain control of the destiny of a human being. How cheap!

Look at an elephant some day. Try to figure how many bracelets could be made from the tusks of one elephant. You will readily see that a nimble hunter could acquire so many slaves that he himself would be free from the drudgery of common labor.

Often this great man had to follow the elephants far into the wilderness. Many times he must have suffered from hunger and fatigue. Perhaps many times he was in danger from lions or leopards. The howl of the hyena must often have worried him. But the hope of more slaves ever spurred him on to greater effort.

As the grandson of this great man recounted to us the facts concerning his grandfather, we could not but think of One who came to free the slaves. The Lord Jesus came to earth in order to "deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage."

Ah, what slaves we were! The African in his primitive culture, we in our sophistication—all were in bondage through fear of death. There was for us nothing but the destiny reserved for the slaves of sin. But One looked on us with pitying eye. He saw our need. He redeemed us from our horrible bondage only by paying a great price. We were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold (or ivory bracelets), but with the precious blood of Christ. It cost the Lord Jesus His life to save us. Now, you, and I, and this African hunter's grandson are all the Lord's freed-men. No more bondage for us!

What of those whose bonds have not been broken? Would you become the hunter who would search for men? The price of freedom has been paid. Would you go into the wilderness to call its slaves to escape their bonds? The old African risked much for slaves. Let us dare MORE to free sin's bondmen.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

On December 21 the Fort Wayne, Ind., church set aside Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scheerer, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Vnasdale to the office of deacon in the local church.

The Atlantic District has issued the first number of a small bulletin to inform members of the various churches in the district of its mission work. Bro. J. Edward Cordell, of Waynesboro, Pa., is the editor, and the paper is to be issued quarterly.

Grace Theological Seminary reunion will be held at Winona Lake February 24-27. The program will feature 20 members of the alumni association and recent pictures from the Holy Land. Rev. Edward Lewis, secretary of the alumni association, invites all readers to attend this time of fellowship.

Mrs. Lena Wormer, active member of the South Pasadena, Calif., church, celebrated her 84th birthday December 19.

Rev. Clyde Landrum has added a new feature—The Gospel in the News—to the Gospel Truth program over WMBS, Uniontown, Pa., each Sunday morning at 8.

The South San Gabriel, Calif., church acquired a chapel, once used by another church, to use as a place of meeting for the junior and junior high departments. This church conducts an evening school as part of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles. The pastor, Rev. Earle Rosenberger, teaches a class on the doctrine of the Christian life, and Miss Dorothy Vial teaches a teachers' training class.

Bro. C. L. Eckerman, of the Long Beach, Calif., church, read his Bible through twice during 1952, which was the 18th time he has done it.

Rev. Ed Wilson, formerly pastor of the Fillmore, Calif., church, is seriously ill in an Ontario, Calif., hospital.

Bro. Ben Sickel, member of the La Verne, Calif., church and father of the late Dr. Clarence Sickel, former missionary to Argentina, suffered a heart attack recently and would appreciate the prayers of God's people.

The Whittier, Calif., First church has planned a special program for January 11 under the direction of Rev. Jack Green and members of the Young Russian Christian Association.

Rev. and Mrs. Rubel Lucero, members of the Beaumont, Calif., church, plan to do evangelistic work in Arizona and New Mexico. They will live in a trailer which they will take from place to place.

Rev. Homer Lingenfelter, pastor of the Everett, Pa., church, is on vacation. His brother, Rev. Galen Lingenfelter, pastor of the Buena Vista, Va., church, preached at Everett on December 28, and Bro. Irvin Miller, Winona Lake, Ind., plans to preach there January 4. Rev. Glen Yeckly, Duncansville, Pa., was in charge of the watch-night service December 31.

Jim Roseboro, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, was named to the "All-Ohio Football Team" for the season recently closed.

At the request of the La Verne,

Calif., church, Rev. Orville Lorenz is continuing as pastor until January 31, before making his resignation effective.

The Long Beach, Calif., First church began a junior church December 14 for children 6-12 years of age. This church plans to begin a teachers' training class January 11, to be taught by Dr. Irving Ahlquist.

The Trumpet Trio of King's College presented a special program at the Clayton, Ohio, church January 1.

The Atlantic District has planned an overnight youth rally for January 9-10 at the Harrisburg, Pa., church.

The Conemaugh, Pa., church held a reception for its new pastor, Rev. Stanley Hauser, and his family December 10. They were presented with several gifts.

The mother of Rev. William Gray, pastor of the Allentown, Pa., church, died at her son's home December 7.

Bro. Edgar Brackett, of the New Troy, Mich., church died on December 8.

Members of the Alexandria, Va., church surprised their pastor, Rev. Kenneth Teague, and his family with a monetary gift at a Christmas party December 19.

Rev. Charles Underwood, of Long Beach, Calif., preached at the Glen-dale, Calif., church December 28. The young people of this church are spending the week end of January 2-4 at Tahquitz Pines.

The staff of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company desires to thank each customer for the kindness and patience shown during the rush and extra demands made during the Christmas season.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Dates	Church	Pastor	Speaker
Pond Bank, Pa. . . . .	Dec. 26-Jan. 4 . . .	Edward Clark . . .	Robert Ashman.
Sharpville, Ind. . . . .	Dec. 28-Jan. 11 . .	Scott Weaver . . .	Joe Day.
Sidney, Ind. . . . .	Dec. 28-Jan. 11 . .	Richard DeArmey	Ding Teuling.
Middlebranch, O. . . . .	Dec. 31-Jan. 4 . . .	Edward Lewis . . .	Joseph Dombek.
Fort Wayne, Ind. . . . .	Jan. 4-11 . . . . .	James Hammer . .	Herman Centz.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) . . . . .	Jan. 4-7 . . . . .	Robert Miller . . .	J. Cohn-E. Gruen.
Spokane, Wash. . . . .	Jan. 4-7 . . . . .	William Schaffer . .	Russell Humberd.
Chico, Calif. . . . .	Jan. 11-16 . . . . .	Ward Tressler . . .	Russell Humberd.
Modesto, Calif.
(La Loma) . . . . .	Jan. 12-18 . . . . .	Harold Painter . . .	Vincent Bennett.
San Bernardino,
Calif. . . . .	Jan. 20-Feb. 1 . . .	Lyle Marvin . . . . .	Russell Humberd.

BEGIN THE NEW YEAR WITH THESE PRAYER REQUESTS

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Pray that the annual day of prayer at the seminary January 22 will be a time of heart-searching and blessing at this half-way point in the year.

2. Pray for the financial needs of the seminary, especially for the annual offering being presented this month.

3. Pray that the students will have the necessary strength and wisdom for the final examinations this month.

4. Pray for the new semester beginning January 19 and for the new students just entering school.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Praise God for the fine initial response to the Zielaskos' outfit fund and pray that all churches will respond not only for the Zielaskos but for other new missionaries.

2. Pray for the work at Furo, an outpost from Icoraci, Brazil, where antagonism and some stone throwing have been showing themselves. Pray for protection for the missionaries and salvation of the people.

3. Pray for the midyear meeting of the board of trustees beginning February 9. Many vitally important matters must be decided.

4. Pray that Rev. and Mrs. John (Jack) Teeter will have grace and wisdom as they make final preparations to sail for Brazil on the first passage available after February 15.

5. Pray for health and journeying mercies for Miss Estella Myers, Miss Florence Bickel, and Miss Grace Byron as they plan to sail from New York some time between January 10 and 15 for another term of service in Africa.

6. Pray that Rev. and Mrs. Fred Fogle will have the blessing of God as they move to and begin work in Lyon, France.

7. Praise God for His blessings on the testimony in Tijuana, Mexico, and pray for the virgin field in the Santa Rosalia area, 800 miles south of the border, where Bro. Walter Haag found discouragement because some believers have moved away.

8. Pray for the missionaries as they return from the field council meeting held at Bassai, Africa. Pray for those entering new ventures of faith for Christ and entering into districts with which they are not familiar.

9. Pray for the missionaries studying in France that they may have ears to hear and tongues to speak the French language. Pray that they may soon be able to go to the field where they are greatly needed.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray that God will provide things necessary for starting a church building program next spring in Findlay, Ohio.

2. Pray for the Children's Happy Hour held each Wednesday at the York, Pa., church, and that the parents will be reached for Christ and the church. This children's hour was started by Evangelist Robert Ashman and reached a high of 128 children in one service.

3. Pray for the sale of the former location and for funds to erect a chapel on the new location in Temple City, Calif.

4. Pray for the South Bend, Ind., church and its new pastor, Bro. Russell Ogden, who is completing his seminary work before moving to the field.

5. Pray that the new fields opening to the Brethren Church may be developed rapidly and become strong testimonies.

6. Pray for the new office secretary, Miss Louise Blankenship, as she assumes the duties of the office vacated by Miss Cashel Heckman after 6½ years of faithfulness.

WMC—

1. Pray that our WMC women will join in a crusade of personal evangelism—"Operation Two by Two."

2. Pray that new churches will be started in homes of Brethren people, beginning with Bible classes or Sunday schools.

3. Pray for the Brethren Christian day schools sponsored by the Long Beach First and Second, the Los Angeles First, and the Temple City churches in California.

4. Pray that some of our young people will train to teach in the Brethren day schools.

SMM—

1. Pray for Marybeth Munn, our missionary, in her added responsibilities.

2. Pray that this will be the best year ever in "living for Christ" by Sisterhood girls.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray that our boys in service may have courage to live and witness effectively for Christ Jesus.

2. Pray that the young people who are entering college or seminary for the second semester may be able to make the necessary adjustments quickly and that they will profit from their studies.

3. Pray for the youth director as he visits among the churches in Ohio.

4. Pray that the financial needs of the youth council will continue to be met.

MISSIONARY HERALD—

1. Pray that all Brethren churches will become 100 percent in subscribing to the Brethren Missionary Herald.

2. Pray that all Brethren churches will use our Brethren literature in the Sunday schools.

3. Pray that the Lord will direct in printing tracts, calendars, bulletins, and other literature for the church.

MISCELLANEOUS—

1. Pray for the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade as it makes plans for and carries on evangelistic campaigns in 1953.

2. Pray for the National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church as it seeks to encourage and aid local Sunday schools.

3. Pray that the Board of Ministerial Relief will be given the wisdom necessary to do its work.

4. Pray that God's people will do God's will in 1953.

SUGGESTIONS FOR BRETHREN YOUTH IN 1953

IT'S AN IDEA!

To help get your BYF off to a good start this new year, try one or more of these ideas.

Get your new officers together, with your advisers, and plot your program for the next 3 months. Talk freely about what you need, the strengths and weaknesses of the past, and the best ways to establish your group in the future. Select leaders or teams of leaders, discuss program materials, socials, etc. Really get down to business for your BYF.

If things haven't been going too good, plan a "gripe meeting." Announce it ahead of time, and then let everyone express their "gripes" about BYF, the types of programs, officers, etc., in a Sunday-night meeting. The new officers should preside, and the secretary should take notes. Then try to do something about these "gripes" in future plans. But after receiving the "gripes," open the meeting for discussion of good things about BYF, good programs, good parties, etc. This may give you ideas as to how to plan future events.

If you'd like an installation service for your new officers that's a little different, have each new officer take 3 to 5 minutes to tell what he or she would like to accomplish for Christ through the office to which elected, and how the entire group can help see those goals accomplished.

For your first party of the new year, try an "All New Party," with entirely new games, a new place of meeting, new kind of refreshments, new kind of devotions, new songs to sing, etc. It'll take a little scratching and doing, but would be fun!

SOUTHEAST YOUTH RALLY

The Southeast District held an overnight youth rally November 21-22 at the Clearbrook church, near Roanoke, Va.

The program consisted of a Christian film and messages by Rev. Carl Miller and Bro. Mason Cooper, both of Roanoke. The women of the local WMC prepared the banquet.

The boys club elected Robert Miller, president; Lynwood Catron, vice president; Bud Hughes, secretary-treasurer; and Sonny Ryman, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The Sisterhood girls elected Doris

LET'S HAVE A NEW YEAR'S REVOLUTION!

I can remember, when I was a teen-ager, for several years straight among my new year's resolutions was one phrased something like this: "Resolved, that I will do everything I can to lead at least one soul personally to Christ."

For several years straight that resolution was broken. My intentions were good, and I knew that it was something that I ought to do. But do you know what my trouble was? I never got started. I'd keep putting it off, thinking that I had plenty of time to fulfill that one, and all of a sudden the year would be gone.

Currently, Youth for Christ is

Gilmer, assistant secretary - treasurer; Geraldine Taylor, bandage-rolling secretary; and Genieva Lawson, junior representative.—Margaret Surface, district secretary.

DON'T FORGET

Your church will be sending its home mission offering in to the office of the Brethren Home Missions Council any day now. Be sure that any gifts from your group marked "BYF Project" are included with it for the missionary project of building another Spanish-American chapel in the Taos Valley. One group, our BYF at Kittanning, Pa., set a goal of $100 for this project, and were very near reaching it the last I heard! And it's entirely a teenage group of school kids. More power to them!

PLANS FOR CAMP

Each district of the denomination has a young people's camp. Now is the time for making preparations to attend the camp in your district.

seeking to enlist 10,000 young people who will seek or win not 1, but 100 souls for Christ during this year! Impossible? No, just difficult. It would take more than a resolution to produce results like that; it would take a revolution—a revolution in our lives that would result in really putting Christ first in everything, a revolution that would make us seem to be one-track Christians, with our only great interest in the salvation of souls.

Young Life Campaign emphasizes the need of reaching the leaders on our campuses for Christ, following the valid theory that if you get the leaders you'll get at least some of the followers, too. And it works! On dozens of high-school campuses they have reached the top athletes and officers for Christ, and won many others through them. It could happen on your campus, too, if you, and perhaps some others like you, prayed and worked earnestly that it would happen!

Yes, perhaps what we need more than resolutions is a revolution that will transform our lives for Christ!

MUSIC FELLOWSHIP ORGANIZED

The National Church Music Fellowship, an organization to promote "spiritual music for a spiritual church," was formed in Chicago recently.

More than 50 delegates from various parts of the United States, representing 15 Christian colleges, agreed that the purpose of this new fellowship "shall be to promote fellowship and cooperation among our schools, churches, and other organizations, in order that the music used in services will bring, through divine direction, the most powerful and permanent spiritual results."

Mr. Donald P. Hustad, director of the department of sacred music at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, was chosen president of the new organization.

The next annual convention of the body will be held in Chicago in October 1953.

"Patience is the ability to idle your motor when you feel like stripping your gears."

Thoughts for Christian Pilgrims

By Conard Sandy

God's Balances Are Wonderful

The laboratories of the Bell Telephone Company have developed a "micro-balance so sensitive that it can determine the weight of a fragment of lint caught floating in the air. It is an intricate device, and can show changes as minute as 250 millionths of a gram." Remember, it requires 453 grams to equal 1 pound. That means the micro-balance is indeed a very sensitive instrument.

God's balances are much more marvelous. He can weigh both the mountains and the dust particles. Isaiah spoke of Him as the One who "meted out heaven with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance. . . . Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance" (Isa. 40:12, 15).

On the other hand, His balances are so delicate they can weigh the worth of people. "Surely men of low degree are vanity, and men of high degree are a lie: to be laid in the balance, they are altogether lighter than vanity" (Psa. 62:9).

Remember Belshazzar to whom Daniel spoke for his God: "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting" (Dan. 5:27). Belshazzar was too light morally and spiritually. What is your weight in God's accurate and sensitive balances?

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

I. THE SEED OF WOMAN.

"Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth" (Phil. 2:9-10).

The names of the Lord Jesus are high, holy, numerous, and full of meaning. So many are there that T. C. Horton has written a book, "The Wonderful Names of Our Wonderful Lord," in which he chooses a name for meditation for each day of the year, 365 names, and he claims that does not exhaust the list. Each name carries special significance and meaning. In the coming weeks in these articles we will seek to glimpse at the glories of some of these names of the Lord, in no way intending to be exhaustive or systematic.

The 3d chapter of Genesis, verse 15, gives the first recorded name applied to our Lord and this prophetically—"the Seed of Woman." This great chapter actually furnishes us with the vital foundation stones "of the history of the world, the history of sin, and the historic promise of God" concerning the coming Saviour as "the Seed of Woman."

This name prophetically reveals at least 3 things to us. First, that of woman will come a Saviour, virgin born. This can be our only interpretation in the light of the revelation of the New Testament concerning the birth of Christ. Second, that Satan, the Serpent, would wound in some way this promised Redeemer, and that he did with the hands of the Roman soldiers at Calvary. Third, that this promised Seed of Woman would finally stamp out the life and power of the Serpent and sin, and that He has done on the cross of Calvary and will do in His coming judgment. No sooner had sin entered the human race than God, because of His love for man, planned salvation and promised the Saviour, the Seed of Woman.

"The Seed of Woman," it is said of my Christ,
To be bruised and to crush through His sacrifice.
"A virgin" shall bear, said Isaiah of old,
His name shall be "Jesus," the sweetest e'er told.
He came to seek and to save all the lost,
Paying their debt at such infinite cost.
"Born of a woman in the fulness of time,"
God's gift of His Son, He's yours, He is mine!

Rev. Charles Ashman

Education Is Not Enough

Larry P. Fudge, a former high school honor student, now only 20 years old, was indicted for attempted extortion by a federal grand jury October 22 at Huntington, W. Va. He admitted he tried to extort $750 from Carole Mae Kingsley, a high school girl. He was arrested by FBI agents last August near the spot designated in his letter for the pay-off. His learning and honors did not and could not keep him from crime.

Education is not enough for any person. Christ Jesus spoke frankly to one of the best-educated men of the time of His earthly ministry and said to him: "Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again" (John 3:7). Educated people must be born again, as must all people, and that is the only way they can be brought to the place where the desires for crime and sin will depart.

Many Communists Are Catholics

Signor Togliatti, leader of the Communist party in Italy, recently stated to the Foreign Press Association: "The overwhelming majority of Italian Communists are [Roman] Catholics. This shows that whatever the church may say, no fundamental incompatibility exists between communism and Catholicism."

Remember, dear reader, this may be and perhaps is true of communism and Roman Catholicism, but it most surely is not true of communism and the church founded by the Lord Jesus Christ. No man can serve 2 masters—Christ and Stalin.

DR. A. J. McCLAIN LISTED IN "WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA"

Two distinct and merited honors were bestowed upon Dr. Alva J. McClain in 1952. First, his name and a list of his accomplishments were recorded in the most recent edition of "Who's Who in America," and second, he was chosen to be one of the featured speakers at the International Congress on Prophecy held in New York City in November.

Alva J. McClain was born at Aurelia, Iowa, April 11, 1888, the second child of Walter Scott McClain and Mary Ellen McClain. His father was a minister in the Brethren Church in its early days, having been ordained by Elder Henry R. Holsinger; his mother was Mary Ellen Gnagey, a sister of Dr. A. D. Gnagey, one-time editor of Brethren literature.

The family moved from Iowa to Arizona in 1898 and in 1900 moved to Sunnyside, Wash., to join in the "Christian Cooperative Colony," a project sponsored by Brethren people for Brethren people. It was there that Alva McClain played on the local high school football team that was undefeated in competition, 1903-07. While playing baseball at the University of Washington in 1909 he hurt his leg and dropped out of school to assist his father as a horticulturist at Sunnyside.

Two very important events occurred in the life of the young man in 1911. On June 7 he married Miss Josephine Gingrich, and in November the young couple were led to accept the Lord Jesus as personal Saviour in an evangelistic campaign at the Sunnyside Brethren Church under the evangelistic ministry of Dr. Louis S. Bauman.

The conversion of the young man was almost synonymous with his call to the ministry of the Gospel. Therefore, in the fall of 1913 the young couple moved to Long Beach, so he could study under the guidance of Dr. Louis Bauman. That same fall he also enrolled in the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and studied under the direction of Dr. Reuben A. Torrey. From this school he went to Xenia Theological Seminary, Xenia, Ohio. He graduated from this school in 1917. He also took some courses during his seminary years in Antioch College.

During his seminary days Dr. McClain preached at Bear Creek, Salem, and Miamisburg—3 Brethren churches on a circuit in southwestern Ohio. In 1918 he went to Philadelphia, Pa., to become pastor of the First Brethren Church there. Because of health reasons the McClains returned to southern California and he enrolled in Occidental College in 1923. Two years later he graduated with the highest honors in his class and during the same year he received the master of theology degree from Xenia Seminary. In 1940 he was elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa in recognition of his scholarship. The Bible Institute of Los Angeles honored him with a doctor of divinity degree in 1940 and Bob Jones University gave him a doctor of laws degree in 1945.

The one thing for which Dr. McClain is best known is his true-to-the-Word teaching. While pastor in Philadelphia he taught some courses in the Philadelphia School of the Bible. For 2 years (1925-27) he taught Bible, systematic theology, and philosophy in Ashland College and Seminary. The next 2 years he taught at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles. It was during these years he did much work in formulating his system and lectures on Christian theology.

In 1929 he became minister of education at the Long Beach, Calif., First church. Because of the slowness of church leaders at that time in starting a regular seminary for the Brethren Church, Brethren Bauman and McClain were planning to begin a seminary at Long Beach. But then the board of trustees of Ashland College and Seminary asked Brother McClain to return to Ashland as assistant to Dr. J. Allen Miller, dean of the seminary division. Dr. McClain was given authority to reorganize this division of the school and put it on a graduate level for seminaries in this country. In 1933 he was appointed dean. During the entire period he was at Ashland he headed the department of Christian theology and apologetics.

Because of denominational difficulties he led in the founding of Grace Theological Seminary in 1937. Dr. McClain is president of the school and professor of Christian theology. Because of his understanding of the Word of God the seminary has grown under his leadership until now it is one of the very best in the world. Former students are found in all parts of the world standing true to the whole Word of God.

Dr. McClain

Dr. McClain is the author of many articles, printed not only in his own denominational church papers, but in other magazines, as Bibliotheca Sacra and Biblical Review. He was on the staff of contributors to the last-named magazine for a number of years. Also he has written several tracts and booklets, the best-known being "Daniel's Prophecy of the Seventy Weeks" and "Romans Outlined and Summarized."

In addition to being listed in "Who's Who in America," his name and biographical sketch are also listed in "Who's Who in Religion," "Who's Who in Education," and in "World Biography."

Brother McClain has served as a member of the board of trustees of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church since 1917. He was honored with the moderatorship of the national conference in 1930 and again in 1934.

INTRODUCING FIELD REPRESENTATIVES OF THE BRETHREN UNITED EVANGELISTIC CRUSADE

Arnold Kriegbaum
Midwest

Glenn O'Neal
California

Walter Lepp
Atlantic

Wm. H. Schaffer
Northwest

Robert E. Miller
Southeast

Lester Pifer
Northern Ohio

Wm. A. Steffler
Central

Clyde Landrum
East

THESE MEN WILL APPROACH ALL BRETHREN PASTORS AND CONGREGATIONS TO ASSIST IN ARRANGING CAMPAIGNS FOR THE FALL OF '53, AND FOR THE '54 AND '55 SEASONS

HERE IS THE SITUATION—

The CRUSADE COMMITTEE needs to have as many campaigns as possible asked for, so as to arrange their work wisely and economically.

The CRUSADE COMMITTEE plans to send a team into one district and keep it working in that section for an entire year if there are churches enough in the district, or enough new fields there to use it. Some districts could use a team continuously for 2 years. This works for an accumulative spirit of evangelism, and keeps down traveling costs.

The CRUSADE COMMITTEE plans enough teams to provide a different team for each district year after year. THE DRIVE FOR SOULS MUST NOT LET UP AT ANY TIME.

OUR GOAL OF TWENTY THOUSAND SOULS FOR CHRIST IN FIVE YEARS CANNOT BE WON IN ONE SPURT. BUT IT CAN BE DONE THROUGH FAITHFUL PRAYING AND WITNESSING, AND GOING OUT AFTER SOULS! AFTER THE FIRST TWENTY THOUSAND ARE WON, THERE WILL BE TWENTY THOUSAND MORE OF US TO WIN FORTY THOUSAND!

The California Churches are rising to the challenge in a wonderful way, and our first team will begin in that district at the Long Beach First Church March 1. The team will continue in California till the month of November both in churches and with the tent in new sections. These California churches not only want expansion, they want revival!

As this copy is being prepared, the Central District has also sent in a fine schedule of meetings for next season.

PRAY EARNESTLY—

That God shall supply our urgent needs for equipment during the next 60 days. We have no offering day. We are wholly dependent upon those whose hearts are burdened for revival.
That God will visit us with a great, wide-sweeping revival.

The Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade

BOX 28

BERNE, INDIANA

HISTORICAL MATERIAL NEEDED

There is an urgent need for historical records and books concerning the Brethren Church from its very beginning until now. Students in the seminary very much desire to get copies of the histories of the denomination by Martin Brumbaugh or Henry Holsinger.

Anyone having books, articles, pamphlets, magazines, letters, or clippings from newspapers that are of historical interest concerning our denomination and who would give or sell them to add to the collection the editor of this paper is making please contact him. Do this now, for the material is needed for research work.

San Bernardino, California

The Arrowhead Avenue Brethren Church of San Bernardino was recently organized and officers were elected to assume office January 1. The church was started April 1, 1949, but was not organized until now.

There were 153 people in Sunday school, 95 in the morning service, and 155 at the evening Christmas program December 21. "The Birthday of the King," a new hymn written by Brother Baldwin, a member of the church, was used for the first time in the evening service.—Lyle Marvin, pastor.

Dry Hill, Kentucky

Miss Patty Griffith, president of the national SMM, has returned to her home at Conemaugh, Pa.

Mr. Leroy Hodson, of Dayton, Ohio, recently showed his third dimensional pictures of the Holy Land to 76 people here.

Seven fellows from the Covington, Ohio, church worked on the chapel and gave their testimonies in word and song one week end. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Auman, of Scott, Ohio, helped in putting the sheet rock on the chapel walls.

From the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church have come a number of people who have been of great help in the erection of the chapel building. Among these are Mr. Fred Simpson, Mr. Paul Kuhlman, Mr. Leroy Hodson, Mr. Martin, Mr. Norman Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hautt, Mr. Charles Arthur, and Mr. Orville Beetley.

We appreciate the help given to us by every one of these people.—Evelyn Fuqua, missionary.

Blessed Hope Conferences

We held 2 blessed hope conferences: 1 at the Wooster, Ohio, church November 23-28, the other at the Akron, Ohio, church November 30-December 7.

Weather and holiday conditions were not conducive to large attendances, but it was a joy to devote the time to the presentation of God's plan of the ages in a series of "Seven Sevens of Prophecy." There was a keen interest and a deep appreciation on the part of those who attended.

The Akron church was in the process of installing a new heating system for the present building and the addition being built for the Sunday school, yet the people gave attention to their spiritual interests as well.—Dr. Charles Ashman, teacher.

PLAN YFC WORLD CONGRESS

The 6th annual World Congress on Evangelism, sponsored by the Youth for Christ International, is being planned for Tokyo August 9-16. Plans are also being made for 50 evangelistic teams to follow the congress by extensive preaching of the Gospel throughout Japan.

Executive Director of YFC, Ted W. Engstrom, has already gone to Japan to prepare for the congress and the evangelistic work. David Morken, vice president for the Far East, is working with Engstrom on the program.

American Freedom and Catholic Power

By Paul Blanchard

$3.50

Here is a book which every thoughtful American citizen should read. There was a day when any discussion of the Roman Catholic Church would have been regarded as purely a religious debate. However, that day is past, for the Roman Catholic Church has entered the field of politics, medicine, and education, and indifferent silence now may be fatal to our American way of life. The author is aware that one cannot enter the arena on this subject without "risking his future," but in a careful and analytical style he proceeds to expose the powerful tentacles of the Romanists which are slowly snuffing out our freedom. Scholarly and documented, the work comes highly recommended by the American Library Association. Order a copy today from—

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD COMPANY

Winona Lake, Indiana

Additions to Membership

Chico, Calif. ....	1
Hagerstown, Md. ....	8
La Verne, Calif. ....	6
Spokane, Wash. ....	2

Public Confessions

Alexandria, Va. ....	3
Chico, Calif. ....	8

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 2

WMC NUMBER

JANUARY 10, 1953

THE FIRST BRETHREN CHURCH BUILDING, MARTINSBURG, PA.

(See "Martinsburg, Pennsylvania, Church Is Growing" on Page 22)

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager.....Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Glendale, Calif., church has scheduled Dr. Charles Woodbridge as preacher for January 18 and 25. Rev. Archie Lynn's resignation is effective January 15.

Rev. James Dixon, of Washington, D. C., will be the speaker at a Sunday school rally sponsored by the Brethren churches in the Roanoke, Va., area. The rally will be held at the Ghent church in Roanoke.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hanson, of Long Beach, Calif., announce the engagement of their daughter, Edisene, to Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., of Winona Lake, Ind.

Miss Ruth Snyder, Brethren missionary to Africa, arrived home in Conemaugh, Pa., December 23 for a furlough term.

Mrs. Rose Foster, deputation missionary, is at present in California and available for services in that State. She may be contacted in care of the First Brethren Church, 1925 E. 5th St., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lingenfelter, members of the Leamersville, Pa., church, observed their 55th wedding anniversary December 24. They are the parents of 7 sons and 7 daughters. Two of their sons are Brethren pastors—Homer at Everett, Pa., and Galen at Buena Vista, Va.

The speaker at the Christmas prayer meeting December 24 at the Leamersville, Pa., church was Rev. William Burns. The pastor of this church is Rev. Robert Crees.

Rev. Russell Humbert is scheduled to speak at the Albany, Oreg., church, of which Rev. Glen Welborn is pastor, January 9, and at the Manteca Brethren Church, Manteca, Calif., of which Rev. Wesley Platt is pastor, January 18. These are in addition to the extended meetings listed in the Special Meetings chart.

The Long Beach, Calif., First church, pastored by Dr. Charles Mayes, will again be host to one section of the Torrey Memorial Bible conference January 18-25.

Rev. P. Fredrick Fogle and family now live at 86 Chemin de Vassieux, Caluire (Rhône), France. (Add to Annual, p. 74.) The Fogles are beginning a Brethren testimony in Lyon, France (see last week's Herald).

Rev. Foster Tresise was a speaker at a Christian Endeavor winter conference at Frazier Mountain, Calif., January 1-3. He has moved to 1116 Sentous St., Los Angeles 15, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 72.)

The Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church, pastored by Rev. Richard Burch, has secured an architect to draw plans for a complete remodeling of its present church building. The total cost of the work is not to exceed $25,000.

At the Johnstown, Pa., First church approximately 1,100 persons attended a special missionary program December 9. Rev. Norman Uphouse, a former member of the church, spoke there December 21; Rev. Russell Ogden, son of the pastor, Rev. W. A. Ogden, spoke December 24; and Dr. Herman Hoyt spoke December 28.

The Kittanning, Pa., church, pastored by Rev. Gordon Bracker, is giving certificates to those members who read through the Bible in 1952. The church is presenting a special gift toward the purchase of a brick-making machine for the Brethren mission field in Africa. Recent speakers at this church were Prof. John Dougherty, of Dayton, Tenn., and Ivan Ritzert and Glenn Schwenk, students in Grace Seminary.

Dr. Charles Feinberg preached at the Long Beach, Calif., Second church, pastored by Rev. George Peek, December 21.

The Ashland, Ohio, church will be host to an extension course of the Akron Bible Institute beginning January 12. Rev. Miles Taber, pastor of the church, is a trustee of the institute.

The Fort Wayne, Ind., church, pastored by Rev. James Hammer, held a combined communion and watch-night service December 31, with Dr. Herman Hoyt as speaker.

The Dayton, Ohio, First church, of which Rev. William Steffler is pastor, was host to the midwinter conference of the Lebonah League, December 28-31, with Mr. Leon Sullivan as the special speaker.

Harry R. Hoover, a chiropractor at Waynesboro, Pa., died December 23 at the age of 71 years. He had been a member of the Waynesboro church since 1915 and Sunday school superintendent for 20 years. Rev. Dennis Holliday, his pastor, was in charge of funeral services December 26.

Rev. Roland Cagle was the speaker at the Christmas Eve service at the Waynesboro, Pa., church, of which Rev. Dennis Holliday is pastor.

The December number of the King's Business, official paper of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, has a picture section featuring its writers and artists. Among them are 2 Brethren—Dr. Homer Kent, of Winona Lake, Ind., who has written "Pointers on the Lesson" for more than 10 years, and Miss Gladys Bowman, of the Whittier, Calif., church, who has made the drawing for the "Object Lessons" for 8 years.

Policy concerning News Briefs page. The purpose of this page is to present to the denomination, impartially, news of general and historical interest. Rumors have no place here. The items must be brief; longer reports appear on other pages, usually under the heading "News From the Churches." The use of films in a church ordinarily is not mentioned here. There is no effort made to give the travel schedules of the missionaries and other servants of the Lord and the church as they travel among the churches, unless there may be a special reason for doing so. The staff at the Brethren Missionary Herald office cannot print news until it has been sent in from the churches. In giving news be sure to tell who, what, when, where, and how or why. Also, be sure the news is sent in from your church.

Many of the churches gave surprise Christmas gifts to their pastors, but there were so many they cannot be reported here.

IS CHRISTIANITY SCIENTIFIC?

By Rev. Arthur F. Collins, Berrien Springs, Mich.

"If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself" (John 7:17).

In the field of science we are often faced with the individual who does not believe the Bible. He claims that the Word of God is not scientific. Therefore, such a one usually scoffs at the Genesis story of man's origin in the Garden of Eden. He prefers to believe some ridiculous theory (which can never go back to the first cause) which is far more difficult to understand than the planned program of the Scriptures. The mind of the scientist, so-called, is usually so consumed with laws, theories, and experiments that it is just a bit fantastic to concede the supernatural. He is unwilling to let the case simply rest on the explanation of faith. For faith to him cannot be processed through a test tube and the results recorded in some equation or formula.

Principles Comprehended

But even though the Bible is not a scientific textbook of theories and equations, the very principles recited for Christian behavior are certainly comprehended on the basis of an understanding of what science is. For science, they tell us, is knowledge classified. It is properly classified by the process of a threefold program involving (1) a basic presupposition or hypothesis, (2) the experiment to prove a further hypothesis, and (3) the result which always reflects a positive or negative reaction. On the basis of the reaction, we conclude that the findings are either fact or fancy. If it is fact, we usually classify the information by designing a definition or law. Should the result be fanciful, we simply charge off the experiment as useless and relegate the hypothesis to the "shelf" of theory until occasion arises to start all over again through a different type of experiment.

With the text in view, let us ask ourselves if we do not think in exactly this scientific manner about Christianity. We start with a presupposition, expand into experiment, then classify as to fact or fancy.

Hypothesis or Presupposition

The hypothesis in this case is the word "if" actually—"if any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine." Whose will? we might logically ask first of all. The answer is plain—God's will, of course. Then what is His will that it must be done? And we find across the pages of sacred Scriptures written that His will is that none should perish, and that all should come to repentance. The doing, in this case, was done by Christ, who has done everything that needed to be done. All we have to do is to believe it. So the only thing left to be done is to take God at His word and take the step of faith in belief until our minds and appetites are gravitating toward God. And that brings us to the second phase of our scientific Christian principle, namely the experiment or experience.

Rev. Arthur F. Collins

Experience and Experiment

Believe! So easy, and yet so hard. Nicodemus stumbled at the thought of being born anew of Spirit, for he could not believe, at first, at least. The Philippian jailer cried out for explanation as to what he must do to be saved. Paul simply replied, "Believe . . ." Belief is not simply an experiment, it is an experience. And when the Holy Ghost of God steps into the human recess of a man's innermost being, it is a supernatural experience. But at the same time it is a logical experiment, for one can ask, "What do I have to lose?" Everything is to be gained by believing. So faith operates. The shades of sin are lifted, allowing the glorious light of the Gospel to shine in the heart. The redeeming grace of Christ is acknowledged and entertained in the heart so that old things do really pass away and all things actually become new.

Hence the hypothesis, "If any man will do his will," is channeled through the supernatural experimentation, even though it is a natural being who is the conductor for the process. That brings us to the final principle of our scientific thinking, for this experiment surely does produce results. And the results are always positive, for no one can truly say he is "born again" except by the supernatural operation of the Holy Spirit on his heart and life.

Human Test Tubes

The life of Abraham is an excellent illustration of the principles we are endeavoring to declare. He was promised that his people would be great in number—as many as the stars of heaven or the sand of the sea. Abraham believed God and moved in the sphere of faith experimentally, which proved he believed the promise that was made to him. In due time we have evidence of the fulfillment of the promise through Abraham's faith. Consider the Apostle Paul in Acts 9 when the Damascus journey was interrupted by the marvelous work of the Holy Spirit. Saul heard Christ speak to his heart. He believed. He acted upon that belief, with the result that he turned the world upside down for the glory of Christ.

Positive Results

Finally, the latter portion of our text must be considered—"he shall know of the doctrine." This is the proof result of our experiment and experience. To know something is to have a reasonable knowledge concerning a particular thing. Theoretically we know nothing about anything unless we know all there is to be known about one particular thing. But that is in the realm of philosophy, and we are interested in applied Christianity at the present. To know is to apprehend by the 5 senses, then comprehend by the mind. To know the most is to have the most experience about a particular thing. Let us illustrate. I know something about the Navy and so does my wife. However, I know the most about it because I went through the experience of being in the Navy.

My mother knows how to cook and I know something about cooking. Mother knows the most about it, however, because she has had the greater experience.

Therefore, to know something of a Christian character we must act upon the principles prescribed in God's Word. The more we act, the more we know. This is what Peter speaks about when he writes, "But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" (II Pet. 3:18). Furthermore, Peter writes, "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear" (I Pet. 3:15). Telling others of your heart experience is an indication you've had one. Telling others of Jesus is a fairly good sign that you know Him. No one can gainsay a personal testimony on behalf of the Son of God, for it is the positive proof that something has happened in the life of the one so testifying. And this is the proof of our text, "If any man will do his will, he shall know . . ."

Knowledge Classified

Consequently, we have concluded that Christianity is very scientific, for we have taken the promises of God from His Word. We have applied them to our lives, beginning at salvation and reaching beyond into growth in grace and development. Our experience has been that every promise is true. So we classify the knowledge obtained as truth and say to all who would heed, before it is everlastingly too late, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

DR. WILLIAM ORR RESIGNS

Dr. William W. Orr, for the past 8 years associated with the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, has resigned. During these 8 years he has served as vice president and director of extension of the institute, director of radio, and associate editor of the King's Business.

He came to the institute from a pastorate and is at the present time pastor of the Hope Union Church, Rosemead, Calif.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Sharpville, Ind..	Dec. 28-Jan. 11..	Scott Weaver....	Joe Day.
Sidney, Ind.....	Dec. 28-Jan. 11..	Richard DeArney	Ding Teuling.
Fort Wayne, Ind..	Jan. 4-11.....	James Hammer...	Herman Centz.
Chico, Calif.....	Jan. 11-16.....	Ward Tressler....	Russell Humberd.
Modesto, Calif.
(La Loma).....	Jan. 12-18.....	Harold Painter...	Vincent Bennett.
San Bernardino,
Calif.....	Jan. 20-Feb. 1...	Lyle Marvin.....	Russell Humberd.

Dayton, Ohio (Bethany)

God gave us a great blessing in the 13 days—December 9-21—of special revival services at the Bethany Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, under the gospel preaching of Evangelist Ray Cutchin.

During the campaign there were 45 public decisions—19 were to receive the Saviour, 23 were rededications, and 3 answered the call for full-time service for Christ. This was the best revival campaign yet held in the history of this church.—Doris Hapner, secretary.

Sterling, Ohio

We have had 9 decisions for Christ and of these 8 have already been received into membership. Our people are justifiably proud of their achievements for the past year relative to the physical improvements within the church.

The church voted to set the first Sunday in January as an endeavor to pay the balance of about $150 on church improvement, so that we may start 1953 off with a clean slate. This Sunday also was "Assistant Sunday" all over our Sunday school.

Rev. Albert Flory, of Whittier, Calif., a former pastor here, preached the Sunday morning sermon recently.—Joseph L. Gingrich, pastor.

TORREY CONFERENCE SCHEDULE

The 18th annual Torrey Memorial Bible Conference is to be held, the Lord willing, at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and 9 other places January 18-25. This conference was founded to honor Dr. Reuben A. Torrey, Bible teacher and early leader in the Bible Institute of Los Angeles.

Among the speakers are Dr. Curtis Akenson, pastor, of Minneapolis, Minn.; Dr. Charles Ball, pastor, of River Forest, Ill.; Dr. Sam Bradford, pastor, of Denver, Colo.; Dr. Jose Fernandez, Bible teacher, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr. Leonard Lewis, Bible teacher, of Boston, Mass; Rev. John Linton, evangelist, of Minneapolis, Minn.; and Dr. Walter Wilson, Bible teacher, of Kansas City, Mo.

In addition to the conference at Biola, simultaneous conferences, using the same speakers in a circuit arrangement, will be held in Burbank, Fullerton, Glendale, Long Beach, Monrovia, Ontario, Pasadena, San Bernardino, and Van Nuys.

Additions to Membership

Phoenix, Ariz. ....	4
Waterloo, Iowa .....	9
Waynesboro, Pa. ....	2
Yakima, Wash. ....	1

Baptisms Not Included in Additions
Ashland, Ohio .....	2

Public Confessions

Canton, Ohio .....	1
Fillmore, Calif. ....	9
Leamersville, Pa. ....	1
New Troy, Mich. ....	2
Sterling, Ohio .....	9
Winchester, Va. ....	2

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

Answers to Readers' Questions

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

WHO IS INJURED BY SIN?

Is it possible for a person to sin against himself and against others, or is it theologically correct to say that sin can be committed against oneself, others, and then ultimately all sin is against God?

There are some who teach that it is impossible to sin against oneself, and against others, and that sin is only against God.—C. H. L., Iowa.

In the Bible, sin is described as something committed against at least 3 different parties. First, the sinner may sin against himself—"wrongeth his own soul" (Prov. 8:36). Second, the sinner may sin against other people—"ye sin so against the brethren" (I Cor. 8:12). Third, the sinner may sin against God—"we have sinned against the Lord" (Jer. 3:25). And so men have sometimes divided sins into 3 classes—personal, social, and religious.

But it is a great mistake to suppose that these sins are absolutely separable from one another. For there is probably no kind of sin which does not somehow affect all 3 parties, so that we cannot isolate any sin and say it affects only myself, or only others, or only God. Let us consider an extreme example: Suppose I entertain a sinful thought. It is locked up within my own mind. No other person even suspects it is there. But such an evil thought is certain to make me as a person more evil than I was before. And since no man can live wholly unto himself, my evil thought becomes a sin against other men with whom I must live. Thus a personal sin becomes inevitably a social sin sooner or later.

But let us carry the matter still further: Whenever I do evil against myself and others, my sin becomes ultimately a sin against God for the simple reason that all men are His by creation. He is the God of all men, and therefore any injury done to men is to injure God Himself. This is undoubtedly what David had in mind when, after the terrible injury he had done to Bathsheba and her husband Uriah, he made his confession, "Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight" (Psa. 51:4).

All sin, therefore, is ultimately religious or theological in character.

II. THE PRINCE OF PEACE.

Probably the greatest cry of the world today is for peace! People want peace, yet they refuse to worship the peacemaker. There are at least 4 titles applied to Christ which speak of Him as the giver of peace.

In Genesis 49:10 the word "Shiloh" appears. Many have taken this as a name of the Lord, and it means "peace" or "peacemaker." The "peace offering" of Leviticus 3:1-5 is often considered as a picture of part of the salvatory work of the Lord, who made Himself our very peace offering, making it possible through His sacrifice for us to have peace with God. Paul in Ephesians 2:14 says that Christ is "our peace." Isaiah 9:6 prophesies that when He comes He will come as "The Prince of Peace."

The Lord according to His own words came to bring peace. He declared when He left, "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you. . . . Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid" (John 14:27). What gift from God could be of greater value? What more could man ask for—peace of heart, mind, soul? The gift of God in His Son, the Prince of Peace, is that satisfying, trouble-vanishing, sorrow-quelling, comforting peace which comes with salvation and simple trust. And what a joy to know that this Prince of Peace is as well "our peace."

Again, what more glorious hope is there than that found in the promise that He will come again as the One who will establish world peace, so that men will study war no more.

Friend, if you need peace today, one sure way to find it is to trust completely in the Prince of Peace.

Peace—the desire of each human heart,
For sorrow, for pain, and when teardrops start,
Peace—for the world, war-torn and sore,
For leader and subject, rich and the poor.
But peace in the heart is only known
When the Prince of Peace is placed on His throne.
To Him we must yield and surrender our all,
If we expect peace and His blessings to fall.

There is no such thing as a sin which is wholly "personal" or "social" and nothing more. It is this realization that all sin, whatever its nature, is against God, that makes the smallest sin infinite in its awful demerit.—Alva J. McClain.

GRAHAM REPORTS FROM KOREA

Dr. Billy Graham visited Korea during the last part of 1952. He preached to the Koreans and to the United Nations troops. In a Christmas letter home he wrote:

"The temperature has been below zero for the last several days here in Korea, but I have never met such warm-hearted and radiant Christians anywhere in the world. Few people of modern times have suffered and sacrificed like these people. I have met a pastor who was 1 of 8 who survived entombment in a cave where 300 Christians were executed. . . . I have met 77 women who are widows of martyred Christian pastors. . . . I have seen a seminary where young men sat huddled on the icy floor studying the Bible in order to take the place of 500 pastors who were martyred for Christ in the last 2 years. There is much suffering and yet so much triumph. . . . The Christian Church is strong—spiritual—in the midst of continual revival. Their devotion to Christ puts us to shame. . . . I am becoming convinced that the church is only at its best when it suffers and sacrifices the most."

YFC RALLIES IN TORONTO

Fifty Youth for Christ leaders plan to converge on Toronto, Canada, and many of the surrounding cities and towns January 17-26 for a series of combined World Vision rallies and council sessions.

The main speaker for the 10 evening rallies is to be Dr. Robert Cook, president of YFC.

MARTINSBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, CHURCH IS GROWING

By Mrs. Ida Baker, Member of the Church

This is the first of a series of historical sketches of some of our older churches that will be printed in the Herald from time to time. We urge our older churches to appoint someone in each congregation to write a historical sketch of the local church and send it to us as soon as possible. Also, we are very anxious to collect all available historical material. If you have any items of interest and value, contact the editor concerning them. Historical material is needed by our students.—Editor.

It has been a long road from the time when Bro. W. L. Spanogle was disowned from the Old Order of Tunkers for his progressive ideas. In order to tell you of our church's beginning we must go back to December 30, 1882, when Brother Spanogle invaded the sacred precincts of the old stronghold of Pennsylvania Tunkerism and preached his first Progressive sermon in Blair County. This took place in the Fairview German Baptist Church on Clovercreek, 3 miles from Williamsburg.

Immediately following this first introduction of Progressive Brethrenism, he conducted a series of meetings at Snider's Cross Road Church (in the vicinity of what is now Feather's Cross Road Service Station) and there gained quite a few converts.

Because of the friction between the Old and New Order, permission for the use of a stream to baptize his new converts was refused by a good deacon of the Old Order, but Bro. Joseph Bassler, a River Brethren minister near Woodbury, tendered the courtesies of his house and nearby stream where the first baptism was ministered under Brethren regime January 14, 1883.

Thus did this Cross Road Church organize with 45 members, with Brother Spanogle as pastor. A few months later Rev. Spanogle moved to Martinsburg, but continued to serve as pastor both there and at Fredricksburg.

The Fredricksburg congregation proposed building in Martinsburg, but this was dropped because of insufficient funds, whereupon they purchased their place of worship, a former union house, in Fredricksburg, and it was dedicated in 1886 with between 30 and 40 members.

In June of 1886 the following record of expenses was recorded in this Fredricksburg charge: 1 qt. of wine (for communion), $.80; 20 lbs. beef, $1.80; corn for horse feed, $.85; coal during the winter, $1.50; and janitor's fees, $2.25—this brought the expenses to total $8.35; with $8.45 in the treasury they had a balance of $.10.

It is interesting to note that even at this early date there was record of controversy over what the pastor should have.

Then in 1892 the church, now called the Martinsburg organization, was fully organized with 30 members, of whom Mrs. Eva Klepser Dilling is the only charter member still living.

The building at Fredricksburg was then raised in 1901 and moved to its present location here in Martinsburg. Of the exact membership which came to Martinsburg there is no record.

Two years later the congregation decided to build a parsonage, the cost not to exceed $600. Within several months the parsonage was completed, making the present parsonage 49 years old.

In its early years our church here was 1 of 2 and for some years 3 on a circuit served by the same pastor. In 1927, under the leadership of Rev. J. S. Cook, continued growth prompted the building of an annex on the east side of the building. The balcony and nursery were added above and space for classrooms underneath.

In 1946 another splendid addition and testimony to our church was the "Jesus Saves" lighted cross on top of the church, a gift from Brother and Sister Lloyd Minnick in memory of their only daughter.

Because of rapid growth in the congregation the church basement was recently remodeled, whereby more classrooms were provided and a new heating system installed. At this time the auditorium was newly decorated and a new carpet placed on the floor. This was completed during the ministry of Rev. Warren Tamkin.

The following pastors have served the church since its beginning: W. L. Spanogle, S. B. Fury, J. W. Smouce, J. F. Koonts, Eugene Smith, J. R. Keller, J. E. Ray, Earl Deitrick, P. J. Jennings, H. E. Eppley, J. I. Hall, James S. Cook, R. I. Humbert, Stanley Hauser, Robert E. A. Miller, Warren F. Tamkin. For the last 16 months the church has gone ahead under the ministry of our present capable pastor and wife—Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Teeter.

Our church conducted its first daily vacation Bible school this past year, with an enrollment of 113 pupils, and with Rev. Teeter as dean of the school.

Our total church membership is 199 members. The number of names on the Sunday school roll is 203 at present; this represents an increase of 49 in the last year. On October 5, 1952—Rally Day—a new record for Sunday school attendance was made, 251.

We have an active junior and senior Women's Missionary Council and also a junior and senior Sisterhood of Mary and Martha. Then, too, we have the Brethren Youth Fellowship and the Brethren Boys Club.

Along with all this we would recognize that we have a mission-minded membership. In the past 5 years over $12,000 has been given through this church for home and foreign missionary endeavors. A praying church is a growing and going church. We have had a decided increase in attendance in prayer meetings under our present pastor, for which we praise the Lord.

The adopted missionaries of the church are Rev. and Mrs. Charles Sumey, in Africa. We partially support a missionary to the Jews, Miss Madeline Smith, working with the Chicago Hebrew Mission. Miss Smith is a native of Martinsburg and a member of this church.

We gratefully acknowledge that God has prospered and added to the material and spiritual growth of our church through capable and dedicated leadership and the help and prayers of its members.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

"WHADDA YA KNOW?"—A MEDITATION ON WITNESSING

I have just recently completed, in connection with my duties at the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, the typesetting for the Brethren Sunday school literature for this quarter. The study for the period is based on the Book of Job, and I have been reminded again of a passage in the book that I have used often in witnessing and in giving forth the Word.

That passage of Scripture is found in the 19th chapter, verses 25 to 27. I want to share with you a few thoughts concerning the phrase, "I know that my redeemer liveth," found at the very beginning of this Scripture portion.

Very often, in fact every day, someone asks you, "How are you?" "How do you do?" "Howdy?" and various forms of inquiry regarding your health. And, if you are like most people I know, you are immediately tempted to tell them how you really feel.

However, most of us feel that in a casual greeting like one of those mentioned above, there is only implied a word of recognition, rather than an honest inquiry as to the status of one's health. Be that as it may, there is one greeting that we hear often and one that I think is a wonderful one to be grasped by the soul-winner as an opportunity to tell of Jesus and what He means to him.

Most people who know me and who have greeted me with a casual, "Whadda ya know?" have been answered in Job's words: "I know that my redeemer liveth," and I have taken the opportunity to go on from there to an explanation of the Redeemer—who He is, why He is what He is, the reason for his lowly birth, His earthly life, and His cruel death.

In the words of the old hymn—

"I know that my Redeemer liveth,
And on the earth again shall stand;
I know eternal life He giveth,
That grace and pow'r are in His hand.

I know my mansion He prepareth,
That where He is there I may be;
O wondrous tho't, for me He careth,
And He at last will come for me."

We are not told to give a theological lecture on the attributes of God nor the personality of Jesus Christ, nor the merits of the various versions of the Bible, important as these

Questions on Personal Evangelism

The person I am dealing with says: "I have tried it and failed." How shall I proceed in trying to win him?

No doubt this person has tried a thing, or principle, or a system, or a set of rules. His attention must be fixed upon the person of Christ. Christianity is a life, and that life is Christ (Col. 3:4; I John 5:12). Christ never fails anywhere, and when He comes into the heart to abide, He will not fail there. Christ is not to be had on trial. The sinner must "take Christ," not "try Christ." Man is always a failure, and the only thing he can do is to give up trying and struggling, and trust and rest in the finished work of Jesus Christ. (Jer. 10:23; 29:13; Rom. 4:4-5; 7:18; Phil. 3:3.)

Take this person back over the plan of salvation and find out if there has been a right start.

(Quoted from personal evangelism course of the Washington Bible Institute)

things are, but we are called to witness to the world of lost men that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing in Him warrants eternal life for the one exercising that faith.

So, when someone comes up to you and in a casual manner asks you, "Whadda ya know?" be honest and tell him what you do know.

"I know that my redeemer liveth."

At Whittier, Calif., the men of the First Brethren Church held their Brotherhood meeting on December 9. Speaker for the occasion was Dr. Jauncey, teacher at the California Baptist Theological Seminary. Testimonies and music were also part of the program which followed a ham dinner.

SOUTHEAST FELLOWSHIP AND

ROANOKE, VA., MEN ARE BUSY

Bro. W. V. Findley, of the Roanoke Ghent church, writes in part: "The local fellowship at Ghent and the S. E. Fellowship of Laymen do not want to take all the space, but you ask us for reports, so will send in something. . . . Locally, at our annual election W. C. Fisher was elected president; W. K. Jefferson, vice president; and I was elected secretary-treasurer. . . . Our local men continue to hold regular services at the City Rescue Mission, City Alms House, and other places as opportunity presents. We sent $5 of our offering to the United Evangelistic Crusade. . . .

"The Southeast Fellowship has quite a bit of activity, holding regular services in reopened churches, prison camps, jails, sanitoriums, in homes of aged or indifferent members of our churches, and the Boones Chapel Brethren are holding regular prayer meetings in the Garden City section of Roanoke, looking forward hopefully to the establishment of a Brethren church there. . . .

"The men of our district reported 53 decisions for Christ as a result of our taking the Gospel to those who would not go to a church to hear it. An offering of $50 was voted to go to the United Evangelistic Crusade. Bro. J. S. Taylor, of Buena Vista, is our district president.

Rev. William E. Howard, pastor of the Clearbrook church, Roanoke, Va., was the speaker at the Men's Gospel Fellowship meeting of the Roanoke Ghent church on December 12. The group met at the home of Bro. Mason Cooper.

The Men's Fellowship of the Los Angeles First church held a dinner on December 11 at which Dr. Paul Bauman, vice president of Grace Seminary, spoke and showed pictures taken on his travels.

Merv Rosell and the American Crusade Chorus brought the entire program at the Brotherhood Banquet December 19 at the First church, Long Beach, Calif.

LOVE'S DEBT

By Rev. C. S. Zimmerman, Dayton, Ohio

The greatest Lover in all the universe is God. The Scriptures are abundant in their testimony as to this. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8). "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins" (I John 4:10). Combined with this testimony of the Scriptures is that personal testimony of all the saints throughout all the ages of the love of God that has been bestowed upon them.

God is most unusual in that He has not left us a dictionary of cold abstract terms with which to define Himself, His attributes, His characteristics, but He has left us a Book of living illustrations to give this information to us. But how can we summarize all these illustrations of His precious love? Dr. J. E. Conant has set it forth very simply: "Love is that deliberate and fixed attitude of the whole being which puts the best interests of the one we love above our own, no matter at what cost to ourselves." Now reread all that has been said before in light of this definition, and you will see the overflowing love of God bestowed upon us poor hell-deserving sinners, the objects of His love, at the tremendous cost, the life of His only begotten Son. Reflect upon the horrible pit from which you have been digged!

In normal life we think it a most atrocious thing if one upon whom the most tender love has been bestowed shows no appreciation or gratitude, or does not in some measure return the love received. Is it not true then that we, upon whom a loving God has bestowed such love, ought also to show such love unto Him? There is a very vivid illustration of such an attitude of heart in II Samuel 7, where God, through the prophet, makes known unto David how He intends to make his house a perpetual one in that the great Messiah and King of Israel is to come from David's house. When this was known and understood by David, the first thing we find him doing is going up to the house of God and seating himself there before God, pouring out his heart's love and joy for the bestowal of such a gift. Here David's heart was occupied fully with the object of his heart.

DEVOTIONAL STUDIES FOR FEBRUARY

Bible Study—"The Persistent Question."
Mission Study—"Jewish Religion and Customs."

His soul welled up within him, reaching out to God in holy praise and adoration. This is gratitude. This is worship. This is love returned.

Now the test of our love to God is a very simple, yet profound one. Jesus said to His disciples, and through them to us, "If ye love me, keep my commandments" (John 14:15). The same God who will not suffer us to be tempted above that which we are able, will not lay upon us anything that we are not able to perform. His requirements are simple, but must be completely met.

Love's obedience will reflect itself in several ways. Remember, our love is an attitude of our whole being which will put the interests of the God we love above our own, regardless of the cost to ourselves. Let us look at the course our love to Him will take.

First, our love will recognize the tremendous debt we are under. This is expressed by the Apostle Paul, "I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise" (Rom. 1:14). Paul is telling us that because he is the object of God's love he should be the channel through which this love can flow to the whole world, and that it is his obligation so to be.

Secondly, our love will be governed by the constraining power of God. "For the love of God constraineth us" (II Cor. 5:14). This is expressed in another fashion by the Psalmist, "Thou hast beset me behind and before, and laid thine hand upon me" (Psa. 139:5). This is explained thusly, that God is putting pressure upon us from all sides in order to move us in a given direction. Of course this direction is according to His will and good pleasure. Our response? Just yielding ourselves to the pressure of love and be moved in the paths of righteousness for His sake and our blessing.

Thirdly, we are to tarry. This is one of the stops of our Lord when His loving pressure is equalized on all sides. "And, behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high" (Luke 24:49). Here we, in grateful love, will receive the Power by whom we will be able to keep the commandments of God, and to tender whatever service is laid upon us to do. To love God properly demands power. We have none of our own, but God is willing to provide this Power so that we can love Him as we ought. What infinite grace this is! What an all-out bestowal of love! With the bestowal of such Power, what manner of love, what measure of love, how abandoned our love unto Him should be!

Fourthly, recognizing our debt to the world of lost men, yielding to the restraining love of Christ, and waiting and receiving the Power from on high, we should go forth in loving service. God "hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation" (II Cor. 5:18-19). Here, then, as ambassadors for Christ, is the service our love for God will compel us to render. We shall be overpowered by His love. Our love for Him will be ever increasing. Our desire for others to share His matchless love will send us out into the highways and the hedges, seeking the lost, telling of His love for them. Our deliberate and fixed attitude will be to put God's interests, will, desires, above our own, counting the cost as nothing compared with the eternal rewards and blessings that shall be ours at His coming.

GIVE TO GRACE SEMINARY—December, January, February.

By Althea S. Miller

FAITH IN THE FUTURE?

When men stand at the threshold of the unknown they tremble either for fear or in anticipation. And though the past may project its shadow into the unknown one can be sure that the pattern will never be cut over the same lines. Your days thus far in 1953 have not been an exact duplication of the same period of time in 1952. And yet the general pattern is familiar. In not too many days you will be turning the first page of this year's record. Have you stopped to take stock of your record?

A well-known insurance company advises: "The future belongs to those who prepare for it." How right this motto is the company will never know. The tragedy of such advice is that it is meant for this life only. "Have faith in the future; invest for life with us." Yet the very best they can offer is just a little security in the sunset years for heavy investment now. And when that future in which we've had so much faith comes to an abrupt end for us and we are called beyond this vale, we leave everything behind. No bauble from this life nor profound philosophy of men will ever find a place in eternity. Have you ever said you have faith in the future? What do you mean by those words? If you don't belong to Christ you have no future worthy of faith. You can't have faith in an intangible uncertainty like the future. In what, in whom do you have faith? Apart from Christ there is no future toward which to look or for which to long and set your sights.

Eternity "future belongs to those who prepare for it," however. It is not a preparation such as the world knows. The world tries to brace itself against shock and cover its head from mortal blows. Faith in the future starts with faith in the Saviour of all men who will accept His grace. "Faith (in Christ) brings the fulness of the future into the poverty of the present." Faith in God's Son as one's personal Saviour brings relaxation

MAKING CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE WORK

Have you ever wondered if other Christian wives and husbands have any of the problems which confront you in the experience of living together? Wonder no more, because they DO definitely have experiences similar to yours. The writer is convinced that for too long Christians have glossed over the fact that Christian marriages have just as rocky a road to travel as the non-Christian. The hopeful difference in the two, however, is the professing Christian has the answer to his and her problem in Christ. Being Christians and marrying in the Lord does not eliminate the personality and mental clashes and differences which are inevitable where two people have any "thinking apparatus" of their own.

Marriage counselors are found a "dime a dozen," but what they advise and concoct out of the thinking of natural man evidently does not work, as is witnessed by the ever-increasing divorce rate. This individual does not profess to know all the answers, but she is sure God knows the answers and will give them to His inquiring and trusting children. So many questions have arisen in the process of dealing with people down through the years we feel impelled to share the experiences with others in like need.

Are there answers to these questions? Is Christian marriage a rivalry or partnership? Will love between a Christian husband and wife last? How does one go about making time a servant in the home rather than having the family its slave? What part shall Christian parents play in the selection of their children's marriage partners? What should I teach my children to look for in the boy or girl they marry? God has the answers to these and other questions, which an open, honest discussion will prove. So many requests have come to the editor for just such helps that she has agreed after much prayer to lead out in this discussion. Pray for her and let her hear from you. Look for the first discussion in February's WMC Herald.

and freedom from anxiety as far as eternity future is concerned. Even time's future holds no horrible tense anxiety to the child of God. Our future for time and eternity is in His hands.

We are well over the threshold of the year 1953. The unknown does not terrify us who belong to God through Jesus Christ. We tremble with happy anticipation, holding our heads high as we listen for that trumpet sound. Tomorrow may not resemble today at all because there may be no tomorrow for the saints. Perhaps we'll hear that trumpet call tonight.

O Hope of all the ages,
Desire of hearts Thine own,
We long to hear that trumpet call
And gather 'round Thy throne.

Faith in the future? Ah no, beloved. Your faith is in the God, your God, who holds the future in His hands.

Then do not fear nor be dismayed,
God will not fail or rest
'Til in His presence safe, secure,
His child is ever blest.

GIVE TO GRACE SEMINARY—December, January, February.

Some Important Facts About the New Version of the Bible

By Rev. Robert E. A. Miller, Pastor, Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.

The newest version of the Holy Bible, called "Revised Standard Version," is a product of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. (formerly known as the Federal Council). To many thousands of true evangelical Christians this alone is fact enough to discredit the version and to mark it as untrustworthy.

Furthermore, it is a version which bears the unqualified endorsement and recommendation of outstanding liberal preachers (modernists) such as Fosdick, Peale, Buttrick, and practically all the known-to-be apostate professors in the equally apostate seminaries throughout the U. S. A. For many thousands of Bible-believing Christians this is fact sufficient to prevent acceptance of the widely hailed new Bible.

To further show this version to be of doubtful backing, let me quote from Ernest Gordon (Sunday School Times, October 11, 1952) concerning the advertising program: "In Advertising and Marketing News of the New York Times, we are told that the initial investment for advertising it will be $500,000. To lead the advertising campaign, Thomas Nelson and Sons (the official publishers appointed by the National Council) have hired Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, big brewery advertisers, whose kingpin is Mr. Bruce Barton, author of 'The Book Nobody Knows.' He's going to make it 'known' now in a dubious translation. The plan is 'to reach . . . into almost every community in the country; to use bulletin boards, ministers' sermons and social gatherings. . . . It looks as though the initial printing of 925,000 will be sold before the end of the year.' It recalls the promotion of the earlier ill-fated Inter-Church World Movement, and one wonders if the same financial good angel (Rockefeller) is not backing it also."

Here are some reasons in brief statement to prove that this version should not be accepted by Christians to

The BIRTHDAY offering each council is taking to be used for the support of a WMC missionary? If YOUR council has not done anything about this yet, will you remind your local officers at their next meeting? If you have missed any of the members' birthdays before this, get after them and from now on remind your members of this all-important offering. By next August at conference we are praying we'll be ready as a national organization of women to support our own foreign missionary. After all, we are a MISSIONARY organization!

How are you coming on your Missionary Hope Chest? Watch next month's WMC Herald for a suggested list of what to place in this chest.

GIVE TO GRACE SEMINARY—December, January, February.

replace the time-tested, true-to-the-original-manuscripts King James Version.

1. The teaching of the virgin birth of Jesus Christ is definitely attacked in the translation of Isaiah 7:14, where "a young woman" has now replaced "a virgin." The version catches up on itself but is grossly confusing when we still read the word "virgin" in the New Testament quotation of Isaiah 7:14 found in Matthew 1:23. It is a commonly known fact that practically all the men on the revision boards are men who belong to the modernist school of liberal theologians who deny the veracity of the virgin birth of Christ.

2. There is no distinction made in the new version between the actual translation of the Hebrew and Greek words and the words added by the translators to make for smoother reading in the English. In the King James Version this is faithfully carried out by the use of italics for the added words, thus preserving the actual text of the Bible clearly.

3. The new version is not the whole Bible. Two large portions in the New Testament are deleted from the body of the text and placed in small-print footnotes along with other notations. The most tragic of these is John 8:1-11. Dr. Ernest Gordon (Sunday School Times, Sept. 27, 1952) says in an article entitled, "Making a Footnote of Inspired Scripture": "This is a serious affront to the doctrine of the inspiration of Scripture, and other passages might be treated in the same arbitrary way, as the last twelve verses in the Gospel of Mark. . . . Its removal (of John 8:1-11) by the Revised Standard Version is in itself enough to deny that version the right of circulation by the American Bible Society."

As noted above by Dr. Gordon, Mark 16:9-20 is the other portion deleted from the text of the New Testament. The abundance of scholarship has kept this portion in the text for over 1,600 years. No new evidence has been found to show these portions should be left out.

4. Important words have been left out. John 3:16 is close to the heart of every believer. You will no longer find in the verse the vital word "begotten." The omission of this word has tremendous implications. The word "begotten" in the King James Version signifies that there is in the original word the idea of "uniqueness—no other of its kind." This means that Jesus Christ is the only begotten Son of God in the sense that He is God and God's Son differing from all other sons of men. Again we see that the theological prejudice against the deity of Christ among the liberal men on the revision board is in strong evidence. This doctrinal prejudice is in evidence, too, when one notes that the use of the pronoun "you" is employed when Christ is referred to, but when God in heaven is referred to the text uses "Thou" and "Thee."

These are just a few of the many facts to show that the new version is not to take the place of the time-proved accuracy of the King James Version regardless of claims.

(Would a few copies of this article be of any help to you? Write to the WMC editor and request the number you need. Be sure to give your address.)

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

DEAR MISSIONARIES

Africa—

Mrs. S. Wayne Beaver.....March 2
Verna Marie Dunning.....March 10, 1945
Barbara Jean Miller.....March 18, 1951
Mrs. Chauncey Sheldon.....March 21

Argentina—

Kenneth Paul Churchill.....March 5, 1947

France—

Beckie Maurita Fogle.....March 17, 1948
Miss Gail Jones.....March 31

Baja California—

John Leroy Howard.....March 20, 1946

On Furlough—

Mr. Albert Balzer.....March 1
(c/o Henry C. Kersting, 8415 Fenwick St., Sunland, Calif.)
Mrs. Hill Maconaghy.....March 21
(2121 Chew Ave., Philadelphia 38, Pa.)
Paul Marvin Goodman.....March 25
(1811 Baseline Rd., La Verne, Calif.)

La Loma Grace Brethren Church, Modesto, Calif., sends the following interesting report: "WMC Birthday Dinner Counted Sweeping Success. Over 50 women and girls enjoyed the WMC annual birthday dinner last Friday night (December 5). Mrs. Rose Foster was the guest speaker. Tables were decorated in a very striking and beautiful manner, the motif being the seasons of the year. Each lady was seated according to the time of her birthday. The SMM girls, with pretty green-and-white aprons, served the dinner of chicken, etc., topped off with pumpkin pie."

BRAVO, La Loma! May some other councils go and do likewise and then report the good news to your news-hungry editor!—Ed.

Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, WMC's new and most capable president, sent a few suggestions to your editor regarding the daily Bible reading of each WMC member. She suggests reading the Psalms from 1 to 30 in the month of January. In February read Psalms 30 to 60. This is extra reading, if you have not already read the suggested reading given in September's WMC Herald: Gospel of John; I, II, and III John; I and II Peter; I and II Corinthians.

NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT

We bring greetings from the Northern Ohio District WMC, and with the Psalmist of old we say, "Oh sing unto the Lord a new song for He hath done marvelous things."

Truly we have had a blessed year as a district and this, we feel, is largely the result of the hour of prayer spent at the opening of each rally before the noon fellowship. Interest was high and increasingly so throughout the year. This was evidenced in part by the attendance, the average being 149—the highest being 177 women present. Each council of the district participated in the program of one of the rallies during the year. Both the district and national offerings from our councils were very commendable. We gained one new council at Findlay, Ohio, making a total of 22 councils in our district. Rallies for the year were as follows:

Fall—At Canton, Ohio; project: home mission, Navaho school beds; offering, $115.09.

Winter—At Ashland, Ohio; project: Jewish work, Los Angeles; offering, $155.38.

Spring—At Wooster, Ohio; project: foreign mission, record player, Baja California; offering, $117.41.

Summer—At Ellet, Ohio; project: equip African baby dispensary; offering, $142.21; special love offering for Schrocks for record player, $75; personal love gifts, $125.

Grand total of offerings, $730.09.

We do feel grateful unto the Lord for manifesting Himself in the work by the wonderful cooperation from the ladies in being gracious hostesses, responding with reports, willingness to work, the many fine projects being carried on by the local councils; also the efficient work of the various committees and officers. It was sweet indeed to join efforts for the Lord with such a splendid group of women.

Our projects for 1952-53 are as follows: Home mission—mimeograph machine for Findlay, Ohio, church; Jewish—printing of Mediator for work in Los Angeles; foreign mission—offering to Fogles for work in France; July rally—gift to foreign missionary residence for miscellaneous furnishings.

We offer praise unto our Lord for His goodness to us, but pray for more interest in prayer, personal work, and study of His Word that He may know we are daily striving to "occupy until He comes," and that He may also know we "love Him."—Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, president.

WITH GOD

By Althea S. Miller

I talked with God in the cool of the day
Ere stress of the hours had begun,
He whispered of love though there be storm,
And I knew then that vict'ry was won.

I walked with God the whole day through,
Feeling His presence in each hour;
Strengthened by Christ His work to do,
Rejoicing in triumph by His power.

I heard His voice when day was done,
Speaking in cadence sweet and clear;
"Each day you come I'll always give Strength for thy need, unmeasured, dear."

GREETINGS FROM UNDER THE PARSONAGE ROOF CHRISTMAS 1952

(Belated Greetings From Your WMC Editor)

Baby Ardyth says: "My first Christmas . . . to smile and Ah-h-h."

"I love you people and here is my greeting, I hope you have a swell Christmas. I know we'll have a good time with all our kids. Love, Paul Kent (5 yrs.)."

"You've been very good to us the years that we've been here,

So have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Love, David Scott (6th gr.)."

"Merry, merry Christmas folks . . . You know I'm kind of quiet, so here's just a line from me. Dorotheann (4th gr.)."

Our little 3-yr.-old Althea chirps: "Merry Christmas, to you and you and you and . . . to the preacher. This is my piece I said on the plat."

"You are very nice to us. We hope you have a nice Christmas. I'm in first grade. Love, Sharon."

"The many years we have been here, Have all been filled with love and cheer, So I wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Bill Miller (Jr. Hi.)."

"Greetings at this Christmas time to all our dear friends. May the Lord bless and keep you during the new year. Love in our Saviour's name, Bob, Jr."

"After the deluge of greetings from eight young Millers perhaps you haven't much eyesight left to notice Mother's message. But here goes . . . After daily living with the joys and problems incident to these eight cherubs, Mother doesn't have too much energy left! Yet I am not bereft, because 'love never faileth.' Knowing you dear friends has enriched my own life and I can say with the Apostle: 'I thank my God upon every remembrance of you.' As our hearts and attention are turned to the Babe of Bethlehem at this wonderful time of the year, it is a pleasure to wish all our loved ones and friends a blessed Christmas. The warmth and blessings of the Christmas season will accompany you through the year because 'This Holy Child' has become your Saviour, the Christ of Calvary. Accept then my love and warmest greetings to each one, dearly beloved in the Lord.

Yours because His,

Althea Miller."

"As your pastor-friend we greet you in the blessed name of Jesus . . . that name which became a human fact in the grand miracle of the incarnation of the Second Person of the Triune God, even our Lord Jesus Christ. Our Lord from heaven brought us the peace that lasts . . . the peace of sins forgiven and the peace of answered prayer. Do you know this peace? God grant that the Prince of Peace shall be the Person most important in your Christmas celebration this year when, as yet, the guns have not ceased their firing and the blood of our boys has not stopped flowing around the world. Someday, sooner than you think, "we shall see his face; and his name shall be in our foreheads. And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever" (Rev. 22:4-5). Yours for a great future in Gloryland.

Robert E. A. Miller."

INTRODUCING YOUR SMM OFFICERS

Vice President
Cora Luna

General Secretary
Helen Small

Treasurer
Mary Hooks

GIVE TO GRACE SEMINARY—December, January, February.

1951-52 STATISTICAL REPORT

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY COUNCIL OF THE BRETHREN CHURCH

	Atlantic	California	Central	East	Iowa	Midwest	North. Ohio	Northwest	Southeast	Totals
No. of councils in district...	13	30	24	32	6	7	22	6	14	154
No. of councils reporting...	11	30	23	32	6	7	22	6	14	151
New councils in 1951-52.....	1	1	1	2	0	1	1	0	2	9
No. of members 1951.....	257	645	574	664	180	90	479	114	248	3251
No. of members 1952.....	275	792	549	659	132	102	558	133	252	3452
Ave. attend. at meetings...	160	444	384	460	85	72	355	80	170	2219
No. having monthly meet.	8	25	23	30	5	6	19	3	12	131
No. using Bible read. sug..	10	21	20	22	4	3	19	3	11	113
No. emphasizing fam. worsh.	9	23	19	26	5	4	17	3	13	119
No. enlisting prayer war's	8	23	23	21	5	6	17	5	12	120
No. observ. 15th. pray. day	6	16	13	21	1	6	13	2	10	88
No. sending birthday rem. to missionaries .....	9	20	19	20	4	4	13	6	10	105
No. emphasizing visitation and tract distribution....	9	21	16	20	5	2	13	4	12	102
No. promoting child evang.	8	14	19	16	5	2	12	3	6	85
No. using program packets	10	29	24	32	6	6	22	6	13	148
No. using read. circle books	6	17	16	19	4	2	13	3	9	86
No. sending clothing to Ky.	7	3	20	25	2	0	20	0	9	86
No. sending clothing to Taos	2	25	10	10	3	5	15	3	2	75
No. sending clothing to Counselor Post .....	2	18	9	10	1	5	8	5	1	59
No. having part in district project .....	10	26	23	29	6	7	20	6	13	140
No. sending offering for Jewish missions .....	9	17	22	22	4	3	16	2	9	104
No. sending in national offerings .....	9	28	24	31	6	7	22	6	14	147

There are many things of interest about the work that this report does not show. If each one of you could read the blanks as they come in you would really see the wonderful things that are being done by the different councils and districts. Because some groups are small in number does not mean that they do not get things accomplished. It is amazing what they have done and they should be a challenge to some of the larger groups to do greater things than they have in the past. We do praise the Lord for everything He has permitted our women to accomplish and I am sure we are all of the same mind in that He should get all the glory to Himself.—Mrs. Robert Ashman, secretary.

GIVE TO GRACE SEMINARY—December, January, February.

"Ambassadors for Christ"

Sisterhood of MARY and MARTHA

II COR. 5:20

DOM BEK

JOHN G. PATON—Missionary to Cannibals

By Mary L. Emmert

When John G. Paton, of Scotland, asked the Lord to send him to a difficult field, he certainly had his prayer answered.

In 1858 he and his wife were sent to the New Hebrides Islands where several missionaries had been killed and others driven away. They were landed on Tanna, the worst island of the group. Several native Christians from the one island where the Gospel had taken hold went to help them and were faithful through all the trials that followed.

The first of these was the death of his wife and tiny baby at the end of the first few months, due to the bad climate. He was often very sick himself until he built his house on higher ground.

The heathen blamed every calamity on the missionary and his new teaching. It might be lack of rain, or too much rain, or sickness, or death—it was all his fault! They tried again and again to kill him. As many as 50 different attempts were made to take his life, but his trust was truly in God, who had promised never to leave or forsake him. Often the savages raised their weapons to kill him but were restrained by God's hand and were powerless to strike.

At one time the people had stolen nearly everything he had, but brought it all back in a hurry when they saw a British ship coming into port.

There were some very bad white traders who sold guns and strong drink to the islanders. They stirred the people up against the missionaries. Once they even gave measles to the people purposely in order to kill them off and get their land for themselves. There were many, many deaths, and the natives were determined to kill Mr. Paton, claiming it was all his fault.

Finally, in 1862, John Paton had to leave everything and run for his life. He crossed the island, pursued by his enemies. They tried to burn down the house where he slept that night, but the Lord sent a mighty rainstorm just at the right time.

The next day he and his companions were again saved, in answer to prayer, by a ship which had come to rescue them from the savages who had again surrounded them.

After several years of furlough, Mr. Paton returned with his second wife to the islands. This time they settled on Aniwa, a smaller and much friendlier island. The people made them build on a sacred hill, however, in the hopes that their gods would strike the strangers dead, as the bones from their cannibal feasts were buried there.

When Mr. Paton was building his house, the native chief was so astonished to see him write a note to his wife on a piece of wood and in turn receive the tools he wanted, that he asked to learn how the wood talked. He was taught how to read and was a great help in translating the New Testament into his own language. This old chief was the first convert on Aniwa. Others soon followed.

Due to the scarcity of water, Mr. Paton dug a well. The people thought he was crazy to say he was going to find water in the ground. When, after much prayer, he finally found good water, the people were convinced that Jehovah was really God.

The old chief preached a great sermon about the well and the God who could make rain come out of the ground. The back of heathenism was broken; the people brought their idols to be burned; and all of them accepted the Lord. The island became truly Christian.

This great man of God lived to see the wicked people of Tanna converted, too. Also 25 of the 30 islands were occupied by missionaries, and there were over 17,000 Christians. He died at the age of 83, happy to see the great work the Lord had accomplished.

SMM AMBASSADOR FOR CHRIST

February — Valentine Day — Love; these 3 just go together. Regarding love the Word of God says: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends" (John 15:13). It is because of her great love for Christ and the lepers that Marybeth has given her life for service in Africa that the lepers may know of Christ's greater love and that she might help them physically. PRAY FOR HER!

Marybeth Munn

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR FEBRUARY

SINGSPIRATION.

INTERCESSION—Prayer circle, using prayer requests.

SCRIPTURE—Psalms 119:81-96.

TRAINING FOR AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Jehovah's Witnesses."

Middlers—"Conference Time."

Juniors—"Cora's Curiosity."

SPECIAL NUMBER.

REPORT ON AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Conference Time."

Middlers, Juniors—"John G. Paton."

BENEDICTION.

BUSINESS MEETING.

The cult before us in this present study is one of the most aggressive isms of the day. On countless street corners in towns and cities across our nation witnesses of this movement may be seen seeking to dispose of their Watch Tower and Consolation magazines. Their Kingdom Halls are widely scattered over this land and other lands.

I. Its Names. Some confusion exists because of the different names by which the cult has been known. It has variously been called Russellism, after its founder, Charles Taze Russell; Millennial Dawnism, in view of its millennial views; the Watch Tower and Tract Society, because of its publication interests; the International Bible Students' Association, because of its work in other countries besides the United States; and Jehovah's Witnesses, the name which they adopted in 1931 and by which they prefer to be known. They make much of Scriptural substantiation in the use of this latter name.

II. Origin. The cult had its origin with the prophetic teachings of "Pastor" Russell beginning in 1874. The world seems to have been lying in total ignorance of very important truth until this self-styled man who was never ordained came upon the scene! Russell was born in 1851 and died in 1916. When Russell passed off the scene, Ex-Judge J. F. Rutherford carried on as the leader of the movement. Russell did the Elijah work of the cult while Rutherford did the Elisha work.

III. History of the Movement. The cult is based upon the teachings of Russell's "Studies in the Scriptures" (7 volumes) and the writings of Judge Rutherford. The latter's writings have appeared in numerous volumes easily recognized by their brilliant colors. Among these writings are the following titles: "Light," "The Harp of God," "Deliverance," "Government," "Creation," etc.

The system has appealed to the ignorant and unschooled who know little about the Scriptures and who are attracted by the sensational. Russell said that Christ's second coming took place in 1874 and that all true Christians then in their graves were raised in 1878. He said that Christ and these Christians are here now, but unseen, carrying on a special work, and that in October 1914 Christ was to set up His millennial reign and all present governments were to be overthrown. Thus the theocracy which was overthrown by Nebuchadnezzar is restored. This explains why the Jehovah's Witnesses have so little to do with present-day governments.

The cult is seeking now to cover the world with their witness, the Gospel of the kingdom. Missionaries in various parts of the world testify to the aggressive nature of their work. They hold that Armageddon may take place at any time. The Devil will be tossed into outer darkness and perfect peace will reign forever, except for a brief period at the end of the first 1,000 years. The Devil will be finally obliterated. One of their watchwords is, "Millions now living will never die." If all professed Christians were as active as are the Jehovah's Witnesses, the church would really get somewhere.

IV. Doctrinal Viewpoint. First, what elements of truth are to be found in the system? It claims to believe (1) the Bible as the Word of God, (2) dispensational distinctions, (3) salvation through the death of Christ, (4) the election and calling of the church, (5) the second coming of Christ, (6) the resurrection of the dead with the exception of Jesus, (7) the restoration of Israel, (8) a millennium, and (9) a final judgment. Thus with these beliefs it is easy to see how they can deceive those who are not instructed in the Word. It will be noted that the Witness writings are full of Scripture references, but they are often misinterpreted.

Now, secondly, what of error is to be found in the cult? (1) Its most serious error is its denial of the deity of Christ. He is a creation of God like the angels; in fact, He is called the Archangel Michael by Russell ("Studies in the Scriptures, vol. 5, p. 84). Thus He is not equal with God. (2) It denies the Trinity. Russell said, "The trinitarian doctrine suited well the dark ages which it helped to produce" (ibid., p. 166). (3) It is another date-setting system. This was indicated above. (4) It believes that death means extinction, annihilation. This even applies to Christ on the cross. "Our Lord's being or soul was nonexistent during the period of death" (ibid., p. 362). The One whom the disciples saw after the resurrection was not the Christ who died but another Christ newly created. (5) It does not believe in a bodily resurrection. (6) It believes that unbelievers will be given a second chance. (7) It holds that the work of Christ on the cross was the work of a mere man. "As a human being he gave himself a ransom for men." Thus there was no divinity on Calvary. (8) It denies the resurrection of Christ's body. No one knows what became of it. Maybe it was dissolved into gases (ibid., vol. 2, p. 129). (9) This cult denies any humanity in the exalted Saviour (ibid., vol. 2, p. 107).

V. Refutation of Errors. This cult may be refuted in the following ways: (1) By showing that there is no word in Scripture that makes Christ identical with Michael, the archangel. The idea is only a fabrication of their own minds. Instead the Scriptures show Christ not as a created being but as the agent of creation and equal with the Father (see John 1:1; Col. 1:16; Heb. 1:2). Christ is called God in Scripture (John 1:1; Heb. 1:8; John 20:28; Tit. 2:13). Divine worship is also ascribed to Him (John 4:10; 20:28; Matt. 14:33; Luke 24:52). (2) By showing passages giving evidence of the Trinity (John 1:1; Acts 5:4; Matt. 3:16-17; II Cor. 13:14; Matt. 28:19). (3) By showing passages that frown upon date-setting (Matt. 25:13; 24:36; Mark 13:32). (4) By showing passages that repudiate extinction at death (Phil. 1:21-23; Luke 23:43; 16:22ff.; II Cor. 5:6-8). (5) By showing passages that plainly teach a bodily resurrection (I Cor. 15:4, 35, 44; Matt. 28:9; John 20:15ff.; Acts 1:3; John 2:19, 22). (6) By showing passages that give no hope for a second chance (II Cor. 6:2; John 5:28-29, etc.). Space forbids the consideration of further material on refutation. What the people need who are ensnared by this cult is the pure Gospel of the grace of God presented in the power of the Spirit of God.

NOTICE

ADDRESS of national president, PATTY GRIFFITH, is now R. R. 1, Conemaugh, Pa.

"My, my, daughter," said Mrs. Burns as Cora paused between questions to get her breath. "Why are you so curious? You've done nothing but ask questions constantly since you came home from Sunday school. I hope you don't come forth with any that I can't answer."

"I'm sorry, Mother. But Miss Sarah only had a little time this morning to tell us about the main work of Christ, His death on the cross. She explained about the place and the people who were there. She told about His burden in carrying the heavy cross and who helped Him. But she didn't have time to answer all the questions we all had. She never did get around to mine."

"Well, dear, I am happy to know that my little girl does know that the death of Christ was so very important. If it had not taken place, we would not have a complete atonement (forgiveness of our sins) in our Christian religion. Other religions have some good points, but all their leaders are dead and have stayed dead. They are only hoping that their leaders will be able to do something for them some day. However, it is written of Jesus that 'the cross is the magnet which sends the electrical current through the telegraph between earth and heaven, and makes both Testaments thrill, through the ages of the past and future, with living, harmonious, and saving truth.' Christ's death (or His most important work) has great prominence in the Scriptures, too. It is the fundamental theme of the Gospel. The Apostle Paul says that he first instructed those to whom he preached about the death of Christ—that 'Christ died for our sins' (I Cor. 15:1-3). But you know, Cora, one of the things which thrills me is the fact that not only in earth do we have a group of people who know that Christ died, and appreciate it, but in heaven also they have a song about it. Let's turn to Revelation 5:8-12 and read the song together."

Cora opened her Bible and found the place almost immediately. She had learned the books of the Bible and this job was not hard for her. She and Mother read: "And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them harps, and golden vials full of odours [incense], which are the prayers of saints. And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation; and hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth. And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands; saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing."

"Oh, Mother," said Cora, "I can almost see us in that great choir. We'll be telling Jesus someday how much we appreciate His greatest work, won't we?"

"Yes, Cora. We won't forget, I hope, to thank Him for becoming a substitute and dying in our place. We'll praise Him for making things all right between our souls and God, taking away our sin so we can have fellowship with God and be in the place He has prepared for us."

"But, Mother, Gladys says that Christ didn't really die. Someone told her He just fainted and when they laid Him in the tomb the coolness brought Him to."

"I have heard these ideas, too, dear. But remember that the Bible gives the correct answer. People may say anything, but that doesn't make it so. We must take what the Bible says as truth. It says He died! Furthermore, He died to show the love of God to all mankind. I John 4:10 tells us: 'Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.' And, of course, we know John 3:16. Jesus was a gift from God; a gift unto the end—death and resurrection."

"I am so glad Jesus died for everybody, too. That includes each one of us. It includes the unjust, the unfair, the ungodly—those who even hated Him. He died for the church and He died for the whole world. His death and resurrection made it possible to come to God in prayer, and to claim the promise to dwell with Him forever and forever. I just can hardly believe all this, Mother. But, as you say, it is in the Bible, so it is really truth. Thanks, Mother, for explaining some more to me about the death of Christ. More and more I can see that even though He did wonderful things on this earth like healing the sick, making the blind to see, giving the crazy people their minds back, loving the children, and feeding the thousands, His greatest work was to give His life on the cross and come from the grave."

"Cora, there is just one thing more I want you to realize about the importance of the death and resurrection of Christ. It surely put a "crimp" in Satan's activities. It was the pronouncement of Satan's doom. It was the loss of his power over men. We should be thankful, too, that Christ's new life in us can give us victory over sin and the Devil, but we could not have that life if Christ had not died."

QUIZ

1. Why did Christ die?
2. What was the most important work Christ did?
3. How did the death of Christ affect heaven?
4. What did we gain by His death and resurrection?
5. What effect did His death have on Satan?

SMM NEWS

In order to plan out the work of the SMM year, the Senior SMM of BUENA VISTA, VA., has organized their girls into 2 teams—Marys and Marthas. This SMM also added 5 new members to their group.

A new SMM has been started in the new church at EVERETT, PA., with 11 girls. Their local project is to clean the church each week, thus saving the expense of hiring someone to do it.

Special notice of the bandage rolling of the SMM of TEMPLE CITY, CALIF.: the 12 girls of this group have rolled 1,000 bandages.

The Senior SMM at KITTANNING, PA., makes use of their parties to accomplish bandage rolling. They hold 2 meetings a month.

CONFERENCE TIME

(ACTS 15)

By Ada M. Etling

Perhaps you are like my girls. We scarcely get our baggage unpacked from our conference trip until they are planning for Winona next year. They always enjoy the business, inspiration, and fellowship of conference and Bethany days.

As we think of conference, we think of delegates from each church in the brotherhood meeting to discuss subjects that later become the policy of the church. Even so, the first conference of the church met at Jerusalem to receive a group from the church at Antioch to discuss a problem of great importance.

What was the problem?

Spoken very simply (15:1) the question in dispute was, "Did the gentiles have to be circumcised and follow the laws of Moses?" The Jews had conformed to the laws and rites of their fathers in the past and felt they always should do so. Christianity to the Jew was not a religion that destroyed the religion of their fathers, but rather fulfilled it.

However, there was no Jewish background in Antioch. They found Christ, knew the joy of their new relationship, and had real fellowship in the church.

But certain of the Jewish teachers came to Antioch saying, in effect: "You must be circumcised before you receive the gift of God." Perhaps you have heard some folks in our day say, "You must be baptized before you receive salvation." This presents the same problem to some as did circumcision in the early days.

Was it a serious problem?

The Greek was rejoicing in the fact that "by grace are ye saved through faith . . . not of works, lest any man should boast." The Jew did not realize this truth but thought of salvation as having come as a result of Jewish ritual. If the Jew had been victorious through the years the church would have been divided.

How was the problem handled?

That a decision be made was seen necessary. The church at Antioch sent a delegation to consult with the apostles and elders at Jerusalem.

After much discussion, first with the elders and then before the church, 3 statements were made. Peter suggested that in the case of Cornelius God had blessed and honored without ritualism. "Why," he contended, "tempt ye God, to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we are able to bear?" (15:10).

Immediately after this speech Paul and Barnabas took the witness stand and rehearsed before the church how the same grace that operated for Cornelius had been evident in Cyprus, Antioch, Pisidia, and Galatia; how God had worked without offering of sacrifice or works of law.

The final speaker was James, who perhaps was pre-siding. The expression he used is conclusive. "To this agree the words of the prophets." The decision was not based upon the word of man but the words of Scripture. There was no seeking for self glory. How do we know? Notice James can say in verse 25, "It seemed good unto us, being assembled with one accord," and also, "It seemed good to the Holy Spirit" (15:25, 28). The Holy Spirit does not guide selfish hearts.

What does this decision mean to me?

My daddy used to say, "Why read about those fellows way back there?" We would answer, "So that we can profit from their mistakes, blessings, and decisions."

Here is a place you and I can rejoice. Nothing, absolutely nothing—other than faith—is essential to our salvation. Christ has redeemed us! Mother used to whistle, then sing; sing, and then whistle: "Free from the law, oh happy condition!" What a blessing! But remember, every blessing brings a responsibility. We are our sister's keeper! Let us "walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called."

Be sure to have a map for next month's study. Either have a large map for the whole group or let each girl make a map so she can trace the journeys of Paul.

OFFICIAL REPORT

Attention Seniors! Have you been having missionary reports in your meetings each month? Your literature secretary is responsible for compiling and giving a missionary activity report. This report should be made from the home and foreign mission numbers of the Herald. This is local organization goal #8, so let's not forget it.

SMM Pins. Are you proud of your SMM? Then show it by wearing an SMM pin wherever you go. You can get these for 65c each from your literature secretary, Myra Joy Conner.

Spring Cabinet Meeting. It's time once again to get together for your spring cabinet meeting to make future plans. This is a fine time to check up on your goals to see whether or not the girls and the organization as a whole are meeting them. Let this meeting be a midyear boost so that you don't lag behind and fall down on your goals.

Valentine Party? If you are planning a Valentine party for your SMM, here is a suggestion. Why don't you get together and make some candy and cookies. Then fix a valentine box for the boys in service or for the boys and girls away at school from your church. It will be appreciated, and you will have fun doing it!

The junior girls of WATERLOO, IOWA, are already counting up completed goals and projects. One interesting project completed was the making of flannelgraph materials for our missionaries in Argentina.

PRAYER REQUESTS

1. Pray for the needs of your SMM group.
2. Pray for the SMM officers that the Lord will guide them in all plans for SMM work.
3. Remember those who are in schools preparing for the Lord's service.
4. Continually pray for our missionaries that the Lord will keep them in health, supply strength and encouragement, and give peace of heart and mind as they faithfully give forth the Gospel of light.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 3

HOME MISSION NUMBER

JANUARY 17, 1953

The photograph below includes some local Brethren along with some Brethren students of Wheaton College who are vitally interested in seeing a new Brethren church in Wheaton, Ill. At the present time the Sunday school is held in the home shown in the foreground, which is a model home made available to us through the courtesy of the Best Built Co.

As the Editor Sees It — —

By L. L. Grubb

OKLAHOMA CITY, AMERICAN PARADOX OF SIN AND RELIGION

This great southwest city is indeed a paradox—revivals on one corner and burlesque shows on the other; prayer meetings running full blast right next door to call-houses; a bone-dry prohibition law and about the nation's highest per-capita consumption of hard liquor.

Though supposedly "dry," Oklahoma City is one of the wettest towns in the United States. Even the word "bootlegger" originated here from the old Oklahoma custom of carrying a flagon of wine in the jackboot. A simple telephone call will bring you any kind of alcoholic beverage you may desire. Recently an Oklahoma Baptist preacher complained that he was being confused with a prominent local bootlegger with a similar name and that his phone was "ringing day and night." According to the revenue commissioner of Arkansas, records prove that more than 700,000 cases of liquor are shipped into "dry" Oklahoma annually, one-third of a case for each man, woman, and child in the State.

As a result, even though this city is often called the capital of the Bible Belt, sin of all sorts runs rampant. In spite of the presence of a number of fundamental churches, Oklahoma City is one of the "most wide-open" cities of the nation, and has been described in those words in several national publications. When the American Social Hygiene Association reported that this city was one of the plague-spots of the nation as far as vice and venereal disease were concerned, leading citizens rushed to their indignant pastors and denied it, but at the same time hinted broadly to prospective conventioners that it was so and that Oklahoma City is a town where everything goes. The city rates high in church attendance, but supports at the same time more strip-teasers, gamblers, and bootleggers than any other comparable town in the whole Southwest.

"Hell's Half-Acre" is the traditional tenderloin of Oklahoma City and dates back to the days of the gold rush. It is a 4- or 5-square-block area south of the Santa Fe railroad station. Here, along California and Reno streets, almost any variety of sin may be found.

The visitor to Oklahoma City will see tall, beautiful buildings, immaculate streets, modern stores, and shops of all sorts. Exquisite church buildings rear their spires heavenward and one feels that he has come to earth's Utopia. But the balance of the story is a sordid tale of wickedness.

In this series of verbal pictures of American cities running currently in our home mission issues of the Herald we are endeavoring to emphasize the fact that American cities desperately need the Gospel of Jesus Christ. We are asleep and generally unresponsive to the terrible conditions of vice and lust which exist in our populated centers.

The casual observer who has little interest in home missions may easily say after a visit to Oklahoma City, "Why the place is full of churches, and the city is spotlessly clean; what need do these people have for further spiritual help?" But this is not the whole story.

Why the paradox—so many churches, yet so much sin?

If all the churches were rebuking sin and preaching Christ as they should, the gambling houses and red-light districts would be hard-pressed for an existence. But Oklahoma City has its large share of modernistic, social-minded churches also. Very few really preach the Word.

Like all modern strategically located American cities, this southwest city has enjoyed great growth. In recent flights over the city vast new housing projects were in evidence. With the increase in population the gospel testimony becomes smaller in proportion and the houses of sin flourish.

Oklahoma City needs a half-dozen Brethren churches with their emphasis on the full Word of the living God. We need to meet this modern Pompeii of sin head-on with the spiritual dynamite of God.

MORE AMERICAN PROSPECTS FOR THE GOSPEL IN '53

The population of our nation is growing! There were probably 4 million babies born this past year and the expectation is for a similar or larger number in 1953. Our population total now is 158.5 million, but will probably be above 161 million a year hence. We are a fast-growing nation.

Unless the church prepares for this tremendous challenge from American young life we will miss our greatest national opportunity for Christ. If we fail, our jails and penitentiaries will fill to capacity.

JEWRY CONFUSED

Shlomo Z. Shragai, mayor of Jerusalem, says that Jewry is not ready for the reconstruction of the traditional holy temple.

However, recently he revealed plans for a handsome modern-day substitute, a 10,000-capacity "central world synagogue" in Jerusalem. Every Jewish congregation in the world—Orthodox, Conservative, Reform—will be invited to share in the construction of this mammoth edifice in return for which their names will be inscribed in plaques to be placed on the seats of the synagogue. He indicated that Beth Knesset, as the synagogue will be called, "will be representative of the religious ideals and motivations of all Jewry." Already $500,000 has been offered by one Jewish family to begin the work.

Unfortunately the mayor of Jerusalem does not realize that one day he or his successors will be deposed from the place of authority by One who will rule the world from this 3,000-year-old city. The information is available if he will but read the Old Testament Scriptures in Isaiah 11. But many Jews today do not accept even the Old Testament as the Word of God. They are "Reformed." This means largely that they do not believe anything. Agnosticism rules in their thinking processes, which is the natural result of turning away from the one source of truth—the Bible!

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

According to those who are informed, it seems that Orthodox Jews, that is those who believe the Old Testament Scriptures to be the inspired Word of God, are becoming fewer. So Jewry moves farther from the truth.

The world synagogue will serve only one purpose, the concentrating of Jewish thinking, energy, purpose, planning, and development in earth's area which has already been deeded to the seed of Israel through Abraham.

"Confusion" is the word which can be written wide over all Jewry!

HELP THE JEWS THROUGH BRETHREN CHANNELS

Did you know that the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches has a mission to the Jews?

We have actually met people who seem to know little if anything about our Jewish work in spite of the fact that it is represented each month in our Herald.

At this time of the year many of our churches receive an offering for Jewish missions, even though we prefer

IT'S NEW - IT'S NEWS!

The beginning of a new year will mark the beginning of a new Bible class in the Quad City area of Iowa and Illinois, which includes Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, and East Moline. The class will be held at 1949 West First St., Davenport, Iowa, beginning January 6, 1953, at 7:30, and will continue each Tuesday evening thereafter. Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum will be teaching the class, and he would appreciate the names of anyone you think would be interested who lives in this area. Write Brother Kriegbaum at 1570 43d St. NE., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, or write to the Brethren Home Missions Council, Winona Lake, Ind.

seeing our Jewish mission support coming to us each month the year round.

The Brethren Jewish Mission in the Fairfax district of Los Angeles where there are perhaps 100,000 Jews, and our fine missionaries, Brother and Sister Bruce Button, and Miss Isobel Fraser, deserve your prayerful and generous support the year round. Whatever your plans for giving for the evangelization of Israel, please don't fail to pray and give systematically that God may bless in the salvation of many confused Jews.

For further information write us at Winona Lake, Ind.

LOOKING AT HOME MISSIONS FOR 1953

It is with the full realization that only God knows the future that we look at 1953 with our human eyes and can see the greatest year yet in Brethren home missions. We believe this prediction will be true only to the extent of your prayers for this work. That you might put forth a greater prayer effort, we list a few of our reasons for our observation and trust you will do your best to help make it the best year for the glory of God.

ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA—

The sacrificial gifts and donated labor of the Alexandria Brethren are making possible the completion of the upper auditorium and thereby completing their first unit of the building program. These Brethren, under the leadership of their pastor, Kenneth Teague, will be looking forward to dedication of this completed church in 1953.

ARTESIA, CALIFORNIA—

Plans are in the making for relocating or building, and a possibility it will include both, at Artesia in the year 1953.

BEAUMONT, CALIFORNIA—

Dedication of the new Cherry Valley Brethren Church of Beaumont is scheduled for early in 1953. This is to be one of the most unusual dedications in Brethren home missions history and you will be hearing about it soon.

DAYTON, OHIO—

The new Patterson Park Brethren Church in Dayton is nearing completion. This home mission church is being built under a new plan that is expected to save thousands of dollars for the church and make home mission dollars go farther. 1953 will reveal the success of this plan and see this new church dedicated.

DENVER, COLORADO—

The first Brethren church of our fellowship in the State of Colorado is now under construction in Denver. Work is progressing very rapidly and you should read about its dedication in 1953.

FINDLAY, OHIO—

A fine location for the new home mission church in Findlay has been obtained and building plans are in the making at this time. The building program will be started in 1953 and the goal will be to see it completed.

HELL FOR CERTAIN, KENTUCKY—

The complete story of the new chapel at Hell for Certain appears in this issue under the title of "New Brethren Chapel at Hell for Certain," by Miss Evelyn Fuqua. Another dedication of a Brethren testimony for 1953.

LONG BEACH, CALIFORNIA—

The people of the Paramount Brethren Church, now meeting in the Christian day school building, are talking of a new church and, the Lord willing, want to get it started in 1953.

ROANOKE, VIRGINIA—

Plans for the Washington Heights home mission church are ready and early 1953 should see ground broken here and a much-needed building completed before 1954.

PARKERSBURG, WEST VIRGINIA—

The Parkersburg Brethren have a building fund, a pastor, Lester Smitley, working in secular work, and have their eyes on some lots for location of a church. 1953 could see these Brethren entering a much-needed building program.

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON—

The first pastor for the Seattle work, Thomas Hammers, arrived on the field the first of January. The pastor, giving his full time, should reveal some rapid developments during 1953 in this northwestern city.

SIDNEY, OHIO—

One of the newest prospects for a new Brethren church is at Sidney. Although this would be considered in the early stages of development, it is expected to show some rapid gains in 1953.

TEMPLE CITY, CALIFORNIA—

Plans are completed for a new California-style home mission church building in Temple City. Financing is the immediate problem, but we are expecting the Lord to solve this soon. The weather is no problem in California, therefore 1953 should see the first unit of their building program completed.

WHEATON, ILLINOIS—

A new and promising field in a strategic location. Our first entrance into Illinois and a beachhead for the city of Chicago. It would provide a Brethren church for our Brethren students at Wheaton College.

YORK, PENNSYLVANIA—

The Grace Brethren Church, York, was just recently organized and is now ready to go places in 1953. A search is going on right now for the proper permanent location in York, where a home mission church can be constructed.

New Year's Eve in South Bend, Ind.

By Russell Ogden

Editor's Note: Rev. Russell Ogden, a student at Grace Theological Seminary, served as interim pastor at the Sunnymede Brethren Church for a short time and then was called to become the full-time pastor. Brother Ogden will be moving on the field after graduation this spring and until that time will be commuting from Winona Lake.

Russell Ogden

We enjoyed a full program for our New Year's Eve watch-night service, beginning at 7:30 with a baptismal service in which 5 persons were baptized and added to the church. A sixth member was also added who had been baptized at a previous time.

We then observed the threefold communion service, with approximately 35 persons participating. This is always a blessed service for all concerned. This was followed by the showing of the home mission film, "The Forgotten Navaho," which received many favorable comments.

The program was concluded with a praise and prayer service, which took us through the midnight hour as we invoked God's fullest blessing to prosper the work in the new year.

CEDAR RAPIDS CELEBRATES THIRD ANNIVERSARY

By Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum

According to Evangelist Merv Rosell, someone has printed on the wall of a large theater in New York City the words, "If you think your act is so good, try Cedar Rapids!" It was just such an introduction that was given when a new work was contemplated in this city. One man said: "Cedar Rapids will be hard to crack, and unless you know someone who knows the ropes you will never be able to do a thing."

Praise the Lord, we knew Someone! If there were any deals to make, or anything to be gotten, we knew that One could get it. That Someone was the Lord Jesus Himself. Therefore, if anything has been done in Cedar Rapids, we must stand and acclaim, "See what the Lord hath done."

The Cedar Rapids church is just 3 years old, with the dedication of the church being conducted on November 20, 1949. Since that date the Lord has blessed and the average attendance now is 10 times what it was then, and the membership is increased 7 times.

The Lord be praised that our morning and evening services average about the same. Last quarter we averaged just 4 less in the evening than in the morning.

To the praise of the Lord we can report that we have never had a communion service in the history of the church that we have not had more communicants than we have members.

Our midweek service averages nearly two-thirds of our membership. Our prayer is that the average will continue, for only as a church advances upon its knees can God bless.

The Evangelical Teacher Training class has 100 percent of the teachers enrolled who teach in the beginners' department through the adult department. All these teachers are working for the teacher's certificate granted by the Evangelical Teacher Training Association and the National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church. One-half of the class will have completed one-half of the required studies this spring.

An anonymous donor gave to the church a new Webster electric public-address system, with 3-speed phonograph. The speakers are to be mounted in the tower of the church and will be played each evening at 6 o'clock and on Sundays prior to the regular services. The donor is not a member of the local congregation. Pray with us that the Lord will use this as a means of touching lives and hearts for Jesus Christ.

Three weeks during the Christmas season "The Nativity Scene" was displayed with a rustic setting and special lighting effects. This picturesque reminder of "God's Gift" was seen by many who drove by the church between 4:30 and 10:30 each evening.

We thank you for rejoicing with us as we see what the Lord is doing in your home mission church in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

CEDAR RAPIDS THIRD ANNIVERSARY IN PICTURES

Top—Those who joined in the fellowship around the table for the anniversary dinner. The speaker for the occasion was Rev. Russell Pavy, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church. Left center—The anniversary cake made as a replica of the Holy Bible and containing 3 candles for the 3 years' existence of the church. Right center—Surprise! Pastor Kriegbaum removes a model of the Cedar Rapids church and reveals the cake. Bottom—The model church made by Mrs. Ray Koop has 4 streamers leading to the 4 displays representing Grace Seminary, home missions, foreign missions, and publications. These represent the missionary program of this church and our Brethren denomination.

NEW BRETHREN CHAPEL AT HELL FOR CERTAIN, KY.

By Miss Evelyn Fuqua, Dryhill, Ky.

TEMPLE CITY, CALIF. (Leo Polman, pastor)—

The past month we have had 15 decisions—some for first-time confessions and some for dedication of lives. We are having a real spiritual fellowship here and the Lord is certainly blessing in the work. A chapel is an urgent need for Temple City and, needless to say, funds to build the same.

FINDLAY, OHIO (Forest Lance, pastor)—

Souls are being saved, new families are being reached, and our attendance growth is encouraging. Summarizing it all together, the Lord is proving His faithfulness in blessing our humble efforts for His glory.

CORDILLERA, N. MEX. (Tony T. Luna, pastor)—

We have had 9 first-time confessions of Christ as Saviour in the past 3 months. The entire congregation has indicated a desire to want to serve the Lord and we praise Him for this victory. Pray that this spirit will always be true. We have been having wonderful services at Arroyo Seco every Sunday with an average attendance of 15, mostly young people.

JUNIATA, ALTOONA, PA. (Phillip Simmons, pastor)—

We have been having some very fine results in Juniata. This past quarter has been our best in attendance. In Sunday school we have had an average of 162.4 since November 1. Our building fund offering has averaged $90.98 per week the past year. On the last 2 Sundays 2 couples have been received into the church.

CHICO, CALIF. (J. Ward Tressler, pastor)—

Our hearts are praising the Lord for the wonderful way He answered our prayers in the meetings with Bro. Vincent Bennett. There were decisions each night, of which 3 were first-time. Three other first-time decisions were made at a Youth for Christ service conducted by Brother Bennett. A fine couple decided to join us in our work as a result of their contact with Brother Bennett during the meetings. Do pray with us that the Lord may make this church attractive to these new people and use them in the ministry of the Chico church.

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS, ROANOKE, VA. (W. Carl Miller, pastor)—

Last Sunday Bro. R. A. Greig presented the Washington Heights congregation with an attractively framed color sketch of the complete plot plans for our new church. The Lord was good in giving us this plan at such a strategic time, for many visitors and parents were present at our children's Christmas program to observe it. Our present meeting place (a small home) was packed with over 70 people and you could see a look of

Down the Middlefork River of Kentucky, 10 miles from Hyden, at the mouth of Hell for Certain Creek, you will now see a beautiful little white chapel setting up on the hillside. How we do pray that this little chapel will prove to be a real lighthouse to the people of this community who are lost and know not Christ! We wish you could see the people as they come up and down the road as the big silver bell calls them to come and worship. Far up in some of the little "hollers" folk have said they can hear the bell. Certainly they can never say, "I never had a chance."

The little chapel is white with a green roof—Sisterhood of Mary and Martha colors. There is a nice steeple with green shingles, and inside hangs the big silver bell which Mr. Yoder, of the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, sent to us. The chapel is 24 by 52 feet and has 11 windows in it. The beautiful stained-glass window of "Mary and Martha With Jesus" has arrived, and it will soon be up to help make the chapel even more beautiful.

It is hard to put into words our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Orville Beetley for his time, efforts, and gifts he has given that this little chapel might be built. Also there are many others, all of whom we cannot name, who deserve a real vote of thanks for their faithfulness in helping us. May our wonderful Lord reward each and every one for their labor of love for Him.

The painting and decorating inside are not completed yet, and there are still many odd jobs to be done. It probably will be springtime before we can have our dedication service, as the weather will not permit at this time. When you see the notice in the Herald, plan to come to the dedication.

May we all join hand in hand in prayer, and place a fence of prayer around this little vineyard in the hills of Kentucky. When the fence of prayer is broken down the little foxes get in and spoil the vines, for our vines have tender grapes. "Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines: for our vines have tender grapes" (S. of S. 2:15). Do you remember the definition I gave you of a husbandman—the one who takes care of the vineyard? "A husbandman is the spiritual guide of the people under whose care and culture the fruits of righteousness are expected to spring up." What a responsibility the husbandman has! How I need you to pray for me!

In closing, all I can say is: "Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20). "The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad" (Psa. 126:3).

Miss Fuqua

surprise and feel a new spirit of enthusiasm as something definite was displayed for our future program. As never before we all felt the great need for a new and larger building to accommodate more people.

ROMANIST PERSECUTION ON INDIAN RESERVATIONS

By Enrique Ibanez

Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted from United Evangelical Action for December 1, 1952, by special permission of the editor, Dr. James DeForest Murch. It is worthy of the careful consideration of each reader. In a well-documented and vivid fashion it portrays conditions of religious intolerance and persecution which need to be corrected immediately.

One of the most amazing incidents of Roman Catholic persecution of Protestants within the borders of the United States has been revealed to evangelicals by Pueblo Indians. After undergoing treatment almost beyond human endurance some 15 to 20 Christian Indians appealed to the National Association of Evangelicals for help (Action November 1).

These good people asserted that Protestant converts among the Jemez Pueblo have been threatened with confiscation of property, eviction from their reservations, refusal to bury their dead in the only available cemetery, and in some cases beating and scourging.

The southwest regional director of the NAE made an extensive investigation of the charges which were originally made by Jose Ray Toledo, spokesman for the Protestant minority among the Jemez Indians.

Of the tribe, which numbers about 850 persons, about 100 are Protestants; the others are Roman Catholic or non-Christian.

It appears that the current complaint is a renewal of a protest made several years ago which prompted former Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes to write directives to governors of the tribes involved. Mr. Ickes demanded the return of lands to the religious minority expropriated during unbelievable religious proscription by Roman Catholics.

The Protestants of Jemez were originally converted by a Presbyterian missionary. At one time the Presbyterians owned a good property in the pueblo including a church building and missionary's home. Because of persecutions the work was finally abandoned. The Presbyterian church building is now being used by a Roman Catholic merchant for a warehouse. Until recently the abandoned Protestants had to meet from house to house for prayer and Bible study—always under threat of persecution.

On July 21 of this year the governing assembly of Jemez Pueblo called some 15 Protestant Christians before it and demanded that they renounce their faith and return to the Indian-Catholic religion. On the refusal of the non-Catholic Indians to deny their faith, the governor of the pueblo announced that their property was forfeited, including homes and furniture; that they no longer could share in the use of community property such as trucks, threshing machines, etc.; that they had lost their water rights, and that they must leave the pueblo. He had previously forbidden them to have any prayer meeting or religious meeting in their homes and of course would not permit the building of a Protestant church in the pueblo, and he stated that his decisions could not be interfered with even by the Federal Government.

The victim reported the affair to the Roman Catholic attorney appointed by the Federal Government to act for all Pueblo Indians but received no help aside from the advice that they should obey the governor concerning not holding religious meetings in their private homes and that the governor had no right to deprive them of their homes and furniture. It was this incident which caused the appeal to the National Association of Evangelicals.

Our interviews with the Protestant Indians of Jemez brought out a series of unbelievable testimonies, all of which we have preserved on tape recordings. Excerpts from one or two may be of interest to readers of Action magazine.

One fine Christian woman told how the Roman Catholic priest and nuns threatened her family with hell-fire and forbade her to accept Protestant literature and gifts. They showed her pictures of the Devil pushing people into the flames of hell with a long fork and told her that her whole family would be excommunicated.

"On Saturday morning, September 4, 1948," she continued, "the children and I were up early. I had considerable household chores and Christino, their father, had to make preparations for participation in the ceremonial dances at the Santa Fe Fiesta. The children were to relieve their father of the care of the animals by carrying feed and water. As the corrals were quite a distance south of the village, they went by the highway. About half way down the road a Dodge pickup truck loaded with wood, and driven by Mr. Salvatore Fragua, struck our daughter. She was taken to the Albuquerque Indian Hospital, where Dr. Sturgis treated her for internal injuries, broken arms, and bruises. She died in the hospital at 12 o'clock that night. We left the hospital with her body at 8:30 Sunday morning, returning to Jemez. It is customary for the village sacristan and the fiscal to be notified in case, so as to prepare the grave for burial (incidentally the sacristan and fiscal are undertakers), and the priest must be consulted for administration of final rites. Her father notified Mr. Ramon Fragua, the fiscal assistant, and was told to go to the sacristan, Mr. Jose Torrez, who in turn referred him to Father Lambert Dendenfelder, the priest. Father Dendenfelder then told us that burial privileges were to be denied on the authority of the fiscal, Mr. Jose Gabriel Chinana. Mr. Chinana contended that the child was possessed of evil spirits due to its exposure to Protestants and therefore had no place in the community burial ground. If the child were buried without his consent he would have the body removed from the cemetery, he said. We appealed to the church officials but they refused to prepare a grave until the priest and the governor obtained satisfactory statements in writing from the child's parents. In the meantime Father Dendenfelder and the governor, accompanied by the fiscal and his assistants came to my house and demanded that we swear in writing to renounce the Protestant faith and prohibit our children's attendance at Protestant gatherings. We did not want to do this, but the priest and the governor warned us that there would be no burial otherwise. This occurred at noon on Monday the 6th—36 hours after the child died and the body had begun to decompose. At last we were compelled to sign away the right to our chosen religion and our daughter was buried that evening."

A leading Protestant citizen told of similar persecutions attending the observance of the Easter ceremonials at the pueblo this year: "The governors went from house to house asking non-Catholics to stay away from the ceremonies. They not only ordered us to keep our children away from the plaza where the dances were held, but insisted that we vacate our homes. When we promised to remain inside our property they were not satisfied. The governors said our children were Indians and should go to see the sacred dance and worship at the sacred shrine. When we insisted that we had learned the true way to worship and that we did not want any longer to be pagans, they threatened to chase us out of the pueblo. When we insisted that we had rights under the United States Constitution the governors said, "I boss you. You are Indians, not Americans."

Apparently the governors of the Jemez Pueblo have made it very clear to the non-Catholics of the community that the Constitution of the United States does not exist for the Pueblo Indians and that they have no rights under its provisions. They say that the governors are the only ones who have a right to rule the people and they can do as they please. Furthermore, they say that the Roman Catholic priest has power over all 19 pueblos of the Pueblo Indians and that the governors must abide by his orders and that they are not good Indians (i.e., they will not be prayed out of purgatory). All the upper chiefs of the tribe and the council of the Casikis who hold the authority in civil government are dominated by the Roman Catholic priest and are under obligation to keep the Pueblos on a 100-percent Roman Catholic basis.

In an effort to be of service to these consecrated Protestants the National Association of Evangelicals encouraged them to state their grievances, which they did in 6 points:

1. That the road block must be removed in front of the residence of Mrs. Refugia Toledo de Chinana.

2. That no Protestant member of the Pueblo shall be required to contribute any portion of his crop, corn, wheat, or other crops, or money to the Catholic Church, nor shall they be required or expected to participate in the plastering or repairing of the church at any time.

3. That each member of the Pueblo and his family and children shall have the right to be buried in the graveyard of the Pueblo without interference, or that the Pueblo will provide 2 acres of land where a separate cemetery may be established for Protestant members of the Pueblo.

4. That the Protestant members of the Pueblo shall have the right to build a church if, as, and when they so desire on the property of the Pueblo at a spot to be mutually agreed upon.

5. That the Protestant members of the Pueblo be permitted to participate in the government and have representation in the tribal government.

6. That Protestant members of the Pueblo be permitted to engage in all community work, such as repair ditches, roads, etc. That they be further entitled to receive all community benefits such as water rights, the use of all community equipment, property, etc.

A former governor of New Mexico has been secured as legal counsel. The NAE Washington office has volunteered its assistance. Appeals are being made to the properly constituted authorities. If, however, no relief can be secured through the usual channels of government, drastic legal action will be taken.

As we stated earlier in this article, the present situation in the Pueblos of New Mexico is nothing new. The late Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, after thorough investigation, once issued a directive which read as follows:

"It is intolerable that for a purely religious alleged offense, and under a charge of witchcraft supported by no evidence of witnesses, Indians should be confined by fellow Indians in an unsanitary and practically an airless and lightless dungeon for long periods.

"It is intolerable that for such alleged offenses Indians should be deprived by other Indians of much of their land, in some cases, and all of their land in others, and that the officials of a tribe should personally appropriate this confiscated land for their own enrichment.

"It is intolerable that the most fundamental of all human rights, and one of the most precious of all the rights guaranteed by the Constitution—liberty of conscience—should be denied and abolished within a tribe of Indians through the action of officers themselves proceeding under the domination of an armed and uniformed employee of the Indian Service, whose action, in its turn, was not authorized by law or directed or to be tolerated by his superiors in the government.

"Under Section 17 of the Act of June 7, 1924, the approval of the Secretary of the Interior is required for conveyance or transfer of land between the Indians of the Pueblos of New Mexico. The taking of lands of the religious minority is hereby disapproved, and the appropriation of these lands by the officers of the Pueblo for their personal use is hereby disapproved. The status of the land remains what it was before the religious proscription was set in action, and the members of the Native American Church are authorized to repossess themselves of all of the land thus taken from them. The officers of Toas Pueblo are hereby directed to return the land to its owners and to make good any damage or losses caused by their seizures of the land.

"Should the religious persecution be recommenced, the resources of the Department of Interior will be used to protect the religious liberties of the minority.

"I earnestly hope and trust that hereafter these irregularities and those demoralizing actions will not be renewed. The injury from such actions extends far beyond Toas Pueblo. It discredits every pueblo. It jeopardized the religious liberties and the self-government of all the other pueblos and, indeed, of every Indian tribe. It jeopardized the success of the whole broad program, now far advanced, which looks toward the establishment of Indian rights, including the privileges of self-determination by the Indian tribes, and which seeks to establish the Indian in the public opinion of the country as a dignified, permanent and important unit in the life and culture of the United States."

Certainly the time has come for an aroused citizenry to demand religious freedom for everyone under the Stars and Stripes. Our Constitution provides it. Shall a combination of Roman Catholicism and Indian paganism deny it in 1952?

ISRAEL CALLS!

511 NORTH CURSON AVENUE

By Bruce L. Button

I start calling on another street this morning. The response for the last few days has been anything but encouraging. Folks refuse to answer the door, or politely say they are not interested, or slam the door. I pray the Lord will provide a good contact this morning. A session such as the last few days is far from encouraging.

There is no answer at the first 2 homes. The next house produces a man who "has no time." The next 3 houses do not produce results. I ring the next doorbell and a man answers. As I speak to him of the Lord, he responds, "I don't believe in anything but the dollar. My wife wants me to help her, so I'll have to close the door." I try to hold him with statements from the Old Testament, pointing out that this is the Word of God. And with this he bursts into a fury of words, ending with: "And it's your kind and your belief that causes all the trouble in the world. I hate you and your kind!" And the door closes with a BANG!

I note the contact on the card for that home and then glance at the card for the following house. This looks promising. There has been a good testimony given at a previous contact. The only protest offered to the reading of Old Testament Scripture was, "That is your interpretation." Perhaps the Lord will bless with a good contact at this home. I pray to that end and ring the bell. The door opens. "Yes, what is it?" asks the man of the house.

"I stopped by to give you the new issue of the Mediator and to find out what you thought of the article, 'I. E. S.,' in the last issue. And I would like to talk with you regarding the Tenach, if I may," I respond.

"Young man," he replied, "I cannot take time to talk today. And I didn't read the other Mediator. And I. E. S. was not a believer in Jesus as Messiah."

"But I thought you didn't read the other Mediator. How did you know I. E. S. was a believer?" I ask. There was an uncomfortable pause, a clearing of the throat, and a few stammered words. I catch up the conversation: "Isaac E. Salkinson was a believer. Why do you suppose he came to believe in Jesus as Messiah? Was he an ignorant man?"

"No," answers my Jewish friend, "he was one of the great Jewish minds. But on this one matter he was in error. How could he be right when so many Jews fail to agree with him?"

"Perhaps the reason lies in the fact that he was not above reading everything that came to his hand and, after carefully studying and weighing the evidence, making his decision agree with his findings. He did not refuse to read material related to Jesus, the Messiah, as many Jews do today, which same Jews claim to be 'broadminded.' He was not bound by tradition but was open to proved fact. When he first found that copy of the New Testament he was willing to accept facts. When he read of the fulfillment of Isaiah 7:14—"Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel"—he did not listen to what present-day Jewish thought had to say concerning the word for 'virgin.' Rather he listened to the Jew, Matthew, and to the Jewish scholars who before the days of Jesus translated the Tenach into Greek. These men said the Hebrew word 'almah' meant 'virgin' and he accepted their word as final, for to him they set forth the real meaning of this word for Jews of their time and previous to their time. When he read Isaiah 9:6-7 he realized that a child was to be born who would be a given son in a particular sense, and that this One would be God, the Mighty, Father of Eternities, the Prince of Peace. According to Daniel, the prophet, this One, the Messiah, would come among men before Jerusalem and the temple would be destroyed. Thus Salkinson knew Messiah must have come sometime in the past or He could never come."

"But," my Jewish friend asks, "How could he believe Jesus was our Messiah?"

"How could he do this?" I answer. "He looked for Messiah's proof marks in the Tenach and compared them with the account in the New Testament. He read this (I read Isaiah 53:1-10) and then was convinced that Messiah had to die for the sin of the people, for his sin. He read Zechariah 12:10 and 13:6; then he read in the New Testament and found where Jesus used these marks to convince Thomas, a righteous Jew, that He was Messiah. And when he read this, Isaac Salkinson reacted the same as Thomas, for he knew the pierced side and the wounded hands were the proof that he needed to enable him to accept Jesus as his own Messiah and Saviour and God. Then he was able to consecrate his ability to translate other languages into Hebrew. He translated the New Testament into Hebrew and said that his ability was his 'alabaster box of precious ointment which I pour out in honor of my Saviour, that the fragrance of His name may fill the whole house of Israel.'"

"My friend," I continue, "you should read as this man did. Read with a free mind. You need atonement for your sins, for God's Word says, 'It is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul' and the blood of Jesus the Messiah, His Son, cleanseth from all sin."

"There is the phone," says my Jewish friend. "I must ask to be excused. Come back again. Good-by." And the door closes. Guess that is about all I can remember to note on the card. It's 11:30. Just time to finish the block before dinner. It's been a good morning. The Lord has blessed. I'll call here next week in the evening. Perhaps here is a lost sheep that is ready to come home.

REPORT FROM PASTOR GERALD POLMAN, YORK, PA.

We praise the Lord for the fine group of boys and girls that meet after school each Wednesday for the Happy Hour. Last week there were 60 present for it. It is a real opportunity to reach the boys and girls, also for contacts in their homes. Pray for the work of the Happy Hour with these boys and girls.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. Lee Crist is now pastor of the Grafton, W. Va., church and has moved to 45 W. St. Charles St., Grafton, W. Va. (Change Annual, p. 68.)

Rev. Thomas Hammers, first resident pastor at Seattle, has moved to 6522 35th Ave. NE., Seattle, Wash. (Change Annual, p. 69.)

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Lynch, members of the Dayton, Ohio, First church, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary January 6.

Rev. Alan Metcalf, director of the Cleveland (Ohio) Hebrew Society, spoke at the Canton, Ohio, church January 4.

Bro. Kenneth Kaster, of Columbia City, Ind., formerly of Fort Wayne, died November 14.

Rev. Leslie Hutchinson is pastoring a church at Gypsum, Colo., which is on U. S. Highway 6 about 144 miles west of Denver. Missionaries or preachers passing that way are asked to stop for services, by making arrangements ahead of time. Address is Box 161, Gypsum, Colo. (Change Annual, p. 75.)

The Hagerstown, Md., church was host to the Washington County youth rally December 29. Evangelist William Smith, of Washington, D. C., was the speaker and Rev. Charles Bergerson, of the host church, was in charge of the music.

At Dryhill, Ky., 43 children attended the Christmas party and appreciated the toys and dolls sent to them from Brethren people. More than 100 people attended the Christmas program and enjoyed the candy given to them by Marion and Mary Catherine Hoffman, of Dayton, Ohio. Miss Evelyn Fuqua is the missionary at this station.

Rev. Donald W. Rossman, son of Dr. Randall Rossman, has accepted the pastorate of the Kittanning, Pa., North Buffalo church. His address is R. R. 4, Kittanning, Pa. (Add to Annual, p. 71.)

At the Philadelphia, Pa., First church Rev. John Neely was in charge of the musical portion of the New Year's Eve program. This was followed by a time of fellowship and refreshments. The last part of the program was the showing of "The Forgotten Navaho" and a message by Rev. Hill Maconaghy.

Bro. J. C. Willingham, of the Osceola, Ind., church, died January 1. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Ward Miller.

The Osceola, Ind., church conducted a conference on prophecy and the Jew January 4-7. Rev. Sanford C. Mills, of Columbus, Ohio, was the speaker.

Bro. William Nichols and Bro. John Goss, members of the Washington, D. C., church, both died the week following Christmas.

The Phoenix, Ariz., church, pastored by Rev. J. C. McKillen, set a new record the last Sunday of the old year with 81 people in the Sunday school. In a Bible award night for recitation of Bible verses 13 awards were given, 6 of them went to the Lester Wilhide family.

Many of the churches are giving Bible readers' certificates to those people who read through the Bible in 1952. It is noted from the bulletins that many people will receive these certificates this year; it is hoped that many more will be eligible next year for certificates. Now is the time to get started with the Book of God.

When 28 people of the Aleppo, Pa., church went out to sing Christmas carols they had to travel 15 miles to sing at 10 homes.

Bro. Francis Brill, student at Grace Seminary, preached at his home church, Winchester, Va., December 28.

The Clayton, Ohio, church called its pastor, Rev. Clair Brickel, to continue another year and gave him an increase in salary. The church elected a committee to begin plans for the erection of a Sunday school annex.

Bro. Maurice Banzhaf died December 19. He was 75 years of age, had been a member of the Philadelphia, Pa., First church for more than 55 years, and he and Mrs. Banzhaf had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary several months before his death. His pastor, Rev. John Aeby, was in charge of the funeral services.

At the Harrisburg, Pa., church 122 people attended the morning service and 147 the evening service December 28 to hear Rev. Nathan Meyer, former member of the church, now pastor of the Leesburg, Ind., church.

The Brethren Schools of Long Beach, Calif., now employ 18 teachers and have 400 pupils enrolled. Plans are being made to erect the 6th building for the schools.

The junior church of the Long Beach, Calif., First church was attended by 114 children on December 14 and by 106 on December 21. Bro. James Crawford is in charge.

Bro. Richard McNeely, member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, is director of the choir of the Dallas (Tex.) Bible Institute.

At Mt. Vernon, Ohio, a Grace Bible Class meets each Tuesday evening in the armory. Rev. Wesley Haller, of the Ankenytown church, is the leader.

Mrs. Sadie Miller, member of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church, observed her 90th birthday on December 25.

Rev. Glenn O'Neal, of Los Angeles, preached the Christmas sermon at a meeting of the Southwest Chiropractic Association.

Miss Ruth Reddick returned to her duties in the office of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church January 6 after a vacation and visit in California.

Rev. and Mrs. Jack B. Churchill, of Rio Tercero, Argentina, became the parents of a daughter, Margaret Loree, December 20. Margaret Loree was named in honor of her grandmothers.

Plan to attend the Grace Theological Seminary alumni reunion February 24-27. It will be a time for Bible study and fellowship.

Brethren historical material is wanted and needed by the editor. See Herald for January 3.

THEN LOOK UP AND LIFT UP YOUR HEADS

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Chairman of Book Club Review Committee

Many years ago, to an inquiring and anxious little group of men, Jesus said, "And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21: 28). Those words have never been recalled. It is this fact that has encouraged the saints homesick for the coming of the Lord to see in the many momentous events through the centuries the token of the near return of the Lord. Our times witness to more of these events than any comparable period of time in all the centuries since Christ went back to glory.

Since the Scriptures cannot be broken, how much in order it is to examine more closely some of the rays of light that stream from the face of our blessed Lord as revealed in the prophetic Word. These great Messianic prophecies will most surely be fulfilled, and perhaps in our day. It is then in order for us to know these prophecies and enjoy the comfort and consolation they provide.

The first-choice book for February is "Rays of Messiah's Glory: Christ in the Old Testament," by David Baron. This will be sent to club members unless they notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company otherwise before February 1. In case the second choice is desired, or some other book listed previously in these columns, as a substitute for the first-choice book, just write the company of this change.

The second-choice book is "The Heir of Redclyffe," by Charlotte Young. Reviews of both books follow.

As a premium for joining the club, we offer you your selection of the following books: Dr. Florence Gribble's "Stranger Than Fiction," Dr. Andrew Bonar's "The Biography of Robert Murray McCheyne," and Dr. John R. Rice's "Prayer: Asking and Receiving." By ordering one of the two books offered for the month of February you become a member and are entitled to one of the above premium books.

To members of the club who will be purchasing books December through March, a dividend book will be sent—"The Potter and the Shepherd," by J. C. Brumfield.

"RAYS OF MESSIAH'S GLORY: CHRIST IN THE OLD TESTAMENT"

By David Baron

The Bible is one book, though it is divided into two testaments. In order to understand either testament the student of God's revelation must have some knowledge also of the other testament, for they are vitally joined together.

The one theme that binds the Old and New Testaments together is the person and work of the Lord Jesus Christ, God's Son and our Saviour. One of the most interesting things a child of God can do is to trace the promises and prophecies concerning the Messiah in the Old Testament Scriptures and then to see how they were fulfilled in the Christ of the New Testament.

Dr. David Baron was such a student. He knew the Christ as his own Saviour and he knew the Old Testament Scriptures in their original language. From that combined knowledge he set down in print for others the results of many years of study and preaching of God's Word in this book—"Rays of Messiah's Glory: Christ in the Old Testament."

Though this book is scholarly in its content, it is simple and plain in its presentation of great truths. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith said in this connection: "He [Baron] not only had a great grasp of the Hebrew Scriptures and entered with finest sympathy into the mind of the prophets of the Old Testament, but he had a correspondingly beautiful style. I know of no writer today on either side of the Atlantic who could write on these prophetic themes with quite the quality, elegance, and penetration that David Baron possesses."

There are 7 chapters in the book. The third chapter—"The Branch, or Four Aspects of Messiah's Character"—is worth the price of the whole book. This chapter will help the reader understand why there must be 4 New Testament Gospels to fully tell the story of Christ. Price of book is $2.95.—Conard Sandy.

"THE HEIR OF REDCLYFFE"

By Charlotte Young

Here is a novel which is more than just a story. It is a drama depicting life as it really is and as it ought to be for the Christian. It is a book which should certainly cause the reader to walk the path of self-examination.

In the book you will meet a number of most interesting characters. First of all comes Sir Guy himself, a young man of great courage and strength of character. It seems to have been his chief end in life to live for others, even to the extent of laying down his life for them, which, according to the teaching of Jesus, is the greatest evidence of love in the heart.

In complete contrast, we meet Philip, a cousin of Sir Guy, whose chief end in life seems to be to cast reflection on the deeds and motives of Sir Guy. If circumstances as they came did not work for his end he would make his own circumstances in order that people might be made to doubt the integrity of his cousin. His heart filled with hatred was at last exposed and we find a mental wreck instead of the strong man that Philip could have been.

Annabel, who became the patient and gracious bride of Sir Guy, is another great character in our story. You will have difficulty holding back the tears as you watch her by the side of her dying lover.

This is not a new novel, but has recently been condensed for the American reader. Its history has been most interesting. The great Abraham Kuyper called it the means of his conversion. About it he wrote that it was "the means which broke my self-reliant, rebellious heart." When a book will do this for a man like Kuyper there is no question as to the potency of its message. We most heartily recommend the book to our readers. The book sells for $3 a copy.—Blaine Snyder.

TRUE HOPE FOR THE WORLD

By Rev. Russell H. Weber, Harrisburg, Pa.

(This message first appeared in the Evening News, Harrisburg, Pa.)

This present age is destitute of an enduring hope. There are many solutions and cures offered for the ills of humanity, but there is little that can be seen in our time that forms the basis of hope for the future. . . .

Education, science, invention, politics, and such like, have done little for man by way of offering real hope. It is true that these things have improved the living conditions of the peoples of the earth, but hope has fled. A pessimist, you say? Let me ask you, who does not have any concern about our huge national debt? Who does not wonder how long it will be before we are plunged into another global conflict? Who does not have any concern about the rising trend of socialism and communism and wonder how long it will be before our heritage as a free nation will fade into oblivion? Is there any hope in these things?

Upon facing such a dark picture many will ask: What's the use of living, then, if hope has fled? I reply there is no use of living except for the fact that there is hope, though most folks have lost sight of it. True hope emanates from God. He offers hope to all who will accept His proffered grace.

In this materialistic age we need to revalue spiritual truths. Our life on earth, of whatever duration this may be, is but the entrance upon either eternal life or eternal death.

Money, houses, and lands do not determine our future state in God's eternal ages; faith in the finished work of Christ on Calvary's cross is the only basis for a real and an abiding hope for time and eternity.

In John 3:36 we see described 2 classes of people—those who believe on the Son and those who do not believe on the Son. One group possesses eternal life, the other group is under the condemnation of God; one group has hope, the other is void of hope. Those who believe on the Son have hope that reaches into the unending ages of God's eternity, and is expressed in I John 3:2 in these words: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is."

Our hope, then, culminates in the second coming of Christ, at which time we shall be changed into His likeness. The Word of God teaches that Jesus Christ will return again to catch away His own, and that He will return also to judge the wicked; but God has graciously provided that you need not experience the latter event—He offers you the hope of eternal peace and happiness if you will acknowledge the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour.

This alone is hope for a troubled world.

FLYING SEMINAR PLANNED

The Winona Lake School of Theology is planning its second flying seminar to Palestine and other lands mentioned in the Bible. The trip will be 5 weeks in length, July 25-August 29.

The seminar provides opportunity for guided tours and study of both Biblical sites and mission fields. Credit can also be gained toward a degree offered by the Winona Lake School of Theology.

PHILPOTT GOES TO TORONTO

Dr. P. W. Philpott left the Philpott Tabernacle, Hamilton, Ont., to join the staff of Dr. Oswald Smith at the People's Church in Toronto. Dr. and Mrs. Philpott recently celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary.

RALLY TO PROTEST R. S. V.

Pastors from various churches in northern Indiana and southern Michigan met with members of the seminary faculty at the Grace Theological Seminary building January 5 and set up plans to hold a rally to register a united protest concerning the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Several denominations were represented.

The rally will be held, the Lord willing, at the seminary building Friday, February 6, at 7:30 p. m. The speaker is to be Dr. David Otis Fuller, pastor of the Wealthy Street Baptist Church of Grand Rapids, Mich. His theme will be: "The Bible—Tested! Tried! Tampered With! Triumphant!" Also there will be a panel discussion, leaders of which will be announced later.

A steering committee of 5 pastors were elected to arrange and carry through the rally. Rev. John Balyo, of the Bible Baptist Church, Kokomo, Ind., is chairman; Rev. James Hammer, of the First Brethren Church, Fort Wayne, is secretary-treasurer. The members-at-large are Rev. Howard Kreider, of the Liberty Mills Church of the Brethren, North Manchester; Rev. Carl Brown, of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Fort Wayne; and Rev. Milton Dowden, of the First Baptist Church of Mentone.

PLAN EVANGELISM CONGRESS

Fifty missionary leaders, pastors, and laymen met in Chicago December 18 to make plans for the 6th Congress on Evangelism, to be held at Tokyo, Japan, next August 9-17.

The sponsors of this congress are the leaders of the Youth for Christ International, under the leadership of the president, Dr. Robert A. Cook.

Several missionary societies already working in Japan are loaning missionaries to YFC for this congress and for the evangelization of Japan that is to follow.

The World Gospel Crusade has promised to provide 1,000,000 gospel portions to be used in the crusade. The Pocket Testament League has promised full cooperation.

Working with Dr. Cook in leading in the arrangements are Rev. Hubert Mitchell, foreign secretary of YFC, and Mr. Ted Engstrom, executive secretary of YFC.

CORRECTION AND CLARIFICATION

There is still some misunderstanding concerning how to send express and freight to the Brethren Navaho Mission. The office of the Brethren Home Missions Council received this information this week. Use this address—

Brethren Navaho Mission, Counselor Post, N. Mex.
c/o San Juan Basin Lines,
Albuquerque, N. Mex.

This address should be used for any and all shipments by express or freight—that is, for anything not sent by U. S. mail.

Everett, Pennsylvania

On November 16 we held our first communion service in our church building, around new tables, with 70 people in attendance, most of whom participated.

On December 21 there were 97 people in Sunday school, 85 in the morning worship, and 113 in the evening service. At the close of the morning message, Pastor Homer Lingenfelter gave the invitation and 9 people presented themselves for the Lord's service.

Bro. Galen Lingenfelter, brother of our pastor, preached for us December 28. The building fund offering was $688.71 for the day, which is more than we need for our semi-annual payment of principal and interest.

The speaker on January 4 was Bro. Irvin Miller, Winona Lake, Ind. There were 98 people present in the morning service and 120 in the evening.—Fred Bucher, secretary.

Listie, Pennsylvania

At the Listie Brethren Church the average attendance in the Sunday school for the past year was 168 people, with 37 of these not missing a Sunday during the year. In addition the officers and teachers were faithful to their duties.

Several of our people have perfect attendance records for a number of years: Jack Shaffer for 16 years, George Shaffer for 13 years, Mrs. A. G. Beech for 12 years, and Ray and Eunice Hottle each for 10 years.—Russell Beech, Sunday school superintendent.

Chambersburg, Pennsylvania (Pond Bank)

The Grace Brethren Church is growing physically, numerically, and spiritually, for which we praise the Lord.

On September 7, 1952, we moved from the small garage belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cordell, of our church, to our partly completed building. Since the move our aver-

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Modesto, Calif. (La Loma).....	Jan. 12-18.....	Harold Painter...	Vincent Bennett.
San Bernardino, Calif.....	Jan. 20-Feb. 1...	Lyle Marvin.....	Russell Humbert.
Beaumont, Calif..	Feb. 1-15.....	Gene Farrell.....	Bob Munro.
Waynesboro, Pa..	Feb. 1-15.....	Dennis Holliday..	William Smith.
Johnstown, Pa. (1)	Feb. 2-15.....	W. A. Ogden.....	Michael Walsh.
Los Angeles, Calif. (1st) .....	Feb. 4-5.....	Glenn O'Neal.....	Harold Garner.
Rittman, Ohio....	Feb. 4-15.....	Charles Ashman..	Ding Teuling.
San Diego, Calif..	Feb. 5-6.....	Gilbert Engelman.	Russell Humbert.

age attendance has increased from 30 to 70 people. Our record attendance in November was 78, in December it was 74, and on January 4 it was 71. Already our basement quarters are being filled and we are looking forward to the completion of the church auditorium.

In addition to prayer we also need a piano, chairs, hymnbooks, and other things to aid in our work.

We had a 10-day evangelistic campaign beginning December 26 under the leadership of Rev. Robert Ashman, of Winona Lake, Ind. The Lord blessed and 16 people made first-time confessions of Christ as Saviour. During the Happy Hour period which Evangelist Ashman conducted for the children 11 more souls were brought to the Lord for salvation. In addition to these one woman confessed Christ in the home, making a total of 28 decisions for Christ during the campaign, besides some who came indicating a desire to unite with our church.

The meeting started slow, with 30 people present, but the number gradually increased until we had 117 people at the closing service.—Edward Clark, pastor.

Rittman, Ohio

An impressive watch-night service was held at the First Brethren Church with 75 people present. There were games, refreshments, and a film—"Bible on the Table." These were followed by a candle-lighting service and then prayer as the old year closed and the new year began.

Our preachers on January 4 were Rev. Ralph Colburn, national youth director, and Rev. John (Jack) Tee-ter, missionary under appointment for Brazil.

In connection with the morning service 5 babies were dedicated to the Lord. The pastor was in charge for the dedication of 4 of these children, and Brother Colburn was in charge for the 5th dedication, which was for the daughter of the pastor and Mrs. Ashman. Brother Colburn was at one time Mrs. Ashman's pastor, and he assisted in our wedding.—Charles Ashman, pastor.

Aleppo, Pennsylvania (Sugar Grove)

We have experienced rich blessings at the Sugar Grove Union Church under the 10-day evangelistic ministry of Rev. Paul L. Mohler. Each evening he brought a surprise message to the children and followed it with a message from the Word that stirred the hearts of the people of the community.

There were some first-time deci-

Public Confessions

Alto, Mich. ....	2
Chico, Calif. ....	3
Kittanning, Pa. (First) .....	2
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	8

Additions to Membership

Johnstown, Pa. (First) .....	7
Los Angeles, Calif. (First) .....	10
New Troy, Mich. ....	3
Spokane, Wash. ....	4

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Los Angeles, Calif. (First) .....	3
-----------------------------------	---

Dedication of Babies

Rittman, Ohio .....	5
Washington, D. C. ....	2
Waterloo, Iowa .....	7

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

III. THE STAR OUT OF JACOB.

It was a bright, beautiful, miraculous star which led the eastern wise men to see the Christ Child. In fact, the heavenly star led to Him whose name was "Star." Without a doubt Numbers 24:17—"There shall come a Star out of Jacob"—refers prophetically to our Lord. Peter calls Him "the day star" who arises in men's hearts (II Pet. 1:19). John says Christ is "the morning star" and "the bright and morning star" (Rev. 2:28; 22:16). The "Star out of Jacob," the "day star," the morning star," and the "bright and morning star"—to what do all these similar names point?

Astrologers tell us that stars are symbols of power. But more than that they are givers of light. Christ claimed of Himself: "I am the light of the world." In Him is life and that life is the light of men. Men today are searching the heavens for answers to personal and public problems—but they fail to find the answers. Oh, that they might look unto the "Star out of Jacob," for He alone can lead out of sin and dispel its darkness.

Christian in distress or trouble, going through "the valley of the shadow of death," look up! There shines the Day Star to cheer you on your way. Does the future look black and drear? Look up, for the Morning Star shines to lead you on your way. Yes, He—the Bright and Morning Star—will soon appear in power and in great glory. We must ever keep our hearts and our hopes fixed on this truth and on this Star—our Lord, our Light, and our Salvation.

The Star of Jacob's seed appears

To save men from their sin.

Our Day Star wipes away all tears

And draws us close to Him.

He is the promised Morning Star,

Who daily lights our way;

He's coming soon—Bright Morning Star—

To take us home for aye.

sions for Christ. The spirit of co-operation is still present since the meetings.

We preach there only 1 Sunday a month, though some of the people attend Sunday evening services at our Aleppo church. We are planning a Bible study class and a choir for the church.

This church surprised the pastor and his wife with Christmas gifts—a suit of clothes for the pastor and several gifts for his wife.—Fred Wm. Walter, pastor.

Spending 10 days, December 1-10, with Rev. and Mrs. Fred Walter at Aleppo, was very profitable to me. The Walters are hard workers, making many sacrifices to serve in this small community in 2 small churches. They have been here more than 6 years presenting the Gospel to the people.

Sugar Grove is about 6 miles from Aleppo. Brother Walter drove his car many miles to get the people to come under the sound of the Gospel.

God answered prayer in this campaign. One man 79 years old and another 67 years old accepted Christ as Saviour. Several high-school-age young people also accepted the Lord.

The number of people in attendance gradually increased from 40 on the first night to an average of 135 for the last few nights.—Paul L. Mohler, evangelist.

STAFF CHANGES AT MOODY

Mr. Philip R. Newell was recently appointed dean of student affairs at Moody Bible Institute. Prior to the appointment he had been director of the correspondence school, a part of the institute's teaching ministry.

Mr. Harold Shaw was appointed to succeed Newell in the correspondence school. Shaw had been an announcer on radio station WMBI, the Moody station. The correspondence school now offers 20 courses and has more than 10,000 students enrolled in all parts of the world.

ENGLAND NEEDS THE GOSPEL

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Nickel, of the Sunnyside, Wash., church and now superintendents of the Child Evangelism Fellowship in the British Isles, wrote of their appreciation of the Brethren Missionary Herald and then added some things of interest and concern about conditions in England. Among other things they wrote:

"In the month of October . . . we visited a church in that city [Manchester] seating 1,700 people and at the present time there are only about 40 people present for the worship service. This is only one of the many which need help and trained workers for their Sunday school.

"We have just finished a 4-day children's campaign in the heart of London. The attendance has been at an average of 160 each evening, with 52 children having accepted Christ as their personal Saviour. . . .

"Only 8 percent of the people in Britain have any connection with the church. This makes the spiritual outlook very dark. Two of the leading missionary societies have gone bankrupt in the last few months: one with a $12,000 debt, and the other with a $30,000 debt. Few people are shaken by real heart-stirring messages. Giving to a faith work is almost nil. We covet your earnest prayers on behalf of the children that they may be led to Christ, and prepared for greater things for the Lord than the present generation."

Brethren, this is further evidence that the responsibility of taking the Gospel to all parts of the world is the work of Christians in the United States of America. Believers in other lands in the main are either too poor or too few to longer support missionary works beyond the confines of their own homelands.

This information ought to urge every member of the Brethren Church to more faithful praying and giving for the missionary program being sponsored by the denomination under the direction of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church. The condition that prevails in England is all too prevalent in many other countries. (See statement of similar situation in France in the Herald for January 3.)

"Nevertheless," asked the Lord Jesus, "when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?" (Luke 18:8).

IT'S AN IDEA!

Now that your new year is begun, why not set aside a time one Sunday each month for an officers' meeting for your BYF. This could be held an hour before BYF, and all officers and advisers should be present. Plans can be discussed, and ideas worked out, to keep your BYF on the beam. A buffet lunch might enhance the program, and help the officers to appreciate their privileges and responsibilities!

As a youth group, subscribe to magazines such as Young Life, Youth for Christ, and Youth News-ette and keep them around your BYF meeting room, with the name of your group on them. Early arrivals might enjoy reading them. Or you might get some good ideas and information from them for your meetings. Or you might have a good, live-wire reporter glean them for outstanding, interesting items to be used in a regular Christian news-cast. Old copies might be filed in your library. Keep only current copies in your meeting room.

Appoint a "servicemen's secretary" to keep in touch with all the boys from your church who are in the armed forces, and provide him, or her, postage to send to your boys each week a church calendar, a copy of your Sunday school paper, and notes from or about your young people. Occasionally try to get all the kids to write a short note, on a special paper, to your service fellows. No fooling, they need and deserve this consideration. Be sure to check with your pastor to see that you are not duplicating activities here.

NEWS NOTES

Young people of the West Tenth Street Brethren Church in Ashland, Ohio, are really "going to town" in a new activity program. Every other Saturday night they enjoy "club night" with games, devotions, and refreshments; and every other Sunday night they have a sing time after church at someone's home. These are in addition to their regular BYF

Miss Bertha

Kuhn poses

beside "helps"

she uses in a television program.

Miss Bertha Kuhn is an Ohio girl who is now serving the Lord in North Carolina, where at the present time the Brethren denomination does not have a single church.

She became acquainted with the Lord Jesus Christ and accepted Him as her personal Saviour at the Sterling, Ohio, church under the ministry of Dr. Paul R. Bauman, who was pastor of this church during his seminary days. Miss Kuhn later united with this church and is still a member there.

When Bertha Kuhn came to the Lord she came not only for salvation but also for service. For the past 8 years that service has been in inter-denominational work.

At the present time she is director of Guilford County (N. C.) Child Evangelism Fellowship. She helps in the training program for the 40 active Bible teachers who are reaching 12,000 children weekly with the Gospel.

Since May 1952 Bertha has been telling the Bible stories on the Television Chapel (WFMY-TV each Sunday at 1 p. m., channel 2) at Greensboro, N. C. This program has been on this station for more than 2 years and is one of the most viewed programs on the channel.

The fellowship also has a weekly radio broadcast in which Miss Kuhn has a very active part (WGBG each Saturday at 9:30 a. m.). On this program, as on the television program, children from the various churches and classes of the county are often used as active participants.

Miss Kuhn says: "I thank the Lord for the Brethren Church and its testimony, message, and zeal in missionary work."

meetings preceding the Sunday night service, which have jumped in attendance to 30 and more.

Much of the New Year's Eve service at our church in Wooster, Ohio, was led by the young people, with 2 of the fellows, Richard Holmes and George Johnson, bringing short messages. A Christian film, a baptismal service, and an informal fellowship hour helped complete the program.

Ninety young people and adults crowded into the Etlings' home at Akron, Ohio, following Christmas caroling the Sunday before Christmas. Refreshments and fellowship were enjoyed by this more-than-capacity crowd. The young people, with the choir, had presented a beautiful Christmas cantata at the evening service that same night.

Beginning this month, a complete party plan will be included with each month's BYF program materials. A Valentine party will be the first one, and it's in the mail now, with a number of program aids, to all pastors and BYF advisers whose names have been reported. Rev. and Mrs. Harold Etling have been very helpful in the providing of this new social feature.

IS THERE ANY PRICE ON IT?

"Where did the first man come from, Mama? How did he get born?" Kent was in his pajamas, standing on his head, as he asked this question, which gave Mother a little breathing time in which she could collect her thoughts. Dorotheann and Mother had prepared the babies for bed, then turned their attention to cleaning the upstairs while the little ones played in the girls' bedroom.

"God made the first man and all people after him. Do you remember the first man's name?"

"No ma'am. You tell me."

"His name was Adam, Kent. You'd think a 5-year-old boy would know that by this time," a disgusted older sister interjected.

"Well, I'm not as old as you, Smarty. Anyway, I asked Mama."

"Now children," Mother soothed, "let's talk as Christians should. Adam was the name of the first man, dear. God made Adam perfect and put him in the Garden of Eden with Eve, the first woman. They were very happy there until Satan tempted them to sin. Then when they disobeyed God He had to put them out of the beautiful garden. Be sure to get those baseboards dusted well, Dorotheann. Get behind that high-boy, too. You can reach it better than Mother. I'm getting all the high spots. Where all the dust comes from I'll never know."

"When we die our bodies will turn to dust, won't they?" The little voice came from underneath the bed this time. Kent was hunting for his ball. "How many matters can he have on his mind at one time?" Mother asked herself. A ball, and our bodies turning to dust when we die!

"Come out from under the bed if you really want an answer."

"I can hear you, Mama. It's fun under here. I just love to scare Althea."

"You can't scare me. I know you're there. Jesus is going to give us a new body someday. Will I be a boy then?" The 3 year-old package of "dynamite" was draped over her bed trying to catch hold of her brother's foot.

"No, Althea, you'll not be a boy when the Lord Jesus Christ changes our bodies. But your body will be perfect, with no sickness ever, and best of all, no sin." With a sigh of longing for this knowledge and hope to become a fact, Mother polished the floor a bit harder as she hummed, "O Lord Jesus, how long, how long ere we shout the glad song, Christ returneth! Hallelujah! hallelujah! Amen! Hallelujah! Amen."

Seated now on the bed with a most beguiling expression on his little face, Kent propounded his final question of the evening. "Mama," his eyes were thoughtful and trusting, "is there any price on it? I mean how much will it cost for us to get a new body?"

"Nothing," came the too-quick answer. "Our new bodies will cost us nothing. Money could never buy what only God could do for mankind. Jesus paid it all."

Suddenly the awful cost of her salvation swept over Mother. Work stopped as she gathered 4 of her jewels around her on the bed. "Kent, there is a price on our new bodies. But the price is not money. The price was the broken body and shed blood of the Lord Jesus. In Old Testament times people shed the blood of bulls and goats which just covered their sins until God, in 'the fullness of the time . . . sent forth his Son' (Gal. 4:4), the Lord Jesus Christ, to die for your sin. You can't understand all about that price yet, little fellow. You are a little young yet to comprehend the enormity of the price. Mommie doesn't understand the fullness of that price either," came the added thought. "All I can tell you is what you've already heard—Jesus died on the cross to save us from our sins. He paid the price of our salvation. Now you tell me what we must do in order to be saved."

"I know," Sharon almost shouted. "'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.' Ha, I beat you that time, Paul Kent."

"I know that verse, too. I don't care that you beat me. I'm tired. And I'm saved, too. I believe that Jesus died for me and I love Him."

Sweeping a very precious little boy up in her arms, Mother carried him to his bed in the "boys' dormitory" under this roof. She gave the little lad an extra kiss and hug. Kent didn't understand his mother's heart as she held him close. So many lessons I've learned from these precious children, she thought. A new appreciation of the words of the Lord Jesus was hers. He said, "Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven" (Matt. 18:3). What Kent knows and has already experienced of salvation at the tender age of 5 is greater wisdom than all the philosophical cogitations of men. Natural man cannot think in terms of God's ways because "the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (I Cor. 2:14).

The price of salvation for you was enormous. Will you become as a little child and accept that salvation which is so freely offered, yet which cost the Son of God His very life's blood? "Behold, now is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2).

BUDGET FOR 1953 INCREASED

The American Bible Society has released its budget for 1953. It totals $3,166,000, the largest in the history of the society. This budget was presented and explained to the advisory council in its annual meeting in New York recently. The council voted to adopt it.

In explaining the reason for the greatly increased budget at this time it was pointed out that the principal reason was "the increased distribution of Scriptures among the armed forces" of the United Nations, especially those now engaged in the war in Korea.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

*The First Meeting Place—
Akron, Ohio, 1937*

The First Graduating Class—1938

The New Building—Winona Lake, Ind.—Dedicated 1951

The Graduates of the Seminary and Collegiate Division—1952

WHAT GOD HATH WROUGHT

THROUGH YOUR PRAYERS
AND GIFTS

EDITORIALS

By Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

Do You "Send Forth Labourers"?

By the time this issue of the Herald reaches you, some will have given their annual offering for the work of Grace Seminary; others will be giving theirs in a few days. What have YOU done? Jesus said, "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest" (Matt. 9:38). Yet the Bible recognizes the necessity for a proper balance between prayer and work, for we also read, "How shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent?" (Rom. 10:14-15). It is evident that the man who fulfills the Lord's commands will not only pray, but he will also pay. He will pay for the separation and training of preachers, and he will pay to send them forth "into his [the Lord's] harvest." Christian, are you doing both?

Do You Need Monthly Plan Envelopes?

Pastors, now is a good time to check up and see if your supply of the little yellow packets of envelopes for the monthly finance plan is exhausted. If so, a post card addressed to the seminary will bring as many as you request. Write us now if you need them. And here's a suggestion to those of you who have an ample supply. Keep the packets up to date by rearranging them so that each packet begins with the current month.

The Second Annual Alumni Conference

Whether you are a former student of Grace Theological Seminary or not, you are cordially invited to attend the alumni conference which is to be conducted at the seminary February 24-27 inclusive. See the alumni page for a more detailed announcement of the program. Pastors, for your own spiritual needs and for the benefit to your ministry, you need this conference. Plan to attend.

Important Notice to All Pastors and Laymen

The seminary's February issue of the Herald will be devoted almost exclusively to an evaluation and analysis of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. This revision has been the subject of much controversial discussion and editorial comment throughout the country since it was introduced by its publishers. Every Christian should be informed concerning this Bible and its dangers. In the issue for February 28 each member of the seminary faculty will contribute an article dealing with some special phase of the problem. To care for the added number of articles the seminary section of the magazine will be increased in size, and extra copies will be printed. Because of the importance of the subject the magazine should be circulated far and wide. Churches or individuals desiring extra copies may obtain them by writing to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind. Orders must reach their office not later than February 14. The price for extra copies is 5c a copy for single copies and 3c a copy when 10 or more copies are included in one order to be sent to one address.

Our Cover Pictures

Fifteen years of God's blessing and provision for Grace Theological Seminary are depicted briefly but eloquently on the front of the magazine this week. From the first quarters in the First Brethren Church of Akron, Ohio, to the lovely new building and campus valued at a half million dollars, and from the first graduating class of 3 to the most recent combined graduating classes of 33, there has been a steady growth. The pictures are emblematic of what God hath wrought through your prayers and gifts. And, by the way, lest you failed to recognize them, the 1938 graduating class was composed of Robert Miller, now pastor of the Ghent Brethren Church, of Roanoke, Va.; Kenneth Ashman, now pastor of the First Brethren Church of Wooster, Ohio; and Russell Williams, now pastor of the Grace Brethren Church of Yakima, Wash.

Lovers of Pleasure

Among the signs that are to characterize the last days, just before the return of Jesus Christ to this world, is that described in II Timothy 3:2-4: "Men shall be . . . lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." This lust for pleasure is to be world-wide. Little comment is necessary about it in the United States, with its multiplied thousands of theaters, roadhouses, amateur and professional sports of all kinds, radio and television programs, etc., etc. The significant fact is the presence of reports that constantly come to us from other countries, some of which were poverty-stricken as a result of World War II. In Italy, for example, educators are disturbed by the report that Italians spent $120 million on amusements in 1950—just twice what they spent before the war. Entertainment spending in 1950, plus $64 million spent on gambling, added up to more than all Italy spent during the same year on rent. Christian people ought to watch the extent to which they permit themselves to be carried away by the spirit of a pleasure-mad age. Are any of these pleasures robbing you of the time you ought to be using in the service of your Lord?

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

CHAPEL MESSAGES

December 20. Classes were shifted to allow the special Christmas chapel service to occupy the final hour before noon—the final hour of school at Grace Seminary for 1952. In presenting the speaker for the hour our president expressed his appreciation for each of the members of the faculty and his pleasure in the realization that each has a pure message to deliver when asked to speak. We agreed and then partook of an excellent meal from the Word delivered by our beloved Prof. Herbert Bess. It was a Christmas message, of course, and, as would be expected from the Hebrew professor, was from the prophetic pages of the Old Testament.

Bill Burk

January 6. The first chapel service of the new year was one of wide blessing both in relation to time and theology. It included all of time (past, present, and future) and centered around the "Threefold Ministry of Christ" (prophetic, priestly, and kingly). Rev. H. B. Centz, friend of the seminary and president of Grace Institute for Biblical Education in Oklahoma City, was the speaker. His final exclamation, after speaking of the symbols on the Grace Theological Seminary seal, was a tribute to our Lord, "the King of kings and Lord of lords."

January 7. In the praise and prayer chapel service the items of praise were varied and Christ-honoring. Four of the graduating seniors expressed appreciation for their years at Grace. "One doesn't know how little one knows until he's a senior," says Sib Edmiston, of Long Beach. There was praise for the varied opportunities for witnessing which occurred during Christmas vacation, such as witnessing in local jails, to a former business partner, home-town churches, etc. All in all, it was the feeling of most students that though there weren't many presents, it was the best Christmas yet.

CHICKENPOX

To have chickenpox is bad enough, but to have it on Christmas is terrible. Nevertheless such was the fate of members of at least 4 local families this year. Those stricken included children of students, professors, alumni and church members. But the Lord blessed in spite of the "spots" and no serious after-effects followed.

SEMINARY SIDELIGHTS

Dennis Price, of Long Beach, watched disgustedly as the indicator on the heat gauge of his big Cadillac moved into the boiling range one morning when the temperature outside hit zero! How can these things be? Oh the ignorance of a Californian!

Leonard Meznar, of Cleveland, Ohio, stumbled into the building one cold Indiana morning with crimson cheeks and ears but with a warm cap—his close-cut black hair. Doesn't he know it's cold here when one year gives way to another?

We were amazed to learn that Russ Irwin was living at Winona Lake 4 days a week and spending the other 3 with his medical-student wife a couple hundred miles away in Indianapolis. However, this seems mild alongside of the handsome professor who gave a ring at Christmas to a young lady who is spending the winter 2,000 miles away in California. Congratulations, Professor Whitcomb.

NEWS FOR THE CENSUS TAKER

I'm sure all will agree that the families receiving the most precious Christmas gifts were the Russell Sarvers and the Wallace Geigers. Sandra Dawn Sarver, weighing 7 pounds, arrived December 11, and Nancy Joy Geiger, weighing 7 pounds, 14 ounces, arrived December 18.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Mrs. Florent Toirac, returned missionary from Haiti, presently engaged in child evangelism in the public schools, and student here at Grace, was the Seminary Women's Fellowship speaker for December. Before giving her suggestions to pastors' wives on their work with children of the church, Mrs. Toirac stressed first being personally right with God and second, proper training of those in your own household before attempting to work with the children of others. Children will know if you're not practicing what you teach and why should you expect other children to believe and obey what your own children give no evidence of believing.

As a children's worker, whether in a denominational or interdenominational work, Mrs. Toirac warned that we're certain to be faced with the statement that children are too young to understand. A child as young as 2 is taught to believe in Santa Claus but a child of 3 or 4 times that age is regarded as too young to understand anything of the Bible. Mrs. Toirac pointed out a verse of Scripture that not only answers this argument but could well make seminary parents stop and think—Isaiah 28:9, "Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts."

WHITE CHRISTMAS

Although some of the students from the west coast were disappointed because there was no snow for Christmas, those students living close enough to go to homes of friends and relatives were most grateful at not having to slip and slide the miles from Grace to their destinations. The weather during the 2 weeks of vacation, though cold, was mostly free from snow and ice. Incidentally, as school reconvened, the swans were still out on the lake—in fact, they were walking on it!

Rev. and Mrs. Ben Hamilton examine rare volumes in the library at Grace Theological Seminary.

Grace Seminary library is a storehouse of surprises in the field of unusual books. This was brought home to me when, while seeking research materials on Isaiah, I noticed an old book bound with a colorful old illuminated manuscript. The Latin letters were in Gothic characters, similar to modern Old English. Inspection of the book's contents made it plain that here was an unusually interesting antique book. It was

Sebastian Munster's "Commentary on Isaiah"

Munster (1498-1552) entered the Franciscan Order of the Catholic Church and became a follower of Luther in 1529, teaching in the University of Basle (Switzerland) from 1536 to 1552. He was the first German to edit the Hebrew Bible. Between 1534 and 1540 Munster's various commentaries on Old Testament books appeared from the press of Henrichum Petrum in Basle. The fact that the seminary library copy bears Henrichum Petrum's imprint suggests that this is a 16th-century printing. The book has Massoretic Hebrew and Septuagint Greek texts of Isaiah in parallel columns on the right-hand pages and Sebastian Munster's commentary, accompanied by another one, in 2 columns on the left-hand page.

John Buxtorf's "Tiberias"

Though of slight interest today, this book, when published in 1620, set off a very hot theological and scholastic argument among Hebrew scholars. John Buxtorf the elder (born 1564) was the first Protestant to study rabbinical writings. Buxtorf had such a "profound and extensive knowledge of rabbinical books, that he was frequently consulted by Jews themselves on matters relating to their ceremonial law. Probably no Protestant scholar ever possessed so complete a knowledge of . . . the rabbinical writings as Buxtorf. . . ."

Buxtorf's "Tiberias" was so named because it dealt with the grammatical work of an early school of Jewish scholars located at Tiberias. In the book Buxtorf maintained that the Hebrew vowel points (added in the 5th century and later by Jewish scholars called the Massoretes) were divinely inspired and of an early age. Cappellus, a famed 16th century theologian, said the vowel points were of late origin and not divinely inspired. Buxtorf tried to get Cappellus not to publish such statements but Cappellus did. Buxtorf the elder never replied, but John Buxtorf, Jr., later replied in sharp language and argued that if the Hebrew vowel points did not date to the time of Moses they dated to Ezra's time and had the authority of divine inspiration. To this day most Hebrew students agree with Cappellus rather than with the Buxtorfs.

The seminary library copy has the date MDCXXX (1620), suggesting that the copy might be a first edition.

Bibles and Portions

These include a 1635 printing of the Hebrew Bible edited by the great 17th-century rabbi and Jewish scholar, Manasseh ben Israel. The Bible has vowel points, but there are no chapter and verse divisions. There is also a 1683 printing of the Septuagint (Greek Old Testament) from an Amsterdam press. The library also has a 1615 edition of the King James Bible, with "Booke of Common Prayer" and Bible concordance printed in 1619.

Recently in sorting some books to be cataloged I found a vest pocket John printed in English and a strange language. Investigation showed that it was a John printed in English and Mohawk Indian. The seminary copy is the 1804, or first printing, of the first translation ever printed and issued by the British Foreign and Missionary Society. The translating was done by an Indian.

1658 Vulgate

This is the Latin Bible made by Jerome in the 4th and 5th centuries. This is the officially approved edition of the Bible endorsed by the Catholic Church. The seminary library's 1658 Vulgate is interesting for it is the disputed amended edition which Pope Clement VIII issued but which was a spurious version of Pope Sixtus V's edition.

Impure texts of the Vulgate freely circulated in the 16th century. So in 1587 Pope Sixtus V commissioned some scholars to purify the Vulgate text. Their result was published in 1590, the year Sixtus V died. Other scholars influenced succeeding popes to decree the 1590 (true Sixtus V's) edition unofficial until textual errors were corrected. "Finally Clement VIII in 1592 published this amended work of Sixtus V, affirming in the preface, contrary to the facts of history, that it was the edition of Sixtus V." In those days copyrights could not be had to assure purity of Bible version texts (as done with the Revised Standard Version of 1952) but by means of strict censorship by the Roman hierarchy the text of Clement VIII's edition of Sixtus V's version of Jerome's translation of the Bible has been kept uncorrupted (?).

Dr. Paul Bauman's Luther Commentary and Sower Bible

It is hoped that eventually the seminary library will have a glass case to display its antique books. When the case is obtained, Dr. Paul Bauman plans to loan Grace Seminary library 2 unique books.

The first is the 1559 printing of the 12th volume of Martin Luther's 20-volume work published in Wittenberg during 1539-1559, by order of John Frederick, elector of Saxony. The 12th volume, which Dr. Bauman owns, has Luther's commentary on Galatians and Ecclesiastes plus many of Luther's anti-papal and anti-Catholic polemic writings.

The title page of this thick book, printed on large pages in big type, is printed in red and black ink. There is a cut which shows Luther and a colleague worshipping a crucified Christ. This 1559 printing may be a first edition of the work. The cover is tooled vellum and the volume is held shut by means of metal clasps.

The other item is a Christopher Sower Bible, first printed in Germantown, Pa., in 1743. It was printed in German by means of type cast in a matrix forged at Sower's machine shop by one of Sower's employees. The Sower Bible was printed 40 years "before Robert Aitken published the first English Bible in America." The Sower Bible is of particular interest due to Christopher Sower's prominence in the early Germantown Dunkard congregation.

Thus it can be seen that the seminary library is not as big as the Library of Congress (what, then, would Mrs. Hamilton and I do?), yet the library can supply users of it with much of historical value in Biblical fields. More than one seminary student, gathering material for a critical monograph, has been surprised to find very useful research books on the shelves.

WHY I AM INTERESTED IN GRACE SEMINARY

By Rev. Walter A. Lepp

Pastor, Grace Brethren Church, Hagerstown, Md.

Quite frequently this pastor has been asked: "Why the interest in Grace Seminary? Are there not other good Christian seminaries and colleges? Furthermore you are not even a graduate of Grace, are you?"

What a joy and pride it is in a time like that to answer something like this: "No, it has not been my privilege to attend Grace Seminary. I wish, though, it would have been. And let me tell you just why I encourage not only my own young people to attend Grace but young people of other denominations as well.

"First of all, Grace Seminary from its very beginning has been missionary-conscious. It has therefore specialized in this field and it is no wonder that consecrated young people thoroughly prepared for the particular task of taking the Gospel to the unconverted everywhere graduate from Grace. And believe you me, this is not just hearsay. The first 2 young people to go as missionaries from the Hagerstown church were also the first 2 young people from the same church to attend Grace. You see, it really works, for now these 2 young people, Rev. and Mrs. Carson Rottler, are missionaries in Argentina. Isn't it just thrilling that the prayers and gifts made to Grace Theological Seminary are contributions to the wishes of the Lord Jesus Christ when He said, 'Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.'

"But this is not all, by any means. Grace Theological Seminary is distinctly a Brethren institution. All the great doctrines of the Christian faith, which include the practices of the Brethren Church, have been written into its charter and can never be 'changed or diminished.' If I didn't believe as pastor what Grace Seminary stands for and teaches, I would most certainly resign as a Brethren pastor immediately. But since I do believe what Grace stands for, and since I do believe that its message is the message America particularly needs in these apostate days, I rejoice in directing young people to Grace Seminary. I know that they will graduate with a holy zeal for the lost souls of men. They will either go as missionaries abroad, or they will be missionaries here at home. And the need for well-prepared missionaries and pastors and evangelists here at home is right now the greatest in the history of our great nation. We must have men and women with a real conviction and a thorough knowledge of the Word of God. Grace Seminary produces men and women just like that. The Hagerstown church has 2 other young people now in training at Grace, and they are thrilled with the training they are receiving. They are anxiously awaiting graduation day, when they can join the ranks of others who have become flaming evangelists for Christ.

"As pastor, I can clearly see what Grace Seminary means to the church in which I am privileged to minister. I can see what it means to the future welfare of the Brethren Church. It is its very life and guarantee that there will be a strong church tomorrow and until Christ returns.

"You are right! I have not attended Grace Seminary. But I certainly wish I might have that privilege. However, since that seems to be quite impossible at such a late stage in my life, the very least I can do is to pray, to give, and to urge all who can attend to take advantage of one of the greatest opportunities that can possibly come to a Christian young person."

WE ALSO HAVE BENEFITED FROM YOUR GIFTS

Note: Some may not have realized the extent to which their gifts for the seminary have helped some other aspects of our Brethren work. This page presents for the first time pictures of some of the offices which are in the seminary building, but which care for the needs of other boards. In addition to these offices the building is home to the Winona Lake Brethren Church. While there is no charge to any of the boards or to the local church for their quarters, each of them makes some contribution to the school every year. Office space has been provided without any cost to the Brethren Youth Council because of its vital relation to the educational program of the denomination. That all are happy over the relationship is evident from the following items, and do not forget that your gifts help make this possible.—P. R. B.

Above—Central office of the Foreign Missionary Society, Miss Marcia Lowe at desk. Dr. Barnard sits at the desk in his private office. Miss Reddick's office is not in the picture. She was on vacation when the picture was taken.

Below—Rev. Koontz at his desk in pastor's study.

WE TOO HAVE BENEFITED FROM YOUR GIFTS

By Herman W. Koontz
Pastor, Winona Lake Brethren Church

The Winona Lake Brethren Church greatly appreciates the fine new building that your gifts have made possible. For a number of years the church was without adequate room for expansion. The Sunday school could not divide its classes properly, and the room where church services were held was far too small for the weekly attendance. For worship services the new building has a beautiful chapel which is large enough to accommodate the present attendance. Then there is the much larger auditorium that can be used when the attendance becomes too large for the chapel. Most of the rooms of the building are available for the Sunday school, thus making it possible to departmentalize and to divide classes according to ages. A well-equipped kitchen is handy when needed by the various organizations for their social functions. Next to the chapel is the church office which gives the pastor a day-by-day contact with all the students.

The church is grateful for the opportunity of ministering spiritually to the young people whom you send to the seminary, who are away from home and out of personal contact with their own churches. These students are a help and blessing to the church, and it is the desire of the church to be a blessing to them in return.

WE'RE GLAD FOR YOUR GIFTS TO THE SEMINARY

By Russell D. Barnard
Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society

The Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church appreciates very much the privilege of having its offices in the Grace Seminary Building. We have a suite of 3 pleasant rooms, as well as an abundance of storage space. The contributions which we make to seminary maintenance expense are in no way comparable to what our costs would be in owning our own building.

We feel we are at headquarters, in that most missionaries spend a part of their furlough at Winona Lake; most future missionaries receive training here, and pastors and laymen from the various churches frequently visit us. Such visitors are always cordially welcome.

We have such pleasant Christian fellowship here in the seminary building. Daily we are in contact with those who will be our leaders in future years. This is a distinct advantage.

Benefit from your gifts? Yes, in a very real way we do benefit from your gifts to Grace Theological Seminary, and we thank you for them. We can only give the finest words of commendation for the work the school is doing. The seminary merits your continued support.

Congregation of Winona Lake Brethren Church.

PRAISE GOD FOR OUR NEW OFFICES!

By L. L. Grubb

Secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council

Did you ever try to transact a $100,000 business in $500 worth of office space? Did you ever stumble over a box of envelopes and fall against the file cabinet and in the process of recovering bump your elbow on the bookcase? Did you ever look in vain for a spot to store important materials? Did you ever desire privacy for important conferences?

Until a short time ago the business of the Brethren Home Missions Council had been transacted under severe physical handicaps. Often it was impossible to efficiently handle the growing weight of detail work because of lack of office space. Strict privacy was unknown.

Now, for the first time, we have adequate quarters in our spacious and beautiful offices in the Grace Seminary building at Winona Lake, Ind. Much needed storage space has been made available and physical comforts which add immeasurably to the conducting of the Lord's business. If these offices had not been provided through the gifts and prayers of the Lord's people which have made our new seminary building possible, our growing home mission work would have necessitated the construction of our own office space.

So the directors of the Brethren Home Missions Council have ample cause to thank God for new and satisfactory office facilities. This is just one important angle in Grace Seminary's contribution to Brethren home missions. It is almost unnecessary to mention the scores of young men and women who are working successfully in home mission fields after being trained in our school, or our almost daily contact with the students who are now in preparation.

There is indeed a twofold reason for giving generously to our seminary offering this month and this just from the home mission standpoint. We urge each member and friend of the Brethren Church to earnestly pray and liberally give to support one of the finest seminaries in our great nation.

Rev. Ralph Colburn, national youth director of the Brethren Church, at his desk in the National Youth Council office.

Above—Central office of the Home Missions Council, Miss Louise Blankenship and Mrs. Cashel Taylor at desks. Mr. Frank Poland is in his office to the right.

Below—Edwin Cashman, office assistant, in the National Youth Council office.

WE OWE A DEBT TO GRACE SEMINARY, TOO

By Ralph J. Colburn

Brethren Youth Director

It was not my privilege to receive my theological training in Grace Seminary, but, believe me, I certainly appreciate what our school is giving our young people who are enrolled there. But there are other ways in which I am indebted to our school, and the youth council which I represent is indebted.

First of all, we are grateful that the seminary provides us with a splendid, spacious office—something we were really lacking before the new building was constructed. I'm gone so much that I don't get to use my office often, but I still appreciate it greatly. Along with the office we use some seminary equipment—an old typewriter and their mimeograph machine—equipment that we've not been able to afford, but without which we'd be lost.

Then I get my office assistants from Grace Seminary's student body. Charles Ashman, Jr., was my first helper, then Clair Brickel, and now Edwin Cashman. We can't pay them much, but we do try to give them good experience, and they are indispensable to the youth council. We're thankful that we can draw upon them for help, and help them a little, too.

And, of course, part of my work is keeping in touch with our young people who will be our future ministers, missionaries, and evangelists. It is vital to me that these contacts be maintained at the school where so many of them finish their formal training. I'm thankful that the seminary helps make this possible. We're trying to repay our debt to the seminary for these things in various ways, and we hope you'll share this responsibility with us by your faithful and generous support of the school.

NEWS FROM OUR ALUMNI

Edited by Rev. Wesley Haller, Vice President of Grace Seminary Alumni Association

OUR LAST OPPORTUNITY

This is the final opportunity to remind you of the annual offering for Grace Seminary. As was stated last month, the success of this offering depends in a large measure upon the efforts of our alumni. It is the hope of your officers that each of you has done what you can to make this the largest offering in the history of the school. If there was ever a time when sacrificial giving is manifested, it should be now. There are many projects that need to be completed immediately so that the school can train our young people more efficiently. And we as alumni can do much by giving what we had planned, and then doubling that amount. Thank you for your interest which is manifested by your gifts.

ALUMNI REUNION

The most important news just now is the announcement of the second annual alumni reunion at Grace Seminary next month. That's right, next month, from Tuesday, February 24, through Friday evening, February 27. The seminary has very kindly consented to dismiss classes for this week so that student and alumnus might have time for real fellowship one with the other.

An interesting program has been planned. There will be at least 20 different speakers during these days. Each day will have its special emphasis. On Tuesday the emphasis will be on the Man of God; Wednesday, on the Gospel of God; Thursday the central theme will be the Pastoral Ministry; and Friday the day will be devoted to the Prophetic Ministry.

Each afternoon a paper is to be read, which will be followed by a period devoted to a discussion of the paper. Several examples of these papers are, "The Place of Prophecy in the Preaching of Today," by Charles Ashman, Jr., and "The Evangelist in a Big City," by John Aeby.

Kenneth Teague, Charles Turner, and others will speak at the evening services. Each evening's program will be culminated with pictures of the Holy Land, being shown by Bernard Schneider, John Whitcomb, and Milton Dowden.

The outstanding event of the whole week will be the alumni banquet on Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the Eskimo Inn (who doesn't like to eat????!!):

This brief information should cause you to realize the spiritual feast that can be yours if you will attend the reunion. The faculty and your officers have tried to arrange an outstanding program. Let's show our appreciation by being in attendance next month. It is certain that you'll receive some new ideas that will make your ministry and service for the Lord Jesus Christ more fruitful. See you in Winona next month.

AN APPEAL

This month we wish to make a twofold appeal. (1) For news, news, news. If you have any information that would be of interest to the alumni, please, please, send us that information today. (2) In behalf of the treasurer, information has come to your editor that some of you have not paid your dues of one dollar for this year; this is true in spite of all efforts that have been made to collect it. Won't you care for this matter immediately? Send it to Paul Mohler, Listie, Pa.

ALUMNUS OF THE MONTH

Our alumnus chosen for recognition this month is the new pastor of the First Brethren Church of Canton, Ohio, John Dilling, class of 1952.

John Dilling

John is another representative of the Keystone State (do you remember some of the discussions when you were in school as to which State was better: Pennsylvania or California?). John graduated from the Lewistown (Pa.) High School, and entered Juniata College. At his fourth year he transferred to Wheaton College, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree.

Before entering the seminary the following September he was married. John spent 3 years at Grace, graduating last spring with a Bachelor of Divinity degree. During his years of education he had numerous opportunities to supply various pulpits in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio.

For a number of years John was a member of the Calvary Bible Church in Lewistown, Pa. In August of 1952 he and his wife were received into the membership of the Winona Lake Brethren Church. He has been pastor of the Canton church for only a few months, but indications are that his ministry is already proving a real blessing to the people there. Don't forget to pray for John.

NEW INSTRUMENT FOR CRITICAL STUDY

Yes, Grace Seminary has a new instrument for critical study—but not of Scripture passages such as those that have been causing the seniors to lose a considerable amount of sleep. In this case it's a new microscope which has come to the school as a gift of Instructor and Mrs. George Cone, Jr. Along with the scope they have given $40 worth of slides and specimens for study in the course, a Survey of Biological Sciences, which Brother Cone teaches. Bro. Frank Poland had a share in the gift by building a box for the new microscope. The task of equipping a new building is big and the cost is great. Such gifts are greatly appreciated.

SAVED BY A BURNED-OUT HEADLIGHT

By Harold F. Morr

Note—Brother Morr is a member of the West Tenth Street Brethren Church in Ashland, Ohio, and is a senior in the seminary.—Ed.

It is no pleasant feeling to look beside you and see a state highway patrolman flashing the lights of his car to stop you. But it had happened to me. So, as I pulled off the road and pulled up my courage, I greeted the officer kindly. While chatting with him I mentioned that I was a minister of the Gospel and that he was also a minister of God (Rom. 13:4). He was surprised but exclaimed, "I arrest all kinds—rabbi, priest, or minister." He seemed to be in no hurry and our conversation lasted almost half an hour. By the way, my offense was a burned-out headlight.

Harold F. Morr

As I pulled away I wondered why I was delayed so long. Soon I was to find out. It meant salvation for one who was ready and willing for someone to encourage him to accept Christ.

My next stop was for gas. As I left the station I noticed a tall young man about 17 walk across the street and begin to hail a ride. He accepted my invitation and we were soon talking about his interests and, especially, his football injuries.

He was riding only a few miles so I knew I ought to ask him at once about his religious life. He said that he was a Catholic. After a few questions I knew he was in ignorance of Catholic doctrine. As we drove along I remembered another visit I had made earlier in the evening where I learned of a special revival meeting for 1 night only. This church was directly on my route.

By this time we had arrived in front of the church. I said, "Say, what are you doing tonight?" Harold said, "Why, not much of anything." I said, "This church is having a special meeting tonight and I would like to have you go." "Why," he said, "I was brought up in that church. My parents go there."

Upon mentioning salvation to him he said he had been under conviction many times in that church even to the point of holding on to the pew to keep from going forward. He said he would go to the meeting and accept Christ that night. Better yet, he decided to accept Christ right there in the car and with his hand on the Bible he prayed the sinner's prayer. He left the car and walked into the church a new man as I continued my journey with a new joy in my heart. Traveling along I thought of the couplet:

*In the morning I see His grace,
In the evening His ways I trace.*

As I thought of the incident I began to trace the steps which at the time seemed insignificant—hearing about the meeting, the delay by the patrolman, the stop for gas, and the prospect ready for his decision.

GRACE SEMINARY OFFERING REPORT—DECEMBER

Church	Amount
Albany, Oreg.	$15.68
Alexandria, Va.	39.00
Altoona, Pa. (1st)	1.00
Ashland, Ohio	52.50
Berne, Ind.	247.00
Buena Vista, Va.	1.00
Canton, Ohio	5.00
Cedar Rapids, Iowa	37.00
Clay City, Ind.	24.00
Clayton, Ohio	59.00
Compton, Calif.	9.00
Conemaugh, Pa.	48.00
Covington, Va.	28.00
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio	11.00
Dallas Center, Iowa	7.00
Danville, Ohio	215.00
Dayton, Ohio (1st)	10.00
Dayton, Ohio (Bethany)	25.00
Dayton, Ohio (Patterson Park)	43.00
Everett, Pa.	13.00
Findlay, Ohio	4.00
Flora, Ind.	90.55
Fort Wayne, Ind.	101.00
Fremont, Ohio	72.00
Garwin, Iowa	9.00
Harrisburg, Pa.	34.75
Holidaysburg, Pa.	20.00
Homerville, Ohio	16.00
Jenners, Pa.	27.29
Johnstown, Pa. (1st)	181.00
Johnstown, Pa. (Riverside)	29.00
Kittanning, Pa.	39.45
Lake Odessa, Mich.	24.00
Leon, Iowa	52.00
Limestone, Tenn.	9.00
Listie, Pa.	5.00
Long Beach, Calif. (1st)	472.75
Long Beach, Calif. (2d)	117.00
Los Angeles, Calif. (1st)	76.00
Middlebranch, Ohio	15.00
Modesto, Calif.	25.00
Peru, Ind.	11.00
Portland, Oreg.	14.05
Radford, Va.	9.00
Rittman, Ohio	32.25
Roanoke, Va. (Clearbrook)	22.00
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent)	46.00
Roanoke, Va. (Washington Heights)	16.00
San Bernardino, Calif.	25.50
Seattle, Wash.	300.00
Sidney, Ind.	28.00
South Bend, Ind.	1.00
South Gate, Calif.	2.00
South Pasadena, Calif.	2.00
Summit Mills, Pa.	8.00
Sunnyside, Wash.	1.00
Troy, Ohio	9.00
Uniontown, Pa.	10.50
Waterloo, Iowa	62.50
Waynesboro, Pa.	9.00
Whittier, Calif.	124.00
Whittier, Calif., Special	25.00
Winchester, Va.	55.00
Winona Lake, Ind.	422.35
Winona Lake, Ind., Special	264.59
Yakima, Wash.	122.30
Yellow Creek, Pa.	21.00
Miscellaneous—
Isolated Brethren	251.00
Non-Brethren	268.00
Non-Brethren, Special	10.00
Winona Church, Building Upkeep	500.00
Special Student Offering	187.22

Total—General, $4,682.42; Special, $486.81..... $5,169.23

VISUAL AIDS IN THE SEMINARY

Visual aids are used in many of the seminary and collegiate classes of Grace Theological Seminary.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Altoona, Pa., First church, of which Rev. Mark Malles is pastor, is broadcasting its Sunday morning services at 11 o'clock over WRTA.

The East Fellowship of Brethren Churches is planning an overnight rally for the young people at the Meyersdale, Pa., church, pastored by Rev. Leslie Moore, February 13-14.

Dr. James Boyer spoke twice at the Ashland, Ohio, church January 4 concerning the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Rev. Miles Taber is pastor of the church.

Rev. Lewis Hohenstein, now of Waterloo, Iowa, has accepted the pastorate of the Whittier, Calif., First church, effective April 12.

Rev. Ralph Rambo has moved from Modesto, Calif., to 4817 N. Bartlett, Rosemead, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 71.)

Dr. Charles Ashman will serve the South Pasadena, Calif., church as interim pastor until a full-time pastor is secured. He will continue to live in Los Angeles at his home and will be available for special meetings after July 1.

Bro. J. E. Dangerfield, of the Roanoke, Va., Ghent church, died December 30.

On a recent Sunday the Paramount, Calif., church, pastored by Rev. John Mayes, had 121 people in Sunday school. This is the record high for this new church.

The Waynesboro, Pa., church, pastored by Rev. Dennis Holliday, broadcasts "News and Views" each Saturday at 7:15 a. m. on WCHA. This church has erected a large sign announcing the church on the main highway approaching the city from the south.

The Limestone, Tenn., church gave a surprise shower upon its pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Randall Rossman, and then the church gave Dr. Rossman a unanimous call to continue another year as pastor.

The Middlebranch, Ohio, church, pastored by Rev. Edward Lewis, will be host to the district rally of the Women's Missionary Council and the district ministerial meeting January 26. Miss Gene Baron spoke there on January 11 and Rev. Bernard Schneider is scheduled to speak and show pictures February 3.

The young people of the Kittanning, Pa., First church conducted a program over local radio WACB January 14. Pastor of the church is Rev. Gordon Bracker.

The special Christmas offering at the Los Angeles, Calif., Third church was sufficient to liquidate the debt on the organ. Rev. James Beatty is pastor of this church.

Rev. D. F. Eikenberry, retired and now living with his son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Russell Williams, Yakima, Wash., is gradually recovering from a serious illness, but is still confined to the house.

The laymen of the Southeast Fellowship of Brethren Churches are planning to hold a rally at the Radford, Va., church February 6. Rev. K. E. Richardson is pastor of the host church.

Dr. Herman Hoyt, of Winona Lake, preached at the Baptist church in Warsaw, Ind., January 11.

Dr. Homer Kent, of Winona Lake, preached at the Palestine, Ind., Christian church January 11.

Rev. and Mrs. William Samarin, at Bozoum, Africa, became the parents of a daughter, Ramona, January 8.

The Harrisburg, Pa., church, pastored by Rev. Russell Weber, will hold a "Back to the Bible" rally January 30, with Dr. Alva J. McClain, of Winona Lake, as the speaker. Rev. H. W. Modricker spoke at this church January 11.

Rev. Galen Lingenfelter, of Buena Vista, Va., preached at the Roanoke, Va., Washington Heights church, of which Rev. W. Carl Miller is pastor, January 11.

Rev. W. Carl Miller has moved to 1317 Aspen St., NW., Roanoke, Va. (Change Annual, p. 70.) The phone number remains the same.

A quote from the Glendale, Calif., church bulletin: "Rev. Charles Underwood has accepted our unanimous call to become pastor here, contingent upon his acceptance as a Brethren elder in the district."

At the Hagerstown, Md., church during 1952 the average Sunday school attendance was 371, morning worship was 256, evening service was 195, and the midweek service was 113.

Bro. Wilbur Charnetsky was the preacher at the Cheyenne, Wyo., church December 28, and Bro. W. K. Nevill was the speaker January 4. Rev. C. Wayne Croker is pastor of the church.

The churches of the Roanoke, Va., area opened the new year with conferences on Jewish missions. Rev. Daniel Fuchs spoke at the Ghent church January 4-5. Rev. Emil Gruen spoke at the same church January 6-7, at the Washington Heights church January 8, and at the Clearbrook, Va., church January 9-11.

Mrs. Russell Barnard, of Winona Lake, underwent an operation for the removal of a goiter January 12. At this writing she is in the hospital at Columbia City, Ind., but expects to be home before the readers see this notice.

Miss Dorothy Magnuson, office secretary of Grace Theological Seminary, underwent surgery at Columbia City January 9. She expects to be back in Winona Lake by the time this is read.

Robert Miller, Jr., eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Miller, of Roanoke, Va., is seriously ill with a kidney disorder.

Mrs. Keith Altig and Steven are scheduled to arrive in New York City the day this is being written (January 14) by airplane. They will make brief visits at Fort Wayne and Winona Lake in Indiana, and then will go to California, where the Altig girls—Janice and Jean—are now living and attending school. Brother Altig is remaining beyond his term of service to help the Zielaskos get started in their work in Brazil.

The new address of Rev. John Neely, effective January 29, is 1801 Chandler St., Philadelphia 11, Pa. (Change Annual, p. 77.)

DEPARTMENT OF STATE THEOLOGY

By Rev. Ben Hamilton, Winona Lake, Ind.

"Then a man named Paul brought a message of human brotherhood and hope to the little people and the slaves—the message of Jesus Christ, the Carpenter of Nazareth. Every man is important. All men are equal in the sight of God. This idea of human dignity was little noted at first, but it was to have far-reaching effects on the future course of history."

Source of the Quotation

The above quotation is from Department of State Publication 4443 General Foreign Policy Series 67 released November 1952 by the Division of Publications . . . Office of Public Affairs (U. S. Department of State). The red - white - and - blue cover of the booklet bears the title, "Let Freedom Ring," and subtitle, "The struggle for a peaceful world." The quotation at the head of this article is on page 7.

Significance of the Quotation

It suggests that National Council of Churches doctrine is to be the guide for at least one government department in dealing with religious matters in the United States. By means of such a statement, the Department of State is trying to create the impression that such a theological definition is the standard, commonly accepted formula of the Christian faith in the United States. The Department of State assertion indicates a bureaucratic desire to usurp a church function by offering, in a piece of propaganda, a gospel that is not the genuine Gospel of Christ or Paul.

Study of the Quotation

1. Its sense. "Then a man named Paul brought a message of human brotherhood and hope to the little people and the slaves . . ." The Department of State sees Paul merely as another human messenger with a human philosophy based on a human message designed to appease human desires. Yet Paul himself points out in his letter to the Galatians: "But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ"

(Gal. 1:11-12). Nor was the message of brotherhood which Paul preached on the human level in the fleshly sense generally given to the term "human." The doctrine of brotherhood which Paul taught was one consisting of those believing in Christ and not following the flesh but the Spirit of God. "Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God" (Rom. 8:12-14).

Rev. Ben Hamilton

Paul's message of hope was not that of fulfilling mere human hope through the lusts of the flesh. Paul's teaching shows that all the longings of the human heart could be realized adequately only by conforming to God's will, the true longing of all Christians. This was to be accomplished according to Paul's own words by presenting one's body "a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God" and by not being conformed to this world (Rom. 12:1-2). Paul taught that Christians were not to achieve human aspirations by the flesh, but he exhorted: "Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof" (Rom. 13:14).

Paul's message was for "the little people and slaves," but it was not for them alone. The Pauline proclamation to Timothy that God our Saviour "will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" (I Tim. 2:4) is only one declaration that Christ and His salvation is for every class of man. Throughout the entire history of Christianity there have been devoted servants of Jesus of rich, poor, and moderate financial means. Paul did warn against loving money for covetous purposes. Paul did not teach that his message excluded hope for those rich in earthly possessions.

2. Source of Paul's message. "... the message of Jesus Christ, the Carpenter of Nazareth." Paul never brought the message of Jesus Christ, the Carpenter of Nazareth. Only once in the entire Bible, in Mark 6:3, is Jesus referred to as a carpenter. As the context plainly shows there, Jesus was called a carpenter by a Christ-rejecting crowd, and they called Christ a carpenter as a term of reproach. The term "Carpenter of Nazareth" is not a Scriptural title and is merely the fabrication of those who refuse to accept and acknowledge Jesus Christ as God, Saviour, and Ruler.

Paul's message was not of Jesus Christ, the Carpenter of Nazareth. Paul's message was of the Christ who "died for our sins according to the scriptures," was buried, and arose the third day "according to the scriptures" (I Cor. 15:3-4). Paul's message was indeed of Jesus Christ "who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name" (Phil. 2:6-9).

3. Substance of the Department of State quotation. "All men are equal in the sight of God." On the surface this statement might seem harmless, for in one sense and one only there is an element of truth: namely, "All have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23), which is an essential part of Paul's message. But the Department of State statement is wrong in one sense: it does not take into account that there are 2 classes, sinners (or unbelievers) and believers, and that God deals with them differently. All men are not equal in the sight of God. Paul teaches that those who do not obey God are destined to everlasting destruction (II Thess. 1: 8-9), but those who believe in Christ, and Him alone, receive the salvation and blessings of God (I Cor. 1:21; Rom. 9:33). Jesus Himself said that he who believed on Jesus has everlasting life (John 6:47) and those who believe not on Him shall die in their sins (John 8:24). Why such a distinction in the sight of Christ and God the Father if all men are equal in God's Sight?

Summary

Paul warned centuries ago that perilous times would come and that there would be those "having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof" (II Tim. 4:1, 5). Speaking of such persons, Paul gave this somber warning: "From such turn away." The born-again believer should turn away from those who make statements like the one in the Department of State publication, "Let Freedom Ring" (quoted at the start of this article). Rather the real believer should turn to the Bible for his instructions from God and His Son, Jesus Christ. For the Bible is the perfect law of liberty (Jas. 1:25).

The unfortunate part about the Department of State booklet, "Let Freedom Ring," is that it gives an entirely erroneous interpretation of the Christian message—the Gospel which is the power of God unto salvation. This should be a challenge to all genuinely born-again Christians to make known the fact that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners (I Tim. 1:15)—the heart of Paul's message.

May we all be increasingly diligent to preach Christ, "warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus" (Col. 1:28).

Public Confessions

Ashland, Ohio .....	7
Canton, Ohio .....	1
Roanoke, Va. (Wash. Heights) ..	1
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	3

Additions to Membership

Hagerstown, Md. ....	2
Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	2

Dedication of Babies

Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	1
----------------------------------	---

HOW COULD SHE WITHHOLD?

By Rev. C. Wayne Croker, Cheyenne, Wyo.

Mommie was picking up things in the living room after the breakfast rush was over and just the 2 babies left to step around. She straightened up and stood looking at the parsonage living room—it looked more like the lobby of a third-class hotel. Mommie dreamed how it would look with some of the furniture she had seen in the "wish book."

And then a strange woman with large sad eyes was standing there: "I used to have a home . . . but now it's a heap of rubble . . . there's no place for my babies." Then she was gone!

"Babies!" Mommie remembered their pinched faces and starved bodies as she had seen them in the picture Wednesday night. . . . Those poor orphaned babies.

Mommie shook herself, turned, and ran upstairs. The trunk of "grow-intos" was opened and little piles of clothes laid on the attic floor. Colleen's little pink toes were starting to push against the ends of her red shoes. . . . Where was that pair Kathy had outgrown so quickly? Dresses! Sweaters!

"My babies have no sweaters, no warm clothing, and it's starting to frost at night." The tired, sad-faced woman pulled her cotton garments tighter around her. "Your things are so warm and lovely."

Rev. Wayne Croker

Mommie slammed the trunk lid down! What could she do? Her 5 needed clothing too . . . but wait—that box of outgrown baby clothes, faded by much washing and wear. A few ribbons would brighten them. She opened the trunk again and lifted out the baby clothes onto the floor! They would look nice on those poor babies. . . .

With a light heart Mommie gathered them up and took them downstairs to pack . . . and it seemed there was a smile on the other woman's face.

"But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?" (I John 3:17). Brethren, remember our mission stations in Kentucky and New Mexico.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	Jan. 20-Feb. 1...	Lyle Marvin. ....	Russell Humbert.
Russiaville, Ind. ....	Jan. 25-Feb. 1...	Roy Clark. ....	Herman Hoyt.
Beaumont, Calif. ..	Feb. 1-15. ....	Gene Farrell. ....	Bob Munro.
Waynesboro, Pa. ..	Feb. 1-15. ....	Dennis Holliday..	William Smith.
Johnstown, Pa. (1)	Feb. 2-15. ....	W. A. Ogden. ....	Michael Walsh.
Los Angeles, Calif.
(1st) .....	Feb. 4-5. ....	Glenn O'Neal. ....	Harold Garner.
Rittman, Ohio. ....	Feb. 4-15. ....	Charles Ashman..	Ding Teuling.
San Diego, Calif. ..	Feb. 5-6. ....	Gilbert Engelman.	Russell Humbert.
Artesia, Calif. ....	Feb. 8-13. ....	Adam Rager. ....	Russell Humbert.
Cuyahoga Falls, O.	Feb. 8-15. ....	Richard Burch. ....	Herman Hoyt.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) .....	Feb. 8-15. ....	Robert Miller. ....	Conard Sandy.
Whittier, Calif.
(1st) .....	Feb. 8-22. ....	Carl Sisson. ....	Cedric Sears.
Winchester, Va. ....	Feb. 8-11. ....	Paul Dick. ....	O. E. Phillips.

This is a condensation of the message Brother Smith preached at the Washington County (Md.) Youth Rally at our Hagerstown church December 29, 1952. Nine churches of various denominations cooperated in this rally.—Editor.

There are perhaps many things in the past year you would like to forget: the failures, the discouragements, the disappointments. According to the Bible, you are able to forget the events of the past. "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 3:13-14).

Now we are at the beginning of a new year. The pages of tomorrow are clean and it is up to you as to what shall appear on the record. You can make this next year the greatest year of your life.

I want to give to you a challenge for this new year, and I trust you will take it as though it is coming from the Lord Himself.

The Holy Life

The greatest thing you can do as a Christian is to live a holy life. "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ." We must be constantly striving to keep our lives clean and pure, realizing that the Christian is representing Christ. What the Christian does reflects on Jesus Christ. You may think that whatever you do will have no bearing on anyone else's life, but remember this—the Christian's life is under constant observation. In order to live a holy life the Christian must be a vessel that is fit to be used. We must pray to be channels only.

We can have a well of cool water, but if we have no pipes to bring it to us it is of no avail. So the Christian is to be a channel, bringing the refreshing water of salvation to a thirsty lost world in need of a Saviour.

William Smith

Now then you may be saying, I am attempting to live a holy life and I am praying that God will make me a channel for His use—what does the Lord want me to do this next year for Him?

The Christian's Work

The crowning work of a Christian life is to bring about conversions. There are many Christians who excuse themselves from soul-winning work, saying: "I don't have the 'gift of gab'; I don't have the personality; I don't have that kind of talent." But all such excuses are worthless in the light of the Bible. I can find no place in the Bible where it says that a person must have personality, talent, or conversational ability to be a soul-winner. The Biblical picture of a soul-winner is of one who is consecrated and spiritual, and the smallest Christian in all the world can be both of these if he wills. The Christian can be as powerful as he wants to be.

The first need of Christians today is to have the power of God in their lives. Shame on Christians who do not have enough of the power of God to keep themselves from the degrading worldliness about us. A great amount of our preaching, singing, and living is without power.

The Something Better

Is this all that God has for His children—a barren and fruitless and powerless life? Absolutely not! Powerless Christianity is not normal Christianity. God has something better. No Christian need go without winning souls; no Christian need go without having the power of God in his life. Jesus Himself is the One who gives power to win souls, and He has promised that the same power that He had could be reproduced in our lives. "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father" (John 14:12). Jesus was never barren, He was never powerless, He was never defeated, He was never discouraged by circumstance. We may have this same miraculous power if we want it.

Say, Christian, are you bearing fruit? Are you winning souls? Jesus said: "He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit" (John 15:5). If you are not bearing fruit, then surely you have somehow missed the blessing here promised for all who abide in Christ.

Shame on Christians who have been saved for years and have never brought a soul to Jesus Christ. Shame on the many congregations that did not have one single convert last year. You can make a new covenant with God right now and determine that this next year is going to be a year that is spent for Jesus. Give God a chance to really work in your life this year.

NEW SCHOOL FOR FORMOSA

The newly formed Evangelical Fellowship of Formosa has undertaken as its first project the establishment of a school in Formosa for the children of missionaries.

This fellowship is under the leadership of Rev. Dick Hillis, and its main work is to take the Gospel to the soldiers of the Chinese Nationalist Army now stationed on the island.

Abiding Confidence

(Hebrews 3:6, 14)

By Leona D. Cole, Long Beach, Calif.

Take a little satchel,
Pack it to the brim
With the shining confidence
That first you had in Him.
Just a bag no bigger
Than a mustard seed
Will carry all the confidence
You will ever need.

Be sure to take it with you
Everywhere you go;
Don't set it down or drop it
When heavy burdens grow.
If you never lose it,
Or leave it on the shelf,
You will keep partaking
Of the Lord Himself.

"HE CARETH FOR YOU"

By Rev. Lyle Marvin,
San Bernardino, Calif.

"Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you" (I Pet. 5:7).

This bit of admonishment was written immediately to the scattered Christian Jews of Peter's day, and ultimately to every believer. They needed this promise because of the anxiety that was their lot caused by persecution. We today need to garner for our very own this truth because of the same reason—that of anxiety and worry. To understand the full import of this verse we must know the underlying meaning of 3 words, namely, "casting," "care," and "careth."

"Casting" in our day has come to mean something like throwing, but here that is not true. This word is used in one other place in the New Testament—Luke 19:35. The foal of an ass had been secured for Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem, and before Jesus mounted, the disciples cast their garments upon the back of the animal. The garments were deposited there for the comfort of the Saviour.

Considering our next word, "care," we find that it portrays anxiety and worry. A Greek family name is made up with a negative prefixed to this word. One with this name is literally said to be one "who does not worry."

And the last word receiving our attention is "careth." From the aspect of the one who "careth" we may say that one is concerned. "He careth for you" becomes "He is concerned for you." There certainly should be no doubt in any Christian's mind as to the concern of God. God's revealed plan for the ages is laid out, with man that He created in His image as the center or the hub. God so loved all men that He gave His only begotten Son that this race of men fast heading for hell need not go there. Truly God is more concerned with man than man is concerned with himself. Collecting our past thoughts together we find our promise means that we are to deposit our worries, our anxieties, upon the Lord because of His concern for us.

Worry is a sin in that the one worrying fails to trust Christ. Failing to trust the Lord is really asserting that you are refusing to deposit these burdens upon Him. So we see that failure to deposit worries is caused by distrust for the Lord and THAT IS SIN. Strange as it may seem, those of you who are worrying right now, never once failed to trust your Lord with your soul's destiny. Yet far more valuable is your soul than any of these things you are so anxious about. Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday, and all is well!

Rev. Lyle Marvin

Christianity is not just a body of doctrines, it is a provision of grace. In that way it is the most practical mode of life one can find. It is just as practical as trust we evidence every day in other ways. Our deeds, stocks, policies, and other valuables are placed in a safety deposit box. Trusting that steel - and - concrete bank comes easily, because we go home from the bank and sleep that night without an anxious thought. Now in the same way deposit all your worries, your perplexing problems, your anxiety upon Christ; because of His concern about His children He will take care of you. The lilies of the field are arrayed in more splendor than Solomon ever had—and you are of more value than the lilies.

When Christ trod the earth He was the perfection of wisdom, the perfection of strength, yet He never said a word of His own, nor worked in His own strength—He trusted His heavenly Father. How foolish then for us to try in our own strength and wisdom; let us also trust the same heavenly Father and deposit every anxiety and worry upon Him who wants us to trust Him because of His concern for us. Our Lord ever knoweth the end from the beginning and He never makes a mistake. Realizing these truths, trusting Him with these burdens that cause us worry will become a practice.

Akron, Ohio

This church was privileged in recent days to enjoy the ministry of several of our denominational workers and missionaries.

Dr. Russell Barnard conducted a revival of 2 weeks which revived and challenged the people. Then Miss Grace Byron was with us a few days to give us the missionary emphasis. We had a 1-week Bible conference with prophetic emphasis under the leadership of Dr. Charles Ashman. Rev. and Mrs. Hill Maconaghy gave us a new missionary zeal. During the closing days of the old year and the beginning days of the new year Rev. Ralph Colburn was here to minister to us.

The basement portion of the new addition to our church building will be ready for occupancy about February 1 and we are looking forward to a time of blessing and an increase in our Sunday school emphasis.—Harold Etling, pastor.

Long Beach, California (Second)

Fifty-four young people from our church and the Seal Beach church held a 3-day retreat at Acorn Lodge in the mountains. Rev. Burton Hatch, Mrs. George Peek, and Mr. James Sweeton were the speakers.

About 250 people attended our watch-night services.

There were 814 people in Sunday school January 4 and 765 the following Sunday.

The 1952 home mission offering from this church was $3,256—the largest in the history of the church.

The church has made arrangements to distribute 1,000 booklets with a gospel message and information about the church each month during 1953.

There were 58 people who made public confession of Christ as Saviour in the church during 1952.—George Peek, pastor.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (North Buffalo)

Some time ago the North Buffalo Brethren Church folks asked me to write asking for friends to pray about their need of a pastor. Now they want to thank the Lord for His faithfulness to them and they want me to send thanks to all who prayed.

On November 30 Bro. Donald Rossman preached for them and shortly after that they called him to be their pastor. On January 4 he conducted services at the church, found an apartment the next day in the immediate community, and it now appears that he will be able to find employment which he must have along with the church.

A moving company has quoted an unusually low figure to move the family from Penns Grove, N. J., to R. R. 4, Kittanning, Pa.

The Lord has answered prayer for the North Buffalo people.—Gordon Bracker, pastor, Kittanning First Brethren Church.

ABANDON INDIAN VISA CHANGE

The government of India's proposed drastic changes in policy of granting visas to enter the country have been abandoned. The proposal would have made it very difficult for any missionary to enter India. The old plan, permitting missionaries to enter, will continue.

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

IV. CHRIST THE BANNER.

The drums beat out the marching rhythm, the standards waved, and on marched the armies of the great Alexander to victory after victory. When the fight would lull, the standard-bearer would wave the banner high, instilling in the men a new spirit and new vigor and new hopes of victory.

But did you know that we as Christians have a banner—yes, it is our Lord Jesus Christ. In Exodus 17:15 we have recorded the name "Jehovah-nissi," which means "the Lord is my Banner." Israel was in the midst of a fierce battle with Amalek. As long as Moses' hands were outstretched—held up to the Lord—Israel prevailed. When the battle was finally won an altar was built and called "Jehovah-nissi." Moses realized the reason and the source of victory—the Lord.

Jesus is the Banner over the army of the Lord today. You and I are both standard-bearers and soldiers. Ours is a twofold duty: first, to hold high at all times our Banner, Christ, and to let others see Him, that in Him they might receive conviction, salvation, and hope; second, to keep our eyes fixed steadfastly on Him, our Banner, at all times. When we lose sight of Him we lose effectiveness in the Christian battle. But when our gaze abides on Him, we have new spirit, day-by-day encouragement to continue to war a good warfare for Christ.

God has provided armor, power, weapons and, as well, a Banner, Christ—everything necessary for the victory in the Christian life. We cannot fail if we—

Look steadfastly on Jesus,
Our Banner, our guide is He;
Look steadfastly on Jesus,
He giveth sure victory.

Look steadfastly on Jesus,
When the fight is hard and long;
Look steadfastly on Jesus,
In the heart He giveth a song.

Seminary Professors Attend Evangelical Society Meeting

By Dr. Homer A. Kent, Winona Lake, Ind.

The majority of the members of the faculty of Grace Theological Seminary were in attendance at the fourth annual meeting of the Evangelical Theological Society, held at Wheaton College December 29-30. Those in attendance were President Alva J. McClain, Dean Herman A. Hoyt, Dr. Paul R. Bauman, Dr. Homer A. Kent, Dr. James L. Boyer, Prof. S. Herbert Bess, and Prof. John C. Whitcomb.

A highlight of the conference was a varied discussion of the Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament. Dr. Burton L. Goddard, of Gordon Divinity School, spoke on "Sampling the New Version." Dr. J. Barton Payne, of Bob Jones University, spoke on the subject, "The Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament and Higher Criticism." Dr. Allan A. MacRae, president of Faith Theological Seminary, followed with a consideration of the subject, "To How Great an Extent Should Theology Affect Translations, if at All." In the absence of Dr. Oswald T. Allis, of Westminster Seminary, his paper was read in part by Dr. Martin J. Wyngaarden, of Calvin Seminary, his subject being, "The Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament."

The above short addresses were followed by a panel discussion on the Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament. Those taking part in this discussion were Dr. Burton L. Goddard, Dr. R. Laird Harris, of Faith Seminary, Dr. Allan A. MacRae, Dr. Frank J. Neuberg, of Wheaton Graduate School, and J. Barton Payne. The consensus of opinion as reflected by the above addresses and panel discussion was that the new version contains dangerous modernistic tendencies and should be repudiated by orthodox believers.

In view of the prevailing opinion the society appointed a committee to make investigations relative to the possibility and advisability of endeavoring to produce a modern translation of the Scriptures by orthodox scholars. The following men were appointed to serve on this committee: Dr. Merrill C. Tenney, of Wheaton, Dr. Martin J. Wyngaarden, Dr. Allen A. MacRae, Dr. Frank J. Neuberg, and Dr. J. R. Mantey, of Northern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The society accepted the invitation extended by Dr. McClain to hold the next annual meeting at Grace Seminary, probably at a time comparable to the time of the meeting just closed. This occasion will serve to acquaint many orthodox scholars from across the nation with the work and facilities of our school.

Browsing Among the Books

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the reader's attention some of the books that are being presented to the reading public today. Each book reviewed here will present a message of some merit and worthy of consideration, though a review of a book does not necessarily mean that the reviewer approves everything in it.

Any book mentioned in this column may be purchased from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

GREAT TRUTHS TO LIVE BY, by Kenneth S. Wuest. Eerdmans Publishing Co. 1952. Cloth. 152 pp. $2.

With that freshness which comes from close examination of the original language in which the New Testament records were given to the church, Mr. Wuest writes of things so vital to the life and experience of the believer. He examines again the identity of Jesus, the experience of Nicodemus with Jesus, Jesus and Peter. He also discusses the evil nature in the believer, the relation of Jesus to the believer, the coming of Christ for the church, and the physical body of the believer in the future.

In each one of the themes discussed the believer will not only get new information but new inspiration. Just as the title suggests, the information and the inspiration will enable the believer to live by these truths. In this sense these studies are intensely practical.—Herman Hoyt.

MAN'S RUIN, by Donald Grey Barnhouse. Van Kampen Press. c 1952. Cloth. v, 301 pp. $3.

From the pen of one of the foremost Bible teachers and preachers of our generation comes a series of expository messages on the epistle to the Romans. This first volume, consisting of some 300 pages, covers chapter 1. While this work is in every way a technical study of the book, digging deep into the original language in which Paul wrote, at the same time it is so readable and interesting that any ordinary reader can study it with great profit.

These studies were originally prepared for radio broadcasts and remain substantially unchanged. This may explain why they are so attractive. When the series of volumes are complete they will form one of the finest helps to the study of Romans in existence. Five volumes of equal size are now running through the press—the 5 will cover the first 5 chapters of the epistle. How soon the others will be completed is not at this time known.

Dr. Barnhouse is leaving no stone unturned to unfold this greatest of books in the Bible. He is bringing to his task not only the wide experience and knowledge which are his, but also unusual ability as an expositor. No preacher should be without these books. His thinking will be stirred, and his spirit will be edified by the reading of this work which represents the best from a man with such experience and skill.

If one desires intensive research, this is it. The author deals verse by verse, phrase by phrase, word by word with this message from God. Whole pages, sometimes several studies, are devoted to one word.—Herman Hoyt.

I Confessed My Sin

By Rev. Charles Bergerson, Hagerstown, Md.

I confessed my sin—

Then by some magic art
I thought my lightened heart
Should feel a sudden thrill,
A surging power to fill
The cavity.

I waited long—

No surging thrill I felt.
My heart began to melt
In deep and nameless fear!
Was not my God yet near
To answer me?

God did not hear?—

My sin, it was too great.
Or I besought Him late!
His ear from me was turned;
His anger on me burned!
Where find I Thee?

I sought in vain—

The veil, it seemed so sheer,
I ought to feel Him near.
Be it of iron made,
His presence seemed to fade
Away from me.

The Spirit spoke—

"How now? Dost thou not read?
Thy Father's Word give heed!
For lack of wisdom's wealth
Destroy not thou thyself!
Read thou, and see!"

I read God's Word—

"Faithful and just is He,
Forgiving, cleansing thee."
What thrill and surge of power
Flowed forth in that blest hour
I trusted Thee!

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 5

JANUARY 31, 1953

WHERE BRETHREN PRINTING BEGAN IN AMERICA

Home of Christopher Sower near Philadelphia, erected in 1731. The Brethren meeting-house was upstairs. The printing was done in the building at the rear.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Spokane, Wash., church called its pastor, Rev. William Schaffer, to continue as pastor for his 9th year. Six people had perfect Sunday school attendance records during 1952.

The Kittanning, Pa., First church, pastored by Rev. Gordon Bracker, will be host to the Armstrong County rally of protest against the Revised Standard Version of the Bible January 30. Rev. Henry Kulp, Altoona, is to be the speaker.

Remember the protest rally against the Revised Standard Version at Grace Theological Seminary February 6 at 7:30 p. m. The main speaker is to be Dr. David Otis Fuller, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Other speakers include Dr. Alva J. McClain and Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of the seminary, and Dr. Barton Payne, of Bob Jones University.

Rev. George Richardson is secretary of the Brethren Conference of California and for conference business should be addressed at Box 306, Bellflower, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 27.)

The Roanoke, Va., Clearbrook church, pastored by Rev. William Howard, held a watch night service with Bro. Mason Cooper as the speaker.

Bro. Thomas Inman, missionary candidate, preached at the Leesburg, Ind., church December 28 while Pastor Nathan Meyer was on vacation in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. A. R. Rideout, for many years a member of the Whittier, Calif., First church, died January 12.

Bro. Alvey Walter Landis, of the Dayton, Ohio, First church, died January 13.

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church, under the leadership of Pastor Glenn O'Neal, sponsored a youth retreat at Acorn Lodge January 16-18. Dr. Gerald Stanton and Rev. Bruce Button preached in the pastor's absence. The church will again be host to an extension class of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, with Rev. Henry Rempel, of the Los Angeles Second church, as the teacher.

The Meyersdale, Pa., Summit Mills church, pastored by Rev. Leslie Moore, is engaged in remodeling parts of the church building.

Mrs. Harold Painter, wife of the pastor at Modesto, Calif., La Loma church, underwent surgery on January 12.

At the Alexandria, Va., church an average of 128 people attended Sunday school, 118 morning worship, 76 evening worship, and 31 midweek prayer meeting during December 1952. Rev. Kenneth Teague is pastor of the church.

Miss Bertha Quaintance, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, celebrated her 80th birthday January 15. She regularly serves as secretary of the transportation committee of the church.

Dr. Harold Garner preached at the Yakima, Wash., church January 18. Rev. Russell Williams is pastor of the church.

The Wooster, Ohio, church gave its pastor, Rev. Kenneth Ashman, a unanimous call to serve his 7th year there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey J. Hartzler, of the Sterling, Ohio, church, will celebrate their 57th wedding anniversary on February 6. Children of the couple are Mrs. Russell Barnard, Mrs. Nelson Hall, Mrs. Vernon Caskey, Roscoe and Merle Hartzler.

Rev. Russell Humbert spoke recently at Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash., and Seattle Pacific College, Seattle. He has now preached his message on "The Virgin Birth"

Additions to Membership

Clayton, Ohio .....	2
Long Beach, Calif. (1st) .....	2
Los Angeles, Calif. (1st) .....	3
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	1

Dedication of Babies

Los Angeles, Calif. (1st) .....	3
---------------------------------	---

to more than 14,000 students in 50 Christian schools in 19 States.

Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church since 1914, died January 2.

Catherine McDonald, of the Clayton, Ohio, church, died recently, with funeral services January 14.

Dr. Herman Hoyt, Winona Lake, preached at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, Elkhart, Ind., January 18.

The Glendale, Calif., church held a farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. Archie Lynn January 11, at which time they were given a piece of luggage.

Rev. Lewis C. Hohenstein, of Waterloo, Iowa, underwent an emergency appendectomy January 8 and is now recuperating.

The Glendale, Calif., church has scheduled Dr. Harold Lindsell to preach there February 1 and 8.

Misses Florence Bickel, Grace Byron, and Estella Myers sailed from New York January 14 aboard the S. S. Bandama and are due to arrive on the west coast of Africa about February 4.

Miss Ruth Snyder, home from Africa on furlough, is now living at the missionary residence at Winona Lake and is enrolled in Grace Theological Seminary for the second semester of this school year.

Miss Johanna Nielsen, missionary in Argentina, is due to sail from Valparaiso, Chile, January 26 for a furlough. She will land at a California port.

Bro. Frank Poland, assistant to the secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council, underwent surgery January 19 and is recovering rapidly. He expects to be home long before this is read.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

LET'S GET ACQUAINTED

By Conard Sandy, Editor

Getting acquainted with people is for some individuals a pleasant experience, for others it is often a very trying ordeal, but for all it is a necessity.

Before a person can know and understand another person there must be some acquaintance with that person. The same is true concerning a movement, an organization, or a denominational church paper.

Because each year brings into the circle of readers of this paper—The much apostasy from the true faith and the revealed Word of God.

To fulfill this threefold purpose this paper is joined with the saints of God everywhere to “earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints” (Jude 3).

The Program Involved

The purpose determines the program followed in issuing the Brethren Missionary Herald each week of each year.

It is conservative. This paper stands for and presents the Gospel as Christ gave it and the apostles taught it. It follows a conservative course in the message it contains and the method in which this message is printed. There is no place in this magazine for “another gospel” which is no gospel at all, nor is there any desire on the part of the writers or producers to make it sensational just for the sake of being sensational. This magazine has a conservative message to share with the readers and it will endeavor to do it with the conservatism born of the Word of God.

It is consistent. It is the purpose of all who have anything to do with the production of this paper to always present a consistent message. There are many writers, but there is only one message; there are many readers, but there is only one Gospel offered to them through the pages of this denominational paper.

It is cooperative. The pages of this magazine are open to every recognized phase of the work of the denomination. In fact, there are 4 departmental editors and several organizational editors, all working together with the editor of the Brethren Missionary Herald to produce a magazine of which no member of the denomination can ever be ashamed. Once each month each part of the church's program is presented here. Therefore read it carefully each week!

The People Included

For any paper to be a success there must be 3 groups of people related to it in one way or another.

The writers. This magazine is not the thinking of one person, nor even of a few people. The writers, in the main, are members of the Brethren Church. They live in all parts of the world, especially in those places where the Brethren testimony has been established. These writers are preachers, professors in Christian schools, officials of Brethren organizations; and laymen in the local congregations. Above all, those who write have had a definite acquaintance with the Saviour and Lord of the church.

The readers. In many places the readers of this paper are to be found—on every continent and in most of the States in this Nation. The readers range in age from the very young to the very old, from the mature saints to the new babes in Christ Jesus, from the rich to the poor, and from the educated to the uneducated. These facts must always be kept in mind by the writers and a message must be presented in each number of the magazine to bring spiritual food, Christian courage, and sweet comfort to all these readers. The subscription list now numbers more than 7,400 names, which means the Herald is being read by 15,000 to 20,000 people each week.

The producers. This name is used to speak of those who take the results of the writers' efforts and put them in form for the readers. Three

Rev. Conard Sandy

Brethren Missionary Herald—many people who know little about the paper, it has been deemed wise and necessary to offer a few suggestions to aid in getting acquainted.

The Purpose Intended

The purpose of this paper is simply and clearly stated in its title. It is Brethren. It is a denominational paper without apology. It represents the congregations and mission stations in all parts of the world which are affiliated with the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches. It is the only official paper for these churches.

It is Missionary. It is the intention of all who are in any way connected with this paper that it shall be a missionary agent in the cause of the Lord Jesus Christ. One can readily see the truthfulness of this part of the name by noting the constant emphasis placed upon and reference to missionary work in the paper each week.

It is a Herald. This paper has just one message—the Gospel of the Saviour and Lord. Its purpose is to herald His Gospel just as widely as the Lord permits in these days of so people work together to “get out the Herald” each week. All copy is read first by the editor (writer of this article). Then the linotype operator, Bro. Jesse Deloe, sets it into type. (A picture of Brother Deloe can be seen on page 69, for he is also the editor of the laymen's page of the Herald.) From the hands of Brother Deloe the proof sheets go to the desk of the editorial secretary, Mrs. Wil-

Mrs. William Kolb

(Continued on Page 71)

DOORS OF SERVICE FOR BRETHREN WOMEN

By Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, President, National Women's Missionary Council

"Hello there! What's all the rush?"

"Oh, I didn't see you. Yes, I'm in a great big hurry. I'm on my way to Ellen's. We're packing mission boxes today, and if there's any time left we'll make some aprons, pillow cases, or tea towels for the missionary chest. I've just got to get something special for the noon covered-dish lunch—it's such a delightful time of fellowship about the tables. I wouldn't miss this day for anything."

"That sounds like sort of a Dorcas group. Who sponsors it?"

"Why the Brethren Church has an organization called the Women's Missionary Council—that's WMC—'Women Manifesting Christ.' It offers many ways of service for those who are willing."

"Yes, I've noticed how busy you Brethren ladies are. Just how does the council work, and why all the interest in serving the Lord?"

"Well, maybe we are busy. But then there are so many doors of service thrown open to us in our churches. It's like the Apostle Paul said: 'For a great and effectual door is opened unto me' (I Cor. 16:9). I sometimes wonder if our ladies appreciate all these open doors. Take, for instance, our WMC meeting—that's where I'm going today. There is no end to the possibilities. We are asked to get up before the group to present topics, Bible studies, missionary letters, and special numbers. Each year a new group is selected to serve as officers of the council. We study of our missionaries and the fields on which they serve. This is especially blessed to me for it helps me in my prayer life to be more definite and more expectant of answers from the Lord. Why, it was at one of these meetings that I first learned to pray in public."

"And that isn't all. In our meetings we join in the singing and we learn to lead the singing. If we play an instrument, we're called upon for special numbers; some ladies present readings and skits, others are good writers and have dedicated this talent to the Lord. Oh my, there's a place for each one of us in the Women's Missionary Council work."

"Do all the ladies of the church belong and participate?"

"Well, no they don't—but we wish they did. We really feel that they are missing a blessed opportunity by not sharing in the work. However, even other doors are open to us in our church. There are such things as personal work for the Lord . . ."

"What do you mean by that?"

"Oh, everyone can share in that. You know—going out and calling on the sick, visiting in the rest homes and hospitals, welcoming the visitors and new members, and, more important, winning souls to Christ by studying the Scriptures with them. It really is wonderful once you get started."

"It surely sounds wonderful the way you tell it."

"And, that's not all. Some of our ladies teach Bible school classes, child evangelism classes, 'Happy Hours,' and Brethren Youth Fellowship groups. Some are leaders of the girls in our SMM, others serve on church committees and as officers. Then too there are openings for service in both the district and the national organizations of our women's work. I could go on, for there seems to be no limit in our church."

Mrs. Ashman

"Yes, I can see that. It all sounds so challenging. Somehow I never felt quite so enthused about it as you seem to be. Yes, I've served on committees and things like that, but I can never say that I ever got a real joy out of doing it."

"I know just how you feel. I was that way too until I got a vision of something more than just serving on a committee. It was not until I really became enthused about the basic labor of all Christians that these other jobs took on new meaning and thrill. When I became interested in the lost souls of women and children in this town, then all my service for the church turned into service for the Lord—and it was different, believe me! Now I just love to teach boys and girls to win them to Christ. I'm not very good at it but I always have some help with me. Here, take one of these tracts—this is a good one, a new title that I secured at the church just last Sunday. And here's a special one for your little girl—she'll love the colored pages in 'The Wordless Book.' And I'll be praying for both of you."

"I guess I'm just a little foggy on the meaning of service. I thought you had to be a missionary lady to be in the Lord's work."

"Oh no, not at all. There are jobs, large or small, for every one of us. The doors are open; all we need do is enter. But, of course, you are right about the mission fields. Those are places for 'full-time service,' as we often call it. And our church encourages our ladies to answer the call of the Lord to these fields too. We already have many women on our 5 mission fields; many others are especially called as wives of pastors; others serve as secretaries for our various denominational boards. It's true, we don't always get to do just what we like best, but we do have avenues of service of some kind if we are willing to follow the leading of the Lord."

"Tell me, how can you do all these things and still take care of your home and family—that would wear me out for sure."

"Oh no it wouldn't; you just think so because you've never really gotten enthused about the Lord's work. I'll admit that some things just don't get done at home, but I've learned not to worry about it. After all, we're only living here for a little while—the Lord wants us to be busy for Him. Well, I just must be on my way—can't be late, you know."

"I guess I have taken a lot of your time. And, I'll admit, you've got something I've wanted for a long time. Guess it just isn't for me . . ."

"It can be—come along to meeting today. John is working, your children are at school, and I've got enough lunch for both of us. The ladies will be more than happy to

(Continued on Page 74)

OPPORTUNITIES FOR MEN IN THE BRETHREN CHURCH

By Jesse B. Deloe, Editor, Laymen's Page

I once was asked by a pastor friend to speak at his church. During an afternoon of visitation before the evening meeting, we called at the home of some folks who attended the church occasionally. The father of the family, however, had not as yet been persuaded that he should attend services.

When, during our conversation, he learned that I was to be the speaker at the evening service, he expressed surprise that a man who was not a minister was going to preach. It was such a novelty to him that his interest was aroused, and he attended that night, along with the entire family. Subsequently he came to the Lord.

For Laymen Only

With that illustration I want to point out the opportunities that exist for laymen in the church to serve the Lord in a way that can be accomplished by no one else. I recognize the fact that many laymen, unlearned perhaps in the Word of God, do hesitate to accept positions of responsibility in the local church, or on committees, or decline opportunities to teach a Sunday school class. And let me say here that I believe that a man has the right to decline these offers if he honestly believes that he is not capable. A man knows his own ability and his relationship to the Lord, and I sincerely believe that much of the Lord's work is being done by "willing incompetents." The danger, of course, is that a person may refuse service to the church because of selfish reasons. Then, it can be readily seen, the Lord has lost first place in that person's heart and life.

Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business. But we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word (Acts 6:3-4).

In apostolic days the chores of the church became a great burden to the men who were doing the preaching of the Word. In order to alleviate this condition men were chosen and ordained to do the things in the work of the Lord that would relieve the preachers and give them more time to spend with the Lord in meditation, prayer, and study that they might give themselves more fully to the spiritual work to which they were called.

Visitation Important

Laymen today are still being set aside to this work, yet it is not, nor should not, be confined only to those thus chosen. The activities of the church present opportunities for laymen that should be grasped by all who desire to serve. Not the least in importance, I think, is that of visitation. When I, a layman, call on John Smith, or Joe Black, also laymen—men who are being prayed for and witnessed to by folks in the church—

Jesse B. Deloe

I know that my reception is a little different from that accorded the pastor. I know, and you know, of men who have deliberately fled when a minister called. I know from experience that a man will talk freely to a layman about things he would not mention to a minister, and often the very things talked about are used to direct the conversation to the things of the Lord. Jesus Christ has been presented to many a man through the efforts of laymen who love the Lord and who long to see others love Him.

No Two Cases Alike

I must emphasize the fact, however, that no two cases are alike, and I am merely pointing out that opportunities for witnessing in some cases can be utilized only by a layman—just as some cases need the care and tact that can be supplied only by the minister.

Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God (II Cor. 5:20).

A layman reaches men, if he wants to, whose only contact with Jesus Christ is through the profane use of His name. Opportunities to witness to such men occur every day in the work of the average layman. I wonder how many of us ever think of the marvelous opportunity we have of enlisting a praying group like the Brethren Church in our witnessing. The man at the next machine or desk can be made the object of much intercessory prayer if, after you have lived before him a Christlike life and have presented the claims of Christ to him, you can further claim him for God by enlisting your local group as prayer warriors. What group of Brethren believers would turn down such opportunities for besieging the throne of grace for souls? Such a burden of prayer would then go up for him that we could in faith look for his salvation.

Opportunities to Learn

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needed not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth (II Tim. 2:15).

Another distinct opportunity that laymen have in the Brethren Church is that of hearing Bible preaching. In these last days, when so many different gospels are being preached, and when Satan has all his battalions busily engaged in trying to destroy the testimony of the only true Gospel, we can be sure that the men in our pulpits are proclaiming the truth. We who are privileged to sit at the feet of the men who pastor the congregations of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, should realize that the opportunities of learning the truth of the grace of God are greater than those offered by the apostate churches of the world today.

Because of these opportunities that we laymen have to serve, witness, and study, let us resolve to be always in that blessed, happy relationship with our dear Saviour so that if and when opportunities for service come to us we can always be ready and say with Paul, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

1953—NOW—TOMORROW MAY BE TOO LATE!

By Rev. Harold H. Etling, Chairman, Brethren National Sunday School Board

Almost 1 month of this new year is gone, and yet it is still a new year. In many of our Brethren Sunday schools with the beginning of this new year there have come new officers, new teachers, and, we trust, many new scholars.

Your National Sunday School Board feels a real responsibility toward every Sunday school and every teacher, officer, and pupil. We feel with the Apostle Paul that we are "debtors." We must inspire, encourage, and help every Sunday school of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches to make the year 1953 a banner year.

Attendance Records

January brings another year of opportunity for our Sunday schools to surpass their own records of attendance. The harvest is ripe! Now is the time to make your plans for an increased enrollment and attendance in this year. It does not come easy. It will take much in the matter of prayer. There should be special Sunday school cabinet prayer sessions.

Then it will mean much time and effort in planning for the increased attendance. Remember, every general maps out his plan of attack before he sends his soldiers out to battle. So every Sunday school cabinet ought to map out its plan of attack in the winning of more boys and girls and men and women.

After the planning comes the action, and we Brethren need to put some feet into our prayers. Knee action works best when it is moving. Praying needs to be supplemented with our own earnest effort. Every Sunday school teacher and worker ought to be enlisted in a program of going out to get new scholars.

Your National Sunday School Board stands ready in every area of the United States to give you personal help in enthusing your workers, teachers, and pupils to go out this year to break the records. All you need to do is call upon us. The time to begin to improve, if your Sunday school is to succeed in 1953, is NOW. Remember, tomorrow may be too late!

January brings another year and a new opportunity to begin a teacher training program in your church. The secret of every successful Sunday school is found in a staff of well-trained, efficient Bible teachers. There are no short-cuts. The answer is found only in a teacher training class in your local church. Remember, the teacher of God's Word has an opportunity greater than any other person in all the world. The teacher of God's Word teaches for today and eternity. Those we teach will in turn be teaching others within a few months or years at the most, so that the ultimate harvest is incalculable.

Your National Sunday School Board stands ready to offer materials and helps to get a teacher training class started in your local church.

Rev. H. H. Etling

Brethren, we dare not fail. We must have a trained group of men and women as our teachers. They will only be trained as we provide the classes for them. Begin now, or if you do not know how to begin, call upon your National Sunday School Board for information and help in getting your class started NOW. Remember, tomorrow may be too late!

Vacation Schools

January is the month of beginning. This ought to say to every Sunday school, we must have a daily vacation Bible school in our church this year and now is the time to plan for it. Once again your National Sunday school Board offers its help. We will be happy to suggest to you in the pages of the Herald, and through our own board members, the materials you will need to have a successful school. Also we will give suggestions that may aid you in making your school more efficient than ever before. Thousands of boys and girls hear of the Lord Jesus through vacation Bible schools that will never know Christ in any other manner. Why don't you take advantage now to plan for the best Bible school this summer you have ever known? Our board has made a special study of this matter and we stand ready to assist you.

Sunday School Convention

January 1953 is the month of beginning. Your National Sunday School Board is happy to announce now the first Brethren Sunday school convention on a national scale ever held. This convention will meet, beginning the Sunday evening preceding our next national conference at Winona Lake, Ind. The executive committee of national conference has given the green light to the plan, and your Sunday school board is already at work laying the foundation for a great Sunday school convention.

Your church and Bible school ought to include in its program for this year the matter of urging and even of helping your Sunday school superintendents, officers, and teachers to be at this first convention. Full details will be announced as we come nearer the day of the convention, but now is the hour to begin planning to attend, and to get others to attend. The convention will include workshops for teachers and officers of every department and age group. It will be a spiritual feast, and a real opportunity to learn how to do the job that God has given us to do. Include the first national Sunday school convention in your vacation program for 1953.

January is the month of beginning. Does your local Sunday school need a vitamin tablet? Do you need help? Your National Sunday School Board would welcome the opportunity of serving you and your church. Simply write to us about your needs.

You win the one next to you,
And I'll win the one next to me,
In all kinds of weather, we'll all work together,
And see what can be done.

If you win the one next to you,
And I win the one next to me,
In no time at all, we'll have them all;
So win them, win them, one by one.

YOUTH AND THE BRETHREN CHURCH

By Rev. Ralph Colburn, National Youth Director

It has often been said that a church is judged by its young people. And that is true! If you want to evaluate a strange church, one of the first things you should look for is a sizeable, well-trained, active group of young people. Lack of such a group might mean a dying church.

But how do young people judge a church? Of course, by the other young people there and by the activities of that church. At first young people are rarely concerned with the doctrine or message of a church, as important as they are. At first they consider only the variety of activities that church offers.

Program for Youth

I am happy to be a part of a denomination that offers a great deal of special attention to its youth, and provides and encourages a variety of activities for them. And most of our individual churches follow through with an active youth program.

There are, for instance, our district and national camps. I have had the opportunity to investigate and visit a lot of denominational and interdenominational camps, and believe me, very few of them will match our camps for activities, interest, and spiritual results. Many of them do not begin to compare with ours.

To maintain the enthusiasm, acquaintances, and interests created by camp, almost all our districts have periodic youth rallies and socials for the young people. These are spiritually important and socially wholesome.

Then in our local churches we have a variety of youth organizations. At least half our churches have some type of active boys' club now, reaching and keeping boys of the difficult age—9 to 14 years. Many churches have older divisions for their clubs, too, that are very popular and effective.

Almost all our churches have one or more girls' groups, organized under the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha. Some churches have 3—junior, intermediate, and senior groups.

Then there are the Brethren Youth Fellowships, meeting usually on Sunday nights, and embracing a wide variety of ages. These offer training, fellowship, social activities, and other advantages for our youth. In addition to the Sunday night meetings many BYF's sponsor regular fun nights, singspirations, and even hobby nights.

Challenge for Youth

But young people need a challenge; and the youth of the Brethren Church are constantly exposed to challenges. A growing denomination, with a rapidly expanding home and foreign mission program, offers many branches of interest, aid, and service.

Many large denominations today are trying all sorts of schemes to enlist young people to train for the ministry. But we almost need to try some schemes to discourage them! Our fear is not that of having a shortage, but of having a surplus of fine, well-trained young people who are presenting themselves for the pastorates and mission fields of our denomination. At the present time we have more than 250 young people in Christian colleges, Bible institutes, and seminaries, most of whom are preparing for definite Christian service, and who are desirous of serving Christ in the Brethren Church. And in the past few years we have been gaining more than we have been losing to other denominations and interdenominational work.

Rev. Ralph Colburn

Opportunities for Youth

In addition to the more traditional opportunities for pastors and missionaries, there have been increasing opportunities in our church for evangelists and teachers and other Christian workers. There is still much room for invasion of other fields of Christian work. For instance, we wish more of our churches would consider employing a full-time Sunday school and youth worker—a field in which there are great possibilities. But we are mighty thankful for the expanding vision of our denomination that has been affording increased opportunities to our youth. And if the Lord permits, we feel confident that other specialized fields will open to us also.

Brethren youth have been responding to the challenges and opportunities presented. And I trust that the rest of us will keep pace with them in our faith, our vision, and our prayers. God has great things for us together—let us not fail Him.

LET'S GET ACQUAINTED

(Continued From Page 67)

liam (Ethel) Kolb, who reads and marks corrections needed on all proof sheets. (See picture of Mrs. Kolb in connection with this article.) From the proof sheets Brother Deloe works in making corrections as noted by Mrs. Kolb. When the corrections are all made by these 2 working together in close harmony, the final proof sheets of the completed pages are given to the editor and he again reads everything that appears in each number of the magazine. Then, and then only, the paper is ready for the presses.

Now that we are better acquainted than we were before this page was written and read, we are in a better position to pray for each other. This number of the Herald will show how the entire work of the denomination has one meeting place in its official paper, for on these pages are presented 8 phases of the denomination's work.

MOODY GRADUATES 71 SENIORS

Diplomas were given to 71 graduates at the Moody Bible Institute January 15. Of these young people 27 plan to be foreign missionaries, 12 expect to enter home mission fields, and 20 will enter other forms of Christian work.

THE BRETHREN MINISTRY

By Rev. Paul E. Dick, President, National Fellowship of Brethren Ministers

A few days ago I heard a small boy say: "The most wonderful thing in all the world is to be a Christian." To this might be added: "It is also wonderful to be called to preach the Word of God."

To the average person the ministry does not have the glamour, the color, nor the appeal of many other fields of service. It is just as well, for already we have too many quacks who are clattering for a hearing, who have nothing to say because they have never been called by the Lord to minister the Word. A person called into the ministry with a heavenly calling stands in the most solemn spot in all the world.

Throughout the Word of God we find records of the Lord seeking out men to do His witnessing and His work. He sought out Abraham, David, Paul, and Timothy, to name but a few. Some of the men God sought to serve Him tried to ignore or excuse themselves from this calling, such as Moses and Jonah. Today God goes about seeking whom He will to serve Him in the ministry of reconciliation. The ministry is not to be shunned but rather it is to be considered a God-given privilege.

Call to the Ministry

It has been said, "God's callings are God's enablings," and how true. The express purpose for which God calls a person into the ministry is to preach the Word. Paul charged Timothy to preach the message and to stay at it in season and out of season, for the time would come when some would not listen to wholesome teaching. Paul also told Timothy "to suffer hardship, and do your work as a herald of the gospel of good news, and so fill your ministry to the brim."

Oh how the Devil often suggests to us to compromise on the message—the message that tells us to reprove when it is necessary; to rebuke when it is necessary; to exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine. To withhold any portion of God's Word in our ministry because of possible repercussions is to fail in our calling and ordination vows. On the other hand, when we faithfully proclaim the whole Word, we have the promise of the blessing of God upon our ministry.

I am so glad that a call to the ministry can be fully carried out in the Brethren Church, where no restrictions or bans are placed upon any portion of the Word of God. God's Word can be fully preached without fear of incurring the wrath and displeasure of denominational leaders or fellow laborers.

Challenge of the Ministry

Never has there been more need for laborers than now. The challenges are tremendous. Our foreign mission fields are calling for more help. Home mission fields are becoming more numerous each month. Christian leaders in other fields are needed. This world knows too little of God-fearing men with a challenge in their heart—a challenge that will send them forth into the fields of the world that are already "white unto harvest" to reap many trophies of God's marvelous grace.

Rev. Paul Dick

As we meet this challenge we can do as the bride did in the Song of Solomon—"lean upon her beloved." We can also say with Jeremiah: "Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, saith the Lord" (1:8). So it was with Paul: "Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city" (Acts 18:9-10).

Compensation of the Ministry

If some of us thought we were going to get rich by coming into the Brethren ministry we were of all men most miserably fooled. Many of our ministers at the present hour could command better salaries if they were in other occupations, and some have given up far better paying jobs in the matter of dollars than what the ministry will ever afford. But wait a minute, have we given more than we'll ever get through serving the Lord? We recall the words of Pharaoh's daughter speaking to the mother of Moses, "Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages" (Ex. 2:9). As far as the wealth of this world is concerned, we are far ahead when we have the promise: "But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19). One promise from the owner of the cattle on a thousand hills is far greater than the wealth of this universe. We labor joyously for a sure paymaster.

Take a little trip with me as I make my rounds in the ministry and see whether it pays. A visit to the hospital to see a dying man, with the result that he is born again through your personal work, and later the Lord raises him to health. We come down the corridor of the same hospital and a lady in the hall says, "Your radio ministry is a blessing to my heart every Sunday morning." On the next floor one of the head nurses says, "Mr. Dick, why is it that the patients here in the hospital from your church seem to be different?" What a joy to be able to say that this is the result of our teaching the whole Word of God to our people.

Go with me now to the countryside and a little house on the side of the hill. We enter and find a very fine Christian lady, a member of our church. A recent operation has confined her that she will never be able to attend church again. She is sitting in the middle of the room with a table before her and on the table is a Bible and several commentaries. She is studying the Word. After a few minutes of fellowship she says, "Mr. Dick, your radio broadcast is my Sunday church service and the only church I'll ever be able to attend."

Here is a young man who is saved as a result of personal work, and as he grows in grace he feels called into the ministry. Here is a young mother who is led from the darkness

(Continued on Page 79)

THE IMPORTANCE OF GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY TO THE BRETHREN CHURCH

By Dr. Alva J. McClain, President, Grace Theological Seminary

In phrasing my subject as above I have in mind the Brethren Church as represented by the congregations and organized work of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches. In this group there is embodied most completely the historic faith and polity of the "Brethren." Our congregations are wholly free from any ecclesiastical authority external to them, yet they are united in those important spiritual bonds which are inseparable from a common faith and mission. In relation to this Brethren movement Grace Theological Seminary holds a place of high importance.

Its Historical Importance

It was in 1939 that a faction representing Ashland College captured the general conference by an unfair (and probably illegal) parliamentary maneuver, leaving at least one-half of our Brethren churches without any effective voice in denominational affairs. The crucial nature of this situation appears more clearly in the light of the fact that these congregations were the ones which had been mainly responsible for holding the denomination to its historic faith and also for the inauguration and support of its missionary program.

During this trying experience, as we can see now, it was providential that Grace Theological Seminary had already been organized and launched 2 years earlier in 1937 and was a successful school when the crisis of division arrived. Actually, of course, the school had been started on the Ashland College campus in 1930; and from that year until 1940, when the disenfranchised congregations formed the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, the school had served as a center of true Brethren faith and fellowship.

Only those who lived through the critical years of 1930-40 and shared in the experiences of suffering and decision, can possibly appreciate how much Grace Seminary meant to our churches, our ministers, and our missionaries. Even those who sought to injure our cause recognized the importance of the school by making it the chief object of their attack, and also by the epithet "Grace-ite," which they rather contemptuously applied to our churches. This is not to overlook other factors of high historical importance, such as the Foreign Missionary Society; but Grace Seminary in a peculiar sense became the outstanding symbol of everything else worth while in the struggle and its consummation.

Its Theological Importance

Generally speaking, most of the Protestant denominations in this country are today suffering from 2 serious evils: first, there is a sharp theological cleavage which is variously described as "liberal-conservative" and "modernist-fundamentalist"; and second, the modernist party is largely in control. Still further it can be said that the effects of this situation have been felt to some extent by every religious group in America. Sooner or later churches and leaders have had to decide where they would stand in the battle. And it has become increasingly clear that there is no such thing as neutrality. The advocates of "peace" who declared they would have no part in the controversy, it can now be said with assurance, by their very attitude of "neutrality" had already moved into the camp of the unbelievers, although sometimes unwittingly. But the modernist leaders have always understood that those who were not against them could be counted for them.

Dr. McClain

In the face of this situation, therefore, it is with a distinct sense of satisfaction, and also of humble gratitude, that we can affirm regarding our group of Brethren churches, there is no present indication of any such theological cleavage. We have no pastor, no missionary, no denominational official who has any recognizable leaning toward modern religious liberalism or toward its more recent rival which bears the misnomer of "Neo-orthodoxy." Furthermore, we are in general agreement even in the difficult field of eschatology. If there is a minister affiliated with the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches who is not an enthusiastic premillennialist, I am not aware of it.

Certainly, this happy condition has been brought about by various causes, but it is also just as certain that the ministry of Grace Theological Seminary has been one of the most potent of these causes. For nearly a quarter of a century (1930-53) this school, with its present large and representative controlling board, has stood without wavering for a verbally inspired Bible and its great truths of Christian revelation, declining to make any concessions whatever to the liberal tendencies of the hour.

Its Practical Importance

Competent observers have more than once pointed out that no religious group in known history has ever been able to perpetuate itself without making some adequate provision for the training of its own leaders. This fact is becoming more apparent than ever in view of the present moral and religious situation. Orthodox Christian churches of various affiliations are recognizing the need for not only higher education but also secondary schools for the training of their future leadership.

Grace Theological Seminary has already in the brief period of its existence supplied training for a very large proportion of our Brethren ministers, missionaries, and teachers. And its remarkable growth as a school constitutes the surest guaran-

(Continued on Page 74)

BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS

THE FOUNDATION OF BRETHREN GROWTH AND TESTIMONY

By Rev. Luther L. Grubb, Secretary, Brethren Home Missions Council

It Has Been True in the Past!

Over 65 of our present Brethren churches were either started or assisted by Brethren home missions. These churches help support foreign missions, Grace Seminary, publications, and home missions, as well as other auxiliary Brethren organizations. These churches are providing students for Grace Seminary and other Christian schools.

These churches are providing missionaries for the foreign fields of the world. These churches are providing pastors and home missionaries in the United States. These churches are providing laymen that are powerful testimonies for Christ in every walk of life. These churches are reaping the harvest of souls in the areas where they are located.

Rev. L. L. Grubb

It Must Be True in the Future!

Four million new babies will be born in 1953 at the present rate!

How many of these 4,000,000 will be enrolled in cradle rolls of Brethren Sunday schools? Forty-two million is the anticipated gain in population for the United States from 1950 to 1975. How many of these 42,000,000 will we reach for Christ and the Brethren Church in the next 25 years?

Seventy million people in the United States today are without any church affiliation! How many of these 70,000,000 will the Brethren Church reach? Nine new churches are needed every day of every year in the next 25 years to provide 1 for every 500 population increase! How many of the 9 new churches needed each day will the Brethren Church build?

DOORS OF SERVICE . . .

(Continued From Page 68)

have you join us, and there certainly is plenty of work to do. Come along!

"Well, I guess I could. I surely would like to get some of the thrill in serving the Lord you seem to have. Yes, I'll go with you!"

That afternoon, after lunch was over, the boxes packed, and the prayer circle completed, a much-enlightened lady began to feel the thrill of serving the Lord for the love of it and not out of duty alone. Several meetings later she began to feel the spiritual need of her life, and she, with her family, soon accepted the pastor's invitation to take Christ as Lord and Saviour and become active members of the church.

It wasn't long until she discovered that there were great and effectual doors opened unto her. She discovered she could use her hands in preparing and packing much-needed mission boxes. She could use her voice in singing specials and in the church choir. She could use her talents to speak, read, and conduct meetings. In due time she was called upon to act as a committee chairman, then an officer, and then a teacher in the Bible school. She learned early the thrill of winning souls to Christ, and this gave impetus and meaning to all her work in the local church. The door of devotion was entered eagerly. Effective Bible study increased her knowledge of the Word of God.

And one glad day, when a missionary reached into the "missionary chest" and chose one of her pieces of handiwork to take along to Argentina, her heart was thrilled again and anew. It was then that she determined to pray daily for every missionary on every field of her church. The doors were great and effectual and she was anxiously entering therein. All because one woman of the Brethren Church appreciated the many doors of service open to her and, entering in herself, invited another to come along.

GIDEONS TO MEET IN SEATTLE

The 54th annual convention of Gideons International is scheduled for Seattle, Wash., July 22-27, the Lord willing. Arrangements are being made to take delegates to the convention in special cars over several railroad systems.

The Gideons are laymen banded together for the express purpose of distributing the Word of God everywhere possible. Mr. D. J. DePree, of Zeeland, Mich., is president of Gideons International.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GRACE . . .

(Continued From Page 73)

tee that our Brethren churches and missions will not lack an educated leadership in the future.

Its Denominational Importance

Our group of Brethren churches have always been known favorably for our recognition and fellowship with other believing churches and schools regardless of denominational affiliation. Some of our most successful ministers have received their training in such schools. But all will agree that non-Brethren schools, by the very nature of the case, cannot provide education in our distinctive Brethren doctrines and practices. Neither can such schools be expected to emphasize properly our Brethren interests, our Brethren missions, and our Brethren programs, and keep them before the eyes of Brethren students. This is something possible only at a school which is supported, controlled, and manned by those who are themselves Brethren in faith. Since Grace Seminary is the only Brethren institution of higher education of this character, it occupies a place of unique importance in relation to the work of the denomination.

10 BLESSINGS FROM FOREIGN MISSIONS FOR ALL OF US

By Dr. Russell D. Barnard, General Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church

Blessing No. 1—Hallowed History. The accompanying article, "Recollections of Allen Bennett," prepared at my request by Dr. Vansteenbergh, of the Belgian Gospel Mission, reminds us not only of Allen Bennett but of the many missionaries who have given their lives and whose bodies are planted in foreign soil. Others crowded in these sacred memories of the Brethren Church are Miss Mae Snyder, Mrs. Mary Rollier, James Gribble, Dr. Florence Gribble, Lester Kennedy, Miss Edna Patterson, Joseph Foster, and Clarence L. Sickel.

Blessing No. 2—Expanded Horizons. Ours is not a little world when our vital interests include those 87

Dr. Barnard

dear ones in Christ serving in 5 fields on 4 continents.

Blessing No. 3—Impelling Prayer Interest. In the Brethren Church prayer for foreign missions comes almost in the same breath with thanking God for daily food.

Blessing No. 4—Christ-Honoring Ministry. Whether we are among "those who go" or "those who send them," we are still a part of a God-given, Christ-commanded, Spirit-blessed ministry. Those on the battle line and those supplying the equipment are both needed.

Blessing No. 5—Christian Dynamic. A right attitude toward getting the Gospel out will do much in solving church problems at home. God pours so much of His power through the pipes of foreign missions.

Blessing No. 6—Life Challenge. Who in childhood has not said, "I want to be a foreign missionary"? Many of those serving today are those who made such decisions in childhood.

Blessing No. 7—Rapidly Growing

Church. There are about 20,000 faithful believers in our various fields. We are a part of the Brethren Church in Africa, Argentina, Baja California, Brazil, France, and Hawaii, as well as in the United States.

Blessing No. 8—A Life of Faith. Who walks by faith more than the foreign missionary? The story of his work, in letter and in printed page, encourages and inspires us to a life of faith.

Blessing No. 9—Unselfish Love. "Me and my wife, my son John and his wife—we four and no more" has no place in foreign missionary thinking. All become precious in our sight because they are precious in His sight.

Blessing No. 10—Compelling Example. I have known no people whose examples of unselfish service do more to bring forth like service in us than do foreign missionaries.

BLESS YOURSELF IN BLESSING FOREIGN MISSIONS.

MY RECOLLECTIONS OF ALLEN BENNETT

By Dr. O. Vansteenbergh

Among the many people of God whom it has been my privilege to meet in the course of 30 years in the service of the Lord in Belgium, none stands out with a sweeter fragrance than Allen Lee Bennett of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church. He came to Belgium to learn French and at once endeared himself to all who knew him. His stay was a long one because his linguistic abilities were meager, as human estimation goes. It is quite possible that the accident which he had suffered had something to do with this difficulty—a railroad accident in California had mauled his body. There were very few bones in his body that were not broken; only his spirit was left intact and brought him through the weary months of hospitalization. I have heard him tell this story many a time and always he concluded it by saying, "As the Lord healed me miraculously, I felt that I belonged to Him in a special way and thus it was a mere logical conclusion for me to offer myself for Christian service and obey the call to the mission field."

Allen was no linguist. I often tried to correct his French, but the most I got from him in return was a slight improvement in his pronunciation, and apparently this improvement did not stick but left him very soon. Allen had, however, a smile which I have never seen on the face of any other man. It was not difficult to read in it the constraining love of the Lord Jesus Christ. It was this smile which endeared him to all who knew him and in a very short time it seemed to us that Allen belonged to the Belgian Gospel Mission.

At last the time came when Allen left for the mission field. Then a few weeks later the news came of his passing. He finished his earthly pilgrimage a day or two out of Bangui. Dr. Florence Gribble, writing about this, said that on the day after his burial, as she passed by the grave, she saw the 2 boys who had been with Allen kneeling upon his grave weeping. He had led them to the Lord because he had shown them in his very countenance that Christ was a glorious reality and was able to communicate to him that which forcibly reminded other men of God. Allen's career was not a long one, but he ran the course set out for him by the Master of the harvest until the voice, "Well done," came to him. I have Allen's picture in my office and, in these more than 25 years, looking into his face has been an inspiration to my own soul. Allen has taught me the lesson to do for the Lord the little things that He has prepared for us and to give to the doing of these such a quality as will leave a lasting impression on those to whom we minister. "He, being dead, yet speaketh!"

Allen Bennett

THE REVISED STANDARD VERSION

By Rev. Kenneth Ashman, Wooster, Ohio

(This message was presented on "Your Morning Devotions," Radio Wooster, Sunday, December 14—Universal Bible Sunday.—Editor.)

For the past several centuries one version of the Bible stood out above all others. It is the commonly used and accepted King James Version—the K. J. V. In recent years, however, a whole flood of new versions has come upon us, the latest of which is the much-acclaimed Revised Standard Version—the R. S. V.—produced through the cooperative efforts of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America and Thomas Nelson & Sons, the publishers. The New Testament translation was completed and printed in 1946. The work on the Old Testament was completed in 1952. The whole Bible, as revised, was presented to the public September 30, 1952. It has been acclaimed as "the greatest Bible news in 341 years."

Never before in history did a piece of printed matter have so much publicity afforded it before its appearance, nor was the reported $850,000 spent on advertising a losing venture. Already the first edition of over a million copies has been sold, and many people, it is reported, are waiting for their copies of the new version. This big boom in Bible buying is a healthy thing. The only question in the minds of conservative scholars is: "What effect will this new version have upon the thinking and the convictions of its readers?" The answer to this question is reserved for the generations ahead. Not until men have used it extensively, if they do, for a period of years will it become apparent just what it may have done to the religious thinking of the people of the world. It has already been predicted, and we agree, that this new version will be widely read for a season. Eventually, however, it will be relegated to the reference shelf with numerous other versions. The people, that is those who read their Bibles consistently and not by spurts under pressure, will return to the time-honored and God-honored King James Version. . . .

The Revised Standard Version

Now let's see what this new version is all about. What is new about it? Why has it had such a buildup? What is behind the claims advanced by the committee of revision? What has prompted the violent reactions that have come as a result of its publication? Generally, there have been three attitudes manifest toward the new version.

(1) The Liberals, and by these we mean the modern scholars who feel at liberty to accept or reject any or all portions of the Bible as being the Word of God, have put their stamp of approval on the R. S. V. In fact, most of them did so before they had even seen copies of the work, before ever reading and comparing its contents with other versions. To say the least, this attitude was very unscholarly. If it is an indication of the general procedure in the production of the R. S. V., then we have good grounds for doubting the value of the whole matter. However, in all fairness, we must conclude that the 32-man committee who worked on the R. S. V. surely must have been more scholarly than their ardent supporters who accepted their labors hook, line, and sinker before even seeing the work in print.

Rev. Kenneth Ashman

(2) The extreme Fundamentalists, who have gone to all lengths to show their disregard for, and utter lack of trust in the new version. Some of these have gone so far as to burn copies thereof publicly. Surely such must have been an unwise deed, regardless of the merits or demerits of the new version. It is reported that one church group in Florida described the R. S. V. as "an attempt of the Devil to discredit the eternal Word of God." Others have called the R. S. V. "a blasphemous Bible."

It is to be remembered that Bible revisions, with their authors, have been the butt of criticism ever since Scripture was written. Wycliffe, one of the early scholars who made the English Bible a reality, and from whose translation many of our English Bibles of today are copies, was declared to have been "moved by Satan" when he translated the Scriptures from the Latin to the English. They said of him, "He has even made the Bible available to women." The Pope, 40 years after Wycliffe's death, was so incensed with his so-called unholy deed that he ordered Wycliffe's bones exhumed and burned.

Now any intelligent Bible student of today will know that Wycliffe, Tyndale, and a host of other scholars who have given us translations and revisions have done a very worthy service to the Christian and the church. We must be careful, lest in our eagerness to hold on to what we have, we do not unjustly accuse those who may be used of the Lord.

(3) The Conservatives, both liberal and fundamental, are those people who have tried to make a sensible appraisal of the R. S. V. to discover its merits and demerits, its dangers, and its points of recommendation. In our file are many articles, much material, and extended studies on the matter. We have gleaned the source material for this message from scholars on both sides of the controversy. The only claim we make to originality is the manner in which the information is being presented. Your speaker is a conservative Bible student. I do not agree with the tendencies of the liberals. Therefore, it is to be expected that a critical view of any tampering with the Bible text should be taken. We neither give blind approval to the R. S. V., nor do we lend ourself to biased disapproval.

Definitions

It would seem imperative that we determine some meanings before trying to properly appraise the R. S. V.

(1) A version is a translation from one language to another. In this study it means the transporting of actual words from the original language of the Scriptures into equivalent English words. In this sense, a "version" might also be called a "translation."

(2) A revision is the working over of a version, changing words and phrases to make them more like the original from whence they came. Revisions are prompted when there seems to be additional light on such things as the original text, the usage of words, and related supporting evidence, such as archeology, the finding of older manuscripts, and the increased skill in actual translating.

(3) The King James Version is that version presented in 1611 by 47 conservative scholars of that day, under the instruction of the then ruling monarch of the British Empire. It was primarily based upon the earlier versions such as the Geneva Bible, the Great Bible, the Coverdale Bible, Tyndale's translation, and Wycliffe's version. All of these, in turn, were from the Vulgate, or Latin version of the 4th century.

(4) The English Standard Version of 1881, and its American contemporary, the American Standard Version of 1901, were revisions of the King James Version in the light of older manuscripts, recent archeological discoveries, and increased scholarly ability. In our estimation these versions made clear any doubtful passages of the K. J. V. No new translation seemed to be warranted in the light of these scholarly endeavors.

(5) The Revised Standard Version, the revision and translation so-called, recently published, purports to be a true-to-the-original revision of the King James Version. In this work, wordings have been changed, correcting the Elizabethan English phrasing into modern language. Also numerous textual changes have been made. In the main, criticisms of the new work have been leveled against the textual changes because they obviously distort accepted Biblical doctrines.

(6) Inspiration means that the original manuscripts were, in Hebrew, Greek, and some minor languages, exactly what God wanted them to be. The actual words were God's (verbal inspiration). "Holy men of old spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." "All scripture is given by inspiration of God." One must remember that there is no claim made for the inspiration of any particular version. All versions are translations of copies of the original manuscripts. There has always been the possibility of miscopyings, lost portions, mistranslations, and misusage. It should be the quest of each Bible scholar to find that rendering which is the nearest to the wording of the originals. In this respect, all versions may have some merit and may shed some light upon the study. . . .

It needs to be remembered, however, that the same Holy Spirit who inspired the originals also brings to mind the right translations to yielded scholars. It is thus apparent that the attitude of the translators, and their degree of consecration to the indwelling Holy Spirit, is a great factor in the determination of the value of their labors.

Merits of the R. S. V.

It is to be admitted that the R. S. V. has some merits.

(1) It has stimulated widespread interest in the Scriptures. Perhaps more attention has been focused on the Word of God in recent months than in any one similar period of time heretofore. Also more people are Bible-conscious. They are beginning to read the Book, to see just what is within the covers of this much-discussed volume. . . .

(2) It is true that there have been many changes in word usage since the 16th century, when the K. J. V. appeared. We are told that there are approximately 300 word changes in the R. S. V. In the main, these have been acceptable and helpful. An example of one such change would be the description applied to the wives of Solomon. In the K. J. V. they are described as "outlandish." Now they may well have been that kind of women. However, the R. S. V. more accurately uses the word "foreign." They were foreign women who turned the heart of Solomon away from the true God.

(3) In several instances, according to reliable reports, they have added words that appeared in the accepted early manuscripts but which were missed in the K. J. V., either through errors in copying, or mistakes in the translations. Insofar as these additions are warranted by the originals, they must be accepted as a good thing. This is a point for the manuscript authorities to determine.

(4) The publishers of the R. S. V. claim that its language, that of up-to-date English, will be a boon to Bible reading and understanding. They argue that the older English translation was hard to read and hard to understand. The more simplified reading will be a great help, so they contend. We have serious doubts as to the merit of the claim. We feel that something is lost when the traditional language of the earlier English versions is sacrificed. Putting the Bible into modern speech may relegate it to the position of "just another book" among many books. . . .

It doesn't take an intellectual giant to understand that the merits claimed for the R. S. V. are rather superficial. The revision committee has boldly claimed that they had no purpose in mind of changing the meaning of the text, or of reading into the new version their own liberal theology. Since this is their avowed purpose, it would seem that they went to a great deal of expenditure of both time and funds to correct a few words and phrases. We are convinced that there is no portion of the K. J. V. but that could be understood by any intelligent searcher after the truth of God's Word. That their labors of correction are not lasting is evidenced by the report that already some 80 changes have been made in the New Testament—revisions of the work of the revisers, a work only 6 years old.

Demerits of the R. S. V.

That there are serious faults in this newer version is agreed by open-minded Bible students. Here are some of them. (There are a multitude more.)

(1) The translators (revision committee) are liberals. These 32 scholars stated, in the words of Doctor Bowie, as he made known what the committee had in mind, that they were intent upon making known

"actually what the writers meant for us to understand." In other words, they were not so much concerned about being genuine translators as they were anxious to be interpreters. Versions are for the purpose of translating the exact words of the original manuscripts. Revisions are for the purpose of ascertaining the accuracy of the versions. These scholars were more concerned in getting across meanings, not words. Theirs could almost be termed a "thought revision," not a "verbal revision." Now it obviously must be concluded that their liberal theological tendencies would appear in their labors, as indeed they have. Here are some examples:

(a) In Revelation 22:20 the K. J. V. says, "Surely I come quickly." The R. S. V. changes this to read, "Surely I am coming soon." Now these statements are not the same. The suddenness, the unexpectedness, the surprise of His coming are revealed in the word "quickly." But the element of time is involved in the phrase "coming soon." The former properly relates the truth about the blessed second coming. The latter would tend to pour water on the wheel of the scoffer when he says: "Where is the promise of his coming? . . . all things continue as from the beginning."

(b) In Micah 5:2, where the prophet tells of the coming of Christ as the Babe in Bethlehem, he rightly says: "Whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting." This clearly indicates that Christ is eternal, that He was preexistent with the Father before the world began. However, the R. S. V. wrongly states it: "Whose origin is from of old, from ancient days." Here is an attempt, purposeful or otherwise we cannot say, to destroy the Biblical doctrine of the eternal nature of the Son of God.

(c) In Colossians 1:14, which reads, "In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins," the revisers have left out the word "blood," even though it appears in the best manuscripts. Here, without reason, they have dropped a firm statement pertaining to the blood atonement, one of the cardinal doctrines of the Scriptures. We will not read a reason into their actions. However, of the 32 members of the revision committee, it is well known that not one is an outspoken exponent of the salvation by blood taught by the blessed Word of God.

(d) In Luke 1:34, in speaking of the Virgin Mary, the espoused wife of Joseph, in the events centering around the blessed nativity, we note another gross mistranslation. Mary said to the angel: "How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?" (The original means a "man of maturity, of full stature.") The R. S. V. has it: "Since I have no husband." There is a vast deal of difference between a virgin who has never been carnally touched by a man, than simply a young woman who has no husband. A virgin, untouched by a man, is pure, chaste, holy. A woman without a husband could be the vilest of creatures should she be so minded. Mary was more than a husbandless young maiden—she was an undefiled virgin, a pure vessel to be used of the Holy Spirit for the miraculous conception of Jesus. Here the new version errs greatly from both the original text and the original meaning. And there is little excuse for the mistake.

This same problem of the virgin birth is involved in the translation of Isaiah 7:14. While it is admitted that there may be a choice of words in the Isaiah passage, it must be also admitted that in light of the meaning given exclusively in the New Testament to a quotation of the Isaiah passage, it should have been translated "virgin" instead of simply "young woman," as in the R. S. V. Are they questioning the virgin birth?

(2) The arbitrary use of pronouns is another striking demerit of the R. S. V. When these pronouns refer to God, the terms "Thee" and "Thou" are used. However, when referring to Christ, the terms "you" and "yours" are substituted. For example, in Matthew 16:16, where Peter makes his great confession, it reads in the R. S. V.: "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God." In the K. J. V. it reads: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." This mistranslation lowers Jesus to the level of man. In fact, one would have trouble distinguishing the Christ from even the Devil, in this respect, for the same translations are used for both. This is an obvious attempt to rob Christ of His deity, His oneness with the Father. Furthermore, these revisers set themselves up as a final court of decision as to whether the original writers were referring to God the Father, or God the Son. I would rather trust in the decisions of the blessed Holy Spirit who made them to be one.

It occurs to me that much damage, other than doctrinal, would be done to some of our choice passages of literature were we to adopt this new use of Biblical pronouns. Now we will have to sing: "My faith looks up to you, you Lamb of Calvary," or: "You, the fount of every blessing." Even our patriotism will be altered, if we are consistent, for we must now sing: "My country 'tis of you, sweet land of liberty, of you I sing." Sounds absurd, doesn't it? Don't blame me—it's their idea, not mine. Personally, I don't like it any better than you do.

(3) Paraphrasing is another serious demerit of the R. S. V. Paraphrasing means "to restate a passage in different words." Now translators are to give the exact equivalent in words of any text, not to try to convert the original into another language in meaning only. An example of their fault here is found in I Corinthians 3:4, where one says, "I am of Paul," the simple genitive of the Greek being used. The R. S. V. reads, "I belong to Paul," implying that the speaker was the possession of the apostle. Such is not the meaning of the text, though the revisers, for some reason known to themselves, wanted to make it so.

(4) The revision committee, all 32 of them, are reportedly avowed modernists. We do not know one among them who will openly defend the great fundamentals of the faith as we believe them: such as the virgin birth, the new birth, the blood atonement, the bodily resurrection of the saints, and the second coming of Christ. It would be utter nonsense to suppose that such scholars could produce a version without reading into it their liberal, anti-Biblical beliefs. That they have read their own thoughts into the R. S. V. is apparent from the examples we have shown. Therefore, while the R. S. V. may be a boon to the liberalist, it is a danger to the conservative scholar who wants to know what God said and not what men think He said.

It is interesting to note that these 32 members of the revision committee have agreed that none of their labors have altered, in any sense, the plain meanings of the King James Version. In the light of their supposed increased knowledge, their later findings, and their greater scholarship, it seems rather odd that they could find no new thing to add to the K. J. V. Evidently God was moving the pens of those earlier revisers and translators. Certainly, if it took all these extra props to bring the recent revisers to the truth, these earlier men of God must have been blessed with extra divine help. We believe they were—in a way that no liberal scholar could ever hope to be. Here is room for much thought, is it not?

Conclusion

It has disturbed me to note the claim that now, finally, we do have an "authorized version." Authorized by whom? By an organization of church leaders, all of whom are avowedly liberal in their attitude toward the Scriptures. Let it be remembered that the Bible needs no human authorization, especially from those who misuse its very context. This is God's Word! He authorized it thousands of years ago—yes, before the foundation of the world. Men's acts can neither augment nor abrogate that divine authority. It is written: "If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues of this book: and if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city" (Rev. 22:18-19). And while this prophecy pertains primarily to the last book of the Bible, the principle involved is true of all Scripture.

YFC INTERNATIONAL TO MEET

Plans are being made to hold the 9th annual convention of Youth for Christ International at Winona Lake, Ind., June 28-July 12. According to Dr. Robert Cook, president of the movement, approximately 3,000 delegates, in addition to thousands of visitors, will attend the rally.

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

V. THE SCEPTRE.

"A Sceptre shall rise out of Israel" (Num. 24:17). The sceptre is the symbol of power. So is our Lord the symbol and the instrument of God's limitless power.

Elsewhere in the Book the Lord Christ is called, "the Power of God," "the Great God," "the Mighty God," "the Almighty," and "the Overcomer." Each of these titles displays the truth of Christ's omnipotence as a member of the Godhead. The creation is His kingdom—all the power and the glory are His. All else will some day fall and bow the knee to His great power and authority, for He is the Sceptre of God.

But how marvelous and thrilling to know that all that power has been given as a source of strength and protection to God's children. He is our Banner for us to follow; but as well He is called our "Fortress," our "Buckler," our "Shield," our "Strength," and our "Strong Tower." All these titles signify the same power, not in authority and rule alone, but also in personal and careful assistance and help. We often fail to appropriate this great truth because the majesty and power of God make us think He is too "big" to care, when in reality that very characteristic of greatness makes our God and our Saviour responsive to the need and weakness of His own children.

Psychiana, a religious movement of late origin, claims to have exclusive hold on the power of God. Actually the movement does not even recognize Christ, who is that power in action. But how precious the thought that to every Christian there is an ever-ready source of protective power—God's own Son, our Saviour.

The Sceptre of God, who will rule the world,

In love lifts the man who in sin once fell;

The power that judges is the power that saves;

The mighty God is our Fortress as well.

The great God, Almighty, O'ercomer, and King—

Our Fortress, our Buckler—protection is He;

The Power of God which created each thing,

Is ready to help whenever we need.

THE BRETHREN MINISTRY

(Continued From Page 72)

of Catholicism into the glorious light of Christ and she enters the waters of baptism.

On and on we could go. But wait, what about those things we gave up to enter the ministry? Why, they are but trifling mites in comparison to these rich spiritual blessings which come from serving the risen Saviour. The ministry with all its compensation is a challenge to all who are in Christ Jesus.

May all of us remember Paul's words to the people at Thessalonica: "Faithful is he that calleth you, who will also do it" (I Thess 5:24). Let us also remember his admonition to the Ephesians: "I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called (Eph. 4:1).

VACATION WITH A PURPOSE

Park of the Palms at Keystone Heights in central Florida is the location of an extended Bible conference during the present winter-vacation season. Rooms and meals are available on the grounds. Here is a place for Christians from the north to spend their vacations with profit.

Among the speakers for the current season are Dr. M. R. DeHaan, Dr. Horace Dean, Dr. Jesse Hendley, Dr. G. Allen Fleece, Dr. Jack Wyrten, Dr. John Zoller, Dr. E. Schuyler English, and Dr. Bob Jones, Jr.

The Brethren ministry presents a field of service unequaled in history. Will you accept the challenge?

Whittier, California (Community)

Six new members have recently been received, 2 by baptism and 4 by letter from another Brethren church. This brings our total membership to 65 people.

A record attendance of 386 people was recorded on December 21, 1952—Christmas Sunday.

Rev. Earl Poipti was our speaker for both services on January 11.—(This report was received unsigned. Ed.)

Tracy, California

A revival broke out last Sunday evening (January 11) at our church. A young man, recently discharged from military service, came forward to offer himself for full-time service for the Lord. Then others came, 1 at a time, until 23 people were standing in the front part of the church. Some of these were for salvation, some for assurance of salvation, and others to yield themselves completely to the Lord for service.

An average of 92 people attended our Sunday school each Sunday in 1952 and an average of 34 attended the midweek prayer meetings.

The trustees have been authorized to proceed with a program of painting parts of the building.

The congregation gave our pastor, Rev. William Clough, a unanimous vote to continue as pastor for another year.—Joene Toon, secretary.

Wooster, Ohio

During 1952 the average attendance in the morning worship was 214 people, with an average of 149 in the evening service, 187 in the Bible school, and 62 in prayer meeting.

In the course of the year there were 58 public first-time confessions of faith, 27 baptisms, 13 reconsecrations, 5 babies dedicated, 8 funerals, and 3 weddings. During the year 26 new members were received into the church, bringing the membership to 203 persons. The pastor made 568 calls and received 897 letters in response to our daily radio broadcast.

The average giving for the congregation was $503.53 a Sunday, with $4,421.97 being given to works outside the local church.—Kenneth Ashman, pastor.

Artesia, California

On the last Sunday of 1952 we baptized 5 young people and received 4 of them into our church the same day.

A Brethren Boys Club was started in October and we have had an average attendance of 17 boys in the meetings.

We are now looking forward to special meetings with Rev. R. I. Humbert to be held February 8-15.—Adam Rager, pastor.

Leon, Iowa

We had a successful revival campaign last fall with Rev. Ward Miller, of Osceola, Ind., as evangelist, and Rev. Russell Ward, of Cleveland, Ohio, as song leader. There were 6 decisions for Christ, 5 being first-time confessions. One of these decisions was made by a man in jail accused of attempted murder and another was by a deputy sheriff of Decatur County.

Our young people are doing house-to-house visitation which has already resulted in one decision for salvation and one for assurance of salvation.

There have been 5 souls saved in regular preaching services since we came here last March and 5 have been baptized and received into membership of the church.—Marion Gates, pastor.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
San Bernardino, Calif.....	Jan. 20-Feb. 1...	Lyle Marvin.....	Russell Humbert.
Russiaville, Ind..	Jan. 25-Feb. 1...	Roy Clark.....	Herman Hoyt.
Beaumont, Calif..	Feb. 1-15.....	Gene Farrell.....	Bob Munro.
Harrah, Wash....	Feb. 1-15.....	Jesse Hall.....	Robert Ashman.
Waynesboro, Pa..	Feb. 1-15.....	Dennis Holliday..	William Smith.
Johnstown, Pa. (1)	Feb. 2-15.....	W. A. Ogden.....	Michael Walsh.
Los Angeles, Calif.
(1st) .....	Feb. 4-5.....	Glenn O'Neal.....	Harold Garner.
Rittman, Ohio....	Feb. 4-15.....	Charles Ashman..	Ding Teuling.
San Diego, Calif..	Feb. 5-6.....	Gilbert Engelman.	Russell Humbert.
Artesia, Calif....	Feb. 8-13.....	Adam Rager.....	Russell Humbert.
Cuyahoga Falls, O.	Feb. 8-15.....	Richard Burch....	Herman Hoyt.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) .....	Feb. 8-15.....	Robert Miller.....	Conard Sandy.
Whittier, Calif.
(1st) .....	Feb. 8-22.....	Carl Sisson.....	Cedric Sears.
Winchester, Va... Feb.	8-11.....	Paul Dick.....	O. E. Phillips.
Wooster, Ohio.... Feb.	15.....	Kenneth Ashman.	James Bennett.

EISELSTEIN BUSY IN COLORADO

Rev. Paul Eiselstein, member of our Denver, Colo., church and missionary for the American Sunday School Union in the Denver area, is busy for the Lord. During 1952 he supervised 54 Sunday schools with 162 teachers and 1,675 pupils enrolled; he was overseer of 67 vacation Bible schools with 2,485 pupils, and 8 camps with 808 campers.

To do his work he traveled 27,068 miles, visited in 1,258 homes, gave 223 public messages, organized 4 new Sunday schools, and opened 7 new preaching stations. These efforts resulted in 264 people accepting the Saviour.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 6

FOREIGN MISSION NUMBER

FEBRUARY 7, 1953

OH,
HOW THEY NEED
CHRIST!

(See Page 82)

HOW SHALL THEY HEAR?

(See Rom. 10:14)

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Let's All Pull, and Pull Hard!

With this issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald we begin the 4-months period dedicated in a special way to foreign missions. You've done a great job—you, the Foreign Missionary Society and our missionaries—but there's a much greater job ahead. Millions are still without Christ, and between 1 and 2 million of them are our responsibility as members of Brethren churches. It can be done, only with the Lord's blessing, and only if we all pull together in this greatest business of all—getting the Gospel out.

I'm Frightened!

European Roman Catholics are reported to be making the boast, "Give us 5 years more and we will have Africa." If this is true of Africa, how much more would it seem a challenge in the Latin-American countries. I'm frightened! Do you see why our board and society have sent missionaries in great numbers in recent years, and why we so desire to keep sending them just as rapidly as they are ready? What we do in the mission fields we must do NOW. The doors are yet open in most of our fields, but at any moment they may swing shut.

One Door Has Closed!

We trust it is only a temporary closing, and it is not unexpected. It is the door to our nearest neighbor, Baja California. We have had just 1 year to teach and train some 100 national Mexican believers and we thank God for that privilege. Those national believers are carrying on without the presence of the missionaries and doing excellently. Possibly this is God's way of teaching those dear Mexican brethren that they can do things for themselves in the work of Christ.

It was on December 20, when Bro. Roy Howard was going from San Ysidro to Tijuana for the Saturday classes, that Mexican officials detained him and finally informed him that he could no longer cross the border. At that time Brother Walter Haag was far south in the peninsula, but as soon as he came home he was forbidden entrance into Baja California. The believers, who can legally do so, cross the border into the States once or twice a week for Bible instruction. We and the missionaries are making every possible approach to proper officials for permission to enter Mexico and carry on our work. We will report later. In the meantime, pray for us.

Buenos Aires Blessings

Recent letters from Bro. Solon Hoyt have been very encouraging regarding the new testimony in the Buenos Aires area. During December Brother Hoyt conducted 3 weeks of tent meetings. Results were excellent. A full report will appear in a later issue, but for the present we will give a summary. The attendance was excel-

Cover Page

(Editor's Note—The front cover pictures the face of a member of the Sara tribe. Part of this tribe lives in the Bekoro section of our field in French Equatorial Africa.)

CAN THE SCARS OF SIN BE ERASED?

Throughout his lifetime the heathen bears the scars of sin upon his face. To those who know the secrets of the dark places of the earth, each scar speaks. It tells of initiation into secret orders, or of distinctions gained by relatives who walked in the same dark places, or of the quest for beauty. Much time is spent to mark forever those who worship at Satan's shrine.

A wound is made on the skin with a piece of grass or some sharp object. Where the wound is deep something is inserted to raise a scar. This scar silently witnesses forever that this one has known the glories and honors of heathenism. These sin marks emphasize to us the hopelessness of his eyes. They remind us that there are scars on his soul, but such scars can be erased by the precious blood of Christ.—Miss Ruth Snyder.

lent, most of the people coming from within 4 or 5 blocks of the tent. There were between 25 and 30 professions of faith. The challenge came when the tent meetings closed and the meetings were continued in the Hoyt home. But the Lord has so blessed that 20, and sometimes more, have attended week after week. Two fine young men from this group have been attending the summer youth camp, and it is hoped that they may soon be enrolled in the Bible institute. We so need reinforcements to help in this large city, with a total population of 2,500,000.

From Honolulu

Fine reports are coming from T Sgt. and Mrs. Edwin J. Jones in Honolulu. We are in rather a peculiar position. This work hasn't been fully approved as a mission field, although the society last year authorized us to make further investigation and help in the work. It is our work in that it is fully Brethren, and we are helping in every advisory way. We hope soon to do more. Mrs. Jones reports that for the past quarter there has been an average attendance of 39 at the morning service, with a much larger attendance during the Christmas season. Ten were baptized on January 3, bringing the total number of baptized believers to 20. Quite a number of others have accepted Christ and are attending faithfully. Parents of interested children are beginning to attend.

Fogles in the Lyon, France, Area

The Fogles are now living in a city just at the north edge of Lyon, a city by the name of Caluire. Of this Brother Fogle says, "Though we chose Lyon, He chose Caluire. It is a town of 20,000 just north of Lyon, so close that the division is imperceptible. As far as I know there is not a testimony in the town apart from ours. What an opportunity!"

Brother Fogle is cooperating with the Greater Europe Mission in putting up hundreds of posters. Each poster

(Continued on Page 89)

HOW OUR CHURCHES GAVE

To Our Brethren Foreign Missions in 1951-52

"Jesus . . . beheld how the people cast money into the treasury" (Mark 12:41).

15 LEADING CHURCHES IN 1952 EASTER OFFERING FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS

1. Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	$24,800.87
2. Dayton, Ohio (First) .....	7,105.49
3. Johnstown, Pa. (First) .....	5,512.59
4. Philadelphia, Pa. (First) .....	4,326.50
5. Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	3,656.81
6. Mansfield, Ohio (Grace) .....	3,647.00
7. Long Beach, Calif. (Second) .....	3,484.94
8. Whittier, Calif. (First) .....	3,464.92
9. Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) .....	3,404.83
10. Los Angeles, Calif. (First) .....	3,289.89
11. Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) .....	3,046.51
12. Winona Lake, Ind. ....	3,038.02
13. Philadelphia, Pa. (Third) .....	3,031.85
14. Ashland, Ohio (West 10th) .....	2,912.81
15. Sunnyside, Wash. ....	2,721.99

15 LEADING CHURCHES IN PER-CAPITA GIVING TO FOREIGN MISSIONS, 1951-52

1. Whittier, Calif. (Community) .....	$38.73
2. Winona Lake, Ind. ....	27.41
3. Temple City, Calif. ....	26.15
4. Dayton, Ohio (Patterson Park) .....	25.77
5. Sidney, Ind. ....	20.81
6. Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) .....	18.75
7. Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	18.52
8. Los Angeles, Calif. (Second) .....	18.48
9. Mansfield, Ohio (Grace) .....	18.00
10. Philadelphia, Pa. (First) .....	17.17
11. Conemaugh, Pa. (First) .....	16.39
12. Waterloo, Iowa (Grace) .....	15.39
13. Osceola, Ind. ....	15.36
14. Los Angeles, Calif. (Third) .....	15.20
15. Harrisburg, Pa. ....	14.95

CHURCH % GIVING

6.1% of our churches gave less than $1.00 per member
8.4% of our churches gave $1.00-$2.00 per member
6.8% of our churches gave $2.00-$3.00 per member
11.4% of our churches gave $3.00-$4.00 per member
10.0% of our churches gave $4.00-$5.00 per member
35.9% of our churches gave $5.00-$10.00 per member
10.7% of our churches gave $10.00-$15.00 per member
6.8% of our churches gave $15.00-$20.00 per member
.8% of our churches gave $20.00-$25.00 per member
2.3% of our churches gave $25.00-$35.00 per member
.8% of our churches gave more than $35.00 per member

REJOICE WITH US!

We rejoice in the increase of offerings in recent years. But a sobering fact is that our blessed Lord Jesus, who watched how the people gave into the treasury, has also watched how our churches gave. The more sobering fact is that He has seen just as clearly how much we have withheld for ourselves.

What we have done is small compared to what He would have us do in supporting the 87 missionaries we now have, and in sending out the 10 or 12 more who will be ready to go at the end of this school year. Our offerings will need to increase by 24% just to care for the work of our present missionary program. A total increase of 37% will be needed to care for our present program and send those candidates who will be ready to go by the end of this calendar year.

PRAY before you GIVE your ANSWER

A BETTER TABLE—AN AFRICAN VILLAGE

By Rev. Kenneth B. Ashman

Recording Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society

Do you have your African hut bank?

Would you like to set a better table in your home? Would you like to build an African village? Interested? Here's a good plan to follow.

First—your table. Two things, other than the good things to eat, should be there—a portion of God's Word (a manna box or Bible), and an African hut mission bank. Yes, during the 4 months of February, March, April, and May the better-set table in the Brethren home will have a prominent place for the new, unique mission bank. Read a portion of Scripture for spiritual food. Then, as you enjoy the blessings of plenty to eat, think of those in other lands who need food for both body and soul. Generous gifts in the African hut should be your willing response.

Second—your African village. When your bank is full, present it at your church. Others will bring their banks. On a table, where everyone can see them, place these banks in the form of an African village. This will be especially exciting for the children. Adults will enjoy it, too. You'll be surprised how it will increase your missionary offerings.

Your pastor has probably received a liberal supply of these African hut mission banks. Get yours and start right today. Of course, your church treasurer will want to empty the banks when you bring them to the church. Your name can be placed on a sticker on the top or bottom of the bank. You may even want to fill a second bank to enlarge the village and reach more souls for Christ. This takes some planning and work. Your local Missionary Outfit Club chairman or your pastor would be a good one to head the work.

Be sure to get your African hut mission bank. Place it on your table and fill it as soon as possible. Thus you will be doing your share in taking good food, spiritual and otherwise, to the needy souls on the various mission fields of the Brethren Church.

During these 4 months, set a better table and build an African village.

(Editor's Note—Little clay money banks in natural straw color are being delivered to our churches according to the number ordered by each pastor. These are being sent directly from the Morton Pottery Company, Morton, Ill. They are an exact replica of a native house in Africa, made from a snapshot. (In following years we probably will use money banks illustrative of our other mission fields.) Money received in these banks is for our whole foreign missionary program. The foregoing article, presenting an effective plan for the use of these banks, was written by Bro. Kenneth Ashman at our request.)

The Blood of Our Children

(A PARABLE FROM AFRICA)

By Miss Ruth Snyder

Some years ago there was a bitter war in one of Africa's tribes. The cause of the war is not too well known to the present generation, but they do remember one of the causes. As they told us about it, we were reminded of heavenly things.

A certain village was blessed with a rather large body of water. In the semiarid regions of Africa any body of water is a valuable possession. Naturally other villages coveted the water.

The children of a neighboring village often went there to draw water. As happens when children are near water, some fell in and were drowned. Having lost so many children, the neighboring village claimed the water was theirs because of the blood of their children. The owners of the water refused to give it to the neighbors. A battle resulted in which many of the would-be owners were killed. Among their dead were the head man of the village and the medicine man.

What the result of this war was we do not know. However, as we heard the phrase, the blood of their children, we were reminded of God, who, because of the blood of His beloved Son, is able to claim the world. Can it be that the Africans are able to understand this purchase by blood better than we who are so far removed from the experiences of our primitive fathers?

We know that Satan is attempting to wage a war to claim the earth. We know also that his cause is hopeless, for "worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing."

Who will tell the African of the Lord who was slain and has redeemed us to God by His blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation?

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fetters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

MORE POWER

By Rev. J. Keith Altig, Icoraci, Brazil

Many friends have written to us here on the field assuring us that they have a keen interest in the problems and difficulties as well as the victories which we experience. This article is intended to acquaint the people of our church with one important aspect of our work and some of the problems connected with it.

The Possibility

There are many small villages and even towns of considerable size in this part of Brazil where there is little or no testimony for the Lord and also where there is not much going on in the way of worldly entertainment. This makes the people doubly responsive to the programs which we are able to present by way of the records played over our powerful new loud-speaker system, and the pictures we show on the life of Christ and interesting things in Brazil and America. Literally hundreds of people can be gathered to a service of this kind in which the Gospel is presented clearly and definitely, most of them hearing it for the first time. This is a possibility, not only along the roadways but also along the riverways by means of a launch.

Some of the hundreds waiting to hear!

The Procedure

We load up the car, usually in the afternoon, for there are a great number of small items which are essential to the presentation of the message; then, as it begins to get dark, and after a season of prayer, we drive off to the chosen spot. As soon as the car stops, inquisitive boys and girls begin to gather around. When they find out that there will be pictures they scurry off to tell others, and the crowd grows. Meanwhile we busy ourselves in setting up the screen and projector, putting the loud-speakers on top of the car, hooking up the battery, winding up the record player, and all the other things necessary to be done. Then we begin with the program, interspersing the songs and messages with announcements and invitations to the people to come. The loud-speakers project the words for a distance of 3 or 4 blocks in either direction. Over water the music can be heard a distance of 4 miles or more.

The Problem

All is not well, however. There is one outstanding weakness. This is a source of great embarrassment and anguish of heart. The trouble is that the batteries have a disconcerting way of going dead. We ordinarily use 2 batteries, but even then often have failures. Both the projector and public-address system make heavy demands on a battery and only fully charged batteries can produce sufficient current for a complete program. It is very difficult to have the batteries in the right condition at just the right time. Several times, right at a crucial moment, the public-address system has gone silent or the picture has faded from sight because the batteries have failed. When this happens a murmur of disappointment runs through the crowd and we know that an opportunity for an effective presentation of the Gospel has been missed.

The Project

There is a way to avoid this problem and make our ministry of reaching the unsaved of this area much more effective. That is by the use of a small motor-generator set which we can carry right in the car. Its cost would be about $300. This method is used frequently by commercial advertisers and is really effective. This type of generator could be used in 2 ways, either to charge the batteries at home or to carry along to be used right at the scene of the service. This is written with the hope and prayer that some church, organization, or individual will have this project laid upon their hearts and that this need in our work here in Brazil will be met.

Motor-generator and portable case of the type desired.

"Gird Up Thy Loins, and Arise, and Speak Unto Them"

By Rev. James Marshall, Corral de Bustos, Argentina

One of the first questions I asked a fellow worker shortly after I arrived in Argentina was, "Just how do you do personal work in this land?" He replied that from his experience the most effective method to present the Gospel to people had proved to be door-to-door work. My next question was, "How do you do door-to-door work?" No doubt he must have been surprised, for he replied, "You just get out and do it." We closed the conversation at that point, and I asked myself, "What does he mean by saying that you just get out and do it?" It reminded me of the young man who had been schooled in the theory of running a farm. One day he decided to visit a farm in order to verify his theories. When he arrived at the farm the farmer was just getting ready to put some rings in the hog's nose. The young man with all his education suddenly felt confused and asked the farmer, "How do you ring a hog's nose?" The farmer said, "Why, you just do it." That's just about the way it is with personal work. Seminary training prepares a man with the truth, but each person must learn to put that truth into practice, and the only way to learn is to do it.

First of all I want to say that doing personal work is not hard. The hard part is to get started. How many times I've heard the Devil say, "Why, you don't have the gift to do personal work. Better stick to preaching and teaching." Frankly, I find it's just his scheme to cover up my pride. There is no escaping the fact that pride is the greatest hindrance to a missionary's usefulness in doing personal work, especially in Argentina. We aren't dealing with savages, neither with the uneducated (although ignorance abounds), but with fully civilized, well-trained business people who in many ways are our superiors. The Devil makes use of this fact to his advantage and, instead of getting out and just doing what the Lord expects us to do, many times the opportunity passes with nothing accomplished. Pride, natural timidity, physical weariness, and lack of faith hinder most missionaries and Christian workers in personal door-to-door work. It is a true statement that personal work seems to be the hardest right where we are, but that is only because we are there and not somewhere else.

However, in spite of the hindrances, personal work is a delightful experience, for it brings the missionary into contact with people, takes his mind off his own problems and makes him see the needs of others. What worker here or at home doesn't need this refreshment! Are you weary in well doing, or just weary? Get out and knock on a few doors in your neighborhood and tell the neighbors about the wonderful salvation that is theirs by faith in Jesus Christ.

Well, I took my fellow worker's advice and I got out and did some door-to-door work. At first I didn't say much—just, "Good afternoon," and a word or two about the tract I was giving. I didn't understand half the words the people spoke, for it seemed they talked a "mile a minute." But gradually I "got my ear" and then it was easier to carry on a conversation.

Most folks are pleasant, but now and then I meet a person who is best described by the words of the little boy who said about his teacher, "She must have eaten a pickle for breakfast." Invariably it is a woman who presents herself at the door. If the weather is chilly and the door is closed, she'll open the little peephole in the door and peer out. It makes me feel like saying, "Joe sent me," for the stare is so suspicious. Then I remember that it isn't Joe who sent me, but Christ.

Our missionaries call at homes like this. (Note the well at the side of the house.)

"Good afternoon, señora. I have an interesting paper here I think you'd like to read. May I leave it with you?" She shakes her head no. "But it's free. Help yourself." "Oh," she says, "you're from the evangelists" (they call all evangelicals evangelists. Would it were true!). "Well, I'm not interested because I'm from the other religion. Isn't it true that you don't believe in the Virgin?" So it goes.

When the weather is warm the folks stand out on the street and after I've visited several houses everyone knows what is going on. Heads turn and stare, and the kids come running and say, "Hey, mister, give us a paper." They accept it gratefully and then some mother will call out, "Miguelito, come here." Miguelito scampers off to his mother with the evangelical paper. The probability is that she sent him because she didn't want the neighbors to see her taking a tract from the local pastor.

Sometimes I have the opportunity to explain what we do believe and sometimes not, but I've left or given a testimony and the next time perhaps I can say more.

THINK THIS OVER

One dollar spent for lunch lasts 5 hours.

One dollar spent for a necktie lasts 5 weeks.

One dollar spent for a cap lasts 5 months.

One dollar spent for an automobile lasts 5 years.

One dollar spent for a waterpower or railroad grade lasts 5 generations.

One dollar spent in the service of God lasts for eternity.—Roger W. Babson.

"WHEN ARE YOU COMING BACK?"

By Mrs. William Samarin, Bozoum, Africa

Since high-school days I have had an ambition to hear the Gospel preached in a village where it has never been preached before. Recently this ambition was fulfilled. Let me tell you about it.

Twenty African Bible-school students got into the back of the institute truck, and Wayne Beaver, Bill, and I started out for villages unknown. It was the second time since the rain had stopped that the students had been able to go out to preach on Sunday evenings. At each village along the road to the Camerouns we dropped 2 or 3 students. After an hour of avoiding ruts and rocks, we turned on a cut-off—an even more perilous road. Here at one of the villages Bill and I and 3 students got out.

What are they like, these African villages? A row of mud-walled huts, a chief with a big badge, naked children, very dried-up old women; yes, there is humanity of every kind. Oh, yes, there are dogs, goats, and late-afternoon mosquitoes. The chief brought us goatskin chairs, and the villagers began to gather around. One of the students turned to me and said, "They say no one has ever preached in this village before." A strange emotion ran through me—could it be that on my second trip to a village I was to see the Gospel presented for the first time?

An African village.

Eager black faces watched as the 3 Bible-school students told of Christ's love. In true African style the villager would answer the questions asked by the preachers, and they would comment freely when news surprised them. As the service got under way, 3 young men came in from the field with their spears. They joined the circle of listeners.

The sky grew dusky and a cool breeze stirred the grass on the roofs. Every face was intent as my husband spoke of God's love. Then the preaching was over and I watched closely as the villagers discussed the matter they had just heard. Then the question was asked—would you like to receive this gift of salvation which Christ offers? One of the young men with a spear spoke, "I would." Some of the village folks argued with him, and some encouraged him. He stepped forward to emphasize his decision. A second young man came and stood beside him, and then a third—the 3 with spears stood together expressing a desire to know Jesus Christ.

The 3 young men were dealt with and the friendly village folks gathered to say good-by. Then the question came, "When are you coming back?" My heart sank. Here were 3 new hearts open to the Gospel, a village eager to hear more, and when could we come back? There were more roads and hundreds of villages and just 1 truck. One Bible-school student pointed to the darkening horizon and said, "There are many more villages over there that have never heard of salvation."

Wayne Beaver came in the truck just then. We put the question to him. He smiled. The chief of the village he had just come from had begged for someone to come and teach them. One trip just before this some village folks had said, "The last time you were here some of us believed. We've met every morning for prayer, but none of us can read. Give us someone to teach us God's Word." So, on each trip, in village after village, the same cry goes up, "Come again—give us a teacher!" We'll go back, perhaps in a week, or 3 months, or a year. Teachers are being trained and they will go to some of the villages. Those 3 young men can walk 20 miles into Bozoum to church. But that's not the answer.

Brethren, young people are waiting to come to help these folks. You have the answer. Send them out!

YOUR NEW AUTOMOBILE, WMC LADIES!

This is the new car just purchased and delivered to Rev. and Mrs. Fred Fogle in France. It is a French car, of the Peugeot make, a 4-cylinder, 7-horsepower (42 active horsepower), all-metal station wagon suited for 7 adult people. It is 14 feet, 6 inches long and actually does 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline at a speed of 50 miles per hour. The total cost delivered was only $1,947.67. One of the goals of the national WMC during their foreign mission offering period—March, April, and May—is to give at least $1,100 toward this purchase. We have, of course, advanced the entire amount so that Brother Fogle might have the car, and we will be so very appreciative of all that the WMC may find it possible to do.

Concerning this new car Mrs. Fogle has written, "It is wonderful and appreciated beyond our vocabulary to express." Brother Fogle, in his most recent letter, said, "It is a wonderful little car. It is very economical, around 30 miles to the gallon and at times better. It is comfortable and has been a big help already. I could never have done what I did the week we were in Lyon without it. I still use the bike when weather permits here in town, but for the longer errands we put the car to work."

In English we say, "I like that—I think it is pretty," or "I like that—it is a nice way to do things," or "I like that—I want to have it." In the African way of speech it is all the same: "I want to have that, it is nice, it is to my liking, it is a good way to do." For to like and to want are the same. Often one native will say to another, "I like that," at the same time reaching forth to take it. And very confusingly, the African uses a certain word for "receive" or "take" as often as for "give."

All this amazes our western minds and leads us to snap judgment that the natives are greedy. Perhaps we are very wrong, for it seems the African is essentially generous. Do not we always judge others by ourselves and take for granted that they would do as we would in any given case? So does the African. Knowing that he willingly gives up almost anything that is requested of him, he will just as willingly give to another who asks. And in the same manner, expecting that what he wants will be given to him, he stretches out his hand to receive it. Of course if a gift is actually proffered, then the recipient acknowledges his gratitude by accepting wholeheartedly—that is, with both hands.

Once when the writer was a younger and much greener missionary, she was trying to get acquainted with the wife of one of the catechists. She recalls that they were squatting around a fire as the wife prepared the evening meal. The wife was dressed in the conventional apron and bustle of leaves, nothing else. They were running out of conversation, each having inquired into the state of health of every member of the other's family and having briefly discussed the weather. In America the next topic is usually clothes, and the African lady did have a very interesting strand around her hips to which the leaves were fastened. Often it is just a greasy string, but the well-dressed bush native woman wears several strands of brightly colored beads. This lady had something that looked like large seeds strung together. The missionary had noticed that they were different and how prettily they blended with the dark glossy skin and the green of the leaves. So she spoke, "How pretty your string is!" The African lady is not unlike her American sister—she likes compliments. Her teeth flashed in a smile. "You like it?" She excused herself as she went into the hut; the missionary thought she was getting something for the meal. Soon the hostess came back with the string in her hand and an ordinary string replacing the one she had worn. In vain did the missionary protest that she hadn't meant she wanted it. "But they are nice in your sight, so you want them," her dark friend replied. The missionary reached out both hands, resolving to be more careful with her expressions of admiration in the future.

Now the writer works in a locality where an unclothed native is the exception rather than the rule. There are other differences as many European ways have been taken up, both good and bad, but the generous spirit is still there.

Recently this missionary was walking through a village with her young daughter, greeting friends here and there and inviting others to attend services. She approached a native store and, knowing the clerk was a Christian, stopped in for a minute. After the greetings she explained she had not come to buy but just to look around. Suddenly she gasped as she saw—of all surprising things—Ray-O-Vac flashlight batteries on the shelves. "Have you had those long?" she asked, knowing from experience that in spite of the company's guarantee, sealed batteries go bad in the humid climate in which she lives. "Just 3 days," he answered. But when he told her the price, about 40 cents each, she decided to do without them, not being quite at rock bottom for batteries. The clerk then put 3 on the counter and said, "These are for you, you take them." She protested, "Your patron (employer) would not like you to give away his things." "But, madame, I myself will pay the price, I want to give them to you." The missionary advanced a few more arguments, but in fear of insulting the giver she then reached forth both hands to receive the batteries. He had taken a 3-celled flashlight for granted, not the 2-celled kind which we generally use. As with many Africans, his generosity was characterized by largesse (abundance). For instance, if they offer you a plate full of bananas, they do not mean for you to "take lots, take 2." Consequently, more than one missionary, offering a dish of bananas or other fruit or nuts, expecting the native to help himself to some, has been taken aback when the native calmly took the whole business. Of course they always give back the dish, as that is the way they do among themselves.

Almost always the giver of a gift expects something in return. If it isn't forthcoming, usually the donor will ask for what he wants. And the Africans are smart traders, but this is not always the case in dealing with Christian Africans. They seem to have learned the joy of giving and sharing, and more than one has insisted, "But I want nothing in return." In the case of the flashlight batteries, the missionary decided to give an equivalent of Ivory soap to wash the baby of the family. She sent the soap with her boy, who brought back a bulb for the flashlight!

It is always especially touching to receive gifts from the natives. While we are not rich in this world's goods, we have so very much more than they that it almost hurts to accept from their poverty. A cold and calculating realization of the fact that we have made and do make sacrifices for them helps us accept their gifts, thereby allowing them to fellowship in the fact that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Preparing the evening meal.

Foreign Missionary Directory

LATIN AMERICA

ARGENTINA, SOUTH AMERICA—

Abel, Miss Bertha, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Churchill, Rev. and Mrs. Jack B., Remedios de Escalada 74, Rio Tercero, F.C.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Dowdy, Rev. and Mrs. J. Paul, Jorge Ross 631, La Carlota, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Hoyt, Rev. and Mrs. Solon W., Calle 31, No. 33, Don Bosco, F.C.G.R., Argentina, S. A.
Marshall, Rev. and Mrs. James, 178 Calle Reconquista, Corral de Bustos, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Rottler, Rev. and Mrs. Carson, San Martin 254, Huinca Renanco, F.C.N.G.S.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Schrock, Rev. and Mrs. Lynn, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Sickel, Mrs. Loree, Remedios de Escalada 74, Rio Tercero, F.C.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.

National Workers—

Numez, Miss Nelida, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Siccardi, Mr. and Mrs. Luis, Casilla de Correo, No. 7, Almafuerte, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo E., 599 Belgrano, Gral. Cabrera, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.

BRAZIL, SOUTH AMERICA—

Altig, Rev. J. Keith, Caixa Postal 861, Belem, Para, Brazil.
Miller, Rev. and Mrs. Edward D., Macapa, Terr. Federal do Amapa, Brazil.
Zielasko, Rev. and Mrs. John W., Caixa Postal 861, Belem, Para, Brazil.

BAJA CALIFORNIA, MEXICO—

Haag, Rev. and Mrs. Walter E., 439 Sunset Lane, San Ysidro, Calif., U. S. A.
Howard, Rev. and Mrs. A. L., 439 Sunset Lane, San Ysidro, Calif., U. S. A.

AFRICA

Beaver, Rev. and Mrs. S. Wayne, Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Bickel, Miss Florence, Bellevue via Bossangoa, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Byron, Miss Grace, Mission a Bassai, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Cripe, Miss Mary, Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Dunning, Rev. and Mrs. Harold L., Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Hill, Rev. and Mrs. Robert W., Bossembele, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Jobson, Dr. and Mrs. Orville D., Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kennedy, Mrs. Minnie, Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kent, Miss Ruth, Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kliever, Rev. and Mrs. J. P., Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Miller, Rev. and Mrs. Donald F., Mission a Nzoro, Bocaranga via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Mishler, Miss Marie, Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Munn, Miss Mary Elizabeth, Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Myers, Miss Estella, Mission a Nzoro, Bocaranga via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Samarin, Rev. and Mrs. William, M'Baiki via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Schwartz, Miss Clara, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Sheldon, Rev. and Mrs. C. B., Bellevue, via Bossangoa, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Snyder, Rev. and Mrs. Roy, Bouca via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Sumey, Rev. and Mrs. Charles, Mission a Bassai, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Taber, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd W., Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Tyson, Miss Elizabeth, Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Williams, Rev. and Mrs. Robert, Batangafo, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.

FRANCE

Fogle, Rev. and Mrs. P. Fredrick, 86 Chemin de Vassieux, Caluire et Cuire, Rhone, France.
Garber, Rev. and Mrs. Martin M., 3 Avenue d'Aligre, Chatou, Seine-et-Oise (Paris), France.
Geske, Miss Edith, Institut Biblique, 39 Grande Rue, Nogent-sur-Marne, France.
Habegger, Miss Mary Ann, Institut Biblique, 39 Grande Rue, Nogent-sur-Marne, France.
Jones, Miss Gail, Institut Biblique, 39 Grande Rue, Nogent-sur-Marne, France.
Kennedy, Rev. and Mrs. Lester W., 10 Rue Bordeaux, Chelles, Seine et Marne, France.
Mason, Dr. and Mrs. Harold A., 23 Rue du Coquart, Villennes-sur-Seine, Seine et Oise, France.
Taber, Rev. and Mrs. Charles R., 38 Avenue du Marechal Foch, Villennes-sur-Seine, France.

Thurston, Miss Marian, Institut Biblique, 39 Grande Rue, Nogent-sur-Marne, France.

HONOLULU, HAWAII

Jones, T/Sgt. and Mrs. Edwin J., Mar. Det. N.A.S. Navy 128, Box 1373, F.P.O., San Francisco, Calif.

MISSIONARIES ON FURLOUGH

Altig, Mrs. J. Keith, 206 S. Nicholson, Monterey Park, Calif.
Balzer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert, c/o Henry C. Kersting, 8415 Fenwick St., Sunland, Calif.
Emmert, Miss Mary, Dallas Center, Iowa.
Foster, Mrs. Rose, P. O. Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind.
Goodman, Rev. and Mrs. Marvin L., Jr., 1811 Baseline Rd., La Verne, Calif.
Maconaghay, Rev. and Mrs. Hill, c/o Charles Lewis, 2121 Chew St., Philadelphia 38, Pa.
Nielsen, Miss Johanna, c/o Mr. N. H. Nielsen, 1823 Pine Ave., Long Beach 6, Calif.
Snyder, Miss Ruth, P. O. Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

(Continued From Page 82)

gives some Bible verse, and then offers a portion of the New Testament to any person who will write to a given address. A surprisingly large number of people respond. Brother Fogle then visits the person, leaves the Scripture portion, and testifies for Christ.

Make a Missionary Album

During the 4 months mentioned above our society is furnishing to all pastors and churches 6 semibulletins for church calendars. These are printed on pages 1 and 4 and are for the local church use on pages 2 and 3. The first 5 of these will present on the front (page 1)  $\frac{7}{8}$  x  $1\frac{1}{8}$ -inch pictures of our missionaries, with their names and fields of service indicated. The 5 bulletins will give a complete list of our 87 missionaries, and we urge every family to form an album of these pictures. On the back (page 4) of each of the 5 bulletins a different one of our mission fields will be presented, this information being entirely different from that presented a year ago. The sixth bulletin will be reserved for last-minute foreign-mission news and information from all fields.

Africa Field Council Report

The minutes with accompanying letters from the field council meeting in Africa just arrived as the final words of material were being prepared for this issue of the Herald. The business sessions of this meeting were held from December 29, 1952, through January 5, 1953. All the reports will not have been read by the time this copy has gone to the printer. We do notice, however, that all 31 missionaries on the field in Africa were present for the meeting and every indication is that tremendous things were accomplished.

Changes of location of missionaries now on the field affect the following: the Dunnings from M'Baiki to the Bible institute at Bozoum, Miss Schwartz from Bellevue to Bozoum, the Samarins receiving their first appointment to M'Baiki, and the Don Millers receiving their first appointment to Nzoro. At Nzoro the Millers will be with Miss Estella Myers, who is the aunt of Brother Miller.

A complete report will be given next month, after the board of trustees has had opportunity to give full consideration to the minutes and reports in the midyear meeting of the board.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. Edward Bowman has resigned as pastor of the church at Garwin, Iowa, effective April 20, and has accepted the pastorate of the Hollins, Va., church, where he will begin his ministry May 1. Mrs. Bowman is recuperating from her recent surgery.

Here's your last reminder of the East District youth rally to be held at the Meyersdale, Pa., church February 13-14.

Mrs. John (Clara) Friedline, a member of the Listie, Pa., church for almost 50 years, died January 15. Funeral services were held at the church by her pastor, Rev. Paul Mohler, January 18.

Rev. Jesse Hall, of Harrah, Wash., has been ill with a severe case of the "flu."

The San Bernardino, Calif., church has witnessed public decisions on 5 successive Sundays. There were 165 people in Sunday school January 18, which is a record high. Eight members of this church read through the Bible in 1952.

The Washington, D. C., church voted to proceed with an alteration and redecoration program on the building.

The Sterling, Ohio, church held special meetings January 19-February 1. Rev. Kenneth Ashman, of Wooster, was the evangelist. Pastor of the church, Rev. Joseph L. Gingrich, preached at the Wooster church one Sunday during the campaign. Rev. William Detweiler was the preacher for the other Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Miller, of Roanoke, Va., was the speaker at the rally of the Northern Ohio District WMC at the Middlebranch church January 26.

Rev. Arthur F. Collins will be ordained to the ministry February 19 at the Berrien Springs, Mich., church, where he is now serving.

Prof. Ralph Gilbert, of Winona Lake, spoke at the Berrien Springs, Mich., church January 25.

The Leesburg, Ind., church has granted Pastor Nathan Meyer leave of absence for several weeks this summer so he can travel on the Flying Seminar of the Winona Lake School of Theology to the countries of the Mediterranean Sea area.

The Ashland, Ohio, church has adopted one of its own members, Donald Bishop, now finishing his studies at Grace Seminary, as its missionary to Argentina. The church approved Bro. Richard (Dick) Messenger for licensure to the ministry. Of the membership of this church 23 people, 8 men and 15 women, read through the Bible in 1952.

McKeesport, Pa., has been selected by the East Fellowship as the place to begin a Bible class. Anyone in the area or anyone knowing of persons in the area interested in this work, please communicate the fact to Rev. Clyde K. Landrum, 143 Union St., Uniontown, Pa.

The Temple City, Calif., church held a surprise shower on its pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Leo Polman, January 2, in honor of their 32d wedding anniversary.

The average attendance in the Sunday school of the Philadelphia, Pa., First church for 1952 was 174, which was an increase of 12 over the average for 1951. This church is installing carpet in the auditorium of its building.

Thirteen members of the Winchester, Va., church read through the Bible in 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Emmert, of Granger, Iowa, wrote to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company to thank the company for services rendered and added that they would celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary February 9. They are members of the Dallas Center church and are an uncle and aunt of Miss Mary Emmert, former missionary.

The South Bend, Ind., church heard the trumpet trio of Grace

Additions to Membership

Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ...	5
Portland, Oreg. ....	11
Spokane, Wash. ....	2

Public Confessions

Ashland, Ohio ....	1
Compton, Calif. ....	2
Leamersville, Pa. ....	10
New Troy, Mich. ....	3
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	9

Dedication of Babies

Leamersville, Pa. ....	1
------------------------	---

Seminary on January 18, and Prof. John Whitcomb spoke concerning his trip to Palestine, January 25.

At the Compton, Calif., church Rev. Roy McKeown spoke December 28, Mr. Clarence Thorpe January 11, and Rev. W. Arnold Bennett conducted a Bible conference January 19-23.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Brown, of the Compton, Calif., church, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary January 4.

WHO, a Des Moines, Iowa, radio station, dedicated a 30-minute program to the Brethren Spanish-American mission at Taos, N. Mex., on January 20. A script telling of the mission, its pastor, and activities, was narrated during a program of hymns and organ music. The management of the station has informed Rev. Sam Horney, pastor, that many inquiries have since been received concerning the mission.

Rev. Dean Walter, of the Vicksburg, Pa., church, spoke recently to the Inter Varsity group at Penn State College; to the Washington, D. C., Youth for Christ; and to the Naval Research Laboratory Christian Fellowship, Washington.

SPECIAL OFFER. Because of the nature of the contents of the Brethren Missionary Herald last week (January 31), it was suggested that extra copies be made available to the subscribers who would like to have them to give to other people to interest them in the magazine or in the Brethren Church. These copies are available and the Brethren Missionary Herald Company will be happy to mail to anyone writing for extra copies as many as can be used, so long as the supply lasts.

"PRAY WITHOUT CEASING" FOR THESE REQUESTS

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray for Baja California. Our missionaries—the Walter Haags and the Roy Howards—have been denied the privilege of crossing the border to preach the Gospel, yet 22,000 people cross at Tijuana each Sunday for pleasure. Pray for wisdom in contacting the officials and that permission of entrance will be granted. Pray for an urgently needed national Mexican pastor.

2. Pray for those missionaries in Africa meeting new challenges in appointments to different works—the Harold Dunnings to the Bible institute, the Don Millers to Nzoro, and the William Samarins to M'Baiki.

3. A special request has just come from Bro. Harold Dunning. He says, "Please get some Brethren praying for us." He has 2 things in mind—strength and wisdom for the challenging responsibilities in relation to his work at the Bible institute, and God's help in relation to a health problem that has been adding to his burdens in a busy missionary's life.

4. Pray for visas and transportation for the John Teeter family to Brazil and the Victor Meyers family to Argentina.

5. Pray for Misses Florence Bickel, Grace Byron, and Estella Myers, arriving at Douala, Africa, about the middle of February, and for Don Miller, who expects to meet them. There are tons of freight to be taken 800 miles inland.

6. Pray for the midyear meeting of the foreign board, beginning February 9 and continuing for a week or more. There are many decisions to be made, especially: How far can we go in promising to supply mission needs when funds are becoming very limited until the Easter offering is received?

7. Pray for the foreign-mission offering period—February through May. Pray that the pastors will be given wisdom in presenting the needs and that the publicity will be used of the Lord.

8. Pray for the missionaries now in France. The Lester Kennedys and Martin Garbers will remain there through June. Misses Edith Geske, Gail Jones, Mary Ann Habegger, and Marian Thurston will spend March through July in a Belgian school studying tropical diseases. The Fred Fogles will soon begin public services in Lyon.

9. Pray for Miss Ruth Snyder, on furlough from Africa, now attending classes during the second semester at Grace Seminary.

10. Pray for Miss Johanna Nielsen, now en route from Argentina for furlough, as she arrives in California near the end of February.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the growth of the boys and girls clubs at the Chico, Calif., church.

2. Pray for the finances needed to complete the Dayton, Ohio, Paterson Park church.

3. Pray for the new families gained in the recent Sunday school contest at the Clayhole, Ky., church. Pray that they will come to know Christ as personal Saviour.

4. Pray for the organization and development of the Seattle, Wash., church now that Rev. Thomas Hammers is on the field.

5. Praise the Lord for an attendance of almost 200 people at the Christmas program at the Artesia, Calif., church and pray that many of these might be reached for Christ.

6. Pray for the Bible class sponsored by the Brethren Home Missions Council and the Iowa District, in Davenport, Iowa, with Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum as teacher.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Continue to pray for the school during the second semester and especially for the new students who have just enrolled.

2. Pray for the alumni conference to be held at the seminary February 24-27.

3. Pray for the administrative committee that it may have wisdom and guidance in meeting the problems of the school.

4. Continue to pray for the finances of the school and especially for the monthly offering plan.

WMC (CENTRAL DISTRICT)—

1. Pray that our WMC ladies will perform their work humbly by God's Spirit, in greater love and understanding of one another's problems and failures.

2. Pray that our Lord will give us greater peace and stability in the midst of restless and changing times.

3. Pray that we may have wisdom in knowing when to speak and how to help, and that we may pray without criticizing.

4. Pray that we may show a greater faithfulness to the prayer services of the church.

SMM—

1. Pray that the officers may have wisdom as they plan for new awards for goal winners.

2. Pray for the girls and patronesses as they hide the book of I Peter in their hearts and minds.

3. Pray for guidance in preparing the SMM quarterly and handbook.

4. Pray for complete dedication of the lives of those who are guiding our girls.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Remember our camp commit-tees as they are now making plans for this summer's camps. Pray that these camps might be the means of bringing many young people to Christ.

2. Pray for our young people who have just started to school this second semester, that they may make the adjustments to school life well.

3. Continue to pray that the financial needs of the Brethren Youth Council will be met.

4. Pray for the Brethren Boys Clubs, a number of which have recently begun or started again after an intermission. Pray that they will be effective in reaching boys for Christ. Pray that the men of the churches will be willing to work with the clubs.

FIRST PLANS ANNOUNCED BY EVANGELISTIC CRUSADE

By Rev. R. Paul Miller, Secretary of Crusade Committee

Rev. Glenn O'Neal, pastor of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church, is a member of the Board of Evangelism of the Brethren Church. He sat in on the first sessions of the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade committee. He caught a glimpse of the value and scope of the soul-winning plans of the crusade committee, went home to California and conveyed that vision to the southern California pastors and churches. This resulted in a call from them for the first team under the crusade to come out there and spend several months in working for revival in that entire district.

First Two Campaigns

The first campaign begins in the First Brethren Church of Long Beach, of which Dr. Charles Mayes is pastor, March 1. We earnestly call upon all of you who read this page and are concerned for lost men, that you pray definitely and fervently that God will glorify Himself in this campaign and start fires of revival burning, not only for California churches, but for our entire brotherhood. Revival is of God, not in the eloquence and activity of His servants.

The second campaign will be in Phoenix, Ariz., where Bro. J. C. McKillen is, under God, being used to guide that swiftly growing work. The people there have their lots purchased, but do not have a building yet. Now they ask for the help of the crusade in a tent campaign to reach their entire community for Christ. Pray for Phoenix. Pray for the Brethren Home Missions Council as it leads here. Pray for the lost of that city. Pray for the evangelistic team that will lead in this meeting. Pray that God will glorify Himself in a great victory here for His dear Son. The campaign begins March 22 and will continue for 3 weeks. Write and encourage us by telling us you will be on your face before God in our behalf while we are there.

After the Phoenix campaign we return to California for more campaigns that will continue into the fall. We will be in both church buildings and tent campaigns.

More Good News

Our second team is now formed, and will start its full-time evangelistic work not later than September 1. Full announcements as to personnel will be made March 1. So watch this page 4 weeks from now.

Our third evangelistic team is already being formed and will be announced just as soon as sufficient campaigns are scheduled to justify starting it out. The earlier large numbers of churches sign up for meetings the faster this great movement will grow. Pastor, write to your district representative today.

Layman With a Truck

The Lord needs a layman with a truck! Bro. Dalta Myer, of Flora, Ind., who has been hauling our evangelistic tent about the land as a Christian service, is unable to take it to the West due to the illness of Mrs. Myer. We mention this, hoping there is another Brethren layman with a truck and a few days of time between now and March 22, who would haul the tent and equipment to Phoenix, Ariz. The roads on the southern route are usually clear and dry all winter. We will be looking for a southern California brother to haul it to Los Angeles when the Phoenix campaign is over. This is something a layman can do.

From Cedar Rapids came a real gift. Charles Allen, of the Cedar Rapids congregation, sent us 2 new 6-ply tires and tubes to match for the crusade DeSoto. This is a gift equal to $100. Praise the Lord for Charles Allen!

Crusade Needs

"What does the crusade need?" We hear this question from many earnest laymen who want to know if there is anything they can do. There is.

We need a tent 50 feet by 80 feet for the second team. We need a dependable public-address system for this team. We need our own crusade songbooks.

Twenty thousand souls for Christ in 5 years, if the Lord has not come for His church.

Address the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade at Box 28, Berne, Ind.

---

American Missionaries Killed

Two American missionaries of the Evangelical Alliance Mission have lost their lives in the wilds of Dutch New Guinea, apparently murdered by natives. This information was relayed to mission headquarters by the State Department in Washington.

The two were Walter J. Erikson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Erikson, of DeKalb, Ill., and Edward R. Tritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stertz, Omro, Wis. Details of their death are not yet known. The State Department message stated simply that their remains were found October 23 near Aisat in the western part of Netherlands New Guinea. A report through a missionary source in Australia confirmed the fear that they had been murdered. The word which came through the Netherlands

Embassy in Washington indicated that when the pair did not report back, a search was instituted, first by air and then by land. Dutch officials expressed the belief that Erikson and Tritt had been deserted by their carriers. A full investigation is being conducted by the State Department. The Netherlands Embassy expressed its deep regrets.

Information on file at the mission office in Chicago shows that Erikson, who had been in New Guinea for almost 2 years, and Tritt, who arrived last July, had planned an exploration trip into the interior regions of Kebar and Karoon to map out a territory for missionary work among the aboriginal peoples, about whom little is known.—United Evangelical Action.

THE CHRISTIAN'S RESPONSIBILITY TO HIS COUNTRY

By Rev. Richard Jackson, Jr., New Troy, Mich.

On Tuesday, January 20, 1953, millions of people were privileged to watch through the magic eye of television the inauguration of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to the office of President of the United States of America. It was to me an inspiring experience and one I will long remember.

The climax of the ceremony, at least for me, came when Mr. Eisenhower placed his hand upon the 2 Bibles and spoke the words that made him the virtual leader of half the people of the world. As I watched this dramatic scene and heard the final words of his oath of office I was moved by a sudden realization of the tremendous weight of responsibility this man was taking upon his shoulders.

When the ceremony was over I returned to my study with the events of the day still fresh in mind and as I continued to think about them a question came which brought me up short in my thinking and turned me to a search of God's Word for the answer. That question was: "Just what is my responsibility as a Christian to President Eisenhower and my country?" God's Word, as always, answered the question.

Prayer Responsibility

I found first of all that we have a prayer responsibility. In I Timothy 2:1-4 we read, "I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth."

We see first in this passage that we should recognize and accept this responsibility in order that we may continue to live in this land of liberty in a peaceable manner. Now let us take note of our liberties; let us "count our many blessings, and name them one by one."

1. We may meet publicly to worship as the Holy Spirit guides us without fear of molestation or intimidation of any kind.

2. We may worship according to the dictates of God's Word and are not required to follow the imperious dictum of any man.

3. We may hold great public gatherings and rallies and publicly call all men to repentance and salvation in the Lord Jesus Christ.

4. We may take as much of our money as we wish and use it as we please to send missionaries to foreign lands with the blessed gospel message.

These are some of our liberties and privileges, and how precious they are! But along with these privileges comes also responsibility. Because of these liberties, because of God's blessing upon our land we, the members of the church of Jesus Christ, have become the last hope of the Gospel in the world. When the records and facts are examined carefully we discover that America is the main source of funds and workers for missions in the world today. "America has thus become the last beachhead for foreign missionary endeavor for the lost areas of the world." With this great fact in mind, and when we realize that 83 people a minute die without Christ, we should fall to our knees and beseech God in behalf of our President and his coworkers and our country that we may continue to enjoy these liberties in order that the Gospel may continue to be sent to the far corners of the world.

Rev. Richard Jackson

Secondly, we should recognize and accept this prayer responsibility in order that we may, insofar as is humanly possible, with the help of the Holy Spirit, do that which is good and acceptable in the sight of God. When we took the Lord Jesus Christ as our Saviour we learned something about the mercy of God. It was the mercy of God that planned the redemption of man. It was the mercy of God that preserved the Hebrew nation out of which was to come Him who was to be the Saviour of the world. It was the mercy of God that placed Christ on the cross in our stead. It was the mercy of God that turned our hearts to Him in simple faith.

Paul says, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Rom. 12:1-2). Since we have dedicated our lives to do that which is good and acceptable in the sight of God, then we must accept this responsibility of prayer because God clearly states that it is good and acceptable in His sight.

Thirdly, we should recognize and accept this prayer responsibility because God would have all men to be saved. "It is not his will that any should perish but that all should come to repentance." Belief in the Lord Jesus Christ is not incompatible with the presidency of the United States. It can now be said on the basis of historical documentary evidence that Abraham Lincoln was a Christ-loving, God-honoring, Bible-believing, born-again Christian. If this is not already true of Mr. Eisenhower, Mr. Nixon, and the other leaders of our land then we have a definite responsibility to them to pray to that end. If we pray great things and expect great things I believe we shall see great things.

Citizenship Responsibility

The second responsibility I found was a citizenship responsibility set forth in Romans 13:1-7. The Christian citizen should be the very best citizen this country ever had.

This is so, first of all, because our government was ordained of God. We say that the voice of the people was heard on November 4 and Mr. Eisenhower was elected President. This is true on the human plane, but behind it all was the overruling hand of God. It was he that put Mr. Eisenhower into the highest office of the land, "for there is no power but of God."

Hundreds of years ago this principle was recognized by an old pagan king. He wrote a state paper on the subject and that state paper later became a part of Holy Scripture. It is the 4th chapter of Daniel. In it is recorded: "The most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will." The fact that the rulers may be bad does not alter the case; the Word of God still stands. It will be remembered that Christ suffered and died under the rule of Pontius Pilate and Paul died under the nefarious Nero, but if you search the record of Scripture you will find that neither Christ nor Paul ever denied or reviled the authority. Neither should we, but rather we should pray for those people in authority.

We have this citizenship responsibility because our leaders, magistrates, and protective organizations are the ministers of God. From the very first, governments and their leaders have been appointed by God as His ministers. They have appeared upon the horizon and marched across the stage of history in an orderly fashion to run out their designated span of existence, and then they have disappeared from the scene of human experience. All were His ministers: Assyria was His hammer, Cyrus was His shepherd, Egypt was His garden, Tyre was His jewel, and so it goes.

Everywhere divine power was felt, God's shuttle of providence flashed in and out, weaving into one great fabric of history a thousand different threads of human life and government. All were His ministers.

We should accept this citizenship responsibility for the sake of our own consciences. A clear conscience is of the utmost importance to the child of God. Hear the words of John: "Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence toward God. And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight" (I John 3:21-22). And Paul wrote: "Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake" (Rom. 13:5). One of the ways of maintaining a clear conscience before God is by maintaining a clear record before the "higher powers," by being the best citizens this country ever had.

Witnessing Responsibility

A third responsibility which I found is a witnessing responsibility as set forth by Peter: "For so is the will of God, that with well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men" (I Pet. 2:15).

The good name of the church has been besmirched by the actions of some people professing to bear its name. They try to foist upon the earthly governments those legislations applicable only to the government of God's kingdom. This they do when they spread their subversive doctrine of pacifism. They then "conscientiously" object to the point of breaking the law, but they give the lie to their position when they do not live consistent with their profession. It is this kind of a witness that brings dishonor to the blessed name of the Captain of our Salvation. It must be recognized by all Christians that people will read our footprints before they will read our lips.

The Brethren Church has taken a definite stand in regard to the Christians' responsibility to their country in time of war. We believe we should serve and help in every way possible short of bearing arms. Our government has recognized the validity of that position and has enacted special legislation to make it possible for young men and women with this belief to serve their country without compromising their stand. But be certain, young man or young woman, if you take that stand you must live a life consistent with your profession.

Yes, the good name of the church of Jesus Christ has been besmirched. The tongues of foolish men have been set into almost perpetual motion. Thus we as Christian citizens of this great country have a solemn

Browsing Among The Books

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the reader's attention some of the books that are being presented to the reading public today. Each book reviewed here will present a message of some merit and worthy of consideration, though a review of a book does not necessarily mean that the reviewer approves everything in it.

Any book mentioned in this column may be purchased from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

HE EXPOUNDED, by Douglas M. White. Moody Press. 1952. Cloth. 158 pp. $2.50.

"Preach the word" (II Tim. 4:2), the injunction to Timothy in the long ago, has been taken by every preacher as a command for his own ministry. Yet few understand what those words mean. Without a doubt Mr. White has done much to bring this fact to the attention of present-day ministry. So vital is this theme in this day when few, even in orthodox and fundamental circles, are doing expository preaching, this work is to be commended to the ministry everywhere as a stimulus to measure and improve their preaching.

STIR UP THE GIFT, by Paul S. Rees. Zondervan Publishing House. 1952. Cloth. 158 pp. $2.

This book contains the lectures on evangelism delivered in 1951 at Bob Jones University. The very obvious intent is to stir up within the hearts of young men the passion for evangelism in an age when evangelism has been disappearing from the ministry of the church. In a remarkable way the author charts the course of evangelism through the centuries, diagnoses the decline within the past 50 years, and points the way to a possible recovery of the lost fire. This will warm the spirit of every reader, and it should rekindle the passion for evangelism in those who once had it.

responsibility to live such a witness as will put to silence the ignorance of these foolish men; to live such lives that these men will see in us the honesty and courage of our blessed Lord—lives that will bring glory and honor to His name.

God help us so to live that when we stand face to face with the King of kings and Lord of lords we may hear from His lips the words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM THE YOUTH DIRECTOR

BBC NEWS NOTES

Arthur Martinez, Brethren Boys Club national president, now at Camp Pickett, Va., reports that a number of Brethren people have sent him names of boys at Camp Pickett for him to look up, and he has had much joy and success in locating many of these and sharing spiritual activities with them. Arthur is still on the job witnessing to unsaved boys, too, and has been able to help some to Christ.

Boys of our Canton, Ohio, church have been meeting with the men's group monthly, but plans are being made to begin regular club meetings again.

While in Cleveland, Ohio, recently, we found a great deal of enthusiasm for starting a club in our church there. Funds were made available, and plans were laid that night for a club to reach the boys of their community. They have very few boys of club age in their Sunday school, but plenty of them in their neighborhood. They feel that a club might cure the problem of broken windows in their new church building—a problem that has plagued them considerably.

BBC JEEP DEBT PAID OFF

The last payment on our BBC station wagon for Albuquerque was made within the last 2 weeks, so this missionary obligation of rather long standing has been met. The Christian friends who loaned us the money for the original purchase have been very patient and understanding, and we are grateful to them. And we're thankful that we've been able to have a part in our New Mexico missionary work through this vehicle. But we're most thankful that the obligation is now met, and we can plan for another missionary project.

YOUTH DIRECTOR VISITS A. B. I.

It was my privilege to spend a couple days at the Akron Bible Institute in January, speaking to chapel services in both the day and evening school. It was a pleasure to see their beautiful new campus—formerly a Firestone estate.

We have one Brethren girl in the full-time day school, and a number of other Brethren students in the evening school. Total enrollment currently is 137, and the school's president is Dr. Raymond E. Gingrich, well-known Brethren minister.

BYF ADDS NEW SERVICE

In addition to monthly party plans, currently provided by the Brethren Youth Fellowship for all pastors and BYF advisors, another new feature has been added to the BYF mailing packets. This month several pages for a BYF president's notebook are being sent to our groups for approval. These are prepared on standard 3½ x 6-inch notebook pages, and will carry instructions, duties, ideas, etc., for the top officer of our groups. If these are well received, and seem to meet a real need, other notebooks will be prepared for each of the officers of the BYF group.

Since one of the main purposes of BYF is for training, these may meet a real need in reminding our officers just what is expected of them, and giving them guidance as to the best way to dispatch their responsibilities.

YOUTH DIRECTOR TO ATTEND CAMP CONVENTION

Since this is the time of the year that most of our summer camps are being planned, Youth Director Ralph Colburn is planning to attend the regional convention of the American Camping Association this month in Indianapolis. Though the ACA is a secular organization, many ideas on the business end of camping, and some on the programming end can be learned at such a gathering. The time of the convention fits right into his schedule among our churches of southern Ohio and Indiana.

ISLANDS RIPE FOR REVIVAL

Rev. Paul Hartford, formerly of Winona Lake, Ind., and now a flying evangelist associated with Youth for Christ International, recently completed an island-hopping tour of the Haiti and Jamaica area.

Mr. Hartford was accompanied by Mr. Don Luttrell, of Bradenton, Fla., and Rev. Jack Hill, of Brantford, Ontario. The 3 men preached, sang, and used their musical instruments in the various meetings they conducted.

During this particular campaign they traveled 2,500 miles, visited 15 islands, conducted 45 public meetings, and witnessed 150 public confessions of faith in Christ.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Beaumont, Calif..	Feb. 1-15.....	Gene Farrell.....	Bob Munro.
Covington, Ohio..	Feb. 1-15.....	James Young.....	R. Paul Miller.
Harrah, Wash....	Feb. 1-15.....	Jesse Hall.....	Robert Ashman.
Waynesboro, Pa..	Feb. 1-15.....	Dennis Holliday..	William Smith.
Johnstown, Pa. (1)	Feb. 2-15.....	W. A. Ogden.....	Michael Walsh.
Rittman, Ohio....	Feb. 4-15.....	Charles Ashman..	Ding Teuling.
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ....	Feb. 6-8.....	Clyde Balyo.....	Charles Mayes.
Artesia, Calif....	Feb. 8-13.....	Adam Rager.....	Russell Humbert.
Cuyahoga Falls, O.	Feb. 8-15.....	Richard Burch....	Herman Hoyt.
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) .....	Feb. 8-15.....	Robert Miller.....	Conard Sandy.
Whittier, Calif. (1st) .....	Feb. 8-22.....	Carl Sisson.....	Cedric Sears.
Winchester, Va....	Feb. 8-11.....	Paul Dick.....	O. E. Phillips.
Wooster, Ohio....	Feb. 15.....	Kenneth Ashman.	James Bennett.

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

VI. CHRIST THE STONE.

As recorded in Daniel's 2d chapter, Nebuchadnezzar's vision reveals a "stone . . . cut out . . . without hands." This stone smashed the image—which stone is none other than Christ.

The name "Stone" as applied to the Lord is often used. In Genesis 49:24 He is referred to as "the stone of Israel." Jacob is on his deathbed. Well he remembers when he took of the stones of the field for his pillow. Now he thinks of the comfort Jehovah is to him, the foundation upon which he has built his very life. This expression, first used by Jacob, is repeated over and over again in the Word and it finds its echo in the hearts of those who have found Jesus a sure foundation and a real comfort.

In Psalm 118:22 Christ is prophetically called "the headstone of the corner," and Peter takes up this theme in I Peter 2:4-8, where he refers to Christ as the "chief corner stone." The corner stone was the foundation of the building. Safety and security were to be found in it. The Jews, "God's chosen builders," refused God's spiritual corner stone, Christ, but the Father Himself has established Him. Note what Peter and the prophet have to say about this Chief Corner Stone.

1. "Elect"—Christ is "chosen of God." He is God's chosen way of salvation and of righteousness.

2. "Living"—This Stone is not composed of an inert mass, but is the living corner stone of the living church, made up of "living stones"—the saints. He lives and always will live to give life—eternal life—to all who will believe in Him.

3. "Tried" (Isa. 28:16)—Christ has been tested and tried and has stood unchanged and unchangeable, "in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin."

4. "Precious"—How precious is He? Ah, the more we know about Him the more wonderful He becomes. The more intimately we know Him the more precious He becomes. He is not precious to the world—it has no place for "the Stone," no use for Him—but "unto you therefore which believe he is precious."

5. "Rejected"—"A stone of stumbling"—the Corner Stone upon which the whole world was built, upon which the church is being built—rejected? How can it be? "To those who willfully reject Him, as did the Jewish nation, and stumble into the abyss, there is weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. To those who pride themselves upon their education, wealth, or position, and refuse to bow at His feet, He is a Stone of stumbling. How subtle is Satan! How hard is the human heart! How our hearts should ache for those who know Him not."

Jesus Christ, my Chief Corner Stone,
Foundation of my faith,
Elect of God and Chosen One
Who gave me life from death.

And though rejected by the world,
Precious is He to me,
For life eternal before me unfurled,
In Jesus my Saviour I see.

FORMOSANS RECEIVING CHRIST

On December 1, 1952, the "Every Village Crusade" was started on the island of Formosa for the purpose of taking the Gospel to every village on the island within 36 months. Rev. Richard Hillis is directing the work.

On the first day, the Billy Sunday mobile unit (funds for it were contributed by Mrs. William "Ma" Sunday) reached 6 villages and witnessed 68 public professions of faith. On the second day 2 units went out, reached 12 villages, and witnessed 212 public confessions of Christ.

More than 50,000 Formosans and Chinese nationalist soldiers are enrolled in the Bible correspondence course sponsored by the Youth for Christ leaders. Most of these have received Christ since October 1, 1950.

A STATEMENT

In the Brethren Quarterly for Young People and Adults for the third quarter, 1952, the writer quoted several times from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. In view of the opposition that has arisen against the R. S. V. it should be explained that these Sunday school lessons were written last summer and published by the Brethren Missionary Herald Company early in the fall, before the Revised Standard Version of the entire Bible had even been published. But the lessons were read by our Brethren people in the month of December, after conservative scholars had had opportunity to study the new revision, and the storm of protest against its modernistic perversion of Scripture was rising. The writer quoted from the New Testament of the R. S. V., which was published in 1946, and over which no storm had arisen.

The writer wishes it to be known that after considering the evidence for and against the new revision he is definitely convinced that it is the work of men who do not respect the Bible as the verbally inspired Word of God, and who are opposed to the great doctrines of the faith having to do with the person of Jesus Christ, His deity and virgin birth in particular.

MARK E. MALLES

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 7

WMC NUMBER

FEBRUARY 14, 1953

FELLOWSHIP DINNER SPONSORED BY MEN OF THE GRACE BRETHREN CHURCH, CUYAHOGA FALLS, OHIO

(Details on Page 102)

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager..Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

If extra copies of the Brethren Missionary Herald for February 28, carrying the appraisal of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible by Grace Seminary professors, are desired, the order for them must be at the Herald office not later than February 16. The price for extra copies is 5c each for single copies, or 3c each when 10 or more copies are ordered to be delivered to 1 address in 1 bundle.

On February 1 Rev. W. A. Ogden began his 7th year as pastor of the Johnstown, Pa., First church. During the 6 years of his ministry there 169 people united with the church.

Bro. J. Stanley Barr, of the Seven Fountains, Va., church, died recently and Rev. Paul Dick conducted the funeral services January 26.

The Yakima, Wash., church celebrated the 5th anniversary of the groundbreaking service for its building January 25. Rev. Russell Williams is the pastor.

Bro. Donald Ogden, instructor in music in the collegiate division and student in the graduate division of Grace Theological Seminary, underwent a hernia operation January 27 at a Warsaw, Ind., hospital and is now recuperating at his home at Winona Lake.

Eugene, Oreg., has been selected as a location for a Brethren Bible class, looking forward to another Brethren church in the Northwest District. Class began February 2. Any person in the area or anyone knowing of people in the area interested in such a class, please send names and addresses to Rev. Glen Welborn, 825 Ermine St., Albany, Oreg., or to Mr. Dale Wyles, 85 Willona Dr., Eugene, Oreg.

The Conemaugh, Pa., church, pastored by Rev. Stanley Hauser, held dedicatory services for its redecorated building January 18. A new roof was added, the building was painted inside and outside, and the floor was carpeted.

The Alexandria, Va., church, pastored by Rev. Kenneth Teague, gave to all funds $133.08 per capita in 1952.

"Rev. and Mrs. William Clough, Tracy, Calif., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Mr. LeRoy Hawkins, of Albany, Oreg." Both are students in Grace Seminary.

Mrs. Rose Foster, deputation missionary, spent the week of January 19-23 speaking at the Long Beach, Calif., Brethren Elementary School.

Bro. Arthur Wetherbee, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, has not missed a midweek prayer service for 20 years. Each Sunday he supervises the parking lot of the church.

Rev. Mark Malles, Altoona, Pa., joined other fundamental pastors in a round-table discussion of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible over radio WRTA January 28.

The Glendale, Calif., church, temporarily without a pastor, has scheduled Rev. John Lienhard, San Bernardino, as preacher for February 15 and Dr. Harold Lindsell, Pasadena, for February 22.

The Compton, Calif., church, of which Rev. Norman Nelson is pastor, is planning a retreat for its young people at Crestline February 27-March 1.

Rev. Russell Humbert, Flora, Ind., plans to speak at the Hawthorne Christian School, Hawthorne, Calif., February 15-17, and at the Glendora, Calif., Church of the Brethren February 18-20.

The Southeast District has scheduled an overnight youth rally for the Roanoke, Va., church February 13-14 and another at the Covington, Va., church April 10-11.

Dr. Charles Mayes, pastor of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, has been ill. Rev. Albert Flory and Dr. Harry Vom Bruch preached for him January 11, and the speakers on the Torrey Memorial Conference spoke the next 2 Sundays.

Dr. Paul Bauman, Winona Lake spoke at the Philadelphia, Pa., First church January 18 and Bro. Gene Perry spoke there January 21.

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church had a winter retreat for 46 of its young people at Acorn Lodge January 23-25. Rev. Glenn O'Neal is pastor of this church.

Mrs. Grace Fike, for many years a member of the Meyersdale, Pa., church, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mahlon Bowser, Elyria, Ohio, January 12. Funeral services were at Meyersdale in charge of her pastor, Rev. Leslie Moore.

Plans are being made to begin a Bible class in Cumberland, Md. Any person in that area or anyone knowing of persons in that area interested in the Brethren testimony contact Rev. Leslie Moore, 112 Beachley St., Meyersdale, Pa.

The Long Beach, Calif., First church is to have the first campaign conducted by the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade, March 1-15, with Rev. R. Paul Miller as evangelist. In preparation the church has appointed a steering committee headed by Wilbur Snively, and has planned a banquet meeting for all workers February 19, to be addressed by Evangelist Bob Munro, of Canada.

Mrs. Buford (Edra) Campbell, member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church for more than 8 years, died January 21. Funeral services were held at the church January 24, in charge of her pastor, Dr. Charles Mayes, and Rev. Alan Pearce.

The Waterloo, Iowa, church was host to a crusade sponsored jointly by the Fellowship of the Faith and the Christian Business Men's Committee February 3. Mr. Calvin Chao, of the China Native Evangelistic Crusade, was the speaker following a covered-dish meal. Dr. Robert McBirnie spoke at the church February 4.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

By Rev. Dennis I. Holliday, Waynesboro, Pa.

A new crime wave is sweeping our country. An average of 540 automobiles are stolen each day across our nation. Car theft, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is the fastest growing criminal enterprise in the United States—leaping 21 percent in 2 years. A jewelry thief who has stolen jewelry in his possession must first find a market for his loot, and even then he may have to sell it for only about one-tenth of the real value. A car thief can easily and quickly sell a car almost anywhere, and can get practically the full value in cash every time.

Thievery Is Sin

No matter what the form of thievery of which a person is guilty, it is wrong, it is sinful. Whether a person steals a 5- or 10-cent item from the dime store, or steals a $2,000 car, it is wrong in the eyes of the law of our land, and it is sin in the sight of God, who sees and knows all things.

Stealing is taking that which belongs to another without having permission to take the same. The Bible speaks positively against stealing. First of all, stealing is such a wicked thing that God included it in the Ten Commandments. The 8th commandment is, "Thou shalt not steal." In the New Testament we have positive statements against stealing. In Matthew 19:18 we read: "Jesus said . . . Thou shalt not steal." In Romans 13:9 we have these same words repeated: "Thou shalt not steal." Moving on into the Book of Ephesians we read, "Let him that stole steal no more" (4:28).

Stealing Time

When we think of stealing, we usually think of someone taking an object that belongs to another person without having the right or permission to do so. It is also possible to steal from God. There are 7 days in a week. The first day in the week is the Lord's Day. The remaining 6 days are for us in which we may do our work. The Lord's Day is to be a day of rest for our bodies, a day in which to receive food for our souls, a special day in which we serve the Lord Jesus Christ, and a day in which to worship our Saviour in the house of the Lord. Even though God has allowed us 6 days in which to do our work, yet there are some Christians who steal a part, or all, of the Lord's Day and use it for themselves, either for personal gain or personal pleasures. If to steal from a neighbor is bad, it is a greater sin to steal from God.

Stealing the Tithe

In the Old Testament we read that a 10th part of one's income belonged to the Lord. "The tithe . . . is the Lord's." In the New Testament we do not have a specific command to give a tithe, but even so, much is said about giving. We are to give cheerfully, we are to give as the Lord has prospered us. We are to give systematically, each week, a portion to God. As a minimum, we ought to give a 10th of our income to the Lord, and to His work. Not to give back a proper portion to God is to steal from God. To take God's portion and use it for ourselves is to steal from God.

Rev. Dennis Holliday

Whether you have stolen from man or stolen from God you are guilty and stand condemned and worthy of hell. In the Book of Joshua, chapter 7, we read of Achan, who stole some clothing and a wedge of gold. As soon as it was discovered that he was guilty he was put to death, because stealing is a dreadful sin.

Jesus Christ came for the specific purpose of saving us from our sins. The angel said to Joseph, the husband of Mary, "She shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21). In the 5th chapter of Romans we read, "Christ died for the ungodly." In the 15th chapter of I Corinthians we read, "Christ died for our sins," that is, He bore the penalty for our sins when He died on Calvary's cross.

Salvation Even for a Thief

When Jesus Christ was crucified there were 2 thieves crucified at the same time—one on the right hand and the other on the left. One of those thieves got saved just before he died. We will notice carefully how that thief got saved, that we may know how God saves people today. We are sure the thief was saved because Jesus said to him, "To day shalt thou be with me in paradise" (Luke 23:43).

First, let us notice what this thief did not do to be saved. He did not join a church, he was not baptized, he gave no money to the church, and he never had an opportunity to teach a Sunday school class. Yet the Lord said to him, "To day shalt thou be with me in paradise."

We will notice what he did do: (1) He believed that Jesus was the sinless Son of God, for he said, "This man [Jesus] hath done nothing amiss." (2) He evidently recognized that Jesus Christ was not dying for His own sins, but that He was dying for the sins of others. He admitted that Jesus was not worthy of death when he said, "This man hath done nothing amiss." (3) He then looked up into the face of Jesus and called Him, "Lord." He recognized He was verily deity, that He was God manifest in flesh. (4) He then very simply placed his faith in Jesus Christ when he said, "Lord, remember me."

Salvation for You, Too

That is how the dying thief was saved, and that is how you, too, can be saved today. Acknowledge Jesus Christ as the sinless Son of God, and that when He died on the cross He died for you—that He bore the penalty for your sin. We have the promise in the Word of God that "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). The Scripture also says,

(Continued on Page 101)

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humbert, Flora, Ind.

I. THE CRY OF INTERCESSION.

"And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha: where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst" (John 19:17-18).

Last words are precious words. We draw near the bed of a dying friend; we bend over and strain our ears to catch the faintest whisper, and cherish those words the rest of our life.

Our Lord was arrested in Gethsemane and given a mock trial before the high priests and the Roman governors, Pilate and Herod. Then He was taken out to Calvary and crucified. There He hung helpless and forlorn. So brutal had been His treatment that His face was out of shape and "his visage was so marred more than any man" (Isa. 52:14). But through all this vile treatment He had been "as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth" (Isa. 53:7).

"Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do" (Luke 23:34).

The crowd about the cross was taunting; the soldiers were mocking, but He "reviled not again" (I Pet. 2:23). But now He prepares to speak. What words will issue from those lips? Will He, like Elijah, call down fire upon His tormentors?

Seven hundred years before, Isaiah had prophesied that He would make "intercession for the transgressors"—"Father, forgive" (Isa. 53:12).

"Father." All through His life He had been in fellowship with His Father. Now on the cross, even though mankind had forsaken, yet He was still in fellowship with the Father.

"Forgive them." Why did He call upon the Father to forgive? Had He not shown His power to forgive sins when He healed the paralyzed man (Mark 2), and did He not give peace to the penitent thief? But the word "Father" carries with it certain responsibilities. A father not only provides for his child, but he also protects.

A neighbor woman turned her little boy loose to pester us. One day I heard my little boy sob out, "I'll tell my papa."

I looked and my boy had been cutting grass with a sickle. The neighbor boy had taken the sickle away from him and held it by the handle. My boy had grasped the sharp edge with both his little hands. Only a slight jerk and my boy's little fingers would be cut half off. Verily,

Rev. R. I. Humbert

I darted out that door like a streak of lightning.

And so with the Father. He had seen men spit in the face of His Son; He had seen them scourge and crucify Him. It was only natural for Him to act. One faint whisper from the Son and 12 legions of angels would dash to His rescue (Matt. 26).

No doubt the angels were standing in awe, and in the heart of everyone there burned a desire to rescue their beloved Creator. What will He do? His lips part—will it be a cry for vengeance? Nay, verily, human ears had never heard such words from a Roman cross before—"Forgive them."

And was this prayer ever answered? A few weeks later, on Pentecost, Peter faced those same Jews and cried, "Ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain" Jesus of Nazareth, and 3,000 were forgiven that very day (Acts 2:23, 41).

"For they know not what they do." Let the reader of these lines beware that he take not these words as a license to sin. I once talked to a person who refused to read the Bible, thinking he would not be held responsible if he did not know its contents.

Verily, to thus tamper with eternal things is folly indeed. Let such an one test out this method in an earthly court where the stakes are not so high. Let him try it on the traffic laws, and see if willful ignorance will excuse. But those who crucified Jesus were forgiven because "they knew not" what they did.

There are several kinds of sin. The Old Testament speaks of "sins of ignorance," yet the offender was guilty. There is the sin of omission. It is this sin that sends men to hell, for "he that believeth not is condemned already" (John 3:18).

There is sin through weakness. Paul speaks of "the evil which I would not, that I do" (Rom. 7:19). There is also the sin of presumption. Men who turn the "grace of our God into lasciviousness" (Jude 4), who take the silence of God as a license to sin; men "who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them" (Rom. 1:32); men who presume upon the mercy of God and deliberately and knowingly sin, are guilty of a presumptuous sin and for this sin there is no remedy (Num. 15:30).

But those saved on Pentecost did not commit a presumptuous sin. True, their sin was fearful indeed, but in the heat of the mob, being driven on by the "chief priests and elders," they had cast their vote against Him, and knew not that they were crucifying the Lord of glory (Matt. 27:20; I Cor. 2:8). Thus let them "repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38).

Awake! The Enemy Moves!

By Rev. Glen Welborn, Albany, Oreg.

The Bible is attacked!

That we are living in the closing days of this church age, all wide-awake Bible believers agree.

And Satan, too, is well aware of this fact!

Satan is God's archenemy. He hates God. He hates God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. He hates God's blood-bought children. He wants no one saved from the hell prepared for him and his angels (Matt. 25:41).

Out of this race of wicked men, God is cleansing and preparing a body of believers to give to His Son for a bride. This body, the bride of Christ, is the church—not denominations, but THE church—made up of all born-again believers. Satan hates this church and seeks to destroy it. In the first 2 centuries he tried to destroy it by killing Christians. It didn't work. He changed his tactics. He couldn't destroy it from without, so he moved inside to corrupt and destroy it from within. As Satan corrupted churches, God raised up others to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ; to preach "the gospel of Christ" which "is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." And while God was raising up good churches, Satan raised up false cults and isms along with the corrupted ones, until today a lost soul wandering through this dark world of sin hardly knows what church or religion to accept and trust.

AND NOW IT HAS HAPPENED TO THE BIBLE!

Satan, through atheists and infidels like Tom Paine, Robert G. Ingersoll, and Voltaire, tried to "kill" the Bible and rid it from the earth. But the Bible lives on! Again Satan has changed his tactics in so-called Christian lands. He couldn't destroy the Bible from without, so he seeks to corrupt it from within its pages by all kinds of translations. Within the past generation there have come so many translations that men must ask, "Which one can we trust? Which one is God's Word?"

The latest and most subtle and dangerous of these is the Revised Standard Version produced by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

Young people, and all who read,

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

VII. THE LORD OUR ROCK.

In the last article we considered the name "Stone," and today we want to think of a similar name given to the Lord—"Rock." A stone we usually think of in builder's proportions, but a rock we consider as something huge and great. The name "Rock" is used of the Lord along with several descriptive adjectives. He is called "Rock of ages," "Rock of my salvation," "that spiritual Rock," "My strong Rock," and others. But there is one which stands out to me above all others.

In Psalms 61:2 David, the psalmist, calls the Lord, "The Rock that is higher than I." To prove that the name "Rock" refers to Christ, turn to I Corinthians 10:4, where Paul, in speaking of the Rock of Israel, says, "And that Rock was Christ."

The very name "Rock" speaks to us of steadfastness, sureness, permanence, everlastingness—hence "Rock of ages." As the cliff rocks were a place of refuge, safety, and security from attacking enemies, hence "my strong Rock" and "Rock of my salvation."

But again, if Christ is to be our salvation, security, and defense, He must of necessity be "the Rock that is higher than I." Read all of Psalm

61—David's heart cry to the Lord—and you will know why he reached to a "Rock" that was higher than himself. His burden was too great for him to bear. The lesson is simple. We MUST lay hold of something—someone who is substantial in the test. We MUST have a greater than Moses, Abraham, or John. We MUST have more than a mere "good man." We MUST have Christ, God-man, as our sinbearer—the divine yet human Saviour of the world, "The Rock that is higher than I."

"The Lord's our Rock, in Him we hide,

A Shelter in the time of storm."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"O safe to the Rock that is higher than I,

My soul in its conflicts and sorrows would fly."

As Israel was saved from disaster and dying thirst by the water which came from the smitten rock, so we find relief from sin and the satisfaction for the thirst after righteousness in the water and blood which flowed from the riven side of Christ our Rock.

A NEW CRIME WAVE

(Continued From Page 99)

"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved . . . [for] as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (Acts 16:31; John 1:12).

You may be saved today, by simply believing on the Son of God. From the Scripture that has been called to our attention we conclude that salvation is by grace through faith plus nothing. Having become a child of God through faith in Christ, surely you will want to live like a child of God and for the glory of God every day of your life.

"I'll live for Him who died for me,
How happy then my life shall be!
I'll live for Him who died for me,
My Saviour and my God!"

stay with the old Book of our forefathers who made this nation strong. The Gospel of Christ in that old Book has been the power of God unto salvation for millions ahead of us. It worked then, and it will work today. We do not need a new Bible; we need more people who will read, believe, and live the Bible we have had for centuries.

God says: "Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish aught from it" (Deut. 4:2).

"For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven" (Psa. 119:89).

Jesus said in Mark 13:31: "Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away."

In I Peter 1:23 God says that we are "born again [saved], not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever."

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

FELLOWSHIP DINNER AT CUYAHOGA FALLS ENJOYED BY 38 MEN AND BOYS

By Earle R. Cole

The Brethren Men's Fellowship of Grace Brethren Church, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, held a fellowship dinner January 9 in one of the private dining rooms of the Tower Restaurant, Tallmadge, Ohio.

Thirty-eight men and boys—the men and boys of the church and their friends—participated in this evening of Christian fellowship.

After a very fine full-course roast-beef dinner, we entered into a devotional service in which the musical talents of 3 of the boys and young men were used. Sammy Gingrich played a solo on his trumpet, Dennis Holsinger accompanied all the group singing, as well as his own vocal solo, on the electric guitar, and Donald Cole played a solo on the portable organ that the men use in their local convalescent home services.

We want to introduce some of our men in the pictures on the cover of this magazine. In the upper picture, seated from left to right: Robert Sunthimer, skip two [Brother Cole is modest; he is the one sitting next to Sunthimer.—Ed.], then Clair Brubaker, Venard Holsinger, his son, Terry, and Williard Smith. Behind Bob Sunthimer in dark suit is James Hamm. In the lower picture, standing, are Kent Carnahan (second from the left), Sammy Gingrich (in front of Rev. Russell Ward), and Paul Sunthimer (on the extreme right). Seated (third from left) is Dr. Raymond Gingrich, then Rev. Richard Burch.

The Sunthimer boys are the "spark plugs" in our Brethren Boys Club activity. Kent Carnahan is the local fellowship president; James Hamm is secretary-treasurer. Clair Brubaker is pastor of the Hillwood Homes Chapel in south Akron, a student in Akron Bible Institute, as well as operator of Brubaker Greenhouse. "Nard" Holsinger is a talented song leader and vocalist. He is one of the Holsinger line—well-known in our denominational history. Williard Smith is president of the Northern Ohio District Fellowship of Brethren Men.

Rev. Russell Ward, pastor of the First Brethren Church, Cleveland, Ohio, spoke at our evening meditation.

Cuyahoga Falls men are interested in supporting our National Fellowship of Brethren Laymen's projects and urge you and your local men to do as much as the Lord prospers you. In recent months this local group has presented offerings of $25 to each of the national projects—Brethren Boys Club and Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade fund of our fellowship. We are ashamed that we haven't done more. Brother, the Evangelistic Crusade needs funds now to do the job that will be pleasing to God. The Gospel must go to all men in these United States. Sign your name to a check made out to William Fisher, secretary-treasurer, and put somewhere on the check "for BUEC" and send it to National Fellowship of Brethren Laymen, William Fisher, secretary-treasurer, 335 Fugate Rd., NE., Roanoke 12, Va.

DINNERS FEATURE ACTIVITIES OF MEN AMONG OUR CHURCHES

Dr. Alva J. McClain spoke at a dinner given by the men of the Fort Wayne church for the ladies and other members of the church January 20.

Donn Moomaw spoke to the Men's Fellowship and their guests at a dinner held January 30 at the Second church, Long Beach.

Helen W. Wood, former Communist, was the speaker at the Men's Brotherhood meeting at the Long Beach First church January 6.

The Men's Fellowship at Cheyenne, Wyo., held their January meeting on the 13th at the home of C. L. Vermillion.

There were 65 men present at the December meeting of the Men's Fellowship at the First church, Los Angeles, Calif. Dr. Paul Bauman was the speaker. For the meeting on January 29 Louis Zamperini was the speaker and told of his athletic life, his experiences in the war as a soldier and as a prisoner of war.

The men of the Third Los Angeles church held a dinner and program on January 22.

At Winchester, Va., the Men's Fellowship met on January 13. The presiding officer was Virgil Massey.

On January 24 the men of the New Troy, Mich., church organized their fellowship. The meeting was the occasion for a covered-dish meal. We hope to have the names of the officers soon.

All members joining the Bethel Brethren Church, Osceola, Ind., in 1952 were invited to a banquet sponsored by the Men's Fellowship on January 29. In December the men were entertained by the Leichty Family, musicians, and heard Bro. Elmer Miller, of Bethel College, give a testimony concerning his experiences in the army in World War II.

Forty-four men and boys attended the Father-Son Banquet held at Rittman, Ohio, in December. The ladies cooked the dinner.

The Brotherhood of the Whittier, Calif., First church heard Mr. Nyland, of Bellflower, give a testimony and sing at the regular monthly meeting January 13. Sam Rankin, owner of the Rankin Overhead Door Co., was the principal speaker.

March 23 is the date set by the Northern Ohio District Fellowship of Brethren Men to meet at the Cuyahoga Falls church.

Questions on Personal Evangelism

Question—How do I deal with the one who says: "I must become better before I can be saved"?

The sinner cannot make himself better (Jer. 2:22; 13:23; Jas. 2:10), therefore he is in the only condition (a lost sinner) from which he can be saved by Jesus Christ (I Tim. 1:15; Luke 19:10; Luke 5:31-32).

(Quoted from personal evangelism course of the Washington Bible Institute)

Chico, California

We rejoice again as we recall the blessings of our meetings with Bro. Vincent Bennett, December 8-14. There was an average attendance of 64 people, 8 accepted Christ, and a number rededicated their lives to the Lord.

In keeping with the Christmas season, we enjoyed a Christmas program directed by Mrs. Ennis Rife and a play produced by the young people December 21.

During the last calendar year 15 people came into church membership, 13 by baptism. This was a 34-percent increase in membership during the year. There were 24 who accepted Christ during the year.

Also during 1952 a baptistry and tower system were installed, 20 young people attended the summer camp, and the first young person from our church has gone away to school to prepare for the Lord's service. Weekly prayer meetings are conducted by this church in Los Molinos.

The average weekly offering for the year was $61.43, which enabled us to meet our $60 weekly budget. The offering for the building fund was $300.—Ward Tressler, pastor.

Covington, Ohio

We are happy to report that our church is moving forward. The morning attendance January 18 was 81. The average attendance in BYF is 20. On January 4 we witnessed 3 rededications and 1 first-time decision, and January 18 there were 2 decisions for Christ. Bro. Ralph Colburn was with us for a youth rally January 24.

The interior of the church was recently cleaned and redecorated.

The church had a surprise farewell party for Byron Young on January 16. He is enrolled in Moody Bible Institute.—James O. Young, pastor.

Roanoke, Virginia (Wash. Heights)

The spiritual blessings of God's mighty working here have been many and wonderful. Twelve per-

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Beaumont, Calif..	Feb. 1-15.....	Gene Farrell.....	Bob Munro.
Covington, Ohio..	Feb. 1-15.....	James Young.....	R. Paul Miller.
Harrah, Wash....	Feb. 1-15.....	Jesse Hall.....	Robert Ashman.
Waynesboro, Pa..	Feb. 1-15.....	Dennis Holliday..	William Smith.
Johnstown, Pa.
(First) .....	Feb. 2-15.....	W. A. Ogden.....	Michael Walsh.
Rittman, Ohio....	Feb. 4-15.....	Charles Ashman..	Ding Teuling.
Cuyahoga Falls,
Ohio .....	Feb. 8-15.....	Richard Burch....	Herman Hoyt.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) .....	Feb. 8-15.....	Robert Miller.....	Conard Sandy.
Whittier, Calif.
(First) .....	Feb. 8-22.....	Carl Sisson.....	Cedric Sears.
Wooster, Ohio....	Feb. 15.....	Kenneth Ashman.	James Bennett.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	Feb. 22.....	Charles Mayes....	Russell Humberd.
Phoenix, Ariz....	Feb. 24-27.....	J. C. McKillen....	Russell Humberd.

sons publicly accepted Christ in our regular church services last year. We organized with a membership of 16 on November 4, 1951, and we now have 33 members.

We need a building with adequate space for Sunday school rooms and a main auditorium. We have $2,700 in our building fund, which exceeded our goal of $2,500. The district mission board has contributed some to this fund.—W. Carl Miller, pastor.

Harrah, Washington

We have been building up our Sunday evening meetings by having a different group from the church take part in reading the Scriptures, leading in prayer, and giving special numbers in music.

Among the groups that have helped are the junior and senior Sky Pilots, the laymen, the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha, and the Women's Missionary Council.—Mrs. Carl Pickett, reporter.

Clayhole, Kentucky

The following paragraph is from a letter I received from the director of the Christian Life Sunday School Contest, dated January 28, 1953:

"Congratulations! The judges of the Christian Life Sunday School Contest have declared your Sunday school the fourth winner in Class D (99-249)."

We were awarded 100 "Great Songs of the Church" and a flannelgraph board with easel. The most valuable thing to me is to know that the Clayhole people tackled a big job and finished it in a grand way.—Sewell Landrum, pastor.

Meyersdale-Summit Mills, Pennsylvania

Since October 1 an average of 139 people have attended our evening services.

At the Christmas service at Meyersdale the trimming of the tree was part of the program. The decorations were envelopes, previously sent to the members, in which they enclosed their offerings to the building

BUILDINGS BURN AT BASSAI

On January 7, the day after the close of the African field council meeting, a grass fire got out of control in the valley east of our Bassai station. It came racing up the hill and burned both dispensary buildings, the small medical storehouse, and a smaller building. Bro. Charles Sumey reports that "had God not intervened it surely would have taken everything."

There was a monetary loss of a few thousand dollars, but the medical program has been greatly hindered. Aluminum roofing would have saved this loss. The foreign board is supplying funds for 2 new aluminum residence roofs a year, but we may have other losses unless we can move more rapidly.

---

PROGRAM—SECOND ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION—GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY—FEBRUARY 24-27

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24

Theme for Day—"The Man of God"

- 9:00-10:15 a.m.—Devotional message, Clyde G. Balyo, pastor, North Riverdale Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio.
- 10:30-11:45 a.m.—Expository message, Mark E. Malles, pastor, First Brethren Church, Altoona, Pa.
- 1:30-2:45 p.m.—Paper, "Present-Day Need for Education in the Ministry," Lewis C. Hohenstein, pastor, Grace Brethren Church, Waterloo, Iowa.
- Open forum led by Dr. Alva J. McClain, president, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.
- 3:00-4:00 p.m.—Alumni business.
- 7:30 p.m.—Message, John G. Balyo, pastor, Bible Baptist Church, Kokomo, Ind.
- Pictures of Holy Land, William Short, student, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

Theme for Day—"The Gospel of God"

- 9:00-10:15 a.m.—Devotional message, M. L. Myers, pastor, Rosemont Brethren Church, Martinsburg, W. Va.
- 10:30-11:45 a.m.—Expository message, Arnold Kriegbaum, pastor, Grace Brethren Church, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
- 1:30-2:45 p.m.—Paper, "Problems of Evangelist in a Big City," John M. Aeby, pastor, First Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Open forum led by Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, dean, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.
- 3:00-4:00 p.m.—Alumni business.
- 7:30 p.m.—Message, William W. Smith, evangelist, Washington, D. C.
- Pictures of Holy Land, John C. Whitcomb, Jr., assistant professor, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1953

Theme for Day—"Pastoral Ministry"

- 9:00-10:15 a.m.—Devotional message, Clyde K. Landrum, pastor, First Brethren Church, Uniontown, Pa.
- 10:30-11:45 a.m.—Expository message, Robert E. A. Miller, pastor, Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.
- 1:30-2:45 p.m.—Paper, "Building a Church in a Growing City," Dr. William R. Rice, pastor, Inter-City Baptist Church, Allen Park, Mich.
- Open forum led by Dr. Homer A. Kent, registrar, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.
- 3:00-4:00 p.m.—Alumni business.
- 5:30 p.m.—Alumni banquet (Eskimo Inn). Toastmaster, Harold H. Etling, pastor, First Brethren Church, Akron, Ohio.
- 7:30 p.m.—Prophetic message on Palestine (illustrated by slides), Bernard N. Schneider, pastor, Grace Brethren Church, Mansfield, Ohio.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1953

Theme for Day—"Prophetic Ministry"

- 9:00-10:15 a.m.—Devotional message, Ward A. Miller, pastor, Bethel Brethren Church, Osceola, Ind.
- 10:30-11:45 a.m.—Expository message, Paul L. Mohler, Listie Brethren Church, Listie, Pa.
- 1:30-2:45 p.m.—Paper, "The Place of Prophecy in Preaching of Today," Dennis I. Holliday, pastor, First Brethren Church, Waynesboro, Pa.
- Open forum led by Dr. Paul R. Bauman, vice president in charge of public relations, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.
- 7:30 p.m.—Message, Charles W. Turner, pastor, Grace Brethren Church, Flora, Ind.

---

fund. More than $1,700 was given thus to this fund.

This church recently installed a sink in the kitchen.

We are planning preresurrection services April 1-3 at the Meyersdale church. A vacation Bible school is being planned for Summit Mills June 1-12 and for Meyersdale June 8-19. The first mentioned will be held in the evenings, which plan proved successful last year.

James Hoffmeyer, Jr., of the Meyersdale church, a student in the collegiate division of Grace Seminary, and Carol Austin, of Cumberland, Md., were married during the Christmas vacation.—Leslie Moore, pastor.

Temple City, California

Our church had a 1-day revival January 4, and thus the Lord blessed us at the beginning of 1953. On this day 10 people made first-time public confessions of Christ and 42 made rededications to the Lord. On the following Wednesday 50 people attended the prayer meeting.

The offering for home missions from this home mission church was $1,555.55, the largest in our history.

On January 2 the church surprised the pastor and his wife with a party in commemoration of our 32d wedding anniversary.—Leo Polman, pastor.

GOD'S HAND ON THE HERALD

"Enclosed find $2 for renewal of my subscription for the Brethren Missionary Herald. The real blessing I receive from reading the Herald could not easily be put into words. It is as though in reading it one can feel God's guiding hand and approval on each part of the issue. It is a wonderful feeling to be able to read a Christian magazine and to know that it is all true, according to God's Word. May God bless you for your stand upon the Word of God with no reservations. (Signed) Mrs. Frank B. Yeigh."

LOVEST THOU

ME

W. M. C.

52-53

JOHN 21: 15-17

LOVE'S STRENGTHENING

By Dr. Robert D. Culver, Trinity Seminary, Chicago, Ill.

There are 2 general areas of duty for all men: man's duty to God and man's duty to man. Some would add a third: man's duty to self.

It is interesting to observe that the Bible specifically enjoins that love prevail in each one of these areas. As to man's duty to God, Jesus said: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." As to man's duty to man, Jesus went on to say: "Thou shalt love thy neighbour." The portion of this section in the 22d chapter of Matthew that is often missed is that the measure of love for one's neighbor is one's love for himself, for the whole statement is: "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." So though the main emphasis in Jesus' statements is that one should love God and his neighbor also, it is clearly asserted that one must also love himself. "On these two commandments" (and by inference three), said Jesus, "hang all the law and the prophets."

So then basically the thing which the Old Testament required and the thing which Jesus affirmed is the necessity for love in every human relationship. This makes it quite to be expected that the same truth would appear in the writings of Paul, who frequently spoke of the ethical side of Christian doctrine and practice. And it does appear. After a chapter and a half of detailed ethical instructions this appears in the 13th chapter of the Book of Romans: "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law" (Rom. 13:8). Observe that the realm of duty treated is man's duty to man—man's treatment of "thy neighbour."

Now a most interesting thing takes place. Paul puts love in such a supreme place that he declares it to be the essential ingredient of all proper human relationships! Hear what he says: "For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet" (observe this is the whole 2d table of the Ten Commandments, all relating to man's duty to man); "and if there be any other commandment" (here he surveys all other possible duties of one man to another), "it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law" (Rom. 13:9-10).

If I understand this passage, it is true then that if one desires to do right by his neighbor he must love him. This is true of a wife toward her husband and vice versa. This is true of a mother toward her children and vice versa. This is true of a pastor and his flock and vice versa. Get it! "If there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."

Now since love of others is to be equal in measure and similar in kind to love of self, the question arises: In what way should one love himself? I think an illustration will answer this question and serve to show that true love for one's self is a necessary thing, and also that love must be of a certain kind. Let us suppose that a young man just out of high school leaves his farm home to go to the distant city to get a job and make his fortune. When he gets to town he must first buy food to eat. If he truly loves his body he will buy good food which will keep flesh and blood and bones in good condition. He will also crave company. If he truly loves himself he will seek and find the company of good men and women, people who will contribute to the welfare of his whole being. If he has no proper love of self he may seek other company and like the prodigal son, who certainly did not have a proper love for himself, waste his substance on "wine and harlots." He will have many choices to make. If he truly loves himself he will always choose that which, to the best of his knowledge, will promote the best interests of his whole person.

This kind of love is more than affection, or passion, or tenderness, or many other feelings or sentiments which people often call love. It is all these coupled with a proper intellectual and rational estimate of true values. It includes insight into the real nature of things.

Only God can supply this kind of love and only God has it perfectly. "God [and only He] is love." As men by new birth become partakers of the divine nature and then by faith embrace and use their new resources, they may begin to live a life ruled by love. When husband and wife can't get along, basically one thing is wrong—not enough love. When mother and children are "out of fix" and harsh and unkind, one thing is wrong—not enough love, at least not enough wisely directed love. Maybe there is not a fine enough quality in that love. So it is in all relations of man to man.

"And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love."

---

WMC will have its own missionary, supported in full by Brethren women, by this time next year if YOU do your part. Have you given your birthday offering for this purpose?

How would you like to be an editor who is "fresh out of news"? Your WMC editor is in such a fix. Have you wondered where the news for the column is? So has your editor. Someone suggested that the news from the councils should be put in the Herald fast so as to keep it fresh. Apparently the news about WMC over the country is SO fresh that it is still locked up in the individual councils! As this February issue goes to press the editor has not one line of news from ANY council. Your WMC editor cannot make news—she can only report it.

While we are on the subject, perhaps a little glimpse behind the scenes as to how the WMC Herald is made up might be profitable to all interested in this important part of our national work. Unless there is a sudden emergency in the home of the editor, her copy for the subsequent month leaves her desk by the 20th of each month. In other words, on the 20th of January all copy for the February issue which you are now reading is put in the mail. If some news or letter or business item arrives on the 21st it will NOT be found in the February Herald because it arrived one day too late. Therefore, the news or letter or bit of information will have to wait until the next issue of the WMC Herald. We hope this helps you to understand why something you have written (if you only would) may not appear just as soon as you expect to see it. When we understand some of the problems incident to the printing of a magazine you will want to pray more for the editor.

One thing more. Your WMC editor and the executive WMC board would like to know what you like in your Herald and what you'd like to see omitted. The week after the January issue came out 5 different ladies who are strangers to the editor wrote about the blessings they received from that particular issue. But perhaps you didn't like what was in that issue. We'd like to know. The WMC Herald is YOUR magazine, ladies, and we want it to be a blessing to you. Do you like the devotional articles? How about a word from you if you do not like them? Are the editorials worth anything to you, or would that space be better used for something else? If so, what are your ideas? WE WANT TO KNOW! If the readers of the WMC Herald would write the editor giving their complaints, appreciation, and suggestions for bettering the Herald and give ideas for helping other councils, then the WMC executive board will be better able to formulate policies and plans for future issues of our issue of the Herald. You will cooperate, I know. We'll be looking for YOUR letter.

---

WMC will have its own missionary, supported in full by Brethren women, by this time next year if YOU do your part. Have you given your birthday offering for this purpose?

---

Give to Grace Seminary, December, January, February.

Presenting Your Newly Elected

WMC PRESIDENT

MRS. KENNETH ASHMAN

It is not easy to say good-bye to a fellow laborer in the Lord's vineyard. National WMC was reluctant to have Mrs. Edward Bowman relinquish her able leadership of the Brethren Women's Missionary Council, though all thanked God for her "fellowship in the gospel" until now. But God in His providence always supplies the needs of His children so that His work will not suffer. According to His leading, Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, of Wooster, Ohio, is now our national president.

In her early years Harriet Martin Ashman was prepared not only by formal school training but in her heart for her role as pastor's wife and women's leader. Her Christian life began for her personally at the age of 10 when she says she knows she was born again in Burbank, Ohio. After high school young Harriet enrolled at Ashland College, where she received her B. S. degree 4 years later. But all was not study during those years at college. A tall young man who hailed then from the mountains of Pennsylvania cast a very interested eye on this attractive Ohio miss. Harriet's eye returned some interested glances which seemed to be all that was needed for the growth of a special kind of friendship. As a casual friendship blossomed into deep love, the chemistry and biology and all the necessary studies to be mastered in college certainly came easier.

A girl with less determination would have called a halt to studies after receiving her degree in favor of marriage. But Harriet was made of sterner stuff. She wanted an R. N. degree, which she worked toward while her husband-to-be pursued his theological training and degree. During her years at White Cross (Methodist) Hospital at Columbus, Ohio, Kenneth burned up many a gallon of gasoline to go court his girl whenever she had a free hour. At long last the coveted R. N. was Harriet's. From there she went to Akron City Hospital, where for 3 years she was teaching supervisor of the surgical ward. Since her marriage Mrs. Ashman has occasionally done a little nursing in nearby hospitals.

Two daughters have blessed this marriage: Carol Ann, 11, and Linda Jane, 6. With her daughters and the multiplied duties which befall most parsonage "first ladies," Mrs. Ashman has always had plenty to do. In her husband's various pastorates our national president has been active in local and district WMC and SMM. As she assumes the national leadership of WMC Mrs. Ashman covets the prayers of her sister laborers in the Lord. Her favorite verse will make her leadership at once valuable and Christ-centered: "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer" (Psa. 19:14).

---

Mrs. Kenneth Ashman suggests you read Psalms 60 to 90 for your extra Bible reading in the month of March.

Satan's master stroke in robbing God's own of spiritual strength and vitality is to keep them too busy for the quiet hour with God. He knows they are without power when they are not in touch with the powerhouse. When parents fail to build their own resources through quietly waiting before God they work havoc in more than their own personal lives. God knows that His children are helpless before the onslaught of Satan's attacks unless their souls are garrisoned with the study of His Word and steeped in the sweetness of prayer. That's why He has told us in the Scriptures to "study to be quiet" (I Thess. 4:11). It takes study and thoughtful, purposeful effort to learn the sweet fragrance of quietness. And the reward? Supreme serenity, though all around be chaos; fragrance of refreshment, though overwhelmed with responsibility; the grace that lends a benediction on all whose lives are touched. "Study to be quiet" individually, faithfully, and experience the exhilaration of spiritual and physical strength.

If Satan designs to keep adults and especially parents from the victories wrought on the knees in the quietness of God's presence, be assured that his work never stops in this respect with the children. He has veiled the eyes of all too many professing Christian parents to the need of family fellowship in prayer and Bible learning. Because of lack of personal devotions, parents are not awake to this very important need in the lives of their children. How can your child be taught to pray when prayer is a strange and often awkward experience to you, the parent? How can you intelligently read and explain the Bible to your questioning offspring when the Scriptures are unknown to you? Your eyes can be opened to the things of God as told within the pages of His Book if you are born again. Time and again God tells His own: "I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren." Only the natural man, the individual still in his sins, cannot comprehend the wisdom of the divine. But you, Christian parent, have access to God's Book because He does not want you to be ignorant. "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (I Cor. 2:14). Spiritual discernment is God's gift to every child of His. Why don't you realize this and possess your possession?

The "problem," then, if that is what you call it, of family devotions is largely a matter of the HEART. Hear the command of the Lord to the children of Israel and remember that "all of God's Word is for all of God's people for all of God's time." "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart" (Deut. 6:4-6). If God's Word is in your heart its compelling force will mean your obedience. The Christian who sins by indifference to spiritual matters by worldly walk, by careless conduct, by fruitlessness, is proving to all who know him that God's Word is not in his heart.

"And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes. And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates" (Deut. 6:7-9). How clearly the parents' responsibility is taught in this passage. Parents are to teach God's Word to their children after they have first experienced it in their own hearts. "And these words which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently [with care, faithfully; this implies working at the task] unto thy children." Notice who is to teach: "thou . . . thy children." As fine as Bible-teaching Sunday schools and child evangelism classes are, these are not to take the place of parental teaching at home. Yet a vast majority of Christian parents relegate the teaching of the Scriptures to such agencies when they should be the auxiliary which confirms and builds upon what the parents have been taught. Formal Bible training or fine education are not necessary for doing a good job of teaching your children. God gives wisdom when we ask for it (Jas. 1:5). Oh, parents, when will we assume the God-given responsibility and embrace the opportunity of teaching our own children?

The whole of life should be saturated with God's Word as taught by the parents to the children from generation to generation. Read this passage again. How often is the Bible the heart of our conversation when in the house with our family? As we walk, be it leisurely or bent on business, on what subject is our conversation centered? At day's end do we rehash its events with a shudder or calmly contemplate His words? As the new day calls us back to the work at hand, what are our first thoughts? The breakfast—I'll have to hurry to get that bus—be sure to make that phone call this morning—don't forget that appointment at 10? "My words . . . a sign upon thy hand"—for what purpose but to keep them in His work. "As frontlets between thine eyes"—to keep the gaze fixed. "On the posts of thy house"—as a witness to "the wayfaring men, though fools [that they] shall not err therein" (Isa. 35:8). First in thy heart and then in thy children's hearts. Dare we longer disobey?

Family devotions is a matter of the HOME—every member of that home. The idea, of course, is for the father of the home to take the headship in this matter. In fact, the burden of spiritual teaching is on the father in the home, according to the Word. "For I know him, that he will command [not demand] his children and his household after him" (Gen. 18:19). "And, ye fathers . . . bring them up in the nurture [nurture them in the chastening] and admonition of the Lord" (Eph. 6:4). Mothers by the score have done their utmost to urge the husband and father of the home to take his rightful place and lead out in family devotions, often to no avail. Isn't it strange that the "Beau Brummel" of yesterday, that first-string basketball hero, the leading salesman of his division, is suddenly most unaccountably shy and bashful before his children, especially in spiritual matters? It is hard for me to appreciate how any red-blooded man, a father, can be ashamed to pray before his children! If he were praying in private he certainly would not tremble to pray in the presence of his own offspring.

---

Mrs. Kenneth Ashman suggests you read Psalms 60 to 90 for your extra Bible reading in the month of March.

Any dad who refuses to read the Bible to his children on the grounds that he is not a good reader and not too well educated is not worthy to be called father. Familiarity with the Scriptures will increase one's reading ability. You'll never become either a fair or good reader if you close the Book. For shame, Christian father, if by flimsy excuse you have robbed your children of their rightful heritage—a praying and Bible-believing and reading dad. Find a time every day, take it from something less important if necessary (nothing is so important as your children's spiritual welfare), set a time if possible for family devotions. If you can't set the time then TAKE it at some time each day. Gather your family around you for Bible reading and prayer. Set the children to reading just as soon as they can recognize the simple words. Let each one in the group read at least one verse around. Then pray—from the lisping baby to stalwart dad who takes his rightful leadership.

The family devotional time is the only HOPE on the world's ever-darkening horizon. Christ-centered family fellowship is the hope and strength for overcoming those temptations to sin which are peculiar to every age. Your small children face temptations; those hard-to-understand teen-agers fight them on every hand; you, parent, have temptations peculiar to middle age as well as old age. They tell us that "the family which prays together stays together." How right they are if those prayers and lives are in CHRIST. The Christ-honoring home is invulnerable. Satan knows this and will not cease to deter you from your course. But "he giveth more grace." When Nehemiah returned to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem Satan had his helpers on hand to thwart the work. In his diary he records as follows: "Nevertheless we made our prayer unto God, and set a watch against them [the enemy] day and night" (Neh. 4:9). This, then, is your family secret. Pray faithfully to God for time and wisdom to teach your children, then set a watch that Satan cannot rob you of that fellowship.

"Faith without works is dead" (Jas. 2:20).

Give to Grace Seminary, December, January, February.

WMC will have its own missionary, supported in full by Brethren women, by this time next year if YOU do your part. Have you given your birthday offering for this purpose?

THERE

IS

NO

NEWS

REMEMBER
!?!=

Local WMC's over the country are busy filling MISSIONARY HOPE CHESTS about this time of the year. Many ladies do not know what would be appropriate to put in this chest for the missionary ladies who visit us from time to time. Since our missionaries are people just like you and me they can use the same items for living as we, even though they may be in less civilized countries. Sheets, pillow slips, turkish towels, tea towels, wash cloths, thread, adhesive tape, needles, pins, table cloths, material for dresses in 4-yard lengths, hosiery, aprons, smocks, slips—anything and everything you ever saved in your hope chest or which you can use at home. Remember that our missionaries cannot run to a department store as soon as some item of linen or clothing wears out. They have to take supplies for several years. I have a feeling they'd enjoy a box of birthday or general greeting cards, a box or two of stationery, bias binding, tape binding, etc. You fill in the rest and let's make our lady missionaries happy.

Wonderful news from Mrs. Chester McCall, national financial secretary-treasurer: "Praise the Lord from whom all blessings flow. Home missions offering is $2,387.80. . . . Thank the ladies through the Herald for their wonderful giving. I know the Lord will bless each one for her part. . . . Also remind them of the need for a real offering for Grace Seminary."

The month of February is the last month of our giving for this year to Grace Seminary. Have you done your best?—Ed.

Mrs. Kenneth Ashman suggests you read Psalms 60 to 90 for your extra Bible reading in the month of March.

Africa—

Miss Edith Geske.....April 9
Mrs. Robert Williams.....April 15

Argentina—

Rev. Solon Hoyt.....April 2
Robert Luis Dowdy.....April 26, 1948

Brazil—

Rev. J. Keith Altig.....April 9

In the U. S. A.—

Miss Janice Altig.....April 9
Miss Marguerite Taber.....April 11
David George Goodman.....April 21, 1947

"Ambassadors for Christ"

Sisterhood of MARY and MARTHA

II COR 5:20

DOM BEK

JAMES CHALMERS (MARTYR OF NEW GUINEA)

By Mary Emmert

James Chalmers, a Scotsman like so many of our great missionaries, seemed to be a Livingstone, a Carey, and a Judson all combined. He always chose the most dangerous places he could find, risking his life a thousand times, and finally dying at the hands of the cannibals he had gone to serve.

As a young man James was a good athlete and a very popular student, as he was very active and always fond of a good time. After being soundly converted, he gave himself to be a missionary.

After several years of preparation, James and his wife were sent out to the South Sea Islands in 1866. In their 7-months trip they were in 2 shipwrecks before reaching their destination, and had lost all their goods. So they were glad to settle down on an established mission station in the New Hebrides. There they served faithfully for 10 years.

But James Chalmers longed to get among real heathen where the Gospel had never been preached. He trained many of the native Christians there to go and evangelize the new field with him. The place they had chosen was New Guinea, which is the largest island in the world, being 3 times as large as Great Britain.

The people of New Guinea were cannibals always fighting and devouring those of other villages. They wore necklaces of human bones and decorated their houses with skulls. They were proud of their tattoo marks because that showed they had murdered someone.

Chalmers' life was in great danger as he went everywhere exploring the country and making friends with the fierce tribesmen. He carried on trade with them by means of hoop-iron and tomahawks, as they had been living in the stone age up to that time.

Again and again the savages tried to murder the whole missionary party, but as one chief explained on one occasion, they were held back by some mysterious power as they were about to step over the low fence around Chalmers' house. In spite of the danger, Mrs. Chalmers showed great bravery in staying alone for weeks at a time as he went on exploring trips.

James went into the most warlike villages unafraid. There was something in his appearance and voice that made the people tremble and obey. He ordered them to give up cannibalism and fighting, and they did. In 5 years time there were great changes for the better.

He preached the Gospel to them, taught them to sing, and established schools. But he said that a missionary's life also consisted of living Christ before them, while one was engaged in building, traveling, and playing.

"We go as man to man to try to live the Gospel," he said, and he always insisted that a missionary should be a real man or woman, not the "namby-pamby sort," as he expressed it.

The climate was very bad in New Guinea. Many of his native teachers died. Later his wife also passed away. Her last message to him, however, was not to abandon the native teachers. So he did not go home to England on furlough until 20 years had passed.

He married again, but lost his second wife after some years, due to the terrible fevers on New Guinea. He, himself, although often stricken with fever, seemed strong in spite of all his hardships. He was destined for another sort of death.

In 1901 James Chalmers and a new missionary named Tomkins went to explore an inlet where they had never been before. They were set upon and killed upon reaching shore, and consumed by the cannibals. So at the age of 60 this hero had finished his course. Doubtless, if he had been given his choice he would have chosen to leave life thus in the midst of action.

The warriors' strongholds and some of their war canoes were destroyed by the governor in punishment for their crime, so that they would never dare to attack another missionary.

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR MARCH

SINGSPIRATION.

INTERCESSION—Using prayer suggestions.

SCRIPTURE—Psalms 119:97-112.

TRAINING FOR AMBASSADORS—

Juniors—"Tessie's Teacher."

Middlers—"Tessie's Teacher."

Seniors—"Seventh Day Adventism."

SPECIAL NUMBER.

REPORT ON AMBASSADORS—

Juniors—"James Chalmers, Martyr of New Guinea."

Middlers—"James Chalmers, Martyr of New Guinea."

Seniors—"James Chalmers, Martyr of New Guinea."

BENEDICTION.

BUSINESS MEETING.

MEMORIZATION FOR 1952-53

The challenge this year, as a personal project, is the learning of I Peter. The award is an SMM sweater, or $7.50 toward Camp Bethany, or $7.50 worth of supplies from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

Those already learning the book are Pat Griffith, our national president, and Barbara Saverin, of the SMM at Mundy's Corner, Pa.

If you learn I Peter, fill in the blank found in the December 13 WMC Herald, and send it to the general secretary by June 30 (deadline).

The children in the junior class were reading the Scripture for their lesson aloud. Tessie read Acts 2:1-4. It said, "And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place. And suddenly there came a sound from heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting. And there appeared unto them cloven tongues like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance." Jack read John 20:22. It said, "And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive ye the Holy Ghost."

"Now," said Mrs. Nixon, the teacher, "each of you tell what you think the Holy Spirit is like. You have read verses from God's Word. Do they help you?"

The children began to say that the Holy Spirit was like breath, like wind, like a great power come from God. None of them even thought of Him as a person. Of course, Mrs. Nixon knew that this was evidence of the working of Satan in the minds of these young children, for she was convinced that the Devil did not want anyone to think of the Holy Spirit as being a person equal with and as important as the Lord Jesus Christ. She hastily prayed: "Oh Father, help me today to make it clear to the minds of these dear children that the Third Person of the Trinity is a real being and they should appreciate Him and learn to love Him and respect His leading in their lives."

"Well, folks, you have given answers which show how the Spirit appears sometimes, and how He chooses to work, but did you know that the Holy Spirit is a person? We must speak of the Spirit as 'He' and not 'it.' Revelation 2:7 says He speaks. 'He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.'"

Tessie said: "I can remember in Matthew 10:20 it says: 'For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.'"

"Well," said Jack, "then the Spirit must be a person. Only people can speak. Animals make a noise, but only humans created by God form sentences and carry on conversations. Thanks, Mrs. Nixon. Now I know the Spirit is a person and not just wind."

"Children, in Acts 13:2 the Spirit is calling out missionaries. We should be thankful for the person who called folk to go preach the Gospel. If they had not been called, and if they had not been willing to trust their lives to the One who called them, perhaps we would not have had the privilege of hearing about Jesus and the opportunity of accepting Him as our personal Saviour. In Acts 16:6-7 He is overseeing the church and instructing the missionaries where to go and where not to go. Do you think a breath could do this?"

PRAYER SUGGESTIONS

1. Pray for the great needs of foreign missions.
2. Pray that the service of SMM girls will bring honor and glory to our Lord; that souls will be saved.
3. Pray for national, district, and local officers that they might have God's guidance in all things.

"Oh no," said Tom. "Only a person could direct others. My pets do not tell me what to do. I tell them. Just people give me orders and expect me to listen. So the Spirit must be a person."

"Let's turn to Acts 20:28 and read more about the Spirit," said the teacher.

So they read together: "Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood."

"Now," said Mrs. Nixon, "do you suppose Jesus would have died on the cross to buy the souls of men and form the church and then turn around and ask the wind, or breath, or some power to take care of His precious purchase? I should say not! You see, boys and girls, we are living in the Age of the Spirit. The Old Testament period is often called the Age of the Father; the period covered by the Gospels, the Age of the Son; from Pentecost until the second coming of Christ, the Age of the Spirit. Jesus bought us, but did not go off and leave us. He told the disciples that another Comforter would come. A comforter is one who comforts, leads, and guides people who need him. So Jesus has placed the Spirit in the world today to live in the hearts of all who have accepted Christ, as a Comforter. He is the One who tells you to take your hand out of the cookie jar, should it get in at the wrong time. The Spirit is the One who causes you to turn in things you find because you know they are not your very own. The Spirit is the One who helps you to pray and gives you peace in your heart when you go to sleep at night in a dark room away from everyone and everything. Surely only a person can do this. Not only that. He can be grieved. You can't make an animal, a flower, a tree, a toy sad. Ephesians 4:30 says: 'And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.' He can be insulted, too. We read in Hebrews 10:29: 'Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?' In Acts 5:3 we are told He can be lied to. I do hope you all know, by now, that the Spirit of God is a person and that you will try daily to please Him and not speak of Him as 'it.' Let us be fair. Let us call Him by His right names and be thankful that Jesus sent Him to help us."

As the missionary circle met later in the week, you could hear the mothers of these children thanking Mrs. Nixon for making the Holy Spirit so clear to their little ones. They truly appreciated her interest in their boys and girls and her desire that these children should not only know the Lord, but be conscious of the presence of the Holy Spirit in their lives. They were proud that their children had such a wonderful teacher.

FIND OUT

1. Things the Spirit does.
2. Things the Spirit feels.
3. Things the Spirit works through.
4. One verse to prove He is a person.

We take up now a cult that is truly on the march. It has a vigorous program. It knows what it believes and does not hesitate to proclaim it. Seventh-Day Adventism has in its several branches over 230,000 members. It appeals to many because of its emphasis upon prophecy, to others because of its mixture of law and grace, and to still others because of its zeal in forwarding its program.

I. Its Names. The most prominent name applied to this movement is SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISM. This name suggests their 2 outstanding beliefs: (1) the Sabbath as the day of worship and (2) the advent of Christ. This title is often shortened, its advocates being simply called ADVENTISTS. More so formerly than at present, the group was called the MILLERITE MOVEMENT in recognition of its founder, William Miller. The latest Yearbook of American Churches will give the reader the names of the various Adventist bodies along with location of headquarters and numerical status.

II. Origin. Seventh-Day Adventism arose out of a "predicament," as Dr. W. E. Biederwolf calls it. William Miller had made certain predictions concerning the coming of the Lord in 1843. He later changed the time to 1844. He did not come on either date, so Miller admitted his error and would have dropped the matter, but Mrs. Ellen G. White claimed to have had visions in which she learned Miller was not wrong after all, and devised a system which made Christ come in 1844, not to the earth but to the "heavenly sanctuary." This is where Christ is now. Much of Seventh-Day Adventism is built around this idea and the further revelation of the importance of Sabbath worship.

III. History of the Movement. Adventism is based mainly on the Bible and the writings of Ellen G. White, for which inspiration is claimed. The movement has grown moderately fast since its origin, with an accelerated growth in recent years. It has world-wide interests seeking to establish itself everywhere. It has numerous schools, sanitariums, and publishing plants which are devoted to its enlarging ministry. It gives especial attention to the care of the body. Ofttimes Adventists do not reveal their identity by calling themselves Seventh-Day Adventists as, for instance, in their nationwide "Voice of Prophecy" radio broadcast. Thus many are attracted by the cult before they know what it is. Let it be said that it is at present a very aggressive movement.

AWARD WINNERS AT HARRISBURG

The four girls pictured above are (left to right): Nancy Weber, Janice Weber, Janice Grubb, and Janet Weber. They are all members of the SMM of the Harrisburg, Pa., church. The girls are wearing sweaters awarded to them for memorizing the Book of Philippians last year.

IV. Doctrinal Viewpoint. First, what elements of truth are to be found in Adventism? It claims to believe (1) the Bible as the Word of God, (2) in the deity of Christ and in Him as Saviour (but interprets the latter wrongly), (3) in the second coming of Christ (but with different ideas from the orthodox view), (4) in the resurrection of the just and the unjust, (5) in Satan (but with wrong ideas in relation to sin-bearing), (6) in separated living, and (7) in taking seriously the great commission of our Lord. Other elements of truth might be mentioned, but with the mention of these it will be seen that the movement may easily be deceptive. This fact was largely responsible for Dr. L. S. Bauman, in his tract, "Beware of the Wolf," speaking of Seventh-Day Adventism as "one of the most dangerous wolves that ever sauntered forth in sheep's clothing."

Now, secondly, what in the way of error is to be found in this cult? (1) It is given to date-setting (indicated in the dates 1843 and 1844 given above). (2) It teaches that Christ entered the heavenly sanctuary in 1844 to make an investigation of the sins of His people, with the purpose of completing His atonement for them (cf. Dan. 8:14 with Heb. 8:1-2). (3) It teaches that Satan is made the scapegoat to bear away the sins of God's people. They get this from a totally unwarranted interpretation of Leviticus 16:8. It is a repudiation of the finished work of Christ. (4) It teaches that the souls of the dead are sleeping in the grave. It should be noted that the soul-sleeping texts used by the Adventists always refer to the body, never to the spirit. (5) It affirms that the wicked are annihilated. It is difficult to see their viewpoint in face of such passages as John 3:36, Matthew 25:46, Revelation 22:11, and Mark 9:44. (6) It holds that the 7th day of the week must be kept by the faithful instead of the 1st day. Mrs. White was confirmed in this belief by a vision which she is said to have had. The Adventists are inconsistent, however, in that while they attempt to keep this part of the law, they do not attempt to keep all of it. (7) It is a system of legalism. It mixes law and grace. They hold that the law of Moses was never abrogated.

V. Conception of Christ. Much that Adventism says about Christ is true. He is held to be deity. He is presented as the central figure in Scripture. He is coming again. He is set forth as Saviour through the shedding of His blood at Calvary. However, it definitely sets aside His finished work at the cross by saying that Satan, symbolized by the scapegoat of Leviticus 16, will ultimately bear away all the sins of the penitent. Mrs. White clearly presents this shocking matter in her book, "The Great Controversy Between Christ and Satan."

The Bible teaches that Christ, and He alone, is man's sin-bearer (1 Pet. 2:24, etc.).

VI. Refutation of Errors. Space forbids the writer to go into detail in this matter. He would like to suggest that those who are especially interested in this phase of the subject procure one or both of two booklets which are obtainable at the Brethren Missionary Herald Company: "Why You Should Not Be a Seventh-Day Adventist" (40 Bible-supported reasons), by E. B. Jones, who at one time was a Seventh-Day Adventist foreign missionary and publishing house manager; and "Seventh-Day Adventism, the Result of a Predicament," by W. E. Biederwolf. A good book against Seventh-Day Adventism which has recently been republished is "Seventh-Day Adventism Renounced," by D. M. Canright, who had been in the system for 28 years.

THE SERPENT

CURSED ABOVE ALL

By Marybeth Munn

"E-e-e-k!" A small black-and-green lizard slithered under the trunk in the storehouse that we were cleaning. At my startled shriek, little Job came running to rescue me from the monster that was after me. Disgust registered on his shiny face when I confessed that it was only a lizard. He was out burning more rubbish when a fat gray mouse scampered between my feet, then behind the stack of boxes in the corner. Again I heard myself squeal, though I'm not afraid of mice in the least. This time Job only called in to see what it was, and he patiently advised me just to kill it. So I resolved to be braver about harmless creatures.

Boxes or sacks of this and that were stacked in every nook and cranny and we were classifying each systematically, tossing much into the category of junk. Then I picked up a long narrow paper sack, which felt like nails. As I peered down into it I saw a wad of rope or something on top of the nails. I began to reach in to remove the rope when for some reason I decided just to shake it out. Just then I saw the rope coil—calmly I laid the whole thing on the floor but I forgot my resolution not to scream as I yelled to Job, "Come kill a snake." He grabbed a stick, danced gingerly about in case it came after him, then he beat it to death.

As we removed it from the sack we discovered it was the most poisonous of all our snakes. Most of its victims die a horrible death if they don't receive serum immediately. All Job could say was, "Truly God held your hand from reaching into that sack." It is wonderful for us to know, too, that our Lord keeps us and holds back our hand from the evil one when in our haste and thoughtlessness we would reach into some wicked snare that Satan has set for us.

Marybeth Munn

Introducing Your Officers—

EVELYN VNASDALE

Bandage Secretary

Local Project Suggestion— from Marybeth Munn: Bed jackets for leper patients confined to bed are needed in Africa. They can be made easily from old shirts. Directions: Remove collar and sleeves. Bind around the sleeve holes and neck edge. They button down the back, so change the pocket to front of the jacket. Send completed jackets to the bandage secretary.

OFFICIAL REPORT

SPRING CABINET MEETING: Had your spring cabinet meeting yet? Don't forget it, for this is the time to check up on your goals so that your SMM will be an honor society.

APRIL: Keep in mind that next month is SMM birthday month.

BIRTHDAY PROJECT: During the month of April the offering which is taken is given for the higher education of missionaries' children. For many years we have had this as our project, and each year a certain amount is given to each missionary's child that is in college. Those that received a gift this year were Janice Altig, Marguerite Taber, and Kenneth Sheldon. We have set $400 as our goal for this project this year. Let's all do our best to reach it!

BIBLE READING: Remember! Bible reading is a starred Mary goal. The reading which is required for juniors and middleers is Acts and for the seniors it is Acts and 6 of 12 minor prophets.

READING BOOKS: Some of the unstarred Mary goals are to read a missionary book, a Christian fiction book, and a devotional book. Books of these types can be ordered from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company.

Memorization: Girls, have you been learning your verses? If you want to receive an emerald or diamond award, the juniors and middleers must learn 6 and the seniors 12 of the verses that were listed. Better get after it right away!

PROJECT BOOKS: The supply of project books has been replenished now. You can get them from the literature secretary.

SMM NEWS

The girls at CLEVELAND, OHIO, hold their monthly meeting on a Sunday afternoon. Because of the distance of their homes they make a lunch and eat at the church after the morning services and then have their SMM meeting. Saturdays are their SMM workdays.

Penny partners of the girls in CLAY CITY, IND., are kept busy as they help with the national SMM project.

The girls of HARRAH, WASH., SMM made a nice contact with girls in the local hospitals by making yarn dogs for them to use on their beds. Each girl wrote a testimonial letter and explained the local SMM and sent them with their little doggies.

BEDTIME DEVOTIONS AT OUR BRETHREN NAVAHO MISSION IN NEW MEXICO

As the Editor Sees It — —

By L. L. Grubb

A GREAT JEW DIES

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, the first president of Israel, and one of the chief planners of the Jewish State, died at his home in Rehovoth November 9—just 3 weeks before celebrating his 78th birthday.

This great man was not only a fine statesman but also a scientific genius.

He was largely responsible for the Balfour Declaration. Out of this grew the present Jewish State. At a very critical time in the history of Great Britain, Dr. Weizmann solved the TNT problem and helped to win a war. So great was this service that David Lloyd George gave him special honor.

Possessed with a burning desire to see his people back in Palestine under their own flag, he was one of very few men who have lived to see such a far-reaching aspiration realized.

With the passing of Dr. Weizmann the Jews have indeed lost a world champion.

This brilliant Jew is not the only one who has blessed humanity with various and helpful scientific discoveries. Many others have followed in his train and in all walks of life. Due recognition should be given to each one.

ANTI-SEMITISM SWEEPING WORLD

Recently newspapers and magazines have carried extensive articles on the new Russian purge of Jews. It follows about the same pattern as that of Hitler a decade ago. It is also another fulfillment of God's prophecies of judgments upon the Jews because of their rejection of their Messiah.

Anti-Jewish feeling is definitely on the increase in our own nation. The only force that can effectively stop rabid anti-Semitism is the clear teaching of God's Word on the subject.

Christians are not only failing in their personal testimony to the Jew, but are failing to inform others of the Jew's place in God's plan.

AMERICA'S GAUDY WINTER PLAYGROUND

Most American cities change their complexion after dark. Evil-doers love the darkness because their deeds are evil. Thus Miami changes her complexion after dark and becomes one of the most alluring combinations of entertainment, sin, gambling, and lust to be found anywhere within our coasts.

Perhaps on the credit side of the ledger for Miami it should be said that American dollars by the millions become available to her practitioners especially throughout the winter months. Business of all sorts is quick to sense this fact and "makes hay while the sun shines."

It is natural that big-time gamblers, bawdy-house matrons, criminals of all sorts, and many conventions should gravitate toward this colorful and exciting city. This is exactly what happens.

Even though heavy fines and some jail sentences have been assessed upon bookmakers and gamblers, they still operate with much profit and an almost satisfactory degree of freedom. Uncounted thousands of dollars cross the windows at Hialeah race track and occasionally races are "fixed." Crap games, cards, roulette, etc., all claim their share of the gambler's money.

It is said that a young man by the name of Wingy awoke one morning in his hotel room with a 3-weeks unpaid bill to consider and 30 cents in his pocket. He went to the lobby, bought a Miami Herald, and studied the entries at Hialeah. Dropping his remaining quarter in a slot machine he received $18. He managed a free ride to Hialeah and, after playing 7 events, left the track with $30,000 in his pocket. That night in a card game he won another $10,000. Actually this story has become a legend in Miami.

One would not expect the terrific dollar potential of this city to be overlooked by ungodly, defiled women. They are found from the beaches to the shadiest houses in town. Frequent robbery and often murder go along with this Satanic game.

The Kefauver Committee definitely put a crimp in the style of Miami's gamblers and houses of sin. Many of the "joints" closed under the scrutinizing gaze of these men and some big-time racketeers temporarily moved out of Miami. In addition to this, the Miami citizenry is to be commended for having their own crime commission which digs up evidence on current ill deeds and airs this evidence on the radio or through the local newspapers.

Miami is just one more example of what you find in general in every large American city, an intense concentration of all "civilized" types of sin.

Crime commissions and committees will never stop the march of this Satanic giant, sin! There will simply be periodic lulls in its intensity.

When Paul said that the Gospel is the dynamite of God he prescribed the only real remedy for sin. Pitifully few fundamental testimonies merely scratch the surface of Miami's sea of humanity. It is more of these testimonies that are needed to meet the tide of iniquity.

NO BRETHREN CHURCHES IN FLORIDA

There are no Brethren churches in Florida!

Of course this is a tragic fact, especially in view of the fact that so many of our people travel to this mecca for tourists each winter and could help us in a testimony, at least part of the time.

We would welcome an opportunity to establish a Brethren testimony in one of Florida's populated centers because we believe that God has given us the message which will meet man's spiritual need.

Pray that the Lord will help us to establish a spearhead for Christ and our National Fellowship somewhere down south.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY FOR BRETHREN MINUTE-MEN

This page is to alert every Brethren Minute-Man that a letter is coming your way soon to give you another opportunity to share in the Lord's blessings on a new mission church. This time the help is needed at Findlay, Ohio.

Study the accompanying pictures and then pray for this new church. Notice the fine group of people standing by an old condemned school building where they are meeting at the present time. Do you not think they look worthy of a meeting place of their own? Doesn't a group like this gathered for a regular Sunday morning service indicate a growing work?

Nine accepted Christ in the last 3 months. Isn't that reason enough for the smile on the pastor's face as shown in the picture with his family?

Rev. Forest F. Lance, a J. C. Penney store clerk, waits on a customer. For more than 6 months Brother Lance worked in this store to help support his family. However, just now with the help of the district, church, and Home Missions Council, he is giving his full time to the most important job—being a pastor.

A full-time pastor! A growing congregation! Lots for a church near a new modern school building! Yet, there is still something needed and it is a church building on the vacant lots. This is where your Minute-Man gifts are needed to get this building started at once. Before you make a decision on what you will do with this letter when it arrives, please do this. First, look into this very issue for the pictures of the Navaho mission work and a picture of the new church in Denver, Colo. You had a part in both of these as Minute-Men and certainly you will share in the rewards. Secondly, think about the full-time pastor on the field in Seattle, Wash., the pastor in York, Pa., who will soon be giving his full time to that work, and the blessings of the Lord on the Johnson City, Tenn., church. These are 3 more churches in which you had a part.

Now don't you think you would like to add another church to this fine group? You can do it by just returning a gift in your Minute-Man envelope. If you have never shared in the blessings with the Minute-Men, wouldn't you like to join them?

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balvo.

BRETHREN NAVAHO MISSION, N. MEX. (Evan Adams, missionary)—

We have had several Navahos accept the Lord recently. One woman came Wednesday night to prayer meeting and accepted the Lord. On Friday night she was again in our meeting and spontaneously gave a testimony without such a thing being suggested. Her testimony was: "I have wanted to be a Christian for a long time but I was afraid of what the people would call me and say about me. I know that it is the only good life. Another reason I hesitated for so long was because I don't speak English and I thought you had to speak it to be a Christian. Finally I told myself that I wanted to be a Christian for myself and not for other people, so it didn't matter what they thought or said about me."

This woman has already willingly joined in prayer at our prayer times during the services. You do not have to teach a Navaho to pray when he is saved. They are not spoiled by the sophistication of the white man, which inhibits any audible participation.

PORTLAND, OREG. (Vernon Harris, pastor)—

On January 18 we held a baptismal service for 11 people, using our own baptistry. Even though the upper auditorium is still unfinished, it was a thrilling sight to see 63 people seated in it for this service. Six of those baptized were adults and 5 were children. Four have already joined the membership of the church and others are planning to do so. Another service is being planned to baptize some who could not be present for this one.

The main auditorium is nearly all lathed and ready for plastering. The men of the church have been working on it in the past few weeks and we are hoping to see it plastered very soon.

CHICO, CALIF. (J. Ward Tressler, pastor)—

Thank you for the use of the film, "The Forgotten Navaho." There were 80 people present to enjoy the picture January 18 when we had it at our church. A day or two after the film was shown, the city manager called and asked if we still had the film. He said there was so little known about the Navaho and he would like to have it to show at the Rotary Club. We told him to give us a definite date and we could try to arrange for him to have it. We praise the Lord for this opportunity of using the film for an additional testimony in Chico.

TEMPLE CITY, CALIF. (Leo Polman, pastor)—

The enclosed check for $1,555.55, our Thanksgiving home mission offering, ought to bring some rejoicing in your office as it did here in Temple City. The Lord certainly has been blessing here. Last Sunday we had a real revival all in 1 day—10 first-time confessions and

(Continued on Page 119)

All rights Reserved

C. S. Zimmerman

The Book of Ephesians

I. Presents.

A. To show the Body of Christ in its position and walk.

B. "To set forth the ground, the course, the aim, and end of the Church of the Faithful in Christ" (Alford).

II. Key Words.

A. Unity—Says Dr. Marcus Dods: "Unity is the key to this epistle: the unity of the church with God, the unity of the two great sections of the Christian church, the unity of the members of the church catholic."

B. Heavenly places (1:3, 20; 2:6; 3:10; 6:12).

C. Grace (1:2, 6, 7; 2:5, 7, 8; 3:2, 8; 4:7, 29; 6:24).

D. Riches.

1. Riches of grace (1:7; 2:7).

2. Riches of glory (1:18; 3:16).

3. Riches of Christ (3:8).

E. Mystery (1:9; 3:3, 4, 9; 6:19).

III. Key verses.

A. 1:10—Unity.

B. Verses on mystery as above.

C. 4:1—concerning our walk.

IV. Key outline.

A. Doctrinal (1-3).

1. Conception—Redemption.

2. Construction—Reconciliation.

3. Constituents—Revelation—Consummation.

B. Practical (4-6).

4. Walk.

5. Worship.

6. Warfare.

V. Key thought for the day.

A. The church of God is eternal.

1. It was conceived in eternity in the mind of God.

2. It is being constructed in the present by the power of God.

3. Its consummation in the future will be to fulfill the purposes of God.

B. The church is to make a great confession in time concerning God.

1. Concerning the mind of God.

2. Concerning the purpose of God.

3. Concerning the will of God.

C. We are to walk not only according to the eternal plan, not only appropriating the eternal power, but approaching the eternal purpose.

D. The measure of the power of the church to help this world is the measure of her other-worldliness.

BRETHREN BOYS AND GIRLS IN NAVAHOLAND

Playing, praying, eating, and learning certainly describes much of the daily program of our 29 boys and girls on the Navaho mission compound.

Discipline, regular hours, a carefully kept schedule, good food, spiritual teaching, and the indwelling Christ have all served to make this a new world for these bud-

SPECIAL PRAYER REQUEST

We would like to insert here a special prayer request for Miss Angie Garber, teacher in the Navaho mission school. Miss Garber has been doing a fine job in the Navaho mission work and desires to continue, but her physician says she will have to return to a lower altitude for a period of rest. Please pray for her.

ding children. Once so shy that they could not be approached, now they welcome social contacts and can have just as much fun in as short a time as any white boy.

For the second year our Navaho mission school has carried a full program which could be increased many times over if the facilities were available. Many Navaho parents would like to have their children in our school, but the Government places definite limitations on the number we can accommodate in our quarters.

If you have helped send the Gospel to this American island of paganism, these pictures are evidence that your gifts are at work.

The pictures identified—top down. The Navaho boys and girls in the schoolroom with the teacher, Miss Angie Garber. Lunch time with the boys and girls enjoying the good food prepared by Mrs. Mary Baer and other members of the staff. On the playground where these boys and girls learn to play like our boys and girls. The entire group enrolled in the school clad in their boots and outdoor clothes.

Home Missions Travelog

By the Secretary

SOME THRILLS AT FINDLAY, OHIO

If only Brethren people as a whole could experience some of the thrills which come to the secretary as we visit our mission churches, the real importance and value of the work would appear as never before. But this is impossible. The best we can do is try to tell you and show you by pictures something of what God is doing through your prayers and gifts.

It was a joyful experience to stay in a home which had recently become a Christian home through the testimony of the Findlay church and to see the blessing in the lives of these new-born souls. This is only one of many homes where lives have been touched and changed spiritually through the ministry of the pastor, Bro. Forrest Lance, and the faithful members of his group.

Lots have been purchased in Findlay and a new meeting place is desperately needed to house this growing entire support last year. It was indeed a step of definite faith in Christ to meet the need.

Each visit to Fremont furnishes additional evidence that God has rewarded this faith in rich blessing, not only in dollars but in the salvation of souls and splendid growth in the church.

Located in perhaps the most promising new area of the city, this former home mission church enjoys good standing and an effective testimony in the community.

The beautiful tabernacle-type building is serving the congregation admirably. Certainly it has been proved a very practical and functional type of church structure.

We believe that under the leadership of Bro. Lester Pifer, the pastor, this church is the spearhead for fundamental Bible teaching in the entire area.

A New Year's service in this church with a large attendance and many decisions was a great personal blessing to us.

LOOKING FOR A PROJECT?

Rev. Thomas Hammers, pastor of the new Seattle, Wash., work, writes: "Not having a mimeograph is like not having a right arm." That statement describes the importance of such a piece of equipment in a new work, when publicity must be gotten out in quantities. So, how about making it a project for home missions? A good used A. B. Dick mimeograph is desired, but if you don't have the machine, the money will make it possible for Brother Hammers to purchase one.

Brethren Home Missions Council, Inc.

church. Now meeting in an old abandoned school, the Findlay brethren have high hopes of getting into the first unit of their new building sometime this summer.

If Brethren people respond to the Minute-Man appeal, as we believe they will, this hope will be realized.

COLORED WORK IN FREMONT, OHIO

The same Lord's Day in the evening found us meeting briefly with the new colored group in Fremont, Ohio. They were crowded into 2 small rooms in a dwelling and had to be moved to a nearby church building for photographing.

Bro. Granville Tucker, with the cooperation and assistance of Bro. Lester Pifer, of our Fremont church, has done a fine job in ministering to the spiritual needs of Negroes in the area.

These friends need your earnest prayers that the work may develop and that a suitable building might be found for regular services.

FORMER MISSION CHURCH GROWING

The Fremont, Ohio, home mission church took a long financial step when they assumed responsibility for their

OPPORTUNITIES AT WHEATON, ILL.

Our new Sunday school in Wheaton is enjoying the blessing of the Lord as meetings are held each Lord's Day in the little model home in the center of a new housing area.

This work is important in several ways. There are many in the city and surrounding area who need Christ as Saviour. There is also an opportunity to provide Brethren fellowship for many of our young people who attend Wheaton College. Of great importance is the fact that this new church may spearhead Brethren work in the entire State of Illinois. This is the first church of our fellowship in that great area.

We need lots and a church building in Wheaton. Pray earnestly for the members of this church and for its expansion.

BRETHREN GROUP IN SIDNEY, OHIO

For a number of months several families have been meeting in a lodge hall at Sidney, Ohio, with plans in mind for joining our fellowship.

We certainly enjoyed our recent visit with this group. Plans for the future were considered and we are trusting the Lord to meet our needs in every way.

Sidney, Ohio, Bible Class

A NEW CHURCH DEVELOPING IN MICHIGAN

About 2 years ago we publicized the fact that a group of people had organized a Brethren church near Alto, Mich. This is just the beginning of a story of God's blessing upon this group.

The original group numbered about 32 and has now grown to 54 members.

Very soon after organization a plot of ground was secured and a basement building constructed. For some months the congregation worshiped here, but recently they have added the upper structure and are now finishing the inside of an attractive frame building 62 feet long and 33 feet wide.

Practically all of the construction work with the exception of the furnace installation was done by the members of the church. No help financially was received from any mission board.

Bro. Earl Funderburg, the pastor, feels that all of this is evidence as to how the Lord will bless in starting a new church if proper faith and confidence are placed in Him. With this we totally agree.

We are happy for these fine new churches which are constantly strengthening our total potential for our blessed Lord.

H. M. FIELDS TO H. M. FRIENDS

(Continued From Page 116)

42 dedications of life. There were 123 in Sunday school without any drive of any kind. Last night at our Wednesday prayer service 50 were present for it. The day school is due for an increase in enrollment, so all in all we are rejoicing.

MODESTO, CALIF. (Harold Painter, pastor)—

We had a real blessed time last Sunday with 1 decision in the morning, 1 baptized, and 1 new member added at the close of the service. We had 18 people come forward at the invitation on Sunday night. The Sunday before, we baptized an elderly couple and received them into the church.

FINDLAY, OHIO (Forest F. Lance, pastor)—

We had the first day of our Sunday school attendance drive yesterday. It was very successful, with 55 present and many of our families not present due to sickness. Everyone, including the children, is working, and in another Sunday or two we expect to be coming close to 100. The men's fellowship is calling in homes, and at present we have a list of excellent prospects for the work. Souls are being saved and miracles are being performed in our midst. We praise God for the working of the Holy Spirit in bringing us these blessings.

ALEXANDRIA, VA. (Kenneth Teague, pastor)—

God has been very good to us and we do praise Him for every blessing. The present plan is to dedicate our completed church on March 29, 1953. This is being made possible because a special construction fund was started in February 1952, with the members and friends of the church giving $1 extra each week to complete the church. This was in addition to the regular building fund and regular offerings. During 1952 $3,905 came in through this fund, making possible the upper auditorium 85 percent complete, with all bills paid. The total local offerings for 1952 were $13,437.48. In 1952 the attendance increased 69 percent in Sunday school, 57 percent in the morning worship service, and 44 percent in the evening service. God is still working and giving us souls. We had a fine young man accept Christ as his Saviour this last Sunday night.

Looking at the pictures from the top down, you see the pastor, Rev. Earl Funderburg, and his family, the new Calvary Brethren Church with the Sunday morning congregation outside, and the congregation on the inside with the 2 pictures representing the group on either side of the aisle.

HUNGER!

By Bruce L. Button

While waiting at the bus stop at Fairfax and Rosewood Avenues I was impressed by the look of hunger on the face of every Jewish person that passed me. I do not refer to the hunger brought on by lack of material food. The hunger to which I refer is induced by a far greater need than ordinary food. I am speaking of a spiritual hunger that shows in the faces of all men who passed by the Word of God and who have not come to God by "the Way," Jesus of Nazareth, the Messiah of Israel, and the Saviour of the world. The people who passed me this day were trying to mask the evidence of that hunger in many ways, but always the mask either slipped down or was a trifle awry, so the discerning eye could apprehend the hungry, empty look of the soul without God, lost, condemned. I recognized many of these people as those whom I have contacted in their homes. All but a pitiful few continually reject God's way of salvation; some of them have made the request that I never return.

Why does the average Jewish person refuse to give an honest consideration to the Word of God? Even when one sets aside the New Testament and attempts to deal with a Jewish person entirely from the Old Testament, he is met with the expressions, "That is your interpretation," "The Talmud says . . .," "I have God in my heart," "I am not a sinner," and countless like expressions too numerous to mention. And all are used as a shield against the sword of the Lord, which is the Word of God. As I have tried to analyze this attitude I have come to the conclusion that it is the product of a three-fold misunderstanding on the part of Jewish people.

PROGRESS CONTINUES ON DENVER CHURCH

The Grace Brethren Church of Denver, Colo., is now under roof. The above picture was taken around January 20, or only 3½ months from the date of the ground-breaking service. The work that takes considerable time remains to be done, such as wiring, plumbing, heating, etc. Work will continue toward the completion of the lower auditorium so that it can be used for services at the earliest possible date. You will recall that the contractor for the church is Dr. Thomas Murray, a pastor of a large church in Denver. He is doing an excellent job with a very substantial saving to the church financially. Praise God for His leading in securing Dr. Murray.

First, the average Jew maintains God-knowledge is not the result of divine manifestation; rather it is the finding of men who have been seeking God. Second, the average Jew maintains the Old Testament is not the Word of God; it contains the Word of God, but that Word is set in the midst of the gross errors of the human writers. Third, the average Jew accepts the findings of so-called scientists when they are in direct opposition to the statements of the Old Testament.

If God-knowledge is not the result of divine manifestation, then to be logical we must say that the Old Testament misrepresents when it tells of God revealing himself to Abraham; also in the Jacob-Bethel incident; as well as in the experience of Moses with the burning bush and in the Red Sea crossing; and finally in the Mount Sinai revelation. In fact, this is the position taken by many of the Jewish people with whom I have talked. They claim Moses was a man beyond his time. Due to his great knowledge he was able to predict the rolling back of the waters of the Red Sea by the wind. He had the people there at the proper time and so they passed over. He also understood the Mount Sinai incident. It was nothing but a minor eruption and he knew it as such. However, he used the reaction of the people to his own advantage in foisting upon them the law which he, Moses, and not God, had produced. The reason for this sort of action by Moses was the fact he was dealing with an ignorant people. Ignorant people always respond much better to driving and deception than to reason. Thus one might well say the high moral and spiritual code of the Old Testament was founded upon lies and misrepresentation. Certainly such reasoning is unworthy of refutation!

When one maintains the Old Testament is not the Word of God, he passes upon man an obligation which he can never fulfill. He holds that man, who is at best imperfect, is able to discern the Word of God in relation to the error of man. And to assume such a position is to set man up as God or equal to God, making any word from God unnecessary.

Also if one accepts the finding of scientists when the finding is in direct opposition to the Word of God, he presupposes the finding as ultimate truth. However, science is changing its assertions daily, while the Word of God has never changed. As science approaches ultimate truth it always aligns itself with the Word of God.

The Old Testament speaks of our Jewish friends as people who have hardened their necks that they might not hear God's words (Neh. 9:16; Jer. 19:15). Is there hope for this heavy-eared and shut-eyed people (Isa. 6:10)? There is hope if these people will but heed God's Word when it states, "The heart is deceitful above all things, and exceedingly wicked" (Jer. 17:9). If they will accept even this small portion of God's truth a transformation can take place in many Jewish hearts with the result that they might recognize Jesus of Nazareth to be the Messiah, the incarnate Son of the most high God, and the eternal glory of the Jewish race.

And the part of the Christian in this transformation?

Prayer, much prayer, for the softening and transforming of Jewish hearts.

Mr. Sharett, Foreign Minister of the State of Israel, described the recent Prague trial of 11 Communist leaders in Czechoslovakia as "a farce in the form of a legal trial . . . that history has already passed judgment upon those regimes which had recourse to the bogey of anti-Semitism in order to divert the attention of the masses of their people from their own troubles and the failure of the rulers and to turn their hatred toward Jews chosen as scapegoats." One of the crimes attributed to these leaders was that of being "Zionists." If the term "Zionist" can condemn one to hanging, then all born-again saints of God stand in danger of being hanged, for we look for the day when Israel will be once more in the land, as the head of nations, and with the law going forth from Zion! Certainly the stirring up of anti-Semitic feeling in Russia and other Iron Curtain countries is but an indication that Satan knows that time is running out and the Day of the Lord is at hand.

The great Jewish nobleman, Baron Montefiore, of London, once visited the Emperor of Austria. At dinner one of the imperial ministers, an anti-Semite, gave an account of his travels in equatorial Africa.

"I didn't see one pig or Jew there," he remarked maliciously.

"In that case," answered Montefiore, "it would be advisable that your excellency and I go there."

HARRAH, WASHINGTON

This is the congregation of the Harrah Brethren Church as the home mission camera recorded it during the recent trip of the secretary to the Northwest District. The present pastor of the Harrah church is Rev. Jesse Hall, a member of the Brethren Home Missions Council board of directors.

WMC Exceeds Another Home Mission Goal

The Women's Missionary Council continues its record of exceeding goals for the Thanksgiving home mission offering by going over the top again this year by almost $200. Their goal this year was $2,200, to be equally divided between completing the upper auditorium of the Grace Brethren Church, Portland, Oreg., and purchasing lots for a new church in Baltimore, Md.

The goal this year was increased $200 over the one for the previous year, when it was $2,000. Needless to say that the $2,000 goal for purchasing lots in Denver, Colo., was exceeded and that the offering was used for that project. On another page of this issue is a picture of the new Grace Brethren Church of Denver, Colo., and this church was erected on the lots the WMC helped to make possible.

If you care to go back another year, the goal was $1,800, to be used toward the support of our home missionaries to the Navaho Indians. From these figures you will observe that each year the WMC took an extra step of faith by raising the goal an additional $200 and each year the Lord honored their faith and the goal was exceeded. The title of a familiar hymn, "Faith Is the Victory," is sufficient to explain these victories of the WMC.

The Brethren Home Missions Council is indeed grateful to every member of every local WMC organization for every gift that has made possible these contributions to the work of Brethren home missions.

We believe that the faith exercised by the WMC and the victories won because of their faith should be an example for every Brethren and every Brethren organization. Certainly this reminds us of Ephesians 3:20, that God is able to do exceedingly abundantly above all that we ask or think.

COMMUNION SERVICE BLESSES AT CLEVELAND

We have been rejoicing since last Sunday over the blessings of that day. We held our first communion service of the new year and had an attendance of about 35. The real thrill was provided by the fact that 8 of the folks were new and they represented 4 families. These were all young folks and each testified or conveyed to me at the close, of the tremendous blessings of the service. Only 2 of the 8 are members of the church now but we trust the Lord will soon lead the others to make a decision to join us.—Russell M. Ward, pastor.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. James Hammer, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has been appointed a chaplain (1st lieutenant) in the Civil Air Patrol. His work will be with youth and adult groups.

The South Bend, Ind., church was given a small pipe organ by Mr. and Mrs. William Phebus, of that city. Rev. Russell Ogden, pastor, reports that the Phebuses are interested in the church, though not members.

Ten members of the Waynesboro, Pa., church, pastored by Rev. Dennis Holliday, read through the Bible in 1952.

Mr. Lambert Myers, of the Waynesboro, Pa., church, is a member of the Men's Glee Club Chorus at the University of Pittsburgh.

The Beaumont, Calif., church gave its pastor, Rev. Gene Farrell, a unanimous call to continue his ministry there, which will be his 5th year. During 1952 this church gave $14,584.72, or an average of $255.87 a member, to all funds.

Mr. Cyrus Augenbaugh, member of the Whittier, Calif., First church, died February 5.

Our Brethren Spanish-American mission at Cordillera, N. Mex., was partially burned by fire recently, due to an overheated wood stove. The damage has been repaired and services resumed.

The Long Beach, Calif., Second church won 4th prize in Class B of the Christian Life Sunday School Contest, in which more than 1,600 Sunday schools participated. Rev. George Peek is pastor of this church.

The new address for Rev. Archie Lynn is 1822 Windsar Ave., Raleigh Ct., Roanoke, Va., c/o J. H. Putt. (Change Annual, p. 70.)

When Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Hammers arrived in Seattle, Wash., to begin their ministry there, they found the cupboard stocked with groceries, vegetables in the cooler, and the fuel tank filled with 300 gallons of oil.

Mrs. Rose Foster spoke at the South Pasadena, Calif., church on February 4 and showed pictures of our mission work in Africa.

Rev. Walter Overlin preached at the Denver, Colo., church on February 8. Rev. Lowell Hoyt is pastor.

The Ashland, Ohio, church reports that a new all-steel baptistry is being installed. Rev. Miles Taber is pastor of this church.

A Bible training school will be launched on February 26 at the Bible school annex of the Hagerstown, Md., church, at which time registrations will be taken. Classes will begin on March 5, with Rev. Edgar J. Bechley, Rev. Walter A. Lepp, and Rev. Charles B. Bergerson as teachers.

Mr. Virgil Shaw, member of the Glendale, Calif., church, died suddenly on January 29. Rev. George Richardson officiated at the funeral service.

At the Radford, Va., church on February 8 there was 1 confession of faith, 14 rededications, and 1 baby dedicated to the Lord. Rev. K. E. Richardson is pastor of this church.

"A son, Matthew Bryan (for William Jennings Bryan) Mohler, was born in Somerset Community Hospital, Somerset, Pa., on Wednesday, January 28, 1953. Rev. and Mrs. Paul Mohler of our Listie Brethren Church are the parents of the new son." (Card received from Pastor Mohler.)

Members of the Bell, Calif., church presented their new pastor, Rev. Harry Sturz, and family with a 7-piece chrome dinette set at a surprise housewarming on February 6.

Rev. Clyde Landrum, pastor of the Uniontown, Pa., church, is to speak at a Youth for Christ meeting near Greensburg, Pa., February 21.

Mrs. Nettie Harvey, charter member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, celebrated her 93d birthday January 31.

Additions to Membership

Beaumont, Calif. ....	1
Clay City, Ind. ....	2
Dayton, Ohio (First) ....	8
Findlay, Ohio ....	7
Long Beach, Calif. (First).....	2
Phoenix, Ariz. ....	2
Spokane, Wash. ....	2
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	2

Public Confessions

Phoenix, Ariz. ....	2
Radford, Va. ....	15
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	9

Dedication of Babies

Findlay, Ohio ....	3
Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	3
Radford, Va. ....	1

Eighteen young people from the Bell, Calif., church attended a retreat at Palm Springs, Calif., February 13-15. Rev. Don Svenson brought the morning message at the Bell church on the 15th in the absence of Pastor Harry Sturz, who met with the young people at Palm Springs.

Richard Hammer, 5-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. James D. Hammer, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has been stricken with rheumatic fever and will be confined to bed for at least 6 months.

Rev. Charles S. McConnell, head of the Free Tract League of Cleveland, Ohio, and member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church for 35 years, died February 6.

The Fort Wayne, Ind., church has awarded a $2,074 contract for the renovation of its basement which will add 2 new Sunday school rooms to its present facilities. The men of the church are making other alterations and redecorating the vestibules and rest rooms.

Rev. Jerry Yerian spoke at the Los Angeles, Calif., Third church February 15, and Dr. Robert Schaper will be the messenger on February 22. Rev. James Beatty is pastor of this church.

Peggy Raye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Gingrich, and Cathy Jo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gingrich, were dedicated to the Lord recently. Rev. Joseph L. Gingrich, pastor of the Sterling, Ohio, church, and grandfather of the babies, had the happy privilege of conducting this service.

'LIGHT FROM THE CROSS' IS MARCH BOOK CLUB CHOICE

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Chairman of Book Club Review Committee

There is only one God-forsaken spot in the universe, and that is the place of the Skull, a hill called Calvary. Across the far-flung battlefields of the world there are many famous hills. At those points the destiny of nations were settled. But there is no hill in this wide world where the issues settled were so momentous as those that were settled at Calvary. There they crucified Him. There He gave His life. There the Lord laid upon Him the iniquity of us all. There the world was judged and its great prince. There! There! There, once, only once; never before, never since, never again, God forsook His Son that He might not be forced to forsake humanity.

At this Easter season, when all the saints will be remembering again the events which took place at Calvary, there is need for God's people to let the cross of Calvary search their own hearts. Just as all the ages converge upon the cross, so also ought all of our affections to converge upon that cruel tree. A constant, continuous, consistent attention given to that cross and its meaning will search every heart and bring every believer into a more intimate touch with the one who loved us and gave Himself for us. To that end the book club has made its selections. If you have felt yourself drifting away from Him, or you have been conscious that the tie binding your heart to Him is becoming fragile, you need to meet Him again at the place of the Skull.

The first-choice book for March is "Light From the Cross," by Friedrich August Tholuck. This will be sent to club members unless they notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company to the contrary before March 1. In case the second-choice is desired, or some other book listed previously in these columns, as a substitute for the first-choice book, just write the company of this change.

The second-choice book is "By Strange Paths," by Sallie Lee Bell. Reviews follow.

As a premium for joining the club we offer you your selection of the following books: Dr. Florence Gribble's "Stranger Than Fiction," Dr.

Andrew Bonar's "The Biography of Robert Murray McChesney," and Dr. John R. Rice's "Prayer: Asking and Receiving." By ordering 1 of the 2 books offered for the month of March you become a member and are entitled to one of the above premium books.

To members of the club who will be purchasing books December through March, a dividend book will be sent—"The Potter and the Shepherd," by J. C. Brumfield.

"LIGHT FROM THE CROSS"

By Friedrich August Tholuck

For a period of some 50 years this man of God labored as professor of theology in the University of Halle. At the time of his appointment, rationalism and unbelief ruled in this great university. Nevertheless, his influence was so great that the entire complexion of the university changed during those years, and finally became a noted center of evangelicalism.

The deep sense of piety and the burning passion of this man for the souls of his students made him more than an able professor in the classroom. He was actually an evangelist on the campus. "Light From the Cross" contains many of the sermons he preached to the student body. These sermons gather around the cross and search the hearts of men. Many common people gathered to hear him preach these sermons, and so they were adapted to all alike.

Pastors, Bible teachers, and laymen alike will profit from the reading of these messages. As he leads the reader into the presence of Christ, the approaching shadow of the cross, through the garden, the judgment hall, out the Via Dolorosa to Golgotha, every step will lay bare the soul in the presence of a holy God and will set each one aside anew to live for Him who bore our sins in His own body on the tree. Price of book is $3.50.—Herman A. Hoyt.

"BY STRANGE PATHS"

By Sallie Lee Bell

This is a story from the early days of Louisiana history. However, its real beginning took place in the city of Paris. Miss Elsie Demarest was on her way to visit a dying woman who lived in one of the worst sections of the city. Her mind was completely absorbed by her mission when suddenly she was seized by 2 ruffians who forced her into a nearby house where she was detained along with several others who had met a like fate.

Before long the girls who had been captured were bound, blindfolded, and loaded into a ship, destination unknown. The record of the journey across the ocean and the arrival at New Orleans is filled with suspense and interest. The ridicule and rebuffs which Elsie received were hard to take but she had determined to be a Christian whatever her fate. When the way was hard she had a source of comfort about whom none of the other girls knew. In spite of her testimony they took little interest in her faith.

Once in this country life became different for the girls. They soon learned that they had been brought over to become wives for the settlers, but Elsie refused marriage under such terms. From the very first there were 2 men deeply interested in Mlle. Demarest. Their continual struggle to outwit one another and win Elsie's attention will keep you reading till you learn how it all comes out.

Although there might be undue multiplicity of crises in the story, yet here is a book which bears another testimony to God's keeping power of His children. Crossing oceans and continents did not separate Elsie from the protecting hand of her God. If He can do that for her He can do as much for you, too. Those who have read "The Queen's Jest" or "Through Golden Meadows" will look forward to this latest of Mrs. Bell's books.—Blaine Snyder.

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

II. THE MESSAGE OF CONSOLATION.

"When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son" (John 19:26).

Woman

But why did He call her "woman"? Why did He not call her by the endearing name, "Mother"? When I was a little lad and a boy called his mother "the old woman," it was not regarded as good.

Last words are precious words. We press near and bend low to hear the faintest whisper. My grandfather became ill. A daughter in a distant State was notified, but could she arrive in time? Finally the word came that she was at the railroad station, 5 miles away. A horse and buggy were pressed into service. All hearts beat with anxiety as Grandfather grew weaker and weaker.

Finally the horse turned the corner and raced up the lane. My aunt sprang out, dashed into the house, and threw herself across the bed, just as he breathed his last. But did he know her? Some thought there was a glint of recognition across his face. Last moments are precious moments.

And so with Mary. She had heard the howling of the angry mob and knew it was thirsting for the blood of her Son. She had followed, laboring up the long hill to Calvary; she had heard the dull thud of the mallets as they drove the spikes through the tender flesh; she heard the taunting of the Jews, and saw the face, so bruised and forlorn.

She had stationed herself as near the cross as she was permitted to come, and there she waited. Oh, if He only knew that she was there; if He would only look in her direction and give her a parting word. Breathlessly she waited, and then the head moved around, the tired eyes opened, the bruised lips parted: "Mother, I am so glad you are near; it is a great comfort to have you here; you are the best woman in all the world."

We might expect such words, but no, just a common word, "woman," the same word He had used for the woman at the well.

But why did He thus address His mother? Did He not know her heart was beating with sympathy for Him in His sufferings? Did He not know her heart was bursting with sorrow for Him in His sorrow? Did He not know that she longed for a word from His lips? And then it came, but it was just the common word, "woman." Why did He not call her "mother"?

Protection of Mary

Oft have I heard a message on this text, but they did not satisfy. Rather did I turn away with disappointment, feeling that Mary did not get her due. But I do not like to be disappointed with anything our Lord does, so I asked Him what He meant, and it was only a few weeks ago that my heart came to rest on the subject.

How carefully our Lord guarded every reference to His mother. Oft did He use strange and even harsh words when He spoke of Her. But did He not know that a false religious system would arise that would worship Mary? Did He not know that they would grasp at every word He uttered? And did He not thus destroy every foundation upon which they might erect such a blasphemous system?

Once a certain woman would honor the "Blessed Virgin" as she cried, "Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked."

Quickly our Lord retorted, "Yea, rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it" (Luke 11:27-28). Let those who would unduly honor Mary receive this rebuke at the hands of the Lord Himself.

Honor for Mary

Why should we honor Mary? True, she was the mother of our Lord, but were there not 10,000 other women in Israel who longed to be the mother of the promised Redeemer? Would they not have showered their love upon Him, and have given Him the best they had?

Then why honor Mary because she was the one so highly favored? (Luke 1:28). Rather, let Mary "magnify the Lord," and rejoice that God had thus "regarded the low estate of his handmaiden" (Luke 1:46-48).

Once the multitude informed Him that His mother and brethren stood without, but He answered, "My mother and my brethren are those which hear the word of God, and do it" (Luke 8:21).

That was all that Mary did—she heard the word of God and did it. When the angel announced the will of God for her life she said, "Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word" (Luke 1:38), and tens of thousands of other earnest souls have done the same, and it is not God's purpose to honor one above another.

God has a purpose for every life, and thus He will not unduly honor Mary simply because "the purpose of God according to election" brought her into such prominence among men (Rom. 9:11). From our viewpoint, Mary performed the greatest possible service; God does not look upon the outward appearance, but upon the heart, and "if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not" (II Cor. 8:12).

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

VIII. "SON OF DAVID."

CLAYTON YOUTH GROUP GROWS

Thursday night is the meeting time of the Clayton, Ohio, BYF, and average attendance of the group is nearly 20. A game time, refreshments, and a junior choir practice are included along with their devotional program in these Thursday-night meetings. The junior choir occasionally sings at the Sunday church services.

Currently, these young people are raising funds to fix up a small barn on the parsonage property into a game room and meeting place. Almost enough funds are now on hand for putting in a cement floor. Eventual plans include lining the building, putting in a ping-pong table and other game equipment, and even fixing it up for a future boys club building.

At present, ages in this group range from 9 to 18, but it is hoped that they'll be able to divide into junior and senior groups soon.

ALTOONA BYF PUBLISHES PAPER

Jim Myers was chosen as editor of a new BYF weekly paper at the BYF of the Altoona, Pa., First church. The sheet is small in size, but contains artwork, a short devotional article, the week's program, and important news items and announcements for the young people's group. The BYF procured a hectograph on which the paper is published.

ATLANTIC DISTRICT YOUTH MEET

Harrisburg, Pa., was host to more than 100 young people of the Atlantic District January 16-17 in an enthusiastic overnight rally. Featured speaker both Friday night and Saturday was a layman, a building contractor from Carlisle, Pa. Singing was led by Evangelist Bill Smith, with Rev. Charles Bergerson at the piano.

On Saturday morning Marjorie Lepp presided over the district Sis-

The New Testament is full of various names given to our Lord. Some of the more repeated ones we recognize quickly, others not so quickly. All are rich in meaning. In the very first verse of Matthew there are 3 such names. "Jesus," which means "Saviour"; "Christ," which means "Anointed One"; and "the Son of David." Jesus and Christ are names blessed to every responsive ear and they will never cease to thrill the Christian with their beauty.

But Jesus Christ is as well "the Son of David." How is that? He, according to God's Word, was the lineal descendant of David, whose descendant was promised the everlasting kingdom. Christ is entitled to David's eternal kingdom by a twofold lineage. (1) Joseph, His legal but not natural father, was of the Davidic regal line and by that token Christ was the legal heir to the throne. (2) Mary, His mother, was of the royal line of David and by that token Christ had birthright to this promised never-ending kingdom.

Isaiah's Messianic prophecy of 9: 6-7 gives us the full Biblical basis for our belief that Christ is the fulfillment not only of the sinner's dream—full and free salvation—but as well the hopes of Israel, the Messiah who would reign over a kingdom "with justice and with righteousness from henceforth, even for ever."

Though you and I may not be a member of God's chosen nation, Israel, we shall enjoy the inheritance of the blessings of the promises to that nation. And we, as God's chosen bride for His Son, shall share in the very rule and reign over that Davidic kingdom and throne. God's promises to Israel never failed and never will fail. Christ may not be King yet, either in the hearts of men or in the nations of men, but some day—soon, we hope—the prophetic promises of God will find fulfillment and we shall enjoy a kingdom of perfect righteousness forever.

Son of David, God's Ruler to be,
All to Him must bow the knee.
Yet you today refuse and say,
"I will not have His rule and sway."
Someday in judgment God will call
And without mercy you will fall,
Admitting the Christ of Calvary
Was the Son of David, God's ruler to be.

terhood meeting. The boys organized, with James Custer, of Martinsburg, W. Va., elected president; Frank Gardner, of Alexandria, Va., vice president; and Charles Stoner, of Harrisburg, Pa., secretary-treasurer. John Degenhardt, of Martinsburg, was selected as district BBC advisor.

The entire group toured the State capitol building, then returned to a high school cafeteria for a banquet. The fellowship was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

WATERLOO BBC STARTS AGAIN

The church bus garage has been converted into a BBC clubhouse at Waterloo, Iowa, and equipped with fine workbenches, power tools, and hand tools, by the men of the church. Clyde Stitt is the new club chief, and enthusiasm is running high for the group. We'll be expecting to hear good things from them!

TROY BOYS ENTHUSED ABOUT BBC

For some time Troy, Ohio, has had a boys club, with mostly a recreational program. Occasionally these boys have helped with some of the chores around their church building, such as moving bricks, helping clean up debris from the building, etc.

But at a recent meeting with the youth director they expressed a great deal of enthusiasm for getting into the full BBC program, with hobbies, ranks, etc. Eighteen boys and three men were present at the meeting, and a good time was enjoyed in the games, and with refreshments, as well as in the devotional period.

Findlay, Ohio

We had a dedicatory service for 3 babies January 25. On February 1 we witnessed 3 public confessions, 1 of which was a first-time decision. In the afternoon 32 of us drove 40 miles to Fremont, where 7 people of our group were baptized. These united with the church that evening.

On January 21 it was the privilege of 21 from Findlay to participate in the threefold communion service with the Fremont brethren—only 1 besides the pastor's family having before participated in a communion service in a Brethren church.

The average attendance was 55 people in our Sunday school during January.

We have secured an architect to draw plans for our new church building.—Forest Lance, pastor.

Camden, Ohio

A singspiration was held at our church February 1 under the direction of Bro. Alden Craig, our adviser of adult gospel team work. Our pastor, Rev. Robert Betz, extended the welcome of the church to the visitors.

Rev. Charles Flowers, pastor of the Sampleville Mission, was in charge of the music, with Mrs. Flowers at the piano. Special numbers were given by groups from both churches and by a girls' trio from Hamilton, Ohio.—Warren A. Craig, secretary.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (1st)

The Armstrong County public protest rally opposing and exposing the modernism of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible was held at our church January 30. There were 400 people, mostly adults, present. To each of these people a copy of "The R. S. V.—A Friend or a Traitor to the Faith," by Rev. Clayton H. Gray, was given.

The special speaker for the occasion was Rev. Henry Kulp, of Altoona, Pa. Other preachers who took part were Irvin Johnson, Bap-

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS
Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Whittier, Calif.
(First) .....	Feb. 8-22.....	Carl Sisson.....	Cedric Sears.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	Feb. 22.....	Charles Mayes....	Russell Humberd.
Berne, Ind. ....	Feb. 22-March 8.	Ord Gehman.....	Pat Henry.
Phoenix, Ariz....	Feb. 24-March 1.	J. C. McKillen....	Russell Humberd.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	March 1-15.....	Charles Mayes....	R. Paul Miller.
Conemaugh, Pa..	March 8-22.....	Stanley Hauser...	Stanley Hauser.
Johnstown, Pa.
(First) .....	March 8-12.....	W. A. Ogden.....	William Mierop.
Spokane, Wash...	March 8-22.....	William Schaffer..	Robert Ashman.
Canton, Ohio....	March 9-15.....	John Dilling.....	Anthony Zeoli.
Clay City, Ind....	March 9-22.....	Ralph Burns.....	William Steffler.
Uniontown, Pa...	March 9-22.....	Clyde Landrum...	Russell Weber.
Allentown, Pa....	March 10-22....	William Gray.....	Miles Taber.

tist; Ralph Burns, Baptist; Rudolph Panciera, evangelist; Henry Shilling, founder and president of Transylvania College; Harry Stevic, Free Methodist; Donald Rossman, Brethren; George Sickenberger, Christian and Missionary Alliance; David Martin, Baptist; and Leslie B. Baltz, Nazarene.—Gordon W. Bracker, pastor.

San Bernardino, California

We have just completed a 10-day Bible conference with Rev. R. I. Humberd and his charts. This is our 2d conference with him and we look forward to our 3d, scheduled for next winter.

There was a gradual increase in attendance each night, though there was an interdenominational Bible conference in town. There were 9 decisions during the conference, 4 of which were first-time confessions of faith in Christ. We have been praying for 2 years for one elderly man who accepted Christ.

When 3 people made public decisions on February 1 it made the 6th straight Sunday we have had public decisions.—Lyle W. Marvin, pastor.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (North Buffalo)

The Lord has been doing great things here at North Buffalo in the few weeks since we arrived. For all that He has done we are very grateful. Two persons made public confessions on Sunday, January 25, and several have expressed a desire to follow the Lord in baptism. Still others have expressed a desire to unite with our church by letter.

On Thursday evening, February 5, the members and friends of the church gave us a reception at the parsonage. About 40 persons were present and many thoughtful and useful gifts were presented.

We are looking forward to great things from the Lord in the future. Please continue to pray for the work here at North Buffalo.—Donald W. Rossman, pastor.

Hopewell, Pennsylvania (Yellow Creek)

Following are a few of the blessings that God has given us here at Yellow Creek. Sunday, January 25, there were 5 public decisions. Wednesday, February 4, we shared the prayer and praise service with the Martinsburg, Pa., church and its good pastor, Gerald Teeter. Following that service 7 were baptized. On February 8 we accepted 9 into membership at the worship service.

Attendance at all services is better than ever. The Sunday school averages more than 30 percent above last year, for which we truly praise the Lord.—Sheldon W. Snyder, pastor.

Sterling, Ohio

A very profitable 2 weeks was recently spent with Bro. J. L. Gingrich and the congregation of the Sterling Brethren Church in revival endeavors. We were thrilled with the sustained interest and prayer support of the people. There was a willingness to serve and a desire for victories. Especially commendable was the faithfulness of the choir in the ministry of music. We appreciated the time of visitation with Pastor Gingrich, learning much from his years of experience. The hospitality of the Sterling Brethren was not hard to enjoy. We praise the Lord for the privilege of proclaiming the Gospel to those who were so eager to hear.—Kenneth Ashman, evangelist.

A 2-weeks victorious revival was conducted at Sterling with Rev. Kenneth Ashman conducting the meetings. It surely was a privilege to be a colaborer with a pronounced sympathetic pastor-evangelist. The revival, officially, became history only too rapidly according to the testimony of everyone who attended, and many never missed a single night. We believe the meetings left nothing to be desired.

Brother Ashman did a splendid job of conducting the music program, interesting young children in short special services before the sermons, and also presenting challenging Spirit-moving messages each service. Victories accompanied faithful praying and testimony. There were 28 definite decisions classified as follows: 4 first-time, 2 to transfer church affiliations to our fellowship, and 22 reconsecrations. The spirit of revival will continue and a definite visitation program is about to be launched.

As soon as the new baptistry is ready there perhaps will be about 12 persons to obey their Lord in baptism and unite with the church. We covet special prayer that Satan may not get the advantage since this is another defeat to his program. Brethren, pray for us.—J. L. Gingrich, pastor.

LIKES FOREIGN MISSION NUMBER

"It has just recently come to my mind that my subscription to the Herald is out this month and I do not want to miss it. . . . Hoping the Herald may continue to be published as I do love the foreign mission number. I am not a Brethren . . . but I've read letters from your older missionaries since a girl. I've kept track of the newer ones going out and like to read about them all. (Signed) Miss Florence Decker."

THY LOVELY HARPS

By Rev. Charles Bergerson, Hagerstown, Md.

Dear God:

Somewhere I hear the plucking of Thy lovely harps;
Though silence reigns, I hear their joyous stops and starts.
Thy music claimed my heart a God-made psaltery,
Thy seal of love has marked the path of victory.
The calmed, peaceful brightness of Thy Morning Star
Awakes my feeble dimmed eyes, lest I stray far;
The soaring of Thine everlasting wings of hope
Invoke Thy winds of wisdom o'er my human scope.
The fragrance of this holy sweat upon my brow,
O Lord, I shan't forget through every time from now.

Dear God:

Perchance, when I behold Thee on Thy royal throne,
I may with holy hands in that eternal home
Take up Thy lovely harps and swell the heaven above
With music of the Christ of mercy, grace, and love;
And with the great and grand Redemption Symphony
All seated by the throne in thrilling ecstasy,
I'll join with perfect instruments in perfect key
To send the chords of love throughout eternity.
The angels know no song of Thy redeeming grace;
Yet, I, in higher place, shall sing Thee face to face!

THE PRESIDENT AT PRAYER

Millions of believers were deeply moved when President Eisenhower chose to pray for divine guidance as his first official act. One Congressman said: "I could not help thinking whatever he does or does not do, his regime will be marked by the sincerity of a deeply religious man."

Add to this that the President and Mrs. Eisenhower quietly joined an evangelical church on the first Sunday she was able to be away from the White House and the fact that the President accepted the invitation of Abraham Verheide to breakfast with the International Committee for Christian Leadership and at that gathering in the presence of members of the Supreme Court, Senate, and House, gave a good testimony to his faith.

We have learned that President Eisenhower has counseled with Billy Graham several times before the inaugural and that Mrs. Eisenhower has borne testimony to her personal, vital faith in Christ. Christians have cause to rejoice and all the more reason to obey I Timothy 2:1-5 with respect to our own President.—NAE news release.

YFC HELPS IN HOLLAND RELIEF

Youth for Christ International has started channeling clothing and food relief to people in Holland to help alleviate the hardships caused by the recent storms.

Dr. Robert A. Cook, president, says that the first packages already have been sent on their way.

DO NOT WANT TO MISS A COPY

"Enclosed find $2 to pay for the Missionary Herald for another year. We do not want to miss a copy of it. (Signed) Mrs. D. J. Kliever."

MOVE OVER!

"Where will Althea sit when she gets too big for that stool? Will we sell the stool?" Kent sat wiggling on the bench by his daddy as he asked the question.

A long, not-too-narrow table, flanked by 2 equally long benches, provide the eating facilities of this clan. The little children sit in the middle sections of the benches so they can be helped and watched by the older members of the family. Althea sits at the open end of the table on a kitchen stool which has definitely seen its best days. Kent sat on it until Althea left the high chair in favor of baby Ardyth. A member of the high-chair crowd is ever with us!

"Althea will sit on the bench with us, Paul Kent," Daddy explained. "If we sold the stool where would Ardyth sit when she's too big for the high chair?"

"Let's get a new stool. This one is awful old."

"It is more battered and used than old." Mother spoke out of experience in teaching the children to handle furniture with care.

"There's no room for Althea on the bench. We'll be crowded."

"Who cares if we are crowded a little? We'll just move over and make room." Daddy was thinking of how they had made room at home when he was growing up, the oldest of 10. This business of moving over to make room is something Mother has had to learn from scratch since her acquisition of 8 children. And though the children do not realize it now, it is easier to learn to move over while the patterns of their lives are a-forming.

"I don't want to move over. I don't like to be crowded," pouted a truthful 5-year-old.

"It will be fun; just wait and see."

"We're already crowded, if you ask me," added an older son whose desire for privacy has seemed to have gone unfulfilled in rather close quarters under this roof.

After this discussion the bedtime routine seemed to carry a melody which held a staccato "move over." Mother couldn't throw it off. The Word of God enjoins believers to live "in honour preferring one another" (Rom. 12:10). This admonition must be needed, else God would not have given it to us. God never wastes words. There are times when self is hard pressed to yield in gracious love even to another believer.

Mr. and Mrs. New Members were found to be very talented along certain lines. Mrs. N. M.'s especial talent is with the children and she'd be so happy to serve the Lord as a helper in that department. But Mrs. Pillar-of-the-Church takes a deep breath and a tighter hold on the reins of her department. After all, she has run this end of the church work for many years. They were hard years, too. No one wanted to help her then. Now that the department is on its feet and a credit to the church, thanks to her tireless efforts, no new upstart is going to usurp her rightful place. By the set of Mrs. P.'s lips one would think Mrs. N. M. wants to work against her labor of years. The "green-eyed monster" has blinded Mrs. P.'s eyes to the sweetness and real spiritual character of Mrs. N. M. Oh, Mrs. Pillar, move over, and enjoy the fellowship of labor with your new sister in the Lord.

Have you heard about that new pastor in the district? He is "tops" in organizing and keeping people busy and happy. He just makes everyone feel so important. Some of Pastor Not-So-New's congregation have cast a wishful eye in the direction of Pastor New. Take courage, Pastor Not-So-New, and give God your best. You will only have to give an account of your own stewardship. Perhaps you are stronger in the pulpit than he, or a bit more steady when the winds blow fierce on your bark. Of course a new broom sweeps clean, but an old broom is unexcelled for getting into corners. Be gracious and move over! There is room and need for you both.

A lovely Mistress-of-the-Manse sat down one day to take some personal inventory. "The muscles of my face ache from having to smile so much when there are times when I'd rather tell them off! So much is expected of me here. Believe me, they don't get away with such tactics on Mrs. Pastor's Wife in that other church. What does she have that I don't have? She seems to know exactly how to get along with all her husband's 'bosses.' She is so talented, too. Well, she ought to be useful. After all, she's not nearly as tied down as I am. I just don't seem to make a ripple in the pond, while her accomplishments for God are phenomenal. And I must admit she's sweet and humble about her successes. Guess I'm cut out to be a little nobody." Relax, dear Mistress-of-the-Manse, and move over! There is room for you both in your Father's vineyard. Each in your own way and according to your talents bears fruit. Why not leave the end results unto Him? "Shall the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?" (Rom. 9:20).

Move over, Paul Kent. Your sister is just as necessary to the heartbeat of this home as you are. Move over, saint of God. The influence of your life will go out in ever-widening testimony as you pull with others in the work of Christ. Move over, undershepherd! "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit" (I Cor. 12:4). Move over, shepherdess! "For the body is not one member, but many. If the foot shall say, Because I am not the hand . . . And if the ear shall say, Because I am not the eye . . . And if they were all one member, where were the body? But now are they many members, yet but one body" (I Cor. 12:14-20).

"And yet shew I unto you a more excellent way . . . And now abideth faith, hope, charity [love], these three; but the greatest of these is charity [love]" (I Cor. 12:31; 13:13). Love and MOVE OVER.

What Version?

LET US GIVE TO MEN
THE INFALLIBLE WORD OF GOD
WITHOUT ADDITION, SUBTRACTION OR ALTERATION!

EDITORIALS

Extra Copies Available

Churches or individuals desiring extra copies of this issue of the Herald may procure them, as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind., The cost is 5c a copy for single copies and 3c a copy when 10 or more copies are included in one order to be sent to one address.—P. R. B.

A Suggestion to Pastors

Probably for the first time in the history of the church people are gathering by the thousands to consider manuscripts and textual problems of the Bible. The fact that so many people all over the country will listen to all these technical discussions is encouraging, for it shows they are interested in the history and text of the Bible. Pastors should take advantage of this interest and offer their people a brief course in the history of the English Bible.—P. B.

Books on the History of the Bible

Probably the best inexpensive book for the layman on the story of the English Bible is "Our Bible: How We Got It," by Dr. Charles Leach. This book includes "Ten Reasons Why I Believe the Bible Is the Word of God," by Dr. R. A. Torrey, a helpful addition to Christian workers' libraries. The cost is 35c. For a more extended study, "General Biblical Introduction," by Rev. H. S. Miller, is the most complete nontechnical discussion available. This book is especially valuable for pastors and teachers. It contains over 400 pages and sells for $3.75. While it is a bit too early to recommend books or brochures dealing with the Revised Standard Version, the best book available thus far, of which we have knowledge, is "Revision or New Translation?" by Dr. Oswald T. Allis. This book deals with the New Testament only and sells for $2 a copy. A second volume on the Old Testament is now in the course of preparation. Each of these books may be secured through the Brethren Missionary Herald Company. As others are available they will be mentioned in these columns.—P. B.

Seminary Staff Member to Take Part in Archeological Expedition

Mr. John Rea, instructor in Bible and archeology at Grace Seminary, has been invited by Dr. Joseph Free, of Wheaton College, to participate this spring in the archeological excavations at the site of the ancient Biblical city of Dothan. Mr. Rea joins the staff as a surveyor, and has a unique background of training that well qualifies him for his task. In 1948 he graduated from Princeton University, with Phi Beta Kappa honors, in the field of mechanical engineering. In 1951 he graduated from Grace Theological Seminary, receiving the B. D. degree, after which he attended the Wheaton College Graduate School of Religion, receiving his M. A. in the field of Biblical archeology in 1952. Mr. Rea left New York February 15 with the Wheaton Bible Cruise. The party, under the direction of Dr. Free, will first proceed to Naples, Italy, for a visit to the ruins of the ancient city

A FACULTY STATEMENT REGARDING THE NEW REVISED STANDARD VERSION

Numerous inquiries have come to members of the faculty of Grace Theological Seminary for an evaluation of the new translation of the Bible named, "The Revised Standard Version," and sponsored by the National Council of Churches. In response we desire to say that the entire faculty is uniting in a thorough examination of this version, and plan to devote a large part of an early issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald to a series of articles dealing with various aspects of this important matter. However, on the basis of our study thus far we are convinced that several things can be said immediately with assurance.

First, while we recognize that the Revised Standard Version does have some values, nevertheless we feel strongly that its demerits far outweigh these values and indicate a gravely serious bias in the direction of modern religious liberalism. This bias is very clearly apparent in the treatment of passages which deal with the deity and virgin birth of our Lord.

Second, we recommend that the churches continue to use the translation commonly known as the "King James Version" in both public worship and private study. Where help is desired in making clearer any obscure passages, we urge the use of the well-known American Standard Version of 1901, and also Biblical notes prepared by men who have a reputation for devout and believing Christian scholarship.

Third, we cannot do other than deplore the manner in which the new version was introduced to the general public, the attempts made to secure its approval before there was opportunity for even a casual examination, and the determined drive to make it an "authorized" translation for Protestant churches. In saying this, we gladly recognize the right of any man or group of men to issue a translation of the Scriptures, but any such translation should win approval in the churches and among Christians on its merits, not by any ecclesiastical mandate.

THE FACULTY,
Grace Theological Seminary.

December 5, 1952.

of Pompeii. From there they go to Alexandria, Egypt and then to Beirut, the capital of Lebanon. After visiting Damascus the party's headquarters will be at Jerusalem. The archeological work will be undertaken from the middle of March to the middle of June. They expect to arrive home about June 16 from England.—P. B.

NOTE ON ABBREVIATIONS

In the following articles KJV refers to our well-known King James Version of 1611. The letters ASV refer to the American Standard Version of 1901. The letters RSV refer to the new Revised Standard Version recently issued by the National Council of Churches.

Should the Churches Accept the Revised Standard Version?

Introduction by Dr. Alva J. McClain, President of Grace Theological Seminary

Freedom of Speech

We do not question the right of any man or group of men to make a translation of the Bible. Of all the citizens of this country, we who believe in the infallible Word of God should be the first to resist any abridgement of liberty. For, if this precious freedom should ever be lost, we would be the first to suffer, because the children of God are still a minority group even in free America.

But if the National Council of Churches had a right to sponsor the publication of a new version of the Scriptures, then the rest of us outside that religious organization also have some rights—we have a right to evaluate and criticize their work. And we sincerely believe, after careful consideration, that the Revised Standard Version contains a great deal that should be criticized. As a matter of fact, the translators of this version seem to have expected that their work would be criticized, judging from the second paragraph of their Preface.

Danger of Hasty Evaluation

In some of the earliest evaluations of the new version, the faculty of Grace Seminary feel that sometimes opinions were expressed hastily, both by defenders and critics, without sufficient study of the material. This was probably to be expected, since no opportunity whatever was given by the sponsors for examination of the new version in its completed form before final release to the public. And the moment it appeared, readers began to press for opinions as to its value. Even many of those who most staunchly defended it had to speak their initial praise before they had read it.

As soon as copies could be secured, the entire version was read quickly by the seminary faculty as a body, and a general Preliminary Statement was issued. Then certain aspects of the version were assigned to individual teachers, in accordance with the particular field of interest and specialization as far as possible. The following articles represent the results of these studies, and more than justify the Preliminary Statement, which is being reprinted in this issue of the Herald for the benefit of any who may not have read it before.

The Great Protestant Division

It is no secret that the Protestant world today is sharply divided into two absolutely different theological camps. On the one side we have those who hold firmly to all the great fundamental truths of Biblical Christianity, called by various names—Conservatives, Evangelicals, Fundamentalists. On the other side are those who either reject one or more of these great truths or regard them as nonessential opinions, called Liberals, Modernists, Barthians, Neo-Orthodox. Between these two theological camps there is a gulf so deep and vast that it cannot be bridged by soft words or slogans of peace and unity. The editor of the liberal Christian Century put the matter very clearly when he said several years ago that the differences were so great that the two camps did not even worship the same God! In this opinion, I think, this modernistic editor was right, for once.

Now it is an astounding fact that the overwhelming majority of the translation committee were men who by their own profession belong to the Modernistic Liberal camp. Nothing like this ever happened before in all the long history of the great English translations of the Bible. In the well-known versions of 1611, 1886, and 1901, the sponsors took great pains to assemble large translation committees with scholars representing all important religious parties and viewpoints. But on the translation committee of the recent RSV conservative scholarship had practically no voice at all; certainly no effective voice. Of the two members who might have spoken for Christian orthodoxy, one died in 1934 and the other resigned in 1938; and since the work on the RSV began in 1930, was suspended in 1932 for lack of money, and was not resumed until 1937, it is clear that neither of these men could have had much to do with the final product. Furthermore, the total committee was 32, and decisions were made by a two-thirds vote. Hence no one can deny that this new version was made by just one theological party in Christendom.

This Version Will Deepen the Division

The "loading" of the translation committee with Modernists must have been deliberate. On any other basis it is impossible to account for such a lopsided committee. One wonders about the ethics involved, especially in the light of a statement made by Dr. Irwin, of the University of Chicago, on behalf of the translation committee, who said, "There is no place for theology in Bible translation. . . . Linguistic science knows no theology; those of most contradictory views can meet on common ground." Personally, I do not think this is true. But if Dr. Irwin and his colleagues believed it was true, then we may ask how it happened that his committee almost to a man was made up of the bitterest kind of partisans on one side of the greatest division that Protestantism has ever seen? Things like that do not happen by accident. Of course, the sponsors of the RSV will probably reply that conservative Protestantism has no scholars. And such a reply is the best evidence of their unreasonable partisanship.

With these facts as a background, we may wonder what becomes of the impassioned pleas of the Liberals for unity in the churches! Does anyone suppose that the way to create unity is to kick your opponent in the face? If the sponsors of the new version had been genuinely interested in spiritual unity, they have missed the greatest opportunity they ever had really to do something that would count in that direction. For it has been historically demonstrated that the general use of one common version of the Bible can do more for the cause of genuine Christian unity than all the shouting and organizations to further the cause of ecumenics. On the other hand, there is nothing which can possibly do more to deepen and make permanent the existing division than the adoption of a Bible translation which the conservatives can never accept. It is very likely that the sponsors of the RSV knew exactly what they were doing.

The prophet Micah has a way of describing such religious leaders: "Thus saith the Lord concerning the prophets that make my people err, that bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace" (3:5). You should see what the RSV has done to this text!

The Theological Bias of the RSV Translators

By Dr. Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

When, on September 30, 1952, the Revised Standard Version (RSV) of the Bible was released to the public with much ado by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., Prof. W. A. Irwin, of the University of Chicago, speaking for the translation committee, made this astonishing statement: "The fact must be stressed that there is no place for theology in Bible translation. . . . Linguistic science knows no theology" (Intro. to RSV of O. T., p. 14). Anyone who has done the very simplest kind of translation work, even in the classroom, must realize that such a statement is both misleading and false. That this indictment is not too severe will be clearly realized as one considers the way some of the important doctrinal passages of the Bible were translated by them. It is not the purpose of this article to deal with such passages which reveal the theological bias of the RSV translation. That task has been accomplished by others whose articles appear in this paper. It is, rather, my task to tell who these men are, and to show from their mouths something of their theological bias so that the reader may decide for himself why they translated as they did.

Dr. Bauman

While it should be recognized that in certain cases the RSV translators faced a choice between two English words, either of which might properly represent the meaning of the particular word in the original language, the question arises: Just why did they sometimes choose the words that rob many precious passages of the meaning they have carried for centuries, especially when the choice of one of the other allowable words would preserve the harmony between an Old Testament passage of Scripture and its quotation by a New Testament writer? The answer is, they are not interested in the unity of Scripture, for they neither believe it to be fully and verbally inspired, nor do they accept some of its precious doctrines. As a result, they chose not the words that would maintain the harmony of Scripture, but rather those which most nearly harmonize with their own liberal theological views. A few quotations from some of their writings will serve to show where they stand doctrinally. Then let us judge them "out of their own mouths" and as we have occasion elsewhere to examine some of their translations.

One of the well-known revisers listed on the committee is Edgar J. Goodspeed, of the University of Chicago. The following quotations from his book entitled, "How to Read the Bible," will suffice to show his attitude toward its inspiration.

Concerning the possibility of predictive prophecy, Goodspeed says, "The prophets were not predictors of future events but spokesmen for morality and reformation" (p. 11).

Concerning the Book of Ruth, Goodspeed says, "The little idyl of Ruth followed Judges in the Bible, only because its story falls in the days of the Judges. But it belongs to Israel's fiction, rather than to its history, and should be read among its tales and stories" (p. 51).

Concerning Job, Goodspeed says, "We must think of the books of the Bible which are fiction, that is, short stories" (p. 147). Again, "This must at once inform every reader that he (Job) is an ideal figure, and the setting of the drama is religious fiction" (p. 147).

Concerning Jonah, Goodspeed says, "Jonah is the first missionary book in the world. If people would recognize it as fiction, they might get from it its meaning, which was never more needed than today" (p. 149).

Another member of the committee was James Moffatt (now deceased), of Union Theological Seminary, and translator of the well-known Moffatt Bible in modern speech. A single quotation will reveal his attitude toward inspiration: "We also know that the New Testament writers attached a meaning to some Old Testament prophecies which was unhistorical. . . . Historical criticism has rendered a true service to Christianity by relieving it of the necessity of accepting literally such attempts. . . . Predictions . . . like that of the millennium in the Book of the Revelation are due to some passing mood of faith in a particular age" (The Approach to the N. T., London, 1922, pp. 85-86).

A third reviser was Prof. William A. Irwin, of Chicago University. In his book, "The Prophets and Their Times," he boldly manifests his rank infidelity by placing the inspiration of pagan writers on a par with those of the Bible. He says: "Our study has sufficed to show how commonplace—in the better sense of this much-abused term—was the experience from which they came with flaming certitude to announce, 'Thus saith the Lord.' They heard and saw God in the common things of every day. But so have hosts of men done in all ages and all races; only bigotry could bring us to deny an equal validity with the prophets of Israel in the religious vision of men such as Zoroaster or Ikhнатon or on a lower level, the unnamed thinkers of ancient Babylon." Again: "The prophets were forced by the disasters that befell to do some hard and painful thinking. They were forced by the history of their own times to revise their messages again and again in order to keep with the progress of the age. The Assyrians and Babylonians forced them to revise their conception of Yehweh (Jehovah) from time to time until they finally made him God of the universe" (p. 325).

Frederick C. Eiselen, late president of Garrett Biblical Institute, wrote in Christianity Today: "Modern investigators . . . have marshaled too many facts to permit any longer the use of the Bible as an infallible guide in matters of science and history. . . . The writers did the best of which they were capable under the intellectual limitations of the age in which they lived" (pp. 42-43).

Julius A. Bewer, professor of Old Testament, Union

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

Theological Seminary, New York, in his book, "The Literature of the Old Testament," says concerning the chronology of Moses in the Pentateuch: "However accurate they may seem to be, they turn out to be altogether unreliable . . . not handed down by any reliable tradition but . . . as an adaptation of an early Babylonian chronological scheme" (p. 265).

Millar Burrows, professor of Bible, Yale University Divinity School, in his "Outline of Biblical Theology," says: "The distinction between religious and nonreligious areas of truth does not dispose of all the errors in the Bible. Even in matters of religious concern the Bible is by no means of uniform value throughout. Not only are false ideas expressed, wrong practices are sanctioned. . . . We cannot take the Bible as a whole and in every part as stating with divine authority what we must believe and do" (pp. 47, 50).

A perusal of the books written by other members of the committee would produce similar testimony. One of the number, Harry M. Orlinsky, a professor at the Jewish Institute of Religion, New York, is not a professing Christian at all. An adherent to the Jewish religion, he is a Unitarian and, as such, would never be expected to favor a translation which would point to an organic unity between the Old and New Testaments.

What is true of the attitude of most of the members of the committee toward inspiration is likewise true of their attitude toward many of the precious doctrines of the Bible, including the Person of Christ, His Virgin Birth, His Atonement, and His Resurrection. Quotations could be multiplied but space forbids. The following statement, however, from the pen of Prof. Henry J. Cadbury, of Harvard University, will show that at least one translator either questions the sanity of Christ or the inspiration of some of the things that He said: "Much of the most appreciative writing about Him (Jesus) runs the risk of putting Him into the introvert class. Indeed, as is well-known, the emphasis of orthodoxy upon his messianic claims and messianic consciousness led some psychiatrists to doubt his sanity" (p. 8).

Such quotations reveal the true heart of the men who composed the translation committee of the RSV. What can be expected of them but a version which will conform as nearly as possible to their perverted theological views. Long ago, God directed Jeremiah to characterize the false prophets of his day and to warn his people to avoid them. This ancient warning is as greatly needed today as it was 2,500 years ago: "Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Harken not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you; they make you vain: they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. . . . he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully. . . . Is not my word like as a fire? saith the Lord; and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces? Therefore, behold, I am against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steal my words every one from his neighbour. Behold, I am against the prophets, saith the Lord, that use their tongues, and say, He saith. . . . for ye have perverted the words of the living God, of the Lord of hosts our God" (Jer. 23:16, 28-31, 36).

The Attitude of the RSV Translators Toward the Holy Scriptures

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Dean and Professor of New Testament and Greek

Regarding the worth of the Bible, the makers of the new Revised Standard Version (RSV) undoubtedly believe some things with which we can agree. For instance, they believe that the Bible is a historical document worth preserving, a very great literary heritage, a unique spiritual contribution to society, and a moral factor of vast influence in human history.

But this is far from the whole story. To get the more complete picture of their view of Scripture, it is necessary to go beyond the rather pious language used in the Preface and Introductions to their new translation. This picture appears clearly in their various writings through the years. The following quotations are a few specimens from some of the translators: James Moffatt says, "The New Testament writers attached a meaning to some Old Testament prophecies which was unhistorical." Julius A. Bewer says that some things in the Old Testament "are altogether unreliable." Frederick C. Eiselen says that we now have "marshalled too many facts to permit any longer the use of the Bible as an infallible guide." Millar Burrows speaks of "Errors in the Bible" and that in the Bible "Not only are false ideas expressed, wrong practices are sanctioned." These quotations are representative of the attitude of by far the large majority of the RSV committee.

Dr. Hoyt

It should not be surprising, therefore, to find in the new RSV many indications of the very low opinion of Biblical inspiration held by most of these men who translated it. What they have done in their translation is the surest key to the meaning of their fair words uttered in the Preface to it. Let us consider:

I. THEIR VARIOUS LITERARY DEVICES

One of the innovations of the RSV is the introduction of quotation marks to indicate where there is a direct quotation from some speaker whether God or man. Although quotation marks can be an aid to interpretation, sometimes there is a difference of opinion in certain passages as to whether the writer of Scripture is speaking or whether he is quoting someone else. And, of course, there are no quotation marks in the original Biblical documents. In the case of the much-beloved passage in John 3:16 which most of us have always regarded as coming from the lips of our Lord Jesus Himself, the RSV, by the introduction of quotation marks, has ended the speech of our Lord at the end of verse 15. Thus, in the RSV, John 3:16 is simply from the pen of John. Of course this does not mean that the words are not inspired, but there does seem to be a distinct loss in thinking of them as not having been spoken originally by our Lord Himself.

By changes in the use of pronouns the RSV translators have also raised questions as to the deity of Christ in the case of many New Testament passages. The translators of the RSV inform us that they will change the older pronouns "thee" and "thou" to the more modern forms of "you" and "your" "except in language addressed to God." Then we find that with very few exceptions they use "you" and "your" in connection with our Lord Jesus Christ, thus raising a very serious question as to His deity.

By the device of paraphrase (a roundabout way of saying something) the RSV translators were able in places to weave their own ideas into the Scriptures. For example, in Matthew 1:2 (KJV) the words "Abraham begat Isaac," are rendered by the new version, "Abraham was the father of Isaac." Here it is obvious that four English words are used by the RSV to translate a single Greek word where one English word would have been enough as in the KJV. But what is worse, the four English words in the RSV do not accurately represent the original Greek. The original Greek in this place, and throughout the entire genealogy, does not contain the word "was," nor the word "father," nor the preposition "of." More than that, these four words "was the father of" do not convey the precise meaning of the Greek verb for "begat."

Furthermore, marginal notes have been introduced into the RSV which may throw the average reader into mental confusion. This is certainly true of the footnote appended to Matthew 1:16 which reads "other ancient authorities read Joseph, to whom was betrothed the virgin Mary, was the father of Jesus who is called Christ." This footnote is practically without any important basis in textual evidence (for a full discussion of this footnote see Dr. McClain's article on "The Virgin Birth in the Revised Standard Version" on page 138).

II. DELETION OF DISPUTED PASSAGES

Certainly a great number of devout Christian readers of the Bible will be puzzled and disappointed to find the very familiar passages in Mark 16:9-20 and in John 7:53-8:11 have been removed entirely from the text of the new RSV. It is true, of course, that scholars have held various attitudes toward these two passages.

The more conservative scholars have never been convinced that these passages do not belong to the original text of the Bible. Therefore they have left them as they appear in our KJV with or without marginal note, for the reason that they found in these passages much precious truth and also nothing contrary to the other Scriptures.

Less conservative scholars have felt that these two passages should be bracketed with some note in the margin. For example, the translators of the American Standard Version (ASV) of 1901 followed this procedure in the case of the passage in John, but with only a note in the case of the Mark passage.

The more liberal scholars felt that these two passages should be removed from the regular Bible text and placed in the margin with an explanatory note. This scheme has been followed by the RSV.

The most radical position would be to remove the passages both from the text of Scripture and also from any marginal reference. This has not yet been done but it may be the next thing in order by modernistic scholarship.

If the textual evidence were absolutely conclusive that these two passages are not parts of the original Scriptures, then no translator would have any hesitation in removing them from the Bible. But if the Bible is only the word of man, of course such conclusive evidence is not necessary. And knowing the modernistic viewpoint of the RSV translators it is understandable how they might be influenced by evidence that is not conclusive.

III. CREATION OF THEIR OWN ORIGINAL TEXT

Perhaps the clearest evidence that the RSV translators do not believe the Scriptures to be the verbally inspired Word of God is the way they have treated the Hebrew text of the Old Testament. In 1,027 cases, where the Hebrew text was before them, these translators deliberately chose to follow some other text. These particular cases have been noted in the margin of the RSV. But some other cases have already been discovered where the Hebrew text has been wholly set aside in favor of some other reading, but with no marginal note to indicate the source of it. Only careful investigation will finally reveal the number of places in the Old Testament where this has happened. Dr. Allan A. MacRae, presi-

Within this awful volume lies
The mystery of mysteries:
Happiest they of human race,
To whom their God has given grace
To read, to fear, to hope, to pray,
To lift the latch, to force the way;
But better had they ne'er been born
Who read to doubt, or read to scorn.

—Sir Walter Scott.

dent of Faith Theological Seminary, a very competent Old Testament scholar, has declared: "I cannot trust a single passage in the RSV Old Testament unless I have before me also my Hebrew Bible."

It is interesting to notice where other versions have been followed by the RSV, even so far as going to one of the apocryphal books. In 10 cases the apocryphal book of I Esdras has been followed. One hundred times the RSV translators resorted to the Syriac, Vulgate, Targums, etc. In no less than 279 instances the Septuagint is followed when it is supported by other versions. And 291 times the Septuagint alone was the basis of the RSV translation.

Conjectural changes in the Hebrew text is the most amazing phenomenon. In 347 places the RSV translators followed neither the Hebrew nor any version, but simply guessed at what the text should be, and then translated their own guesswork. In these particular 347 places the RSV has placed in the margin a mark "cn" which indicates what they have done. By their own admission, however, there are other places where they have resorted to conjecture and placed no note in the margin to inform the readers.

The large freedom with which these men went about their task, interpolating, correcting, ignoring, removing, paraphrasing, and perverting important and sometimes great sections of Scripture, indicates clearly the low view these men held of Holy Scripture.

IV. NOW WE KNOW WHAT THEY MEAN

With the above facts in mind, the reader of the RSV will better understand the meaning of the words which appear in the Preface to the new version on page 10: "It (the Bible) is a record of God's dealing with men, of God's revelation of Himself and His will. It records the life and work of Him in whom the Word of God became flesh and dwelt among us. . . . It is our hope and our earnest prayer that this Revised Standard Version of the Bible may be used by God to speak to men in these momentous times, and to help them to understand and believe and obey His Word."

If the translators were something other than scholars one could pass by the above quoted words as the imperfect attempt to say something good about the Bible as the written Word of God. But knowing them as scholars whose liberal leanings are so pronounced, it must be concluded that they wrote precisely what they meant, and they did not mean that the Bible is the Word of God. It is "a record," and only a record, a record of God's dealings with men, of God's revelation of Himself and His will, of Christ who became flesh. But to them it is not the written revelation of God to men. In short, to them, it is not the Word of God. Within this record you will find the Word of God, but it may not be the same to you as to someone else, nor will it always be the same to you in every place. And you will never be quite sure when it is the Word of God. This is evidently what they mean.

Therefore, the most the translators can do as they send the new version forth is hope and pray that the new translation will help the reader "to understand and believe and obey His Word." By this they did not mean that the Bible is the Word of God. They merely meant that the new translation may become an aid whereby the reader will be able to discern the Word of God, or recognize the Word of God in some very abstract sense as he reads the new version. What is wrong with this? Well, if in his reading he does not find the Word of God, then he cannot obey it. And if he does not obey it, he must continue to grope his way along ever hoping that in some mysterious way God will reveal His Word and His will to him. By means of this clever stratagem, if indeed it may be called clever, the translators have maneuvered themselves and all those who follow them into the perilous position of being unable to find the Word of God, and being unable to recognize it if they did.

The Deity of Christ in the RSV Old Testament

By John C. Whitcomb, Jr., Assistant Professor in Old Testament

The Lord Jesus Christ said that the entire Old Testament is filled with teachings concerning Himself (Luke 24:27, 44). As we examine the Old Testament passages that point to the coming Messiah, we see that one of the most vital truths revealed about the Messiah was the fact of His deity. Many Old Testament passages clearly teach that the Messiah was GOD, sharing all the attributes of Jehovah.

But it is a mistake to think that the precious truth of Christ's deity in the Old Testament is confined to a few "proof texts." The fact is that this doctrine is woven into the very fabric of the Old Testament. It may be seen in the line of prophecy concerning the Messiah from Genesis to Malachi; in the entire sacrificial system of the Jews; in the mysterious appearances of the Angel of Jehovah; and in the unfulfilled history and destiny of the Jewish nation. It is not an exaggeration to say that the Old Testament is a meaningless puzzle if the Messiah, Jesus Christ, be not GOD in human flesh.

The apparent attempt, therefore, on the part of the translators of the Revised Standard Version (RSV) to eliminate the deity of Christ from the Old Testament by twisting certain "proof texts," not only fails utterly in its purpose, but serves to reveal most strikingly the liberal theology of these translators. A few examples will show how the RSV treats the Eternal Son of God in the Old Testament.

TEXTS WHERE CHRIST IS CALLED GOD

There are four Old Testament passages where Christ is spoken of as GOD, which the RSV has translated in such a way as to make Christ a mere man:

Prof. Whitcomb

Psalm 2:7 in the King James Version (KJV) reads: "The LORD hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee." This verse is quoted in Hebrews 1:5 to show that Christ is GOD. But the RSV changes Psalm 2:7 to read: "He said to me, 'You are my son, today I have begotten you.'" Notice that "thou" and "thee" have been changed to "you." The reason for the change of pronoun forms is stated by the RSV committee in their Introduction to the Revised Standard Version of the New Testament, as follows: "It was decided to abandon these forms ["thee" and "thou"] and to follow modern usage, except in language addressed to God" (p. 56). When the new version translates Hebrews 1:5, however, it uses the words "thee" and "thou," because it is obvious that the author of Hebrews intended to use Psalm 2:7 as a proof of the deity of Christ. The reader is thus left with the impression that the author of Hebrews misquoted and misapplied Psalm 2:7!

Psalm 45:6 in the KJV reads: "Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever." In Hebrews 1:8 this verse is quoted to show that Christ is the ETERNAL GOD. But the RSV translates Psalm 45:6 to read: "Your divine throne endures for ever and ever." In this way, the RSV attempts to remove Christ's deity from the verse by changing the possessive pronoun from "thy" to "your," and by changing the title "God" into the adjective "divine" and applying it to the throne instead of to Christ Himself!

Psalm 110:1 in the KJV reads: "The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool." This is quoted by our Saviour in Matthew 22:45 to show that He is not only the seed of David, but also the Lord and God of David. But the RSV changes Psalm 110:1 to read: "The LORD says to my lord: 'Sit at my right hand, till I make your enemies your footstool.'" Notice that the second "lord" is begun with a small letter! Here again, with absolutely no basis in the Hebrew text for such a change, the RSV translators assume that we have the words of an unknown psalmist assuring David ("my lord") that God will give him protection and victory! If the RSV is right, then our Lord Jesus Christ was wrong in using this verse as an Old Testament prophecy of His own deity!

Psalm 110:4 in the KJV reads: "Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek." This text is quoted in Hebrews 7:17 to show that Christ is the ETERNAL HIGH PRIEST. But the RSV changes Psalm 110:4 to read: "The LORD has sworn and will not change his mind, 'You are a priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek.'" Here again the change from "thou" to "you" removes from the verse our Lord's deity.

TEXTS WHICH TEACH CHRIST'S ETERNITY

There are two Old Testament passages which teach the eternal existence of Christ, which the RSV has changed so that they now teach, in the new version, that Christ was created and had an origin in time!

Micah 5:2 in the KJV reads: "Out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting." But the RSV changes the meaning to read: "From you shall come forth for me one who is to be ruler in Israel, whose origin is from of old, from ancient days." Here the RSV changes "goings forth" to "origin"; and it changes "from everlasting" to "from ancient days." This is an obvious attempt to rob Christ of His eternal preexistence, and to present Him as a mere creature!

Proverbs 8:22 in the K. J. V. reads: "The LORD possessed me in the beginning of his way, before his works of old." But the RSV changes the translation to: "The LORD created me at the beginning of his work, the first of his acts of old." Here the RSV changes "possessed" to "created"; and changes "before his works of old" to "the first of his acts of old," thus making the verse to teach that Christ is a mere creature, the product of the first of God's acts! In neither Micah 5:2 nor in Proverbs 8:22 is there a basis in the Hebrew text for such changes.

Finally, the deity of Christ has been attacked in Zechariah 12:10, Psalm 2:11, Jeremiah 23:6, and Isaiah 48:16 by mistranslations in the RSV. It should be clear to any honest student of the Scriptures that this version is utterly biased and undependable in its translation of the Old Testament messianic passages. Therefore, it should not be used by those who desire to know what the Word of God actually says in its original languages. In spite of the RSV, however, Christians may rejoice in the assurance that the truth of our Lord's words still remains: "The scripture cannot be broken" (John 10:35).

The Deity of Christ in the RSV New Testament

By Homer A. Kent, Jr., Assistant Professor in New Testament and Greek

Has the deity of Jesus Christ been removed from the New Testament by those who produced the Revised Standard Version? (N. T. section, 1946; reissued with 80 changes, 1952.) This question has been frequently asked in recent months, and the conflicting answers reveal a problem demanding our attention.

The teaching that Jesus Christ is the eternal Son of God does not depend on a few isolated passages here and there, but is reflected throughout the New Testament. In spite of numerous Bible revisions and modern speech versions which have appeared during the last 50 years, prepared chiefly by men whose views are at least questionable, the devout Christian need not fear an ultimate eradication of Christ's deity. No translation can remove that which is woven in countless ways into the narrative. As long as the version remains a translation, that doctrine is secure, for only a completely new book could destroy this matchless Person.

However, the attitude of the translators toward the deity of Christ is undoubtedly reflected in their treatment of certain passages.

Prof. Kent

sion (KJV). In order to make the Bible conform to modern speech, these forms presented a problem. After much debate, the RSV adopted the policy of abandoning all these pronoun forms except in language addressed to God. (The plural form "ye" was eliminated altogether.)

But what was to be done when the pronoun refers to Christ? Was our Lord to be treated as God or man? Or was the translator to interpret the mind of the speaker in each case (a difficult task, to say the least) to determine how much of Christ's divine nature was comprehended? The policy as finally adopted uses the form "you" for all references to the incarnate Son of God (i. e. Jesus Christ during His earthly life), in order to safeguard His true humanity, and "thou" when He is referred to as the eternal Son apart from His incarnation.

There is some question, however, as to the pronoun "thou" being a merely outworn word, left over from the days of the King James Version. According to many grammarians, this pronoun was not in use in common speech even then, and had been declining for several hundred years before. However, it was retained in the KJV because it so perfectly expressed the reverential spirit which the Bible maintains. That this "reverential spirit" is conveyed by these older pronouns is tacitly admitted even by RSV, since its translators themselves retained these same pronouns where "God" is spoken of in the New Testament.

I. THE "PRONOUN" PROBLEM

The translators of RSV were confronted with the problem of the second personal pronoun forms "thou, thy, thee, thine." These forms have largely disappeared from modern English, and exist chiefly in the religious realm because of the influence of the King James Ver-

II. SOME PASSAGES AFFECTED

1. Matthew 16:16 provides one of the more notable instances where Jesus Christ is very clearly recognized by the speaker as deity, although the RSV translators have not so indicated. Hence Peter is made to say, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God." Yet in another text God the Father is made to say to this same incarnate Christ, "Thou art my beloved Son; with thee I am well pleased" (Mark 1:11 RSV). The revisers excuse themselves by saying that other passages are close to Matthew 16:16 in thought, and hence the line between humanity and deity must be drawn somewhere, but the inconsistency of any such arbitrary ruling appears when Mark 1:11 is compared.

2. Matthew 14:33, in the account of Jesus walking on the water and stilling the storm, records, "And those in the boat worshiped him, saying, 'Truly you are the Son of God.'" Such distinction between God the Father who may be addressed by the reverential "thou," and the Son who may be worshiped by men and yet addressed as "you" cannot be expected to create a proper recognition of Christ's deity by the average reader.

3. Mark 15:39 (cf. Matt. 27:54) records the statement of the centurion at the crucifixion, "Truly this man was a son of God." The reader will recognize the change from the KJV which states "the Son of God." In the Greek this passage is ambiguous. There are no definite articles present, and therefore the translator must decide whether the term is a proper name (which would need no articles in the Greek) or is to be rendered with the English indefinite article "a." The translators of RSV have assumed that the centurion was a polytheist and thus his testimony amounts to little. To be consistently literal, they should have translated "a son of a god." But this man was not necessarily a raw heathen whose comments rose no higher. He could have been brought to a recognition of Christ's true person from the events which had occurred. At least his statement must have had profound significance because it was recorded by two Gospel writers. To be fair and escape making an arbitrary decision on an ambiguous passage, the rendering could have been "God's Son" and no articles would be necessary.

3. Romans 9:5 is an instance where the RSV translators interpreted Paul's mind and altered a text which in the KJV attributes deity to Christ. Our KJV translates Paul's description: "... Christ came, who is over all,

FACULTY SPEAKERS AVAILABLE

The members of the Grace Seminary teaching staff can accept engagements to speak on "The History of Our English Bible" and give information on the Revised Standard Version. This can be done as time and traveling distance permits. They will be glad, especially, to accept week-end engagements. In the near future it will be possible for some of them to illustrate their messages with slides. Churches interested may write the seminary or the individual teacher, addressing either at Winona Lake, Ind.

God blessed for ever." The RSV repunctuates the sentence as a doxology: "... and of their race, according to the flesh, is the Christ. God who is over all be blessed forever." Since the RSV is called a revision, one would not expect an arbitrary change unless the Greek text demanded it, and such is not the case here.

In all fairness to the RSV, it should be stated that two other passages which clearly attribute deity to Christ, Titus 2:13 and II Peter 1:1, are left untouched by the translators.

III. THE CONFUSION INTRODUCED

The policy of RSV, although producing a Bible in modern speech, nevertheless does leave itself vulnerable to the following criticisms:

1. A distinction in rank or reverence is suggested by the alternating of pronouns between the incarnate Christ and the Eternal Son of God, and between the Father and the Son.

2. Old Testament passages which are quoted by the New Testament writers to prove the deity of Christ are translated inconsistently in certain instances. Hebrews 1:5 (RSV), "Thou art my Son, today I have begotten thee," is a quotation of Psalms 2:7, "You are my son, today I have begotten you" (RSV).

3. The lack of complete application of RSV policy has produced some renderings which can only be termed "confusing." In Mark 5:7 the demons, who recognize Christ's deity and submit completely to his power, are made to say by the RSV, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God?" Yet in Revelation 18:14, where Babylon is addressed as a wicked woman with whom kings have committed fornication, the RSV reads: "The fruit for which thy soul longed has gone from thee, and all thy dainties and thy splendor are lost to thee." Since the RSV itself has established its own standard of reserving the reverential "thou" for God only, the confusion in these passages is astounding. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is addressed by the ordinary "you," while the reverential "thou" is applied to a harlot! Such confusion of principle reflects an inexact treatment of the New Testament text, and makes the RSV undependable.

Above—Speakers at the Bible rally in the seminary building, from left to right: Dr. J. Barton Payne, professor of Old Testament at Bob Jones University; Dr. David Otis Fuller, pastor of the Wealthy Street Baptist Church in Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dr. Alva J. McClain, president of Grace Theological Seminary; Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, dean of Grace Seminary.

The Virgin Birth in the Revised Standard Version

By Dr. Alva J. McClain, Professor of Christian Theology

The great historic fact that our Lord Jesus Christ was "conceived by the Holy Ghost; born of the Virgin Mary," entirely apart from any generation on the part of man, has been one of the fundamental truths of Christianity from the very beginning of Christian history. The so-called "Apostles' Creed" has borne witness to this fact continuously throughout at least 1,800 years of church history; and belief in the Virgin Birth is affirmed by repetition of the "Creed" every Lord's Day throughout wide areas of Christendom, even in religious bodies whose leaders have rejected it as an essential truth.

As to the Biblical basis for the truth of the Virgin Birth, there is considerable material. Although some of this material is more or less indirect in its testimony, there are at least three main passages which bear witness very clearly and directly: First, there is the account in Matthew 1:18-25 giving the story from the standpoint of Joseph. Second, there is the account in Luke 1:26-38 written evidently from Mary's standpoint. Third, there is the great prophecy in Isaiah 7:14 quoted by Matthew as having been fulfilled by the Virgin Birth of Christ.

Now what has the RSV done with this important material? In answer, first, let it be said that the makers of this recent version apparently made no attempt to remove or alter either the received Hebrew text in Isaiah 7:14 or the Greek text in the Virgin Birth stories of Matthew 1:18-25 and Luke 1:26-38. As a matter of fact, no group of men with any pretense of responsible scholarship dared attack any of these passages on textual grounds. But while these revisers could not attack directly on textual grounds the truth of our Lord's Virgin Birth in the crucial passages, they did move against the doctrine by what might be called indirect assault. The evidence is as follows:

I. IN THE ISAIAH PASSAGE THE RSV MOVED AGAINST THE VIRGIN BIRTH BY MISTRANSLATION

In the King James Version (KJV) Isaiah 7:14 reads, "Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel."

In the American Standard Version (ASV) the passage is translated exactly as above, but the word "maiden" is put in the margin as an alternative translation. But since English dictionaries define "maiden" as "a virgin," the meaning is not changed.

The new RSV takes the word "virgin" out of Isaiah 7:14 and translates as follows: "Behold, a young woman shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." The word "virgin" is then relegated to a footnote as a secondary alternate translation. Thus the revisers raised a serious question at least about any reference in the prophecy to our Lord's Virgin Birth, and revealed clearly their own attitude toward that great truth. For if they believed that Christ was born of a virgin, and if the word "virgin" was a possible translation, then there could be no valid reason for not leaving the word "virgin" in the verse, unless they were determined to exclude from the prophecy any reference to the birth of Christ. Let us now consider the evidence against the RSV translation of Isaiah 7:14.

Dr. McClain

First, the Gospel of Matthew declares in unmistakable terms that Isaiah 7:14 was a prophecy of the Virgin Birth of Jesus Christ, and the makers of the RSV were well aware of this fact, for when they came to translate Matthew's account they could do nothing else but translate it as follows: "All this took place to fulfil what the Lord had spoken by the prophet: 'Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and his name shall be called Emmanuel'" (1:22-23 RSV, italics mine). Certainly if the makers of the RSV believed in the inspiration of the Bible in any real sense of the term, they would have felt compelled to pay some attention to Matthew's declaration on this important point.

Second, the Hebrew word "almah," translated "virgin" in Isaiah 7:14 by the KJV, is used at least seven times in the Old Testament. Four times it is rendered "virgin," twice "maid," and once "damsel" (KJV). No one has ever been able to prove in any one of these occurrences that "almah" ever means anything else than "virgin." Dr. Robert Dick Wilson, probably the greatest scholar of his generation in languages related to Biblical history, after prolonged research of all the evidence, gave his unqualified support to the KJV translation of "virgin." It was also supported by the late Dr. James Orr, a scholar of immense learning. And the challenge of Luther still stands, "If any Jew or Christian can prove to me that in any passage of Scripture 'almah' means 'a married woman' I will give him 100 florins, although God alone knows where I might find them!"

Third, the theological bias of the makers of the RSV is clearly seen in the fact that in no less than four out of the seven occurrences of the word "almah" they have translated it by the word "maiden" which is still perfectly good English for "virgin." Yet when they came to Isaiah 7:14, after rejecting the word "virgin," they refuse to put in its place the word "maiden" which they had already used as a proper translation of the Hebrew "almah" in four other texts! Why was the great prophecy of Isaiah 7:14 selected as a place where neither "virgin" nor "maiden" would be allowed, but instead they translate "a young woman"? Does this not provide very clear evidence that in the thinking of these revisers the "young woman" in question was not a "virgin"?

Fourth, about 200 B. C. some Jewish scholars made a translation of the Hebrew Old Testament into Greek for the benefit of the dispersed Jews who could no longer either speak or read the Hebrew. This translation is called the Septuagint. Now it is a remarkable fact that in this translation the Hebrew "almah" is translated by the Greek word "parthenos," the meaning of which cannot be disputed. It means "virgin." To any person with a fair share of common sense it would seem that those Jewish scholars living 200 years before Christ should have known better how to translate their own language, and specifically the Book of Isaiah, than men far removed in time by 2,000 years from them. And if there should be any remaining doubt about the proper translation of the Hebrew "almah" in Isaiah 7:14, it should be settled forever by the fact that Matthew in his account of the Virgin Birth quotes the prophecy in Greek using the term "parthenos" (Matt. 1:23). And Matthew wrote by immediate inspiration of the Holy Ghost. But even this does not settle the matter for the RSV translation committee. One of these gentlemen, Dr. Harry M. Orlinsky, a Jewish scholar who of course rejects Jesus as the Christ, when faced by the fact that scholars of his own race and religion used the proper Greek word for "virgin" in Isaiah 7:14 2,000 years ago, actually argued that "the Christians" were responsible for changing the text of the Septuagint and inserting the word for "virgin" (see Intro. to RSV of O. T., p. 30). But the Septuagint was made by Jewish scholars 200 years before there were any Christians! When recently I pointed out Orlinsky's curious argument to a scholar who was inclined to defend the new version in a mild sort of way, he did not hesitate to characterize it as "sheer idiocy"! Certainly it could not be called "scholarship."

Finally, on the assumption accepted by the destructive critics, namely, that the "almah" of Isaiah 7:14 was not a "virgin" but only a "young woman" who in the days of the prophet bore a child by natural generation of a human father, it is difficult to see how this event could possibly have been any kind of a "sign" of unusual significance to "the house of David." The words of Isaiah 7:11 indicate that the "sign" to be given by "the Lord himself" would be something beyond and above anything in the ordinary world. How could such a sign be fulfilled by the birth of a child as the result of a man and a woman coming together? One might argue, with some justification, it would be a much greater sign if no child were conceived and born in such an event!

II. IN THE MATTHEW ACCOUNT OF THE VIRGIN BIRTH, THE RSV HAS INSINUATED A DOUBT BY THE INTRODUCTION OF A MISLEADING FOOTNOTE

For this particular piece of skullduggery (not an unfair characterization) the makers of the RSV kept outside the actual Virgin Birth passage which appears in Matthew 1:18-25, and centered their attention on verse 16. In both the KJV and ASV this verse is translated, "And Jacob begat Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ." And this is exactly what the Greek says. The RSV, with its much publicized antipathy to the verb "begat," omits this word and puts in three words, "the father of," which have nothing to represent them in the Greek. But otherwise the verse is left intact, reading in part, "Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom Jesus was born, who is called Christ." In English the pronoun "whom" is ambiguous and might be singular or plural, masculine or feminine. But the Greek pronoun is singular and feminine, pointing clearly to Mary alone.

But consider now a very curious footnote which the RSV has placed in the margin in connection with verse 16. This footnote reads as follows: "Other ancient authorities read Joseph, to whom was betrothed the virgin Mary, was the father of Jesus who is called Christ." This reading, of course, clearly asserts that Joseph was the father of Jesus. Let us examine this specimen of modernistic scholarship.

First, they say that this reading occurs in "other ancient authorities." This sounds very impressive. But what are these "ancient authorities"? And how many are there? Well, the answer is that there is not even so much as one manuscript of the Greek New Testament that contains the above reading! It is found only in an old version, the Sinaitic Syriac discovered in 1892.

Second, it should be pointed out that if all the insignificant variant readings which may be found in the ancient versions, to say nothing of the more important ancient manuscripts, had been included in the footnotes of the RSV New Testament, most of it would be footnotes! As any reader can easily see, very few of these variants are included in the footnotes. Why then, out of all the many thousands of variants, did the makers of the RSV put this one in, a reading with almost a complete lack of worth-while evidence? Again there is no answer except the stubborn theological bias of the translators against the Virgin Birth.

Third, worst of all for the revisers committee, this particular footnote was not in the RSV New Testament which was published in 1946, but it was slipped into the final product when the entire Bible was published in 1952. Again one cannot help wondering just why it happened this way. Could it be that the restraint which kept it out of the New Testament in 1946 was the fear of having such a shocking footnote appear on the first page of the first book which the readers would meet when they opened the RSV New Testament? Certainly it was easier to put it into the 1952 publication of the entire RSV Bible after the earlier 1946 New Testament had been examined critically, and when the attention of readers would be concentrated on the Old Testament. As a matter of fact, its presence was not known to some men who thought they knew what was in the RSV New Testament because they had examined it with great care when first issued in 1946. A great deal has been made of the so-called willingness of the revisers to make suggested changes of any of their work that needs correction, as indicated by some 80 alleged changes made between the 1946 and 1952 editions of the New Testament. Well, the introduction of this unbelieving and unwarranted footnote is one change which does not augur well for future changes.

III. IN THE LUKE ACCOUNT OF THE VIRGIN BIRTH, THE RSV HAS WEAKENED THE TESTIMONY OF MARY BY PUTTING IN HER MOUTH WORDS SHE DID NOT SPEAK

As I have already shown above, the RSV has sometimes rejected grammatically possible translations which would have been in harmony with the clearly taught general doctrine of the Word of God on some subjects. In Isaiah 7:14 they rejected "virgin" which by every rule of scholarship was a possible translation. But in Luke 1:34 they actually violate the ordinary rules of grammar to insert a translation which seriously weakens the testimony for the Virgin Birth on the part of the one person in the world who knew the most about what actually happened. I refer to the Virgin Mary.

When the angel Gabriel came to announce to Mary the coming conception and birth of our Lord, she in her chaste innocence asks the angel, "How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?" (Luke 1:34, KJV and ASV). What did the makers of the RSV do to this question?

They change it as follows: "How can this be, since I have no husband?"

Now as anyone can see, there is a world of difference between these two translations. Many a woman, unfortunately, has become the mother of a child when she had no husband. There is nothing new about this, tragic as the case may be. But in all the history of the world, no woman, save Mary alone, ever bore a child when she had not previously known a man.

Worst of all for the reputation of the RSV translators, almost any first-year Greek student can easily see that Mary did not say, "I have no husband." She did say, "I know not a man." The Greek language has verbs which express possession with no ambiguity, but Mary did not use one of these. She used the verb "ginosko," which occurs 223 times in the New Testament and in the KJV is translated 196 times by the English word "know." Never once is it translated with the idea of "have." Furthermore, such lexicographers as Thayer and Green do not even mention such a possible meaning. Generally the verb "ginosko" means "to know" intellectually or spiritually. A secondary meaning is to know carnally in the sense of sexual experience, which is the way Mary used the term, a very well-known usage throughout the Bible. See Genesis 4:1, "Adam knew Eve his wife; and she conceived."

Why did the RSV change the verb from "know" to "have," in defiance of all lexicographic authority? Two answers have been suggested by its defenders. One is that ordinary readers might not understand the secondary meaning of "know." The other is that, assuming that readers might understand the sexual meaning of "know," the revisers wanted to use terms which would be in better taste! Both these suggested answers are demolished by the simple fact that the RSV itself used the word "know" in its carnal sense both in the Old Testament and the New (see Gen. 4:1 and Matt. 1:25)!

Of course, it is possible that the revisers felt at liberty to cut loose from mere grammar and make what is called an "idiomatic" translation. But any such translation dare not cut loose from the original meaning of the passage. And when Mary said, "I know not a man," these revisers had no right to put into her mouth the words, "I have no husband." Of course, Mary had no husband when the angel came to her, as any fool would understand who reads the story. But that is not the point of her testimony. What she said was that she had not known any man sexually. I am very much in favor of discussing such matters in the language of good taste, but I insist in this case that Mary's personal testimony regarding her own good reputation is vastly more important than literary good taste.

The RSV translation of Mary's words is utterly indefensible on any grounds of grammar. And it should be condemned without reservation on moral grounds, to say nothing of its possible theological implications.

Does the Revised Standard Version Accurately Translate the Hebrew Old Testament?

By S. Herbert Bess, Assistant Professor in Old Testament and Hebrew

Much has been said about the "readability" of this new version. It is so much easier to read than the older versions, its promoters say, that many more people will read the Word of God with understanding and pleasure than heretofore. The present writer does not minimize the need for readability, but he insists that there is one consideration far more important than mere ease of reading. The paramount question is, Does the version faithfully translate what is given in the original language?

It is the claim of the Revised Standard Version that it is a faithful rendition of the original. Its translators assert that it is the most accurate translation yet given to the English-speaking world. The purpose of this article is to test this assertion, and to show that the claim is false.

Prof. Bess

ARBITRARY RECONSTRUCTIONS OF THE HEBREW TEXT

There are cases in which the original Hebrew text clearly said what the translators of the RSV apparently felt that it ought not to say. In such cases they sometimes arbitrarily rearranged the Hebrew text to make it say something different, after which they translated their own reconstruction. Such a procedure is not translation of the Hebrew Old Testament at all, but merely the translation of a text of one's own devising. A glaring example may be found in Psalm 2:11-12. The King James Version (KJV) had rendered the portion in question as: "and rejoice with trembling. Kiss the Son . . ." The new RSV changes this to, "with trembling kiss his feet."

Through what process did the translators arrive at such a major change? I think it can be demonstrated for you. It will first be necessary to explain that in ancient Hebrew only the consonants of the language were written; the vowels were not indicated. Now in the portion of the verse just quoted, the Hebrew Bible employs 16 letters, written in the following order: WGYLW BR'DH NSQW BR. For the moment let us assign each of these letters a number in the order in which they stand, from 1 to 16. Next, let us entirely reshuffle the order of these consonants, throwing No. 1 away, and arranging the rest in the order of 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 2, 4, 3, 5. Our consonants now will stand like this: BR'DH NSQW BRGLYW. The translators of the RSV went through all of this maneuvering before they were able to make the words say, "with trembling kiss his feet." Is this faithful translation? Let the reader judge for himself.

A reader needs only to leaf through the Old Testament in the new version and look at the footnotes to see what great use has been made of the Greek version called the Septuagint (a translation made from the original Hebrew in the 3d and 2d centuries B. C.). Such free use is made of this Greek version that it would seem the translators of the RSV assigned to it more authority than the original Hebrew. However, in the case of Psalm 2:11-12, which I have just discussed, the translators juggled the consonants and rearranged the text in spite of the clear testimony of the Greek. To be sure, the Greek translation was also quite incorrect, but the very nature of their error indicates that the Greek translators found the Hebrew text in substantially the same condition that we have it today.

OMISSIONS FROM THE HEBREW TEXT

There are numerous instances in which the translators decided to omit certain Hebrew words and leave them untranslated, apparently on the assumption that they were unnecessary to the sense. Such a case is to be found in Zephaniah 1:4. The KJV had translated the latter part of this verse with the words: "and the name of the Chemarims with the priests." The RSV reads: "and the name of the idolatrous priests."

The RSV offers one improvement here, because the word "Chemarims," found in the KJV, is a Hebrew word left untranslated. The RSV translated the word as "idolatrous priests," and this surely means much more to the English reader than "Chemarims." However, the expression "with the priests" is also a part of the Hebrew text, but it is omitted entirely by the RSV. Why was it omitted? The reason is to be found in the fact that the Greek version did not have the phrase. It was another case of preferring the Greek version above the Hebrew original, but here it is a poor choice indeed. The context of the passage makes it clear that it was the sin of religious syncretism which was being denounced. Judah was mixing the corrupt religious practices of her neighbors in with that religion she had received by revelation. Both the idolatrous priests and the priests of the Levitical order were to be cut off.

A great array of such omissions could be cited, but economy of space limits me to only one example. This is also true, of course, of those arbitrary reconstructions of the Hebrew text.

UGARITIC MYTHOLOGY IN PLACE OF THE HEBREW TEXT

Within the past 25 years a large body of cuneiform literature was unearthed at the site of an ancient heathen city named Ugarit. The language closely resembles Hebrew, and some scholars have sought to use this literature to explain difficult passages of the Bible. There is some legitimate use of this material, but there is a great danger in overemphasizing the similarities between this literature and the Bible, while ignoring the vast differences; for the religion of Ugarit was polytheistic. In one instance, at least, the religion of Ugarit was employed by the RSV to "correct" the Hebrew text and to put into David's mouth words that are difficult to harmonize with the doctrine of verbal inspiration.

In II Samuel 1:21 the KJV reads: "Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew, neither let there be rain, upon you, nor fields of offerings." The RSV reads: "Ye mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew or rain upon you, nor upsurging of the deep!"

It is to be admitted that the Hebrew of this portion is difficult; it has been a problem with interpreters for many years. The RSV is not warranted, however, in substituting a reading from heathen mythology, just because it finds a clause in Ugaritic literature which shows some similarities to the Hebrew text. Furthermore, the substitution does not fit so easily as it might appear at first glance. Two or three consonants of the Hebrew text must be changed and others substituted in their place to make the new reading possible. This the translators of the RSV have not hesitated to do!

Not only so, but to allow the new reading to stand we must suppose that David held the same misconceptions about the subterranean ocean which were held by his heathen contemporaries. So much is tacitly acknowledged by the translators in their Introduction to the Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament, page 55. Of course, the religious liberalist will merely answer that David was only the product of his times. But that will not satisfy those of us who believe that the Bible is God's revelation of Himself to man.

IGNORING NEW TESTAMENT TESTIMONY IN TRANSLATING THE HEBREW TEXT

The consistent Bible reader is well aware of the fact that the New Testament frequently quotes from the Old Testament. When this is done the New Testament then serves as a divinely inspired commentary on the Old Testament passage being quoted, and must be understood to accurately convey the meaning of that passage. It is a glaring fault of the RSV that in several places it translates Old Testament passages in such a way as to

THE BIBLE STANDS

The Bible stands like a rock undaunted
'Mid the raging storms of time;
Its pages burn with a truth eternal,
And they glow with a light sublime.

The Bible stands and it will forever,
When the world has passed away;
By inspiration it has been given,
All its precepts I will obey.

make out that the New Testament is in error where it comments on these passages in question. Following are some examples.

Genesis 12:3. The KJV concludes this verse with the clause: "and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed." The RSV translates it: "and by you all the families of the earth will bless themselves."

On the basis of Hebrew grammar it might be argued that the RSV translation of this verse is possible. It is possible, all right, but most improbable. While the Hebrew verb to "bless" as it is found here might be translated either "be blessed" or "bless themselves," the former is certainly the most frequent meaning. There is a separate form for saying "bless themselves," and this form is found in Jeremiah 4:2. If Moses had clearly wished to say "bless themselves" in Genesis 12:3, he would have used the form of the verb later used in Jeremiah 4:2.

Whether or not one is convinced on the basis of Hebrew grammar, the New Testament comment on this passage is decisive. The Apostle Paul in Galatians 3:8 quotes Genesis 12:3 as saying, "In thee shall all nations be blessed." There is no possibility of misunderstanding the New Testament comment on this point.

Why did the RSV translators ignore the testimony of the New Testament when deciding on the translation of Genesis 12:3? Did they think that the New Testament comment was irrelevant? Did they think the New Testament was in error? There is a third possibility: Did they wish to make the Old Testament and the New Testament contradict each other?

Psalm 16:10. The latter part of this verse reads in the KJV: "neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption." The RSV translates: "or let thy godly one see the Pit." The question here is over the word translated "corruption" in KJV and "Pit" in the RSV.

A careful study of the Hebrew word found here reveals that the word can be translated "corruption" in some places and "pit" in other places, depending on whether the scholar derives the noun from the word "shachath," to corrupt, or from "shuach," to sink down. In either case the word would look exactly the same, and one cannot tell by merely looking at the word whether it should be translated "corruption" or "pit."

How then should the question be decided in the case of Psalm 16:10? The New Testament again should decide the issue. The verse is quoted twice in the New Testament, both times as an Old Testament proof text for the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ and His preservation from the corruption of the grave. In Acts 2:27 and again in Acts 13:35, the New Testament says the word in question means corruption. It was against the explicit testimony of the New Testament that the RSV elected to translate the word "Pit."

The title of this article asks the question: Does the RSV accurately translate the Hebrew Old Testament? The answer must be an emphatic no! It does, of course, translate the Hebrew in the majority of places. In other places it translates inferior versions, departing from the Hebrew text. In still other places the translators depart from all texts, whether they be the Hebrew or the ancient versions, and give us nothing but wild guesses based on no textual authority whatever. Finally, in several instances it so construes the Hebrew text that the Old and the New Testaments are made to disagree with each other.

Inconsistencies in the RSV New Testament

By James L. Boyer, Assistant Professor in Greek and New Testament

The promoters of the Revised Standard Version (RSV) try to create the impression that it is a "more accurate" version. In their Introduction they make much of certain inaccuracies and weaknesses of the King James Version (KJV), thereby naturally implying that their version has corrected them. But let us see how consistently they have carried out their own standards of judgment.

JUDGED BY THEIR OWN STANDARDS

One of the translators, Dr. Clarence T. Craig, tells how he catches up the students in his Greek classes by asking them to translate I John 4:19. When they read it, "We love him, because he first loved us," as it is written in the KJV, he asks, "Where is the word for him?" Of course it is not in the original. The recital of this incident by Dr. Craig seems intended to create the impression that the RSV will be extremely careful about such matters, and stick more accurately to the exact reading of the original Greek. But instead, turning to II Thessalonians 2:6 in the new version, we read: "And you know what is restraining him now." They have put in without any authority from the Greek the very same word "him" for which they find fault with the KJV. What becomes of Dr. Craig's pretty little story? Should not someone say to him, "Where is the word for him?"

It should be noted that in I John 4:19 the KJV was based on a Greek text which contained the word "him," and that the American Standard Version (ASV) corrected it with the better text which omits the word. But in the Thessalonians passage there is no Greek text which contains the word "him." This is but one of innumerable places where the RSV has added or left out words—pronouns, proper names, nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, particles, even whole phrases—simply according to the supposed requirements of modern speech. In fact, one of the chief characteristics of this version is its freedom in paraphrase, that is, rewriting the idea of the Greek text in modern phraseology rather than actually translating it.

In their Introduction the makers of the RSV accuse the KJV of mistranslation because it uses the phrase "God forbid" to translate a very strong Greek expression of denial in which the word "God" does not appear. After such criticism we should expect that they would translate the phrase very accurately as "May it not be" or something similar. And indeed they do use several expressions which clearly portray the idea, such as "By all means!" "Never!" "Certainly not!" and "Far be it from me." But to our amazement they actually use this very same so-called mistranslation, "God forbid," in Luke 20:16. Also they have inserted the word "God" into another similar phrase in Matthew 16:22, where neither the Greek nor the KJV has it. Thus by their own standards they are both less consistent and less accurate than the version they criticize.

Another fault of our KJV, according to the RSV Introduction, is its tendency to use several words of similar meaning to translate one Greek word, so that the English reader cannot recognize the word relationships of the original. Again the deeds of the revisers belie their words, for they constantly disregard this principle in their own translation. For example, the Greek word which the KJV translates "walk" 92 out of the 95 times it occurs in the New Testament has been translated 15 different ways in the RSV: usually "walk," but also "live," "follow," "go about," "go," "lead a life," "conduct oneself," "act," "observe," "behave," "practice," "command," "prowl around," "move," and even "adherents."

There seems to be no evident reason for their selection of these various synonyms, for they use "walk" both when the meaning is literal and when it is metaphorical.

Dr. Boyer

The picture above shows a portion of a crowd of approximately 1,000 people who on February 6 attended in the lower auditorium of the seminary building a rally for a consideration of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. The rally was sponsored by a sizeable group of Indiana ministers. In the afternoon a panel discussion was conducted in the seminary chapel, with about 200 ministers and laymen in attendance.

and so also with the others. To further complicate the situation, the first time they use a different word they put a marginal note indicating that the Greek says "walk," thus suggesting that they are going to warn us where they depart from the usual translation. But after that first instance there is not another marginal note in the whole list!

In one context, Romans 9:3-5, they translate two identical Greek phrases in entirely different ways: "by race" (vs. 3) and "according to the flesh" (vs. 5). Elsewhere the same Greek phrase is translated, "in worldly fashion," "like a worldly man," "according to worldly standards," "worldly," "earthly," and once it is omitted entirely.

The ordinary word for "worship" is often, although not always, changed to "kneel before" when it describes the action of one who came to Jesus.

Another usage of the KJV which the RSV committee criticizes is the use of the relative pronoun "which" to refer to persons. In the light of their purpose to correct this archaic form of expression it is interesting to look at Ephesians 1:14, where the RSV uses "which" in referring to the Holy Spirit. Is not the Holy Spirit a Person?

SOMETIMES USES INFERIOR TEXT

Especially significant in the passage just mentioned is the fact that there are two different readings in the Greek manuscripts. The RSV rendering uses the one with the lesser authority, which is rejected by the ASV.

Again, in Acts 12:20, the best Greek reading omits the name "Herod," as is shown in the ASV. The RSV has gone back to the KJV, in spite of their argument that one of the reasons for a new version was to give us one based on an improved Greek text.

MISLEADING MARGINAL NOTES

Often the RSV marginal notes give the impression that the revisers are very careful even of little unimportant details, thus lending a semblance of accuracy and faithfulness to the new version. But in countless passages where they have dealt very severely with the original text there is no hint of that fact in the margin. For example, in Matthew 3:17 they translate "This is my beloved Son" and add a note saying, "or 'my Son, my (or the) Beloved.'" Certainly this is a little point, yet they extend the note to get the exact, literal rendering. But in John 3:16 they translate, "his only Son" without any note to tell us that they have left out the very important word "begotten."

STYLE CHANGES

Six times the Apostle Paul uses the expression, "I would not have you to be ignorant." This is a perfectly correct, acceptable, and well-understood figure of speech either in English or in Greek. Evidently the translators did not like it, or wanted to improve Paul's style, for twice they change this around to the positive form of expression, "I want you to know," or "I want you to understand." But in the other places they leave it in the negative, either in the very words of the KJV or, for the sake of variety, "I do not want you to be uninformed." If it were so incorrect or so objectionable that it needed changing twice, why not the other times?

EXAMPLES OF INACCURATE TRANSLATIONS

It is inaccurate to translate the word "tares" by "weeds" (Matt. 13:24-30). Even though some English reader might have to look in a dictionary to find the meaning of "tares," that is better than to conceal the meaning behind a well-known word that means something different.

"He came to his own home" is a mistranslation of John 1:11. There is no word for "home," and that word is the wrong gender and number. Also, when it is so translated it states a falsehood, for this world was not His home.

An amazing illustration of nonsense in translation is to be seen in their rendering of Matthew 6:27 (and Luke 12:25), "And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit to his span of life?" The Greek word which they translate "span of life" is used frequently in the New Testament and may mean either "length of life" or "stature," a measure of either time or size, according to the requirements of the context. For example, in Luke 19:3 Zacchaeus climbs a tree "because he was small of stature." Unless we want to think that he acted so because he was "small of age," or a young boy, we must admit that the word can mean stature. The RSV itself recognizes this and translates it "stature" in Luke 2:52, 19:3, and Ephesians 4:13. Why then do they use "span of life" in Matthew 6:27? Such a rendering hopelessly mixes the metaphors, for a cubit is a measure of length, not age. It is like adding an hour to one's height, or an inch to one's weight! Not only so, but such a translation makes an untruth out of Jesus' statement, for many have added to their span of life by taking thought.

CANNOT BE TRUSTED

Of course there are many places where the translation is accurate, apt, and beautiful. It removes those few instances where the old English of the KJV might be misleading. But the RSV introduces so many inaccurate and careless renderings that it takes a Greek student to know where it is good and where it is bad. It simply cannot be trusted by itself.

Inconsistencies in the RSV Old Testament

By John Rea, Instructor in Bible and Archeology

Most conservative Biblical scholars agree that the members of the Old Testament committee of revisers for the Revised Standard Version (RSV) have done great damage to certain theological passages. These revisers have also failed to produce a reliable translation where theological issues are not involved. Certainly we shall grant that many needed corrections of the King James Version (KJV) and also of the American Standard Version (ASV) have been made. Enough time and care was not taken, however, to give the church a uniformly adequate version of the Old Testament. Therefore the student of the English Bible dare not use the RSV by itself as his study edition of the Old Testament. A few of its inconsistencies will illustrate the untrustworthiness of this new version.

John Rea

OBSOLETE WORDS

The revisers claim to have substituted modern words for those which have become obsolete or have changed their meaning. Yet they did not replace the word "firmament" (Gen. 1:6, etc.) by the much more readily understood word "expanse." They have tried to get rid of the translation "beget" by using some expression such as "is the father of," yet the word "begets" is used by the RSV in Proverbs 23:24, and in other passages.

In modernizing the frequent term in Leviticus, "meat-offering," the RSV has itself become misleading by translating it "cereal offering." The ASV gives the right idea in "meal offering," in the sense of coarsely ground grain.

PARALLEL PASSAGES

While the revisers made use of parallel passages in the historical books of the Old Testament to make certain corrections which they felt were needed (cf. II Sam. 24:2 with I Chron. 21:2; I Ki. 12:2 with II Chron. 10:2), they did not consistently follow this procedure. One obvious difference they left unnoticed. I Kings 4:26 tells that Solomon had 40,000 stalls of horses for his chariots: II Chronicles 9:25 states that he had 4,000. Probably the Chronicles statement is the correct one, yet the RSV does not even have a footnote at the verse in I Kings.

GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES

The revision committee has attempted to make uniform the rendering and the spelling of the geographical place names in the Old Testament. In most cases they have succeeded. They failed, however, in their use of the Hebrew term "Shephelah." This is the name for the region of low hills and valleys between the Plain of Philistia and the high central range of mountains in Judea. While the RSV uses the term, "the Shephelah," as a proper name elsewhere, it does not do so in Joshua and Judges. In these two books the confusing translation "the lowlands" is retained (cf. Josh. 10:40; Judg. 1:9).

PROBLEM PASSAGES

Where an alternate and equally valid translation of a Hebrew word would have cleared up a problem, the revisers did not always make the change. By translating Numbers 11:31 as follows: "two cubits high upon the face of the earth," our KJV intimates that the quail for the children of Israel were piled three feet high on the ground! The RSV says that the Lord let the birds fall "about two cubits deep on the face of the earth," whereas the version should have expressed the correct idea that the Lord scattered or caused the quail to fly over the camp about waist high so the Israelites could easily strike them to the ground. The Hebrew preposition can just as well be translated to convey the sense of "over" or "above," and the ASV so translates.

The moral problem involved in II Kings 2:23, the story of Elisha and the she-bears, had been cleared up to a large extent by the 1901 ASV translation of "young lads," possibly teen-agers. The RSV, nevertheless, reverts to "small boys," making us think that little children were too severely punished for mocking the prophet.

OBSCURE OR FAULTY TRANSLATIONS

In other instances the meaning has been made more obscure, or the wrong idea altogether is left with the reader of the RSV. In Psalm 118:27 (KJV and ASV) "sacrifice" and "cords" have been changed to "festal procession" and "branches," respectively, for no good textual reason. In changing "his Spirit" to "his wind" in Job 26:13 (KJV and ASV) the translators have not only robbed us of a choice verse about God's Spirit but also have violated the context which deals with definite attributes of God.

The whole point of the casting out of Hagar and her son is missed if the word for Ishmael's "mocking" in Genesis 21:9 is given its other possible translation of his "playing" with little Isaac, as is done in the RSV.

If all these changes seem relatively unimportant to you, see what has happened to that precious verse on soul-winning, Proverbs 11:30. The second half of the verse has been altered, with no adequate grounds for doing so, from "he that winneth [or delivereth] souls is wise" (KJV) to the following: "but lawlessness takes away lives."

SUMMARY

A more extensive study will reveal many, many more inconsistencies in the RSV. The Bible student will be convinced that the ASV, not the RSV, is still the most reliable English translation of the Old Testament.

The Revised Standard Version in Its Practical Aspects

By Dr. Homer A. Kent, Professor of Practical Theology and Church History

The introduction of the Revised Standard Version (RSV) into the church poses some very practical problems. For instance, what about its effect in public worship? The writer believes that its tendency will be to cause confusion in the pew. Even now some are confused by reason of the two great versions already in common usage. To introduce another version which wants to be recognized as an "authorized" version but which is greatly different from the King James (KJV) and American Standard (ASV) versions in many respects, will add to the confusion already existing.

Dr. Kent

Suppose the preacher reads his Scripture lesson on Sunday morning from the RSV. Probably most of his congregation will have the old King James Version. Others may have an American Standard Version. As the preacher reads, some in the audience will have difficulty in following the variant translations or in keeping pace with the reader. Or, suppose the preacher asks for the Scripture to be read responsively. With three different translations represented in the congregation, some will find it next to impossible to read with the group without seeming to be out of step with those next to him. They are likely to refrain from reading at all and close their Bibles.

Then, sooner or later, the ordinary reader is certain to notice some distinct differences between the RSV and the version he has been accustomed to, and serious questions may arise in his mind as to the true meaning of Scripture. Or, he may observe some conflicting note at the bottom of the page in the new version, such as the shocking footnote to Matthew 1:16, which is likely to generate serious doubts regarding some precious truth of God's Word. (For a discussion of this footnote, see Dr. McClain's article on page 138.)

Furthermore, we believe that the use of the RSV in the pew will tend to lower the proper conception of Christ as deity in the minds of its readers due to its Unitarian bias. This is seriously reflected in the RSV use of the ordinary personal pronouns, such as "you" and "your" in reference to the incarnate Christ, whereas the more reverential pronouns such as "thee" and "thou" are used when referring to the first person of the Godhead. Thus there is evident an insidious effort on the part of the RSV translators to bring Christ down from his rightful position as equal with the Father. (See article by Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr., on page 136.)

There is also just reason to fear that the language of this self-styled "authorized" version will contribute toward the growing attitude of irreverence so evident in the church and the world during these latter days. The avowed endeavor on the part of the translators to make their version readable has tended to diminish the exalted character of the Scripture such as is found in the language of the KJV. And what right, may we ask, do the sponsors of this new Bible have to force this new version upon Christendom as an authorized standard version without its having had an opportunity to prove itself as the other two great versions have done? This is an unwarranted presumption. Even in the beginning the canonical Scriptures were not forced into public usage until they had proved themselves to the Christian consciousness as the unique Word of God by the very weight of their value. No council or hierarchy did this. Nor has the RSV any right to force its way into our churches until it has had abundant opportunity to prove itself.

MEMORIZATION OF SCRIPTURE

Another practical matter to be taken into consideration in relation to the new version has to do with the memorization of Scripture. The Bible exhorts believers to hide the Word of God in their hearts as a sure aid to the resistance of the evil one. Preachers and teachers down through the years have urged those to whom they have ministered to memorize many passages of Scripture. Prizes have been offered in Sunday school, daily vacation Bible school, and elsewhere for committing Scripture to memory. It has long been considered one of the best things that can be done in the way of Christian training. Often in the prayer service or some other service in the church, pastors have found it helpful to call upon those in attendance to quote precious promises from the Bible. But with the introduction of the new version, it will be discovered that there are many differences between it and the KJV which is most often quoted. For instance, Romans 8:28 is quite different in the RSV: "We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him, who are called according to his purpose." The one so quoting might conceivably be charged with misquotation. Aside from the correctness or incorrectness of the translation, the introduction of a new rendering is bound to cause confusion in many minds as to which after all is the proper translation. The result is likely to be a lack of zeal for the memorization of the precious promises of God's Word. Variety of rendition will tend toward hesitation as to which version ought to be memorized. Such hesitation will likely end in no memorization at all.

The confines of this article forbid our consideration of other practical aspects of the introduction of the new version such as the confusion that will be introduced in connection with the production of Sunday school literature and the study of the Sunday school lessons in the various classes. Thus in view of all the deficiencies to be found in the RSV, the writer feels that its introduction into public worship and teaching will prove a detriment rather than a help. Therefore, let us cling to the King James Version in our public services and private study, using also the American Standard Version for comparison.

Whittier, California (Community)

Three more people were baptized and received into the membership of the church, bringing the total to 69 members.

The WMC is sponsoring a supper for the families of the ladies in the organization. This will be the first time to use the dishes given to the church by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Messerschmidt. The Albert Balzers, missionaries on furlough from Africa, will speak.

The Men's Brotherhood will hold its first meeting February 24.

The SMM has been reorganized with 15 girls at the first meeting. Mrs. Vernon Stanfield is patroness of the junior girls and Mrs. Wayne Flory of the middleers.

The men of the church gave 2 days to landscaping the grounds and laying "blacktop" that was donated by Bro. John Richardson for the parking area.

The first communion service of this church was held in November, with 36 people in attendance, the first such service for several of them. —Mrs. Wayne Flory, reporter.

Chico, California

We rejoiced in the excellent Bible studies that Bro. R. I. Humbert gave us with the use of charts the week of January 11. On January 18 Bro. Herbert Seal brought the morning message and we saw "The Forgotten Navaho" in the evening. The members of the Rotary Club want us to get this film back so they can see it at their club meeting.

The men and boys of the church have added 2 classrooms in the basement.

The average attendance in the Sunday school in January was 68, in the morning worship the average was 64, in the evening service it was 49, and in prayer meeting it was 22.

We are now looking forward to a return visit of Dr. Vincent Bennett March 2-9, and our 5th anniversary March 29.—J. Ward Tressler, pastor.

Dayton, Ohio (Bethany)

This church had an increase in the average attendance in all of its services during 1952. The most noticeable increase was in the evening evangelistic service, with an increase of 14 a Sunday.

Rev. Ralph Colburn was our speaker February 8.

Rev. John Evans, our pastor, is now serving the church on a full-time basis since January 1, at the request of the congregation and with an increase in salary. Correspondence concerning the church should be addressed to him at 921 Tvson Ave., Dayton 7, Ohio.—Doris Hapner, secretary.

Dryhill, Kentucky

Rev. Sewell Landrum and family, of Clayhole, Ky., conducted the Sunday evening service for us in the new chapel February 8.

Rev. Ralph Colburn, Winona Lake, Ind., spent 1½ days here working on the chapel. The platform was built during this time.

Rev. and Mrs. Luther L. Grubb, of Winona Lake, Ind., spent the week end of February 14-15 here. Brother Grubb preached on Sunday and took many pictures of the chapel.—Evelyn Fuqua, missionary.

Los Angeles, California (First)

Our church building was burglarized during the last week of January, some $40 of day school money being taken; office doors and desks were damaged.

John Robert Reich, one of our day school pupils, died January 27.

The Fuller Old Fashioned Revival Hour Quartet and Rudy Atwood gave us a special musical program the evening of February 15.—Glenn O'Neal, pastor.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Berne, Ind.....	Feb. 22-March 8.	Ord Gehman.....	Pat Henry.
Phoenix, Ariz....	Feb. 24-March 1.	J. C. McKillen....	Russell Humbert.
New Troy, Mich..	Feb. 27-March 1.	Richard Jackson..	Herman Hoyt.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	March 1-15.....	Charles Mayes....	R. Paul Miller.
Chico, Calif.....	March 2-9.....	Ward Tressler....	Vincent Bennett
Conemaugh, Pa..	March 8-22.....	Stanley Hauser...	Stanley Hauser
Johnstown, Pa.
(First) .....	March 8-12.....	W. A. Ogden.....	William Mierop.
Spokane, Wash...	March 8-22.....	William Schaffer..	Robert Ashman
Canton, Ohio....	March 9-15.....	John Dilling.....	Anthony Zeoli.
Clay City, Ind....	March 9-22.....	Ralph Burns.....	William Steffler.
Uniontown, Pa...	March 9-22.....	Clyde Landrum...	Russell Weber.
Allentown, Pa....	March 10-22....	William Gray.....	Miles Taber.
Osceola, Ind.....	March 15-29....	Ward Miller.....	Walter Lepp.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Glendale, Calif., church purchased a house for a parsonage at 517 Glenwood Road. It will be occupied by Rev. Charles M. Underwood and family when Brother Underwood begins his pastorate there March 1. (Add both name and address to Annual, p. 72.)

Mrs. Fitzhugh (Verniece) Davis, of the Glendale, Calif., church, died February 7. Rev. Archie Lynn conducted the funeral.

The Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church, pastored by Rev. Richard Burch, held a Bible conference February 8-15 under the leadership of Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, dean of Grace Seminary.

The National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church has designated the months of March and April as Instruction Months in which the new pupils are to be instructed in the fundamental truths of the Christian faith, so that they will be conserved to the work of the church.

The Kittanning, Pa., First church held a Sunday school rally February 13 with Rev. James Dixon, Washington, D. C., as the speaker.

The Atlantic Fellowship of Brethren Ministers held a 2-day retreat at Allentown, Pa., February 16-17, where Rev. William Gray acted as host.

Evangelist W. A. Green was the speaker at the Osceola, Ind., church February 15.

While Dr. Charles W. Mayes was absent from his pulpit at the Long Beach, Calif., First church, to attend the midyear meeting of the board of trustees of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church in session at Winona Lake, Ind., Dr. Charles L. Feinberg and Mrs. Rose Foster brought the messages February 8 and 15.

Mr. Ferdinand Giese, of the Whittier, Calif., First church, died February 12.

Mrs. J. B. Wingard, of the Kittanning, Pa., First church, died February 9 after a 9-year illness.

The Fort Wayne, Ind., church is in the process of adding to the facilities of the building by increasing the size of the basement and completing a room in the north part of the building.

The Gospel Mariners Men's Quartet were in charge of the evening service at the Clayton, Ohio, church February 15.

Mark E. Beech, member of the Listie, Pa., church, is on the dean's list for the fall term of the 1952-53 school year at Juniata College. The list is composed of the names of 16 of the 604 students in the college.

Mrs. Galen Lingenfelter, wife of the pastor at Buena Vista, Va., injured her back in an accident in the home February 12.

The Compton, Calif., church was host to the Child Evangelism Fellowship Chapter of Compton February 19, with Dr. Reider M. Kalland as speaker. The pastor of the church, Rev. Norman A. Nelson, and Rev. Eugene Holler, who once was supply pastor of the Compton church, exchanged pulpits February 8.

Mr. Benjamin M. Keller, member and deacon of the Accident, Md., church, died February 7 at the age of 89 years. The funeral was held at the church by his pastor, Rev. Wayne Baker.

The Southeast District has announced its next overnight youth rally for April 10-11 at the Limestone, Tenn., church with Rev. William Smith and Rev. Ralph Colburn as the speakers.

Robert Miller, son of Rev. and Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller, Roanoke, Va., is home from the hospital but must spend several months in bed. He is suffering from a kidney disorder.

Rev. Richard Jackson, New Troy, Mich., is writing a weekly devotional column for the Bridgman, Mich., Community Enterprise.

Additions to Membership

Spokane, Wash. .... 3
Whittier, Calif. (Community) .... 3

Public Confessions

Clay City, Ind. .... 1
Compton, Calif. .... 1
Conemaugh, Pa. .... 2
Hagerstown, Md. .... 2
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) .... 1

Bro. Mason Cooper is supplying the pulpit at the Covington, Va., church.

The New Troy, Mich., church is sponsoring a rally in protest of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, for the southwest area of Michigan February 28. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt is the scheduled speaker, using as his theme: "That Bible: Version or Perversion?"

Dr. Elias D. White, dean of Brookes Bible Institute of St. Louis, Mo., is featured by his picture and brief biographical sketch on the back page of the February 12 issue of Youth on the March.

The East District youth rally was held at the Meyersdale, Pa., church February 13-14 with 190 registrants. The speakers were Prof. John Whitcomb, of Winona Lake, Ind., and Rev. Stanley Hauser, of Conemaugh, Pa. The next rally is scheduled for the Altoona, Pa., First church in May.

Work is in progress on a new building at the Brethren High School of Long Beach, Calif. A banquet was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Coon February 13 in honor of the students with the highest grades in each of the 4 high school classes.

Fayth Ann Conner, Roanoke, Va., Jesse Deloe, Winona Lake, Ind., and Robert Clouse, Mansfield, Ohio, are 3 Brethren students at William Jennings Bryan University, Dayton, Tenn., who made the honor roll for the first quarter of the 1952-53 school year.

Rev. John Evans, now the full-time pastor of the Dayton, Ohio, Bethany church, has moved to 921 Tyson Ave., Dayton 7, Ohio (change Annual, p. 68).

Are you moving? If you plan to move, please notify us 15 days in advance of new address.

5-53
Rev. and Mrs. Blaine Snyder
Winona Lake, Ind.

GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Offers Young People

A BIBLE-CENTERED CURRICULUM

A COMPETENT AND BELIEVING SCHOLARSHIP

A SPIRITUAL AND PRAYER-CHARGED ENVIRONMENT

---

ARE YOU A HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE?

THE COLLEGIATE DIVISION OFFERS YOU

- Thorough training by a Bible-believing faculty.
  - Low tuition cost and excellent credit recognition.
  - Fellowship with like-minded Christian young people.

ARE YOU A COLLEGE GRADUATE?

THE SEMINARY DIVISION OFFERS YOU

- Theological courses leading to the B. D. and Th. M. degrees.
  - Thorough Bible-centered training with practical emphasis.
  - Inspiration and challenge from ministers & missionaries.

---

For further information and catalogue write to—

---

Dr. Homer A. Kent, Registrar, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Indiana

---

National Believers - BRAZIL

Vol. 15, No. 10—March 7, 1953

The Brethren
Missionary Herald

Foreign Mission Number

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard
Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Society Trustees Meet

The board of trustees met from February 10 to 13 in one of the shortest yet one of the best of such meetings in many years. Those members present were Charles W. Mayes, Alva J. McClain, Bernard Schneider, Kenneth Ashman, Ward Miller, Homer A. Kent, Herman Koontz, and Russell D. Barnard. Brethren W. A. Ogden and Glenn O'Neal were not able to be present. Many hours were spent in reviewing the correspondence from the various fields and in acting on recommendations.

Concerning Honolulu, Hawaii

Read further concerning this on page 153. Suffice it to say here, the board believes the time opportune and the situation so urgent that action must be taken immediately. You will note that the plan of operation for this new work will not increase our expenses annually.

Germany—A Timely Opportunity

Your attention is called to the article in this issue by Rev. Bernard Schneider, and to the general action taken by our board as announced by the general secretary. Just now we are asking only that you pray very much about Germany as a possible field for gospel testimony by the Brethren people.

Will More Missionaries Be Appointed This Year?

At least 8 or 12 more young people will have finished their seminary training and be ready and anxious to receive appointment at the August meeting of our society. Our board met with most of them. "When will we get to go?" This is the question each one asked, and it is uppermost in their thinking. Some of them have planned for our Brethren mission fields since they were children—oh, how they want to go!

But there is a delay—we have no assurance they can be appointed this fall. If the Lord supplies sufficient

---

Our apologies to you, Fort Wayne Brethren! Last month, in the foreign mission number of the Herald, we completely omitted the name of the Fort Wayne church in the list of 15 churches having the highest per-capita giving for foreign missions. The First Brethren Church, Fort Wayne, Ind., gave $17.90 per member last year, and should have 10th place in this list.—Russell D. Barnard.

---

funds during this year, and especially during the coming Easter season, the board will be most happy to recommend their appointment. To care for our present missionary program $223,000 will be needed. New missionaries can be appointed only on the basis of such funds as are over that amount. We solicit your earnest prayers.

Limited Building and Equipment

Requests from our mission fields have been less this year as far as buildings and equipment are concerned. In Africa building will be limited to some enlargement of residences and dispensaries. If funds are sufficient during the next 4 years, there is a need for 3 additional residences, a missionary children's dormitory, and a new wing on 1 or 2 of the present dispensaries. One new 1-ton pickup truck will be sent to arrive in June of this year. A small appropriation was made by the board toward the building of a chapel in Brazil. In our other fields this type of expenditure will be limited chiefly to upkeep and repair.

Most Easter Materials Sent

Most of the foreign mission Easter materials have been sent to the pastors. One semibulletin, a letter, and offering envelopes are yet to be sent. There has been unexpected delay in the manufacture and shipment of the "African Hut" banks. All should receive these shortly. If yours are late, why not delay the date of ingathering until during the month of May?

Thanks for Cooperating

We now have Missionary Outfit Clubs in 28 of our Brethren churches, and those in these clubs have given a total of $622 toward the outfit for Brother and Sister John Zielasko. Quite a number of pastors and churches have assured us that it is their purpose to cooperate, but there have been unavoidable delays. We wish we might have 100-percent cooperation among all of our churches, in that the people might have an opportunity to help toward the outfit of each new missionary appointed. You may use the plan we have suggested, or arrange for a plan of your own. We urge only one thing—that people might have an opportunity to contribute at least $1 toward the outfit fund of every new missionary family. We want the giving to be entirely voluntary on the part of missionary-minded people.

---

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

---

27 TO 87 MISSIONARIES IN 10 YEARS!

Year	Number of Missionaries	Income	Expenditure
1943 .....	27	$88,043.22	$69,905.48
1944 .....	28	106,537.71	84,065.99
1945 .....	30	119,116.21	76,445.88
1946 .....	36	125,740.68	96,869.91
1947 .....	43	120,124.87	136,125.43
1948 .....	44	120,560.41	103,945.75
1949 .....	44	133,582.14	150,630.80
1950 .....	55	144,796.33	162,846.74
1951 .....	59	145,225.72	141,123.49
1952 .....	66	180,167.88	230,424.44
1953 .....	87	(Pray - Give)	223,000.00

Estimated amount needed with no further expansion and no new missionaries.

1953 .....	97	(Pray - Give)	273,000.00
------------	----	---------------	------------

Estimated amount needed for present work plus 10 additional missionaries who will be ready for appointment in August 1953.

A 222-Percent Increase in the Number of Missionaries
But Only

A 104-Percent Increase in Offerings in 10 Years

The Teeters

JOHN

MAURINE

JOHNNIE

(Editor's Note—Rev. and Mrs. John S. Teeter and Johnnie are now on their way to Brazil, having sailed from New York on February 27. Brother Teeter is a member of the Pike Brethren Church, Mundy's Corner, Pa., and Mrs. Teeter is a member of the Fremont Avenue Brethren Church, South Pasadena, Calif. They are your missionaries—pray for them!)

THE NEED IS GREAT

Today is the "day of the Bible" in Brazil—tomorrow may be too late. The door is wide open in this great country, but how long it will be open we do not know. This country just recently has begun to climb the ladder of success in the social and political world. It is growing politically and spiritually. People are flocking there by the hundreds, especially businessmen or men of like character who wish to tap the immeasurable resources of the country. In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post we read how there is a movement on foot to immigrate a colony of Japanese into the Amazon River area.

In the midst of thirst and forlornness, of sharp pain and agony, Brazil seems crying for aid and demanding strong arms to help her. Rushing to her side are 2 forces—communism and catholicism. Communism with its atheism and agnosticism is ruining hundreds of lives. For hundreds of years the Roman clergy has tried to preach peace and love. Instead of peace and love, despair and hate are the fruit of their doctrines. While these 2 great powers are battling for men's souls, where is true evangelical Christianity?

Thank God the Brethren Church is in the fight. The Lord has called us as soldiers to go to the battlefield in Brazil. We are only following the orders of the great Commander and we trust that you, too, will follow His orders by remembering us in your prayers so that we will have the spiritual ammunition and strength to do battle with our spiritual archenemy.

The Lord has answered this prayer in my life:

"Lord, send me; oh, send me forth I pray.
The need is great, Thy call I will obey.
Thy love compels me; I must go;
I'm willing, ready, longing to go."

—John S. Teeter (Rom. 15:21).

THE BRAZILIAN CALL

We have often heard missionary messages preached on "The Macedonian Call," yet Scripture never becomes "old" or "worn-out." As we read once again the words of Acts 16:10, we are stirred anew as we think of the privilege that will be ours in just a few days. The Scripture says, "And after he had seen the vision, immediately we endeavoured to go into Macedonia, assuredly gathering that the Lord had called us for to preach the gospel unto them." Just as certain are we of the call of the Lord to the land of Brazil. "Behold, I have set before thee an open door," and as we seek to enter this door at a truly opportune time when it is thrust wide open for the Gospel, we cannot but praise Him for His grace and great faithfulness in the way He has led. It has not been one momentous unfolding of His will for our lives a number of years ago, but it has been a step-by-step, day-by-day leading.

I was in high school in Los Angeles, Calif., when the Lord spoke to my heart and called for my life as a missionary. In the years that have followed He led me to the Brethren Church, the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, Grace Seminary, and now to Brazil.

I confess that I would be fearful of going did I not believe firmly in my heart that you, as fellow laborers with us, will be upholding us daily in prayer before the throne of grace. We are thankful that we have the assurance that "He goeth before," and pray that He might use our lives to glorify the Lord Jesus Christ.

—Maurine Teeter (Phil. 3:10).

OUTFIT FOR THE TEETERS

Our second appeal for outfit funds is now being made—for Rev. and Mrs. John S. Teeter and little Johnnie. Information will soon be received by your Missionary Outfit Club chairman or your pastor.

As mentioned above, the Teeters sailed for Brazil on February 27. Our board has advanced funds to the Teeters for the purchase of their outfit in anticipation of your gifts. Any amount you give above the amount which we have advanced to them will become an additional part of their fund.

The minimum which we feel a family with one child must have is $2,200, and the amount which we wish they might have is $3,700. Why so much, you ask? Just remember that one-half of this amount is for transportation of the outfit and customs paid to the country where they go to live. These amounts are reasonable when you consider the cost of "setting up housekeeping" in the homeland.

Pray and give through your Missionary Outfit Club!

One-half has been supplied! Since presenting the need for a motor generator for our missionaries in Brazil, one-half of the amount needed has been supplied by 2 families. We still need from $150 to $200 to complete the purchase and care for transportation and customs. If you desire to help, please contact the office of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church at Winona Lake, Ind.

COME OVER INTO HAWAII AND HELP US!

It was in May 1952 that we first heard of the Brethren testimony which had been established by T/Sgt. and Mrs. Edwin J. Jones in the Hawaiian Islands. As so many true believers have done, they gathered people together for Bible study and prayer, but these folks went a step farther and followed their teaching with action—20 have been baptized and received into the fellowship of the Brethren Church, with many more than that now in Sunday school and church attendance.

For most of the time that this work has been in progress the Joneses have known that they would not be able to stay at their present post longer than July 1953. Hence, they sent their plea to the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church: "Send someone over to help us, to continue the work when we must leave."

At the present time our society has no funds with which to start in any new area. We might possibly be able to give some help in passage and transportation to the islands for those who might go. Our plea, therefore, was for self-supporting missionaries—those who would go to Hawaii, earn their own livelihood, pastor this group of believers, and seek at the earliest possible time to have a self-supporting Brethren testimony in the islands. The needs and the possibilities were presented at the annual meeting of our society last August, and the society authorized the board of trustees to proceed with a work in Hawaii, when workers were available and in the judgment of the board the opportune time had come.

A number of our Brethren families have expressed interest in the work and we anticipate that 2 or 3 families of workers may be in the islands in the not-far-distant future, if further investigation reveals such to be advisable. The board has chosen one family to proceed to Hawaii, assume the pastorate of the group of believers, investigate further the possibilities, and be ready to give us a written report next August. Final action will probably be taken at that time.

Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise, of Los Angeles, Calif., have been asked by the board to undertake these responsibilities and, if all plans carry as seem wise at the present time, they will leave for the islands just as soon as all arrangements have been completed. The society is making an appropriation toward their passage and transportation, but they will assume full responsibility for their own support on the field.

Brother and Sister Tresise are both graduates of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Tresise is a graduate nurse. Until recently Brother Tresise served as pastor of the First Brethren Church, Fillmore, Calif. These dear folk realize that this is a venture by faith—they are undertaking a type of foreign missionary activity which is entirely new in the Brethren Church.

We most earnestly invite the prayer interest of all missionary-minded people for this endeavor. We can see great possibilities, not only for an expanded work on the same basis, but also the possibility of work on the same basis in any or all of our United States territorial possessions—in fact, in any land where the person is permitted to work for profit and is not forbidden to give out a gospel witness at the same time.

There are some 21 islands in the Hawaiian group, with 3 of these as more prominent islands. There are 2 volcanoes on the island of Hawaii, both above 13,500 feet, and one on the island of Maui, the crater of which is 20 miles in circumference. The island group is located about 2,100 miles southwest of San Francisco; they occupy about 7,000 square miles and have a population of approximately 500,000. Density of population is 78 per square mile as compared to 50 in the United States, 16 in both Argentina and Brazil, 4.5 in French Equatorial Africa, 33.6 in Mexico, 195 in France, and 503 in Germany. Honolulu is the largest city, with a population of nearly 235,000; Hilo follows with about 100,000.

T/Sgt. and Mrs. Edwin J. Jones with a Sunday school group in Honolulu.

The climate is most pleasant, especially near sea level, with a range of between 55 to 88 degrees. The rainfall varies from 25 to 400 inches per year. The soil is very fertile and there is an abundance of fruit, as well as much forest land.

The native Hawaiian people are the most intelligent of the Polynesians. There are large numbers of Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos, and Caucasians, including Portuguese. Of course, there are now great numbers of United States citizens, both civilian and military. Very soon, possibly even before you read this presentation, Hawaii may be admitted to Statehood in the United States.

---

CLOSED COUNTRIES

It is one of the most startling facts of our time that there are more countries closed to the Christian missionary today than at any time in living memory. Something like one-third of the human family is cut off from Christian contacts with the outer world.

Some of these countries, like Afghanistan and Tibet, have always been closed to the Gospel. Some, like Arabia, have been partly closed. Others, like Eastern Turkestan or Mongolia, have been closed in fairly recent times, while yet others, like the U. S. S. R. and China, have only lately closed their doors.

Such a lamentable state of affairs is a direct challenge to the Christian church and should lie heavily on its conscience.—The Flame.

France—

Miss Mary Ann Habegger recently made a trip to Belgium to look for a place for the 4 nurses—Miss Edith Geske, Miss Gail Jones, Miss Marian Thurston, and herself—to live while attending the School of Tropical Nursing from March to July. A letter dated February 16 tells of her experience. “The Lord does exceeding abundantly above that which we would even ask or think. The Lord has not rewarded me according to my faith, but He has rewarded a thousand times over. I left for Brussels Friday afternoon and arrived there exactly 4 hours later.

“We will have 2 single rooms and 1 double room all to ourselves (located in the city of Anvers). What is more wonderful, it is only a 5- to 7-minute walk from the school. It hardly seems possible that the Lord could give us something so wonderful and so reasonable. We will be going to school all morning and a greater share of the afternoon, and can take our noon meals where we live since the lady prepares meals for her roomers if they care to eat there.

“Regarding the flood in that area, Anvers didn’t suffer much in the city itself—what happened near there is a different matter. The city looks clean and very neat. It is a city that has more American cars in it than European ones. Belgium is a wealthier country than France, and you can tell it in every way. Regarding the language spoken in Anvers, the people on the street definitely speak Flemish. If you don’t understand what they say, and you ask them in French to repeat, they will reply in English in many cases.”

—Mary Ann Habegger.

Bekoro, Africa—

“At last we can see our way clear to have a real junior Bible school on the station. Up until now it has been impossible because when we bring the men and their families in for that length of time, we have to work with them while they are here, and one cannot be out in the field where the people are and run a station school at the same time. We still do not have that long longed-for pastor for this field—and oh, how we do need one—but we do have some faithful medical workers who are willing to help make this school possible by helping with the teaching when we cannot be on the station.

“This morning (February 5) Jake presented the junior Bible school plan to the men and made it plain to them that it was only for those who are planning on going to the Bible institute next year. The men and their families will come and live on the station for a year. This will really get them in shape for the Bible institute at Bozoum. They have to come and build their own houses and take care of all their food. All we give them is the training. Did they still want to come? After the classes were over this morning 13 fellows came to Jake and said they wanted to come. I’m sure you will rejoice with us, and the more so when you realize we have not made it easy for them. There will be about the same number coming from Laka land, a few local fellows and some, I am sure, from Beandje, so we ought to have a real good group with which to work.

“The Lord has given us health and strength for the work and joy in it as we see His hand working. We are looking forward to further blessing during the rest of this dry season.

—Jake and Freda Kliever.

Brazil—

“We have been so busy since Christmas time that I hardly know where to start in telling you of the events that have happened. As you know, we started the building in Mazagao the first of December, and by the 25th it was ready for our first services. The building is very nice and people have certainly taken notice of it since it is the only church of the believers so far in that town.

The new chapel at Mazagao, Brazil.

“The first night in Mazagao (December 25) it rained, but we had almost 150 in attendance. The second night we had a regular preaching service, with almost 200 present. They filled windows and everything else that was available. Pray with us that the Lord will use our worker there to His glory. His name is Jose Paulino Feitoso, and he is having regular services every Sunday morning and evening and a Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

—Eddie Miller.

Rio Tercero, Argentina—

“Today (December 3) we began our D. V. B. S. here in Rio Tercero and had 24 youngsters out for it, which we consider a good start. Two of the institute girls, Nelida Zanetti and Sara Siccardi, are directing the school. What a blessing these young people trained in the institute are to the work! Several weeks ago we had some special meetings, with Bro. Lynn Schrock present to bring the messages. Rain cut down our attendance quite a bit, especially as far as getting new folks in. This Saturday and Sunday we are having a Christian medical doctor from Villa Maria here for meetings. We realize that just holding meetings is not the secret, but they have their place if we get out and make personal contacts. Hundreds of folks walk past our gate in the evenings to go to a big open-air dance pavilion a block from here. How can we get them to think seriously of eternal things?

PICTURES FROM ARGENTINA—(Left) Hugo Di Nardo, of Tancacha, a graduate of the Bible institute. (Center) The church at Tancacha. (Right) Elena Wagner, of Cabrera, another graduate of the Bible institute.

"On Sunday mornings, with the help of one of the capable lay members here, we give out the Gospel over a loudspeaker system, playing records and reading short messages of an evangelistic nature. When the air is still folks within a radius of 5 or 6 blocks around us can hear and understand the message. While we have seen no visible results as yet, we do know that a number of folks are hearing the Gospel—many of whom would be very hesitant to come to a meeting. A number of Catholics have said of some of the messages, "Why that is the same thing that we believe!" They are told so often that our teachings are of the Devil that it surprises some to hear us talk of Christ and salvation. The fact that some of these folks are learning that we do not oppose everything that they hold to helps break down prejudices."

—Jack B. Churchill.

GIVE GERMANY WHAT GERMANY GAVE US

Those familiar with the history of the Brethren Church will know that our fellowship of believers began in Germany about 1708. The practices of the Brethren with respect to baptism and the communion service were so different and our attitude against infant baptism so uncommon that the Brethren were not wanted in Germany at that time. Persecution followed and the Brethren made their way to America in different migrations, until by 1725 there were few, if any, Brethren people left in Germany. There has been no effective gospel testimony given in Germany by the Brethren since that time.

Through 2 world wars and the occupations following, the eyes of the American people have been turned to Germany and, strange as it may seem, the peoples of these 2 great lands are friends. Brethren have had longing eyes—eyes longing to give the gospel message in all of its purity back to those who first gave it to us.

A year ago we began a Brethren testimony in France, but France is only a stepping stone to Europe—and to Germany, we hope. Then, during last summer, Rev. and Mrs. Bernard N. Schneider and daughter, Lucie, made an extended visit in Germany, the land of Brother Schneider's birth. As a member of our foreign board, Brother Schneider was asked to make every possible investigation and evaluate Germany as a possible field of testimony for the Brethren Church.

Presented in this issue of the Herald is an article by Brother Schneider—we trust this is the first of others which will follow. During 2 board meetings, the one last August and the one which just closed on February 13, the board gave consideration to Germany. The following items represent the thinking of our board, and they are presented to you of the Brethren Church for your thought, suggestions, and prayer.

1. The land of Germany is a most opportune field for testimony for the Brethren Church today. It is a land filled with young people—young people who are reaching out for something. They have not yet made decisions. It is the strategic time to give them the simple gospel message.

2. There is much organized religion in Germany, but very little of the evangelistic appeal or message. It is almost impossible to secure a Bible or Testament in Germany, although prayer books are everywhere in evidence.

3. Germany would not be an expensive field to enter. Thousands of young people, when they have been saved and trained, will carry the gospel message to their own people.

4. Our foreign board is pleading that the Brethren people will pray with them that the Lord will lay His hand on those whom He would have to serve in Germany for the Brethren Church, such leaders as can pioneer in this great field. It would be such a great advantage if such leaders could be of German descent and already speak the German language fluently.

5. Pray with us that the Lord will indicate the man or men and supply the needed amount, in addition to the funds that we need for our present large foreign missionary program, in order that we may enter into Germany while the season is opportune and the doors are open.

THE NEED OF THE GOSPEL IN GERMANY

By Rev. Bernard N. Schneider

Vice President of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church

Last summer it was my privilege to spend 4 weeks in Germany, the land where I was born and where I spent the first 22 years of my life. Though some time was spent visiting my own people, I was very much interested in the spiritual condition of Germany. I did everything possible to find out about it first-hand. In order to be able to go when and where we wanted to, I rented one of those "drive-it-yourself" cars, in which we traveled nearly 2,500 miles in Germany. Whenever possible I went to church—every kind of church—in order to get a first-hand picture of the spiritual situation. As a result, I came away greatly saddened at the lack of true gospel preaching and with the conviction that Germany, at the present moment, is one of the most needy and most promising mission fields for the Gospel of salvation.

Basically, there are 3 kinds of churches in western Germany. The Roman Catholic Church differs little from the Roman Catholic Church in this country. Close to two-fifths of western Germany is nominally Roman Catholic. The church is state-supported. The salaries are paid by the state, somewhat like school teachers here at home. The people pay a special church tax to the government. There is the Evangelische Kirche, which is the old-line German Protestant Church, mostly Lutheran. This church is about equal in size to the Roman Catholic group in western Germany. It is also state-supported, the same as the Roman Catholic. Then there is the "Freie Kirche," or Free Church. This designation is used of all organizations which are not supported by the state and it includes many groups, such as Independents, Methodists, Baptists, Pentecostals, Seventh-Day Adventists, and others. I even found some independent Catholic churches among them. This group includes both fundamental and liberal organizations. These churches have to support themselves by free-will offerings, the same as here in the United States of America, where we have complete separation of church and state.

There are a few outstanding gospel testimonies scattered over Germany. On the whole, however, the average person in Germany has no idea of the Gospel, as we understand it. Existing churches are well filled with reverent people who are spiritually hungry. The preaching consists mostly of well-planned sermons on human goodness and church loyalty. It is directed to people who have been born into the church (I do not mean the new birth), duly catechized, and confirmed. In talking with many, I found that they were trusting the church to save them. There seemed to be an almost complete absence, in most places, of evangelism in the old-line churches and personal soul-winning was an unheard-of idea. This seemed to me to be the greatest lack. Certainly there can be no question as to the need of the Gospel in Germany today.

Not only did Germany appeal to me as a needy field but also as a promising mission field. There are several reasons for this. First of all, western Germany is a land of young people. Everywhere there seemed to be crowds of children and young people in their teens. These young people are not a despondent, timid group, but full of life, hard-working, and much more open-minded than in some other lands. They have seen Germany collapse, old ideas and prides come to ruin, and they are questioning and watching. I believe that a positive, challenging evangelism would win great numbers of them for the Lord today. It also seems to me that native talent could be trained and used more quickly and successfully there than in most places. We found the young people aggressive and studious. If captivated by the zeal of the Lord, they would make fine preachers and evangelists. Germany is overrun with foreign people, foreign ideas, and foreign laws. Many old fences and prejudices are gone. The land is wide open for new spiritual ideas, too. This is not just my own idea, but I heard this thought expressed by a number of Christian workers in Europe, some of them American missionaries in other lands. Their conclusion ran something like this: "The greatest opportunity for Christ in Europe today is, doubtless, in western Germany."

Our foreign mission board is greatly interested in expanding its mission fields. The Brethren Church originated in Germany. Could it be that our Lord is calling us to go back there and preach the Gospel to the present generation, before He comes again? I am sure that the members of our foreign board will greatly appreciate your prayers, for great fields are white unto harvest and the time is short. We must work "while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work."

Brother Schneider
in front of his birthplace (left).

The church he attended as a boy (right).

Both in Haselunne,
Germany.

Miss Grace Byron

Miss Grace Byron Writes of Ocean Voyage As She Returns for 6th Time to Africa

At Sea on Board S. S. Bandama,
January 21, 1953.

Dear Friends,

I am on my way to Africa for the 6th time. We 3, Miss Myers, Miss Bickel, and myself, boarded the S. S. Bandama, a French freighter, in New York on January 14. We were surprised to learn we would be stopping the next day in Philadelphia to unload cocoa beans. Because of a strike on the Philadelphia waterfront they could not be unloaded on the way to New York. We had a time of fellowship and prayer with the Aebys, Crokers, and Maconaghys on shipboard while the cocoa beans were unloaded.

We set sail again January 16. Our next port will be Dakar. The Lord willing we will reach there January 26, and 10 days later we will disembark at Douala. Our course took us about 200 miles north of Bermuda and continues southeast to Dakar. We are traveling about 16 knots an hour.

As we left New York a stiff breeze was blowing, but the sea was calm and the weather was mild for January. The boat rolls considerably because we have only 1,000 tons of cargo—the capacity of the ship is 7,000 tons. We are now in a warmer climate and have seen bunches of sargasso seaweed riding the waves.

Yesterday I was on the bridge watching the wheelman guide the boat. His eyes were fixed on the dial which indicates the course set and his hands were on the wheel. The wind and the waves changed the course of the boat constantly. Sometimes only a slight turn of the

DIVINELY PROTECTED

Dr. Paton tells us how often the savages of Tanna assembled to take his life, and in a critical moment some chief would stand up and, by an unlooked-for suggestion, turn them aside from their plan. They would disperse without hurting a hair of the missionary's head. He went through armed and furious crowds of naked savages determined to murder him, and escaped their hands. Sometimes he turned to them and commanded them, in the name of the God of heaven, to desist and disperse. At other times he saw them with their weapons pointed and their spears poised. In a few minutes they fell unused to the ground, and his life was miraculously spared.

Our blessed Christ has still this power in every place where His servants need His protecting presence, for He has "all power" on earth. Kings' hearts are in His hands, and He can still say to all our foes, "Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm."—A. B. Simpson.

wheel brought it back in its course, other times it took a strong arm and much turning of the wheel to bring the boat back. If it were not for the constant watch and strong guiding hand of the wheelman, the ship would toss to and fro and drift far from the course, and never arrive at its destination.

Our lives were much like that, on a restless sea of fear and doubt, tossing to and fro and drifting far from the course set, until Christ found us and set our feet upon the Rock and whispered, "This is the way, walk ye in it." The Holy Spirit is ever watchful, faithfully guiding and keeping us in the right way.

It was grand renewing old friendships and making new ones while on furlough. I spent much time at the Brethren Missionary Residence and praise the Lord for each one that makes the residence a place of rest and relaxation. I enjoyed the fellowship with missionaries, the Winona Lake church, and the seminary.

A number of new missionaries worked in the basement, packing, making boxes and crates, and often working far into the night. They asked me if the noise annoyed me. It did not. The hammering and sawing was music in my ears. It was as the sound of marching feet of soldiers of the cross going forth to battle to loose the chains of the slaves of Satan. Will this army of new missionaries increase and continue to march forth, or will it be halted by lack of funds? New candidates are ready. He is faithful in calling them out. He has entrusted the funds in your hands; II Corinthians 8:11 tells you what to do. We are looking forward to seeing the candidates going to the fields of service.

I am praising the Lord for allowing me to return again to Africa that I may point boys and girls, men and women to the Lord Jesus Christ, that they may cease from their drifting and find the Way through their sea of fear and superstition.

We are depending upon your continued prayers and upon hearing from you.

Yours in His service,

Grace Byron.

Miss
Byron's home is at the top of this hill.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. Orville A. Lorenz has been asked to continue to supply the pulpit of the La Verne, Calif., church until a pastor is secured, though his resignation was effective January 1. He has moved to 203 E. Willow St., Pomona, Calif., and his new phone number is Lycoming 9-2789 (change Annual, p. 70).

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church, pastored by Rev. Glenn O'Neal, has secured Bro. William Bower to have charge of the church's musical program.

The Jenners, Pa., church had an average attendance of 120 people in Sunday school during the last quarter of 1952, is the report of the pastor, Rev. Victor Rogers.

Guest preachers at the Kittanning, Pa., First church during the absence of Pastor Gordon W. Bracker, February 22, were Bro. Bob Dain and Bro. Harry Fink.

Bro. Ray Britenbucher, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, died February 2.

The branch Sunday school of the Dayton, Ohio, First church, meeting in the Cornell Heights elementary school building, had 66 people present February 15.

A daughter, Christine Anne, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Charles Taber in France February 11.

The Misses Edith Geske, Mary Ann Habegger, Gail Jones, and Marian Thurston, now studying at the School of Tropical Nursing in Belgium, should be addressed at 54 Amerikalie, Anvers, Belgique.

Rev. Charles Taber, studying in France, passed the superior diploma examinations and is now in the professor's course—a graduate class. At the request of the director, Brother Taber is class representative—a go-between between the students and the administration, which is considered a fine opportunity.

Dr. Harold Mason, also studying in France, passed his Moyen degree at the Alliance Francaise.

Mail for Rev. and Mrs. John Tee-ter should be addressed to them at Caixa Postal 861, Belem, Para, Brazil.

The Altoona First, Leamersville, and Martinsburg, Pa., churches are planning a missionary conference March 29-April 5. There is to be a service at each church each night, though the speakers—Rev. and Mrs. Hill Maconaghy, Mrs. Rose Foster, and Rev. W. A. Ogden—will rotate from church to church during the week.

Bro. Irvin Miller, of the Meyersdale, Pa., Summit Mills church, died the first week of February.

The Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church, of which Rev. Richard L. Burch is pastor, held a Bible conference February 8-15 under the leadership of Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of Grace Seminary. On February 20 the church held a Sunday school rally with Rev. Harold H. Etling, of Akron, as speaker.

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha McGlashan, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, were conducted

Public Confessions

Los Angeles, Calif. (First) ..... 6
San Bernardino, Calif. .... 1

Additions to Membership

Altoona, Pa. (Grace) ..... 1
Los Angeles, Calif. (First) ..... 2

February 12 by Rev. Alan S. Pearce. She was 97 years old.

Miss Johanna Nielsen, missionary to Argentina, arrived on furlough at Long Beach, Calif., February 18. She came by ship up the west coast of the Americas.

The first campaign of the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade is in progress at the Long Beach, Calif., First church. Rev. R. Paul Miller is the evangelist, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Arthur and Mrs. Anne Webster are in charge of the music, and Mrs. Max (Elaine Polman) Brenneman is in charge of the children's meetings. This campaign closes March 15.

The Philadelphia, Pa., First church, pastored by Rev. John M. Aeby, heard Rev. Hill Maconaghy and Rev. Paul Freed on a specially designated day of prayer, February 15. Rev. John Neely spoke February 25.

Rev. H. Leslie Moore, of Meyersdale, Pa., was the speaker at a Child Evangelism Fellowship rally at New Centerville, Pa., March 2.

Dr. Paul R. Bauman was the main speaker at the Erieside, Ohio, mid-winter Bible conference February 15-22.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Berne, Ind. ....	Feb. 22-March 8.	Ord Gehman.....	Pat Henry.
Long Beach, Calif.
First) .....	March 1-15.....	Charles Mayes....	R. Paul Miller.
Chico, Calif. ....	March 2-9.....	Ward Tressler....	Vincent Bennett.
Peru, Ind. ....	March 3-8.....	Ronald Robinson.	Paul Bauman.
Conemaugh, Pa. ...	March 8-22.....	Stanley Hauser...	Stanley Hauser.
Fremont, Ohio... ..	March 8-15.....	Lester Pifer.....	Herman Hoyt.
Johnstown, Pa. ...
(First) .....	March 8-12.....	W. A. Ogden.....	William Mierop.
Spokane, Wash... ..	March 8-22.....	William Schaffer..	Robert Ashman.
Canton, Ohio.....	March 9-15.....	John Dilling.....	Anthony Zeoli.
Clay City, Ind... ..	March 9-22.....	Ralph Burns.....	William Steffler.
Uniontown, Pa. ...	March 9-22.....	Clyde Landrum...	Russell Weber.
Allentown, Pa. ...	March 10-22....	William Gray....	Miles Taber.
Osceola, Ind. ....	March 15-29....	Ward Miller.....	Walter Lepp.
Norwalk, Ohio... ..	March 20-22....	.....	Herman Hoyt.

"PRAYING ALWAYS WITH ALL PRAYER"

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray that in this Easter season the Lord's people will supply sufficient funds to care for our present foreign mission program — about $223,000—and that, if it is the Lord's will that new missionaries be appointed next August, He will so enable with the sufficient additional amount.

2. Pray for Mrs. Edwin J. Jones, who is ill again and in the hospital in Honolulu.

3. Pray for Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise as they undertake self-supporting missionary work in Honolulu.

4. Pray for Misses Grace Byron, Florence Bickel, and Estella Myers, who are now back in Africa.

5. Pray for guidance for the 8 or 10 young people finishing their training in May, who desire to go to our mission fields as funds permit.

6. Pray that thousands will be led to Christ and all believers strengthened in this season of intensive visitation in our various fields.

7. Pray for Mrs. Rose Foster, who is now in the Northwest District. On returning east she will visit churches in Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Ohio.

8. Pray for the 4 nurses—Misses Geske, Habegger, Jones, and Thurston—now studying in the School of Tropical Nursing in Belgium.

9. Pray for the John Teeter family, now on their way to Brazil, and for them and the Zielaskos in language study.

10. Pray for the Barnards, now traveling toward the west coast, where Brother Barnard expects to begin the visitation of the churches in that area about March 15.

11. Pray for the Lord's leading in relation to Germany as a possible field for Brethren testimony.

12. Pray for the Victor Meyers family, waiting for permanent visas for Argentina.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the teacher-training program in our church at Yakima, Wash., that it might be a real benefit to the work and result in permanent blessings.

2. Pray that the Portland, Oreg., church will be able to complete their upper auditorium in time for the Northwest District conference in July at their church.

3. Pray for the Bible conference at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, during the Easter week with Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of Grace Theological Seminary.

4. Pray for the work in Phoenix, Ariz., under the leadership of Rev. J. C. McKillen, especially for financing the purchase of property and the planning a much-needed building. Praise God for His blessings on this work.

5. Pray for the executive committee meeting of the Home Missions Council to be held March 12-14, that wisdom from God will be given the members in planning the home mission program of 1953.

6. Pray that the Lord will provide in the Easter offering the funds needed by the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church to place every missionary on the field who is ready to go.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the gratifying response from a large number of our churches to the monthly offering plan; praise Him for funds coming in each month, sufficient unto the needs; praise Him also for the annual offering now coming in.

2. Continue to pray for the finances of the school, that other individuals and churches may join the monthly plan and that the indebtedness still on our building may be quickly liquidated.

3. Pray that the Lord may give guidance in planning the programs and speakers for the graduation events in May.

4. Pray for the young men and women who will be completing their work, that each may find the Lord's place for him in open doors of service around the world.

WMC (EAST DISTRICT)—

1. Pray that the emphasis put on the family altar may bear fruit in causing many homes to adopt it.

2. Pray that the Lord will bless the new councils and all new members with a vision of the work and our privilege in being a part of it.

3. Pray that as adult Christians we might encourage the young people to lead separated, victorious lives.

4. Pray that the birthday offerings may be sufficient to put a WMC foreign missionary on the field.

SMM—

1. Pray for the local SMM's as they strive to make their goals and seek to do God's will.

2. Pray that all the Sisterhoods will do their best in the effort to reach the goal set for our national project.

3. Pray for the national officers as they make up programs and goals for next year, that everything that is done might glorify God.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray that our young people will catch a greater missionary vision, and that we'll be able to support fully the Bekoro station in Africa as this year's BYF project.

2. Pray that the program aids prepared for BYF will be used of the Lord to help our youth groups.

3. Pray that our summer camps, now being planned, will be the means of reaching unsaved young people for the Lord this year.

4. Praise the Lord for the way the financial needs are being met, and pray that this will continue.

5. Praise the Lord for a number of new boys clubs starting, and pray that these may really reach boys for Christ.

THE HERALD—

1. Pray for the remodeling program now in progress on the building in which the Herald has its offices, store, and linotype department.

2. Pray for Mrs. Robert Wilcoxson, a new employee of the company.

3. Pray constantly that every word printed in either the weekly Herald or the Sunday school quarterlies will be of the Holy Spirit.

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

III. THE MESSAGE OF SALVATION.

There were 3 crosses on Mount Calvary that day—our Lord in the midst and a thief on either side. Serious things indeed were passing through the mind of one thief as he considered his helpless position.

Finally he turned to Jesus and said: "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom. And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, To day shalt thou be with me in paradise" (Luke 23:42-43).

The Greatest Faith

If I were asked for the greatest display of faith on record I might point to the penitent thief. Verily, in all the annals of human history is there recorded an act so rare? Did ever a faith so great hang upon a thread so slim?

Just what did that thief see? Verily he saw a man spiked to a Roman cross; His back was a mass of torn flesh and blood; His brow was pierced with countless thorns; His face was covered with sweat, and blood, and spit, and dirt. And yet, in that suffering form, the thief saw a king and a kingdom and identified himself with both. Verily, did ever a sight so vile beget a faith so great?

But faith cometh not by sight, but by hearing the Word of God (Rom. 10:17). But no Gospel was preached on Mount Calvary that day. Where, then, did the thief hear the Word of God? May he not have been a young man, reared in a godly home where the sacred scroll was often read?

True, there was a veil over the Jewish heart when the Old Testament was read. "Nevertheless when it [the heart] shall turn to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away" (II Cor. 3:16).

It was thus in my own life. My mind moves back to that snowy night when a small crowd gathered at the little country church. The minister got us over on the west side by the stove, and had us memorize Ephesians 2:8-9, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God:

not of works, lest any man should boast."

I memorized the words, but they meant absolutely nothing to me. Time passed, and then one night I sat with my chair tilted back against the wall. Someone quoted Ephesians 2:8-9, the Lord pulled back the veil upon my heart, and they say I came down with a "bang." Verily, it was the sweetest message I had ever heard—salvation by the grace of God.

The Thief's Mind

With these thoughts before us, let us peep into the mind of that thief and see what may be passing there.

I wonder how soon I will die . . . DIE . . . what a fearful word for me . . . here I am, a young man, in perfect health, and soon I will be dead. . . . Father often read from the sacred scroll, "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not" (Prov. 1:10).

But Barabbas was so insistent . . . I knew Barabbas was a wicked man. . . . I knew I should not go out with him in that robbery that night . . . but Barabbas was so determined . . . and then, he promised me a great share in the loot, and assured me there was absolutely no danger of being caught . . . but here I am, as father often read, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

I wonder where Barabbas is . . . he ought to be on that center cross . . . but that man is not Barabbas . . . I wonder who he is . . . he seems to have such peace.

What else can I remember? Oh, yes, "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities" (Isa. 53:5). "He" was wounded . . . I wonder who that "he" is. It isn't I. I am wounded for my own transgressions.

What else? "He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth" (Isa. 53:7). "He" is brought . . . I wonder who that "he" is . . . It isn't I; I fought like a tiger . . . it is just like the man on the center cross . . . just like a lamb . . . I wonder who he is.

The Lost Sheep

Can I remember more? . . . "All we like sheep have gone astray"—ah, that's I . . . that's I . . . just like a sheep . . . a sheep doesn't aim to get lost . . . he just wanders away. Father used to send me out after the lost sheep . . . I wish someone would come out after me. . . .

"We have turned every one to his own way" (Isa. 53:6). . . . Yes, that is I too . . . I would not listen . . . I went my own way . . . just like a sheep and now I am lost . . . I wish someone would bring me home. . . .

"The Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all" . . . I wonder who that "him" is. And just then the Holy Spirit reached far back into the dark avenues of that young thief's mind and pulled back the veil—Oh! It's He! . . . It's He! . . . Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom!

The head on the center cross moves around; the lips part: "To day shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Verily, there was a thief—a man not fit to live on earth—suddenly made fit to live in heaven throughout an endless eternity. Unseen hands had lifted the load of sin from off his shoulders and placed it on Him on the center cross. The thief rejoiced in a new-found salvation.

PROPHECY FOR NEW ENGLAND

New England is to have its first area-wide prophetic conference of the century at the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton, Mass., March 18-22.

Among the speakers are to be Dr. Ralph L. Keiper, professor at the Philadelphia Bible Institute; Dr. Merrill C. Tenney, dean of the graduate department of Wheaton College; and Dr. John F. Walvoord, president of Dallas Theological Seminary.

One unique phase of the conference will be the review of 7 books on prophecy in the afternoon sessions.

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

IX. "NAZARENE."

SOUTHEAST YOUTH ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Eighty-two young people were registered, and many more attended, the Southeast District youth rally at the Roanoke, Va., Ghent church February 13-14. Conard Sandy was the chief speaker at the rally, and a wonderful time was enjoyed.

New district BYF officers elected were Bud Hughes, of Johnson City, Tenn., president; Betty Lyle, of Boone Mill, Va., vice president; Carole Kingery, of Roanoke, secretary; and Lynwood Catron, also of Roanoke, treasurer. Rev. John J. Burns, of Johnson City, is advisor to the group, and Rev. Galen Lingenfelter, Buena Vista, Va., is assistant advisor.

Next rally will be April 10-11 at Limestone, Tenn., featuring Evangelist Bill Smith and Youth Director Ralph Colburn as speakers.

EAST DISTRICT YOUTH FEATURE VALENTINE THEME AT RALLY

"All My Heart for Christ" was the theme of the East District youth rally held February 13-14 at Meyersdale, Pa. Seventeen churches were represented in the attendance, 125 were housed overnight by the host church, and 190 were present for the banquet on Saturday.

Prof. John Whitcomb, of Grace Seminary, was the chief speaker, and also showed slides of Palestine at the Friday night service to a capacity crowd. Rev. Stanley Hauser, pastor of the Conemaugh church, spoke at the Saturday morning Bible hour.

Rev. Gerald W. Teeter, pastor at Martinsburg, is youth rally director, and announces that the next rally will be held in Altoona, May 8-9.

NEW CHURCH PUBLISHES BBC PAPER

The Washington Heights Brethren Church of Roanoke, Va., began in February the publication of a neat, bulletin-size biweekly paper with news, humor, devotional articles,

Some of the names of the Lord were of twofold application. His enemies used them in scorn and derision and His disciples used them in love and honor. Such was the name "Nazarene." Matthew (in 2: 23) indicates that the name was a fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy. To find his reference one must go to Isaiah 11:1 and search the Hebrew, for in that passage the word translated "rod" is basically the same as Nazareth and most commentators agree that from this word the name "Nazareth" was derived.

The name was applied to Christ because He dwelt in Nazareth, a small city in northern Palestine. This name clung to Jesus for his entire life. It was His name among the masses — "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by." He even was known by this name in the realm of the spirits. Evil spirits knew Him and feared Him under this name. The angels on the resurrection morning called Him this, and Christ applied the name to Himself. It is small wonder then that the disciples in their later lives and in their work continually used the name "Nazarene—Jesus of Nazareth."

If His friends knew Him by this name, how much more His enemies. To them it was a name of derision and cursing. Nathanael's word of doubt, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?" best comprehends their attitudes. The Jews in the name Nazarene opposed and rejected Christ and vented all their antagonism and "the word became a Jewish heritage of bitterness." Even when He died on the cross it was the bitter hatred of the priests that caused this name to be written by Pilate above His cross.

If the name stands for devotion and love—and it does to every Christian—it is certain that it stands for the bitter and undying hatred of our Lord by His enemies. What does it stand for to you today?

How do you use the Saviour's blest name?

Do you speak it in love or use it in vain?

When "Jesus Christ" escapes you in word,

Is your anger all hot and your thinking all blurred?

Do you love the Christ of Calv'ry enough

To say "No" to Satan and call off his bluff?

When you use the names of God and His Son,

Is it honor or cursing that is being done?

nature studies, and ads. The advertising is cheap—30 words for 5c. and a year's subscription to the paper is only 40c! Allen Pollard is circulation manager, and we suspect has editorial duties, too. A very neat and praiseworthy enterprise! Right now they're closing a contest for a name for the paper.

CENTRAL DISTRICT CHANGES CAMP DATES AND SITE

Summer camp will come later this year for young people of the Central District. Camp dates are set for August 2-15, and it will be held in a beautiful spot by a lake in Michigan, about 20 miles from our Lake Odessa church. It will still be known as Camp Indisinewa, and plans are being made for a really top-notch camp program at moderate cost.

Watch these columns for a complete rundown on camp dates, ages, and prices for all our youth camps.

LEAMERSVILLE YOUTH PUBLISH BYF PAPER

Young people of the Leamersville, Pa., Brethren church have joined the ranks of the publishers, and mimeograph a monthly "BYF Beacon" carrying news, devotional articles, and a chorus of the month. More power to you, Leamersville! It's good experience and lots of fun, too!

A smile goes a long way, but you're the one who must start it on its journey.—Grit.

Plan "Library Packages" for Missionaries

Modesto, California (La Loma)

We are planning for a return engagement with Dr. Vincent Bennett, of Pasadena, Calif., beginning on Easter Sunday morning, April 5, and continuing through the following Sunday. We had a large number of decisions in our former meeting with him, so are looking forward to a time of blessing.

One of the local dealers is setting in a Hammond organ for this week of meetings and the choir is planning for special music.

Five people recently were baptized and received into the membership of the church; others are awaiting letters of transfer to this church.

Mrs. Painter has recovered from her recent surgery in a miraculous way and is able again to assume her regular duties in the home, for which we give the Lord the glory.—Harold D. Painter, pastor.

Martinsburg, Pennsylvania

Our church, pastored by Rev. Gerald Teeter, had Miss Madeline Smith, member of the local church and missionary of the Chicago Jewish Mission, as the speaker January 4.

The prayer meeting reached a new high January 21 with 83 people present. During the last quarter this service averaged 65. All the other services of the church show an increase in average attendance, with the Sunday school averaging 208 during the last quarter.

On January 25 the church ordained 2 deacons and 2 deaconesses.—Sara E. Snider, corresponding secretary.

Grafton, West Virginia

The attendance at our various services has been fine during the past few weeks, with 103 in Sunday school February 22. The Sunday evening attendance is averaging 85.

Since January 1 we have had 3 first-time confessions, 3 baptisms, 5 additions to church membership (2 by letter). Our pastor, Rev. Lee Crist, who recently came to us, and

The Van Kampen Press, of Wheaton, Ill., has launched a program to place books on the mission fields of the world for the use of the missionaries.

This company has assembled a "library package" of books dealing with theology, the devotional life, missionary work, academic studies, music, and fiction. The needs of the missionaries and the new converts have been kept in mind in making the selection of books for the package.

The total value of this "library package" exceeds $1,000 at listed prices, yet any person desiring to send a package to a mission field may do so for $350. For this sum the Van Kampen Press people will furnish the books, pack them for shipping, and pay all transportation charges to the mission station anywhere in the world. This is indeed a fine missionary act on their part.

our Bible school superintendent, Bro. Earl Brown, are working together to cause this work to grow.—A. D. Comp, reporter.

South Pasadena, Calif.

Rev. Thomas Hammers gave 6 years to our South Pasadena Brethren church as pastor. Our church was practically a mission church when he came to us. Under his able leadership the Lord blessed numerically and spiritually. The church edifice was freed from debt. Needed improvements were made. All financial obligations were promptly met. The offerings for special interests were generous.

Brother Hammers was a faithful pastor, always willing to give the limit of time and strength to the church. By example and exhortation he constantly challenged us to prayer and personal visitation. He was evangelistic and missionary in his emphases. He always had a great burden for revival and soul-winning. His preaching was both instructive and inspirational.

Because of his personal contacts with them, many friends from the community became frequent worshippers with us and gave financial support as well. He had a system of

The missionary receiving the books is requested to set up a library arrangement by which the books will be given as wide a circulation as possible. The name of the donor will be given to the missionary and the missionary is requested to furnish the donor an annual report on the use made of the books.

The "library package" does not become the property of the missionary, but it becomes the property of the station, to be left there for other missionaries and the converts who will be able to use them.

Anyone interested in further information or in sending a "library package" to one or more of our mission stations should contact the office of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church, Winona Lake, Ind. If any reader is interested, let this be a project over and above your gifts for foreign missions through the regular offering so vitally needed this year.

publicity which kept them and the members well-informed.

We praise the Lord for the privilege of having our brother as pastor, and for the fellowship we have enjoyed in being collaborators with him in the Lord. We count it a real loss that he has left us. Our loss becomes Seattle's gain and our prayers will be for the Lord's blessing to be upon this new Brethren church and their first pastor, Rev. Thomas Hammers.

His faithful wife, Mary, is greatly missed. She gave valuable service in music, teaching, visitation, and generous hospitality. She is greatly beloved by all.

Wm. J. Garber,
Moderator.

O. J. Hammer,
Recording Secretary.

(Dr. C. H. Ashman is interim pastor.)

GRAHAM IN CHATTANOOGA

The Billy Graham evangelistic party will hold meetings in Chattanooga, Tenn., from March 15 to April 10. Two hundred churches are cooperating. A permanent tabernacle seating 10,000 persons is being erected.

"LOOK"

By Rev. Clyde K. Landrum, Uniontown, Pa.

From a message preached on the "Gospel Truth" radio program, Uniontown, Pa.

Some of the most picturesque and descriptive language of the Bible is found in the Book of Isaiah. In this book Messiah is spoken of as "a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a branch growing out of his roots." In one place in the book doom is expressly pronounced in these words: "Woe to the land shadowing with wings." In chapter 41 the admonition is to keep silence, while in chapter 58 it is to "cry aloud." The author asks his hearers in chapter 60 to "rise and shine," and in the 64th he calls upon God to "rend the heavens."

For our consideration today let us examine Isaiah 45:22, which says: "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else." To say that this is picturesque language is gross understatement; to say that it is expressive is to take the first step on the long journey of true evaluation. It literally sparkles with gems of expressive truth. This expressiveness is exemplified in its pulsating action, its glorious attraction, and its soul-saving transaction.

The Action

Notice the action of the verse as expressed in the word "look." There is action, movement, and drama in the word. It speaks more of action than most any word in the English language. If you are doubtful about this statement, just stop some day on a busy street corner, raise your arm, point heavenward, and shout, "Look!" I'll guarantee you a good-sized crowd of fellow gazers!

As I think back on my childhood days I can recall many instances where this word "look" was the very essence of expressiveness. "Look at the baby!" was a command so imperative that all else was dropped to focus attention on the youngest member of the family! There was no mistaking the warning in the exclamation, "Look! There is a snake in the path!" And one could feel the excitement and anticipate the glories to be beheld when he heard someone say, "Look! There is a beautiful rainbow across the sky!"

In Isaiah 45:22 the imperative is issued by the eternal God. As He speaks through Isaiah, chief of the writing prophets, He issues more than an imperative—He issues an invitational command. It is an invitation to men everywhere to turn their eyes to the God of help; a command to turn to Him from lifeless idols while there is still time. For, as is stated in the 23d verse, God says that eventually all will bow the knee to Him. This is true, even though some will have to bow the knee to Him as their Judge! This brings us to our second consideration:

Rev. Clyde Landrum

The Attraction

The verse says, "Look unto me." The command is not to look into one's own heart for spiritual help, for there is no help there, even in the finest of moral men, for as Isaiah says in another place, "All our righteousnesses are as filthy rags." Isaiah's listeners are not asked to look to high social achievement, for this does not bring true happiness. Neither are men urged to look to human leaders—brilliant though they may be; to education—as profitable as that is; to membership in any organization, nor to pious performance of religious ritual. But men are invited—yes, urged—commanded to look to the omnipotent God, who always stands ready to help.

When the Israelites were suffering from the bite of the serpent in the wilderness God asked Moses to make a serpent of brass, place it upon a pole, and ask all afflicted ones who desired to be cured to look on that brazen serpent. They were to look if they were to live. Yes, they were to look at the serpent, if they were to live.

It was not altogether easy for Isaiah to ask his hearers to look to the eternal God. They had sinned and were not interested in looking to God. But can't you feel the pathos in his voice as he urged them to turn their eyes upon the true and living God, the God of majesty and holiness, the God who could and would be to them a shelter in the time of storm? There was good reason to ask them to look to God, because as they looked to Him in faith believing, there was to be consummated a worth-while result.

The Transaction

"Look unto me, and be ye saved." If one is willing to look he can be saved. In Numbers 21:9 we see the results of the Israelites' look in the wilderness. "If a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived." In John 3:14-15, Jesus, in dealing with Nicodemus, used the serpent incident as an illustration. He said, "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life."

The brass of the serpent symbolized judgment. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, judged sin as He hung on the cross. It was to this remedy for sin to which Jesus asked Nicodemus to look. So, whether in Isaiah's time, in the time of Christ, or in this present day God stands ready to complete the great transaction for all who will look to Him in faith. And as one looks to Him and accepts Him as Saviour he can shout with the writer of the old hymn:

"'Tis done, the great transaction's done,
I am my Lord's and He is mine!"

The wonderful thing about God's invitation is its inclusiveness! As Isaiah spoke to the people of his day, his invitation was to "all the ends of the earth." It is the same inclusiveness as expressed in John 3:16 by

"whosoever," and the same as spoken in the Gospel of Matthew, chapter 11 and verse 28 in the words "all ye."

The inclusiveness becomes the stronger as one sees the exclusiveness of the One extending the invitation: "For I am God, and there is none else." How thrilled Isaiah must have been to be able to invite the whole world to share in a plan of salvation which was underwritten by the only true and living God! The heathen had their many idols, but they received no help from them. Isaiah preached a salvation backed up by a God who alone is able to save!

This is the same invitation which is open to all today who have never accepted Christ as Saviour. Won't you, unsaved reader, look to Jesus, the Lamb of God, and be saved today? Will you continue to look to the things of this world for satisfaction, or will you look to Jesus? The invitation and promise of the song writer are yours today:

"Turn your eyes upon Jesus,
Look full in His wonderful face;
And the things of earth will grow strangely dim
In the light of His glory and grace."

MYSTERY OF CALVARY

By Leona D. Cole, Long Beach, Calif.

Jew and gentile, scribe and Pharisee
Were in the mob that clamored for the tree.
They followed up the hill and did not know
That it was love, not scourge, that made Him go.

The soldiers, among the howling, rabble bands,
Made sure the spikes that tore His feet and hands.
Their exultation pierced the murky air—
But it was love, not nails, that held Him there.

—Reprinted from Sunday School Times.

ASSEMBLIES OF GOD REJECT RSV

The Assemblies of God, through their elected officials, have declared they cannot endorse the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, according to the Pentecostal Evangel, the denominational paper.

The statement says: "We cannot approve the Revised Standard Version for general use. It is our opinion that the Revised Standard Version will not take the place of the King James Version which has been so universally accepted and loved by the English-speaking people of the world. The Gospel Publishing House (publishing agency for the Assemblies) will continue to use the King James Version as the basic text in all of its publications."

HERALD IS A CHALLENGE

"Enclosed you will find . . . $2 for renewal of my subscription to the Brethren Missionary Herald. We do appreciate the fine effort that is put forth in printing this wonderful Christian magazine. It is a real blessing and challenge in our hearts. May God bless you for your true stand upon His Word. (Signed) Mrs. Paul Buckland."

Rev. Arthur F. Collins was ordained to the ministry at the Berrien Springs, Mich., church, of which he is pastor, February 19. Rev. Ord Gehman, of Berne, Ind., presided at the service and led in the ordination prayer; Dr. Homer A. Kent, of Winona Lake, Ind., read the Scriptures and gave the charge to the church; Rev. Miles Taber, of Ashland, Ohio, led in the questions and vows and gave the charge to the candidate; Rev. Ralph S. Burns, of Clay City, Ind., was in charge of the music and gave 2 special numbers.

Bro. Frank L. Crawford, vice moderator of the local congregation, read the authorization, and his daughter, Carolyn Beth, was the pianist.

Brother Collins has been serving the Berrien Springs church since April 1950.

TORREY JOHNSON RELEASED

Dr. Torrey M. Johnson has been released by his church so he can become a minister-at-large to the entire church of Jesus Christ.

The 43-year-old Johnson began the Midwest Bible Church of Chicago in a home in 1933 with 25 members. Today the church has more than 1,000 members and meets in a "converted" garage that seats 1,200, which is weekly crowded to capacity. Also Dr. Johnson was the founder and first president of Youth for Christ.

The new work into which Dr. Johnson is entering is intensive evangelism on a wider scale than permitted in a pastorate.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 11

WMC NUMBER

MARCH 14, 1953

—Photo by Allen Zook.

FORSAKEN

This wagon, left to rot away, reminds of man's neglect;
But Christ His own will keep alway; His saints He'll ne'er reject.

(See Matt. 28:18-20; Heb. 13:5-6)

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Washington, D. C., church, pastored by Rev. James Dixon, had Rev. Kenneth Ashman, of Wooster, Ohio, as special speaker March 4.

Mrs. Indiana Cole, of the Glen-dale, Calif., church, died February 22. Rev. George M. Richardson, of Bellflower, conducted the funeral.

Rev. Richard P. DeArmey, Grace Seminary senior, resigned as pastor of the Sidney, Ind., church effective in May, at which time he will have served the church 4 years. He has accepted the pastorate of the Waterloo, Iowa, church effective about June 1.

The Yakima, Wash., church, pastored by Rev. Russell Williams, is to entertain the Northwest District WMC rally March 27. Rev. Thomas Hammers preached there February 22.

Miss Ava Schnittjer, choir director at the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, church, was awarded the Master of Arts degree by the University of Iowa in February.

The Leesburg, Ind., church, pastored by Rev. Nathan Meyer, plans to assume the main part of the financial support of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Inman this summer as they minister at the Brethren church in Taos, N. Mex., helping the Horneys. Brother Inman will graduate from Grace Seminary in May and with his wife plans to serve on the foreign mission field in God's time.

The Leamersville, Pa., church, of which Rev. Robert D. Crees is pastor, voted to assume the support of one of its members, Mrs. Victor (Lucinda Rogers) Meyers, when the Meyerses go as missionaries to Argentina. This church publicly honored 47 of its people who attended Sunday school 50 or more Sundays in 1952.

Speakers at the Los Angeles, Calif., Third church, pastored by Rev. James C. Beatty, during February were Rev. Jerry A. Yerian, Rev. Robert Kliever, and Dr. Robert Schaper.

Bro. Frank McCoy, of the Martinsburg, W. Va., church, died January 27.

The Alexandria, Va., church plans dedicatory services for its new building March 29. Rev. Kenneth Teague is pastor of this church.

At the Martinsburg, W. Va., church 71 people have been baptized and most of them have united with the church since October 1950. Rev. William Smith, of Washington, D. C., spoke there recently, and February 14-15 the "King's Ambassadors" of King's College presented programs.

Miss Minnie Swearman, of the Summit Mills church at Meyersdale, Pa., died February 25. The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. Leslie Moore.

The men's quartet from Westmont College, Santa Barbara, Calif., conducted the morning service at the La Verne, Calif., church March 8.

Mrs. Cora E. Brant, of Harrisburg, Pa., for many years a member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died February 15. The funeral was held at the Johnstown church.

Mrs. Henry Orris, for more than 50 years a member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died February 15.

The Canton, Ohio, church held an installation service for Pastor John Dilling February 22 with the Brethren pastors of the Northern Ohio District in charge.

Rev. Stan Cook and a quartet were in charge of the service on youth night, March 6, at the Philadelphia, Pa., First church, of which Rev. John Aeby is pastor.

Rev. Joseph Hoffmann, member of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church and chaplain of the Los Angeles Fire Department, teaches a Bible class at the Hughes Aircraft Plant.

Selesta Cordell, of the Waynesboro, Pa., church, died February 5.

Of the 6 people who were baptized and received February 28 into the membership of the Sharpville, Ind., church 4 are members of the same family. Bro. Scott Weaver, senior in Grace Seminary, is pastor of the church.

Mrs. William A. Hamilton, of the North Riverdale church at Dayton, Ohio, died February 18.

The average weekly offering at the Wooster, Ohio, church since January 1 has been $632.

Dr. Raymond Gingrich, president of Akron, Ohio, Bible Institute, has announced a course on Biblical Archeology as a new venture for the school. Rev. Russell Ward, of our Cleveland, Ohio, church, will introduce the course with a series of 10 lectures, March 16-20. Dr. Paul R. Bauman, of Winona Lake, Ind., will present the final lectures in the series May 18-22.

The Everett, Pa., church has installed a baptistry and used it for the first time February 18 for the baptism of 3 people. On February 22 there was 1 public decision for Christ and 2 united with the church. Rev. Homer Lingenfelter is pastor of this church.

The Osceola, Ind., church held a missionary rally February 22 with Dr. Russell D. Barnard, general secretary of the Brethren Church, and Miss Ruth Snyder, missionary on furlough from Africa, as the speakers.

We are sorry, but there are no more Brethren Missionary Heralds of the February 28 issue concerning the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. The articles that appeared in that issue, with some other material, are being printed in a 40-page booklet and will be available in the near future. Watch these columns for the time of publication and the price. Pray that the Lord will use these booklets to help many people to see the truth concerning His eternal Word.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

"Enclosed find my renewal subscription of $2 for the Brethren Missionary Herald. I was saved in the Sharpsville, Ind., Grace Brethren Church 7 years ago. Since that time I have taken your magazine.

"Since moving to Missouri a year ago, I have been unable to attend church but a few times on Sunday nights. There are no Brethren churches in Missouri, and we are so far from any kind of church. I do listen to several good gospel programs on the radio. Your magazine has always been such a blessing and help to me, more so in the past year than ever before. (Signed) Gladys Roe, Barnumton, Mo."

[Think of it, brethren; we do not have a Brethren church in Missouri. It is no wonder this lady finds much help through the pages of her denominational paper.—Ed.]

ARE YOU MOVING?

If you are planning to move to a new address, please notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company 15 days in advance. Thus you will be sure to receive each issue.

TO MY KING JAMES BIBLE

By Leona D. Cole, Long Beach, Calif.

I hold you in my heart as one adored;
As one newly discovered in the Lord.
No matter how the worldly-wise may jeer,
I love your "thee" and "thou" of yesteryear.

More jealous is my love for you than ever
Since some belittle you. Their vain endeavor
Has made you all the more divinely dear,
And caused my heart more deeply to revere

Your loyalty to God's beloved Son
(The only, unequalled Begotten One).
The virgin birth you did not rearrange;
I love you for the truth you did not change.

By human thought not once were you beguiled
To veil the deity of the Holy Child.
I love you for the way that you have led Me on to feast on Him, the living Bread.

I will not plead for you; but in the love
And fear of Him who rules and reigns above
I praise your worth. He will the sting remove
And the love of truth within your pages prove.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	March 1-15.....	Charles Mayes....	R. Paul Miller.
Conemaugh, Pa..	March 8-22.....	Stanley Hauser...	Stanley Hauser.
Fremont, Ohio...	March 8-15.....	Lester Pifer.....	Herman Hoyt.
Spokane, Wash...	March 8-22.....	William Schaffer..	Robert Ashman.
Canton, Ohio.....	March 9-15.....	John Dilling.....	Anthony Zeoli.
Clay City, Ind....	March 9-22.....	Ralph Burns.....	William Steffler.
Uniontown, Pa...	March 9-22.....	Clyde Landrum...	Russell Weber.
Allentown, Pa....	March 10-22....	William Gray.....	Miles Taber.
Osceola, Ind.....	March 15-29.....	Ward Miller.....	Walter Lepp.
Norwalk, Ohio...	March 20-22....	.....	Herman Hoyt.
Akron, Ohio.....	March 29-Apr. 5.	Harold Etling....	Conard Sandy.
Cedar Rapids,
Iowa.....	March 29-Apr. 5.	Arnold Kr'gbaum	Herman Hoyt.
Dayton, Ohio (N.
Riverdale) ....	March 29-Apr. 19	Clyde Balyo.....	Michael Guido.

ETHIOPIAN BIBLE BEING PRINTED

The printing of a new translation of the Bible in Amharic, national language of the Coptic Christian kingdom of Ethiopia, is under way in Addis Ababa by the British and Foreign Bible Society. This new version was ordered by Emperor Haile Selassie after an earlier revision by Ethiopians was found to be unsatisfactory.

ISAAC D. BOWMAN DIES

Dr. Isaac D. Bowman, well known among the Brethren for many years, died February 28. Funeral services were held at Brighton, Ind., March 3 with Rev. Claude Studebaker and Dr. W. I. Duker in charge.

Dr. Bowman was born March 7, 1862, and was ordained to the ministry when he was 21 years of age. After 67 years in the ministry he retired in 1950. His first pastorate was at St. James, Md. At one time he was copastor with Dr. Louis S. Bauman at the Philadelphia, Pa., First Brethren Church. He was instrumental in establishing 19 preaching points during his long ministry.

Additions to Membership

Everett, Pa. ....	2
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	8
Sharpsville, Ind. ....	6
Spokane, Wash. ....	3
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	1

Public Confessions

Beaumont, Calif. ....	1
Canton, Ohio ....	1
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	4
Everett, Pa. ....	1
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	1
Spokane, Wash. ....	2
Waynesboro, Pa. ....	16
Winchester, Va. ....	4

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Ankenytown, Ohio ....	2
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	4
Everett, Pa. ....	1
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	6
Winchester, Va. ....	3

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

IV. THE CRY OF DESOLATION.

The next cry we wish to consider is the cry of desolation: "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Matt. 27:46).

Mortal mind cannot fathom the depths of the agony that wrung this cry from the heart of our Lord.

Scourging was a fearful thing. Men often died under the fearful lash. But all the scourging, all the piercing of the spikes, all the torture of the thorns, all the mockings of the heartless crowd brought nothing from His lips, "who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not" (I Pet. 2:23). It was the hiding of the Father's face that brought forth this agonizing cry.

All through His ministry He had rejoiced in the fellowship of His Father. Others might forsake Him, but "the Father hath not left me alone" (John 8:29). He spoke of Him as "holy Father" and as "righteous Father" (John 17:11, 25); but now the Father has turned His face and our Lord utters the sinner's cry, "My God, my God."

Why?

"Why hast thou forsaken me?"

Why? Well might this be the first word to enter our mind when some unusual distress comes upon us. "If we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged. But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world" (I Cor. 11:31-32).

Thus let us examine ourselves, and if it is chastening, we can confess our sins and "he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (I John 1:9).

If it is not chastening for sin, then let us count it all joy when we "fall into divers temptations [testings]" (Jas. 1:2), and with Paul cry, "Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me" (II Cor. 12:9).

"Why hast thou forsaken me?"

Judas forsook Him for money; the disciples forsook Him for fear; Pilate forsook Him for political advantage; the leaders of the Jews forsook Him for envy (Matt. 27:18); the common people, who once heard Him gladly, now forsook Him, being moved by the chief priests (Mark 15:11); but "why hast THOU forsaken me?" "I do always those things that please" Thee (John 8:29).

A God-Forsaken Place

"Why hast thou forsaken me?"

As we peer back through the mist of eternity past, and gaze ahead throughout the ceaseless ages of eternity to come, there is not the slightest hint in holy writ that another moment has ever been or ever will be when one person of the God-head forsakes another.

We may see a wilderness where the dense mass of vines and bushes make a hopeless tangle, or a vast open desert with nothing but sand, sand, sand and we may call it a "God-forsaken place." But such is not true, for God is truly there. There was one and only one place that can really be called "God-forsaken," and that was Calvary when our Lord carried our sins there.

Wedding bells are ringing. The happy couple step hand in hand across the threshold and into the unknown future together.

A few years later he takes his first drink; a few months later he goes out with his first strange woman; a short time later he commits his first robbery. But that wife loves him and clings to him through it all. But he goes on and on into sin—the home is neglected; the wife is distracted; the cupboard is bare; the children are in rags, and finally the point is reached where she turns from him and their fellowship is ended.

And so fellowship between the Father and the Son was bound together by cords of perfect love, but when the Son was made "to be sin for us" (II Cor. 5:21), it was too much.

Let us note that our Lord knew no sin. He did not commit sin. We commit sin because we are sinners, but our Lord who was sinless, was made "sin" itself.

Repulsion of Sin

I have spoken in rescue missions in Spokane, Los Angeles, Chicago, Dallas, and other cities. Sometimes a derelict of the human race enters those missions. There he is, drunk, bleary-eyed, ragged, dirty, filthy, and stinking to the nth degree. Verily, he is so repulsive that I fear to draw near lest one of his bedbugs might decide to change its feeding grounds.

But if that man, loaded with a few sins, is so repulsive to me, what must it have meant when the Father, who is "of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity" (Hab. 1:13), beheld His Son who was "made to be sin"—sin itself, the very root and basis of every sin that mortal man can commit, every sin in the catalog of human experience was there—adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murder, drunkenness, revelings, evil thoughts, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness, and on and on (Gal. 5:19-21; Mark 7:21-22).

Is it any wonder the Father turned His face?

Sin Punished

"Why hast thou forsaken me?"

A husband might come home from work some night and find another man with his wife. We might not blame him for driving such a wife from himself. But suppose a robber is in the house. The wife is asleep and unconscious of his presence. When the husband enters the back door he sees a man slipping from a side door. That husband accuses his wife, he abuses her, and drives her from him.

That wife might say, "Why have you forsaken me? I did not sin against you." That husband blamed his wife for a sin she did not commit and punished her for it. It might be difficult for us to overlook his act, and yet he did so because he was mistaken.

Yet the Father blamed the Son for sin He did not commit and punished Him for it and knew all the time His Son did not commit it. Verily, to be charged with another's sin and to be punished for it is hard indeed to bear, and yet our Lord willingly offered Himself to bear it all for us.

Imputed Righteousness

But wait. There is more in that verse than that. True it was, the Father made Him "to be sin for us," but it is just as true that He did so "that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (II Cor. 5:21).

If imputing our sin to Christ was so real that He died, then imputing Christ's righteousness to us is just as real and, marvel of marvels, we are "Dressed in His righteousness alone, faultless to stand before His throne."

SCHOLARS LOOK AT THE BIBLE

At the University of Iowa during the last week in January, Miss Ava Schnittjer, who has charge of our choir, appeared before the committee on graduate degrees before she was to receive her Master of Arts degree in February. During the comprehensive examination, which is always oral, Dr. Stroud, of the educational and psychological department, asked (as he reached for one of the versions of the Bible): "What do you think of this? Will it replace the King James Version?" To this Miss Schnittjer replied: "Doctor, for me at least it wouldn't. I could only use it as a reference book, for it seems to have no power." At this statement, Dr. Stroud's fist came down on the desk as he looked triumphantly at the others on the examining board and said: "I don't like it either!"—From the bulletin of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, church, Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum, pastor.

Blessed Names of Our Lord

By Rev. Charles Ashman, Rittman, Ohio

X. "FRIEND."

Webster says the word "friend" comes from a verb meaning "to love." He says the word means "one attached to another by esteem, respect, and affection." We are told that friends who stay by us in the time of trouble are hard to find.

The Bible tells us that Christ is just such a friend. Take Proverbs 18:24—"There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." What a tie this is that binds Christ to us closer than any earthly relationship could ever be. He, according to promise, stays by us through all earthly experiences. Actually we are bone of His bone and flesh of His flesh—one with Him. There is no power on earth or in heaven which can separate us from the love of our God (see Rom. 8:35-39). We need to sense this fact today and seek to live in its light. Live to love Him. Live to honor Him. Live to glorify Him, Christ our Friend—nearer and dearer than all worldly ties or anything the world can impart.

The name "friend" is applied to Christ again in Matthew 11:19 (read Matt. 11:15-19). Here Christ applies a title to Himself which His enemies used in scorn—"friend of sinners"—and how wonderfully true it is. He stooped to speak to sinners. He stooped to eat with sinners. He stooped to save sinners from their sin. This was His very life work which cost Him His life. How willingly He paid the price of such friendship—death, even the death of the cross. As we take up the work of each day let us ask ourselves the question, "Am I a friend of sinners?" If not, then we are not like our Lord, for He was, and He enjoyed it. Let us be friendly enough today to all lost sinners to tell them of Christ their Friend who came to give them eternal life.

Friend to the poor and the needy is He,
Jesus the Christ of Calvary;
Stooping so low He paid the price.
Our redemption—His sacrifice.

Friend of the sinner—can it be so?
What made Him friend of those so low?

His love and compassion for human race,
His hatred of sin and desire to efface.

Friend of the sinner—it is so!
Who sticketh so close when others may go.

He never forsakes the trusting one,
Today He seeks friendship with someone undone.

VICKSBURG, PA., CHURCH BURNS

Just before noon on Saturday, February 28, fire started that completely destroyed the 66-year-old church building of the Vicksburg congregation. This building was located 4 miles south of Hollidaysburg and 8 miles south of Altoona in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Rev. Dean Walter is the pastor of this church, serving as a chemist in Washington, D. C., during the week and caring for the church each week end.

The building is a total loss, but was partially covered by insurance. It is thought the fire started as the result of a defective heating system. The only things saved were the electric organ and a portable sound system and picture projection equipment. Less than 2 years ago the building had been redecorated.

This is the former church home of Mrs. Paul Bauman, of Winona Lake, Ind., and is the church of Mr. Homer Miller, now at Grace Seminary studying for the ministry of the Gospel.

According to the pastor, Brother Walter, no plans have been made as yet for the future. In the meantime, our church, the Leamersville, Pa., church, has invited the Vicksburg people to worship with us. Our church is only 2 miles from where the Vicksburg church was.—Robert D. Crees, reporter.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

BRETHREN LAYMEN ARE GOING ALL OUT FOR EVANGELISM

By William C. Fisher

National Secretary-Treasurer

For the first time the Brethren Laymen have had a nation-wide challenge for entering into a definite program to reach lost men here in our own land. The national WMC has for many years done a wonderful mission work. Evangelism is the laymen's field.

One of our laymen recently said: "This is the finest thing ever offered to our laymen." In a few weeks came his check for $1,000 (sent direct to the Crusade Committee).

---

To date there has come in through the National Fellowship of Brethren Laymen only $318.75 for the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade Committee. We have a long way to go to meet our goal of $2,500.

---

saying, "We must reach men for Christ everywhere. We have no time to lose." Our Brethren Evangelistic Crusade is gripping the hearts of laymen.

Another laymen from California sent his check for $100 (sent direct to the Crusade Committee), saying, "God bless you all, and may you soon see a great revival spread over our entire brotherhood. We need that more than anything else today."

Our national Laymen's Fellowship at Winona Lake last August voted to give $2,500 to the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade. But before we can send it in, we must raise it. This is 10 times as much as we have ever raised before. That doesn't mean that we have attempted too much. It simply means that till now our laymen have never really attempted anything big enough to really challenge us. It would be rather humiliating, if at next National Fellowship the National WMC would report another $10,000 raised, while the Fellowship of Laymen attempted to raise $2,500 for evangelism and couldn't make it!

Leaders of our laymen, it is necessary to really get going to make

---

A circular letter with a number of folders for our national offerings was sent to EVERY church in the brotherhood—137 letters in all. Our laymen should KNOW about our national goals and projects.

---

our laymen realize seriously what our goal is or we will never make it! Start now. We must go over the top for Christ with colors flying next August. We will have a real celebration over this at Winona Lake in August!

ACTIVITIES OF THE LAYMEN AS GLEANED FROM THE BULLETINS

The first Men's Brotherhood of the Community Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif., was held on February 24. Over 50 attended and enjoyed a steak dinner. Don McCrossen, from Victory Service Club in Los Angeles, spoke. After the meeting Pastor Wayne Flory led a man to Christ.

Pete Riggs was the speaker at the Men's Fellowship dinner at the Long Beach Second church February 24.

The Men's Fellowship at San Bernardino, Calif., had the boys club as their guests at a dinner on February 17.

The Men's Fellowship at Los Angeles First church heard Bob Munro, famous Scotch preacher, speak and play his trombone at their meeting March 5. At the February meeting 101 men were present and 6 accepted Christ as Saviour. New officers are: chairman, Jack Dixon; vice chairman, Tony Zippi; secretary-treasurer, Al Wedin.

At the Third Los Angeles church the Men's Fellowship had a "Father and Son" night on February 26. Bill Opie, TV personality, was the special singer and speaker.

Men of the Third Brethren Church in Philadelphia, Pa., heard Rev. Kenneth Ashman on March 3. Invited to this meeting were men from the First Brethren Church of Philadelphia, whose meeting was held the night before.

From the Leamersville, Pa., bulletin of February 1—"35½ men are

MEN OF SOUTHEAST DISTRICT HOLD MEETING AT RADFORD, VA.

Men of the Southeast District held their quarterly meeting on February 6 at Radford, Va., with 45 men present. District President J. Talmadge Taylor presided.

Mason Cooper, president of the national laymen's organization, challenged the men to a more active life for Jesus Christ.

Reports were heard from the various churches of the district.

New officers elected were: president, S. M. Coffey; vice president, Ralph Bell; secretary-treasurer, W. V. Findley; assistant secretary-treasurer, Roy Duncan.

The offering was $45.59, but $4.41 was added by Brother Fisher to make it $50 and it was given to the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade Committee.—William C. Fisher, retiring asst. sec.-treas.

---

wanted to attend our Men's Brotherhood meeting 7:30 p. m. Thurs. at Grant Stiffler's . . ." (?)

The Men's Fellowship at Washington, D. C., met on March 6 to plan for an oyster supper, election of officers, sponsorship of the boys' work, and other matters.

The men at the First church, Altoona, Pa., heard Rev. Craig Massey at their meeting on March 5.

---

Laymen, are you thinking about making plans NOW to attend our National Conference and Laymen's meetings in August?

---

A series of 4 signs containing these words: "Don't you worry, fret, and care; Jesus will your burden bear" have been erected by the Men's Brotherhood of Leamersville, Pa., on Route 220, approaching the church.

Dr. James Boyer, of Grace Seminary, spoke to the men of the New Troy, Mich., church on February 14.

The Men's Brotherhood of the First church, Whittier, Calif., had a steak dinner on February 3 at which Rev. Alfred Dodds, of South Gate, was the speaker.

Our First Crusade Campaign Started in Long Beach March 1

FOLLOWING THE MEETING IN THE FIRST CHURCH OF LONG BEACH, CAMPAIGNS WILL FOLLOW IN BELLFLOWER, SOUTH GATE, PHOENIX, TEMPLE CITY, AND SOUTH LOS ANGELES. OTHER FIELDS WILL BE ADDED BEFORE THESE CAMPAIGNS ARE OVER.

MEET THE NEW MEMBER OF OUR CRUSADE COMMITTEE

Frank Poland

Bro. Cleve Miller, of Waterloo, Iowa, has asked to be relieved of his place on the crusade committee because of Mrs. Miller's illness and because he is already on 2 other boards.

We are glad to announce that Bro. Frank Poland, in charge of the office of the Brethren Home Missions Council, has accepted the place being left vacant by Cleve Miller.

MEET THE LAYMAN WHO IS TAKING OUR TENT AND EQUIPMENT TO CALIFORNIA

Kenneth Peters

Bro. Kenneth Peters has a large semi-truck and trailer and is taking the tent and equipment to the west coast for the crusade's first campaigns. He says he is glad there are some things a layman can do to help reach unsaved men for Christ.

Brother Peters belongs to the Covington, Ohio, congregation and is treasurer of that church.

HERE IS A SAMPLE OF WHAT OUR LEADING PREACHERS WRITE TO US ABOUT THE CRUSADE FOR SOULS—

"This program really looks good to me, and I am thrilled that our church is beginning to move in the right direction. I will really push it once I see just where we begin. This is one of the finest things, in my opinion, that we have started and I for one want to get off to a good start, and then keep doing a real job of evangelism in our denomination."

AND ALL THE PEOPLE SAID, "AMEN"!

"What Sort of Project for Evangelism Do You Have That Our Local Laymen's Group Could Undertake?"

Here are some—needed at once:

$100 for Salvation Literature for Campaigns.

$400 for a Supply of the New Crusade Songbooks.

$1,500 for Another Tent for the Use of the 2d Team.

BUT ABOVE ALL THINGS WE NEED EARNEST, BELIEVING HEARTS TO PRAY FOR US WHO ARE ON THE FIRING LINE!

The time is short!

The need is great!

We have done so little!

The Brethren Evangelistic Crusade Committee

LOVEST THOU

ME

??
??
??
??
??

W. M. C.

52-53

JOHN 21: 15-17

LOVE'S ENCHANTMENT

By Leanore Button

With Brethren Jewish Mission in Los Angeles

The dictionary gives the definition of the word "privilege" as follows: "a special right, favor, or special advantage, granted to or enjoyed by some to the exclusion of others." While this definition indicates a graciousness on the part of the giver of the privilege, it does not begin to approach the graciousness of God as we are given privileges by Him. This is because the word "privilege," humanly speaking, seems to point to a worthiness on the part of the receiver; but God in His grace in extending privileges to us does so even though we are unworthy of those privileges.

The saints of God enjoy many privileges, but most of us will put salvation at the head of our list. Salvation is God's answer to man's sin. In Romans 6:23 we find: "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." How wonderfully this verse tells the complete story! God's Word says that ALL have sinned (Rom. 3:23). God's Word says the soul that sins must be punished (Ezek. 18:20). But God has provided the greatest gift of all, and because of Him it is possible for us to escape the penalty, which is separation from God (John 3:16). Sometimes I think we who know the Lord Jesus as our own beloved Saviour become so self-satisfied that we take this wonderful gift for granted. Have you ever thought what it might be like to have no Saviour, to be so self-sufficient in your own blind way that you never missed that wonderful One until it was too late? So many feel that way today. So many are missing Him. And that is where the next great privilege comes in—telling.

Telling the story of God's love for lost mankind is the greatest business in the whole world. "And Jesus, walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers . . . And they straightway left their nets, and followed him" (Matt. 4:18-20).

When Jesus called to the men fishing He didn't choose men who were wealthy, or men who were salesmen, or men who were highly intellectual, but rather He called men who were just common fishermen. They had no special knowledge or much of the world's material wealth, but they must have been men to whom God had given great faith. Like Abraham of old they didn't question Him. The Word says simply: "And they straightway left their nets, and followed him." I believe God wants us to see that those who follow Him must be obedient; that they must forget themselves and put their trust in Him without question; and that they must desire to see souls saved.

In these modern times which do seem to be pointing to the end of the age, we find so many people who think the gospel of salvation by grace is much too simple and is, therefore, only for the ignorant. How our hearts ache as we talk with these people who feel they are so well-educated they no longer need to believe in such ridiculous things one finds in the Bible, such as the creation story, the fall of man, etc. But for those of us who love the Lord Jesus, we find the answer in His Word (I Cor. 1:18-24).

And this brings us to the last privilege, which is living. In no other religion does one find a living sacrifice. The God of the universe who created us actually pleads with us to present our bodies as a living sacrifice which, He says in Romans 12:1, is holy and acceptable unto Him.

Since it is through the body that the entire life reveals itself, every part of our life should belong to Him. How many times in dealing with lost souls do we encounter criticism of someone's life? Could it be our fault—the fault of the saints of God—that the Jewish people are still seeking their Messiah? In the 11th chapter of Romans we find: "I say then, Have they stumbled that they should fall? God forbid: but rather through their fall salvation is come unto the Gentiles, for to provoke them to jealousy." Have we really been living such a life that we are provoking Israel to jealousy in such a way that she wants to know what we have? Somewhere we have failed—not the person of the world who knows not God, but we who are His children. So in all that we say or do or think, it is really a privilege, and a responsibility, to let the Lord Jesus shine through our lives to such an extent that others, both Jew and gentile, will want to know what makes us so happy, so secure, so safe in a world of uncertainty.

Truly, beloved, we are enchanted by God's love from the instant we see ourselves as sinners, condemned to hell, and yet escaping our punishment because the Lord Jesus loved us enough to die for us and to cover our

APRIL DEVOTIONAL STUDIES

Bible Study—"The Price of That Love."

Mission Study—"The Responsibility of the Church to Israel."

sins with His precious blood. And though our hearts almost burst when we think of all the privileges we have as His children, remember there are those who have no privileges, no hope, no peace. How much we remember this will prove how much we love God. Pray for those who have no hope; tell them of the One who is able to save; and best of all, let them see the power of that salvation through your own lives as a living sacrifice, which is holy and acceptable unto Him.

Give to BRETHREN FOREIGN MISSIONS—March, April May.

Presenting Your National Vice President

MRS. HENRY REMPEL

By Althea S. Miller

If you ever are close to Mrs. Rempel when she's looking at pretty china or pottery of any kind just open your ears to what she says. I have always been fascinated by Laura Rempel's comments on the subject, which is very familiar to her. You can hear the wistful sigh that more china and pottery were hand-painted these days as they were when young Laura learned to apply the very fine brush on dishes and vases.

You see, Mrs. Rempel was born and reared in East Liverpool, Ohio, which was then and for years after the pottery center of the world. Art work on chinaware is a love which Mrs. Rempel will never forsake. For years young Laura was taken to a Methodist church most faithfully by parents and grandparents. She says she was a baptized church member, but definitely not saved.

In 1920 Mr. Claude Mahon won the heart and hand of Laura. They lived in the worldly sphere of things, but enough Christian principles had been instilled in her heart to make her miserable with the worldly crowd. She and her husband only attended church on special occasions.

In 1924 the Mahons moved to Sebring, Ohio, where her heavy heart followed her. One can move away from a place but never get away from his heart. One night while listening to the radio Laura heard this statement which she has never forgotten: "There is no joy or satisfaction of heart apart from the Lord Jesus Christ." She wrote this down and meditated on it for many days with a heart crying for the truth. She read her Bible, but there seemed to be a veil between her and the truth. At least she could not understand it.

A family from Canton, Ohio, who were interested in the spiritual welfare of the Mahons brought their pastor, Dr. J. C. Beal (Canton, Ohio, Brethren Church), to see them in 1930. That 26 miles was well worth every turn of the wheel, for both husband and wife accepted the Lord that night in their home after the truth of God's Word had been unfolded to them. The following Sunday they attended the Canton Brethren Church and publicly confessed Christ. That evening they were baptized. Personal evangelism pays.

The following year Laura Mahon gave her life to the Lord for service as He saw fit. She had no idea where or how. Her life was enriched through the faithful ministry of Dr. Beal. The Lord used Evangelist R. Paul Miller to show this couple the importance of the family

By Althea S. Miller

No need or time or space for an editorial this month. Just read all the wonderful NEWSNATCHES and rejoice with your editor. And PLEASE, let's repeat this for next month's Herald. Some of you other council officers sit right down and send some news to me by—and no later than—March 20. I'll be haunting the mailman until YOU send some news. You know where to write: 1511 Maiden Lane, SW., Roanoke 15, Va.

We are sorry for the delay in getting the column, "Making Christian Marriage Work," into the Herald this month. People keep writing, "Where is that column you promised us?" This month there is no room for it and last month your editor was rather knocked off her feet by the sudden serious illness of her eldest child, a 16-year-old boy. At this writing he is no better, but not worse. The doctor assures us he is holding his own. If you have time to think this way sometime we would appreciate your prayers for him and us that these months in bed will be a thing of beauty to the Lord for both Bob and his parents. With the kidneys functioning only 50 percent, our Christian doctor tells us only God is able to effect a complete recovery. Watch next month for the new column, the Lord willing.

---

Mrs. Ashman suggests you read Psalms 60 to 90 for your extra Bible reading in the month of March.

---

altar and of practical living, both at home and in the neighborhood.

The Lord in His wisdom willed to take home to Himself the one who was nearest and dearest to Laura in 1937. She threw herself upon the Lord and sought His leading for her life. For one year she attended Moody Bible Institute and then spent 2 very wonderful, eventful, and happy years at Grace Seminary, then in Akron, Ohio. Attending Grace Seminary at the same time as Laura was an eligible bachelor, who was ever being "ribbed" about his lack of "attachments." It was not long, however, until Henry Rempel was casting some very interested looks in the direction of Laura. He finally worked up the courage to "pop" the question. The answer must have been yes, because they were married in 1940. Since then, Mrs. Rempel has served as a very capable and sweet pastor's wife in Flora, Ind.; Limestone, Tenn.; Mansfield, Ohio; Uniontown, Pa.; and now at the Second Brethren Church of Los Angeles, Calif.

Everywhere the testimony is the same—Laura Rempel is a precious fellow laborer, with the sweet perfume of His presence radiating from her life. For 3 years she has been a most efficient vice president of WMC. Hers has been a responsible behind-the-scenes job of project planning which is real HARD work. Look in this issue for her most recent article on WMC projects. Pray for her as she leads on to greater victories in national WMC.

There is no greater thrill than to suggest that a piece of work be done, and then before one knows it a group has taken hold of it and it is accomplished. That is the way the members of WMC work. It is all the result of loving the Lord. Another year is past, the record is made and we are well into the middle of the program or plan for 1952-53. Let us review briefly the result of our enthusiastic working together the plan of last year, that our hearts may be encouraged.

At the beginning of the past year our vision was greater, in that we raised the goal of the 4 major offerings for the year. These were all met but the general expense fund. This was due partly to the change of time to June, July, and August. I mention these major offerings so that we may recognize that WMC members respond to the needs with "free-will" offerings—no dues to be paid in WMC. We give our thank offering each year to the Brethren Jewish testimony in Los Angeles, Calif. Each council takes a part in the projects of their district, these being financed by free-will offerings also. We were busy too in that which our hands found to do.

Some of the items furnished by the districts were such things as mattresses, folding organ, tires for Sunday school bus, pianos, school support for Elena Wagner, New Testament Story-O-Graph figures and backgrounds, communion sets, aiding girls to attend Camp Bethany, refrigerators, heating unit, ceiling material, beds for Navaho school children, records in the Spanish language, helped in the Jewish work, canned fruit and vegetables for missionaries, flooring for the Navaho school building, assisting the Sisterhood girls in providing bandage material for their project, and many other deeds of kindness. All these efforts have been blessed by our working together. Are we doing as well or better this year?

The field in Africa is very much in need of bandages right now. There are new stations and dispensaries being opened up right along. The leper work calls for the bandages, too. Are we helping the Sisterhood girls to get these bandages ready? This is a real opportunity for fellowship with our girls. Caps, aprons, outfits are Conference time will be here before most of us are ready for it, if we don't get busy with some concrete plans. August 24-30 are the dates. Let's have a goal of at least one member from every council over the country at Winona Lake and attending the WMC sessions each day.—Ed.

Are you giving and planning to give to the Brethren Jewish mission work at Los Angeles? Remember, this is a national WMC objective. God blesses the folk who love the Jew and give him the Gospel. Your offering for this purpose is due June 30. Be planning.

Give to BRETHREN FOREIGN MISSIONS—March, April May.

needed for the native nurses. There are 4 dispensary buildings needed, the cost being about $700 each. The equipment for these dispensaries is needed. I understand that about 3 of our missionary families do not have refrigeration on the station. Baby shirts and outing flannel short kimonos are always in demand. (Contact Brother Barnard for an outgoing missionary with whom these items may be sent.)

Argentina still needs Spanish books for the Bible institute, sports equipment, 2 15-watt public-address systems ($175 each), and 2 tape recorders to use with the public-address systems, at $200 each.

Our missionaries at Baja California can use all the layettes, dish towels, and towels you will send. They have children and adult classes in their home. Spanish records and flannelgraph materials are needed. (Write them to find out the ones needed.)

France can use tracts, literature, books, etc. A library has to be built up there.

We turn to the home field. Don't forget the district project of sending a free-will offering to be used toward the upkeep of the furnishing of the missionary residence. This offering is to be sent in by July 31. I hear that one district is using the credential offering of their rallies for this offering. A fine idea!

The used clothing project is a must for the mission work at Clayhole, Ky.; Taos, N. Mex.; Albuquerque, N. Mex.; and the Brethren Navaho Mission, N. Mex. Keep good used clothing going continually into these places. Remember these help in making contacts with people, that the Gospel may be given to them. Don't waste money on clothing too worn for use. Use the good used outing flannel to make baby quilts. One lady alone has made her 40th quilt from outing and other good pieces of cloth, using thin blankets for batting. Some tops are pieced and knotted. Never send clothing C. O. D. Be sure to send a card to the mission so they will be looking for the shipment.

I would like to share with you some of the things that are being done by the districts. One district gave a cash gift to 2 new churches in their district and plastic dishes for camp, conference, and institute use in Argentina. Another gave $300 to district mission board, repairing a piano at Baja, supplying communion sets for 2 new churches. They are financing the cost of sending the SMM bandages to the national bandage secretary. Many local women tear the bandage strips for the girls as they have the materials to give. The girls do the rolling and packing. A gift of $200 to a new missionary from their district and also $100 for literature for Baja and France.

One district, with only 7 councils, is furnishing felt mattresses for the school at the Brethren Navaho Mission to the amount of $250. A piano for the Denver church and a sewing machine for the mission at Albuquerque, N. Mex., is being supplied by another district. One district has a particular project for each rally: mimeograph for a new church, help to finance the sending out of the Mediator for our Jewish mission in Los Angeles. They are planning to help purchase some needs for the missionary residence. Another is purchasing place-settings for 80 of plastic dishes and silverware for their camp, also planning to supply a kerosene

HAPPY BIRTHDAY DEAR MISSIONARIES

Africa—

Mary Hope Beaver.....May 7, 1949
Miss Grace Byron.....May 7
Lois Irene Taber.....May 8, 1940
Alberta Mae Dunning.....May 11, 1949

Argentina—

Victor Wagner.....May 2, 1937
Mildred Wagner.....May 11, 1936
Rita Dorene Hoyt.....May 18, 1944
Mrs. James B. Marshall.....May 25
Rev. James B. Marshall.....May 28

Baja California—

Sharon Haag.....May 9, 1948
Kathryn Sue Howard.....May 29, 1948

France—

Victor Fogle.....May 1, 1949
Naomi Ruth Mason.....May 28, 1948

United States—

Donna Marie Kliever.....May 9, 1940

Give to BRETHREN FOREIGN MISSIONS—March, April May.

cook stove for missionaries who are going to South America.

Other projects are being carried on that have not been reported from 2 districts.

Local projects are very important. How about the missionary chest? There are many things to be made and placed in there for the missionaries to choose from. Save coupons for silverware and get the odd pieces, someone may have use for that very piece. A lady in one of our churches purchased a bolt of outing flannel and the missionary ladies made baby gowns for the war orphans in Korea. Send your used Christmas and greeting cards to the Navaho mission or any other missionary that will use them. D. V. B. S. materials are needed for next summer for the 8 schools that will be held at the Taos mission and surrounding works.

Do remember the birthday offering each month. Gifts can be given for your own birthday, in memory of a loved one, a relative or friend, or for some missionary. Many different plans may be used. It takes around $1,200 a year to support a missionary.

Don't forget the new project for this coming national conference, namely, the display board. Keep gathering the material for this during the year. This is something new, so let's make it very attractive.

Our theme for this year is found in John 21:15-17, where the Lord Jesus is asking the question, "Lovest thou me?" Are we as missionary women faithfully manifesting Christ in our labors of love and material gifts? Let us give our best to Him now, for tomorrow may be too late. Pray as you labor and give for the salvation of many in this year. Our Lord has proved to us over and over again how he takes the little here and the little there and accomplishes great things for His own glory. Let us not become weary in well-doing, for we shall reap if we faint not. He wills and He is able.

A few "quickie" reports:

A new council in the baby church at York, Pa. They have 8 members and several projects. Pray for them.

A new council at Riverside, Johnstown, Pa. Mrs. Ray Coleman is president. Organized in September 1952. Average attendance is 15. Offerings average $15 a month! (Super, I'd say!—Ed.) Project: sent several hundred pounds of clothing to New Mexico.

Aren't you all thrilled with all these fine reports? Well, then, send more so our April issue can be as informative and inspiring as this one is.—Ed.

Dayton, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Just a note to send you greetings from the Jr. WMC of the First Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio.

We enjoy our meetings very much and are grateful for the wonderful Christian friends we have as we serve the Lord together. We have a membership of 30, with an average attendance of 25. This is an increase of 4 over last year.

We have many projects during the year. We have tried to help Jr. SMM in a financial and spiritual way. We take care of the nursery at Sunday services; also send clothes to Clayhole. Our project this past Christmas was sending a check to the Goodmans.

In Him,

Mrs. James Long, Sec.

Canton, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings to you in the name of Christ from the Sr. WMC of Canton, Ohio. We have been so blessed of the Lord in the past year that we want to pass some of the blessings on to you. We feel we have accomplished much as a band of missionary women because we are a praying council. Every other month the senior council has charge of the day of prayer. Our program chairman writes lists of prayer requests on the various blackboards in the Sunday school rooms. The groups go from room to room so as to participate in praying for all the requests. Every month 3 ladies write to different missionaries and we read their answers at these meetings. After a day at one of these prayer meetings we are refreshed in our service for Him.

We entertained the Jr. WMC at a membership rally and consecration service. We entertained the Sunday school cabinet at a chicken dinner. We feel that this group of people are the backbone of the Sunday school and church and decided we'd like to do something nice for them. [May their tribe increase!—Ed.] It was held on a regular cabinet meeting night. It helped to bring out new members and showed them the importance of their job.

We are having a covered-dish dinner and will help the Sisterhood girls to roll bandages this week (February 9). On our own birthdays we bring a gift for our missionary chest besides bringing an offering. We are looking forward to the time when WMC will have its own missionary on the field, and praying it will be soon. [Amen.—Ed.]

These are just a few of the things we have been doing besides sending gifts, remembrances, and love offerings to our shut-in friends.

In the joy of the Lord,
Mrs. Ralph Lape, Sec.

Mundy's Corner, Pa.

Dear President:

Greetings in the name of our precious Lord. This letter is long overdue, but will give you some of the information you requested concerning our council. We are not quite sure we fully understand what they are to do about the display for national conference.* Is this a district project or is each council to take a group of pictures of each of our projects for display at conference? We have decided to take a group of pictures of each of our projects and if we are to have our own display we'll work these into it. If not, we'll have pictures for our own enjoyment anyway.

Our projects for this year include packing used clothing for Kentucky (completed); packed box of groceries for needy family at Christmas; replenished supply of linen for missionary chest (completed); provided Jack and Maurine Teeter with treadle sewing machine. We are in the process of making stuffed toys for distribution by Evelyn Fuqua at Easter. (Patty Griffith told us of at least one family with several children who had much illness. The only sign of Christmas at their house was 2 stuffed dolls our ladies had made.) We send birthday messages to our missionaries each month. At this month's meetings we tried the workshop ideas [Nov. 22, 1952, issue, WMC Herald: "More Interesting and Helpful Meetings," p. 735.—Ed.] It was a great blessing, particularly the singing and the prayer circle hints.

In His service,
Mrs. Glenn Teeter, Pres., Jr. Council.

La Verne, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Ashman,

Our council is new as some are counted since we are only 1½ years old. When our council was formed we used the idea of a piggy bank on each lady's kitchen window sill. As we think of it we drop change into it and at each monthly meeting we exchange these banks with the others. At the end of 3 months we open these banks and send the money to the quarterly national WMC offering. We take a regular offering at each meeting to care for our local expenses. This way of taking offerings has proved most successful with us and it's fun.

We finished the year of '52 with a party given as a surprise linen shower for Dorothy Goodman, instead of giving gifts to each other.

*Note—On Page 588, September 13, 1952, WMC Herald, is found the following item: "District Objectives: 3. Each district to provide interesting material representing work done in the past year for display at national conference." This is the time for the district presidents to be looking into this matter and start the ball rolling.—Ed.

We DO miss the program booklets this year and would like to have them next year, if most of the ladies feel that way. [Good for you, ladies, for letting us know. How about more comments from the various councils along this line?—Ed.]

We thoroughly enjoy the work of our Jr. WMC and pray the Lord will ever use us.

In His service,
Mrs. Dee Colburn, Cor. Sec.

West Salem, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

The Sr. WMC of Wooster, Ohio, has been having an all-day meeting at the church on the 15th day of the month. We make things for our missionary box and then spend part of the day in prayer. We have just furnished a communion tray for the church. In the past year we sent several boxes of clothing to Taos and Clayhole. We sent 4 boxes of get-well cards and gospel tracts to the sick among our church members and to patients in the local hospital. At Christmas time we delivered 4 big boxes of groceries to some needy families in Wooster.

God has been very good to us. We pray for our co-workers. Please take time to count your many blessings.

In His name,
Mrs. Ivan Amstutz, Sec.

Everett, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

The WMC of Grace Brethren at Everett, Pa., is truly being used and blessed of the Lord. We praise Him for the privilege of fellowship together in the Gospel. We are grateful to Him for the cooperation of the ladies in giving reports cheerfully, taking part in the meetings, and being gracious hostesses.

Our 1952 project was a flannelboard for Mrs. Victor Meyers. We pray for greater growth in 1953.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John W. Smith, Sec.

New Troy, Mich.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

The ladies of New Troy WMC recently had a party and invited their husbands. We served supper at 7 p.m. and then had our regular devotional meeting at the close. Everyone who came was very happy at the fine fellowship and want to do this soon again. [A marvelous idea for perking up the interest of our husbands in WMC and a fine way to show them we really think they are quite swell.—Ed.]

Our present local project is to purchase new rugs for the rostrum and center aisle of the church auditorium.

In His name,
Mrs. Minnie Mensinger, Sec.

WMC OFFICIARY

President—Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, 205 Ihrig Ave., Wooster, Ohio.
Vice President—Mrs. Henry Rempel, 1539 E. 80th St., Los Angeles 1, Calif.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Robert Ashman, Winona Lake, Ind.
Financial Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Chester McCall, 3421 W. 82d Pl., Inglewood, Calif.
Literature Secretary—Mrs. Conard Sandy, Box 373, Winona Lake, Ind.
Editor—Mrs. Robert Miller, 1511 Maiden Lane, S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
Prayer Chairman—Miss Mary Emmert, Dallas Center, Iowa.
Patroness of SMM—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. N.E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"Ambassadors for Christ"

II COR 5:20

Sisterhood of MARY and MARTHA

MARY SLESSOR OF CALABAR

By Mary Emmert

The slim and delicate-looking Scottish lassie, Mary Slessor, was so timid she was even afraid to cross a meadow where a peaceful cow was grazing, and yet she became probably the world's most courageous lady missionary.

The news of David Livingstone's death in 1874 had stirred her to offer herself as a missionary teacher to Nigeria in West Africa. She had already proved herself in city mission work at home, and was quickly accepted.

So in 1876, at the age of 28, Mary arrived on the Calabar mission field in the southeast part of Nigeria. There she taught in the day schools for 12 years, also doing some exploring in the out-districts among the raw heathen in her spare time.

When she saw that the tribes could not be rightly evangelized until peaceful conditions were brought about, she herself went to live alone in a warlike tribe upriver from the mission stations.

Her first great victory in this tribe was the saving of a chief's life amidst great danger to herself. Long hours of trudging through a soaking rain brought her to the dying chief's side. Terrible fighting would have followed his death, but God blessed the medicines she used and he was restored to health. The people admired her fearlessness and her readiness to serve. As a result, that district was opened up to the Gospel.

It is a thrilling tale to read how Mary Slessor finally got the barbarians to respect and obey her. Single-handed she persuaded them to stop their cruel practices of sacrificing the wives of a chief at his funeral, of killing twin babies and driving their mother into the wilderness, and many like superstitions.

She raised all the twins and orphans which were brought to her, and soon had a large family of them. She was very busy preaching the Gospel, teaching school, building houses, and caring for the sick. The black people loved her as their mother, and called her "Ma" Slessor.

After she had prepared the way for establishing a strong church, she felt called to go into a fiercer tribe yet, where everyone thought she would be killed. But the Lord's presence went with her and caused the savages to admire her for her courage.

The British government made her a judge over the people, because she understood them so well. She accepted this task because she could preach to them as she dealt out justice.

Miss Slessor was a very unusual person. She lived very simply without any luxuries. She went barefooted much of the time, and did much heavy work herself. Yet she was not coarse and rough, but refined and womanly.

Wonderful results followed her work in this new tribe also. She built several churches and led many people to know the Lord. The savage customs of the tribe were largely overcome, and the way was opened for other missionaries to enter.

She was often saddened because the churches in the homeland did not get behind the work as they should. Much of the time she was sick, too, and unable to go, but the Lord gave her strength whenever a call would come for help, and she walked many miles, often in storms at night, perhaps to rescue some new-born twins or care for a sick person.

It was surprising what all she endured and yet she kept on working. In her latter years she had to be carried from place to place or pushed in a cart. She lived to the age of 66 and died in 1915, a much-loved and much-honored missionary pioneer.

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR APRIL

SINGSPARATION.

INTERCESSION—Circle prayer: take requests from the girls in addition to "Prayer Suggestions."

SCRIPTURE—Psalms 119:113-128.

TRAINING FOR AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Mormonism."

Middlers—"Persecuted for Christ Yet More Than Conquerors."

Juniors—"Nora's Name."

SPECIAL NUMBER.

REPORT ON AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Persecuted for Christ Yet More Than Conquerors."

Middlers, Juniors—"Mary Slessor of Calabar."

BENEDICTION.

BUSINESS MEETING.

PRAYER SUGGESTIONS

1. Pray for the young people who are in schools preparing for service for the Lord; remember the missionaries' children especially.

2. Pray that your Sisterhood will reach some girl for Christ this year.

3. Pray for the missionaries, especially the SMM missionary, Marybeth Munn; pray that the foreign mission offering will meet the needs of the fields.

OFFICIARY FOR 1952-53

President—Patty Griffith, Box 4053, Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C.

Vice President—Cora Luna, Box 711, Taos, N. Mex.

General Secretary—Helen Small, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.

Treasurer—Mary Hooks, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.

Literature Secretary—Myra Joy Conner, 4131 Vermont Ave. NW.,

Roanoke, Va.

Bandage Secretary—Evelyn Vnasdale, 555 Kinnaird Ave., Fort

Wayne, Ind.

Patroness—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. NE., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Assistant Patroness—Mrs. John Armstrong, R. R. 2, Wooster, Ohio.

In the cult before us for our present study we have one of the most energetic of all the cults. It exerts a vast influence in many of the States of the great Northwest. And beyond this influence it is reaching into almost every corner of our country and into the regions beyond. It is definitely a strong missionary movement.

I. Its Names and Their Significance.

1. The cult is most commonly known as Mormonism. It is so called after a prominent religious leader by the name of Mormon who wrote a history of his predecessors and gave it to his son, the angel Moroni, on golden tablets. The latter became the basis for the Book of Mormon.

2. Its official name is The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. This is the name of the largest group and they are the followers of Brigham Young. Its headquarters is in Salt Lake City, Utah.

3. A different group of Mormons is called The Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints. This body has its headquarters in Independence, Mo. They reject polygamy and look to Joseph Smith as their founding father, hence are sometimes called Josephites.

II. Its Origin. The movement came into existence through the instrumentality of Joseph Smith, Jr., who in 1820 and 1823 is supposed to have had peculiar visions. Moroni, the angel, revealed to him the whereabouts of the Golden Tablets which had been hidden since 420 A. D., and which recorded the history of God's people on this continent before their destruction. The plates were discovered on a hill near Palmyra, N. Y., and in the box that held the plates there was also found a huge pair of spectacles through the help of which Joseph Smith was able to read the hieroglyphics of the plates and so we got the Book of Mormon. He soon got some followers and in 1830 he organized the "Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints" at Fayette, N. Y.

III. Its History. Shortly after its organization, the group was forced to move westward, where at Kirtland, Ohio, they erected their first temple. Things did not go well with them there, so they moved westward to Missouri in 1831, establishing themselves in a place called Zion. In 1839 they moved to Nauvoo, Ill. Not until 1847 did they move on to Utah, where the main group has established itself into a growing movement. From humble beginnings in Utah they have grown until they control the industry, politics, as well as the religion of a vast territory in the Northwest. By revelation Smith is supposed to have had it made known to him that all male members of the group should devote 2 years of their lives to missionary work, going out 2 by 2. This plan has largely accounted for their vigorous growth.

IV. Its Doctrinal Viewpoint. Mormonism is a very subtle cult because it makes much use of Scripture and claims to believe many things in common with orthodox Christianity. However, it puts a very different interpretation on many of the Biblical doctrines from that of true Christians and adds some which are not found in the Bible at all.

1. Its belief about the Bible. They profess great fidelity to the Bible but say that it is not all the revelation there is. God, who is supposed to be speaking in the Book of Mormon, says: "Because ye have a Bible ye need not suppose that it contains all my words nor need ye suppose that I have not caused more to be written." Of equal authority with the Bible are the Book of Mormon, the Doctrine and Covenants, and the Pearl of Great Price. The latter 2 books are by Joseph Smith.

2. Its belief about God. Their conception of Him is grossly materialistic and polytheistic. The principal God lives in some far-off place called Kolob, but each world has a God of its own with whom the God of Kolob has very little to do except to meet with them occasionally in a grand council. The god of our world is Adam, and Adam is the only god with whom we have anything to do.

3. Its belief as to salvation. The atonement of Christ covered only original sin, that is, the sin of Adam. Sins committed now are pardoned by obedience and good works. Belief in Joseph Smith, his books and revelations, is necessary. Brigham Young has said: "Every spirit that confesses that Joseph Smith is a prophet, that he lived and died a prophet, and that the Book of Mormon is true, is of God, and every spirit that does not is of Antichrist" (Millennial Star, Vol. V., p. 118).

4. Its belief about baptism. They hold it to be almost equivalent to baptismal regeneration. It may be done vicariously for the dead, using as a basis I Corinthians 15:29.

5. Its belief about marriage. There are 2 kinds, celestial and temporal. Celestial marriages are sealed for time and eternity. Only this kind amounts to anything as far as the next world is concerned. A man may have any number of such marriages which enable the man to become a greater power in the next world. Temporal marriages are only for time and are performed outside the temple. Polygamous marriages are now outlawed by the Government, but often one reads of the breaking of the law in this respect.

V. Its Conception of Christ. He was the offspring by natural generation of Adam and the Virgin Mary. Brigham Young has said: "When the Virgin Mary conceived the Child Jesus, the Father had begotten Him in His own likeness. He was not begotten by the Holy Ghost. And who is His Father? He is the first of the human family. Jesus, our elder brother, was begotten in the flesh by the same character that was in the Garden of Eden and who is our Father in Heaven" (Journal of Discourses, Vol. I, pp. 50-51). According to Mormonism, Christ was a polygamist, being in this respect the same as Joseph Smith, Brigham Young, and Mohammed. Compared to the New Testament presentation of Christ, the Mormon conception is degraded.

VI. Refutation of Errors. This can be done by showing the sin of adding to or taking from the Word of God (Rev. 22:18-19), by showing the unreasonableness of polygamy both from the standpoint of the fairly even proportion of men and women in the world and the teaching of the New Testament (e. g., Eph. 5:31), by showing that its ideas with respect to the birth and marriage of Christ are at variance with the Word of God, and by showing that Scripture teaches that God is one (Deut. 6:4-5). A good verse to keep in mind in dealing with Mormonism is Galatians 1:8: "But though we, or an angel from heaven [even Moroni], preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed."

Before the beginning of time God, knowing that Adam and Eve would sin, thought out the plan of salvation. Not only did He think it out, but He sent His beloved Son to carry out His plan—to give His life in our stead.

The Devil has always opposed redemption's story. All through Old Testament times, Satan tried to destroy the chosen race. Christ Himself bore the crown of thorns, the pierced hands felt the pangs being rejected by man and forsaken by God. As He walked with His apostles He told them they would be persecuted.

The Book of Acts shows us that even as Christ had said, those who dared to mention the name of Christ as their Saviour were beaten, burned at the stake, and stoned.

We have followed the first foreign missionary team—Paul and Barnabas—through their first journey to Asia Minor (Acts 13:1-14:28). Do you remember how they were selected, separated, and sent forth from the church at Antioch? Did you trace their journey from Selucia to Salamis through Cyprus to Paphos? From Paphos they traveled 150 miles and arrived at Perga. Do you recall that John Mark had been their traveling companion, but left them here? We do not know why, but many believe that the opposition was keen and travel was rough. Maybe he couldn't stand to see his companions successful. Is it not true that envy, jealousy, and lack of "stick-to-itiveness" hinders the progress of Christians and Christianity today? Do you remember where Paul preached his first recorded sermon? Did you say Antioch, the important military center? You were right. Paul proclaimed Christ, but Satan used the force of envy (Acts 13:45) to bring about contradiction, blasphemy, and persecution.

It is here at Antioch that Paul turns to the gentiles (Acts 13:46). The gentiles were happy, but the Jews stirred up women against Paul and Barnabas. What is more hateful than wrought-up godless women? How they use the tongue for every evil intent! So great is their force that Paul and Barnabas are forced to leave the city. On they go to Iconium, but again such is the opposition that they fled to Lystra, Derbe, and vicinity. The extremes of public opinion greeted them at Lystra. One moment they worshiped Paul. He was a god. The next they stoned him, and left him as dead. A miracle happened and the following day, Paul arose and they traveled to Derbe. In spite of all this discomfort, back they go to Lystra, Iconium, and on to the Antioch church for reports of work done.

Why recall this trip? Did you not notice the opposition and persecution? May I ask what it has cost you to be a Christian? I often wonder if we are standing firmly enough for our Lord. Does our attire, our general appearance, our manner of life tell others that we are Christians? Do we ever speak about Christ?

For some time Paul and Barnabas tarried and taught in Antioch. After the Jerusalem conference, Paul became restless and suggested that they return to the cities that had been visited previously. He was anxious to know how they fared. As they started on their second journey there was contention as to whether or not John Mark should accompany them. Barnabas felt he should be given a chance while Paul did not want a quitter. Consequently John Mark and Barnabas started the second team of foreign missionaries.

Paul and Silas went to the churches of Syria and Cilicia. Tarsus was the chief city of Cilicia but no account is given of a church in this place. There may have been one or more however, for you recall that Paul went to Tarsus soon after his conversion. It appears that from Tarsus these 2 went to Derbe and thence to Lystra where previously Paul had been stoned, and even now he bore the marks from that stoning. How easy it would have been to have steered clear of this city which had so abused him. But Paul went, and here young Timothy was discovered. What a blessing he was even until the end of Paul's ministry.

What a peculiar sensation must have been Paul's as they went through Phrygia and Galatia. Asia seemed so near—seemed such a challenge. On he went to the northwest as far as Mysia. It seemed certain the message should now be given at Bithynia. Paul was trying to program his work, but God had His own plan. Just as one who wishes to surprise a friend drives beyond the house, or a militarist attempts his strategy, so by-passing Asia and Bithynia hastened the forward movement of missions.

There was Bithynia with its tribes that knew not Christ. How he wanted to preach there, but he could not. Then on to Troy proceed Silas and Paul. A night vision of one crying, "Come over into Macedonia and help us," appeared to Paul. He saw the need and answered it. Now he understood that man's disappointments are God's appointments. We know Paul was Spirit-led, because Philippi, Thessalonica, Berea, Athens, and Corinth follow.

We have followed workers who despite persecution and opposition were willing to burn out for Him. If the call, "Come over and help us," reaches you, will you answer "Yes"? Can you say with Paul that tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nor nakedness can separate us from the love of Christ; nay in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loves us (see Rom. 8:35, 37).

OFFICIAL REPORT

APRIL! Birthday Month! Hope you haven't forgotten! April is the month when we have our birthday meeting and take up a special offering for the higher education of missionaries' children. This is a worthy project, girls. Let's all do our best! Remember to send your birthday offering in to the national treasurer before May 10.

WANTED! Recruits for SMM. Do you have any new girls in your church or community? You can fulfill Martha Goal #4 by enlisting them in your SMM.

CRAFTS: You can fulfill Martha Goal #7 by making articles for missionaries, hospitals, shut-ins, etc. There are many such ideas in the project book. If you don't have one, you can get one from the literature secretary.

BANDAGE ROLLING: Had your bandage-rolling meeting yet? Don't forget! This is one of the starred goals. The bandages must be 2 inches wide, 7 yards long, and sewed only with a few stitches in the center. Send your bandages to either your district bandage secretary (if you have one) or to the national bandage secretary.

NORA'S NAME

By Mabel Donaldson

Miss Nora gathered the children around her this morning for a story. "Boy and girls," she began, "I want to tell you about little Nora. She had the most embarrassing experience. When she started to school at the age of 6 the teacher began the day by calling the roll. She called each child's name and he or she would answer, 'Here.' But when she called 'Eleanor' she got no answer. She called the same name 3 times, but got no answer. So the teacher thought Eleanor had not come. But when she started giving out supplies, books, and pencils, she found a little scared girl way in the back row. 'Who are you?' she asked. 'My name is Nora. I just came today. I'm 6.' 'Oh, you must be Eleanor,' said the teacher. 'I am not,' said the little girl. 'I don't know Eleanor. My name is Nora. Everybody calls me Nora.'"

By this time, Miss Nora's class was "in stitches." They had all seen the error little Nora had made. But they were surprised when Miss Nora said it was a true story and that she was the little girl who had almost gotten left out of things at school. She hurried on to explain that she had really learned a lot that day—that many folk have real names and nicknames, and that you had better know both or you are surely going to miss out on some mighty good things.

"But," said Miss Nora, "I know a person who has many names, and He knows every time any one of them is used. His name that you know best is Holy Spirit. He is the third person in the Godhead. Luke 11:13 calls Him by this name and tells us that God lets the Holy Spirit dwell in His children. It says, 'How much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him.' In Hebrews 10:29 He is called the Spirit of Grace. We are told not to insult the Spirit of Grace and to listen to His appeal. In Matthew 3:11-12 and in Isaiah 4:4 the Holy Ghost is spoken of as the Spirit of Burning. God is said to clean up His children who have gotten dirty with Satan's things by using the Spirit of Judgment and the Spirit of Burning. We should keep clean so God won't have to be so severe on us. Also, in John, the Spirit is called the Spirit of Truth. As such, He possesses, reveals, confers, leads into, testifies to, and defends the truth. As God is love, so the Spirit is truth. He is against the spirit of evil, or the spirit of the Devil.

"Now, let's read Romans 8:2." The children found the place and read together, "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." "What is my Friend called in that passage?" asked Miss Nora. Of course they all knew—the Spirit of Life. Then Miss Nora asked if each one had the Spirit of Life in his or her own life. She explained that unless they had asked God to forgive their sins, and to acknowledge Jesus as their own personal Saviour, that the Spirit of Life could not make them free.

"You know, boys and girls, when you have come to

Marybeth Munn

"He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds" (Psa. 147:3). How true, but He uses us, His ambassadors, as the means through which He usually heals both the body and the soul. All of us are not called to go personally, but we are all to have a share in this work as we send others and pray for them. Marybeth is our ambassador to African lepers.

Jesus, and the Holy Spirit comes to live within you, He helps you with every problem. In Isaiah 11 and in Luke 4 He is spoken of as the Spirit of wisdom and of knowledge. So, you see, you need never worry about whether to do this or that, for the Spirit of wisdom and the Spirit of knowledge will tell you what is wrong and what is right. Our trouble is that we often want to do that thing so badly, or we want to go to that questionable place so much that we don't even listen to the Spirit of wisdom and knowledge telling us, 'No.' We really tell Him rudely to 'Shut up! Don't dictate to me. Don't interfere with my life so much.' Oh how we must grieve the Holy Spirit when we won't even listen to His warnings!"

By now the children had found a few verses about the names of the Holy Spirit. Jerry read in Ephesians 1:13—"Ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise." He explained how his mother had told him that this verse meant that God would keep all His promises to those who would believe on Jesus, and that Jesus said He would send the Comforter, the Spirit, to link our lives with God.

Mary read from I Peter 4:14—"The spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you." She said she had asked her father what was meant by glory, and he had told her in this verse it meant character—what a person really was. He had told her that a child of God will be glad if the spirit of glory rests on him, for it helps him to show others that he belongs to Jesus, and his Christian character shines out all over him.

Then Miss Nora had them all read I Corinthians 3:16—"The Spirit of God dwelleth in you" and Romans 8:9—"Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his." She told them how serious this is. If any of them did not have the Spirit, he would not be saved and could not get into heaven.

"Now little Nora was not kept out of school because she did not know her name, but you will be kept out of heaven unless you know you have the Holy Spirit dwelling in you. Please, children, think about this and hasten to tell others, so that none will be lost."

Before the children had their closing prayer, they recalled all the names of the Holy Spirit and found there were about 10 or 11. They did not need to marvel that He could remember all these names and answer to them, for they knew that He was God and God was everything and everywhere. He never makes mistakes, gets mixed up, or forgets.

CAN YOU—

Name the names of the Spirit?

Tell what each name means?

Tell why He never misses when His name is called?

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 12

HOME MISSION NUMBER

MARCH 21, 1953

1952 SMM HOME MISSION PROJECT NEARS COMPLETION

This chapel at Hell-for-Certain, Dryhill, Ky., was made possible largely through the gifts of the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha. Various other gifts and much donated labor also helped to see it so nearly completed. The dedication will be postponed until late spring because of present road conditions.

---

As the Editor Sees It — —

---

By L. L. Grubb

---

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF HAVING GOD'S WORD

In all times those who have had God's revelation have been commissioned to deliver it to others.

God called Jeremiah and said: "Gird up thy loins, and arise, and speak unto them all that I command thee: be not dismayed at their faces, lest I confound thee before them." Jeremiah said: "His word was in my heart as a burning fire, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay."

Jeremiah's message was not popular and well received. But the man of God preached it fearlessly because of a burning spiritual fire and passion in his own soul to obey and please his God.

Ezekiel was commissioned by God to be a "watchman" to the house of Israel. His task under God was to "hear the word at my mouth and give them warning from me." If he failed in this task it was made plain to him that when the wicked man died in his iniquity his blood would be required at the prophet's hand.

God has not changed His eternal plan of evangelization. He still commissions His preachers, teachers, laymen and servants to carry the Gospel to the ends of the earth, rebuking sin and preaching Christ for salvation. Christ spoke to His disciples just as the dispensation of grace began, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations."

Christians during this 20th century have this same Word of God in sacred trust. They carry this responsibility—making the Word of Life known to men everywhere. Nor will there be any excuse more before God than there would have been for Jeremiah or Ezekiel had they failed. God will hold us responsible for the blood of wicked men if we fail in our witness.

God has given us a great and growing foreign mission program in our Fellowship. He has placed His Word in our hands. Any who have attended Brethren churches even for a short time will have heard God's plan of evangelization often. Therefore we are without excuse if we fail to grasp the opportunities now before us for world evangelization. Foreign doors of service are still open, but may close very rapidly and even now are closing in some sections of the world. We must act at once or later utter the cry—TOO LITTLE AND TOO LATE!

Let us realize that God's hand of blessing in service is upon us and increase our foreign mission giving to spread the story of redeeming grace across the earth.

NO DEPRESSION IN POKERTOWN, U. S. A.

There is one little section of our nation where there is permanent prosperity, where gambling houses cash in nightly on full poker tables. Only 6 big clubs gross $3,000,000 a year.

The place has been called Gardena and is located on Western Avenue on the edge of Los Angeles. Close to $100,000 annually goes into the town treasury as taxes on the poker games.

The 15-year gambling history of this town has been a varied one. Murder has been committed. There have been over 2,000 police interventions on cheating charges against poker players. At least 3,000 calls have come to police because of fights over poker winnings and losses. Several thousand holdups have been recorded. Crime is bound to attend a situation like this.

Players range in age from the very young to grandmothers. In fact, one of the most famous players is a woman 72 years of age who makes her living in this way. She is not the only one who has taken up gambling as a means of livelihood. The town is full of professionals.

What does the town think of this? Every few years church groups and some welfare groups enlist enough support to see whether gambling should be continued. Each time such a move has been defeated. A community such as this would naturally draw people who like to gamble, just as Las Vegas does. The way things look now no human influence is going to stop the flow of poker chips and the crime attending it, especially when 2 of the largest clubs are operated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

What Gardena needs is an evangelist on fire for Christ and a group of people who know how to pray. No doubt no other power will overturn the tables of the money-changers. Just as Christ did it in the Temple, He can do it literally in modern poker dens. But there must be someone who is willing to carry the message and face Satan in his den without regard to the consequences.

This is the America of today!

WATER FOR ISRAEL

The truth of God's prophetic Word is again emphasized by comparatively recent findings in Palestine as to a water supply.

In Isaiah 35:6-7 God says through the prophet, "... for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert. And the parched ground shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water."

We are now told that each passing day more sources of water are being found. Millions of cubic meters of water are available for the intense cultivation of hundreds of dunams of land. The government of Israel is already working hard on this project and the claim is that soon immense irrigation projects will be under way.

How strengthening to our faith to realize that our God is even now showing the partial fulfillment of prophecies relating to the blessing and welfare of His chosen people.

---

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

Home Missions Travelog

By the Secretary

NEW RADIO PROGRAMS AVAILABLE

Twenty-five new radio Gospel Truth programs are now available to our Brethren churches anywhere in the U. S. A. Recently the Gospel Truth staff gathered in Chicago and recorded these broadcasts, which strongly emphasize the Biblical testimony of our Fellowship.

The talent on this program is all Brethren. Our male quartet is composed of 3 pastors and 1 evangelist: Brethren Robert Ashman, Russell Ward, Charles Bergerson, and Gerald Polman. Ingenious Brother Bergerson presides at the organ as well as singing in the quartet. In addition, these programs all contain solos by our brilliant young lyric tenor, Bro. Leroy Hawkins, who is a member of our home mission church in Albany, Oreg.

The program is designed for a 30-minute broadcast with 13½ minutes on tape and the local pastor preaching the sermon.

If you desire to use the broadcast—contact our office.

3 HOME MISSION BLESSINGS IN 1 DAY

On Saturday night the wheels of the Navion touched the long runway at Albuquerque, N. Mex., and minutes later we stepped out of the airplane with Bro. Edison Yoder, one of our directors. The flight had been a pleasant and fast one in spite of some bad winter weather.

Early on Sunday morning we fellowshiped with our missionary among the Spanish-Americans in Albuquerque, Bro. Clarence Gutierrez. Later we enjoyed a time of real blessing with our Christians there. Several new members encouraged us as we realized the very difficult nature of the work in a State where Roman Catholicism has great power. The little auditorium had been decorated and the floor finished so that now we have a very attractive little church. Our missionaries and our people there need the earnest prayers of God's people and especially Brother Gutierrez needs prayer for his financial support.

Just before noon we took off from the Albuquerque airport and in about 45 minutes we were across the long stretch of desert and beautiful mesa and were parked on the Indian mission compound at Counselor, N. Mex. What a blessing it was to see about 65 Indians crowd into the little chapel room downstairs shortly after lunch and to see their interest in spiritual truth. A fine message was delivered by our missionary, Bro. Evan Adams, and interpreted by our splendid worker, Mrs. Antone. To hear these Indians who had been in spiritual darkness for so long singing gospel songs of hope and joy was indeed a thrill to our souls.

We found ourselves wishing that each individual who had ever contributed a small gift to the Indian work could have been with us to see how the Gospel has produced fruit, and especially in the splendid group of children who are now in our school. The transformation is almost unbelievable. We were in a favorable position to see this contrast, having seen them both before and after. Here the work of Miss Angie Garber has indeed been outstanding. It is cause for real sorrow that she is physically unable to continue this work.

Each visit to our work on the reservation naturally impresses us with many new needs because of the magnitude and challenge of the field.

The present mission station is too small to house all departments of this growing work and provide living quarters as well. We have found it to be absolutely necessary to construct a small dwelling for our missionary and his family. We also need a small building to serve as a schoolroom and recreation room outside our present building. As the Lord has met our needs in the past, we believe He will also meet these future needs of our mission. Here is a subject for earnest prayer—that God will raise up helpers to meet these pressing needs.

On the same Lord's Day we took off late in the afternoon for Taos, N. Mex., and were again amazed at the vastness of this territory as we flew along rugged mountains and sharp crags across the little grand canyon of the Rio Grande and dropped down into 8 inches of snow on the Taos airport.

The evening service with our Spanish-Americans in Taos and our missionaries there really filled our cup of blessing to overflowing. A large congregation was present for the evening service and the Spirit of God was present in power. This church is making its influence felt in this community and all through the area under the leadership of Bro. Sam Horney.

Monday morning we went to Cordillera, where our first self-supporting Spanish church is located, and looked at the damage which had been caused in the roof

DID YOU RECEIVE A MINUTE-MAN LETTER?

*Let's Help Findlay Build a Church Here!
Send a Minute Man Dollar!*

The Findlay Minute-Man letters are coming back to us in a steady stream from Brethren all over the United States and we thank each one of you for them. However, some are coming back without gifts because we didn't have your correct address. It would be a real help to us if you would notify us when you have a change of address. No doubt many of you have received a letter, but for some reason you haven't returned your gift, so why not do it now before you forget it.

of this building by a small fire from an overheated stove. This has now been repaired and the building is in use again, as Tony Luna leads on in spiritual things. At Arroyo Hondo, where David Tolardo is holding forth the Word of Life, God is abundantly blessing. This is the mission where Celina Mares worked for a long period. Celina is now giving a good account of her ministry mostly in the Taos area, where so much visitation is to be done.

Plans are being made for a new self-supporting mission in Arroyo Seco, not far from Taos, with the Brethren Youth Fellowship vitally interested in helping to construct the building. Pray for this new project.

NEW WORK IN JOHNSTOWN PROMISING

One of our newer churches is the growing work in the Riverside section of the city of Johnstown, Pa. As the result of the faithful and sacrificial work of a few Brethren laymen, this church became a reality. Meetings have been held in a converted house which has served well for public worship services and Sunday school.

Converted dwelling at Riverside, Pa.

Pastor Ralph Hall and family.

Our recent visit here revealed a fine, growing congregation and a Sunday school pushing toward the 100 mark. Located in an unchurched area of the city there is great opportunity to reach many lost souls with the Gospel of Christ. Bro. Ralph Hall, the pastor, has supported himself for many months and developed this work at the same time. He needs to spend full time at this work as do other young men who are now building Brethren churches on the same basis.

WORK IN JENNERS GROWING

A Sunday school of 102 greeted us in Jenners, Pa., not far from our Johnstown churches. The East Fellowship District Mission Board has done a fine job in developing this church, which now boasts the completed shell of a building, with plans for the completion of the upstairs auditorium. The lower auditorium has been made very attractive by the addition of several coats of paint. Bro. Victor Rogers, the pastor, reports the blessing of God on the work.

NEW CHAPEL AT DRYHILL, KY.

Because of the vision, prayers, and gifts of our Sisterhood of Mary and Martha, we now have a fine little chapel building high up on the hillside at Dryhill, otherwise known as Hell-for-Certain, where Miss Evelyn Fuqua is our missionary.

Miss Fuqua leading the Sunday school in a chorus.

The story of the construction of this building and many of the Lord's people who assisted in making it possible will be fully told when it is properly dedicated.

There were 46 in the Sunday school and a few more in the church service as we fellowshipped with these new friends in the Kentucky hills. Miss Evelyn has done a fine job in reaching many with the Gospel and also in the school work. Her little jeep is busy most of the time carrying her somewhere in the Lord's business.

The interior of the chapel is not yet complete and some work is still necessary on the outside porch. However, it is in full use each week.

FINE MEETING AT CLAYHOLE

As a result of some hard work and real cooperation,

Clayhole Brethren Church and mission home.

our Clayhole Brethren Sunday school placed 4th in Class D in the Christian Life contest. The attendance just about tripled during this contest and great interest was generated all along Troublesome Creek. Brother Landrum, our missionary, was well pleased with the response and says that they are planning another and larger contest this coming year.

We took advantage of our opportunity to meet with the group on Sunday evening when about 100 saw our home mission pictures.

Physical expansion of our church to provide Sunday school rooms is badly needed here. Pray that the Lord will enable us in this.

Clayhole missionary family—Rev. and Mrs. Sewell Landrum, Peggy, Lois Kay, and Ruth Marie.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY AT PARKERSBURG, W. VA.

Here is a great and challenging new home mission field which is being entered by the council in close cooperation with the East Fellowship District Mission Board. An enthusiastic group of people, under the leadership of Bro. Lester Smitley, is anxious to find a location for a church building and also to have their own house of worship. Meeting in the community building has its serious problems and is far removed from the new community where we hope to locate our new church. The Lord has blessed in spite of the many handicaps. Souls have been saved and added to the church. In our recent survey of the city from both the air and the ground we found some fine prospective locations for a church. Our needs here are similar to those elsewhere—funds for the purchase of property and construction of a new building and also for the full-time support of the pastor, who now works for Sears Roebuck in the television maintenance department. We need your prayers above all else for the development of this promising field.

Parkersburg, W. Va., group.

Rev. Lester Smitley and family, Parkersburg, W. Va.

All rights Reserved

C. S. Zimmerman

THE BOOK OF PHILIPPIANS

I. The Purpose.

- A. To reveal the mind of Christ.
- B. To reveal the mind of the saints who are in Christ Jesus.

II. The Key Words.

- A. Mind (1:27; 2:2, 2, 3, 5, 20; 3:15, 16; 4:2, 7, 10).
- B. Joy (1:4, 25; 2:2, 17, 18; 4:1).
- C. Rejoice (1:18, 18, 26; 2:16, 17, 18, 28; 3:1, 3; 4:4, 4, 10).

III. The Key Verses.

- A. 2:5—"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."
  1. Its exposition (2:6-8; cf. Heb. 12:2-3).
  - B. 1:21—"For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."
    1. Its explanation (Rom. 9:3).

IV. The Key Outline. (Dr. C. I. Scofield's is also very good.)

- A. Life in Christ—a possession (1:1-26).
- B. Unity in Christ—an encouragement (1:27-2:30).
- C. Joy in Christ—a concentration (3).
- D. Faithfulness in Christ—an exhortation (4).

V. The Key Thoughts for the Day.

- A. 4:4—"Rejoice in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice."

1. This is rule No. 1.
- B. 4:5-6—"Let your moderation [forbearance] be known unto all men . . . In nothing be anxious; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God."

4:8—"Think on these things."

1. These are rules 2, 3, and 4.
- C. "The measure of the church's authority is the measure of her conformity to the mind of Christ." "The mind of Christ is the only thing that makes us truly royal." "Let the church of God be mastered by love, filled with singing and with joy, perpetually serving, and she rises to a throne of power and authority in this, and in every age."

- D. "The supreme thing is that we should be wholly, absolutely mastered by Christ, that we should be captives of the Lord. That is the ideal."

CLAYHOLE BRETHREN WIN CONTEST

By Rev. Sewell S. Landrum, Pastor

There was plenty of excitement on Troublesome Creek as October 5 ushered in the Christian Life Sunday School Contest. From Buckhorn to Lost Creek, Ky., enthusiasm, coupled with a determination to win this contest, ran high. The Clayhole Brethren Church, a small home mission church, located in Breathitt County, Ky., was the center for all this activity in an all-out effort to reach the people of the area for Christ. Careful and prayerful planning had gone into the preparation for this contest over several months preceding it and now the actual moment had come to launch out and see the completion of these plans.

Pastor Landrum

The aim was summed up in a slogan chosen for the contest, "Clayhole for Christ." The burden for souls rested heavily upon the hearts of the small band of workers as they gathered on a hot summer evening to make their first plans. It was determined from the outset that this Sunday school contest was not to be an average contest but an all-out movement under God, whereby the entire community would be aroused and stirred for Christ through the work of the Sunday school.

The very simplicity of life in the community made this task difficult. There were no factories or other business places to visit for help in increasing attendance. In fact, there was only a school, a church, a few stores and homes. Thus it was essential that a thorough job had to be done with what was available.

The theme song for the contest, "Win Them One by One," to the tune of "Revive Us Again," was the keynote. With this challenge we went out witnessing for Christ and succeeded in touching many of the mountain people, even those living in the narrow valleys along Troublesome Creek and its small tributaries. Visitation here was very difficult and travel often was only by jeep or on foot, since there was not a single telephone in the community. The work had to be done as it was by the very first Christians in the early New Testament church.

Practically every home in the area was contacted through our visitation program. This caused sort of a chain reaction to set in, with folks who were invited in turn inviting others as the enthusiasm developed. This invitation program linked with the 14-vehicle parade from Buckhorn to the county seat on Saturday, October 4, all the while using a strong public-address system, made the community very much alive to the reality of the Brethren Sunday school. Adding to this the fact that a 2-weeks revival meeting came to a conclusion on October 5, the first day of the contest, there were no doubts that the Clayhole people were really thinking about spiritual things. Decisions for Christ in these 2 weeks of meetings helped to whet the spiritual appetites of the people and to give them a greater love for souls.

The schools in the area cooperated in every possible way in making the contest a success. The Breathitt County High School and the Caney Consolidated School, with hundreds of pupils and many teachers, gave us free access and helped by stressing announcements. The first Sunday of the contest was designated "Teachers Day." Direct mail was sent to every teacher in the county. As a result for that first Sunday, the principal of Breathitt High School, with 600 students enrolled, was present together with the principals of 4 consolidated grade schools and 9 other public school teachers, along with many of their pupils.

The stores of the community were very cooperative in advertising the contest. Two merchants agreed to

(Continued on Page 188)

Prayer Changes Things

By Frank Poland, Assistant to the Secretary

This title is a very familiar motto and we see it in many places. It is before me every hour spent in the office, but sometimes I wonder to how many people it is only a motto. In other words, they have never experienced the change prayer can make in their lives and in their work.

In the work of home missions we witness these changes, we experience these changes, and we hear about these changes taking place daily in our home mission churches. This is true because of your prayers and we beseech you to continue steadfast. Did you ever pray about something and, because you could not actually see any change, you just wondered if it was answered? You really were not doubting God but you were just anxious. I have had this feeling at times and I have taken the Prayer Pointer page of the Brethren Missionary Herald to check the previous home mission requests that were answered. It will thrill your soul to observe the changes brought about by prayer. Try it sometime, for it is encouraging.

Last September, at the outset of the home mission offering period, a page was devoted to urgent prayer requests and I wonder if you have followed the results or changes that have taken place since that time. To bring you up to date, here are a few of the requests followed by the changes.

"A completed upper auditorium needed at Alexandria, Va."—dedication is planned for March 29. "A new church building needed at Denver, Colo."—ground had not been broken at the time, but a picture of the church appeared in last month's Herald. "A new chapel needed at Hell-for-Certain, Ky."—it was not started at the time, but a picture of it appears on the cover of this issue. "A full-time pastor needed at Seattle, Wash."—Rev. Thomas Hammers has been on the field 2 months. "The part-time pastor at Findlay, Ohio, needed to become full-time"—Rev. Forest Lance became full-time pastor on January 1. The other requests at that time are being fulfilled and you will be able to check them off month by month as you read about them. Yes, prayer changes things, and we praise God it's true.

SOUL RECLAIMED AFTER 35 YEARS OF STRAYING

By Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum, Cedar Rapids, Iowa

Nine months ago the pastor's phone rang and the lady on the other end of the line said: "This is Mrs. ——. I have never been in your church; you do not know me; I have never heard you preach; but I wonder if I could make an appointment to talk with you in your church office." Assuring her that I would gladly call on her in her home, if this would assist her in any way, she readily agreed, and the appointment was made.

Upon arriving, the pastor was welcomed by a cultured woman and ushered into a very elegantly furnished apartment. On the woman's countenance was an expression of grave concern.

Her story was a sad one. At the age of 9 she had professed faith in the Lord as her Saviour, but during high school years she started on the path of sin. Disobeying her mother and disregarding what she knew was the will of God, she married an unbeliever.

The next 20 years of her life told like a mad dream of wanton pleasure, resulting in sin and sorrow. A divorce ensued; she remarried. The next 10 years she spent reveling in the heights of materialism. But now, completely disarmed, her heart's cry was, "Can God forgive?" "For 30 years," she sobbed, "the Spirit of God has harassed me. I was compelled to attend true gospel services. But I was willful and stubborn to have my own way."

According to her testimony, the Lord permitted weakness of health, and she began to consider the appeal of the Holy Spirit to take inventory. Inventory revealed, "Weighed and found wanting."

The film, "Mr. Texas," was shown in Cedar Rapids, and the pastor had been asked at the close of the showing to give the invitation—25 or 30 folk had responded to the invitation that night. Mrs. ——— was present, but she had resisted. Then she telephoned the pastor. She wanted to be sure she spoke with one who believed in the new birth.

After reading together passages of Scripture concerning God's amazing grace and power to forgive sin through Christ, she kneeled and prayed to God, beseeching Him to pardon and cleanse her of 30 years of the sin of disobedience and rebellion. The next Lord's Day she publicly reaffirmed her faith in Christ in the Grace Brethren Church of Cedar Rapids.

Last week she departed from this life, the victim of cancer of the liver. The last 9 months of her life were given to witnessing about Christ to her relatives. In her sickroom she was a blessing to all who visited with her. But "God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Although she knew the Lord had forgiven and cleansed her wickedness, she all but feared standing in the presence of her Lord and Saviour so empty-handed!

HAVE YOU SEEN "THE FORGOTTEN NAVAHO"?

It has been shown in churches, schools, colleges, and civic organizations across the U. S. A. since its debut in September 1952.

In this new 30-minute sound color film you will see hundreds of scenes like these shown here depicting the life of the Navaho Indian.

The film is authoritative—fully documented—true to life and custom—in thrilling colors.

Produced by and available from—

THE BRETHERN HOME MISSIONS COUNCIL, INC.

WINONA LAKE, INDIANA

Write for your booking today.

(Continued From Page 186)

ARTESIA, CALIF. (Adam Rager, pastor)—

We had a real time of spiritual blessing with the Humberds from February 8 to 13. On the last night, with 44 present, there were 2 decisions. We praise the Lord for His goodness to us and for the definite answers to prayer. An increasing number of high-school-age young people are showing an interest in the work here and a general revival spirit is being evidenced.

TAOS, N. MEX. (Sam Horney, missionary)—

We had 27 present at Arroyo Seco last Sunday for the services. This is the largest number in attendance we have ever seen. The work is very encouraging and we will try to get you some pictures soon. (Editor's note—This is the place the national BYF is planning to furnish funds for building a chapel as a home mission project. The above note should be of interest to all BYF organizations and a challenge to the need of the chapel.)

CLEVELAND, OHIO (Russell M. Ward, pastor)—

Tomorrow afternoon we are holding our first Bible club in cooperation with the Christian Business Men's Committee, who sponsor child evangelism in this area. We have experts to start us off and good help to continue it, plus a tremendous amount of enthusiasm both among the leaders and the children contacted in the area around the church. In the near future we are beginning a boys club work and we will be sending you reports on these activities later. Next Sunday, March 8, we plan to have a baptismal service for at least 4 and possibly more.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. (Bruce Button, missionary)—

We praise God for the recent results in our children's meetings. We have seen your prayers answered by 2 girls accepting Christ as their Saviour. One of the girls comes from a Jewish family and the other from a Catholic family. Pray for these girls and the children's work that more may be reached for Him.

PORTLAND, OREG. (Vernon Harris, pastor)—

It certainly was a thrill to see the national WMC project offering check arrive and we do appreciate the fact that they were willing to consider our needs. I always did think the WMC was a good organization; now I am positive of it. The men of the church have finished the lath work and we had more or less figured the WMC project offering would pay for the plastering, which will cost approximately $1,000. On the spiritual side of the ledger, 10 members have been received into our church in the last few weeks, of which 8 were adults.

BEAUMONT, CALIF. (Gene Farrell, pastor)—

We praise God for the good progress that has been put handbills in the bags of groceries and one allowed the handbills to be placed on his counter for people to take freely. In addition, these merchants also invited many to the Sunday school.

The Jackson Times gave prominent front-page coverage 5 out of the 6 weeks of the contest and 1 week gave a good spot on the back page. In the last week's write-up a complete summary was given on the contest. In fact, it was agreed in the area that for many years no one event had received as much and as consistent front-page coverage as this contest had. Announcements were also made over the various church radio programs as well as on the news broadcasts.

It seemed that the whole community was interested in making this project a great success.

During the 6 weeks of the contest the little Clayhole Brethren Sunday School had an average attendance of 345, which meant that the Sunday school attendance was almost tripled.

Winning 4th place in this contest, with over 1,600 American Sunday schools entered, brought the Clayhole church 100 new songbooks, a flannelgraph board with an easel, which totaled in value $139.80.

We praise God for giving us this victory and we trust that its blessing will continue through the months.

made toward the completion of our church. We are ready to finish the floor, install the light fixtures, lay the carpet, and install the seats when they arrive. Our primary objective is to occupy the lower auditorium and then finish many of the things at a later date as we have the time. God is continuing to keep us out of debt with timely miracles of supply, which keep the people rejoicing in His great faithfulness. The whole community is watching, too, believe you me, and all thanks to Him.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. MEX. (Clarence Gutierrez, missionary)—

We had another spiritual victory in our church last night when a young couple accepted Christ as Saviour for the first time. Some of the men of the church are without work, but the offerings continue to increase some and the attendance is good. Pray for the Lord's leading in the work and in our lives as we serve Him.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA (Arnold R. Kriegbaum, pastor)—

About 2 years ago a young man attended our services with his lady friend. His general attitude was of indifference and unconcern. About a year ago the couple married, but attended church services only occasionally. However, by prayer and calling, their interest was maintained, and 2 weeks ago, after much personal work, this young man and his wife were led of the Holy Spirit to take their stand and publicly confess Christ. This was the young man's first confession, and a reaffirmation for the young wife. We praise God for this victory. They are to be baptized within the next few weeks and are to enter our church fellowship as members.

ISRAEL CALLS!

IN TIMES OF SORROW

By Isobel Fraser

"It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy statutes" (Psa. 119:71). This we pray will be the testimony of a young Jewess who recently confessed Christ as her Messiah and Saviour. At the present time her physical affliction is too close for her to see any blessing in it.

This is how the Lord worked in her life. My first contact with Helen was made about a year and a half ago in my regular door-to-door calling. There are always those to whom one feels particularly drawn and with whom further contacts can easily be made. Helen was one of these. She had not been well for a number of years and just recently her physical problems had been added to when she fell while attempting to move a davenport. In her desperation she has tried numerous doctors and even psychologists and psychoanalysts, but all to no avail. Each time I called, opportunity was given to point her to the Lord, explaining that He could help her if she would only put her trust in Him. As she felt dizzy continually, she seldom accepted any literature or tracts.

Several times she spoke to me of healing meetings about which she had read, but explaining the un-Scriptural stand of these, I would point out to her God's method from James 5:13-16. This also gave opportunity to explain her need for salvation and God's gift of salvation through her Messiah, Jesus Christ. She is not a religious Jewess and so many of the things, even from the Old Testament, about which I talked to her were strange and needed to be explained.

Then one day last fall she asked for literature to read. This was a wonderful answer to prayer and a New Testament was joyfully given to her. She knew about our Thursday evening discussion meetings and gave me another thrill by asking to attend. Attending faithfully for about a month, she accepted a Bible and entered quite freely into the discussions that we had after Brother Button brought the evening message. One Thursday night she called to say that she would be unable to attend. She sounded so despondent that I decided to go and talk with her.

That evening we spoke about the things of God for almost 3 hours. She admitted that she was a sinner and received the Scriptures that were presented to her. That evening she asked Christ to save her and we had prayer together. I do not doubt her confession, but she needs to yield herself completely to the Lord and permit Him to work out His will in her life. As the Buttons and I have talked with her we are convinced that her main problem is her mental attitude toward her illness. We covet your prayers for her that the Lord will give her victory and increase her faith in Him. Her healing would be a wonderful testimony to her husband and to other members of her family. Helen's husband has in no way hindered her interest in Christ, and other members of the family have expressed appreciation of our interest in her. "God setteth the solitary in families" (Psa 68:6). I believe that she is God's solitary in this family to be used to reach the others for Christ.

Several times I have told you about Mrs. S. Whenever I call in her home it is no problem to have a discussion on the Bible. In fact, one question leads to another. Even her 2 boys (7 and 10 years old) are allowed to ask me questions about God. Sometime ago she had told me that her mother-in-law had cancer and was not expected to live. At the time I asked her if she would like to have a pastor or someone call on her, but she answered in the negative. Just recently I called again in her home, and although she was busy, she took a few minutes out to talk with me. When asked about her mother-in-law, she explained that she was very low and that anytime they expected to hear of her death. Then she asked, "Why? Why does God permit such suffering?" This gave another opportunity to explain about sin and its consequences. Also, I explained, it often took affliction to turn men and women to God, and perhaps in His mercy God was giving her an opportunity to prepare to meet Him. I told her that I would like to call on her mother-in-law if she did not mind. She gave me permission. This was on Thursday afternoon and my plans were to go to see her on Friday. I had been home not more than a couple of hours when Mrs. S. called and said that I didn't need to go to the hospital—her mother-in-law had died just about 10 minutes before. My heart was sick!

The funeral was to be Sunday at 12 o'clock, and so I stayed with her 2 boys. (I went to church by TV, but it is no substitute for the house of God.) As Mrs. S. left she said to her sons, "If you have any questions about God, ask Isobel." They had them. I answered questions on the resurrection, if the Israelites really heard God, and can God be seen. I also gave them a flannel-graph lesson on Joseph in Egypt. Remember this family at the throne of grace.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 158, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Dedicatory services for the new building of the Alexandria, Va., church, pastored by Rev. Kenneth Teague, are scheduled for the morning of March 29, with Rev. Luther L. Grubb, secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council, as speaker.

The Buena Vista, Va., church, pastored by Rev. Galen M. Lingenfelter has scheduled special meetings for March 22-April 5. Rev. Luther L. Grubb will be the evangelist and Rev. and Mrs. Victor Meyers, missionaries under appointment for Argentina, will be in charge of the music.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rice, of the Canton, Ohio, church, died during the first week of March.

Rev. R. I. Humberd conducted a Bible conference at the Spokane, Wash., church in January, his 4th there in 25 years. During February he spoke in Los Angeles, Calif., at the First Church of the Brethren, the Eagle Rock Baptist Church, the American Prophetic League, the Los Angeles Baptist Theological Seminary, and the Bible Institute of Los Angeles. Following these engagements he spoke at the Arizona Bible Institute, Phoenix, Ariz.; at the Dallas Theological Seminary and the Bible Institute, both of Dallas, Tex.; and at the Brookes Bible Institute of St. Louis, Mo., of which Dr. Elias White is dean.

The South Pasadena, Calif., church, of which Dr. Charles H. Ashman is interim pastor, has voted to buy a parsonage and to carpet the entire auditorium of the church building.

Eddie Lash, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, won the local American Legion essay contest.

The Conemaugh, Pa., Pike church, of which Rev. Clair Gartland is pastor, had groundbreaking services March 15 for the beginning of a new building project. This congregation has outgrown its present facilities.

Be sure to see elsewhere in this Herald the announcement concerning the Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

The Ankenytown, Ohio, church, of which Rev. Wesley Haller is pastor, held special meetings March 9-13 under the leadership of Rev. Bernard Schneider, of Mansfield, Ohio.

Ten people worked a full day, March 4, in cleaning and renovating the building (former dwelling house) used by the Johnstown, Pa., Riverside church, of which Rev. Ralph C. Hall is pastor.

Chaplain Ernest F. Pine was transferred to Headquarters Command, Bolling Air Force Base, Washington 25, D. C.

The Iowa District WMC plans to hold its next rally April 9 at the Pleasant Grove church at North English.

Elmer Brothers, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, died in the last week of February.

Mrs. Etta L. Rager, of the Conemaugh, Pa., church, died the last week of January.

Speakers at the Bellflower, Calif., church March 1 were Rev. Evan Adams, Counselor Post, N. Mex., and Rev. Bob Munro, of Canada. Both Pastor and Mrs. George M. Richardson have been ill.

Bro. Dick Messner, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, has been approved by the district ministerial examining board for licensure.

The Bell, Calif., church, pastored by Rev. Harry A. Sturz, was recently given a bus by a group of people in Pasadena.

The California District SMM held a rally March 1 at the Los Angeles Second church.

Rev. Evan Adams, of Counselor Post, N. Mex., spoke at the Long Beach, Calif., Second church on March 1.

The Paramount, Calif., church, pastored by Rev. John W. Maves, had 113 people present in Sunday

Additions to Membership

Bell, Calif. ....	2
Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	8
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) ....	4
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	5
Washington, D. C. ....	12

Public Confessions

Canton, Ohio ....	2
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	3
Spokane, Wash. ....	2
Washington, D. C. ....	29

Dedication of Babies

Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) ....	2
---------------------------	---

school February 22. Dr. Charles W. Mayes preached for his son in the evening service that day.

Rev. and Mrs. Sheldon Snyder, of the Yellow Creek, Pa., church, are vacationing and visiting 2 of their children in Florida. Rev. Raymond Yeater preached for him at Yellow Creek on March 15, and Bro. Samuel Steinberger and Bro. Herbert Christopher are scheduled to speak March 22, and Bro. Robert Walter March 29.

The Buena Vista, Va., church held a brief conference, March 11-15, on evangelizing through the Sunday school, with Rev. James Dixon, of Washington, D. C., as speaker. The climax was on March 15 when the new Sunday school building was dedicated to the Lord.

Little Anne Goodman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Marvin Goodman, missionaries to Africa, underwent surgery on her affected leg March 5 at La Verne, Calif., according to a report received in the Herald office. No further particulars are available at this time.

Mrs. Esta (Elsie) Rager, a charter member of the La Verne, Calif., church when it was founded in 1900, died at La Verne the first week of March.

Mr. Ben Sickel, father of the late Dr. Clarence Sickel, and for many years a member of the La Verne, Calif., church, died March 7. Brother Sickel was 91 years old May 6, 1952, and he and Mrs. Sickel, who survives him, were married more than 65 years ago.

The March issue of the Family Circle, a small magazine published for chain food stores, has a 10-page informative article on Taos, N. Mex.

"AND THE TRUE LIGHT ALREADY SHINETH"

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Chairman of Book Club Review Committee

"The darkness is passing away, and the true light already shineth" (I John 2:8 ASV). There are no more welcome words than these. In these words the Apostle John is thinking of that darkness which originated at the beginning when the mystery of iniquity started on its long tramp across the lives of men and civilization. But even then the light was shining, and has continued to shine, growing ever brighter with the passing of the centuries.

It was that light that burst into broad noon at the tomb when darkness had done its worst to shroud the entire world in gloom at the cross of Calvary. With the resurrection of Christ the shining light reached the zenith of the heavens and it was high noon. During these 1,900 years and more since that day, when it seems that darkness is again overtaking the world, it is only the passing of the clouds and the mists and the shadows from the scenes of earth's night to the brighter shining of Him who is THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD.

At this springtide, when the memories of Christ's victory over death, hell, and the grave are lingering in our minds, it is time for God's people to take new courage. The light is shining. A passing shadow may have come between us and the light. But the true light is shining, and shortly the Sun of Righteousness will rise and all the shadows shall flee away.

What would be better than to center our attention upon some good book that would chart one through the Word of God and show how the light has come to the dawn of world redemption.

Therefore the first-choice book for April is "The Dawn of World Redemption," by Erich Sauer. This book will be sent to members of the book club if they do not notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company to the contrary by April 1. In the event that members desire the second-choice book, or some other book listed previously in these columns, as a substitute, they should notify the company of this desire before April 1.

The second-choice book is "Beggar's King," by Howard C. Emmons.

As a premium for joining the book club, your choice of the following is offered: "Stranger Than Fiction," by Florence Gribble; "The Biography of Robert Murray McCheyne," by Andrew Bonar; or "Prayer: Asking and Receiving," by John R. Rice.

By ordering 1 of the 2 books listed for the month of April you become a member of the club and are entitled to 1 of the premium books.

During the April-July period, Dr. R. A. Torrey's book, "How to Obtain Fullness of Power," will be given to members of the club who have earned their dividend book.

THE DAWN OF WORLD REDEMPTION

By Erich Sauer

God's people need to study the theology of the Bible. Perhaps nothing is more stimulating, and certainly nothing is more profitable. Therein the great questions of the human heart are answered, not out of the ponderous pronouncements of men, but from the simple statements of the Word of God.

Books that are preeminently Biblical in their theological system are especially helpful in this study, and such is the book at hand. Though this work has been many years in preparation, it has only recently become available by translation into English. It traces the revelation of God's great plan of salvation through the Old Testament.

In a short space of 200 pages, the author systematizes in remarkable fashion the movement of progressive revelation of salvation throughout the entire Old Testament period, and prepares the reader for the second volume covering the New Testament. In concise and gripping language the larger lines of history and revelation are set forth.

Here is a volume that will be extremely helpful to laymen. They will ponder many an hour over a few pages and find spiritual refreshment as well as intellectual profit. Certainly this volume, together with its companion, should be in every minister's library. The story is fascinating, moving, convincing, and powerful. Price of the book is $3.—Herman A. Hoyt.

BEGGAR'S KING

By Howard C. Emmons

The setting of this historical novel is Palestine in the days of the earthly ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Around the life of Leah, the beggar, is woven a story of intrigue, mystery, hatred, love, and romance. The problems, the defeats, the activities, and the hopes of the people of that generation are embodied in the crippled body and the dimmed mind of the beggar of the Jerusalem streets.

Most perplexing of all to this girl were the reports of the miracles and the messages of the Nazarene, the only person in that day who would be able to deliver the Jews from the yoke of Rome. At times Leah wanted Him as her king, and at other times she hated Him.

Who was this girl, and why did she hate Rachel with such strong animosity? Why couldn't Jonas at least treat her as a woman? Indeed, here is a mystery that the reader will not discover until he has read the book.

We believe this book will hold the attention of the reader until the last page has been reached, and a resolve or two will have been made by then.

Parents, here is a book that is far better reading than most books being read by our young people. We suggest you get a copy and pass it around freely among the younger readers, that is, after you have read it. The price is $2.50 a copy.—Conard Sandy.

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

V. THE CRY OF EXHAUSTION.

"Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst" (John 19:28).

As our Lord hung upon the cross, His mind went throughout the entire Old Testament, and not until every jot and tittle had been fulfilled did He dismiss His spirit.

Who killed Christ? The Jews. On Pentecost Peter, talking to the Jews, said, "Ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain" Him (Acts 2:23).

Who killed Christ? The gentiles, for against Jesus "the Gentiles . . . were gathered together" (Acts 4:27).

Who killed Christ? "I lay down my life . . . no man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself" (John 10:17-18).

And how fortunate for us that man could not take His life from Him. True, in all intent and purpose, both the Jews and gentiles killed Him and were guilty, but if men had killed Him, He might have died a few minutes before some Scripture had been fulfilled and thus our salvation would not have been complete. But our Lord kept His own hand upon the throttle that controlled His life, and no man could hasten His death. Men even tried to kill Him during the days of His ministry, but were not able to do so because His "hour was not yet come" (John 7:30).

Fulfillment Halted

One Scripture, uttered a thousand years before, was in process of fulfillment 6 hours before its time, so He halted it.

When they crucified Him, they offered Him "vinegar to drink mingled with gall" (Matt. 27:34). But this was a stupefying drink and would cloud His mind, and His mind must be clear as He considers the fulfillment of Scripture, so He refused to drink.

It, however, was prophesied, "They gave me also gall for my meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink" (Psa. 69:21). But this was to be in "my thirst," and the terrible thirst of crucifixion had not yet come upon Him. He must suffer until "my strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws; and thou hast brought me into the dust of death" (Psa. 22:15). Thus just before He died, this Scripture was fulfilled in its time (Matt. 27:48).

Guarding Fulfillment

Thus, as He hung upon the cross, His mind went throughout the entire Old Testament, guarding the fulfillment of every tiny word, and bringing forth every prophecy in its time.

Four thousand years had passed since that first prophecy had been uttered: The seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head (Gen. 3:15). Other prophecies had been written; countless details had been added. Thus let us use our imagination as to what might be going on in the mind of our Lord as He brought these Scriptures before His mind in detail, and checked them off in fulfillment.

"He was numbered with the transgressors" (Isa. 53:12). Yes, this is fulfilled, for here I hang between 2 thieves.

He "made intercession for the transgressors." Yes, I called upon the Father to forgive them.

"They pierced my hands and my feet" (Psa. 22:16). Here I hang, spiked to a Roman cross. That Scripture has been fulfilled.

Bodily Suffering

"All my bones are out of joint" (Psa. 22:14). Yes, I can check this Scripture off too, for as I hang with the weight of my body pulling down on the spikes in my hands, the tendons have stretched and let my bones slip out of joint.

"I am poured out like water" (Psa. 22:14). Yes, because of my intense suffering, the cold sweat is flowing out of every pore of my body.

"All they that see me laugh me to scorn" (Psa. 22:7). Yes, the chief priests and scribes are mocking me, and "wagging their heads" as they revile me (Mark 15:29-31).

Garments Divided

"They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture" (Psa. 22:18). Yes, the soldiers placed my sandals over there; an undergarment over here—they made 4 parts (John 19:23).

"Oh," cried a soldier carelessly, "too many clothes. What will we do with the vesture?"

"Tear it into 4 parts, and give each a part," answered another.

"Oh, no," cries the first; "it is without seam, woven throughout."

"Pitch up a coin," cried a third. "I'll take heads." And so they cast lots upon my vesture. That has been fulfilled.

"My heart is like wax; it is melted in the midst of my bowels" (Psa. 22:14). Everything is now ready for this! Soon I will die! My heart will break and the blood will seep out and gather in a pocket in my bowels. The soldiers will see a little bulge in my side, and one of them will thrust in his spear, and blood and water will flow out, and another Scripture will be fulfilled, "They shall look upon him whom they pierced" (John 19:37).

"My strength is dried up like a potsherd; and my tongue cleaveth to my jaws" (Psa. 22:15). All things are now "accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled," and it is time now for this one—"I thirst."

Harrah, Washington

We praise the Lord for the blessings we enjoyed with Rev. Robert Ashman as our evangelist in special meetings February 1-15. He is indeed a true yoke-fellow, and the spirit of cooperation on the part of all the organizations of the church was most encouraging, as the Sky Pilot boys, the Sisterhood girls, the laymen, the Women's Missionary Council, and the Bible school all shared in the evening services. We had a volunteer choir at each service under Brother Ashman's direction and many special musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental.

It was our privilege to have an assembly in the Harrah grade school with all their classes, 1st through 8th grades, for a 45-minute presentation of the Gospel. The Happy Hour groups averaged 85 as Brother Ashman presented the plan of salvation in a unique manner to the boys and girls, and 13 of them accepted Jesus Christ as Saviour. The evangelist also spoke over radio station KIMA on the Gospel Truth program the 3 Sundays he was with us.

The spirit and attendance increased steadily during the meetings and our people were strengthened by the Word of God. Four people came forward to unite with the church, and a high school girl reaffirmed her faith in Christ. Since the meetings we have baptized 5 and have received 7 into the membership of the church.—Jesse Hall, pastor.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (First)

We praise the Lord for His faithfulness to us in our work here.

Mrs. Pearl Claypool and Mr. Omer Shankle have perfect attendance records in our Sunday school for the past 8 years, and Mr. Ralph Hooks and Mr. Bert Jordan for 7 years. These 4, with 31 others, had perfect attendance records during 1952—they did not miss a Sunday.

The young married people's class, which I teach, had 26 people with perfect attendance records during February, and 19 missed only 1 Sunday. Five years ago we did unusually well to have 15 people present in this class. This class is now building a nursery department for our church.

Our church extends double sympathy to Bro. J. B. Wingard in the death of his wife and the loss of his home by fire 1 week later.

We are looking forward to a 2-day Bible conference with Dr. Herman A. Hoyt as the speaker April 18-19.—Gordon W. Bracker, pastor.

La Crescenta, California

The Mountain Brethren Church of La Crescenta held a covered-dish supper February 20, sponsored by the Sunday school department. A special invitation was given to the fathers and mothers who haven't become acquainted with our church, but who send their children to our Sunday school. Approximately 50 people attended.—Virginia Rowe, reporter.

San Bernardino, California

On March 1 we witnessed one first-time decision to accept Christ as Saviour by a former Roman Catholic woman, and 2 rededications. This day 5 people were baptized and received into the membership of the church, bringing our total membership to 105.

On 9 of the last 10 Sundays, beginning with the last Sunday in 1952, we have had public decisions for Christ. There were 167 people in Sunday school, a new record for us, March 1, with 156 present the Sun-

RSV BOOKLET AVAILABLE SOON

The 10 articles, written by members of the Grace Theological Seminary faculty, which appeared in the February 28 issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald, are being printed in a 36-page booklet and will be available soon.

As announced in this paper last week, there are no more copies of the February 28 issue of the Herald available. More than 4,000 extra copies were sold in 10 days. Because of the continuing and increasing demand, these articles are now being printed in an attractive pamphlet, on fine quality paper with a beautiful cover.

These booklets will sell at the very low price of 15c a copy, $1 for 8, or $10 for 100 copies.

Since these booklets are being published by the seminary they will also be sold by the school. Place your orders direct to Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.

day before. The morning worship service March 1 was attended by 108 people.

The Lord is blessing "Your Evening Devotions," a radio program sponsored and produced by our church each Sunday evening.—Lyle W. Marvin, pastor.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Conemaugh, Pa..	March 8-22.....	Stanley Hauser...	Stanley Hauser.
Spokane, Wash...	March 8-22.....	William Schaffer..	Robert Ashman.
Clay City, Ind...	March 9-22.....	Ralph Burns.....	William Steffler.
Uniontown, Pa...	March 9-22.....	Clyde Landrum...	Russell Weber.
Allentown, Pa...	March 10-22....	William Gray....	Miles Taber.
Osceola, Ind....	March 15-29....	Ward Miller.....	Walter Lepp.
Norwalk, Ohio...	March 20-22....	.....	Herman Hoyt.
Buena Vista, Va..	March 22-Apr. 5.	Galen Lingenfelter	Luther Grubb.
Akron, Ohio....	March 29-Apr. 5.	Harold Etling....	Conard Sandy.
Cedar Rapids,
Iowa.....	March 29-Apr. 5.	Arnold Kr'gbaum.	Herman Hoyt.
Dayton, Ohio (N.
Riverdale) ....	March 29-Apr. 19	Clyde Balyo.....	Michael Guido.
Ramona, Calif...	March 29-Apr. 3.	Grant McDonald..	Dr. C. A. Ashman.
Fort Wayne, Ind..	March 30-Apr. 2.	James Hammer...	John Whitcomb.

Brethren YOUTH

By Ralph Colburn

ANOTHER CHURCH ADOPTS "COFFEE HOUR"

As far as we know, it was started in the Brethren church in Washington, D. C., by Pastor James Dixon—this "Coffee Hour" idea. But Richard Jackson, Jr., of New Troy, heard about it, and now that church is enjoying it too. It's a plan for the young married people of a church and, briefly, here's how it works. After church on Sunday nights the young married people meet in the parsonage, or another home, drink coffee and eat coffee cake or something, and discuss, under the leadership of the pastor, troubling questions concerning the Word of God and their Christian experience. It has already proved to be a tremendous boost to the groups in these 2 churches, offering real fellowship and practical spiritual help in an informal way. Maybe your church ought to try it too!

MAKE JESUS YOUR CHOICE

Jesus is the One I choose,
He is the best, you see!
For many, many years ago
He died on Calvary.

I'd like to tell this sin-filled world
What's in my heart today:
That Jesus is the only One
Who can make life bright and gay.

Dear friend, and heartsick sinner,
Make Jesus your choice, I pray!
Give Him your heart, and mind, and soul,
And live for Him day by day.

The above poem was written by Frank H. Gardner, Jr., a 15-year-old member of our church in Alexandria, Va. Frank is also a district officer of Brethren Boys Clubs and active in every phase of his church and district youth work. We like to see our young people using all their talents for the Lord, and wanted to share this literary work of Frank's with you all.

NEW TROY CHURCH USES YOUTH

The Sunday school superintendent, the organist, and the recording secretary of our church in New Troy, Mich., pastored by Richard Jackson, Jr., are all young people in their teens. This church is doing everything it can to keep its youth busy in the work of the Lord.

On a recent Sunday evening, the young people were in complete charge of the service and presented music from a youth choir, quartet, and duet. Carson Gancer presided, and Dean Straub officiated at the piano. Youth Director Ralph Colburn was the speaker. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor are the new sponsors of the BYF group there.

One reason why there are so few good talkers in public is that there are so few good thinkers in private.
—Time.

PRIEST LEAVES ROMAN CHURCH

Dr. Andres M. Mateo, one of Spain's most outstanding Roman Catholic leaders, recently severed his relationship with Romanism.

A native of Spain, Dr. Mateo received his training for the priesthood in the schools of the Jesuit Order, a very strict and highly regarded system within the Roman Catholic Church. He was twice honored by the Pope and was once offered a bishopric. He is the author of many articles and books.

In an article, "From My Sycamore Tree," in the Converted Catholic Magazine, he said his experience was like that of Zaccheus. He claims he had no freedom to climb the "sycamore" while he was under the Roman hierarchy, but that now he is free to come to Christ and to learn of Him.

MISSION ISSUES NEW FILM

The Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago has produced another documented film, "The Street." Many readers will remember the mission's former film, "Out of the Night."

"The Street" is based on an actual case history—the dramatic story of a young alcoholic "who turns to God out of the depths of spiritual and physical need."

According to Harry Saulnier, mission superintendent, the film had its premiere showing at the Moody Memorial Church of Chicago March 13 and will be ready for sales or rentals beginning August 1. It is a 35-minute color motion picture.

YFC SEEKS NEW LEADERS

Youth for Christ International recently announced a contest to encourage young men to enter the ministry of the Gospel, either as preachers or as song leaders.

President Robert A. Cook said it is his desire to discover outstanding young preachers and song leaders throughout the nation and to encourage them in further preparation for the work of the Lord.

The contest is open to boys in the teens. Their sermons, if entering the preaching phase of the contest, must be of the entrant's own choice and development.

Elimination contests are to be conducted in local rallies, with the winners competing in 14 regional contests. The winner in each region will receive an expense-free week at the 9th annual convention of YFC, slated for Winona Lake June 28-July 12.

DEDICATE CHAPLAIN MEMORIAL

According to a recent news report, the Chaplains Memorial Foundation was set up and dedicated in National Memorial Park, Washington, D. C., February 1 in honor of the 10th anniversary of the death of 4 chaplains in the sinking of a troop transport in World War II.

Mrs. Theresa Goode, widow of Rabbi Alexander Goode, one of the men to die, unveiled the memorial plaque bearing these words:

"The extraordinary heroism and devotion of these four men of God, a priest, a rabbi, and two ministers, who gave their life jackets to soldiers on the torpedoed transport Dorchester on February 3, 1943, and went down with their ship, is here memorialized as an unwavering beacon of supreme courage and faith.

"There is no death! The stars go down and rise on another shore. Anon. February 1953."

IFCA GOES TO TERRE HAUTE

The 24th national convention of the Independent Fundamental Churches of America is being planned for the Terre Haute, Ind., Gospel Center May 2-7.

I WAS A SUCCESSFUL FAILURE

By H. R. Newland, Los Angeles, Calif.

(Note: I would like to attest to the fact that the miracle described in this testimony is one of the greatest I have witnessed. It is the type of miracle that is needed in the lives of many of the pastors and laymen throughout the Brethren Church.—Glenn O'Neal, pastor, First Brethren Church of Los Angeles.)<sup>1</sup>

In 1938 I accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Saviour at the First Brethren Church of Long Beach. My wife had accepted Him as her Saviour as a young girl. We attended church and Bible classes together and my joy seemed to be complete, and we grew in faith as we studied the Word.

At that time I had an unsaved man as a business partner. Our study of the Word pointed out in II Corinthians 6:14 that we were not to be unequally yoked together with unbelievers. Shortly afterward we broke this partnership and liquidated the business. Our study of the Word of God also pointed out our responsibilities as stewards of the Lord's material goods and we commenced to tithe our income. Almost from that very moment the promises of God to His obedient children concerning His blessings began to be poured out upon us. In Malachi 3:10 God says: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

In 1940 the Lord opened the way for the purchase of a business in Los Angeles. Upon moving there we united with the First Brethren Church of Los Angeles. From the very beginning the business began to prosper. But while my time was spent in the business less and less time was spent feeding on the Word and praying. As a result Satan hardened my heart and, although the business increased, the joy of my salvation decreased. Everything became important except the important thing. During these years my wife's faith increased and she continued to grow in grace, because she read the Word and prayed and witnessed. Two major operations, one of which nearly took her life, drew her closer to the Lord than ever before. Her delight was in listening to the Word, feasting on it, praying, and association with the children of God. None of these things were desired by me. My time was occupied with the business, and as it continued to prosper, the stonier became my heart. But I was not happy. My wife knew this and prayed that the Lord would somehow bring me to the place of complete surrender.

On October 26, 1952, I was taken to the hospital for an emergency operation on my appendix. Just before entering the operating room I said, "Lord, I am in thy hands to do Thy will." I knew my eternity would be spent with my Saviour if that were His will. On the operating table it was discovered that my appendix had been ruptured for about 24 hours, and peritonitis had set in. For 3 days the line between life and death was a thin one. When the surgeon told my wife of my serious condition, she called a number of her praying friends, who offered much prayer for me. My Saviour answered their prayers and I began to get well.

But something happened! Much greater than the healing of my body—the Lord had taken out my stony heart and replaced it with one of flesh and love. For several days as I lay in bed talking to born-again Christians and listening to God's Word on the radio or reading the Word in His Book, I began to wonder why it was now my delight and joy to listen, read, talk, and witness of the things concerning our matchless Saviour and Lord. As I was dressing, the morning I was to be released from the hospital, I was still thinking on this marvelous change. Suddenly the answer came. A miracle had been performed on my heart. I had known my Saviour, but now I found my Lord. I was so overwhelmed with joy, and have been ever since, that I immediately called my wife to tell her of this new-new birth. The full joy of my salvation was a miracle transplanted in my soul, thank God. It is difficult to express in words the peace and joy that came upon me. My delight and joy now is in reading the Word, praying, and witnessing.

Before leaving the hospital, I prayed that the Lord would help me to show at least one soul his need of the Saviour. The following week will always be the greatest in my life. Through the love planted in my heart for the lost, and the work of the Holy Spirit, we pointed 3 men to Jesus and they accepted Him as their personal Saviour. I shall never cease to praise and thank Him for removing my heart of stone for one of love.

My time, talents, and business have been dedicated to the accomplishment of 2 things: To encourage and comfort the children of God, and to point the unsaved people to Christ.

To any born-again child of God who is not enjoying the fullness of salvation, search your heart and see if you have allowed Satan to harden it by concerning yourself too much with the material things of the world. Our real treasures are in heaven where rust and corruption do not destroy them. Read Hebrews 3:13.

To the person who does not know Jesus as his personal Saviour, listen: God's promises are true and He doesn't lie. His Word in John 3:16-17 says: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." You ask, "What do you mean, 'be saved'?" The moment you receive Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour you become a son of God and are assured of an eternity in heaven. To receive Jesus is an act of believing on your part; you can do nothing to earn it by the good things you do. In the Word in Ephesians 2:8-9 God says: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast." A gift is something you take. God's gift is eternal life through His Son Jesus Christ. Eternal life is yours by simply saying: "Lord, I am a sinner and need the Saviour. I accept your gift of Jesus as my personal Saviour." God then promises you in John 1:12: "But as many as received him [Jesus], to them gave he power [the right] to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name."

Unsaved friend, receive Jesus now as your Saviour and He will forgive you of your sins. He will remember them against you no more forever. Then accept Jesus as your personal Saviour. This step in your life causes rejoicing in heaven, for God's Word in Luke 15:7 says: "I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance."

FRUITS OF LOVE

"Let patience have its perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking in nothing" (Jas. 1:4 ASV).

Let every creature have your love. Love with its fruits of meekness, patience, and humility is all that we can wish for ourselves and our fellow creatures; for this is to live in God, united to Him, both for time and eternity.—William Law.

LUTHERANS OPPOSE ENVOY

A resolution urging President Dwight Eisenhower not to appoint an ambassador to the Vatican was approved by the National Lutheran Council recently.

The council, representing 8 Lutheran bodies in this country, held its 35th annual meeting at Atlantic City in February. During the closing session it adopted a resolution in the form of a letter to the President, which declared in part:

"In common with other American church bodies, we believe that the appointment of a representative to the Vatican violates the principle of the equality of treatment of all churches and of the separation of church and state.

"We express to you our fervent hope that this divisive issue be not again precipitated."

This issue is not dead, dear reader. There are certain parties and organizations in this country that constantly exercise pressure to secure an envoy or ambassador to the Vatican. All freedom-loving Christians ought to pray that this will never happen again.

LIQUOR 2 TO 1 OVER FOOD

Liquor outlets in Prince Georges County, Md., outnumber food stores more than 2 to 1, according to Mrs. Joseph S. Yuill, of Lanham. She claims there are 347 places where liquor is sold legally and only 139 food stores in the county.

State Senator John R. Fletcher said the pressure is great from some people who want the county opened wide to liquor interests and just as great from those people who want stricter regulation of the sale of alcoholics. The only solution to the matter, the senator said, is to work out a compromise.

A compromise, however, does not solve the problem. And the situation existing in Prince Georges County is prevalent in too many parts of this country.

WLST RELEASES SCHEDULE

The Winona Lake School of Theology has announced June 17-July 23 as the dates for its summer session to be held at Winona Lake, Ind. During this time 2 semesters of 15 days each will be conducted.

The Flying Seminar to Palestine and adjacent lands, a course for credit in the school, begins July 25 and ends on September 1. Last year 85 people went on this tour and the same number are expected again this year. The seminar travels in 2 sections in TWA Constellations, with 2 teachers in each section.

The faculty of the Flying Seminar is composed of Dean John A. Huffman; Dr. Merrill C. Tenney, of Wheaton Graduate School; Dr. Ralph Earle, of Nazarene Theological Seminary; and Dr. T. Leonard Lewis, of Boston School of Theology and Missions.

In addition to these men, the following will also teach in the regular sessions at Winona Lake: President Jasper A. Huffman; Dr. Harold B. Kuhn and Dr. Harold C. Mason, both of Asbury Theological Seminary; Dr. Andrew W. Blackwood, of Temple University Divinity School; and Dr. Kenneth S. Kantzer and Dr. Frank J. Neuberg, both of Wheaton Graduate School.

Courses are being offered in Bible doctrine, exposition, ethics, philosophy, apologetics, administration, and preaching methods.

Any reader interested in more information about this school should write direct to the Winona Lake School of Theology, Winona Lake, Ind.

ATS RELEASES FOUR TRACTS

The American Tract Society, with headquarters in New York City, released 4 new titles February 26. The goal of this society is to publish 1,000,000 tracts a month during 1953.

"Useless Kinds of Religion," by Dr. J. C. Ryle, shows that any religion without Christ Jesus is useless.

"Let a Man Examine Himself," is arranged in the query style and was written by Mildred V. Holler.

"Is the Church Necessary?" is an 8-page folder which should prove helpful in these days of much loose thinking. It was written by Dr. Charles Forbes Taylor.

"Easter," by Dr. George Wells Arms, is a 4-page tract especially suited to this season of the year.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 13

EDUCATIONAL NUMBER

MARCH 28, 1953

BEHIND THE FINAL IRON CURTAIN

"Yet thou shalt be brought down to hell,

\ * * * **

They that see thee shall narrowly look upon thee,

And consider thee, saying,

Is this the man that made the earth to tremble?"

(Isa. 14:15-16).

The Death of Stalin

The cartoon which appears on the front cover by the courtesy of the Chicago Tribune was published by that newspaper following the death of the Red Russian dictator. The caption above the cartoon is by the artist, Mr. Orr.

The Text From Isaiah 14

I am quite well aware that the text I have selected to place beneath the cartoon is one which refers prophetically to the final Antichrist, the man of sin. And I am absolutely certain that Stalin is not the Antichrist. But the Apostle John reminds us that the final Antichrist would be preceded by many lesser figures: writing in his own generation, he said, "Even now are there many antichrists" (I John 2:18). And therefore, considering the monstrous evil of Stalin, it is not wrong to apply the words of Isaiah to him, if we remember that it is only an application. Bad as Stalin was—and one great journalist speaks of him as "the worst man the world has ever seen"—we must never forget that there is something still worse than Stalin ahead for the world.

Some Lessons From the Cartoon

The drawing by Mr. Orr is not only great newspaper art, it also carries some powerful lessons in theology, especially regarding the nature of death to the wicked and unsaved. First, there is the terrible silence of death: the figure of Stalin utters not a word as he moves through the gates. You may think of the text in Romans, "That every mouth may be stopped." In life Stalin could loose a barrage of words which could blanket the earth with propaganda—great swelling words! But all this is now ended, for the so-called "man of steel." God will do the talking from now on. Second, there is the terrible loneliness of death: you will note that he approaches the gates utterly alone. In life the dictator could summon all the resources of men, wealth, and pleasure to cheer him in the hours of depression that he must have often had. But now he is alone, to face "the last enemy." No friend, no loved one; and worst of all, no great Shepherd to take him through the valley, of whom he might have said, "Thou art with me." Third, the cartoon speaks of the terrible despotism of death: the head of the dictator is bowed beneath the silent summons, and there is no longer any weapon in his hand. He has come at last to the place where there is no help in massed armies, clouds of warplanes, or atomic bombs. Tragically, he cannot say, "Cover my defenceless head, with the shadow of Thy wing." Fourth, the cartoon speaks of the finality of death: all the boasted triumphs of Soviet science cannot reverse the verdict of death. For Stalin, this is indeed "The Final Iron Curtain" lowered by the hand of death, the end of the earthly drama through which the little man strutted his brief day.

But This Is Not the End

What comes after death will be still worse for such as Stalin. "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Heb. 9:27). The time at last has come for the theological education of the dictator. To him there was no God, no future life, no judgment day, no heaven, and no hell. He will now learn the reality of these things. He will learn that hell is not something to be joked about.

The text in Isaiah 14 suggests one aspect of that eternal prison-house of the lost which will not be pleasant to Stalin. There will be others there who will have deep reasons for remembering his bloody hand. So far as we can judge, Hitler will be there to greet him, and Trotsky, and a long receiving line of old comrades ruthlessly butchered by his orders. What will they say? There may be a suggestion in Isaiah 14:16—"They that see thee shall narrowly look upon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did shake kingdoms?" Read also verses 10 and 11—"All they shall speak and say unto thee, Art thou also become weak as we? art thou become like unto us? Thy pomp is brought down to the grave [Sheol]." Through eternity these will exist together in hell, hating and despising one another.

Three Things We Should Learn

First, it is God who takes care of the insolent dictators at last. Second, this is the end not only of all the Stalins, but also of all who have rejected the mercy of God in our Lord Jesus Christ. Third, the grace of God is able to save even the worst of men if they accept His mercy before it is too late.—A. J. M.

Pastors and Financial Secretaries, Attention!

We have 2 VERY important requests: (1) Please do not send in your checks without an accompanying report of the individual gifts. It is impossible for our financial secretary to give credit on the books, or to send receipts, when no report accompanies your church offering. To send the report in later causes endless trouble and misunderstanding. (2) On your reports of gifts to the seminary, list the names of the persons or organizations in alphabetical order. Cooperation by all in this matter will save us many hours of work each month. Remember, you have one report to care for each month; we have many!—P. R. B.

Financial Reports Can Be Interesting

Most of us have heard this statement a good many times: "Why publish financial reports? Nobody ever reads them!" It is possible that most of us have said this at one time or another. But should we say it? Imagine a businessman not being interested in the financial reports of his firm. We would wonder if such

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

HANDS WAITING FOR THE GOSPEL

On almost the very day our churches throughout America are receiving their offerings for foreign missions, the semi-annual number of the Brethren Missionary Herald should reach your home. We have sent forth this magazine with the prayer and urgent desire to see every Brethren church lay at the feet of Jesus the largest offering by far in their history. This is the admonition of Grace Theological Seminary, and why shouldn't it be? Thus far 58 have left the halls of the school to take their places on Brethren mission fields in Argentina, Brazil, Africa, Baja California, and France. Fourteen have gone during the past year. Two are now on their way to Brazil, and in a few weeks 2 more expect to leave for Argentina. Why shouldn't the school be interested? But let us remember that education is not an end in itself. Once trained, "how shall they preach, except they be sent?" (Rom. 10:15). The large number of Brethren young people who have been willing to make the necessary sacrifices and spend years in training should present a mighty challenge to the rest of us. They have prepared, and they are ready to go. We cannot do less than to send them. Hands all over the world are reaching out for the Gospel. Dare we fail to see that they get the unadulterated Word of God?—P. R. B.

a man were really interested in the success or failure of that business. Should we be less interested in our business which is also the Lord's business?

Financial reports can be interesting. Try this and see. In the magazine this week you will find a very encouraging report of the seminary's receipts for the months of January and February. Have you tried scanning the reports each time they appear? Is the name of your church in the list? How do the offerings compare with those your church gave a year ago? How do they compare with those of other churches having the same membership? Do the offerings from your church give you an occasion for praise to the Lord? Or do they make you feel as if you should be doing more? Evidently financial reports were a good thing in the early church, for the Apostle Paul once wrote to the Corinthian church: "I know your readiness, of which I glory on your behalf to them of Macedonia . . . and your zeal hath stirred up very many of them" (II Cor. 9:2 ASV). —P. R. B.

Some men who can't even get along with their wives still think that the whole world could get along as a universal brotherhood.—William Feather in Prophecy Monthly.

THE PREACHER'S PRAYER

I do not ask
That crowds may throng the temple,
That standing room be priced;
I only ask that as I voice the message,
They may see Christ.

I do not ask
For churchly pomp or pageant,
Or music such as wealth alone can buy;
I only ask that as I voice the message,
He may be nigh!

I do not ask
That men may sound my praises
Or headlines spread my name abroad;
I only pray that as I voice the message,
Hearts may find God!

I do not ask
For earthly place or laurel,
Or of this world's distinctions any part;
I only ask when I have voiced the message,
My Saviour's heart!

—Ralph S. Cushman.

The Present-Day Need for Education in the Ministry

By Lewis C. Hohenstein

Rev. L. C. Hohenstein

Note: At the recent conference in Grace Seminary, thought-provoking papers were read by several of the alumni. Believing that our pastors and laymen both will profit by them, the papers will appear in this and subsequent issues of the seminary's number of the Herald. Rev. Lewis C. Hohenstein, the author of the paper which appears this week, was graduated in the class of 1949. Until recently, since his graduation, he served as pastor of the Grace Brethren Church of Waterloo, Iowa. On Easter Sunday he begins his ministry as pastor of the First Brethren Church of Whittier, Calif. His paper will appear in 2 installments, the second of which will appear next month.—Ed.

Introduction: The Need for an Informed Leadership Among Conservatives.

It is the "wisdom of this world," not its knowledge, that is "foolishness with God."<sup>1</sup> After God had placed His breath in the nostrils of man and man became a living soul, God gave him a commandment, a commandment which has never been abrogated. It was, "Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it."<sup>2</sup> The word translated "subdue" in our text is kabash, and its primary meaning is "to tread down." This word is variously translated elsewhere, "to conquer, subjugate, bring into bondage, force, keep under, subdue, and bring under subjection."

Man was made to be master of God's created world and his chief delight had he not fallen to the beguilement of Satan would have been to trace out the mysteries of the world in which he was placed. Had he been able to trace out these truths he would always have seen in them the omnipotent hand of God, and given Him the glory. But man sinned; he fell and became a depraved being. Paul tells us: "Because that which may be known of God is manifest in [to, margin] them; for God hath shewed it unto them. For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools."<sup>3</sup>

Having ruled God out of the order of things, they tried to solve the riddle of this world and the universe by their own wisdom. But the wisdom of this world is "foolishness with God." Why? Is it because the facts upon which they build their philosophic wisdom are false? Is it because they cannot discern by the process of reason what these facts are? No! It is because they attempt to interpret and relate these facts apart from a knowledge of God, that their wisdom is foolishness. All learning is the tracing out of the mind and purpose of God, whether it be in the arts, the sciences, the humanities, or in the field of theological and Biblical research. When God is removed from His rightful place then there is no ultimate to be attained in learning and the conclusions drawn are foolishness.

The key word in all the sciences today is "objectivity," that is, "stick to the facts." I maintain that the only persons on earth who can be or dare to be fearlessly objective are those who have been regenerated by the Holy Spirit of God and have been returned to their proper relationship to God as sons. We need not fear to face the facts, if we have placed Christ in the center of our thinking, if we see Him not only as the God of salvation but also as the God of creation who holds the reins of the universe in His hands.

When a person is saved by believing in Christ, Paul says "he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new."<sup>4</sup> It is not my purpose to give an exposition of this verse, but to point out, by way of introduction, that the believer is a new creature, a new creation. He becomes a part of the new spiritual race. The world about him and the people in it become new. Not that there is a change in element or essence, but a change in relationship between the believer and the world in which he lives. It behooves him then to know that world that is groaning to be delivered, and to understand that every man, though marred and spoiled by sin, is in the image and likeness of God.

The local pastor is the key man in pointing up the program in the local church to make Christ preeminent. If he lacks in those qualities of character, not the least of which is his knowledge of contemporary things, the church will lack that power to hold her place as a testimony to the God of creation.

Never before have the lines of difference been drawn so fine as now in the field of theology. In many places it seems that the very elect are being drawn aside. The need among conservatives for a definite, conclusive knowledge of the issues involved in today's struggle between the forces of light and darkness is paramount.

There are those rare individuals who are able to educate themselves, but on the larger part it is necessary to seek the guidance and counsel of the men talented and called to the ministry of teaching. But whether the educative process of higher learning is formal or informal, it is necessary. And this educative process should never cease in the lives of those called to such a high and honorable work as the ministry.

As I continue in this paper, I want to draw attention to the present-day need of education in the ministry, and though I will not always mention it as such, I will have in mind primarily the formal preparation of the minister.

1—"Lectures on Colossians," Dr. H. A. Ironside, p. 71.

2—Genesis 1:28b

3—Romans 1:19-22.

4—II Corinthians 5:17

I. The Theory and Philosophy of Education in General and the Theory and Philosophy of Christian Education in Particular.

The discussion at this point must of necessity be brief. There is much available material in our public and college libraries on the theory and philosophy of education. But I regret that there is little available material on the theory and philosophy of Christian education. The material that is available is woven in among other subject matter and must be laboriously weeded out. I would like to at this time refer you to the book compiled and edited by Dr. Frank E. Gabelein. It is "Christian Education in a Democracy," Oxford Press, 1951. And I recommend that you make it a part of your thinking.

Theories of education and their philosophic approaches are as old as recorded history, and as varied as are the peoples who have concocted them. There has been a continuous cycle from extreme rationalism to extreme idealism, and back again. And whether the physical expression of politics, economics, and social activities affect the education theories or not is a debatable question, but surely each has had some bearing on the other in the course of history.

Dr. John Wiltcn gives as a general definition of the theory of education the following: "An attempt of the adult members of a human society to shape the development of the coming generation in accordance with its own ideals of life."<sup>5</sup> Dr. J. S. Mill broadens this definition by saying, "It is everything which helps to shape the human being."<sup>6</sup> These I believe are commonly accepted in the secular field of education, and because of their looseness and pliability they allow all of the ramifications of the theories of education which have appeared.

Many of these theories have had, and do have, high ideals of morality, ethics, and religion. Many of them have maintained these lofty ideals, and today the catchword of contemporary educators is, "Preparing the whole person for the whole of life." But underlying every theory and philosophy of education, with the exception of the conservative Christian philosophy of education which I will attempt to define later, is the pre-eminence of humanism, where man is seen to be the coordinating center of all knowledge.

We are all aware that the "cold war" and the Korean war are not over territories or possessions, but over ideals, Eastern and Western, both of which are based upon an educative philosophy of humanism. In the East, especially in Russia, the negative aspect of humanism has developed (where man exists for the state) along the lines of anti-God and antireligion and is expressed in the philosophy of "dialectic materialism." In the West the idealists hold the ascendancy; they are religionists characterized by strange inconsistencies.

In Western thought, with which we are primarily concerned, there is a strange amalgamation of humanistic ideals. There is the humanistic philosophy, such as John Dewey's "pragmatic instrumentalism," the Unitarians' religious humanism, the scientific humanism of such men as Bertrand Russell and H. G. Wells, and the behaviorism and self-expressionism of modern psychology, combined to give us the present-day education philosophy of the West.

In the religious aspect of this educative "pot-pourri" there are many extremes, ranging from the attitude of John Dewey, who was an atheist, to the present-day popular movement of neo-orthodoxy and Barthianism. The anti-God extreme is expressed by Dr. Julian Huxley, director-general of the much-questioned UNESCO. He says: "The advance of natural science, logic, and psychology has brought us to a stage at which God is no longer a useful hypothesis. . . . A faint trace of God still broods over the world like the smile of a cosmic Cheshire cat. But the growth of psychological knowledge will rub even that from the Universe."<sup>7</sup>

The opposite extreme today is seen in the teachings and writings of Dr. Harold Iddings Bell, associated with the University of Chicago divinity school. He is gaining great publicity and following because of his emphasis on spiritual and religious values being foundational in the philosophy of education. These extremes exist because of the continual cry of the educators for "tolerance" and "academic freedom."

In the face of this man-centered, utilitarian, education philosophy, there is a great need for a stated Christian theory and philosophy of education. Mr. Mark Fakema, in his booklet, "Evangelical Christian School Movement," after stating several lesser needs, says, "Beyond and underlying all these, it needs a Christian education philosophy."

"The world today is in the turmoil of moral and mental confusion. As teachers we—I speak for all teachers in this country—are daily acclimating the rising generation to a world of uncertainty, relativity, and frustration. As a result, every walk of life is increasingly being reduced to a secular routine which is as purposeless as it is baseless. The greatest need today, as we see it, is to push our fruitless activity and pointless living back to eternal realities which make for mental poise, lasting peace, and the spiritual drive of a meaningful, fruitful life. In other words, we need a sound philosophy. There is no sphere of life that needs Christian philosophy more than the strategic field of preparation of life—education. The Word of God interpreted in its cosmic implications gives us this sound philosophy. Christian philosophy is the only philosophy that will meet the need of this hour—of any hour."

This philosophy of education does not ignore the facts of science, nor the accomplishments in the arts, nor the progress and regression of humanity as seen in the humanities, nor does it fear to examine the merits or demerits of contemporary psychology and philosophy. But this philosophy "tries every spirit"; its criterion is the Word of God, and Christ is seen as the coordinating center of all knowledge.

<sup>7</sup>—"Christian Education in a Democracy," Dr. Frank E. Gabelein, p. 112.

(To Be Continued)

PREACHER, DON'T LOSE YOUR TEMPER!

As Martin Luther faced John Eck at the Leipzig debate, there were times when Luther might easily have lost his temper. But no matter how hard his papal opponent pressed him he always maintained his calmness and good nature, even though at times he used scorching words. He held a bunch of flowers in his hand, and when the discussion became heated he looked at it and smelled it. Maybe some of our preachers ought to follow Luther's example when having part in church business meetings!—Dr. Homer A. Kent.

<sup>5</sup>—Encyclopedia Britannica, vol. 8, p. 951.
<sup>6</sup>—Ibid., p. 952.

NEWS FROM OUR ALUMNI

Edited by Rev. Wesley Haller, Vice President of Grace Seminary Alumni Association

ALUMNI BIBLE CONFERENCE

The second annual alumni conference is now a matter of history. It is the opinion of your editor that all who gathered at Winona Lake the last week in February received great blessing and new inspiration to serve the Lord Jesus Christ. The messages presented by the various men were thought-provoking and challenging. By the way, any of you who were not present lost an opportunity to increase your repertoire of humorous stories. As the week progressed each speaker had to try to "outshine" the previous one. The result was everything from stories about "John the Baptist"—John Balyo ('44)—versus his brother, "Clyde the Brethren"—Clyde Balyo ('46)—to "nonhumorous" ones by such men as Clyde Landrum ('48)—but how humorous can one get?

Many important items of business were handled during the week by the alumni association. Some of these are as follows:

(1) The name of the conference is to be changed. Hereafter it will be the Grace Bible Conference, and beginning next year it will be held during the week between the 1st and 2d semesters. Therefore, in 1954 the reunion will be from Monday, January 25, to Thursday, January 28. Reserve that date on your calendar!

(2) The association created the new office of alumni secretary. This office is to be one of liaison between the association and the seminary. It shall be the duty of the alumni secretary to keep in contact with all alumni and former students of the school and to promote interest in the work of the association. It was the feeling of the group present at the recent conference that it would be best to have someone residing at Winona Lake elected to this position. As a result, John C. Whitcomb ('51) was chosen by the group. Address all mail and make all checks payable to the Grace Seminary Alumni Association, Winona Lake, Ind.

(3) Here is important news about our project. It has been mentioned previously on this page that we as an association are interested in the grounds being landscaped and walks and drives installed. The cost of our part in such a project has been set at $5,000. The school, upon the approval of the alumni association, is securing the money for this much-needed improvement. As soon as the weather permits, the work will begin. We are asking that all alumni will help us to raise this amount within the next 2 years. There are approximately 500 graduates of Grace Seminary. If each one would give only $10 this year, the project would be completed. So come on, alumni, send your gifts; but don't stop with $10. Send more if you are able. Send it to John C. Whitcomb, secretary of the Grace Seminary Alumni Association, Winona Lake, Ind.

From these brief items one can realize that much was accomplished during the week of the alumni conference. The number of alumni registering for the conference was approximately 50, but many others came to enjoy the very practical sessions of the conference, and the interesting discussion periods which followed. The opinion was expressed by many that the alumni of Grace could find no better "refresher course" than attending this conference and listening to the fine messages that were presented this year. We are asking all alumni to think seriously about attending next January, and to begin now to make plans to be present.

TEETERS ARRIVE IN BRAZIL

Maurine
and Jack
Teeter

Rev. and Mrs. John S. Teeter ('52) and son, Johnnie, arrived in Brazil on Saturday, March 14, having sailed from New York on March 3. Their ship, the S. S. Mor-maclark, a freighter of the Moore-McCormack Line, had been delayed several days in sailing.

After a few days in Icoraci with Bro. Keith Altig ('43) and the John Zielasko ('50) family, the Teeters plan to go to Macapa, where the Edward Miller ('49) family is stationed. The Teeters will also be located at Macapa. The next few months will be busy ones indeed, since they must learn the language and get a grasp of the work in the Macapa area before the Edward Miller family comes home on furlough about a year hence. Remember that the going of these and other alumni to the fields of service is made possible by your gifts to foreign missions, particularly at this season of the year.

VICTOR H. MEYERS IS ORDAINED

The ordination service for Victor H. Meyers, who in January completed his classroom work in Grace Seminary, was held in the Winona Lake Brethren Church Sunday evening, March 8. The entire service was devoted to this impressive event and a splendid crowd, including the candidate's father and mother, was present to witness the ceremony.

The congregational singing was led by David Halvorsen, a member of the junior class in the seminary. A duet, entitled "Follow Me," was sung by Dayton Cundiff and LeRoy Hawkins, also students at the seminary. The ordination sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Herman W. Koontz, who spoke most fittingly upon the significance and duties of the office of the elder in the church. The authorizations for the ordination were then read by Pastor Koontz, and Dr. Homer A. Kent, secretary of the Winona church and a teacher in the seminary, read the Scripture. The questions and vows were read and received by Rev. Arthur D. Cashman. Pastor Koontz offered the prayer of dedication. The charge to Mr. Meyers was given by Dr. Kent, as all the ordained elders in the audience stood to their feet.

Following the singing of the closing hymn, "Take My Life, and Let It Be," the closing prayer and benediction was offered by Rev. Victor Meyers, his first public act of service following his induction into the eldership.

Brother Meyers, together with his wife, Lucinda, and 2 small children, Dennis and Pamela, are under appointment by the Foreign Missionary Society to go to Argentina, and will sail in the near future. Mrs. Meyers was graduated from the seminary in 1950, having taken the Christian Education course. Brother Meyers will be receiving his Bachelor of Divinity degree, probably in

Lucinda
and Victor
Meyers

absentia, from Grace Seminary in May at the regular commencement time. Let us pray for God's choicest blessing to rest on the family as they leave for the field.

SEMINARY NEWS

By Bill Burk

CONVOCATION

The new semester began with a stirring message from a new minister in the community, but long-time friend of the seminary. Dr. William J. Sweeting, formerly professor of pastoral theology at Providence Bible Institute, just recently came to this community as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Warsaw, where many of the Baptist students of the seminary attend.

The message was a stern warning that Satan is ever present, taking special pride in causing the stumbling of students whose lives are yielded to the service of the Lord of lords.

DAY OF PRAYER

January 22 was a day of tremendous blessing to the seminary, students and faculty alike. After the convocation 3 days before, this was a very fitting climax. The Scripture at the beginning of the day was spontaneous from the lips and hearts of the students, concluding with the reading of Psalm 51. The speaker at each session (morning, afternoon, and evening) was Rev. Donald B. Fullerton, for about 20 years the director of the Princeton Evangelical Fellowship. (It was through his ministry on the Princeton campus that 2 of our professors here at Grace, John Whitcomb and John Rea, were led to the Lord.) The initial message was a brilliant exaltation of the glory of the Eternal Word of God, our Redeemer. It resulted in a period of sincere confession, primarily of negligence, and in the afternoon in a period of great praise and thanksgiving for His abundant mercy and love. The final service was of equal blessing, the members of the local church joining with us.

THE BISHOP AND THE PROF.

After the monotonous exercise of calling roll, Dr. Hoyt asked one scholar (Don Bishop) to lead in prayer.

Bishop (before praying): "I didn't hear you call my name."

Dr. Hoyt: "That's all right—we're glad to have you with us."

Bishop prayed. The professor began the lecture.

Shortly Bishop made his exit muttering, "Come to think of it, I'm in the wrong class."

Dr. Hoyt's observation after the laughter had partially subsided, "Greek has a tendency to awaken one."

SEMINARY SNACK SHOP

"Open under new management . . . but still open!" All the way from Brazil come Ed and Jane Leib, spending their first furlough mixing shakes and pouring coffee between classes. Ed is no stranger here, as he has taken work at Grace before. As this goes to press another exam week is in progress and weary students loaded with books and notes seek out the Snack Shop for a cup of coffee between exams and long hours in the library.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

The February meeting of the Seminary Women's Fellowship brought a speaker from out of town to share her experiences with the young people, and one of the faithful members of the local church to counsel as to the pastor's wife's relationship with the older folk of the church.

Mrs. Ward Miller spoke of the active, "let's-do-something," young person who requires patience, understanding, tact, and real love from the pastor's wife. On the other hand, Mrs. George Cone, Sr., cautioned the pastor's wife about neglecting the older folk of the church. These are the present backbone of the church and need work to do, appreciation, and a personal interest from the pastor's wife.

Big responsibilities these, but for each responsibility there are unnumbered blessings from young and old alike.

NEWS FOR THE CENSUS TAKER

A late but most welcome valentine was little Ila Denise Cooper (7 lb., 5 oz.), who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Cooper February 17.

George Washington held only a minor place (if that) in the thoughts of the Donald Tschetter family on February 22, because of the birth of Carlon Don (8 lb., 6 oz.).

Although not born on a national holiday, Joyce Elaine Risser (8 lb.), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Risser, was born March 2, the anniversary of the sailing of the first Brethren missionary party to Brazil. Her father was one of the organizers of a weekly prayer meeting begun a few weeks ago for Brazilian candidates and aspirants.

LOWER AUDITORIUM HAS NEW CEILING

One of the most recent improvements in the seminary building has been the installation of a new acoustical tile ceiling in the large auditorium. Some will recall the bad echo and general noisiness of this large ground-floor room which was due to the fact that the ceiling was originally left unfinished. From the beginning the need for acoustical tile was evident, and this need became more pressing when it became necessary for Dr. McClain's theology class to seek larger quarters than the social lounge, which was not intended to be a permanent classroom in the first place. But there were no funds, and the estimated cost of such an installation by reliable firms amounted to about $1,200.

However, the Lord always has His way of meeting the needs of His work. In just a few weeks after the need became evident and really pressing, $358.08 came in from members of the faculty and friends of the school. Then the students, as on many another occasion, took up an offering amounting to $187.22. At the same time 3 students who are master carpenters came to the faculty with an offer to donate their time and install the ceiling tile during the Thanksgiving vacation, providing some of the other men of the school would assist them, and if the girls would prepare sandwiches and coffee. The bargain was made, and about 15 took part, including members of the student body, faculty, and the Brethren youth director. The ceiling was installed, but a balance of $192 remained to be paid.

A few weeks later pictures of the seminary were being shown in the First Brethren Church of Dayton, Ohio. Among them were 2 showing the students at work on the ceiling, and mention was made of the unpaid balance. At the close of the service a couple came to inform the speaker that they would like to assume the unpaid balance. The seminary is grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Carl Andlauer and all others who had any part in this project.

Today the lower auditorium has a new $1,200 ceiling, but the total cost has been only $732.30. It is an example of the way the Lord is providing for our needs, and of the way it has been possible to make the funds "stretch." Now the theology class meets regularly in this fine auditorium, which has also been the scene of one large overflow rally. Conference sessions have been held there, and those who have been in the room "before and after" inevitably say, as they observe the difference, "Oh, what a change!"—P. R. B.

THE SNOW PRAYER

A little girl went out to play one day in the fresh new snow, and when she came in she said, "Mama, I couldn't help praying when I was out at play."

"What did you pray for, dear?"

"I prayed the snow prayer, Mama, that I learned once in Sunday school."

"The snow prayer? What do you mean, little one?"

"Why," was the reply, "I mean that beautiful snow prayer in the Bible, Mama; you know it, 'Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.'"

What a beautiful prayer! And here is a very sweet promise to go with it: "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow." And what can wash them white, clean from every stain of sin? The Bible answers, "They have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."—Christian Digest.

Upper, left to right: Ralph Spillers, Max Fluke, and Charles Koontz install tile as they are supplied by Russell Konves.

Middle, the "supply line," left to right: George Cone, Russell Konves, Dr. McClain, Dale Stevens, Joe Sargent, Charles Koontz, and Donald Locke. Dr. McClain was the chief "dauber" and placed the mastic on each tile.

Lower: Archie Keffer puts on the finishing touches.

Grace Theological Seminary

My MARCH Gift

FOR CURRENT EXPENSE AND DEBT REDUCTION

Name ..... Amount .....

Address .....

Our Minimum Need—6,000 Friends Giving Not Less Than
$1.00 a Month

Is Your Church Participating?

Do You Have a Set of Envelopes?

Have You Made Your March Gift?

GRACE SEMINARY OFFERINGS FOR JANUARY AND FEBRUARY

Church	January	February	Church	January	February
Accident, Md. ....		$7.00	Sidney, Ind. ....	31.00	27.00
Akron, Ohio ....	$10.00		South Bend, Ind. ....	50.95	6.00
Alexandria, Va. ....	26.00	27.00	South Gate, Calif. ....	1.00
Altoona, Pa. (First) ....	5.00		South Pasadena, Calif. ....	74.75
Altoona, Pa. (Grace) ....	17.00	60.50	South San Gabriel, Calif. ....	5.00
Ankenytown, Ohio ....	16.00	10.00	Spokane, Wash. ....		119.33
Ashland, Ohio ....	10.00	10.00	Spokane, Wash. (Special) ....		12.00
Baltimore, Md. ....	10.00		Summit Mills, Pa. ....	9.00	8.00
Beaumont, Calif. ....		20.00	Sunnyside, Wash. ....	1.00
Bellflower, Calif. ....	36.00		Taos, N. Mex. ....	5.00
Berne, Ind. ....		10.00	Troy, Ohio ....		28.40
Camden, Ohio ....		52.00	Uniontown, Pa. ....		14.00
Canton, Ohio ....	63.00	115.00	Washington, D. C. ....	242.00
Clay City, Ind. ....		245.00	Waterloo, Iowa ....	79.25	537.60
Clayhole, Ky. ....		20.34	Waynesboro, Pa. ....	139.00	55.00
Clayton, Ohio ....		2.00	Whittier, Calif. ....	301.00	97.50
Cleveland, Ohio ....		2.00	Whittier, Calif. (Special) ....	25.00
Compton, Calif. ....	97.88	42.20	Winchester, Va. ....	49.00	62.50
Conemaugh, Pa. ....		22.90	Winona Lake, Ind. ....	8.00	800.70
Covington, Va. ....	2.00	43.00	Winona Lake, Ind. (Special) ....		138.00
Dallas Center, Iowa ....	2.00	2.00	Wooster, Ohio ....	75.00	102.47
Danville, Ohio ....		14.00	Yakima, Wash. ....	74.00	1.00
Dayton, Ohio (First) ....	204.00	486.00	Yellow Creek, Pa. ....	28.00	67.25
Dayton, Ohio (First) (Special) ....		192.00	York, Pa. ....	25.00
Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) ....	328.00	244.75
Dayton, Ohio (Patterson Park) ....		41.00
Denver, Colo. ....	5.00	8.00	Miscellaneous—
Everett, Pa. ....	13.00	13.00	Alumni Association (Special) ....	300.00
Flora, Ind. ....	186.40	140.00	Isolated Brethren ....	49.80	29.00
Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	69.50	521.00	Non-Brethren ....	206.00	136.00
Garwin, Iowa ....	9.00
Hagerstown, Md. ....	181.30	79.00	Totals—
Harrah, Wash. ....	21.00	15.00	General ....	$4,775.15	$5,820.91
Harrisburg, Pa. ....	27.00	18.30	Special ....	325.00	352.00
Homerville, Ohio ....	19.00	97.00
Huntington, Ind. ....	10.00		Grand totals ....	5,100.15	6,172.91
Jackson, Mich. ....	12.00	8.90
Jenners, Pa. ....		32.00
Johnstown, Pa. ....	268.50	51.00
Kittanning, Pa. (North Buffalo) ....		11.44
Lake Odessa, Mich. ....	40.00	20.00
La Verne, Calif. ....	7.00
Leamersville, Pa. ....	50.00
Leesburg, Ind. ....		256.00
Leon, Iowa ....	24.00	1.00
Limestone, Tenn. ....		78.15
Listie, Pa. ....	98.00	2.00
Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	594.91	12.00
Long Beach, Calif. (Second) ....	10.00
Los Angeles, Calif. (First) ....	33.00	47.00
Los Angeles, Calif. (Second) ....	202.76
Los Angeles, Calif. (Third) ....		8.00
Mansfield, Ohio ....		5.00
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	69.00	100.00
Mayersdale, Pa. ....	1.00	1.00
Middlebranch, Ohio ....	12.00	64.98
Modesto, Calif. (Special) ....		10.00
Mundy's Corner, Pa. ....		150.45
New Troy, Mich. ....	56.00
North English, Iowa ....	15.15	40.00
Parkersburg, W. Va. ....		10.00
Peru, Ind. ....	14.00
Philadelphia, Pa. (First) ....	310.00	150.00
Philadelphia, Pa. (Third) ....		223.00
Portland, Oreg. ....	7.00	7.00
Portis, Kans. ....	1.00
Radford, Va. ....	9.00	5.00
Roanoke, Va. (Clearbrook) ....		13.00
San Diego, Calif. ....	5.00	44.00
Seattle, Wash. ....	80.00
Sharpsville, Ind. ....	30.00	20.25

BOOKLET ON REVISED STANDARD VERSION BEING PUBLISHED BY SEMINARY

Because of a demand far in excess of supply, the material in the February 28 issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald, which dealt with the new Revised Standard Version, is now being reprinted in booklet form by the seminary. It will be published under the title, "What Version? A Critical Evaluation of the Revised Standard Version." These articles were written by the faculty of Grace Theological Seminary. The booklet will contain at least 33 pages. The prices are 15c a copy; 8 copies for $1; 100 copies for $10. Orders should be sent directly to the seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

This is the time of year set aside in the Brethren denomination for special emphasis on foreign missions. Remember, 87 missionaries dedicated to foreign fields are counting on us.

The Beaumont, Calif., church had an average of 141 people in Bible school, 103 in morning service, and 92 in evening service during February. The offerings during the month totaled $1,178.70. Pastor of this church is Gene Farrell.

The San Bernardino, Calif., church, of which Lyle W. Marvin is pastor, broke its attendance records March 8 with 203 people in Bible school, 112 in morning service, and 90 in evening service. Two people publicly confessed Christ, making it the 10th of 11 Sundays for public decisions at the church.

"Girl. All well. (Signed) Lester." The office of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church at Winona Lake received this cablegram March 16 from Lester Kennedy in Paris, France. The Kennedys are preparing for missionary work in French Equatorial Africa.

The Misses Hazel Yeater and Edith Hulslander spoke at the Conemaugh, Pa., Singer Hill church March 8. They represent the Children's Bible Mission in Florida. During the service 2 people publicly confessed the Saviour. Kenneth Wilt, of Altoona, is pastor of the church.

Dr. Charles H. Ashman, of Los Angeles, Calif., is scheduled to speak at the union services in Ramona, Calif., Friday afternoon, April 3. This will be the closing day of his conference at the Grace Community Church, of which Grant McDonald is pastor.

Rev. R. I. Humberd, of Flora, Ind., plans to speak at the Lawndale Bible Church, Chicago, March 29-April 1.

In connection with his Bible conference at the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, church March 29-April 5, Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of Winona Lake, is to be the speaker at a union sunrise service at McKinley High School in the city April 5 at 6:30 o'clock. Pastor Arnold Kriegbaum will have part in the program and Miss Ava Schnittjer, of our church, will be in charge of the combined choirs of the co-operating churches.

For the March 15 day of prayer the Clayton and Troy, Ohio, congregations, pastored by Clair Brickell and Richard T. McIntosh, united at the Troy church for an afternoon of prayer.

The Terry and Palmer evangelistic party conducted a 1-night service at the Tracy, Calif., church March 11, according to Pastor William Clough.

Rev. Ivan Sisk preached at the Dayton, Ohio, First church March 15. Pastor William A. Steffler was holding special meetings at the Clay City, Ind., church.

Raymond Nethery, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, made the dean's list for the past 2 years at Bob Jones University, from which school he expects to graduate in June.

The Sampleville and Camden, Ohio, churches, pastored by Charles Flowers and Robert Betz, held a joint singspiration at the Sampleville church March 15 with 151 people present. The next joint rally is scheduled for the Camden church April 12. The programs feature vocal and instrumental numbers.

The Fremont, Ohio, church, pastored by Lester Pifer, had its record attendance March 15 with 478 people in the morning worship service. Special guests were the Camp Fire Girls and their parents. This day was the last day of the Bible conference conducted by the church under the leadership of Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of Winona Lake.

Rev. Charles Gantt, working at the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, reports that his wife is suffering from internal injuries, thought to be a result of the automobile accident in which they were involved several months ago. Surgery may be necessary and the prayers of the saints are requested.

Pastor Lewis C. Hohenstein plans to end his ministry at the Waterloo, Iowa, church March 29 and begin his ministry at the Whittier, Calif., First church April 5.

The Ashland, Ohio, church, pastored by Miles Taber, plans to be host to the Wheaton College Chapel Choir April 1.

Dr. Paul R. Bauman, Winona Lake, is scheduled as a speaker at a Bible conference sponsored by the American Association for Jewish Evangelism at Elim Chapel, Winnipeg, Canada, March 27-29.

The Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church expects to begin construction on a new Sunday school annex about May 1.

A daughter, Rebecca Doris, was born to Pastor and Mrs. R. Ronald Robinson, of Peru, Ind., February 23.

The Meyersdale and Summit Mills, Pa., churches, pastored by H. Leslie Moore, will unite April 5 for a sunrise service.

The Rittman, Ohio, church redecorated the lower auditorium of its building and laid carpet on the platform and in several classrooms.

Three Pennsylvania churches—Altoona (First), Leamersville, and Martinsburg—are uniting for a missionary conference March 29-April 5. The speakers are Rev. and Mrs. Hill Maconaghy, representing our work in Argentina; Mrs. Rose Foster, representing our work in French Equatorial Africa; and Rev. W. A. Ogden, member of the board of trustees of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church. There will be a service at each church each night; the speakers will rotate during the week.

The Vicksburg, Pa., church, meeting in the garage of Clifford Karns since fire destroyed their church building February 28, plans to rebuild on a new and larger site near the former location. Fellow chemists of the pastor, Dean Walter, at Washington, D. C., gave an offering toward the new building. Perhaps the readers of this magazine would like to send a gift for this purpose to Rev. Dean I. Walter, R. R. 2, Duncansville, Pa.

AN AFTERNOON AT GIBRALTAR

By Prof. John Rea, Winona Lake, Ind.

This is the first of a series of articles and reports to be written by Prof. John Rea, member of the Winona Lake Brethren Church and of the faculty of Grace Theological Seminary, during his 4-month tour and study in the lands bordering on the Mediterranean Sea. Most of his time is to be spent in Palestine in archeological study and excavation. —Editor.

"Cigaretti Americano!" yelled the boys and men in their little rowboats and dilapidated launches as they swarmed around our ship, the new Italian liner Andrea Doria, to get our American dollars. They were like the sea gulls that were screaming and swooping down to snatch up the ship's garbage. Cartons of Chesterfields sell for $1 since Uncle Sam cannot collect his federal tax in foreign lands. Many other articles were for sale, from bottles of highly prized Spanish wine at $1 a quart to eels and octopuses or squid. Those in our party found the black berets and silver bracelets more to our liking.

Exchange by Line

When a price had been agreed upon by a passenger high up on our ship and a Spaniard way down in his little rowboat, the latter threw up a block of wood to which was attached a line. Then the passenger could pull up a little basket containing the articles he had bargained for and return the basket with his dollar.

Such was the scene in the Bay of Gibraltar when our vessel made a port call there to unload cargo and exchange a few passengers. The sight of greatest interest, however, was not the excited Spanish "merchants," but the mighty Rock of Gibraltar rising abruptly out of the sea. In reality Gibraltar is an island connected to the Spanish mainland only by a man-made causeway. It stands alone to guard the eastern end of the Strait of Gibraltar. Sometimes the rock is referred to as the northern pillar of the fabled "Gate of Hercules" at the western entrance to the Mediterranean Sea.

Security in the Rock

The Christian cannot help but compare Great Britain's impregnable rock bastion with his God and Saviour, the Rock of Ages. "The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower" (Psa. 18:2).

The Rock of Gibraltar is certainly a fortress. Three British aircraft carriers were in port the day we stopped. Numerous smaller warships lay at anchor in the harbor. Military planes were taking off and landing frequently on the airstrip which made up part of the causeway. Stationary gun emplacements and twisting radar antennae showed that the garrison is on the alert for attack at all times. Many tunnels run throughout the rock for military purposes, reminding us that for our spiritual safety we must abide in the Lord. Yet our God is a greater fortress than Gibraltar, for He is our defense against sickness and sin, hunger and heartache, trial and temptation, as well as against bullets and bombs.

Prof. John Rea

Foundation on the Rock

"Lead me to the rock that is higher than I. For thou hast been a shelter for me, and a strong tower from the enemy" (Psa. 61:2-3). One of the most impressive features of Gibraltar is its great height; this is accentuated by its steep sides and sheer cliffs. The highest point of the rock towers 1,396 feet above the sea.

"Be thou to me a rock of habitation, whereunto I may continually resort" (Psa. 71:3 ASV). The Rock of Gibraltar is certainly this in an earthly sense. Every level or nearly level square inch of the surface is taken up by tall apartment houses and huge hotels. Even far up the side of the mountain are large buildings of every description. Naval barracks are built right to the edge of the wharves. Certainly the inhabitants of Gibraltar have built their houses upon a rock. In the spiritual sense we must make Christ the Rock of our habitation and build the house of our life upon Him, not upon the shifting sands of human philosophies.

Water From the Rock

Exodus 17 and Numbers 20 tell of how Moses smote the rock in order to get water for the children of Israel. "And that Rock was Christ" (I Cor. 10:4). However, the water supply for Gibraltar is obtained in a different way. The small city and piers are on the western side toward the bay; on the eastern side of the rock, which is even steeper, has been built a great concrete watershed to catch rain water. This water is collected in troughs at the bottom and stored in cisterns to augment whatever other water supply there may be.

Stability of the Rock

A certain life insurance company has made the Rock of Gibraltar a symbol of its strength and of the reliability of its policies. Up until now nothing has seemed more sure and lasting than this great rock. But its impregnability may be ended someday soon. One atomic or hydrogen bomb dropped on Gibraltar would surely render it useless as a military fortress.

Our Saviour is not so. The Rock upon whom our feet are set and our goings established (Psa. 40:2) shall never be moved. From everlasting to everlasting He is God. Upon the Rock Christ Jesus the church is built, and our Saviour has promised us that the gates of hell shall not prevail against it (Matt. 16:18). Fear not, beloved; Jesus never fails. "And a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow [i. e., shade] of a great rock in a weary land" (Isa. 32:2).

There are many kinds of doors today. Most doors open and close on hinges, but not all doors swing on hinges. For example, there is the sliding door, the revolving door, the overhead door, and the folding door.

The purpose of a door, regardless of its type, is twofold: to let in and to keep out. We usually think of a door as being the proper place for people to enter a room or a building. That is one of the primary purposes of a door. Yet many times a door is placed at an entrance to keep folks out. If the door is closed and locked it is a barrier which means, "Keep out."

"I Am the Door"

Having the twofold purpose of a door brought to our attention, I think it will help us to understand just a little better what the Lord Jesus Christ meant when He said, "I am the door." These words of the Lord Jesus are found in the Gospel of John, chapter 10 and verse 9—"I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved." This is the door that leads to God. This is the door that leads to heaven itself.

Our own sin has separated us from God. Our sin is like a great wall separating us from the presence of a holy God. We read in the Book of Romans, chapter 3—"There is no difference: for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." All men are sinners by nature, as well as by practice, and because of sin we are alienated from God.

When the Lord Jesus Christ died on Calvary's cross He bore the penalty for your sin. It was there that He was made a curse for you and for me. Because He shed His precious blood on Calvary He can say to you today: "I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved."

Door to Salvation

A door speaks to us of easy access to that which is within. Jesus Christ is the door to salvation. There are no difficult walls which have to be scaled before the anxious sinner can obtain access to God, for Christ is the door into the very presence of God Himself.

Thinking of entering into salvation, we place in contrast a door and a long, winding passageway. The Bible never likens the entering into salvation to that of traveling along a passageway. But rather, entering into salvation is likened to the act of stepping through a door, in a moment of time, having stepped out of darkness into light, having passed from death unto life, and that the very moment you believed on the Lord Jesus Christ.

I call your attention to the definite article. Jesus said: "I am the door." He did not say, "I am a door," but "I am the door." This means that the Lord Jesus Christ is the one and only door which leads to the Father and home. At another time the Lord Jesus said: "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6).

Rev. Dennis Holliday

Noah and the Ark

I call your attention to the fact that there was only one door in the ark in which Noah and his family found shelter at the time of the great flood. Each one who entered into the ark, which was the place of safety, entered in by the one and only door which was provided. Each person who went into the ark did so of his own free will. Having entered in through the door that person was in the place of safety.

When Noah and his wife and his 3 sons and their wives were in the ark it was then that God shut the door. Then came the storm. Outside the ark there was judgment, destruction, and death. Those who had passed through the door were in perfect safety. Jesus Christ said: "I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved." At the present moment the door of salvation is open. The door is wide open to any and all who will enter. But there is coming a time, and that possibly very soon, when this door will be closed, and then it will be forever too late to enter. To fail to enter this door while it is open will mean that you must suffer the awful judgment of God, to be forever separated from Him, to be shut out from heaven. In the Book of Revelation, chapter 21, we read that the unbelieving "shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death."

An Appeal

In coming to this door, you do not even need to knock for entrance, for the door is wide open. Jesus said, "If any man enter in, he shall be saved." "If any man" includes Jew and gentile, it includes everyone, it includes you. If you enter in through this door today, you will be saved. To be saved includes the forgiveness of sin, the gift of God which is eternal life, and heaven will be your permanent home. Why not enter this open door and be saved today and henceforth live for Him who died for you?

The Lord Jesus Christ invites you to come to Him today. He says: "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." The door has been provided and the invitation is extended. Now it is your responsibility to enter in at the door. The song writer has given us these words:

"One door, and only one,
And yet its sides are two:
Inside and outside,
On which side are you?"

That is the important question today, dear friend. On which side are you? I have endeavored to point you to the door, the Lord Jesus Christ. If you are on the outside, I invite you to come to the Lord Jesus just now in simple, yet implicit, faith, trusting Him for salvation, and He will save your soul.

READS FOR CHURCH INTERESTS

"Please renew my subscription to the Brethren Missionary Herald. I cannot do without it. I need to be informed about our denominational interests. (Signed) Helen Hines, San Diego, Calif."

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

VI. THE CRY OF CONSUMMATION.

"When Jesus therefore had received the vinegar, he said, It is finished" (John 19:30).

But what is finished? What He came to do is finished.

Suppose you hear a trickle of water some night and find that a pipe in the bathroom is leaking. You would turn off the water and the next morning call a plumber. He would hammer and knock around an hour or two and then, throwing his tools into the case, he would say, "It is finished." But what is finished? What he came to do is finished.

And so with our Lord. The human race must be redeemed; and the wages of sin is death. Although countless animals had been slain, yet the stain of sin remained: "For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins" (Heb. 10:4).

Then one night a babe was born in Bethlehem and "when he cometh into the world" (the night He was born), He looked up to the Father and said: "Sacrifice and offering thou wouldst not, but a body hast thou prepared me" (Heb. 10:5).

God had prepared the bodies of all those animals, but now He makes a human body for His Son. "In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin thou hast had no pleasure. Then said I, Lo, I come . . . to do thy will, O God."

And what was the will of God for Him? "By the which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all" (Heb. 10:4-10).

And now, 33 years have passed and that body has been offered, and as He hangs upon the cross, His mind moves back to the purpose for which that body was prepared and He cries, "It is finished."

That body has been offered. The purpose for which it was prepared is accomplished, and by that "one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified"; and God decrees, "Their sins and iniquities will I remember no more" (Heb. 10:14-17).

"It is finished."

FORMER BAPTIST PASTORS ENTER BRETHREN MINISTRY

Rev. Charles M. Underwood, well known as the faithful pastor of the Wrigley Heights Baptist Church of Long Beach, recently became the pastor of the First Brethren Church of Glendale.

Sometime ago he asked to appear before the Brethren ministerial examining board, and after a satisfactory examination he was recommended to the pastorate at Glendale.

The Underwoods have been close friends for many years not only to the people of Fifth and Cherry but also to our group of churches in general. They began their work at Glendale as of March 1. We welcome them into the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, and pray that God's richest blessing may continue upon them for His glory.

A special baptismal service was conducted Wednesday evening, February 25, in accordance with the membership transfer of the Underwoods.

The pastor also had the privilege some weeks ago to officiate in the baptism of Rev. Alf Dodds and his family as they entered the fellowship of the Brethren Church. In accord with the call extended by the South Gate church and his appearance before the ministerial examining board, he became pastor at that place.—Charles W. Mayes, in Fifth and Cherry Light for March 6, 1953.

Additions to Membership

New Troy, Mich. ....	2
Spokane, Wash. ....	2
Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	4
Hagerstown, Md. ....	6
Dayton, Ohio (Bethany) ....	1
Los Angeles, Calif. (Second) ....	4

Public Confessions

San Bernardino, Calif. ....	2
Conemaugh, Pa. (Singer Hill) ..	2
Los Angeles, Calif. (Second) ...	5

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Beaumont, Calif. ....	8
-----------------------	---

Dedication of Babies

Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	6
Berrien Springs, Mich. ....	1

AWARD TO TAYLOR UNIVERSITY

Taylor University, of Upland, Ind., recently received an award from the Freedoms Foundation, according to Dr. Evan Bergwald, president of the school.

The basis of the award is the Venture of Victory, the Youth for Christ evangelism project which sponsored the basketball team of the school in a tour of the Orient in the summer of 1952.

Seven cagers, with Coach Don Odle, visited the Philippines, Formosa, Hong Kong, and Japan and played 87 games, winning 86 of them, before 300,000 people. The group paid their own way.

Each evening at half-time and after the game the young men witnessed to the audience and presented the Gospel. More than 10,000 people professed faith in Christ as Saviour.

Coach Odle, in conjunction with YFC, is planning a similar all-star Christian college squad for another trip this summer.

YRCA STARTS WORK IN MEXICO

Washington, D. C.

Our hearts were thrilled at the response to the invitation last Sunday (March 1), as 29 people stepped out for Jesus Christ—some for confession of faith in Him as Saviour, and others for dedication of life to Him. In the evening 12 people were baptized and received into the membership of the church.

The attendance was also good that day, with 236 people in Bible school, 203 in morning worship, 30 in the young people's noon fellowship, an equal number in the evening coffee hour, 35 in BYF, and 122 in the evening worship service.

Rev. Dale Crowley, local radio preacher, spoke for us March 15, while the pastor was holding a brief conference at the Buena Vista, Va., church.—James G. Dixon, pastor.

Covington, Ohio

The Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade team held meetings for us February 1-15. The team was composed of Evangelist R. Paul Miller and Song Leader Carlo Pietropaulo.

A fine spirit was manifested during the campaign. There were 12 first-time public confessions of faith, including a family of 4 people. There

Fifty miles south of Tijuana and 13 miles inland on a dirt road lies the Russian colony of Guadalupe. Here several hundred people have existed since the year 1904, when they fled the old country. They are of the same Molokan Russian group among whom we have worked in East Los Angeles for the past 15 years.

The Young Russian Christian Association, better known as the YRCA, in East Los Angeles, is now well-enough established in their own 18-room building to launch out into definite missionary work and use some of our Bible institute graduates and the 15 who are there at present.

The YRCA is purchasing a piece of property in Guadalupe on which they will start to build this summer, the Lord willing. The anticipated work will have a 9-room house, be-were also 14 rededications. On March 8 we witnessed 3 more public decisions for Christ.

In addition to the evening services we held 4 children's rallies, with an average attendance of 120. Also we were permitted to hold services in 4 local schools.

Last November we began a Happy Hour class for children each Wednesday afternoon and have continued it since then. Following the campaign we organized the Personal Crusaders, composed of 12 teams, for visiting and personal testimony.

We held a baptismal service for 12 sides a large room that will be used for the following: (1) Since the school in Guadalupe goes only to the 4th grade, the 5th and 6th grades will be taught in the mornings. (2) Recreation for various ages will be held in the afternoon. (3) Bible classes for the older folks will be taught throughout the week in the evenings. This method has been used very successfully in our Los Angeles work.

Alex and Helen Samarin will be the logical missionaries, as Alex speaks both Russian and Spanish and is a Bible institute graduate. Al is a brother of Bill Samarin, our Brethren missionary in Africa.

Pray for this work. Baja California is a hard field, as the Brethren well know, and we want no complications; so your interest and prayers will go a long way to keep this field open.—Jack Green, director.

people March 1 at the Troy church, 7 of whom have united with our church.

Our Sunday school attendance averages 80 a Sunday now.

We have a class in personal evangelism each Wednesday preceding the prayer meeting. Our textbook is "To Save a Soul From Death."—James O. Young, pastor.

Waynesboro, Pennsylvania

This church enjoyed a profitable 2 weeks with Evangelist William (Bill) Smith February 1-15. The attendance and interest was very good, with an average attendance for each service of 163. Brother Smith presented up-to-date, practical Bible messages with a strong appeal for the unsaved to accept Christ. He spoke on the radio twice and in the senior high school once.

Doug Baptisti, from Dillsburg, Pa., was the song leader and soloist. He conducted the musical program for the 2 weeks and did a splendid job. Along with his song leading he has a good testimony for the Lord Jesus Christ.

There are 8 persons soon to be baptized and received into our church membership as visible fruit of this campaign. There were a total of 19 public decisions made during this series of meetings, for which we praise the Lord.—Dennis I. Holliday, pastor.

ALEXANDRIA PLANS DEDICATION

The Alexandria, Va., church has long looked forward to the dedication of its own building. This is planned for the morning service of March 29, with Rev. Luther L. Grubb as the speaker. "God, the Great Architect" is the theme he plans to use. Miss Beverly Page, formerly with the choir of the Old Fashioned Revival Hour, is to be the soloist. Others helping in this service will be Dr. Homer A. Kent, Sr., Rev. Homer A. Kent, Jr., and Roy E. Glass, Jr. All of these people are of Winona Lake, Ind.

At noon a luncheon will be served in the basement of the new building. To encourage every person to remain for this meal, the bus will not take anyone home until after the afternoon program.

At 3 o'clock we plan to have a musical recital in connection with the dedication of our new Hammond organ, given in memory of Mrs. Mary E. Taylor, a charter member of this church. Mr. McMurry will be the organist and Miss Page the vocalist.

Beginning at 7:45 p. m. the same day, and continuing each night through April 3, Rev. John M. Aeby, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Philadelphia, Pa., will hold a Bible conference, using as his theme "What the Brethren Believe."

A cordial invitation is extended to all readers of the Brethren Missionary Herald to attend these services.—Kenneth L. Teague, pastor.

HISTORY OF PIKE BRETHREN CHURCH, CONEMAUGH, PA.

From "Annals of Jackson Township," by Bertha (Flora) Burkhardt

The history of the Pike Grace Brethren Church really begins in 1871, when E. A. Vickroy "deeded to the committee of German Baptists a tract of land at Mundy's Corner for the sum of one dollar." The committee was William Byers, Samuel Brallier, and Joseph Burkhardt.

The land was located across the road from where the Grace Brethren Church now stands, and at one time 2 churches stood there. The German Baptists, or Dunkards, and the Evangelical, or Albright church, as it was known, each had a church there. At one time the latter enjoyed an active membership, and the Mundys family, after whom the village was named, were members of the church. In 1910 the decline in membership made the disbanding of the church feasible and the building was torn down. Henry Ribblet, of Conemaugh, bought the lumber and it was used in the construction of a house in that town.

The Pike Brethren Church was moved across the road to where it now is in 1911, and money was donated for the work and also to remodel it. John Gray, of Ebensburg, gave money to have it moved, and Albert Hoy, of Johnstown, did the moving. Mrs. Thomas Davis, widow of Capt. Tom Davis, and a daughter of Joseph Burkhardt, early residents of the community, was a generous "giver." On January 9, 1912, the work was completed and dedication services held.

Mr. Gray bought 3 acres of land adjoining the church and sold it off in lots at $10 each, until he got what he paid for it, then donated the remainder of the land to the church to be used as a cemetery. The land was originally the Vickroy estate.

From time to time the church building has undergone repairs. When Rev. Forrest Byers, grandson of Elder William Byers, an early pastor of the church, was pastor, the interior of the edifice was changed considerably. Two rooms were added, and an outside entrance, leading to the basement, was added. A bell, the gift of the William Byers family, son of Elder Byers, was installed in the belfry. During the pastorate of Rev. Kenneth Ashman in the 1930's the value of the church property was greatly increased by the building of a modern Cape Cod cottage for use as a parsonage, and also a 2-car garage. Extensive repairs to the church building were also completed. The lawn was graded and seeded, walks built, and evergreen trees planted.

The Pike church employed the same ministers as did the Vinco Brethren Church, until a few years ago when each church was strong enough to support full-time ministers. The following served from 1886 on: Rev. Smouse, William Byers, Stephen Hildebrand, Joseph Reighard, Rev. Smith, Rev. Long, Rev. Koontz, Rev. Hall, Rev. Hollenbaugh (first names not known to writer), Roy Long, Earl Flora (brother of writer), Forrest Byers, J. L. Bowman, George Jones, Robert Ashman, Kenneth Ashman, Ord Gehman, Arthur Carey, and Clair Gartland, the present pastor.

When Rev. Kenneth Ashman was pastor, the name of the church was changed from First Brethren to Grace Brethren.

Organizations of the church are the Women's Missionary Council, Sisterhood of Mary and Martha (senior and junior groups), and Sky Pilots.

The number of members on the roll is 250 and the Sunday school membership is 350.

The church is an active, growing organization, and plans are under way for the building of a much-needed larger edifice. The groundbreaking service for this was held March 15.

Rev. John Teeter, who is a missionary to Brazil, and Rev. Adam Rager, pastor of the Artesia church in California, are from this church. Patty Ann Griffith, national president of the SMM, and Robert Griffith, student at Grace Theological Seminary, are also members of this church.

YFC LEADERS TO FLY TO JAPAN

Plans are being made for Trans-Ocean Airlines to take approximately 100 evangelists, pastors, and youth leaders from Oakland, Calif., to Tokyo, Japan, beginning August 3. The cost of the round-trip fare is $750.

The purpose of the trip is to take YFC leaders to attend the 6th World Congress on Evangelism, sponsored by Youth for Christ International, to be held at Tokyo August 9-16. The leaders plan to be gone 4 weeks, participating in 50 evangelistic crusades throughout Japan before returning.

The directors of the trip are Dr. Robert A. Cook, president of YFC; Rev. Ted Engstrom, executive secretary; and Rev. Hubert Mitchell, foreign secretary.

MR. STUDD'S MOTTO

"If Jesus Christ be God and died for me, then no sacrifice can be too great for me to make for Him."

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Osceola, Ind.....	March 15-29.....	Ward Miller.....	Walter Lepp.
Buena Vista, Va..	March 22-Apr. 5.	Galen Lingenfelter	Luther Grubb.
Alexandria, Va...	March 29.....	Kenneth Teague..	Grubb and Aeby.
Akron, Ohio.....	March 29-Apr. 5.	Harold Etling....	Conard Sandy.
Cedar Rapids, Iowa.....	March 29-Apr. 5.	Arnold Kr'gbaum	Herman Hoyt.
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ....	March 29-Apr. 19	Clyde Balyo.....	Michael Guido.
Ramona, Calif. ...	March 29-Apr. 3.	Grant McDonald..	Dr. C. H. Ashman.
Fort Wayne, Ind..	March 30-Apr. 2.	James Hammer...	John Whitcomb.
South Gate, Calif.	March 30-Apr. 19	Alfred Dodds.....	R. Paul Miller.
Harrisburg, Pa...	April 1-3.....	Russell Weber....	Ulysses Gingrich.
Meyersdale, Pa...	April 1-3.....	Leslie Moore.....	Leslie Moore.
Waterloo, Iowa...	April 1-5.....	.....	Paul Bauman.
Limestone, Tenn.	April 5-19.....	Randall Rossman.	William Smith.

5-53
 Rev. and Mrs. Blaine Snyder
 Winona Lake, Ind.

Browsing Among the Books

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the reader's attention some of the books that are being presented to the reading public today. Each book reviewed here will present a message of some merit and worthy of consideration, though a review of a book does not necessarily mean that the reviewer approves everything in it.

Any book mentioned in this column may be purchased from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

BUILDING CHURCH MEMBERSHIP THROUGH EVANGELISM, by Dawson C. Bryan. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press. 188 pp. Cloth. $2.

Contending that the church is the means that God uses to bring men to Christ and His way of life, the author presents a thought-provoking thesis on the importance of personal evangelism in present-day Christianity.

Demanding a Christocentric program, the appeal is made that the church, which is the body of Christ, is the means through which the Holy Spirit will operate for redemptive purposes.

A minute program, with detailed plans for effective evangelization of the "unchurched," is graphically presented. Stressing the importance of properly trained personal workers, the author suggests the means and the manner by which all types of "unchurched" folk might be effectively reached.

While the book bears evidence of a postmillennial view of world conversion, nevertheless the reviewer deems the book a practical and challenging one that every pastor interested in a live-wire church ought to read.—Arnold R. Kriegbaum.

THE CHURCH IN COMMUNITY ACTION, by Harvey Seifert. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press. 240 pp. Cloth. $2.75.

This author appeals for a "functional church" that will transform the world socially into a brotherhood, and disfavours the "institutional church" which is governed by a denominational program geared to an "individualistic" or "otherworldly" program.

A church to be "functional" must have ministers that are altruistic in their philosophical attitude and agree with Reinhold Niebuhr (liberal theologian) that such an attitude will guard against "spiritual tyranny." This would mean that the liberal and the conservative, the socialist and the capitalist, or the socialist and the communist must be in a united program with none, saying, "I have no need of thee."

While the book contains many practical suggestions which the conservative could profitably consider, yet evangelical Christianity could never endorse the core of this book, which presents "religion" and not New Testament Christianity. The theological applications in the book seem to leave Christ bereft of His omnipotence and give evidence of a taint of spiritism mixed with universalism.—Arnold R. Kriegbaum.

A HARMONY OF SAMUEL, KINGS, AND CHRONICLES, by William Day Crockett. Baker Book House. Cloth. $3.50.

As any harmony of the Gospels provides a chronology for the life of Christ, so this book is a harmony of the kings of Judah and Israel. The supplemental, analytical study outlined in this book will save many precious hours for the busy pastor in his understanding of these Old Testament books.—Arnold R. Kriegbaum.

THE TITHE, by George A. E. Salstrand. Baker Book House. c1952. Paper. 56 pp. 85c.

In writing this little book, Dr. Salstrand has used a great many quotations from other authors and 2 of his chapters are synopses of Dr. Henry Lansdell's large work, "The Sacred Tenth," but this by no means reduces the value of this brief and simply written discussion of "the minimum standard for Christian giving."

In the opening chapter, the importance of a study of tithing is dis-

By Leona D. Cole, Long Beach, Calif.

The air was filled with spikenard,
 From the lingering perfume
 Of Mary's costly ointment,
 When they laid Him in the tomb.

Upon a bed of spices
 Three nights and days He lay,
 Waiting in the darkness,
 The Resurrection Day.

The dawn-star in full splendor
 Was shining down upon
 The open tomb when Jesus
 Arose to greet the dawn.

So hushed that reverent moment;
 Not a gentle sound;
 The earth was softly breathing;
 Her singing heart unbound.

There came a voice of weeping
 Through the morning gloom;
 It was a woman grieving
 At the doorway of His tomb.

The words and smiles of angels
 No comfort could afford.
 He kindly uttered, "Mary,"
 She turned, and beheld the Lord.

All in heaven waited
 For Him to homeward start,
 While on earth He lingered
 To heal a broken heart.

CEF CONFERENCE IN DENVER

The annual conference of the Child Evangelism Fellowship is set for May 4-8 at the North Presbyterian Church, Denver, Colo. Missionary interests are to be featured in this conference.

The speakers include Rev. Franklin F. Ellis, international director of CEF; Dr. William W. Orr, Rev. V. F. Anderson, Miss Frances Bennett, and Mr. Earl Trude.

All people interested in the evangelization of the world's children are invited.

cussed. This is followed by chapters on tithe giving as it was practiced in various periods of sacred history, and in the light of the teaching of Christ, the apostles, and the early church fathers. The book is brought to a close with the statement of general conclusions. Probably the best chapter in the book is one devoted to the practical reasons for tithing.—Richard Jackson, Jr.

Foreign Mission Number

The Brethren
Missionary Herald

Volume 15, Number 14

April 4, 1953

as He said

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Joyous Words—"He Is Risen!"

No religion in the world has any comparable message of hope and cheer for dying men. The Christian faith fundamentally has only joyous and blessed truth—"He is risen!" He is Jesus Christ, God's only begotten Son and man's only redeeming Saviour. Because He is risen, we, too, shall rise! Death is the conquering enemy to all who are out of Christ, but it is the vanquished foe to all who are "in Christ Jesus" by personal faith.

But the World Doesn't Know

Thousands of so-called Christians will, by their doings or their failure to do, say, "And I won't tell." Such people remind me so much of the man who found a treasure and then ran and hid the treasure. He wanted to enjoy the treasure but not share it with others. Thank God for the thousands of real Christians who are answering, "We will tell!" One of the girls at the little old country school where I attended was always running about saying, "I know a secret and I won't tell." Need I say to you that she was a very unpopular girl? I'm very much afraid that those so-called Christians who know the secret of redeeming love, and won't tell, are very unpopular with the Lord Jesus Christ. He said, "Go quickly, and tell."

How Much Do We Love Him?

Fifty-eight dollars per person spent for alcohol last year—that's an enviable record, isn't it? But that's the report. Such was the average expenditure for every man, woman, and child in the United States. And we're asking for only an average of $15 per member for every member of the Brethren Church for foreign missions this year. Of course, if you give to foreign missions you probably did not spend a single cent for alcoholic drink—I hope you didn't anyway. But do we love the Lord Jesus and lost souls as much as the drinking person does his drink? You'll be able to read the answer of the Brethren Church in the offering reports following the receiving of the Easter offering for foreign missions.

A Million-Dollar Estate for Christ

A few days ago, according to the report of a Baptist pastor, a wealthy businessman in Dallas, Tex., signed his entire estate over to the Southern Baptist interests. He will have the joy of seeing his estate work for the Lord and His church. Thousands of others, reported the pastor, are holding on to their estates and will until the death angel comes. Then their estates will go for taxes, litigation, and the corruption of descendants. There must be hundreds of Brethren families who love the Lord and their church as much as did this godly Baptist gentleman. Why not bless Brethren foreign missions with your estate or a major part of it? In most States there is no inheritance tax, or a very nominal one, if the estate is left to Christian interests.

Believe It or Not

Last year we gave only $10 per member for every member of the Brethren Church to foreign missions. Our need for this year—just to maintain what we now have—is only $12.40 per member. And we can send out those awaiting appointment, in addition to all our present work, for only $15 per member for every member of the Brethren Church. What member of the Brethren Church can honestly say, "I have not wasted nor spent carelessly far more than $15 last year!"

Brethren people need to give $273,000 to foreign missions even more than foreign missions need the gift. Prosperity breeds selfishness, selfishness is beamed toward indulgence, and indulgence results only in spiritual heartbreak. The only answer is give, give, give, and give. Brethren people need to give $273,000 to foreign missions this year for their own spiritual health.

It Can Be Done!

No one sees the enormity of the task better than does your general secretary. With an increase of missionary personnel from 27 to 87 in 10 years, with 10 or 12 yearning for appointment to our mission fields this year, and with at least that number annually trained and presenting themselves, how great is the opportunity! How great is the blessing! How great is the challenge!

Our foreign mission income last year was $180,000. With the additional missionaries sent out during this year the expenditure will be at least $223,000—an increase of 24 percent. There are 10 or 12 now completing training and ready for appointment this fall. If we send these, our total needs will be at least $273,000—an increase of 51 percent. The flesh and little faith say, "Impossible." But—it can be done, if dedicated hearts desire it!

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

How You Can Support Our Foreign Mission Program—

A MINUTE!

AN HOUR!

A DAY!

A WEEK!

A MONTH!

Total Cost	Time Supported	Number Hearing Gospel	Number Accepting Christ
$ .42	One Minute	?	?
25.00	One Hour	17	1
611.00	One Day	411	27
4,288.00	One Week	2,885	192
18,583.00	One Month	12,500	833

A MINUTE?

AN HOUR?

A DAY?

A WEEK?

A MONTH?

"LORD, WHAT WILT THOU HAVE ME TO DO?"

I GO EXPLORING

By STEVE ALTIG

I want to go exploring up the Amazon River on a river boat. The Amazon is very wide, very muddy, and the current is very swift. It is the largest river in the whole wide world. There are sail-boats, canoes, launches, river boats, and great big ships that can go to Manaus. In some places there are sand bars and the big ships get stuck.

The kind of boat I want to go on is a 2-decker and is a wood-burning boat. They go slowly up the river and stop at little towns to unload and get wood for fuel. The day I got on it was raining real hard. This is usual. The food was very good, mainly beans and rice, called "feijoada." For breakfast there was only bread and coffee.

Sometimes I saw a porpoise diving in and out of the water. They say that this fish can turn into a person. When a person is in the water, if you whistle the porpoise will take him to shore.

Steve Altig

I saw big snakes along the shore. It is said that if a believer's hair drops into the water it will turn into a snake.

The houses on the shore are built upon stilts and have thatched roofs. They are built on stilts because the river rises and falls and they don't want their houses to be flooded.

On the boat I didn't do much but take pictures and eat and sleep. I went first-class because it was more comfortable. The third-class passengers go on the lowest deck with all the animals and freight.

I saw some interesting canoes. The man stands up in the back and rows with a long paddle attached to the boat by a ring. He swings it back and forth and still it does not go very fast.

When the big ocean liners passed our boat they made our boat rock. I was glad to get back home after my trip and sleep in a real bed.

(Editor's Note—The above was written by 9-year-old Steve Altig very recently for one of his classes at school in California. Steve and his mother are on furlough from Brazil. Brother Altig will join them in June. The picture of Steve was taken in Brazil several years ago.)

REPORT OF GIFTS

To the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church—December 1, 1952, to March 1, 1953

ATLANTIC DISTRICT
Allentown, Pa. ....	$ 10.66
Hagerstown, Md. ....	37.00
Harrisburg, Pa. ....	74.00
Philadelphia, Pa. (First) .....	14.40
Philadelphia, Pa. (Third) .....	20.95
Waynesboro, Pa. ....	80.75
Atlantic District Youth Fellowship .....	75.00
	312.76

First Brethren Church, Allentown, Pa.
Argentina General Fund .....	10.63

Grace Brethren Church, Hagerstown, Md.
Zielasko Funds .....	37.00

Melrose Gardens Brethren Church, Harrisburg, Pa.
Maconaghy Funds .....	14.00
Zielasko Funds .....	60.00
	74.00

First Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa.
Bickel Funds .....	14.40

Third Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa.
Bickel Funds .....	20.95

First Brethren Church, Waynesboro, Pa.
Maconaghy Funds .....	35.75
Zielasko Funds .....	45.00
	80.75

Atlantic District Youth Fellowship
France General Fund .....	75.00

CALIFORNIA DISTRICT
Artesia .....	43.88
Bell .....	13.00
Bellflower .....	30.00
Fillmore .....	45.85
La Verne .....	34.00
Long Beach (First) .....	2,131.14
Long Beach (Second) .....	20.00
Long Beach (Paramount) .....	2.00
Los Angeles (First) .....	86.00
Los Angeles (Second) .....	1,857.91
Los Angeles (Third) .....	140.00
Modesto (Christian Center) .....	14.53
Modesto (La Loma) .....	347.50
Phoenix, Ariz. ....	10.21
San Bernardino .....	12.00
San Diego .....	10.00
Seal Beach .....	100.00
South Gate .....	15.58
South Pasadena .....	150.69
South San Gabriel .....	33.79
Tracy .....	85.70
Whittier (Community) .....	120.00
Whittier (First) .....	20.00
California District .....	464.00
California District SMM .....	5.00
California District WMC .....	60.35
California District Young People's Camps .....	10.00
	5,863.13

Carson Avenue Brethren Church, Artesia, Calif.
Africa Leper Fund .....	19.88
Teeter Funds .....	15.00
Zielasko Funds .....	9.00
	43.88

Bell Brethren Church, Bell, Calif.
General Fund .....	1.00
Foster Funds .....	12.00
	13.00

First Brethren Church, Bellflower, Calif.
General Fund .....	30.00

First Brethren Church, Fillmore, Calif.
Foster Funds .....	22.05
E. Myers Funds .....	11.80
Zielasko Funds .....	12.00
	45.85

First Brethren Church, La Verne, Calif.
Zielasko Funds .....	34.00

First Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif.
General Fund .....	1,773.14
Africa Leper Fund .....	15.00

Baja Calif. General Fund .....	20.00
Balzer Funds .....	12.00
Foster Funds .....	5.00
Kliever Funds .....	5.00
E. Myers Funds .....	5.00
Samarin Funds .....	51.00
Teeter Funds .....	25.00
Zielasko Funds .....	220.00
	2,131.14

Second Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif.
Balzer Funds .....	5.00
E. Myers Funds .....	15.00
	20.00

Paramount Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif.
Foster Funds .....	2.00

First Brethren Church, Los Angeles, Calif.
General Fund .....	26.00
Foster Funds .....	50.00
E. Myers Funds .....	10.00
	86.00

Second Brethren Church, Los Angeles, Calif.
General Fund .....	40.00
Balzer Funds .....	1,800.00
E. Myers Funds .....	17.91
	1,857.91

Third Brethren Church, Los Angeles, Calif.
Brazil Special Fund .....	135.00
Balzer Funds .....	5.00
	140.00

Brethren Christian Center, Modesto, Calif.
Foster Funds .....	7.00
E. Myers Funds .....	7.53
	14.53

La Loma Grace Brethren Church, Modesto, Calif.
Foster Funds .....	5.00
Garber Funds .....	332.50
Zielasko Funds .....	10.00
	347.50

First Brethren Church, Phoenix, Ariz.
E. Myers Funds .....	10.21

Arrowhead Avenue Brethren Church, San Bernardino, Calif.
Zielasko Funds .....	12.00

First Brethren Church, San Diego, Calif.
Balzer Funds .....	10.00

First Brethren Church, Seal Beach, Calif.
General Fund .....	100.00

First Brethren Church, South Gate, Calif.
Foster Funds .....	15.58

Fremont Avenue Brethren Church, South Pasadena, Calif.
General Fund .....	20.69
E. Myers Funds .....	5.00
Teeter Funds .....	125.00
	150.69

Grace Brethren Church, South San Gabriel, Calif.
General Fund .....	21.85
Africa Leper Fund .....	11.94
	33.79

First Brethren Church, Tracy, Calif.
General Fund .....	60.00
Foster Funds .....	15.70
Zielasko Funds .....	10.00
	85.70

Community Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif.
Africa Special Fund .....	120.00

First Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif.
General Fund .....	20.00

California District
General Fund .....	11.00
Africa Leper Fund .....	400.00
Baja Calif. General Fund .....	10.00
Balzer Funds .....	18.00
Kliever Funds .....	15.00

Samarin Funds .....	10.00
	464.00
California District SMM
E. Myers Funds .....	5.00
California District WMC
Baja Calif. Special Fund .....	50.35
Balzer Funds .....	10.00
	60.35

California District Young People's Camps
Balzer Funds .....	10.00

CENTRAL DISTRICT
Berne, Ind. ....	22.00
Berrien Springs, Mich. ....	2.00
Covington, Ohio .....	24.39
Dayton, Ohio (Bethany) .....	50.00
Flora, Ind. ....	79.00
Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	59.00
Leesburg, Ind. ....	51.00
New Troy, Mich. ....	7.00
Peru, Ind. ....	35.00
South Bend, Ind. ....	39.00
Troy, Ohio .....	31.00
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	31.05
Central District .....	80.00
Central District WMC .....	29.81
	540.25

Bethel Brethren Church, Berne, Ind.
Teeter Funds .....	5.00
Zielasko Funds .....	17.00
	22.00

Grace Brethren Tabernacle, Berrien Springs, Mich.
Zielasko Funds .....	2.00

First Brethren Church, Covington, Ohio
General Fund .....	18.39
Geske Funds .....	6.00
	24.39

Bethany Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio
General Fund .....	50.00

Grace Brethren Church, Flora, Ind.
Africa Special Fund .....	60.00
Zielasko Funds .....	19.00
	79.00

First Brethren Church, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Mason Funds .....	25.00
Zielasko Funds .....	34.00
	59.00

Leesburg Brethren Church, Leesburg, Ind.
General Fund .....	4.00
Africa Special Fund .....	7.00
E. Miller Funds .....	40.00
	51.00

New Troy Brethren Church, New Troy, Mich.
V. Meyers Funds .....	7.00

Peru Brethren Church, Peru, Ind.
General Fund .....	4.00
Zielasko Funds .....	31.00
	35.00

Sunnyside Brethren Church, South Bend, Ind.
General Fund .....	20.00
Zielasko Funds .....	19.00
	39.00

Grace Brethren Church, Troy, Ohio
Zielasko Funds .....	31.00

Winona Lake Brethren Church, Winona Lake, Ind.
General Fund .....	4.05
V. Meyers Funds .....	5.00
Teeter Funds .....	5.00
Zielasko Funds .....	17.00
	31.05

Central District
General Fund .....	70.00
Schrock Funds .....	5.00
Ruth Snyder Funds .....	5.00
	80.00

Central District WMC			Maconaghy Funds .....	15.00		First Brethren Church, Wooster, Ohio
Byron Funds	29.81				17.00	Maconaghy Funds	57.00
EAST DISTRICT			Iowa District			Teeter Funds	81.55
Aleppo, Pa.	13.00		General Fund	100.00			138.55
Altoona, Pa.	23.50		MIDWEST DISTRICT			Northern Ohio District
Everett, Pa.	13.15		Cheyenne, Wyo.	50.00		General Fund	90.00
Hopewell, Pa.	16.74		Cordillera, N. Mex.	13.50		Hoyt Funds	15.00
Johnstown, Pa. (Riverside)	5.00		Denver, Colo.	5.00			105.00
Leamersville, Pa.	36.36					NORTHWEST DISTRICT
Martinsburg, Pa.	320.00					Albany, Oreg.	5.00
Meyersdale, Pa.	33.00					Harrah, Wash.	5.00
Parkersburg, W. Va.	10.00					Seattle, Wash.	310.00
Summit Mills, Pa.	9.31					Sunnyside, Wash.	43.50
Uniontown, Pa.	35.55		First Brethren Church, Cheyenne, Wyo.			Yakima, Wash.	21.00
Washington, Pa.	1.00		General Fund	50.00		Northwest District	1.00
East District WMC	50.90		Cordillera Brethren Church,				385.50
	557.60		Cordillera, N. Mex.			Grace Brethren Church, Albany, Oreg.
Aleppo Brethren Church, Aleppo, Pa.			Zielasko Funds	13.50		General Fund	5.00
Zielasko Funds	13.00					Harrah Brethren Church, Harrah, Wash.
First Brethren Church, Altoona, Pa.			Denver Grace Brethren Church,			General Fund	5.00
Bickel Funds	23.50		Denver, Colo.
Everett Grace Brethren Church, Everett, Pa.			E. Myers Funds	5.00		Seattle Brethren Bible Class, Seattle, Wash.
Maconaghy Funds	13.15		NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT			General Fund	300.00
Yellow Creek Brethren Church,			Akron	219.00		E. Myers Funds	10.00
Hopewell, Pa.			Ankenytown	31.59			310.00
Maconaghy Funds	12.74		Canton	23.00		First Brethren Church, Sunnyside, Wash.
Munn Funds	4.00		Cuyahoga Falls	44.45		Zielasko Funds	43.50
	16.74		Danville	15.15		Grace Brethren Church, Yakima, Wash.
Riverside Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa.			Mansfield	107.70		Zielasko Funds	21.00
Teeter Funds	5.00		Middlebranch	61.00
Leamersville Brethren Church,			Rittman	46.27		Northwest District
Leamersville, Pa.			Wooster	138.55		General Fund	1.00
Bickel Funds	18.35		Northern Ohio District	105.00
Zielasko Funds	20.00			791.71		SOUTHEAST DISTRICT
	36.35		First Brethren Church, Akron, Ohio			Limestone, Tenn.	56.00
First Brethren Church, Martinsburg, Pa.			Brazil Special Fund	200.00		Roanoke, Va. (Ghent)	98.56
Sumey Funds	320.00		Zielasko Funds	19.00		Roanoke, Va. (Wash. Heights)	10.00
Meyersdale Brethren Church, Meyersdale, Pa.				219.00		Southeast District	7.50
Bickel Funds	15.00		First Brethren Church, Ankenytown, Ohio				172.06
Maconaghy Funds	17.00		Byron Funds	20.00		Vernon Brethren Church, Limestone, Tenn.
	33.00		Maconaghy Funds	11.59		Maconaghy Funds	28.00
First Brethren Church, Parkersburg, W. Va.				31.59		Zielasko Funds	28.00
Mason Funds	10.00		First Brethren Church, Canton, Ohio				56.00
Summit Mills Brethren Church,			Grace Brethren Church,			Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.
Meyersdale, Pa.			Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio			Africa Special Fund	40.00
Bickel Funds	9.30		Byron Funds	12.25		Maconaghy Funds	44.56
First Brethren Church, Uniontown, Pa.			Maconaghy Funds	21.20		Zielasko Funds	14.00
Bickel Funds	8.54		Zielasko Funds	11.00			98.56
Maconaghy Funds	28.01			44.45		Washington Heights Brethren Church,
	35.55		Danville Brethren Church, Danville, Ohio			Roanoke, Va.
Laboratory Grace Brethren Church,			Byron Funds	7.80		Maconaghy Funds	10.00
Washington, Pa.			Maconaghy Funds	7.35
Bickel Funds	1.00			15.15		Southeast District
East District WMC			Grace Brethren Church, Mansfield, Ohio			Maconaghy Funds	7.50
Bickel Funds	50.00		Brazil Special Fund	50.00
IOWA DISTRICT			Byron Funds	37.70		NATIONAL MISCELLANEOUS DISTRICT
Cedar Rapids	17.00		Maconaghy Funds	20.00		General Fund	5.00
Iowa District	100.00			107.70		Balzer Funds	100.00
	117.00		First Brethren Church, Middlebranch, Ohio			Rottler Funds	10.00
Grace Brethren Church, Cedar Rapids, Iowa			Byron Funds	10.00		Zielasko Funds	2.00
Byron Funds	2.00		Kliever Funds	25.00			117.00
			Zielasko Funds	26.00			8,935.51
				61.00		Gifts outside the F. M. S.	87.24
			First Brethren Church, Rittman, Ohio			Total gifts	9,022.75
			Teeter Funds	27.27		Homer A. Kent, treasurer.
			Zielasko Funds	19.00		Ruth E. Reddick, financial secretary.
				46.27

TWO FAMILIES TO LEAVE FOR FOREIGN FIELDS

May 1 has been set tentatively as the date when Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise will leave for Honolulu, Hawaii. This couple is going out on a basis of self-support. We are caring only for passage and transportation costs. They purpose to earn their own livelihood as they minister to the present believers there, and seek to fully establish a self-supporting Brethren church.

Rev. and Mrs. Victor Meyers and 2 children expect to leave for Argentina by the middle of May, having now received their visas for entry into that land.

LEPROSY

A Chinese leper once said, "I am glad I am a leper! For, if I had not been a leper, I would never have come to this mission hospital. If I had not come to this hospital, I would never have heard about Jesus. I had rather be a leper knowing Jesus than to be free from leprosy without knowing Him!"—The Evangel.

"My son, if God has called you to be a missionary, your Father would be grieved to see you shrivel down into a king."—Spurgeon.

AN EASTER MESSAGE FROM AFRICA

Bozoum, Africa, February 7, 1953.

Dear Friends,

At this Easter season we again greet you in His wonderful name!

How we do praise the Lord for a risen, living Saviour, who not only saves from sin, but who keeps and satisfies. Our hearts are thrilled to be able to give forth this glorious message of salvation, and continually to see souls being saved, coming out of darkness into His marvelous light. "Great is Thy faithfulness!"

Some 30 years ago French Equatorial Africa was closed to the Gospel, but God gave our Brother Gribble a vision of this large unevangelized territory and, through much prayer and perseverance, those ironclad doors were opened and missionaries were granted permission to preach the Gospel. The Brethren Church has been so faithful these many years in supporting this work with prayers and gifts and, because of this, thousands have come to know the Lord and enjoy this great salvation.

In a recent 2-weeks Bible school that was held at Bozoum, the native pastors, together with the missionary pastor, talked over the work and the needs for the coming year. These men could readily see there were not sufficient workers to cover the field and the people were asking that pastors be sent to their villages. These needy souls are still waiting to hear more of this "good news," but at present there is no one to send. Our chapels are filled and overflowing, the harvest fields are white, doors are still wide open to the Gospel, but many are still unsaved. The needs are so great, not only here but in other parts of the world; our prayer is that the Brethren Church may rally as never before to give and pray that others may be sent forth speedily. "Tomorrow may be too late!"

Just this week a Communist representative visited our village. We have such representatives all about us, but daily God's work goes forth unhindered, for which we are truly thankful. Then, too, a few days ago we were making a visit to one of the French families and we passed several men carrying a large cross painted red. The sign on it read "La Mission Catholic." When we returned home this cross had been planted at the entrance of our mission road—our nearest Gbaya village. These are just a few of the things we see, but, praise the Lord, His Word standeth sure.

Mrs. Jobson giving the Word on a "bush" trip.

Dear friends, let us be willing to really sacrifice at this Easter season, and may our hearts be filled with praise because we, too, have a share in witnessing until He comes. "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."

Yours for Africa,

Mrs. Orville D. Jobson.

Lion Hunting

(A PARABLE FROM AFRICA)

By Miss Ruth Snyder

Not long ago a native from far out in the bush described an old-fashioned lion hunt for us. As we listened, we gasped to think of the courage displayed by the savage hunters of a bygone day.

A lion hunt must be well-organized. Should one thing go wrong many lives might be lost. Each man sharpens his spear and tests its flexibility before he risks his life facing the king of the beasts. From among the brave, strong men of the village one is chosen to be the target for the lion. "Ah," you say, "this is a lion hunt, not a man hunt." True, but one man becomes the center of the hunt. The other men are divided into 2 groups, one of which goes on either side of the center man.

Taking his shield, this target man advances toward the lion to antagonize the beast. When the lion springs, the hunter is ready with his shield. Instead of pouncing upon the man, the lion lands upon the shield with which the hunter is guarding himself. The man then swings his shield over his head, thus throwing the lion behind him. The anger of the lion is aroused against the man. As the lion prepares to pounce again, the one group of hunters throw their spears at him. His anger is only with the man in the middle. He has quickly reversed his position and prepared his shield for the return onslaught of the lion. Once again the lion pounces on the man, only to be thrown back over the hunter's head by his adroitness with the shield. As the lion lands at the man's back the other group of men throw their spears. This is repeated for as many as 5 or 6 times before the lion is finally killed.

Is it any wonder that our hearts bounded to hear of the courage of these Africans? But, alas, Africa has an enemy who "as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour." What shall the target man do for a shield?

We seem to hear the Word of the Lord coming to one of the fathers, "Fear not, Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward." And once again, "Happy art thou . . . O people saved by the Lord, the shield of thy help."

This is the day to be throwing our spears at the lion as he seeks to pounce upon Africa. With the shield of the Lord God between us and the adversary, there is no danger from the lion. Is not this generation as brave as the elder? Are there not those who will brave the enemy of men's souls to announce to the African that God is a shield to them that put their trust in Him?

A Report From Macapa

By Edward D. Miller

In the vast Amazon Valley there are many towns and villages where the only access to the outside world is by boat. The town of Mazagao, in the Federal Territory of Amapa, is a typical example. Although small airplanes are able to land here—and I have made the trip from Macapa to Mazagao several times in the governor's "Bonanza" (airplane)—most of the travel to and from this town is either by motorboat or canoas.

In December of 1952 we completed the building of a small chapel in Mazagao and since that time we have had a national worker in charge. During one of my trips of investigation to Mazagao I came in contact with a young man by the name of Jose Paulino Feitosa. He had been a Christian for a few years and had labored with other missionaries during this time, but he had never been baptized nor had he united with any denomination. After talking with him upon several occasions, he was convinced that the Brethren doctrine was correct and thus, through the leading of the Lord, this young man united with the Brethren Church along with his wife and 2 small children.

Since January of this year we have had regular Sunday services with Sunday school in the morning and preaching at night. On Wednesday evening there is prayer meeting and on Friday evening a Bible class. All of these services are conducted by the Brazilians themselves, with the help of the missionary about once a month. Certainly we have much to be thankful for, and we ought to pray continually for this small group of believers, along with our evangelist in charge, Brother Feitosa. This is the first town in Brazil where we have established a witness and built a church with a national worker in charge.

On Sunday, February 8, it was my privilege to baptize our first converts in Mazagao. After Sunday school at 9 o'clock in the morning we all went down to the river, along the main street, and 5 adults, in obedience to our Lord's command, were baptized by trine immersion. Needless to say, it was a blessed experience, not only for those baptized but also for the writer, since it was his first experience in performing this ceremony.

More than 1,750,000 Bibles were distributed in 1952 by the Japan Bible Society, it was announced in Tokyo. This brings to 12,883,023 the total issued by the society since the end of the war. One of the society's most successful activities during the past year was the distribution of Bibles to Koreans on Tsushima Island, off Japan's west coast. These Koreans had been deported from Japan as undesirables but they were refused permission by the Korean government to reenter their native country. The success of this campaign has led the Japan Bible Society to undertake a drive, in cooperation with Korean churches in Tokyo, to provide Koreans throughout Japan with Bibles.—The Alliance Weekly.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GROUP,
MAZAGAO, BRAZIL

---

THE FIVE BAPTIZED ON FEBRUARY 8 IN MAZAGAO, BRAZIL

(Bro. Feitosa, wife, and baby are in center of picture.)

ALMOST TOO LATE

By Mrs. C. B. Sheldon, Bellevue, Africa

The Gospel came almost too late for Semkona. He came to see us when we met for a workers' conference at his village in November. He did not come empty-handed, but brought a young goat, a chicken, and a few eggs. He didn't bring these gifts in order that he might receive an even larger gift as so many do, but he brought them because he loved his Lord and loved His messengers.

Semkona has seen many moons rise and wane. He has waited for the rains to come so he could plant his peanuts, and he has rejoiced with others of his tribe when they first saw the moon that welcomed in the dry season. This meant bush fires, and hunting, and the hopes of an animal, for hadn't "meat hunger killed them for many days"? Ever since he could remember he had made offerings of food to the spirits of his ancestors. His heart was seeking rest but found it not in the many offerings and sacrifices. He wanted something better, but no one came to tell him. The messenger of God seemed so late.

Away across the ocean folks heard of the waiting ones in central Africa. To many of them it brought no response, but a few said they would go. Some others gave of their money to send them on their way. A few faithful ones did not forget to pray for them either. So one day a messenger came with the good news and Semkona accepted the Lord and has since been serving Him. He wanted to learn to read, but his eyes had grown dim. His spirit was not dimmed, for he believed and witnessed to others around him. When one of our Bellevue workers was there once he was astonished to see how this old man had grasped the teachings of his Lord and how eager he was to talk of Him. Once when we were trying to record some of their folklore we asked him about some of it because we knew his memory went back to days of Arab slave raiders, and that he knew so much about their ancestor worship. He surprised us by saying that he didn't remember these things very well since the Gospel had come into his heart.

Semkona brought another old man to hear the Gospel, but his heart had gone so long after idol worship that he could not make the break. We hope that he will still come, but we don't know. The hour is growing late. We must take the Gospel to many more villages this year, this month, right NOW, or else many more will pass on into eternity while we put off telling them that Christ died for them.

"The restless millions await the light of Him

Whose dawning maketh all thing new,

Christ also waits, but men are slow and few.

Have we done what we could? Have I? Have you?"

Miss

Myers

riding in a "push."

BACK TO AFRICA

Yes, we are going back to Africa on our mission to tell the "good news" which the Lord expressed in the hearing of His disciples—wherein eternal life doth consist and the means whereby it is obtained and enjoyed. In His prayer in John 17:3 He says: "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

The people in Africa do not know the only true God unless they are told of Him. In their hearts of fear, ignorance, and superstition they bow down to wooden idols, bringing their offerings of a chicken or goat. Their natural life is full of sorrow for they know not the communion and fellowship of the true and living God. They know not the gift of God's love, even Jesus Christ whom He sent that they might have life more abundantly, nor the fruit of the indwelling power—the Holy Spirit. They know not how precious Jesus is in undertaking for us, coming down into our nature to accomplish our salvation, paying the debt for us and abolishing death for us. Thus, through the ignorance that is in them, their worship is to appease idols.

Oh, we long that the natives in Africa may know the true and living God and Jesus whom He sent to save them. He is the One they need to banish all their fears and to scatter their superstitions and to dry up their tears and give them a joy unspeakable.

I wish to thank all of you here at home for your kindnesses to me while I was on furlough. I did so enjoy the fellowship of my loved ones and old friends, and I have met many new ones as I traveled among the churches. I praise the Lord for the love for souls our Brethren Church manifests in the sending forth of missionaries to unevangelized places.

As I am leaving the homeland again to tell the heathen of our blessed Lord, I give myself anew to Him to live or die for Him. "I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord." And I cry as did Paul, "That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection.—Estella Myers, Nzoro, Africa.

A

Boai

chief

(left),

and

Semkona

What About the New Work in Buenos Aires, Argentina?

By Solon W. Hoyt

Several months have passed by without so much as one word from us, mainly because of our own uncertainty and even an inability to formulate an opinion. Now we feel a bit more oriented and capable of offering a worth-while account of the new Brethren testimony here in Buenos Aires.

The First Problem

Where shall we locate? After Brethren Schrock and Marshall had made some investigations in and around Buenos Aires, and after considerable discussion in the field council meetings, we were all agreed that the problem of location is one which can only be decided finally after living in the area to be reached. Therefore, we were to locate here wherever we could find a house to rent.

A Bigger Problem

Because of a tremendous influx of immigrants from Europe and a general movement from the country to the city, the housing situation throughout the towns and cities of Argentina has been taxed to the limit. But here in this area it has been by far the most acute because most of the immigrants have settled down close to the port of entry and hundreds from the interior have rushed to Buenos Aires to seek higher wages in the factories, which are almost exclusively in this area. After several weeks of searching in every way, shape, and form that it could be done, the Lord directed us to the place in which we now live. The rent is exorbitant, but we have learned not to complain about that since others are paying much more in comparison to what they receive. This house is located in a very new section of a new suburb called Don Bosco. We are 7½ miles from Buenos Aires proper which is just 26 minutes by train. Since we are only 4 blocks from the train station and trains go to Buenos Aires every 18 minutes and sometimes oftener, we may consider ourselves quite well located. This suburb is one of 4 which are built so closely together that one cannot know where to make the divisions between them. People living at the farthest point from us in any of these 4 suburbs could easily attend our meetings, since it would take only from 20 to 30 minutes at the most by bus.

We moved into the house about September 4, and it took exactly 1 month more to get everything out of

The Suburb of Don Bosco

The Hoyt

home in

Don Bosco,

Argentina.

(Note 3

Hoyt

children at entrance.)

customs and get things more or less settled and running smoothly.

Two Months of Ups and Downs

During the months of October and November our sole work was house-to-house personal evangelism. Since we knew no one as yet, we didn't know what to do about the children so we could go out together in this house-to-house personal work. We finally decided to take the youngest (Aldo) with us, since we would be visiting first near the house, and leave the other 2. This worked out very nicely and when the time came that we needed someone with whom to leave all 3, the Lord directed us to a neighbor girl of about 16.

Some days we would return filled with joy for the privileges we had had to testify and present the Gospel; other days we returned discouraged and blue. As a whole, however, we had to feel that there is a more open and unbiased attitude on the part of the people here as compared with those of the interior. Very few refused the tracts and a goodly number talked at length with us about spiritual things.

We must confess that our discouragement at times only revealed to us our constant need of His help and direction. Satan is able to check one's effectiveness greatly by discouragement. Has not God promised that His Word will not return void? Upon a careful, calm consideration of the facts, we always had to conclude that the picture was brighter than any we had seen before in this country.

(To Be Concluded in Next Foreign Mission Number)

The Roman Catholic population of Japan has increased by more than one-half in the last 5 years. On June 30, 1952, there were 171,785 Catholics in Japan, a 57-percent gain over 1947.—The Alliance Weekly.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The speaking engagements of Rev. R. I. Humbert, Flora, Ind., for April include Bryan University, Dayton, Tenn., 11-12; the Christian Missionary Alliance Church and Southeastern Bible College, both of Birmingham, Ala., 13-17; Calvary Baptist Church, Athens, Ga., 19-23; Toccoa Falls Institute, Toccoa Falls, Ga., 24; Christian Women's Business Council, Youth for Christ, and the Scripture Stall, all of Salisbury, N. C., 24-28; and the Bible Class, Bessemer City, N. C., 27.

Miss Shirley Degan, of the Washington, D. C., church, was awarded a national "Young American Medal for Service" following a contest sponsored by the Department of Justice.

On March 20 the Long Beach, Calif., First church was host to the California Association of Christian Schools in a day-long convention, attended by approximately 300 people. Also on the same day, the church entertained the Long Beach Division of Christian Endeavor for its spring banquet, at which Dr. Chester Padgett was the speaker.

Funeral services for Mr. Joe Lang, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, were held March 3.

On March 7 Dr. Charles W. Mayes conducted the funeral service of Mrs. Helen Lodge Taylor, the 82-year-old widow of a former Presbyterian pastor and faithful attendant in later years at the Long Beach, Calif., First church.

On March 8 the Los Angeles, Calif., Second church received 4 members, all junior-high girls, and on March 15 witnessed 13 public decisions following the showing of the film, "Mr. Texas." The pastor of this church is Henry G. Rempel.

Pastor Robert Miller, of Roanoke, Va., spoke to the district ministerium

March 17 and to the Virginia Asher Business Women's Bible Council, Roanoke, March 19.

Mr. J. P. Oblinger, of the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, died early in March.

At the Spokane, Wash., church, pastored by William H. Schaffer, 10 people publicly confessed Christ as Saviour during the first week of Evangelist Robert Ashman's campaign there, March 8-15. In the children's Happy Hour the attendance rose from 43 to 104.

According to Pastor Gene Farrell, members of the Young Russian Christian Association, with their leader, Jack Green, conducted the evening service March 15 at the Beaumont, Calif., church. This church is rapidly completing its new building in the Cherry Valley section of Beaumont.

The Osceola, Ind., church, pastored by Ward Miller, began junior church services March 1, with Mrs. Violet Garrison in charge. On March 15 this church was host to the Osceola Girl Scouts for the morning worship service. This church and the local Twin Branch Bible Church plan a sunrise service April 5 at the Bible church, with Pastor Miller as the speaker.

Mitsuo Fuchida, leader of the Japanese air attack on Pearl Harbor, but since won to the Lord Jesus Christ, now working with the Sky Pilots and traveling with Elmer Sachs, spoke at the Listie, Pa., church March 13 and at the Uniontown, Pa., church March 14.

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church observed the birthdays of Pastor and Mrs. Glenn O'Neal the first week in March, when 152 people gathered in their honor and gave them useful gifts. On March 4 the prayer meeting was attended by 84 people.

The Winona Lake, Ind., church has planned a sunrise breakfast at a local restaurant April 5.

Mrs. Rosemary Hakes, formerly of the San Gabriel Academy, the Christian day school associated with the Temple City, Calif., church, has gone to Counselor Post, N. Mex., to replace Miss Angie Garber, who became ill, in the Indian school.

To Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Howard, of San Ysidro, Calif., missionaries to Baja California, a son, Thomas Alden, was born March 17.

While Pastor Miles Taber, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, was holding special meetings at the Allentown, Pa., church, March 10-22, the pulpit at Ashland was occupied by 4 young men of the church who are students at Grace Theological Seminary: Don Bishop, Don Farner, Dick Messner, and Dean Risser.

Rev. George W. Kinzie preached at the Dayton, Ohio, First church March 22, while Pastor William A. Steffler was concluding special meetings at the Clay City, Ind., church.

Mrs. Lulu Champion, member of the Dayton, Ohio, First church since January 19, 1931, died March 16.

The Leesburg, Ind., church, pastored by Nathan Meyer, had 89 people present in Sunday school March 15, and 91 March 22.

The average attendance at the morning service of the Compton, Calif., church for February was 159, an increase of 22 over the same month in 1952, and for the evening service the average was 106, an increase of 23, according to Pastor Norman Nelson. Rev. Oscar Stern, a refugee from Czechoslovakia, spoke at this church March 22.

Mrs. Edwin J. Jones, who with her husband pioneered the beginning of the Brethren testimony in Honolulu, underwent surgery in a Honolulu hospital March 18.

The Southeast District is sponsoring an overnight youth rally at the Limestone, Tenn., church, pastored by Randall Rossman, April 10-11. Speakers for the rally are Evangelist William Smith and Youth Director Ralph Colburn.

Mac Lopez and a gospel team from the Bible Institute of Los Angeles conducted the evening service at the Whittier, Calif., First church March 22, where Carl E. Sisson is interim pastor.

Remember, God is counting on us to make it possible for the 87 Brethren foreign missionaries to continue preaching the Gospel to others in far-away places.

THESE REQUESTS WILL GUIDE YOUR APRIL PRAYING

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray that the Lord's people, at this Easter season, may give more prayerfully and sacrificially than ever to the work of foreign missions, that new missionaries may continue to go forth to our various fields where the Gospel is so greatly needed.

2. Praise the Lord for the safe arrival of the John Teeter family in Brazil on March 14. Pray for them and for the Zielaskos in their study of the Portuguese language.

3. Pray for Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise, who expect to leave for Honolulu about May 1 to undertake missionary work on a self-supporting basis.

4. Praise the Lord for supplying the Argentine visas for the Victor Meyers family. Pray for them as they make final preparations to sail for Argentina by the middle of May.

5. Pray for Mrs. Hill Maconaghy, who will undergo surgery April 9 in a Philadelphia hospital. Pray for her rapid recovery so that she and her husband may return to Argentina as soon as possible.

6. Continue to pray definitely for the 4 nurses in Belgium at the School of Tropical Nursing. Their course of study is entirely in the French language and is most difficult.

7. Pray for those continuing their studies in France. The Garbers and Kennedys expect to leave for Africa the latter part of June. The Masons and Charles Tabers will remain for a longer period of study in France.

8. Pray for the Fogles as they pioneer a Brethren testimony in Lyon, France. Pray also for the Solon Hoyt family in the new field of Buenos Aires, Argentina.

9. Pray for wisdom for Brother Barnard in consultation with Brethren Haag and Howard as they plan for the future work in Baja California.

10. Pray for the new school year of the Bible institute in Africa, that both faculty and students may be led of the Lord in every activity.

11. Pray that the Missionary Outfit Clubs in the various churches may be blessed of the Lord, and that sufficient funds may come through this channel to care for the outfit needs of the John Teeter family.

12. Praise the Lord for the new Christians and baptized believers in all our fields. Pray that they will grow in the faith and be constant witnesses of the saving power of the Lord Jesus Christ.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the development of a new Brethren church in Wheaton, Ill. It is necessary to find another meeting place, as the model home used for that purpose has been sold. Pray for this immediate need.

2. Pray that the new Bible club and the new boys club work sponsored by the First Brethren Church of Cleveland, Ohio, may be used as channels for reaching new folks for Christ and the church.

3. The national BYF project is to erect a chapel at a new village, Arroyo Seco, in the Taos area. Pray for this very promising work among the Spanish American people.

4. Remember in prayer the work of Parkersburg, W. Va., where the pastor, Lester Smitley, is supporting himself and working to build a church at the same time. Pray especially that the Lord may direct these people in selecting His location for a church.

5. Pray for a good response to the Minute Man letter for Findlay, Ohio, that funds will be made available soon to start a much-needed building program.

6. Pray for the Navaho Mission School work and especially for Miss Angie Garber that she will be completely restored to health. Also remember the one who is taking her place in teaching the children.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Continue to praise God for the way He has been meeting the regular financial needs of the school through the monthly envelope plan.

2. Continue to pray for the finances of the school, and especially that the extra funds may come in to care for the campus projects, including sidewalks and paving, which must be undertaken this spring.

3. Continue to pray for those soon to graduate, that God will lead them into His place of service. Remember especially those looking toward our mission fields, but who must take up some temporary service while awaiting funds to go to the field.

4. Pray for the administrative committee of the faculty and for the executive committee of the board of trustees upon whom many of the policy decisions of the school rest.

WMC (IOWA DISTRICT)—

1. Pray for our national projects: the car being used by the Fogles in France, and for the property to be purchased in Buenos Aires.

2. Pray for Miss Angie Garber's health, and that this district will reach its goal in supplying mattresses for the Navaho dormitories.

3. Do remember our African and Argentine sisters in prayer.

4. Pray for the new work atavenport, Iowa, and a pastor to take over.

SMM—

1. Pray for Patty Griffith, national president, who was seriously ill in hospital at BJU when these notes were written.

2. Pray for the spring rallies of the districts.

3. Pray for our offering that it may go over the need in supporting our missionary, Marybeth Munn.

4. Pray for wisdom and God's will to be done in planning programs and activities for camps.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Continue to pray that our young people will more and more get behind our foreign mission program, financially and in prayer. Pray that we might fully meet our goal—the support of Bekoro Station.

2. Praise God for the way every financial need has been met, and pray that this may continue.

3. Pray that we may locate a good used Varsity, at a reasonable price, for our office.

4. Continue to pray that our camps may be planned to the best advantage for reaching and helping young people for the Lord.

WHAT THE RESURRECTION OF CHRIST MEANS TO ME

By Rev. Ralph J. Colburn, Winona Lake, Ind.

The crisis in the war between Britain and France came before the days of modern communications such as the telegraph and telephone. Napoleon's bid for world domination had to be crushed, and Britain's hopes were centered around Wellington's ability to outthink, outmaneuver, and outclass the French forces. But at best it would be a close conflict, so all England awaited news of the famous Battle of Waterloo.

The Defeat of the Enemy

News was flashed across the English Channel by means of large mirrors, spelling out in code the story of the battle progress. After a long period of silence, the mirrors on the French coast began to spell out a message: W-E-L-L-I-N-G-T-O-N D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D—and just as that much of the message was completed, one of England's dense fogs obscured the entire coast. And waiting England was shrouded in gloom—her champion had failed her in the hour of crisis. Hours later the fog lifted, and the mirrors began flashing again, this time with no fog to obscure the message; they spelled out: W-E-L-L-I-N-G-T-O-N D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D T-H-E E-N-E-M-Y!

So it was at Calvary 2,000 years ago. God's champion, the Lord Jesus Christ, seemingly was felled by the forces of evil. And it seemed as though the Christian church died before it was born! When our Saviour cried out His last breath on the cross, the message was signaled forth, C-H-R-I-S-T D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D. A fog of despair settled over the followers of the Man of Galilee. But that fog was forever lifted on Resurrection Morning, when the tomb burst open, the Saviour arose, and the message was completed: C-H-R-I-S-T D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D T-H-E E-N-E-M-Y!

What does the resurrection of Christ, the most glorious fact of history, mean to me? Ah, many things; more than I could tell, but first of all, it proves that He was—

The Son of God

No other deed or word of our blessed Lord establishes this fact as unquestionably as does His bodily resurrection. Paul affirmed in Romans 1:4, concerning Jesus Christ, that He was "declared to be the Son of God with power . . . by the resurrection from the dead." No other religious leader was ever able to make such a claim, and no one has ever been able to successfully discredit His bodily resurrection.

A man who felt that all religions were rackets once expressed that feeling to a friend, and further expressed that it might be a profitable racket to enter. Emboldened by the other's silence, he decided audibly that he was going to start a new religion, one that would be fully as acceptable and popular as Christianity. He asked his friend's opinion as to what he would have to do in order to begin such a religion that would equal if not surpass Christianity. But the friend silenced him forever with the suggestion, "I guess you'd have to arise from the dead."

Rev. Ralph Colburn

But the resurrection of Christ was not accomplished solely to prove a point. It means, too, that we have—

A Living Advocate

There are many times along life's road that sorrows and troubles compass the Christian. In such moments it may seem that we stand alone. But we are never alone, for the risen Saviour promised, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee" (Heb 13:5). What blessed comfort in the hour of darkness! Is anything too hard for the Lord of life, who conquered death? And He is with us! No wonder the writer of Hebrews exclaimed, "Wherefore he is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them" (Heb. 7:25).

Life for Believers

Another wonderful truth made possible through the resurrection of Christ is that we too shall live. In that great chapter, I Corinthians 15, Paul reminds us again and again that our hope of eternal life and bodily resurrection is dependent upon Christ being the firstfruits of resurrection. "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive" (I Cor. 15:22).

Death holds a common fear for all men, but why? Because of the mystery of what might follow death! But Christ, in rising from the dead, removed the mystery by giving us a glimpse into the glories ahead. The dark unknown gives way to eternal realities of beauty and blessing. Then we too can say, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? . . . But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (I Cor. 15:55, 57).

Heart of the Gospel

One other glorious truth stands out to me from the resurrection of Christ. To me it means that we have a message worth telling.

This is the challenge of the resurrection. The angelic messengers who stood by the tomb commissioned the early-morning visitors, "Go, tell, He is risen." Certainly, if Christ had remained in the tomb we wouldn't have much to talk about! But as far as some are concerned, He is still in the tomb. As far as some are concerned, He has never been born! For they have never been told the glorious story of how He came, and lived, and died, and rose again, and is coming again that men might be right with God.

We who know the risen Saviour have the most glorious news in the world. Dare we keep silence? We must show it, and speak it, and send it, that all the world may know the triumph of the Son of God in revealing the love of God to dying men.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

BYF MISSIONARY PROJECT OFFERINGS GROW

At last reports, 33 churches co-operated in the BYF home mission project offering, the goal of which was $1,200 for a chapel at Arroyo Seco, in the Taos Valley of New Mexico. This field is ripe for another Brethren chapel, and we have young men available at Taos to undertake the preaching responsibilities there. Gospel teams have been conducting successful services there for some months, and the time seems ripe for a permanent work.

The goal was not reached yet, although some offerings are still coming in. By some oversight they were not sent in with the regular home mission offering and marked "BYF Project." They are still acceptable, however, for this home mission project. The total at the last report was $783.49, with top honors going to the BYF's at Kittanning, Pa., with $104.50; Buena Vista, Va., $79.06; Martinsburg, Pa., $78.95; Temple City, Calif., $76.88; and Vicksburg, Pa., $50.

Right now we hope that many more churches are working on the BYF foreign mission project, the support of Bekoro Station in Africa, for which $1,200 is needed. If we go over the top (and we surely should), we can earmark the rest for some special need in one of our other mission fields, possibly in Brazil or Argentina. Last year, when we got a late start on accepting and promoting a BYF project for foreign missions, our offering amounted to about $500 for Bekoro Station. This year, we should go well over the top. If the BYF's of 33 churches can raise nearly $800, certainly, if we all co-operated, we could more than double that! Let's see if it can't be done this spring!

Remember, this is not another offering, it is a part of the regular foreign mission offering. Encourage your young people to give more to missions, and to earmark at least a part of their offering "BYF Project." Then give it through the regular channels of your church, making sure that your financial secretary, or whoever sends the offering in to the office of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church, properly designates it "BYF Project," and both your church and your BYF will get proper credit for it. Let's go over the top this time!

Featured in a recent service when the youth director was present at the Flora, Ind., Brethren church was the junior choir. The young people sounded as good as they looked, with their new robes, and well-scrubbed appearance. This choir is the major youth activity of the Flora Grace Brethren Church at present, and they do nice work in simple harmony and arrangements. And you can tell they enjoy it, too! The choir director is Mrs. Mary Stayer.

YOUTH DIRECTOR HEADS SOUTH

About the time you read this, your youth director will be visiting our Brethren students at Bob Jones University, where a Brethren party is planned, among other activities. Then he'll be heading to Brvan University for 2 or 3 days of visiting among our students there. April 10-11 he'll be joining with the young people of the Southeast District in their overnight youth rally at Limestone, Tenn. Then on April 12 he begins a week of youth revival in Johnson City, Tenn. where John J. Burns is pastor. After these meetings he'll be heading back to the Atlantic District, to complete a schedule of services in that area.

"Probably the reason that God made women last was that He didn't want any advice while creating man."—Concern.

YOUTH NOTES

The Waynesboro, Pa., young people enjoyed a St. Patrick's Day party with the youth director recently, and about 25 were present. A wonderful time, with games, pictures, and de luxe refreshments, was enjoyed. This BYF group has a unique plan. They have several young adults working with them, and each Sunday one young person and one of the adults is assigned the program. Working together, they plan and put on some very fine meetings. That way every young person has help, and the responsibilities are divided among several interested adult helpers.

The Hagerstown, Md., BYF occasionally puts on a "demonstration meeting," to which the adults of the church are invited. A special program is lined up for that occasion, with many young people participating. At a recent demonstration meeting, the skit on baptism and church membership, "The Next Step," was featured. This group also enjoyed a Saturday night youth rally with the youth director. About 80 or more were present, including a few visitors from Pond Bank and Waynesboro.

Rev. and Mrs. Jack Dixon

By Rev. Joseph R. Hoffmann,
Los Angeles, Calif.

On Sunday, January 11, at 3 p. m., Jack Dixon was ordained to the Brethren ministry at the First Brethren Church of Los Angeles. Brother Dixon is a graduate of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and is continuing graduate work in the evening school of the institute at present.

Bro. Jack Dixon accepted the Lord as his personal Saviour in Ashland, Ohio, and soon thereafter dedicated his life to full-time service. He attended Ashland College while awaiting entrance to the Bible Institute of Los Angeles. Upon graduation from Biola, he accepted a call from the Indonesia Fellowship as a missionary to the foreign field, and is now looking forward to assignment in the field.

During the past 3 years he has served as assistant pastor at First Brethren Church. For some time he was associated with the International Child Evangelism Fellowship and more recently he has been doing an important work in the production of the Radio Kids Bible Club. This is a worldwide radio program originating in southern California that has been marvelously effective for the Lord's glory and well received by the children.

He and his wife, Donna (nee Beeler), met while at Biola and were married 2 years ago. She is from our Beaver City, Nebr., Brethren church and, too, is consecrated to the Lord in the call to foreign missions. They are both anxious to get into the harvest field for God's glory. Pray that He will use them effectively and keep them for the praise of His glory.

The elders who participated in the ordination are Glenn O'Neal, Bruce L. Button, Ralph Hatton, and Joseph R. Hoffmann, all of whom are members of the First Brethren Church of Los Angeles.

S. S. CONFERENCE AT WINONA

The 1953 Sunday school conference, sponsored by Scripture Press of Chicago, is scheduled for Winona Lake, Ind., July 20-24 in connection with the Winona Lake Bible Conference.

During the 5 days there are to be morning and afternoon sessions and workshops to consider the methods, curriculum, and publicity best for the average Sunday school.

Leaders of the conference are to be Mrs. Stella Daleburn, Mr. Henry Jacobsen, and the Misses Eunice Fischer and Ruth Streblow.

Additions to Membership
Long Beach, Calif. (1st) .....	7
Los Angeles, Calif. (2d) .....	4

Public Confessions
Ashland, Ohio .....	7
Leesburg, Ind. ....	2
Los Angeles, Calif. (2d) .....	13
Spokane, Wash. ....	10
Washington, D. C. ....	1

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Buena Vista, Va. .	March 22-Apr. 5.	Galen Lingenfelter	Luther Grubb.
Portland, Oreg. . .	March 23-Apr. 5.	Vernon Harris. . . .	Robert Ashman.
Akron, Ohio. . . . .	March 29-Apr. 5.	Harold Etling. . . . .	Conard Sandy.
Cedar Rapids, Ia. .	March 29-Apr. 5.	Arnold Kriegbaum	Herman Hoyt.
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) . . . .	March 29-Apr. 19	Clyde Balyo. . . . .	Michael Guido.
Flora, Ind. . . . .	March 29-Apr. 5.	Charles Turner. . .	Alva McClain.
South Gate, Calif. .	March 30-Apr. 19	Alfred Dodds. . . . .	R. Paul Miller.
Waterloo, Iowa. . .	April 1-5. . . . .	.....	Paul Bauman.
Waynesboro, Pa. . .	April 3-5. . . . .	Dennis Holliday. .	John Whitcomb.
Limestone, Tenn. .	April 5-19. . . . .	Randall Rossman. .	William Smith.
Clayton, Ohio. . . .	April 10-12. . . . .	Clair Brickel. . . . .	Herman Hoyt.
Camden, Ohio. . . .	April 12-26. . . . .	Robert Betz. . . . .	Ward Miller.
Fremont, Ohio. . . .	April 12. . . . .	Lester Pifer. . . . .	John Whitcomb.
Johnson City, Tenn. . . . .	April 12-19. . . . .	John Burns. . . . .	Ralph Colburn.
Yakima, Wash. . . .	April 12-26. . . . .	Russell Williams. .	Robert Ashman.
Kittanning, Pa. . .	(First) . . . . .	April 18-19. . . . .	Gordon Bracker. .
			Herman Hoyt.

FULLNESS OF JOY

By Leona D. Cole, Long Beach, Calif.

Easter reveals a hint of the joy
That once was set before the Lord;
A joy beyond the ken of earth,
And more than heaven could afford.

Before the mountains had come forth,
Christ gave Himself for you and me.

From everlasting, His the joy
To become our perfect Surety.

For this He came: to bear the cross.
It was His joy, through death to bring
To God, the Father, many sons
By one eternal offering.

MOODY WEEK AT WINONA LAKE

Moody Week, an annual event sponsored by the alumni association of Moody Bible Institute, is set for July 12-19 at Winona Lake, Ind., according to a recent announcement.

Among the speakers expected are Dr. William Culbertson, president of MBI; Dr. Walter Wilson, Bible teacher, of Kansas City, Mo.; Dr. Albert J. Lindsay, pastor at Tacoma, Wash.; Dr. M. A. Darrow, director of Sudan Interior Mission; and others.

Al Smith and Don Hustad are planning the musical program for the week, and Phil Gammon (Uncle Phil), of Know Your Bible Club, will supervise the children's program.

THE SEVEN SAYINGS ON THE CROSS

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

VII. THE CRY OF RESIGNATION.

"And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit" (Luke 23:46).

How glad we are to hear that word "Father" again. Only a short time ago our Lord was forsaken and was uttering that dismal cry, "My God, my God," but now He is back again in fellowship with the Father. He has waded the dismal flood. "All thy waves and thy billows are gone over me" (Psa. 42:7). He is again accepted of the Father.

"Into thy hands I commend my spirit."

There comes a time when some part of the human body gives way and the spirit departs. "The body without the spirit is dead" (Jas. 2:26). When the spirit leaves the body it is taken to Hades, the abode of the unrighteous dead, there to await the second resurrection, unless other provision has been made for it.

In ages past there was a consultation among the Godhead and a covenant had been formed between the Father and the Son, and it was through the blood of this "everlasting covenant" that the Lord Jesus was "brought again from the dead" (Heb. 13).

Rev. R. I. Humberd

And so today God stands ever ready to enter into covenant relation with "whosoever will." At death

God will receive the spirit and conduct it to the heavenly Jerusalem where, with the spirits of other "just men made perfect," it will await the first resurrection. Then He will bring the body forth from the grave, a glorified body, and unite the spirit and the body in eternal joy.

Verily, calamity of all calamities is it to come up to the moment of death having made no provision for the spirit. But joy of all joys is it to be able, like Stephen, to cry with our last breath, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit" (Acts 7:59).

[Editor's note: These 7 messages on "The Seven Sayings on the Cross," which have appeared in the Brethren Missionary Herald during recent weeks and of which this is the last, have been printed in an attractive 37-page booklet and may be secured either from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company or from Brother Humberd, Flora, Ind., at 15c a copy.]

Chico, California

The Misses Virginia Aamodt and Joy Mackay, of the Pioneer Girls International, were with us February 21-22 and spoke at our church.

The Sunday school attendance rose from 54 on February 1 to 120 on March 1, averaging 84 during that 5-week period. The attendance at the morning worship service March 1 was 93.

The Lord blessed us with a short campaign, March 2-9, under the leadership of Dr. Vincent Bennett. There were 161 people present at the Friday evening service, and several people made public their belief in the Lord Jesus Christ during the week.

The average weekly offering during February was $68.09. We were able to pay off some of our debts during this time.

Mrs. Roy Parsons, of Richvale, who with her husband visited Palestine in 1952, spoke to our women March 12.

As this is being written (March 14), we are planning to celebrate the 5th anniversary of the founding of this church on March 29. Of the original 22 members 15 are still in the church. During the 5-year period 50 people have joined the church, 15 of them during 1952.—J. Ward Tressler, pastor.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (North Buffalo)

Judith Ann Cousins, daughter of Brother and Sister Brady Cousins, of our church, died March 16.

Sealed bids have been asked for in order that we may make our decision as to the way we will have our proposed basement addition finished. Much of the basement has been excavated; we want the rest of it excavated and a block wall and cement floor installed. This addition will double our floor space.

Bro. W. A. Ogden, of Johnstown, spoke here concerning foreign missions March 18.—Donald W. Rossman, pastor.

Troy, Ohio

Our church observed the day of prayer, March 15, with a special meeting in the afternoon. Some of the members of the Clayton and Covington, Ohio, churches were with us for this meeting.

Our Brethren Boys Club and the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha held a St. Patrick's Day party March 16, with a fine attendance and a very enjoyable time for the boys and girls.

Our building program is moving slowly forward. We hope to begin putting the roof on in a few weeks.—Blanche Garber, secretary.

Rev. Hann Browne spoke at the Los Angeles, Calif., Third church, of which James C. Beatty is pastor, March 18.

5-56
Rev. and Mrs. Blaine Snyder
Winona Lake, Ind.

He is risen

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 15

WMC NUMBER

APRIL 11, 1953

—Photo by James Neff

REDECORATED AUDITORIUM OF CAMDEN, OHIO, CHURCH

(See Story on Page 235)

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Northern Ohio District Fellowship of Brethren Churches is scheduled to convene in conference April 21-24 at the Rittman, Ohio, church, of which Charles Ashman is pastor. Dr. Alva J. McClain, president of Grace Theological Seminary, is to be the featured speaker.

The New Troy, Mich., church, pastored by Richard Jackson, joined with 10 other churches in the Southwestern Michigan Fellowship of fundamental churches in promoting the 2d annual "global missionary conference" March 21-27. Services were held in each of the cooperating churches, with the 13 speakers rotating from church to church.

Four members of the faculty of Grace Theological Seminary—S. Herbert Bess, James L. Boyer, Herman A. Hoyt, and Homer A. Kent, Jr.—plan to attend a foreign language conference at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky., April 23-25.

The new Long Beach, Calif., Paramount church, pastored by John Mayes, recently joined the list of churches placing the Brethren Missionary Herald in every home represented in the church's membership. This list included 21 names, which is excellent for a mission church.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph R. Hoffmann, of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lois Mae, to Mr. James E. Freeman, March 28.

A new Brethren Bible study class was begun at Paris, Ohio, March 20. The teacher of the class is Pastor Edward Lewis, of Middlebranch. There were 13 people present at the first meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bowser, of the Kittanning, Pa., First church, observed their 53d wedding anniversary March 28.

Miss Marian Bower, of the Japan Gospel Fellowship, spoke at the Berrien Springs, Mich., church March 29, according to Pastor Arthur F. Collins.

Pastor Lewis C. Hohenstein has moved to 540 E. Olive Dr., Whittier, Calif. (change Annual, p. 69). Three "farewell get-togethers" were given by the young people, 2 Bible classes, and the congregation of the Waterloo, Iowa, church for the Hohensteins before they finished their ministry there March 29. On March 28 Brother Hohenstein spoke to the Cedar Valley Youth Fellowship, in session at a Washburn, Iowa, church. He began his ministry at the Whittier church April 5.

The Glendale, Calif., church, of which Charles M. Underwood is the new pastor, recently painted the exterior of the building and planted shrubbery around it.

The Vicksburg, Pa., church, pastored by Dean Walter, took the first step in replacing the recently burned building by purchasing a 2¼-acre tract of land across the road from the former location on which to build. The former lot was too small to permit a larger building, which is needed by this congregation.

Pastor Joseph L. Gingrich reports that the Sterling, Ohio, church observed March 8 as a special day for the Cleveland Hebrew Mission. The Misses Floy Hoover and Florence Hagen, of the mission, were the speakers. The offering for this mission amounted to $157.56.

Mrs. Wayne (Dorothy) Croker, wife of the pastor at Cheyenne, Wyo., and 2 of her children visited with her relatives in Philadelphia, Pa., the first part of March.

The Philadelphia, Pa., First and Third churches united at the Third church for special services April 3, from 12 noon to 3 p. m. Pastors of these churches are John M. Aeby and Robert Cessna.

During the first week of the special meetings at the Osceola, Ind., church, pastored by Ward Miller, there were 28 public decisions, and the average attendance was 110. Pastor Walter Lepp, Hagerstown, Md., was the evangelist.

The Harrah, Wash., church, pastored by Jesse Hall, held a special dedicatory service March 22 for new songbooks purchased by the Bible school department. Mrs. Rose Foster spoke there to the combined meeting of the WMC and the SMM, and at the evening worship service March 15.

Dr. Robert D. Culver, of Palatine, Ill., was the speaker at a city-wide pre-Easter series of meetings sponsored by 25 churches March 22-29 in Rapid City, S. Dak. Each day he also spoke over the local radio station.

Judith Lynn Kennedy is the name of the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lester Kennedy born in Paris, France, March 16. Her birth was previously reported, but the name was not then known.

The Lord continues to bless the testimony at Grace Chapel, Honolulu, Hawaii. On March 8 there were 51 people present in the morning service and 7 of them publicly confessed Christ as Saviour. Brother and Sister Edwin J. Jones have been in charge of this work, but they are soon to be transferred by the Government, and the people are looking forward to the coming of the Treises.

The funeral service for Mrs. Myrtle Kool, of New Troy, Mich., was conducted by Pastor Richard Jackson March 22.

Pastor William H. Schaffer wrote concerning the evangelistic campaign at the Spokane, Wash., church, conducted by Evangelist Robert Ashman. Exclusive of the last Sunday there were 13 first-time confessions in the church services and 47 in the children's Happy Hour, 3 decisions for renewal of faith, 2 applications for membership by letter, and 3 people already were baptized and received into the membership of the church.

By John Rea, Winona Lake, Ind.

One of the "musts" on the list of every traveler to Naples is a visit to the site of ancient Pompeii. Heavily damaged by an earthquake in A. D. 63, and then rebuilt, Pompeii was the ill-fated town that was completely buried by ashes from the violent eruption of Mount Vesuvius in A. D. 79. The 19 to 23 feet of volcanic ash, which stopped many of the 22,000 fleeing inhabitants in their tracks, preserved the forgotten city so well that modern eyes can see just what a Roman town looked like in the days of the apostles.

It was not far away—20 or 30 miles north around the beautiful Bay of Naples—that Paul landed at Puteoli (Acts 28:13) about 20 years before wooded Mount Vesuvius suddenly changed into a raging volcano. Before the last war, visitors could see a plume of smoke rising from its crater, a silent reminder of its grim activity in the past. In March 1944, however, Vesuvius erupted again just as the American Fifth Army was fighting its way northward toward Naples from the Salerno beachhead. It has been dormant since then.

Description of Pompeii

Excavation at Pompeii began in 1748, some years after the ruins had been accidentally discovered when a pipe line was being dug. Even though 200 years have intervened, only three-fifths of the town has been uncovered, giving an indication both of the large extent of the city and of the careful work of the Italian archeologists.

Our party, under the leadership of Dr. Joseph P. Free, spent 2½ hours at Pompeii. We saw many of the public buildings of stone, such as the basilica or law court for trade disputes; the great forum or public square with its portico of over 100 bases for stone columns in front of the markets, temples, and municipal buildings; and the great open-air theater for tragedies, there being also a small theater for comedies and an amphitheater for gladiatorial contests.

Life in Pompeii

Much more interesting than these edifices were the smaller shops of brick on the side streets and the private dwelling places. In the larger homes the dining room, called a triclinium, illustrates how John the beloved may have leaned on Jesus' breast at the Last Supper. In the center of the room is a low stone table; around it on 3 sides are stone benches or couches on each of which 3 persons could recline while eating. The head of one would be by the chest of the next person, their feet extending diagonally away from the table.

Pompeii was strikingly similar to many a modern European or American city. It had temples and theaters, big homes of the wealthy and slums of the poor, bakeries and restaurants, wineshops and gambling dens, houses of vice, and even small factories.

The making of woolen cloth appears to have been the chief industry of Pompeii, with its several stages: weaving, scouring or fulling, dyeing, and heavy wool making or felting. Foremost of all was the fuller's craft, carried on in one-time private houses. Different rooms were used for the various processes, such as steeping the cloth in troughs, trampling the cloth like grapes by foot in large bronze basins, washing, folding, and pressing.

Sin in Pompeii

Great was the need of Pompeii for the good news of salvation and its insistence upon consequent personal righteousness. While it did not have the evil reputation of Corinth, this southern Italian commercial center abounded in iniquity. Its inhabitants superstitiously worshiped many gods and sacrificed animals upon pagan altars. Lust for money in order to be able to enjoy the pleasures of this world absorbed their attention. Even the most prominent citizens were degraded in their ways. In the House of the Vetti, owned by 2 wealthy merchant brothers, dealers in slaves, is a room into which the guide takes only men. Obscene paintings on the walls and a male statue were designed to prepare the minds of the slave girls for their masters' evil intentions. How the Gospel could have changed the hearts of these men and women!

Pompeii was but a typical city of the first century A. D. The purity and holiness of the writings of the New Testament stand in sharp contrast to this general licentiousness of thought and deed. No wonder the judgment of God fell on Pompeii. Let us take warning.

Religion in Italy

Paul and other early Christians carried a message of redeeming grace to Rome and to Italy, and within 300 years Christianity was proclaimed the state religion of the Empire. Then corruption began in the church. The people of Italy today are little different, so far as their basic spiritual needs are concerned, from the people of ancient Pompeii. If anything, today they are more hopeless.

The state religion, evident in every roadside shrine and every robed priest, hardly lifts a hand to help the masses, but rather extorts money from them to build large cathedrals. The teaching of salvation by works, while false, makes the Italians more responsible than the Pompeians who had no form of Christianity. It is clear that this religion does not satisfy, for only about ¼ of the population regularly attend church.

Unemployment also abounds. So does the sign of the hammer and the sickle, painted on buildings in every town and hamlet.

The state does not grant divorces; consequently thousands of children are born annually out of wedlock. A man will leave his wife and live with another woman. In turn the wife lives with another man, and their children must take the name of her legal husband. The result is lack of support for the children, poverty, and despair.

Missionaries in Italy

In the Naples area, with its several millions of persons, there are only 12 evangelical missionaries to cope with these problems. Of these 12, several are single ladies who are seriously handicapped in their ministry. The Italian at once mistakenly assumes that they are fallen women since they move about with no husband.

The greatest need of Italy is the

EVEN SO SEND I YOU

By Dr. Elias D. White, St. Louis, Mo.

Word of God. Individuals here and there are hungry for the truth. One man in Naples received a tract distributed by Rev. Stephen Torbico when the latter was in northern Italy. Brother Torbico, now in Naples, received a letter from this man asking for a copy of the Bible and stating that he had never seen one. After he had been contacted in October, he and his younger brother came to talk with the Torbicos in their apartment every night until 1 or 2 a. m. It was not long until they, and a third brother, sincerely received Christ as their Saviour. Now one of the brothers is eager to prepare for full-time work for our Lord.

Brethren, pray for Italy and Europe; not much time remaineth.

YFC ANNOUNCES LEADERS

The executive committee of Youth for Christ International recently announced the names of the leaders expected at the 9th annual convention planned for Winona Lake, Ind., June 28-July 12.

The speakers' list is headed by the president and vice president, Robert Cook and Billy Graham. Others expected are Jack Wyrzten, Howard Butt, Jack Cochrane, Cedric Sears, Jack Hamilton, Hubert Mitchell, Ted Engstrom, Orval Butcher, Torrey Johnson, Bob Pierce, Grady Wilson, and T. W. Wilson.

Among the musicians expected are Beverly Shea, Cliff Barrows, Don DeVos, and the Palermo brothers.

Bewildered and uncomprehending, the disciples met together that first Easter evening.

The day's events were staggering. As it had begun to dawn, even as the women walked desolately toward the sepulcher, "there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door. . . . And the angel . . . said . . . Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said" (Matt. 28:2-6).

Dazzled, they had run at the angel's command to tell the 11 disciples. But that had been in the gray of the morning, and now those who were closest to Him were assembled in that hallowed room. Doubtless Mary Magdalene was there. She had not recognized Him through her tears in the morning, but He had spoken her name, and then she knew Him. Surely the mother of Jesus was there.

Peter was there. His despairing heart had leaped at the words of the women, and he and John had raced to the empty tomb. Later in the day,

Peter told not the time, Christ had appeared and talked to him alone.

John, who had seen the grave clothes and had believed, Matthew, Andrew, Philip—all the 11 but Thomas were there. And even as they spoke, there was excited knocking at the door, and Cleopas and his companion burst in to tell that Jesus had walked with them to Emmaus, and they had known Him only in the breaking of the bread.

Suddenly they realized that He was in their midst. No door was opened, no voice was heard. Their own voices were stilled in something akin to terror. Quietly He gave the old familiar greeting, "Peace be unto you." Then deliberately, majestically, He showed them the incontestable evidence—His hands and His side. Amid the dawning joy of their recognition, Jesus solemnly repeated the greeting, "Peace be unto you," adding almost sadly but with deep meaning, "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you" (John 20:19-21).

What can it mean? As God the Father sent Him, so He is sending them. Into a world of sin, of sorrow, and of death; into a life of self-denial and cross-bearing; as the Father had sent Him, He was sending them—and us.

But Christ was not alone. Save for the darkness of the cross, He had been in constant communion with the Father, and continually indwelt by the Holy Spirit. He made the same provision for us. He had promised not to leave us "orphans," and in fulfillment of His Word, He breathed on them, saying, "Receive ye the Holy Ghost" (John 20:22). Thus was His presence given.

Then He uttered the solemn charge, the first utterance of the great commission: "Whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained" (John 20:23). Not to the primate priest, but to all that were in the room He spoke—and to us, for He spoke not of a privilege of priesthood, but of the power and purpose of the Gospel. We who live in Him hold the power of God unto salvation in our possession—the Gospel of Christ!

"Even so send I you."

Dr. White

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale . . . . .	March 29-Apr. 19	Clyde Balyo. . . . .	Michael Guido.
South Gate, Calif. . . . .	March 30-Apr. 19	Alfred Dodds. . . . .	R. Paul Miller.
Limestone, Tenn. . . . .	April 5-19. . . . .	Randall Rossman. . . . .	William Smith.
Clayton, Ohio. . . . .	April 10-12. . . . .	Clair Brickel. . . . .	Herman Hoyt.
Camden, Ohio. . . . .	April 12-26. . . . .	Robert Betz. . . . .	Ward Miller.
Fremont, Ohio. . . . .	April 12. . . . .	Lester Pifer. . . . .	John Whitcomb.
Johnson City, Tenn. . . . .	April 12-19. . . . .	John Burns. . . . .	Ralph Colburn.
Yakima, Wash. . . . .	April 12-26. . . . .	Russell Williams. . . . .	Robert Ashman.
Kittanning, Pa. (First) . . . . .	April 18-19. . . . .	Gordon Bracker. . . . .	Herman Hoyt.
Dayton, Ohio (First) . . . . .	April 19-26. . . . .	William Steffler. . . . .	Paul Bauman.
Flora, Ind. . . . .	April 19. . . . .	Charles Turner. . . . .	John Whitcomb.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

CHRISTIAN CONVERSATION (The Behavior of Christian Laymen in the World)

By Stone J. Lackey

(The following remarks are taken from an address delivered before the Men's Gospel Fellowship of the Roanoke, Va., Ghent church.—Ed.)

"Whoso offereth praise glorifieth me: and to him that ordereth his conversation aright will I shew the salvation of God" (Psa. 50:23). To me the conversation of laymen is a most important factor involved in the winning of souls to Christ. After all, laymen, witnessing is nothing more than a good conversation, whether in word or behavior. Witnessing can be done in everyday conversation such as the conversation Jesus had with the woman of Samaria at the well. Jesus could have taken His drink from the well and gone His way, but instead He used this opportunity to present the water of eternal life to her.

* * *

If we are to be effective witnesses in this present evil world, of which Satan is the god, we should heed the words of the Apostle Paul to Timothy: "These things command and teach. Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity" (I Tim. 4:11-12). In bringing this message, when I speak of our living and behavior in the world, I would like to include myself because I have had men say to me, "Does this salvation that you speak of do for you what you say it will do for me?" Now let us notice what is involved in these verses: Paul tells Timothy to command and teach—"Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers." We are commanded to be an example of believers. Old things have passed away for the believer and his life has become new in word, in conversation (behavior), in charity (love), in spirit, and in faith, which saved us from the beginning.

Then, too, Paul tells Timothy, "For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come" (I Tim. 4:8). Timothy is reminded by Paul that bodily exercise will only profit for a little while, but godliness will profit in this life that we now live and also in eternal life which is to follow. Laymen, I think it would be time well spent if we would take counsel from the words of Paul regarding our conversation to a passing frivolous world going down to eternal destruction. This thing of sowing mixed seed in our conversation will profit little. It may tend to bring professions but, I fear, false professions which will not last.

* * *

I definitely believe that the conduct of the apostles played a great part in their soul-winning ministry. Let us take the Apostle Peter, for instance. His life and dependence upon the Holy Spirit were such that brought about 3,000 souls to Christ in a single day (Acts 2:41). Men were made to tremble at the conversation of Paul. As Paul reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled and answered, "Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee" (Acts 24:25). Even though Felix was not saved he was made to tremble by the presence of the Holy Spirit. This was the second time Paul had been before Felix and Felix knew something of the conduct of Paul.

Laymen, let us ever be mindful that our Christian conversation or conduct is the most important factor in our soul-winning efforts. Let us guard our thoughts, words, and actions that we may keep ourselves clean vessels for God's use.

HERE AND THERE

Prof. John Whitcomb, of Grace Seminary, spoke to the men at New Troy, Mich., March 21.

The Men's Magnify at Long Beach, Calif., First church met March 17, with Andy Burt as the speaker.

The Men's Gospel Fellowship of the Ghent church, Roanoke, Va., met March 20 at the home of Bro. R. A. Greig. The pastor, Rev. Robert E. A. Miller, spoke.

The Men's Brotherhood of our church in La Verne, Calif., held their monthly supper meeting February 17, and heard Rev. Robert Bradford, pastor of the Pomona Bethel Baptist Church and professor at the California Baptist Theological Seminary.

Norman Nelson was the speaker and brought the special music at the Brotherhood meeting of the First church, Whittier, Calif., March 10.

A father-and-son banquet was held March 12 at Waterloo, Iowa. The new boys club was dedicated.

Virgil Massey was in charge of the meeting of the Men's Fellowship of Winchester, Va., held March 10.

The laymen of the Northern Ohio District met March 23 at the church at Cuyahoga Falls.

At Fort Wayne, Ind., the Men's Fellowship met on March 17, with guests from the Immanuel Baptist church. Bro. Carl Brown was the speaker.

Questions on Personal Evangelism

Question—The one I am dealing with says: "A professing Christian has wronged me." Help me to answer him.

Answer—Supposing this is true, ask him if it is any reason why he should wrong God who has given him so much, and insult Christ who loved Him and gave Himself for him. What harm has Christ done to him? Emphasize Jeremiah 2:5.

Also ask him if that is any reason for him to commit the evil of forsaking Him. Emphasize Romans 14:12.

Again, try to show him that he is doing himself a greater wrong by depriving himself of eternal life and thus perishing (John 3:16, 36; Luke 13:3, 5).

(Quoted from personal evangelism course of the Washington Bible Institute)

Thoughts for Christian Pilgrims

By Conard Sandy

Rogers Quits Western Movies

Roy Rogers and his wife, known professionally as Dale Evans, according to Dr. Percy Crawford in Youth Newsette, "have answered the prayers of many evangelicals and quit making cowboy films." They "went to court and broke the contract ties" between them and a film-producing company. It is expected they will soon begin making Christian films.

Wonderful though this is, there is a sad note to the whole affair. The film-producing company with which they worked have hundreds of negatives of films that they can use to continue making pictures of the pair almost indefinitely. Though Roy and Dale have forsaken the "pictures," the "pictures" have not forsaken them.

The old, unchanging law of sowing and reaping is with them, and ought to be a solemn warning for every individual person on the face of God's earth. It is still true: "God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Gal. 6:7). God can and does remove sin and its eternal effects from the believer, but He permits the reaping of results from past living. So here, the couple can leave the "pictures," but the effects of their former identification with that industry cannot be thrown off as easily.

It ought to be the desire of the saints that somehow Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will be able under the leadership of the Holy Spirit to have restored unto them that which "the locust hath eaten" (Joel 2:25).

We Must Suffer to Reign

Ghulam Nabi is in a predicament that is demanding the attention of the Congress of the United States of America.

Mr. Nabi came to this country in 1949 from Afghanistan as a student. While in this country he deserted the Moslem faith, which is the predominant faith of his country and people, and accepted the Lord Jesus as his personal Saviour. Since then he has united with the Calvary Baptist Church of New York City and has married a Christian girl. Reaction from his family to these 3 acts of his has been violent and he is certain he will be put to death if compelled to return to his country. But his visa has expired.

The National Association of Evangelicals and Representative Albert H. Bosch, of New York, are asking Congress to grant "religious asylum" to Nabi, on the same ground that "political asylum" is granted to refugees from countries under the domination of Soviet Russia.

This incident is a reminder again of Christ's words to His disciples: "Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves. But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to councils, and they shall scourge you. . . . And the brother shall deliver up the brother to death, and the father the child. . . . And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake" (Matt. 10:16-24).

But there is another side to this truth also, as revealed to the church by the Apostle Paul: "It is a faithful saying: for if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him: if we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us: if we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself" (II Tim. 2:11-13).

Christians Are Best Insurance Risks

According to a recent release by the Christian Mutual Life Insurance Company, Concord, N. H., Christians are considered the best candidates for insurance. The company claims that "believers in Jesus Christ, in good standing with their churches," are the best risks because they "do not smoke, drink, or live immoderately."

There may be another very wonderful reason why Christians are better insurance risks—their lives are secure in Christ Jesus forever and they are here on earth to fulfill His mission for them. (An excellent passage of Scripture to read in this connection is Colossians 3.) The body of the Christian has been redeemed and is now the temple of the Holy Spirit, and He will take care of His abiding place, if permitted to do so (Rom. 12:1-2; I Cor. 6:19-20).

Bible Reading Among Soldiers

A group of soldiers stationed at the Hardy Barracks in Tokyo, Japan, have organized themselves to read the Bible, according to the post chaplain, Major Jesse H. Crossett. The group meets from 12:30 to 12:45 p. m. every week day. "A reader is selected who serves for a week and reads a chapter of the Bible each day. Prayers are said and the audience participates in a discussion. Organ music precedes the reading."

As God reminded Elijah, so he is reminding us that not every knee has bowed to false gods, not even in the U. S. Army. It is always a sign of hope when people engage in reading the Word of God.

Christians, pray that God will richly bless these men as they read and that they will yield to the power of the Gospel. Pray also that many other groups in the military service will be led to organize for the same purpose.

JOINT MEETINGS IN TRACY

As this Herald was going to press word was received from Pastor William Clough that the Tracy, Calif., church and the local Baptist church were planning special meetings together to last for 3 weeks, with Rev. Charles N. Garrett, Reading, Pa., as the speaker. Prayer is requested, but no dates were given.

History of the Camden, Ohio, Church

By Pastor Robert W. Betz

Greetings in our Saviour's wonderful name! This brief history of our church was written at the request of the editor.

Our building was erected in 1869 by Universalists, and was used by them until 1910.

In 1916 Rev. Sylvester Lowman came to Camden and held some meetings in the old opera house. He was able to secure the old Universalist building for the Brethren in the spring of 1917 and soon followed with dedicatory services. He remained until the fall of that year.

A Brother Weimer succeeded Brother Lowman and remained until the early part of 1919. Then Bro. Jesse Eickenberry pastored the church for the next 6 years. During his ministry the church was incorporated and received its charter in 1922.

These men were followed by Brethren Roush, Beery, Royce, and William Beachler, each of whom served only a short time. Then Bro. Arthur Carey, now of Troy, Ohio, pastored the church for a short time.

The church went through a "depression" from 1932 to 1934, at which time (1934) Bro. Sylvester Lowman returned to Camden and reopened the doors of this church. He had to get back the building, which was then being used for a basketball court. He added a side room, and 5 years ago 4 more rooms were added, 2 downstairs and 2 upstairs, onto the front part of the building.

This time Brother Lowman continued as pastor for 15 years. In 1949 Bro. Roy Kreimes was called. He continued until the present pastor arrived on the field in July 1951.

Additions to Membership

Hagerstown, Md. ....	5
Los Angeles, Calif. (1st) .....	7
Spokane, Wash. ....	3
Tracy, Calif. ....	3

Public Confessions

Honolulu, Hawaii ....	7
Middlebranch, Ohio ....	1
Osceola, Ind. ....	28
Spokane, Wash. ....	65
Uniontown, Pa. ....	6

Though this church has not been used by the Universalists since 1910, yet the indelible stamp of the teaching of that religion is still in this community influencing the people. Certainly God meant what He said, as recorded in Exodus 20:5—"Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them [idols of any kind], nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me."

Recently the interior of the building has been redecorated (see front cover of this magazine) and a program to improve the exterior is under way at the present time.

Much has been accomplished in the past in the hearts of men, but the field remains white unto the harvest. The church is now praying for revival in the hearts of the saints and that the town might be turned right-side-up for Christ.

We are now looking forward to and praying for our special meetings April 12-26 under the leadership of Bro. Ward Miller, pastor of the Osceola, Ind., church. Join with us in prayer that the Holy Spirit will give us souls.

BLUEPRINT OF SALVATION

By Leona D. Cole, Long Beach, Calif.

There was grace for all of Egypt

With her sinfulness and sham
In the Law of Substitution;

In the spotless paschal lamb.

Many living lambs were bleating

In that country, far and wide,

If their life blood had been sprinkled
Egypt's firstborn would not have died.

Only one thing was the angel

Of destruction looking for;

It was blood that had been sprinkled

On the posts outside the door.

God had given them a token

In the blood that had been shed,

When He promised to pass over,

If a lamb died in their stead.

Thus we find the Lord and Saviour

In the Book of Exodus;

Even Christ, our own Passover.

Who is sacrificed for us.

Ex. 12 Isa. 53:7 I Cor. 5:7 Rev. 5:6, 12

Browsing Among The Books

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the reader's attention some of the books that are being presented to the reading public today. Each book reviewed here will present a message of some merit and worthy of consideration, though a review of a book does not necessarily mean that the reviewer approves everything in it.

Any book mentioned in this column may be purchased from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

THE TYPOLOGY OF SCRIPTURE, by Patrick Fairbairn. Zondervan Publishing House. Two volumes in one. Pp. vii, 420, v, 484. Cloth. $6.95.

This book should be in the library of every serious student of the Bible. It covers a field that is quite often abused and thus it becomes a valuable aid to the child of God who earnestly desires to "rightly divide the word of truth."

Dr. Fairbairn begins his study with a scholarly critique of the various schools of allegorical and typical interpretation beginning with the early church fathers and continuing to his own time. He follows this with a discussion of the mechanics of typical interpretation, in which chapter VI is of particular help and interest, for therein he sets forth 5 basic principles and directions to aid in this field of study. The remainder of the book involves discussion of some specific types.

This is a sober, learned, systematic work on the subject of typology.—Richard Jackson.

WINKY AND THE ENCHANTED FOREST, by Ken Anderson. Zondervan Publishing House. Pp. 57. Stiff cover. $1.

This is another of Ken Anderson's books in the "Winky" series for boys and girls.

Winky became very curious about a voice he and some other children heard deep in the woodlands of Colorado. The desire to know the origin or owner of that voice led him into a very peculiar situation. The reader will not lay the book aside until he learns what Winky learned and what happened to him as he went alone into that forest.—C. S.

LOVEST THOU

ME

W. M. C.

52-53

JOHN 21: 15-17

LOVE'S PERILS

By Rev. Dean I. Walter, Duncansville, Pa.

Whether it was wit or wisdom which led your editor to ask an old bachelor to write on the perils of love, I know not; but of this one thing I am confident: your editor was wise to include a discussion of the perils along with the powers of love. In spite of the fact that everyone has experienced love to some extent, and therefore each considers himself to be something of an expert on the subject, no one has ever given a very satisfactory definition of love. Few attempts are more profound than that of the schoolboy who wrote:

"Love is such a funny thing; it's something like a lizard. It wraps itself around your heart, and nibbles on your gizzard."

So with everyone being involved, and no one quite certain in what he is involved, it is not surprising that confusion arises, that hearts are broken, that lives are shattered, that souls shrivel and disappear into a loveless abyss.

Love's Perspective

We don't want to be too scientific about love and attempt to resolve it into mathematical equations and chemical formulae, lest the young folks with spring in their hearts and stars in their eyes promptly consign us to an attic or an asylum. But we can be logical. We must start at the beginning, and God is always at the beginning. We read in God's Book that "God is love," and again, "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God" (I John 4:7). It is quite reasonable then to believe that an understanding of true love must come from an understanding of God, who is both love and truth (John 14:6). By starting at this point, we are surveying the entire panorama of love, not merely an isolated patch of passion, perversion, or pathos. If we first grasp something of the love of God, all other loves will fall into their proper perspective, whether it be the love of a barefoot boy for his puppy, the love of a man for a maid, the love of a mother for her son, or the love of a sinner for his Saviour.

Love's Perversion

At first thought, it would seem that if love is of God, there could be no wrong in all the realms of love and that the whole of love is merely the sum of its various phases and facets. Indeed much modern theology is built on this thought—we learn to love God by loving each other—each drop of human kindness is helping to fill our reservoir of righteous reserve, and someday we shall be like Him, when our reservoir runneth over! There could be some comfort in this kind of thinking, were it not that Satan became involved in the relationship between God and man. Satan has always followed close behind the works of the Almighty. No sooner had

God placed man in his paradise and pronounced His works very good, than Satan came to make a subtle modification, and perfection became perversion. Our first parents did not recognize the change; neither have the greater number of their children in the ages that followed.

Christ said of Satan, "He is a liar, and the father of it" (John 8:44). He was the first counterfeiter, the issuer of the first reasonable facsimile. Satan is always subtle and always an imitator. He rarely denies that God is good; he merely offers something that appears just as good, and easier to have. Love, he admits, is nice, but lust is more natural. God is fine for the "sweet by-and-by," but here and now gold will get you by better. Laws may be desirable, but a license is always available. Christ, he would have us believe, is another name of culture. Thus the Perverter is at work.

Since it is written in Romans 13:10 that "love is the fulfilling of the law," we might expect that the greatest perversions of life would fall within the realms of love. If to love God is the first and great commandment (Matt. 22:38), then Satan's chief mission will be to substitute a word for love in some instances and a word for God in others. For those who have an inclination to be religious, he may say, "Serve Him; give Him the best that you have; help God to do the work of His kingdom here; and spread brotherhood to the ends of the earth." (Now all these things are fine, but they aren't love.) To others he may say, "To love God's creatures is to love God; all nature is your cathedral, and God whispers his love from every pine and poplar." And do not be deceived, the Perverter does not abandon the true Christian upon whom the redeeming grace of God has come! He may not deny us our heritage as sons of God, but he may succeed in denying Christ of the rich love that He longs to have. He may get us into such a sweat over service that we develop a hot head and a cold heart. He will let us think we have fervor, when we merely have a fever.

"Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth," wrote the inspired apostle (Col. 3:2). But there have been many good men of God who in their teaching of tithing have appeared to set their affection on the morning collection and rest their hopes on the envelopes. "The cattle upon a thousand hills" are His (Psa. 50:10). He doesn't need our money. He wants our love. Christ showed Peter how any poor fish could come up with enough tribute money to pay Caesar (Matt. 17:27), but Peter learned the hard way that the tribute due to Christ was not a random or reckless thing. Apparently the sort of love Christ sought from Peter was not the proposal for a building program on the Mount of Transfiguration, when he knew not what he was saying; not a thrilling testimony of his deathless devotion, when Satan was boasting through him; not a demonstration of his willingness to get into a fight for the faith, when he forgot what Spirit he was of; but rather a willingness to be subject to the will of God and be led by the Spirit of God until there was one mind, one will, one passion, one purpose; until there was, as Aristotle defined friendship, "One soul in two bodies."

Love's Perfection

In the face of so many subtle snares, the thought of achieving any true and worth-while love would appear utterly hopeless, were it not for the fact that we have One who first loved us and overcame the wicked one. Satan's imitations have their limitations, for Satan has nothing to compare with Christ. There is no reasonable facsimile for the Christ on His cross, giving His life a ransom for many. There is no arm longer than His arm of mercy, reaching down to the uttermost. There is no synthetic for the solace that the Saviour brings to a sinner at his "wit's end." There is no substitute for meeting Jesus Christ, and at that meeting the text becomes clear and alive which reads, "We love him, because he first loved us" (I John 4:19).

Love has its clear definition in a realm above the grasp of natural man and beyond the grip of Satan. It flourishes in the atmosphere of the Eternal. It finds fulfillment as the redeemed one loses his identity in his Redeemer. It was this mighty theme that throbbed through the soul of Christ when He prayed for us in the garden: "That they may be one, even as we are one: I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me" (John 17:22-23).

MAKING CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE WORK

By Althea S. Miller

IS CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE A RIVALRY OR PARTNERSHIP?

Your spontaneous answer to this question is that marriage is a partnership. But like many other quick answers we speak first and think afterward. We know what we should do but have neither the will nor the ability to perform. God knows all about our weaknesses and has provided for our needs. No problem in life, marital or otherwise, can be corrected or solved apart from God's Word. It must be further remembered that apart from the death of one of the partners, marriage cannot be "unmade." Contrary to popular belief, marriages are not made in heaven. People usually plunge in to suit their own fancies. This is all too often true in the lives of Christian young people. If more Christian youth would ask God to lead in this all-important "till-death-do-us-part" relationship there would be more Christ-honoring homes and fewer broken hearts. And if more Christian parents really faithfully taught II Corinthians 6:14-15 to their children, and had literally obeyed this portion of the Word themselves, there would be fewer children making foolish, thoughtless, sinful marriage contracts.

Marriage is a partnership. When one member overrates himself (or herself) at the expense of the other that marriage is bound for the rocks. I know a woman who belittles her husband in every accomplishment and in all his faithfulness. "What you did is fair, but I would have done it better, or this way," is her cry. The only difference between him and the furniture in the house is that he brings home the wherewithal to buy new furniture! It is true that the man is very quiet and not too aggressive. Perhaps that's where he made his first mistake. As his bride he gave his wife too free a hand which she has used in turn to belittle and crush any spark of originality or incentive.

The husband or wife who is big only because his marriage partner is belittled shows an inherent weakness. True married love encourages the slightest sign of improvement or adjustment in both parties. It applauds any accomplishment, no matter how meager, never comparing the results with the superior attainments of the other.

True married love is a partnership. What weakens the one member is bound to pull down the other. That which exalts the one is bound to reflect with honor on the partner. Marriage should be a life of ideals fulfilled one by one as you walk together. If I fail my husband in an ideal I know he has for our marriage and he fails to call it to my attention (if I am so blind as to not notice it), then he has allowed a seed of bitterness to get started in his heart. As the bitterness grows he fails to fulfill some of my ideals for our marriage. A vicious circle is thus started. Slowly and certainly the lovely edifice which love has been a-building down the corridors of the years is undermined and will ultimately collapse. But gentle love as it checks on that first neglected ideal can avert a tragedy.

Build the castle of your marriage on high Christian ideals based on God's Word. If you've been drifting without any goal as to your relationship and responsibilities to each other, sit down TONIGHT and face the facts of your failures up to this point. First read Ephesians 5:21-33. Then honestly admit where you each have failed. This is not easy. But you must do it in order to make your fresh start.

On the basis of God's Word you must in honor prefer one another (Rom. 12:10). Sometimes this is extremely difficult to obey, especially where one or both parties are high-spirited and determined. But it is possible to let this portion of His Word operate in your heart to its fulfillment. Gone will be the "chip-on-the-shoulder" attitude. No more reading motives into what the other says or does, or does not say or do. This will require grace on your part many a time until that "old nature" is really reckoned dead (Rom. 6:11). But God has promised grace for the need. Saturate your soul with II Corinthians 12:9. Living according to the principles of God's Word, rather than according to your own pet prejudices and what you think the other person should do, will be your victory IF YOU WANT IT. God will not force His will for victorious living in your marriage if you don't want it.

You've read the Word and acknowledged your own personal failures in your marriage. Now pray together and rejoice in the knowledge that you do this not in your own strength. "All things are possible, only believe." Marriage is a challenging experience in partnership when it is lived according to God's design. Why not partake now of this glorious delight?

MISSIONARY LETTER FROM THE FOGLES

March 3, 1953.

Dear WMCers,

Fred and I join together in a hearty "thank you" for the part you have pledged to give toward the car for France.

Car, in French, is in the feminine gender, so perhaps she could be considered as an honorary WMC member. She is saving many hours and much energy. She is delivering New Testaments into many homes that have never before had the Word of God in them. She's carrying Scripture-text posters and tracts to nearby towns. She has and will be transporting many missionaries and their baggage hither and yon. She is transporting French Christian workers less fortunate than we. In sum, she's doing all she can to help us with the Lord's work.

You probably wonder what we have been doing since we finished school. Well, we've been very busy moving, getting settled, and getting things started. Fred has been preparing sermons for the meetings we hope to have in the spring. He has been and is even today posting gospel posters in and around our town, and then visiting those who write in for the New Testament that is offered free at the bottom of each poster. We have covered Caluire with tracts in every mail box. I've been helping with this, and I'm putting my vote in for straighter, one-way streets. I never saw so many little streets going off the main streets this way and that, but I was careful not to neglect even the smallest path, remembering the value of one soul.

There have also been many letters to write to people who for one reason or another have written to us. Fred is corresponding now with one man who writes such lengthy letters as 14 pages full of questions and arguments. He is an erudite unbeliever who knows lots of history and a little of the teachings of different cults, but who knows nothing of the Book that contains all the answers. How thankful we are to have the Word of God to answer this man with, for while we need other books to convince him of historical dates and names, it's only the Word itself that can melt his heart and that "will not return void."

Praise God for people with thinking minds. Fred met one man that pointed him to a book in which were words to the effect that if a person is faithful to attend the mass every week for the period of 9 months, he can be assured of salvation. And this same man said, "I know that isn't sufficient for my salvation." God help us to make the way of salvation plain to these seeking hearts who have never had a satisfying explanation.

The date has been set for a meeting of a small group of people to decide on a time and place for a Bible class. We trust that it will not be long before we can get started really working for Him.

This is a good opportunity for me to sound another note of thanks for all the cards and letters you have sent our way. We have appreciated them all, but thank you especially for the cards you have sent the children. Only their happy faces could convince you of the thrill they get out of them. Beckie is getting cards right now for her birthday and is repapering her bedroom wall with them. She's thrilled with them from the least to the greatest, and when the mailman comes she promptly stops me from my work to get me to see if there is any mail for her. Vick's constant question is, "Is dat one for me?" Mother always says, "No, lamby, yours will be along a little later." Then it's a new thrill for both of them all over again when his start to come. Neal Lee found his only good to chew on last year, but I believe he will appreciate them a bit more this year because he loves to look at books and pictures now. Many, many thanks.

In closing I would ask you to pray for these people of France. They are people just like you with souls just like yours. They are people who have been forced to endure war not across the ocean, but right in their own backyards. They speak much of war, for it is clear in their memories. One old woman told us just last week of a vision she can't forget of American planes swooping down on all the roads picking off the Germans, and of the stench of dead bodies. Another young woman spoke just yesterday of the bombs falling all around and of how one feels when he is "waiting his turn to die." And all this they have endured without so much as the assurance of salvation in their hearts. Pray, pray, PRAY.

Your ambassadors to France,

Fred and Maurita Fogle.

So you have NEWS about your council for the WMC Herald? Fine! Send it off today while it is on your mind. Address WMC Editor, Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller, 1511 Maiden Lane, SW., Roanoke 15, Va.

---

MEET YOUR OFFICERS

By Althea S. Miller

---

MRS. ROBERT ASHMAN

The national recording secretary of WMC is a very busy capable mother, graduate nurse, and wife of an evangelistic preacher. Bernice (Miller) Ashman is a native Pennsylvanian. At the age of 9 she found Christ as her Saviour in the First Brethren Church of Johnstown. During those years in that particular church Bernice came to know one of Pastor Charles Ashman's sons quite well. Being a very determined young man as are some other preachers' sons I know, Bob Ashman won the heart and hand of Bernice after she won her R.N. degree.

Mrs. Ashman has been a hard-working secretary for WMC. Her records have been faithfully kept and this means lots of hard work. Two daughters, Joyce and Miriam, complete this home and are the joy of their mother's heart. Bernice has been pressed into almost full-time nursing duties, which means she has no extra time to waste on trivials.

WMC owes Mrs. Ashman a debt of gratitude for her unstinting service. May the blessing of the Lord rest upon her as she grows in spirit from day to day. (Incidentally, Mrs. Robert Ashman is the sister-in-law of the national WMC president, Mrs. Kenneth Ashman.)

GIVE TO FOREIGN MISSIONS MARCH, APRIL, MAY

SUGGESTED MOTHER-DAUGHTER PROGRAM—MAY 1953

By Althea S. Miller

A TALENT TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

How about a home talent program for your mother-daughter meeting this May? Just as soon as you read this begin to lay plans. Don't leave anything for last-minute doing. Instead of a banquet or big meal, how about serving tea and hot chocolate, cookies, nuts, potato chips. Or serve cold drinks, open-face sandwiches, chocolate-covered mints, nuts, or cheese sticks. All of these items can be prepared beforehand for a minimum of work at serving time. Serve at the close of the program.

An appropriate theme for this talent program would be "Mother's Songs." For individual programs, as well as for a decoration motif, make miniature harps. Get colored construction paper to make the harps. Cut them about 5 inches long and 4 inches wide so that you can really get the program on the inside pages of ordinary white paper. These will serve as favors for the guests to take home. On the front of these replica harps draw 6 or more lines down the length to simulate harp strings. Down these lines put the following:

S - inging	W - e
M - aking	M - anifest
M - elody	C - hrist
Eph. 5:19	I Tim. 5:25a

Oversized musical notes strategically arranged around the room and hung from wires will do much to add a lilt to the meeting. Use all the pastel spring flower colors both in the paper used to cut the harps and in the actual use of flowers. Don't limit yourselves to just one or two spring flowers. Here is a program you may want to follow. It can be varied according to your local possibilities or limitations.

Opening Prayer—The oldest mother present.

Special Recognition—Of the oldest and youngest mothers present. Also to the mother of the greatest number of children. (No ulterior motive here. I enjoyed this long before I had 8 children!)

Piano Duet—"Beautiful Garden of Prayer" (by 2 girls if possible).

Welcome—By Council(s) president(s).

Hymn—"Faith of Our Mothers" (same music and other words as "Faith of Our Fathers"). All singing.

Toast to Mother*—By girl or young woman who speaks with expression.

Mother's Response*—By a mother who reads and speaks with expression.

Solo (vocal or instrumental)—"I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go." (What greater tribute to the Christian mother than to have her daughter in active service for the Lord?)

Scripture—Proverbs 31:10-31.

Hymn—"The Old Rugged Cross" (to be sung by all the mothers).

Poem—"The Songs My Mother Sang." *

Hymn—"In the Sweet Bye and Bye" (to be sung by all the girls up to 20 years of age).

Trio (girls or young women)—"My Mother's Prayers."

Closing Remarks—5 or 10 minutes by your local pastor's wife.

*TOAST TO MOTHER

Christian mothers are God's choicest gifts to daughters. Though we are hard to understand at times and very trying in our attitude toward her counsel, Mother plods on with infinite patience and much earnest prayer that we, her daughters, will ultimately realize that she always acts for our good. Though we grieve her with our impudence and cause her to smart under our know-it-all sarcasm, Mother is always willing to forgive when we show a contrite spirit. And though she is some years beyond the thrills of girlhood she understands the struggle of our adolescent spirits, and enters into our lives with great enthusiasm. Mother remembers she was once young and someone had to help her over the rough places of development.

Mother is more than our pal. She is our confidante and counselor. She delights to see us develop mentally and physically as we attain unto the goal of maturity. Yet greater than that delight is the deep-down joy of seeing us mature spiritually. When Christ's will for our lives becomes our greatest desire Mother knows then that all her sacrifice and struggle in our behalf has been more than compensated.

Mother is our inspiration. When we see her buoyant Christ-centered life we are convinced that her faith in Him is real and not just a cloak she dons to impress people. From Mother we first learned to love. She taught us that true love is giving, not alone receiving. She does not alone talk of Christ's love, she daily demonstrates it.

Christian mothers, we salute you this night! We pray our lives will ever be a blessing and a benediction to you. Mother, we love you and the Lord Jesus Christ who is your first love. Because you have relinquished your hold on us in order that God may use us, we will give ourselves to Him unreservedly. And though He calls us to serve Him in vineyards close by or sends us to earth's remotest nation, YOU, Mother, will ever be close in prayer, loving us over the hard places. And by God's grace we will honor you each day of each year that we live, not just one day out of each year.

"Her children arise up and call her blessed. . . . Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised" (Prov. 31:28-30).—A. S. M.

*MOTHER'S RESPONSE

Christian daughters, we thank you very humbly for your salute. We know all too well how unworthy we are of the great task which has been committed to us as mothers. We realize we have failed and sinned even as you, and many times, too. Because we are but flesh and blood, and may you ever remember the fact, we have been short-sighted at times in dealing with you and the problems you present. And many times you have been

DEVOTIONAL STUDIES FOR MAY

Bible Study—"The Pull of That Love."
Mission Study—"Evangelizing Israel."

most patient with us in our blunderings. If you can ever keep before you the truth that our love for you goes beyond this day, you will have opened the gate to sweet obedience and joyous living. No true daughter of the King can deny that "to obey is better than sacrifice." Your obedience to the Lord who bought you at so great a price, and your obedience to us is our crowning reward.

Your sweet freshness and eagerness to live full is to us what the spring rains are to the earth. Your boundless energy so often lifts our jaded spirits and eases the next mile. You take us out of the humdrum of everyday living with all its trials and responsibilities with the lilt of your song. For all these blessings we thank Him who gave you to us. But most of all we thank God that you love Jesus Christ and have put Him and His will ahead of us and your own will. All our love and desire is fulfilled when we see you, our daughters, yielding your lives in their rosebud stage to the only One who can make you "abound unto every good work." In this, then, is our joy full.

"Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all" (Prov. 31:29).—A. S. M.

*THE SONGS MY MOTHER SANG

I hear them in the whispering winds,
The forest's rhythmic strain,
The chime of bells, that sinks and swells,
The patter of the rain.
I hear them in the vesper call
Of birds from copse and tree;
Each note prolongs the dear old songs
That Mother sang to me.

I hear them in the ocean's voice,
The prattle of the child,
The dashing rill, the fountain's trill,
The tempests fierce and wild.
I hear them through the silent night,
In dreams they echo free,
Since memory throngs with tender songs
That Mother sang to me.

I heard them when a babe I lay
Upon her loving breast,
And when a child their charms beguiled
My eager brain to rest.
I hear them now, and some last hour
Across death's swelling sea
My soul shall wing, while angels sing
The songs she sang to me.

—Richard Burton.

So you have NEWS about your council for the WMC Herald? Fine! Send it off today while it is on your mind. Address WMC Editor, Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller, 1511 Maiden Lane, SW., Roanoke 15, Va.

WMC OFFICIARY

President—Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, 205 Ihrig Ave., Wooster, Ohio.
Vice President—Mrs. Henry Rempel, 1539 E. 80th St., Los Angeles 1, Calif.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Robert Ashman, Winona Lake, Ind.
Financial Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Chester McCall, 3421 W. 82d Pl., Inglewood, Calif.
Literature Secretary—Mrs. Conard Sandy, Box 373, Winona Lake, Ind.
Editor—Mrs. Robert Miller, 1511 Maiden Lane, S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
Prayer Chairman—Miss Mary Emmert, Dallas Center, Iowa.
Patroness of SMM—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. N.E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

GIVE TO FOREIGN MISSIONS MARCH, APRIL, MAY

REMEMBER
!?!=

Here are a few added suggestions for that Missionary Hope Chest YOUR council is filling:

Men's socks, children's socks, birthday candles and decorations, baby bibs and waterproof pants, baby shirts, little children's underwear. Can you think of anything else? Have you heard any missionary express a particular need which we've failed to include in our list? If you've heard of any such item or have further ideas, how about sharing them with all the councils by sending them on to your WMC editor.

Mrs. Kenneth Ashman suggests you read Psalms 119-150 for the month of May as your extra Bible reading for that month. Take 5 or 7 days to read the 119th Psalm since it is quite long.

We are hearing from many councils that they do NOT miss the monthly hostess booklets which WMC has always given until this year. Have you reported your pleasure in this matter? One council said they are glad to make their own booklets hoping that the cost of making and printing these booklets will be used toward the support of a WMC missionary.

We are hearing many fine reports of your response both as councils and individuals to the monthly Bible and mission studies this year. Women all over the country are saying they just never knew a thing about the Jews before the study this year. Would you like to see this mission study regarding Jewish evangelization which we are studying this year printed in booklet form? We most certainly would appreciate an expression from you all. It would be refreshing to be able to refer to various sections of a book on the different angles of Jewish evangelization and missions. Drop a card to your WMC editor.

MISSIONARIES' BIRTHDAYS

Africa—

Rev. S. Wayne Beaver.....June 2
Nancy Grace Hill.....June 8, 1949
Rev. Roy Snyder.....June 15
Miss Marie Mishler.....June 19
Robert Hill.....June 29, 1945

Argentina—

Clifford Wagner.....June 4, 1949
Mrs. Ricardo Wagner.....June 17

France—

Rev. Martin M. Garber.....June 14
Mrs. Harold Mason.....June 26
Mrs. Lester Kennedy.....June 30

United States—

Donald Sheldon (at school).....June 5
Mrs. Rose Foster.....June 9
Mrs. Marvin Goodman, Jr. ....June 12

GIVE TO FOREIGN MISSIONS MARCH, APRIL, MAY

"Ambassadors for Christ"

Sisterhood of MARY and MARTHA

II COR 5:20

READY TO SUFFER

By ADA M. ETLING

Did you ever move from one city to another? Did you often yearn for letters from your friends or have the desire to visit them?

Paul and Barnabas had completed their first missionary journey, had returned to Jerusalem, and were awaiting the momentous decision of the Jerusalem conference.

Suddenly Paul suggested to Barnabas that they revisit the converts of their first journey just to "see how they do" (Acts 15:36). Barnabas agreed, but contention arose over John Mark, and Paul selected Silas as his companion. Barnabas and Mark went to Cyprus. Paul and Silas journeyed through Syria and Cilicia confirming the churches and then on to Lystra, where young Timothy was selected as an assistant.

Trace the travels of our missionary band as they traveled through Phrygia and Galatia. How they wanted to go on into Asia, but the Holy Spirit was doing His office work and forbade preaching at Bithynia and in Asia. While they waited, there came a vision and the call: "Come over into Macedonia, and help us" (Acts 16:9). What a thrill must have come to the heart of Paul and his party. We used to live in a rural community and every time the fire siren blew, every volunteer fireman made a wild dash down the street to the fire station, ready to face danger for the opportunity of helping a neighbor. So Paul and his party were ready to face whatever danger there might be in this foreign land, just for the opportunity of helping men to know Christ as their Saviour.

They left Troas, crossed the Aegean Sea, and entered a great continent for Christ's sake. Heretofore Asia had led the world. Now Europe, and finally America, was to hear the glad, good news. Had Paul not been ready to suffer discomfort and weariness, had he not obeyed the call, Christianity may not have reached us!

Neapolis was the landing place, from where they pressed on to Philippi. Here 2 women caused upheaval. Lydia, the seller of purple, accepted the Lord. She and her household accepted Christ and her home was opened to the sojourners. As they walked down the street Paul cast an evil spirit from a slave girl. (Girls, let us realize and appreciate how much Christianity has done for womanhood!) This angered the employers of the girl and stirred resentment. What do you suppose they accomplished? Turn to Acts 16:22-23 and discover that the missionaries had their clothing torn off, they were beaten, and finally put into prison. All of this because they were ready to suffer for His sake! Could names, mistreatment, even imprisonment defeat our heroes? Nay! From the depths of their hearts they sang a song of trust. There was an earthquake and the earthquake opened the locks of the prison doors!

Does it pay to serve Jesus? Oh yes, He giveth songs in the night. What was the result of their suffering for Christ? The jailer and his family believed! Do you need proof that it was genuine? Then see what they did. They bathed the wounds of Paul and Silas. They treated them now as friends and brothers in the Lord. Yes, when we are born again, we are new creatures in Christ.

Read how suffering came in Thessalonica; how the Bereans were more gracious; how Paul dared to speak of the true God in Athens; how he worked in Corinth by night in order that he could preach by day. He had come to this city quite discouraged. He had heard of trouble at Thessalonica; he knew that Corinth was a cosmopolitan center tremendously wicked. Did he fear for the Gospel? Did he fear for his own life? Our God is able! The opposition of the Jews was overruled, and in Corinth there was victory for Christ!

"Onward," is our heroes' motto. On they go to mighty Ephesus. Yes, the Word of God is the power of God unto salvation. Let us be ready in season and out of season to be alert for Christ. Will you say, "I am ready to suffer for His sake if necessary"? Are you willing to take mental and physical discomforts and even affliction that others may hear the glad, good news?

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR MAY

SINGSPIRATION.

INTERCESSION—Using "Prayer Suggestions."

SCRIPTURE—Psalms 119:129-144.

TRAINING FOR AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Roman Catholicism."

Middlers—"Ready to Suffer."

Juniors—Look in next week's issue of the Brethren

Missionary Herald for your topic.

SPECIAL NUMBER.

REPORT ON AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Ready to Suffer."

Middlers, Juniors—"William Bagby."

BENEDICTION.

BUSINESS MEETING.

PRAYER SUGGESTIONS

1. Pray for those who are preparing to go to the mission fields soon.
2. Pray for other SMM's as we all strive to meet our goals.
3. Pray for our missionary, Marybeth Munn, and the leper work; pray that the patients will come to know Christ as Saviour.

In dealing with the system known as Romanism or Roman Catholicism, we find ourselves confronted with one of the most aggressive systems in the world today. It differs from the common cults of the day in that it does not deny the great doctrines of the Scriptures nor the Scriptures themselves as the inspired Word of God. Its main error is that it has added so much in the way of tradition and ceremony to that which is revealed in the Bible.

I. Origin. A definite time cannot be assigned to the origin of Romanism. The system came into being gradually. Some think it had its rise in the days of the Emperor Constantine, in the 4th century, when the church and the state were practically joined, and when the popularity that Constantine gave to the church opened the gates for the incoming of many of the pagan ideas to be found in Romanism today. There is a sense, however, in which both Protestantism and Romanism had their origin in New Testament times. Both claim to be founded upon the Word of God and the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour. But little by little there was a variation from the simplicity of the New Testament church. Some of the ceremonialism that was common to paganism was introduced into the liturgy of the worship services. A distinction grew up between elders and bishops, the bishop assuming a dominant position which ended finally in the recognition of a bishop of bishops located in the city of Rome. Devotion to images took the place of worship of pagan deities. The idea of baptismal regeneration early crept into the church, and with this a host of human works which were given the place of meritorious value.

Thus little by little a huge section of Christendom was given over to a system filled with additions to the New Testament revelation and to a group holding to salvation by good works through the agency of the church.

Alongside these who stepped aside from the simplicity of the Gospel, there were always those who held to evangelical truth and repudiated the innovations which had been brought into the church. Finally, in the 16th century, beginning with Luther's nailing of his 95 theses on the door of the church at Wittenburg against the sale of indulgences (1517), the differences came to a climax and there was brought into the open the 2 distinct groups, Romanism and Protestantism.

II. Characteristics. For one thing, Romanism is a system of intermediaries. It knows nothing of direct access to God. It says that in order to be saved a person must go through the agency of the church with its priests, saints, and not least, the Virgin Mary.

Again, Romanism is a sacramental system. Salvation is obtained through the observance of the sacraments and regulations of the church. The sacraments have a mystical power about them which minister grace to the recipients. Romanism recognizes 7 sacraments: baptism, confirmation, the eucharist, penance, extreme unction, matrimony, and ordination. The last 2 are not necessary to salvation, since only laymen marry and only priests are ordained, but they bestow especial grace to the participants. The first 5 of these sacraments are necessary to salvation plus purgatory, indulgences, and suffrages. Baptism washes away original sin and bestows the grace of regeneration. Confirmation seals the baptism of the Holy Spirit. The eucharist, wherein the bread and the cup actually become the body and blood of Christ, remits venial (lesser) sin, but not necessarily its punishment. In the sacrifice of the mass Christ is repeatedly "victimized" for human sin. Penance takes care of mortal sins committed after baptism. Extreme unction removes all sin not previously remitted. Purgatory and indulgences are also inventions of Romanism connected with salvation.

Furthermore, Romanism is a system of uncertainty. It knows nothing about assurance of salvation. The latter for them is not a present reality, but only a future hope. For them salvation only comes after purgatory, which is one of the additions they make to the plain teachings of the New Testament.

III. Winning Romanists. Romanists will not be won by criticizing their system, their priests, their veneration of the Virgin Mary, or their ideas on the church and salvation. This will only antagonize them and forbid dealing constructively with them.

We can win some of them by presenting the true nature of salvation. It is a salvation that can be enjoyed as a present reality, not just a future possibility or hope (John 5:24). It is a salvation that must be received directly from Christ with no ceremony or sacrament intervening (I Tim. 2:5). It is a salvation that must be received by personal faith in a living Saviour (Eph. 2: 8-10) apart from all human works, sacraments, or ceremonies. There are no meritorious works as far as salvation is concerned. Christ has provided all the merit necessary through His work at Calvary. To attempt to add anything to this finished work is an insult to God and diminishes the value of our Lord's complete work on the cross in the minds of men.

The salvation of the Gospel is a salvation which must be received directly through God's Word. Hence it is good to get Catholics to center their attention on the great salvation passages of Scripture.

OFFICIAL REPORT

ALUMNAE MONTH: Yes, May is alumnae month. Although we do not stress it anymore, it is nice to know about it.

MAY 10: This is the deadline for sending in your Birthday Project Offering. Get yours in on time.

NEWS ITEMS: Have you sent in a postcard telling of the activities of your SMM? Remember—this is one of your local organization goals; so if you want to be an honor SMM, you had better get it in.

PERSONAL PROJECTS: Have you learned I Peter yet? Time's getting short—better get started on it! Try learning the names and fields of our missionaries. That wouldn't be too hard!

NEW AWARDS: We now have some substitute awards for learning the missionaries' names and fields. If you learn the names of all the missionaries, you will have a choice of an SMM pin or an SMM head scarf. If you learn the names of all the home missionaries and 50 of the foreign, you will have a choice of an SMM emblem and a little shoe bookmark. Be sure to specify which you want when you send in your name.

When William Bagby was born in 1855 in Texas, his mother dedicated him to God and prayed that he would grow up to carry the Gospel to the unsaved. The prayer was answered in a wonderful way, for he was used of the Lord to open up Brazil to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

As he grew up and struggled for an education, he felt his heart strangely drawn toward the work of Christ in a foreign field. He had been saved when he was 11.

Meanwhile God was preparing a helpmate for him. Anne Luther, who was in a different college, felt that after her graduation she was to carry the Gospel to some other country. She was afraid that she would fall in love with someone who would not want to be a missionary, and that she would have to leave her country with a broken heart.

But God had arranged it all. When William met Anne at a Sunday school convention, he promptly fell in love with her. They were married 2 years later, in 1880.

Early the next year they set sail for South America, where they expected to contact a Christian dentist at Rio de Janeiro for help in getting started in the work in Brazil. They were much disturbed to find that he had gone to the United States on a visit. While pondering it over they received a letter from a lady at Santa Barbara asking them to use her home for a stopping place.

During their 3-week visit with her they saw God's purpose in it all, for there God gave them their first native assistant, a former Catholic priest named Antonio, who became converted when he heard the Gospel. Antonio became a wonderful preacher whom the Lord used mightily to win many souls.

The next year 2 other missionaries from the States, Rev. and Mrs. Taylor, joined them, and the 5 of them organized the first Baptist church in Bahia, where they had settled.

The first convert was a confirmed gambler and drinker. His life was so changed that those who knew him previously marveled at him.

Their meetings were held in a very simple room furnished with 12 chairs, 10 benches, and a pulpit they had remade. The Catholics called this simple beginning the "candle-moth invasion of Brazil." But a work had been started by which the power of Satan was shaken.

At the end of 2 years the little church had a membership of 20. The Bagbys felt led to leave this work to the Taylors and to start a work at Rio de Janeiro.

An English lady, who had been converted in Spurgeon's church at London, opened her home for the new little church at Rio de Janeiro, which was to become one of the largest in Brazil during the 17 years that Mr. and Mrs. Bagby worked there.

William felt the need of a native helper and asked God to furnish him one. The answer was a Brazilian named Mesquita who, like Antonio, was a great help to them. By 1885 they had 18 members in their church at Rio de Janeiro.

In answer to prayer Mr. Bagby recovered from a severe attack of yellow fever. Then they returned to the States to rest and to get more recruits. Brazil changed from a monarchy to a republic about this time, which meant they could now preach the Gospel freely.

The Bagbys had 9 children, 5 of whom lived to become missionaries like their parents. In addition to raising their children, Anne Bagby opened a school for girls at Sao Paulo, one of their stations. This school was the means of winning many souls to Christ and sending out many home missionaries.

William Bagby departed this life in 1939, and his wife followed him 3 years later. They had inspired many others to become missionaries and had also been used in stirring up the Brazilian Christians to help evangelize their own country.

WILL YOU BE ASHAMED?

A Message From Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, National SMM Patroness

After we ascended the plush-carpeted stairway and entered the exquisitely appointed living room, Mrs. J—graciously welcomed us and anon she plunged our conversation into the Word of God. Her life story would glitter brighter than that of any glamorous socialite, and chill the blood of any avid mystery reader. But now fear was clutching the very innermost of this attractive woman. She was asking the pastor if there was hope for her, if God would forgive, if God would undo the tangles of her life.

At an early age she had confessed Christ as her Saviour, but now she was reaping 40 years of saying "No" to the Spirit of God who had continuously tugged at her heart and mind. Human medics were helpless with the disease that raged through her body. Later she took my hands and, covering them with her tears, she quietly moaned, "Oh, LauraBeth, if only I can win a few souls before I meet the Lord." And from her bed, which literally became her couch of death, before she passed from this sphere of life, in those 4 short months, she faithfully witnessed to members of her family. The amazing grace of God, His great mercy astounds us, His children, more every day.

Have you glibly said the words, "A workman that needeth not to be ashamed," and then fussed about enduring hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ? Anything worth while is not easy. Dig right in, put your shoulder to the wheel and help your SMM win the honor and banner goals. Meeting your SMM goals is such a pleasant way to serve the Lord.

By the way, an interesting feature in one of your programs would be to have the girls give Bible verses which prompted the goals.

Your devotion and good works, do they glorify God? Jealously guard your Q T with the Lord. Serve the Lord with gladness so you won't need to be ashamed when you see Him face to face.

Will you be ashamed?

SUGGESTED PROJECTS FOR AFRICA: Marybeth Munn needs the following things for her hospital work: nurses' aprons, large and small gowns for children, large and small pneumonia jackets. Complete instructions and patterns can be obtained from the bandage secretary.

Mrs. Kriegbaum

5-53
Rev. and Mrs. Blaine Snyder
Winona Lake, Ind.

Introducing Your National Officers—

Literature Secretary
MYRA JOY CONNER
Roanoke, Va.

SMM NEWS

The ASHLAND, OHIO, SMM, only several months old, has been growing rapidly and is very active. Among some of their activities were entertaining the District SMM at their church, making bookmarks and scrapbooks, rolling tracts, and bandage rolling. They are working on their "giving" projects now.

A special blessing came to the Sr. SMM of MUNDY'S CORNER, PA., at the Christmas season when they gave a Christmas program at the large children's home nearby.

The girls at BERNE, IND., had their mothers meet with them for a "bandage rolling time" and ended up with 250 bandages.

In FORT WAYNE, IND., the Sr. SMM has a project night to work on projects. Their local project is making scrapbooks for children in the hospitals. Recently they had a Sunday evening church service devoted to a beautiful SMM candlelight service.

The Sr. SMM of MARTINSBURG, PA., has been working on their projects by helping to fill a missionary chest, giving gifts for shut-ins at Christmas, and also buying books for the church library which they started.

One of the girls of the CANTON, OHIO, Sr. SMM made a map on which members of the church were to place dimes for the national project. As a local project they painted the nursery furniture.

The SMM of ALLENTOWN, PA., collected clothes for the Navaho Indians. Future plans are for the giving of a skit.

The Sr. group of OSCEOLA, IND., packaged candy at Christmas to be given to the children at Taos.

A slumber party was enjoyed by the girls of the Jr. SMM of WINONA LAKE, IND. Recently they made SMM jumpers.

THE FIFTH GENERATION

From Our SMM Missionary, Marybeth Munn

My nurses' class was reading the Book of Job in French on Fridays. They were impressed by Job's godly testimony and his earthly blessings, they were startled by Satan's taunt and request of God, they mourned with Job at each tragic loss, and they suffered with him in his devastating illness. Finally we arrived at the victorious end of this righteous man. He had been tried and found faithful to God.

As each earthly possession was restored they shared his joy. And the biggest thrill was that Job saw his children's children to the 4th generation. They said they often see the 3d generation but that not many see the 4th. That would be true joy to see the 4th generation.

At this point, Joshua, a Karre man of Beandje, said that he knew an old man who saw his 5th generation. Poor Job was quickly forgotten as Joshua enlarged on his story of this fortunate man. Joshua explained that the old man was too senile to realize whose children he was seeing as he must have been well over 100 years old. The entire class gasped as they thought of such an age. Then one other nurse made this profound statement: "Why that old man must have been born about the time that Christ died." The rest of the class nodded in agreement.

Time doesn't mean much here. To them each Bible story from Adam to John is almost a current event. Their faith isn't dulled by thinking of all the time that men have waited for Christ's return either. They, as the Word says to do, are listening with us for that shout and trumpet. What a glad day that will be!

Marybeth Munn

GENERAL FUND OFFERING—JANUARY 31, 1953

Atlantic District .....	$ 29.51
California District .....	49.09
Central District .....	106.89
East District .....	127.96
Iowa District .....	32.08
Midwest District .....	5.00
Northern Ohio District .....	92.65
Northwest District .....	6.42
Southeast District .....	37.81

Total ..... 487.41

Mary Hooks, Treasurer.

OFFICIARY FOR 1952-53

President—Patty Griffith, Box 4053, Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C.
Vice President—Cora Luna, Box 711, Taos, N. Mex.
General Secretary—Helen Small, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Treasurer—Mary Hooks, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Literature Secretary—Myra Joy Conner, 4131 Vermont Ave. NW., Roanoke, Va.
Bandage Secretary—Evelyn Vnasdale, 555 Kinnaird Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind.
Patroness—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. NE., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
Assistant Patroness—Mrs. John Armstrong, R. R. 2, Wooster, Ohio.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 16

HOME MISSION NUMBER

APRIL 18, 1953

FINISHED ALEXANDRIA CHURCH DEDICATED MARCH 29, 1953

(Inset) Mr. Roy Glass, Sr., building committee chairman, presents the keys to Mr. Edward B. Murphy, trustee chairman. The other members of the building committee standing in the background are Mr. J. E. Means, Mr. Frank Gardner, Mr. O. H. Taylor, and Mr. Willis Wood. Seated on the left is Pastor Kenneth L. Teague, with Rev. Galen Lingenfelter beside him.

DEDICATE NEW ALEXANDRIA, VA., BRETHREN CHURCH

AGAIN GOD HAS SCORED A MAJOR VICTORY IN BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS!

SUNDAY, MARCH 29, MARKED THE DEDICATION DAY FOR THE RECENTLY COMPLETED HOME MISSION CHURCH BUILDING IN ALEXANDRIA, VA.

THIS BEAUTIFUL COLONIAL TYPE BUILDING WITH AN EXTREMELY ATTRACTIVE AUDITORIUM WAS FILLED TO CAPACITY FOR THE DEDICATION SERVICE. OUR HEARTS WERE THRILLED AS WE CONTEMPLATED THE BLESSINGS OF THE LORD WHICH HAD LED UP TO THE COMPLETION OF THE BUILDING.

THE HIGHEST COMMENDATION GOES TO THE PASTOR, BRO. KENNETH TEAGUE, AND TO THE LOYAL GROUP OF PEOPLE GOD HAS GIVEN HIM. MEN AND WOMEN WITH VISION IN THE SERVICE

WE'RE SORRY

DUE TO THE LIMITED AMOUNT OF TIME BETWEEN THE ALEXANDRIA DEDICATION AND THE DEADLINE FOR THE COPY TO BE IN THE HANDS OF THE HERALD COMPANY, WE WERE UNABLE TO INCLUDE ALL THE ALEXANDRIA DEDICATION PICTURES. THE LORD WILLING, WE WILL PRINT THEM IN THE MAY ISSUE.

OF CHRIST AND WITH A SACRIFICIAL SPIRIT HAVE MADE THIS GREAT VICTORY POSSIBLE.

THE BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS COUNCIL IS INDEED PROUD TO PRESENT ANOTHER FINISHED CHURCH BUILDING AS AN ADDITIONAL HOME MISSION DIVIDEND TO THOSE WHO HAVE PRAYED FOR AND GIVEN TO THIS WORK OF GOD.

"IN EVERYTHING GIVE THANKS"

By Rev. Kenneth Teague

Though God would permit us to live many, many years, I do not believe that my wife and I will ever forget the day of July 4, 1951, for it was on that particular day that our family climbed into our "old" Ford and found our way to the city of Alexandria, Va., the place where we were to begin our first pastorate. In a way it seems like ages since we began that journey, and yet the days and months have flown by as we have busied ourselves seeking to fulfill the task that God has given us to do in His vineyard. How we do thank God for the precious experiences that have come to us these past months, and for the hard and trying trials, for they have strengthened our faith and trust in God and in the promises of His Word. Truly God is wonderful and is ever so near to those who desire to lean upon His strong arm.

Our hearts are full and overflowing with praise to God as we come now to this day, for which so many have prayed and waited so long—the day of dedicating this new building, the Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church, to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. As we think back over the months in which God has permitted us to labor here, we can only say with Paul of old, "In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

Time and space will not permit our rendering thanks for all the blessings that God has poured out upon us, but we do desire to mention just a few of the blessings for which we render thanks in this great hour.

We Do Indeed Wish to Thank God

I. For His Great Faithfulness.

Truly no one who has ever dared to trust God and the promises of His Word has ever found Him to fail. I am more deeply convinced each day that our God delights to find a group of people, or an individual believer, who will take Him at His Word, will claim His promise by faith, and then prove to the world that God is faithful, that His Word will not fail, and that God is able and willing to perform that which He has spoken. We have learned from very practical experience these past months that our God can be trusted, that His Word is true, and that He delights to answer the prayers of His children who come to Him in faith believing. The Alexandria church is a testimony to the faithfulness of God.

II. For the Faith, Courage, and Vision of God's People Here in This City.

Yes, the Lord is faithful, but God needs human instrumentality through whom to work. God needs men and women, through whom He can work, to show and prove to a skeptical and unbelieving world that He is real and that He is accessible to any who call upon Him in faith believing. We cease not to thank God for the people of our congregation who have manifested real faith, real courage, and real vision, in establishing a Brethren testimony in this city. With just a small membership and a small congregation, they have undertaken a tremendous task of building a beautiful place of worship here in the heart of this growing city. On this day of dedication, it is evident God has honored that courage and faith, for that which was only a vision is now a living reality and a door of invitation to the thousands yet lost in this place.

III. For the Evidence of His Blessing Upon the Spiritual Work of the Church.

We are all interested in beautiful sanctuaries and places of worship, and rightfully so, but God is more interested in the beauty of transformed lives. Lives that have been completely changed by the wonderful power of His wonderful Word. We are thankful to God that we have not only witnessed the building of a beautiful house of worship in which God's people can meet, but we have witnessed the building of many temples that are now the dwelling place of God the Holy Spirit. It is unto God that we give thanks for the many who have found the Saviour, and the many who have joined us in our fellowship here in this place. In the past 15 months there have been 34 precious souls that have found the Saviour, and 37 that have joined the fellowship of this church. We feel that God is giving to our people a great vision of the real work of the church, the winning of the lost sheep into the safety of the fold. God has given to our new people the same burden and concern for the entire work of the denomination so that they too have become enthusiastic for the work of home and foreign missions.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

IV. For the Faithful, Prayerful Guidance and Assistance Given by Our Home Missions Council.

Oftentimes God's people have faith and courage to move ahead in their desire for doing a task for the Lord, but they seem to lack the knowledge or wisdom as to how to begin. We in Alexandria shall never cease to thank God for raising up in our denomination an organization to lend just such a hand in time of need. Our Home Missions Council has been most wonderful to us in helping to crystallize our plans, and give to us the added assurance and confidence that was needed in this undertaking. They have stood by us in times of real need, and have given to us the prayerful guidance and financial assistance that was so necessary in building this church for our Lord. Our relations with the council in all our dealings have been most wonderful. Truly the Home Missions Council has proved to be a friend that did not fail in the time of need. It has won for itself many ardent supporters here in the Alexandria congregation. Our prayer is that we shall be able to return to them a portion of the blessing they have brought our way.

Surely the Lord has greatly blessed in this venture of faith here in the city of Alexandria. We pray that our God will not only enable us to sow the Word in this place, but that He will soon enable us to be self-supporting so that our Home Missions Council will be able to move into some other needy city of this great land.

NOTHING CAN TAKE THE PLACE OF GOD'S WORD

By Mrs. J. E. Means

Thanks be unto God for the Brethren Church! It was there I realized I needed a personal Saviour. I had always gone to church and even taught a Sunday-school class, but I was a self-righteous person, depending on works to get me to heaven. I had been taught the ordinances according to another denomination and for that reason I seldom attended any other church but the one I was brought up in.

One day I attended the Brethren church after hearing Rev. Bernard Schneider teach in the Washington Bible Institute, and how clear the Word of God sounded, and how it stirred my heart! There I found what I had been seeking—assurance of salvation, and food for my hungry soul. Now after 10 years I still am praising God for leading us to the Brethren Church.

THE LORD LED US EVERY DAY AND ALL THE WAY

By Frank H. Gardner, Building Committee Secretary

March 29, 1953, A. D.! This date set for the dedication of our new church to the glory of God. We look in retrospection to Thanksgiving time, 1944, when first a group of devoted people met to worship God and learn more of His Word and seek to know His will for our lives here in Alexandria.

Surely our Lord led us on, for we met in His name, thus placing Him in our midst. We can say now the way has not been smooth, but he has seen us through, having gone with us all the way.

Space does not permit us to give a complete history of our travels, but we can say that after having met for some 8 months in the home of one of our members, God led us to an abandoned chapel, which we used for 3 years. Then our new location was the auditorium of the Jefferson School Annex, which we used for nearly 3 years. During this time the ground-breaking service was held, and the erection of our new building took place.

On July 8, 1951, we first used our new basement. Since this time space grew smaller, and it necessitated completion of the interior of the main auditorium. Most of this work was done by donated labor. Many gifts for God's glory have brightened our new church. We have been richly blessed of God. This shall not be the end of our work, for it is now just beginning. We must possess the land!

While we have much to praise God for now, we know these things are nothing to what shall yet be revealed to us.

We cannot complete this article without also praising God for our own Home Missions Council, which has freely given us the benefit of its experiences in building churches, to say nothing of the financial assistances received as it was enabled to give because of the many friends it has in our great denomination.

THANKFUL FOR THE LORD'S ABUNDANT BENEFITS

By Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Murphy

"Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation" (Psa. 68:19).

We, the Murphys, praise the Lord for His many marvelous benefits to usward. We praise Him for the blessed assurance of our salvation, and again we praise Him for the blessed Christian fellowship which we have experienced for the last 3½ years with the brethren here in Alexandria. For 18 years the Ghent church in Roanoke had been our church home. Needless to say we were feeling rather uprooted and lonely after moving into the Washington area. We were utter strangers here, but not for long. The good people of the Alexandria church soon had us feeling very much at home in their midst.

It has been a real privilege and a joy to become one of them and to share in the work they are doing for the Lord. It has been an inspiration to witness the courage and the unswerving faith of these people as they have labored to establish a testimony for the Lord here in this needy city. God has signally blessed this work, for today we have a beautiful church in which to worship and serve him. How our hearts thrill at the manifestations of the Lord's good pleasure in the establishment of this church! Truly He has loaded us with benefits. He has not been lax in providing ways and means as well as wise leadership under the Home Missions Council and within our own group.

We praise the Lord for our faithful pastor and his dear wife. The Lord chose to lay upon their young, inexperienced shoulders a heavy load of responsibilities. Not in their own strength, but in the strength of the Lord they have faithfully and humbly served, waiting upon the Lord in prayer for guidance and wisdom in the performance of His great commission—to preach the Word, to win lost souls to Christ, and to minister to the spiritual needs of his church family.

"Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised" (Psa. 145:3).

---

HOME MISSION WORK IN ALEXANDRIA

By Roy E. Glass, Sr., Building Committee Chairman

He "is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20). Truly this has been so in Alexandria, and here you can see that God has again let His abundant blessing be manifest through the Brethren Home Missions Council.

Despite the seeming immensity of a project like we have for such a small congregation it in no way caused the vision of the people to waver, because they knew they were backed up by the loyal prayers and gifts of the entire brotherhood and had the counsel of the Home Missions Council in the organization and the furtherance of a Brethren testimony in our city.

The building committee with the fine cooperation of the members and friends all worked together. Many difficult hours were spent to complete the project. Above all we believe to a man that it was only the goodness of God and His evident hand guiding the council and the Alexandria people that enabled us to do what has been done.

Of course every person who contributed to the Home Missions Council had a very definite part in our work. We thank you for this and trust you will continue to give materially and spiritually before the throne of grace, that Alexandria will soon become self-supporting and that many new churches can be started in this needy land of ours.

---

I RECEIVED ASSURANCE IN THE BRETHREN CHURCH

By Mrs. Neva Huffman, WMC President

It is indeed a privilege to give testimony as to what the Brethren Church has meant to me. Five years ago, after attending services at the little "Brethren Chapel," now Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church, I felt the need to rededicate my life. Having gone forward in another church, I believed I had done all that was necessary to be saved. There never had been any assurance of salvation. However, under the faithful teaching of the true Gospel, which I received at the Brethren church, I learned that I could only be saved by grace through faith in the Lord Jesus, and not by good works.

The Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church and the sweet Christian fellowship I have found there have been

FREMONT COLORED BRETHREN CHURCH

The Fremont, Ohio, colored group met on Monday night, March 30, 1953, and voted to become a Brethren church. The picture is not the group that met on this particular night but it is a recent picture of the group. They will be petitioning the Northern Ohio District to become affiliated with them in the next district conference. Approximately 30 were present, and following the business meeting the film, "The Forgotten Navaho," was shown by Rev. Lester Pifer. Mr. Granville Tucker, who is the leader in this new colored work, was a member of Brother Pifer's church at the time he started this work among his own people. The first meeting was held on October 19, 1952, and regular services have been conducted since that time by Brother Tucker.

---

priceless. I have received so many blessings, mainly because through the true teachings of the Word of God I came to realize that by letting the Lord Jesus come into my life and trusting Him as Saviour, I have life eternal.

---

BRETHREN CHURCH PROVIDES RICH FELLOWSHIP

By Bill Spilman

"Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him and he shall direct thy paths" (Prov. 3:5-6). There's not a truer verse in the Word of God than this, for I have trusted in the Lord and surely He has directed my paths. About 5 years ago the Lord led me to the Brethren Church, but it wasn't until a year later that I accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Saviour. Since then I've found peace and joy I never before dreamed of. I thank God daily for the fellowship we have found in the Brethren Church. Here is where we receive spiritual food for our souls. Thank God for the abundant life.

---

REJOICE EVERMORE

By Willis A. Wood, Building Committee Treasurer

"Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord" (Phil. 3:1). The dedication of our new church building causes great rejoicing to the Brethren in Alexandria, Va., and the nearby areas. May our rejoicing be in the Lord who has made this joyful occasion possible. If space permitted I should like to write of the many blessings that I have personally experienced, for which I rejoice. At this particular time, however, I will confine my testimony to thanksgiving for the home missionary vision of Brethren

(Continued on Page 255)

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED IN CHICO

On March 29, the 5th anniversary of the founding of the Grace Brethren Church of Chico, Calif., we praised the Lord for the material and spiritual blessings of the last 5 years. We especially praise Him for the beautiful church building which He has provided for our worship, and for the 50 that have been added to the membership as well as for the many souls that have come to know Christ as Saviour during that time.

A wonderful setting for the day was provided by the beautiful California sunshine, several baskets of flowers in the church auditorium, and the bulletin board filled with pictures and Missionary Heralds reminding us of the early days of the church.

With 100 present in the Sunday school and 85 in the morning worship service, our hearts were thrilled as we listened to the testimonies from 2 charter members, Mr. E. V. Rife and Mrs. Nellie Kerr, and our most recent member, Mrs. Jean Tyler. Brother McCall, lay member of the First Brethren Church of Los Angeles, gave a brief word of greeting as a member of the Brethren Home Missions Council. Brother Polman, of Temple City, Calif., sang a solo and then gave a message from the Word. The Holy Spirit spoke to hearts and 5 re-dedicated their lives to greater usefulness to the Lord in the work of this church. All our hearts were stirred.

Shortly afterward, enjoying the company of all those that love the Lord, we gathered in the basement for a fellowship dinner (pot-luck) with 65 present.

Following the Christian Endeavor hour at which Brother McCall gave his testimony, Brother Polman sang and spoke impressively on the love among the Brethren. Afterward, Mr. D. L. Yeater showed colored movies of the building program.

Fifty remained for the evening service to taste the lovely 3-tiered birthday cake with 5 candles which was baked by Mrs. Irene Suit, who recently accepted Christ.

WAITING AN INTRODUCTION TO GRACE SEMINARY

By Jacques Crapusettes

I was introduced to the Brethren Church by my sister, Mrs. George Heany, whose husband attended Grace Seminary with Rev. Kenneth Teague. I had been a Christian for several years, but I had been going to what would be termed a "high church" in some circles. In other words it was austerity with little real food for your soul.

When I walked into the Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church, I heard real gospel singing under the leadership of Roy Glass, and I was sure the Gospel would be preached following such singing. When Brother Teague got through preaching there was no question about it.

I soon found that I couldn't sit comfortably under the preaching of the Word by Brother Teague. He was hitting too close home for me, because I knew I was not living as the Lord would have me. During the Thanksgiving revival services with Evangelist Bill Smith I dedicated my life fully to the Lord and I am now making plans to enter Grace Seminary next fall in preparation for the ministry. If I had not attended the Brethren church in Alexandria, I believe there is little chance I would have made this decision God would have me make.

PICTURE STORY OF THE YAKIMA, WASH., CHURCH

Identification, top down: The new junior choir, directed by Dale Parton. The younger primary class, taught by Mrs. Charles S. Ashman. The older primary class, taught by Mrs. Jane Shaver. The junior and senior classes, with Mrs. Rose Foster, guest speaker. The adult Bible class, taught by Rev. D. F. Eikenberry.

HOME MISSION FIELD REPORTS

YORK, PA. (Gerald Polman, pastor)—

I am very glad to report to you that our church at a special business meeting last night voted to put me on a full-time basis beginning April 1, 1953. To make this possible the church also voted to increase their portion of the salary $10 more per week. I know this will certainly make it a lot easier for me to do some of the very important work that has been neglected here on the field. For almost a year I have been working at a part-time job in a building block plant and I feel this is another step forward in the progress of our new church. Our attendance has been steadily increasing, with a record of 58. We are using the building shown in the picture, which was a former supermarket. The other pictures include the York group present for a church service and the York group at a fellowship meeting.

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (J. C. McKillen, pastor)—

How would you like this group meeting in your home as a Sunday school? I am sure you too would be anxious to have a church building, and we are working as rapidly as possible toward that end. Plans are in the making and we would like to break ground sometime during April. It really takes a lot of our physical strength to move everything in the house to accommodate upward in the 80's for Sunday school. This must be done on Saturday night and then on Monday you have the house to rearrange. We have found that in order to receive the maximum capacity and the minimum wreckage to our furniture, it is necessary to do this arranging ourselves. There are periods during the year that classes can meet outside and in fact some are held outside right now. Other periods the weather would be too hot for such a procedure. Pray for every detail to be worked out in our building program.

York, Pa., Group

York, Pa., Fellowship Meeting

Former York Supermarket

Phoenix, Ariz., Sunday school.

DENVER, COLO. (Lowell Hoyt, pastor)—

Boys Club in the Denver Grace Brethren Church is a growing institution! We started out in February with 2 boys. This number has increased until now we have 9 above 11 years old, and also another group of smaller boys. The burden of handling these young live-wire fellows became so great that I was forced to plead for assistance. The assistance came in the person of Mr. Miller, shown with the group, a fine Christian layman of this area.

Denver Boys Club Meeting

Denver Boys Club on a Hike

Two of the boys have already "sprouted wings" by fulfilling the recruit requirements in order to get their silver membership wings. These requirements include memorizing 10 scripture verses on salvation, and being able to explain them in their own words. And then each boy must become a Christian, for our club is a missionary organization. Attendance in Sunday school is also a "must." A number of the boys were already Christians before they joined the club, but one confessed Christ as Saviour before the church just a few weeks ago.

Another point of interest about the boys is that 5 of them are trumpet players. Three of them were featured in a special service recently in the church and gave a good account of themselves.

DRY HILL, KY. (Miss Evelyn Fuqua, missionary)—

Fourteen beautiful new church pews arrived for our chapel at Dry Hill. They were presented to us as a gift from Mr. Leroy Hodson and Mr. Edison Yoder. We certainly are happy with these new pews and will do our best to fill every one of them for every service. Our Sunday school voted to send $10 each month to the Brethren Home Missions Council to help with the expense of the work here.

CLEVELAND, OHIO (Russell M. Ward, pastor)—

Five more persons were baptized upon confession of their faith in the Lord Jesus Christ Sunday, March 8, 1953—Mrs. Catherine Peck, Mrs. Herbert Tanner, Mrs.

Cleveland Baptismal Candidates

George Baer, Herbert Tanner, and George Baer, Jr. These fine folk have been faithful attendants of the public services of the First Brethren Church for many months, climaxing this by obeying the Lord in Christian baptism. Mr. and Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Peck have already been received into membership of the church. Mr. Tanner relates that his father was a preacher who held to the same old-time Gospel as is preached in the Brethren Church, but it took him many years to yield his heart to the Lord.

TAOS, N. MEX. (Sam Horney, missionary)—

The enclosed snapshot was taken at Arroyo Seco, where we have been holding services in the home in the background. The young man beside the car is Jacob Maestas, one of our Bible institute students. He has been doing the preaching here, assisted by Tony Luna, David Tollardo, and Cora Luna. This will be one of the new towns added to our list for D. V. B. S. this summer.

Jake Maestas

Plans are under way here at the mission for one of the greatest missionary programs in the history of this work. Another new town will be added for D. V. B. S. work in Vadito, making a total of 10 schools for the summer. A Brethren couple, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fiscus, from Kittanning, Pa., plan to spend their vacation with us to help teach. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Inman, candidates for Argentina, will be with us for the summer. Other help will be sponsored by the national BYF. We are looking forward to some real blessings in this work this summer.

---

As the Editor Sees It — —

---

By L. L. Grubb

---

STALIN LIVES IN MALENKOV

There seems to be much wishful thinking abroad these days to the effect that since Russia's Stalin is dead that the Bear is preparing for a long hibernation.

The truth of the matter is that Malenkov is a "little Stalin" in his general policies and plans, and yet more dangerous than Stalin because of his lack of discretion and his obsession with Russia's power. As a dictator Malenkov is just as ruthless in liquidating his enemies as Stalin ever was. In fact, during many years of Stalin's rulership in Russia Malenkov was his trigger man. His strategy is identical with that of Stalin. He wants to keep the war going in Korea and has already thrown out his chest to the western nations while barely in the seat of power 1 week, by shooting down a British bomber in the British zone of Germany with the loss of all the crew, and also by attacking and shooting down an American jet.

Those who look for mercy from Malenkov are not only shutting their eyes to explosive world conditions but are forgetting the revelation of Ezekiel 38 and 39. These Scriptures indicate a constant spreading of Russia's power and influence. There is no teaching of her subjugation until our Lord brings her existence to a timely end. During this time of uncertainty Ezekiel's prophecy should bring special comfort to God's children, for we are assured of the absolute and utter defeat of this atheistic, ungodly nation and her rulers.

Let the Word of the Lord thrill and fortify your soul for the troubled days which certainly lie ahead.

---

NEW DAYTON CHURCH GETS FINISHING TOUCHES

The new Patterson Park Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, is much farther along than indicated in this picture. The goal is to dedicate the church on the anniversary date of the organization, which is the latter part of May. Mr. Thomas Bailey, the building superintendent, hopes to have all the finishing touches completed by that time so that it can be used for services, although there will be some remaining work to do.

"Therefore, thou son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God; Behold, I am against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal: and I will turn thee back, and leave but the sixth part of thee. . . . Thou shalt fall upon the mountains of Israel, thou, and all thy bands. . . . And I will send a fire on Magog . . . and they shall know that I am the Lord" (Ezek. 39:1-6).

U. S. WILL FEEL THE PINCH

Malenkov's attitude means much to Americans both materially and spiritually.

It means that the 104 billion dollars set aside by Congress for armament will be spent—perhaps more. It means that the arm of the draft will no doubt tighten around our boys and that deferments will become much more difficult. It means that additional pressure must be balanced by additional spiritual emphasis from our churches. We live in a world where war is as inevitable as the fact of human depravity. Its time and severity are in the permissive will of God. The assurance of the Word of God is needed by mothers who have had their children snatched from their side and plunged into fox-holes. Spiritual nurturing and strengthening is needed by these same boys who are thrust into the very jaws of sin. A new emphasis on the Christian's position in relation to war is needed and should be taught by pastors well informed on this subject.

These are indeed momentous days in every respect. Let us face the fact that with them comes a momentous responsibility for each child of God.

AMERICA A MISSION FIELD FOR BUDDHISTS

During the past 30 years foreign religions of all types have converged on our land because here are not only many gullible people but much money to propagate these religious schemes.

Some think that Buddhism is strictly an oriental religion. This is far from the truth.

The Buddhist Mission of North America was organized in 1914 and incorporated in 1942 under that name. It represents Buddhism in America. This faith is based on "the anatman doctrine, supplemented by the idea of karma, and nirvana, the holy ease or a blissful mental state of absolute freedom from evil."

There were 47 churches in 1950 with a membership of 73,000, which is thrice our membership.

You may be certain that men will worship something or somebody. The appeal of Buddhism is an intellectual one and is more readily accepted by those in a position where they may influence or teach others.

We are convinced that if the evangelical forces do not step up the program of evangelization, which means the wider preaching of the true message of the Gospel, these oriental cults will grow and thrive rapidly.

INCREASE IN HOME MISSION OFFERING

By L. L. Grubb

Again God has manifested His blessing upon the Brethren home mission program through His people by giving us a fine increase in our Thanksgiving offering. The total offering was $131,923.82, which represents an increase over last year of $15,987.32, or on a percentage basis a 14-percent increase over the 1951 offering. For this we profoundly thank the Lord and express deepest appreciation to both the pastors and people of our churches who have been God's anointed instruments in the increase.

The over-all home mission budget for this year approximates $145,000, which is by far the largest budget ever planned by your council directors. If we continue on this present budget basis we will do so by faith, expecting our beneficent Lord to send the additional $13,000 to meet our needs and an additional sum to meet the needs of new churches which are constantly cropping up all across the nation.

Some interesting facts appear among our churches in the offering statistics. The offering increased in all but 2 of our districts. The highest commendation goes to the Iowa District, which showed a 43-percent increase in its offering. This is one of our smaller districts in number of churches and membership, but is showing splendid possibilities of increase during the next few years.

Proof that the number of our churches is substantially increasing is found in the fact that 136 churches sent in offerings. Eight new churches sent in offerings for the first time. Increases in the offerings were seen in 79 of our 136 churches. Decreases in the offering appeared in 49 of our church offerings. The picture is that 64 percent of our churches were responsible for the increase in the offering. This group of churches made up the loss in offering of 8 percent by the 36 percent showing decreases. It is apparent that the over-all increase in the offering would have been about 22 percent instead of 14 percent if the 36 percent of our churches showing decreases would have at least held to the offering figure of the previous year. This 22-percent increase would have enabled us to meet our large budget and show an increase in new churches this coming year exceeding anything in our history. This demonstrates how important it is for us to at least hold the line in all our churches.

The largest church of our brotherhood in Long Beach, Calif., again came in at the head of the list in the amount of offering given to a total of $12,912.13. The Mansfield, Ohio, church, a former home mission church, was second with a total of $6,867.82. Other churches on the list of the leading 10 are seen in the report.

The number of life members who gave $100 or more to the offering this year increased from 102 in 1951 to 112 in 1952. We praise God for this victory also.

An unprecedented number of opportunities to establish new Brethren churches face us during the coming months. Therefore you see that it will be necessary for us to squeeze every penny to the limit to take advantage of even a few of these opportunities.

The directors of the Brethren Home Missions Council are deeply grateful to every child of God who gave at least one penny to this fine offering. We covet the prayers of God's people for wisdom in handling these funds aright so that they may bring honor and glory to our blessed Lord.

THE BRETHREN HOME MISSIONS COUNCIL, INCORPORATED, THANKSGIVING OFFERING COMPARATIVE REPORT

Note: Gifts sent in designated for local projects, district missions, or other work extraneous to the council are not included in this report. No gifts for the Jewish mission work are included in the Thanksgiving offering.

Atlantic District	1951-1952	1952-1953
Alexandria, Va. ....	$508.40	$327.27
Allentown, Pa. ....	349.98	344.08
Baltimore, Md. ....	110.45	....
Hagerstown, Md. ....	1,815.00	2,208.76
*Harrisburg, Pa. ....	535.81	891.05
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	405.00	750.29
Philadelphia, Pa. (First) ..	3,175.00	3,609.09
Philadelphia, Pa. (Third) ..	1,883.40	2,791.59
Seven Fountains, Va. ....	67.72	19.00
Washington, D. C. ....	3,281.91	2,385.60
*Waynesboro, Pa. ....	2,588.27	2,269.85
Winchester, Va. ....	1,828.04	1,699.31
*York, Pa. ....	140.00	241.07
Isolated members .....	20.00	20.00

Southeast District	16,708.98	17,556.96
Boone Mill, Va. ....	91.57	60.00
Buena Vista, Va. ....	1,501.02	712.81
Covington, Va. ....	1,037.42	476.47
Hollins, Va. ....	575.35	398.00
Johnson City, Tenn. ....	118.68	139.15
Kingsport, Tenn. ....	30.00	....
Limestone, Tenn. ....	528.50	558.00
Radford, Va. ....	129.95	105.63
Roanoke, Va. (Clearbrook) ..	....	136.60
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) ....	2,892.60	2,690.00
Roanoke, Va. (Washington Heights) ..	225.01	146.45
Isolated members .....	20.00	10.00

East District	7,150.10	5,433.11
Accident, Md. ....	20.20	10.00
Aleppo, Pa. ....	147.00	204.90
Altoona, Pa. (First) ....	309.70	721.83
Altoona, Pa. (Grace) ....	518.40	588.31
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	1,435.01	1,062.22
Conemaugh, Pa. (Mundy's Corner) ..	688.86	696.48
Conemaugh, Pa. (Singer Hill) ..	....	29.00
Everett, Pa. ....	....	100.00
Grafton, W. Va. ....	128.36	60.03
Hollidaysburg, Pa. ....	160.33	512.77
Jenners, Pa. ....	210.07	151.95
Johnstown, Pa. (First) ....	3,344.06	3,075.77
Johnstown, Pa. (Riverside) ..	225.00	65.00
Kittanning, Pa. (First) ....	1,311.00	1,559.10
Kittanning, Pa. (North Buffalo) ..	171.66	45.00
Leamersville, Pa. ....	208.80	591.90
Listie, Pa. ....	668.17	753.73
Martinsburg, Pa. ....	980.93	1,502.61
Meyersdale, Pa. ....	395.35	466.00
Meyersdale, Pa. (Summit Mills) ..	623.69	501.50
Parkersburg, W. Va. ....	....	33.00
Uniontown, Pa. ....	538.00	620.66
Washington, Pa. ....	43.15	5.00
Yellow Creek, Pa. ....	231.81	283.08
Isolated members .....	35.00	30.00

Northern Ohio District	12,394.55	13,669.84
Akron, Ohio ....	2,586.00	1,906.53
Ankenytown, Ohio ....	541.20	507.26
Ashland, Ohio (West Tenth St.) ..	2,073.88	2,127.08
Canton, Ohio ....	1,186.63	1,138.94
Cleveland, Ohio ....	151.60	229.55
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio ....	465.09	253.24
Danville, Ohio ....	330.60	404.00
Findlay, Ohio ....	155.00	230.14
Fremont, Ohio ....	1,032.75	1,075.37
Fremont, Ohio (Colored Work) ..	....	19.10
Homerville, Ohio ....	605.31	1,394.81
Mansfield, Ohio ....	4,180.71	6,867.82
Massillon, Ohio ....	50.00	70.00
Middlebranch, Ohio ....	354.50	463.59
Rittman, Ohio ....	1,134.91	1,745.59
Sterling, Ohio ....	498.55	716.54
Wadsworth, Ohio ....	38.20	....
Wooster, Ohio ....	886.05	1,300.26
Isolated members .....	10.00	20.00

16,280.98 20,469.82

*These churches were transferred from the East District to the Atlantic District.

CONGRATULATIONS, IOWA DISTRICT

These pastors represent the district showing a 43-percent increase in the Thanksgiving Home Mission Offering for the year 1952-53. Above (left to right)—Clarence Lackey, North English; Lewis Hohenstein, Waterloo; True Hunt, Dallas Center; and Edward Bowman, Garwin. At left is Marion Gates, Leon, and at right is Arnold Kriegbaum, Cedar Rapids.

Central District	1951-1952	1952-1953
Alto, Mich. ....	153.00	95.08
Berne, Ind. ....	2,815.15	2,752.24
Berrien Springs, Mich. ....	84.20	60.81
Camden, Ohio ....	102.46	128.66
Clay City, Ind. ....	171.00	257.07
Clayhole, Ky. ....	82.34	109.24
Clayton, Ohio ....	348.50	523.41
Covington, Ohio ....	73.64	133.43
Dayton, Ohio (Bethany) ....	.....	50.00
Dayton, Ohio (First) ....	6,262.00	5,300.90
Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) ....	5,023.42	4,455.75
Dayton, Ohio (Patterson Park) ....	810.75	866.20
Dryhill, Ky. ....	21.61	.....
Flora, Ind. ....	1,281.65	1,760.00
Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	1,981.09	2,446.76
Huntington, Ind. ....	50.00	47.39
Jackson, Mich. ....	27.77	60.87
Lake Odessa, Mich. ....	259.65	525.25
Leesburg, Ind. ....	152.72	293.78
New Troy, Mich. ....	470.00	418.13
Osceola, Ind. ....	891.54	1,327.67
Ozark, Mich. ....	.....	15.75
Peru, Ind. ....	394.65	323.61
Sampleville, Ohio ....	17.00	50.00
Sharpsville, Ind. ....	39.90	13.50
Sidney, Ind. ....	1,000.03	1,013.78
South Bend, Ind. ....	321.78	318.90
Troy, Ohio ....	83.00	115.05
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	2,392.41	3,006.07
Isolated Members ....	420.00	390.00
	25,731.26	26,859.30

Iowa District	1951-1952	1952-1953
Cedar Rapids ....	524.47	505.15
Dallas Center ....	838.20	981.77
Garwin ....	273.93	373.15
Leon ....	386.40	442.34
North English ....	258.60	1,256.75
Waterloo ....	1,870.24	2,383.86
	4,151.84	5,943.02

Midwest District	1951-1952	1952-1953
Albuquerque, N. Mex. ....	22.56	12.45
Arroyo Hondo, N. Mex. ....	10.00	28.00
Beaver City, Nebr. ....	125.73	194.19
Cheyenne, Wyo. ....	221.37	.....
Cordillera, N. Mex. ....	.....	42.00
Denver, Colo. ....	47.00	113.00
Indian Mission ....	.....	48.95
Portis, Kans. ....	600.00	810.25
Taos, N. Mex. ....	111.05	114.60
Isolated members ....	10.00	25.00
	1,147.71	1,388.44

California District	1951-1952	1952-1953
Artesia ....	152.10	246.43
Beaumont ....	371.65	359.50
Bell ....	150.32	132.54
Bellflower ....	575.61	875.74
Chico ....	147.24	125.51
Compton ....	697.74	755.07
Fillmore ....	283.25	427.00

COMPARISON BY DISTRICTS

1952		1951
1. Iowa ....	Increase 43%	Northern Ohio
2. California ....	" 30%	Central
3. Northern Ohio ....	" 25%	Southeast
4. Midwest ....	" 20%	Northwest
5. East ....	" 10%	Atlantic
6. Atlantic ....	" 5%	East
7. Central ....	" 4%	Iowa
8. Northwest ....	Decrease 0.8%	California
9. Southeast ....	" 24%	Midwest

	1951-1952	1952-1953
Glendale ....	758.22	555.40
La Verne ....	1,420.29	1,355.29
La Crescenta ....	.....	93.90
Long Beach, (First) ....	9,857.88	12,912.13
Long Beach, (Second) ....	1,785.98	3,333.78
Long Beach, (Paramount) ....	.....	212.63
Los Angeles, (First) ....	1,933.89	2,454.70
Los Angeles, (Second) ....	1,385.28	1,657.39
Los Angeles, (Third) ....	139.51	203.35
Modesto ....	806.00	892.05
Phoenix ....	.....	116.94
San Bernardino ....	294.10	366.23
San Diego ....	252.52	131.10
Seal Beach ....	197.38	273.94
South Gate ....	1,025.44	1,207.17
South Pasadena ....	766.17	842.62
South San Gabriel ....	16.88	182.14
Temple City ....	1,000.00	1,585.55
Tracy ....	138.50	476.06
Whittier ....	3,036.92	3,181.75
Whittier (Community Brethren) ....	.....	567.97
Isolated members ....	205.00	150.00
	27,397.87	35,673.88

Northwest District	1951-1952	1952-1953
Albany, Oreg. ....	243.03	294.88
Harrah, Wash. ....	1,023.10	520.84
Portland, Oreg. ....	275.59	316.33
Seattle, Wash. ....	232.10	542.00
Spokane, Wash. ....	450.46	600.00
Sunnyside, Wash. ....	2,133.93	1,986.70
Yakima, Wash. ....	600.00	663.70
Isolated members ....	15.00	5.00
	4,973.21	4,929.45

Totals	1951-1952	1952-1953
Atlantic District ....	16,708.98	17,556.96
Southeast District ....	7,150.10	5,433.11
East District ....	12,394.55	13,669.84
Northern Ohio District ....	15,950.38	20,469.82
Central District ....	26,061.86	26,859.30
Iowa District ....	4,151.84	5,943.02
Midwest District ....	1,147.71	1,388.44
California District ....	27,397.87	35,673.88
Northwest District ....	4,973.21	4,929.45
	115,936.50	131,923.82

1. First Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif. ....	$12,912.13
2. The Grace Brethren Church, Mansfield, Ohio .....	6,867.82
3. First Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio .....	5,300.90
4. North Riverdale Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio .....	4,455.75
5. First Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa. ....	3,609.09
6. Second Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif. ....	3,333.78
7. First Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif. ....	3,181.75
8. First Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa. ....	3,075.77
9. Winona Lake Brethren Church, Winona Lake, Ind. ....	3,006.07
10. Third Brethren Church, Philadelphia, Pa. ....	2,791.59

NEW LIFE MEMBERS FOR 1953

Mr. Emmitt Adams	Mr. J. W. Lowery
Mr. Robert Agler	Mrs. Ruth S. Mathews
Mr. Carl Baer	Mr. John N. Martin
Mr. A. V. Beard	Mr. Clarence McCall
Mrs. W. E. Berg	Mr. William R. Miller
Miss Margery Bolender	Mr. A. C. Moine
Mr. Robert Boroff	Mr. Floyd Moine
Mr. Thomas Bothwell	Mrs. Laura Moine
Mr. William Bracker	Mr. Ivan Moomaw
Mrs. Earl Brennehan	Mr. I. J. Moulton
Mr. Max Brennehan	Mr. John Murray
Mrs. Dora C. Brill	Mrs. W. Nelson
Mr. John Brown	Mr. John Page
Mrs. John Brown	Mrs. D. G. Parish
Mr. G. C. Brumbaugh	Mr. J. E. Patterson
Mr. John Carman	Rev. George O. Peek
Mr. Ralph Christy	Mrs. Oscar Pieper
Mr. Paul Circle	Mrs. Frank Poland
Mrs. Karl Clark	Mrs. Elmer Radcliffe
Mrs. J. B. Coykendall	Mrs. Gladys Randall
Miss Ruth Ann Crawford	Mr. John Rea
Mr. Gene Culp	Mr. George Reel
Mr. Brooks Dawson	Mr. J. R. Reed
Mr. J. E. Dilling, Jr.	Mr. B. E. Rickert
Mrs. L. Joseph Dombek	Miss Joyce Rickert
Mrs. G. Eaton	Mrs. James Ridenour
Mrs. Harly Etter	Mr. Ralph R. Rigg
Mr. Chester Finley	Mr. Harold Robinson
Mr. Forrest Fishburn	Mrs. Travis Rooney
Mr. G. Flatten	Mr. Wayne Roy
Mr. Robert Gallaway	Mr. Donald Royer
Mr. John C. Gault, Jr.	Mr. Kenneth Russell
Mr. Paul Grisso	Mrs. R. R. Russell
Mr. John Guthrie	Mrs. H. E. Scheid
Mr. Ken Hancock	Mrs. Royce Schultz
Mrs. Robert C. Hayden	Mrs. Mildred Seger
Mr. G. E. Helman	Mr. John A. Shubert
Mrs. A. E. Herring	Mr. James H. Starbuck
Mrs. L. E. Hildebrand	Mr. David Snider
Mr. James Hitchman	Mr. Wayne Snider
Mr. Claude Hoffman	Miss Annabelle Snyder
Mrs. Allen Hostetler	Mr. E. J. Sterrenburg
Mrs. Walter Hoyt	Mr. Clyde Stitt
Miss Marilyn Jones	Mr. R. D. Swagerty
Mrs. Florence Kearns	Rev. Miles Taber
Mr. Merrill S. Keiser	Mr. Oren Taylor
Mr. Floyd Kerns	Mr. Marion R. Thomas
Mr. W. H. Kissel	Miss Florence Turner
Mr. Charles Knoll	Mr. Carl Uphouse
Mr. Sam Korodi	Mrs. Melvin E. Veale
Mrs. Lester Keyser	Mrs. Ernest B. Wagaman
Mr. Owen Landis	Mr. John Whitcomb
Mrs. L. Ray Layman	Mrs. E. D. White
Mr. J. C. Levering	Mr. Willis Witzky
Mrs. M. E. Lindblad	Mr. R. L. Worley
Mrs. F. B. Lindower	Mr. Clifford K. Yount

REJOICE EVERMORE

(Continued From Page 248)

which has made it possible for me to enjoy the dedication of our building.

I rejoice because years ago an isolated Brethren family recommended that I attend the First Brethren Church in Washington, D. C., when I moved to that city. It was in that church that I found the assurance of my salvation, which I had not found after attending a church of another denomination for many years. I rejoice that the Brethren in Washington had a missionary vision, which led them to sponsor the mission point in Alexandria and which resulted in our present church. I rejoice that Brethren district missions helped with a building fund appropriation.

Finally I rejoice in the Lord because of the Brethren Home Missions Council. At our invitation they gave valuable advice, leadership, and financial support, without which I feel sure we would not have our present church building.

All rights Reserved

C. S. Zimmerman

COLOSSIANS

I. Presents.

A. Two great Christian doctrines.

1. The fullness of the Godhead is in Christ—the doctrine of the person of Christ.
2. The saints are filled in Christ—the doctrine of saintship.

II. Key Words.

- A. Created (1:16, 16; 3:10).
- B. Head (1:18; 2:10, 19).
- C. In Him (1:19; 2:7, 9, 10).
- D. In Whom (1:14; 2:3, 11).
- E. By Him (1:16, 16, 20, 20).
- F. Fullness (1:19; (2:3 implied); 2:9).
- G. Let (2:16, 18; 3:15, 16; 4:6).

III. Key Verses.

- A. 2:9—"For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily" (cf. 2:3; 1:19).
- B. 2:10a—"And ye are complete in him." (And in Him are ye made full.)
- C. Key verses giving the appeal.
  1. 2:8, warning against a false philosophy.
  2. 2:16, warning against false mediation. Also 2:18.
  3. 2:20-3:1, warning against false confidence.

IV. Key Outline.

- A. Introduction and prayer (1:1-12).
- B. Permanent doctrine (1:13-2:3).
- C. Present danger (2:4-3:4).
- D. Personal deportment (3:5-4:6).
- E. Final remarks (4:7-18).

V. Key Thoughts for Today.

- A. Warning against a false philosophy (2:8).
  1. Tradition of men—speculation.
  2. Rudiments of the world—materialism.
- B. Warning against false mediation (2:16, 18).
  1. Ceremonialism—eating and drinking.
  2. Worshiping of angels.
- C. Warning against false confidence (2:20-3:1).
  1. Slavery to human opinion.
  2. Asceticism.
- D. The application of these things to the church of God today.
  1. Her doctrine of Christ is of supreme importance for her life and service. As a man thinks, so is he.
  2. To hold fast the Head as He is revealed in this epistle.
    - a. First-born of creation.
    - b. First-born from the dead.
    - c. In whom is all the fullness of deity.

A TELEPHONE CONVERSATION

By Leanoire Button

For the "umpteenth" time the shrill ring of the telephone interrupted my work. I reluctantly put aside the cake I was trying to bake and hoped it would be a short conversation. When I recognized the voice on the other end of the wire as that of my friend, Frieda, I sighed and looked around for something to sit on. Frieda was always good for a half-hour at the very least.

"I just finished the book," she said. "I read until 2:30 last night."

I sighed, thinking of my cake. A day or so before, Frieda had given me another book on evolution and in return I had given her an excellent book containing explanations of certain prophecies concerning the Messiah and written by a Jewish man who believed them. You see, Frieda has never given up the idea that if I were properly informed I couldn't fail to see the ignorance of my belief in the Messiah and the Bible as the Word of God.

"The man who wrote that book doesn't know what he is talking about," she said breathlessly. "It only proves to me what I have told you already. Everyone has a different interpretation of these things."

I grinned to myself. "You don't surprise me," I told her. "I didn't expect you to understand. After all, unless God gives you the faith to believe these things you couldn't if you wanted to."

"Faith! Such glib phrases! You are so——"

"Narrow-minded?" I suggested. Frieda and I had gone over these things so many times.

She didn't want to be impolite. "The Jewish religion is a way of life," she said; "a broad way of life. I wouldn't want my children to grow up in a narrow way of life, full of fear and insecurity. It seems to me that when a person is secure and happy they don't have to tell others as you do. I think you talk about these things to convince yourself they are true. You want them to be true so you can't bear the thought that God is a God of love and all roads leads to Him."

I felt tired. I almost had to force myself to go on because I knew what we would say before we said it. In the past year my husband, Isobel, and myself had repeated these same things in the same way many times. I had told her her portion would be eternal hell if she didn't consider the Word of God. To all this her reaction was, "Poor Bruce. Poor Jerry. Such nice people but so fanatic." Even we who love her become weary of such constant repetition and the realization that nothing we have said regarding the Word of God has had any effect—at least any visible effect.

"I'm sorry you feel that way," I told her. "And you are right about the Jewish religion being broad-minded. In fact, it is so broad that you no longer believe the Tenach."

"I do believe in the Tenach."

"How can you believe in it when you don't read it? You tell me your copy is packed away in a trunk. You don't believe God created man upon the earth or that He led the people of Israel from Egypt and through the waters of the Red Sea. You say Moses fashioned a nation and gave them a name!"

"Well," she said, searching for words, "Moses knew if he told the people to do certain things they wouldn't do them, so he told them God gave the orders. You see, the people were superstitious and ignorant."

"Hmmm. Moses was a most deceitful man."

"He made his mistakes, of course."

"But not a sinful man?"

"He only did what he thought was best for the people. In those days——"

"Then it was Moses and not God who led the people of Israel from captivity?"

Frieda hedged. "Moses was a brilliant man, far advanced beyond his time. He grew up in the Egyptian court and learned many things, such as when the waters of the Red Sea would roll back."

"But if he learned this from the Egyptians, why did they perish in the sea? Didn't they have the same knowledge?"

There was an irritated tone now in Frieda's voice. "You see, the Jewish people taught their children many things. He probably learned things the Egyptians didn't know."

"But you just said they were ignorant and superstitious people!"

"Well, maybe he was like Da Vinci, who painted airplanes before the world had ever heard of them."

"Oh, come now, Frieda," I said. "Do you expect me to believe a tale like that? The Bible gives a clear, concise, logical story and here you cook up something like this. Do you actually believe such a thing?"

"I keep telling you, Jerry, everyone interprets things in his own way. I believe the Tenach and I believe in God, but my concept of God is so broad there is no room for fear. He isn't dealing with the Jewish people today. The reason for their persecution [we had been discussing Jewish persecution and chapter 26 of Leviticus] is man's inhumanity toward man."

"Man's sin, you mean," I said.

"That's your interpretation."

And so we were, at the end of 3 hours, back where we began. When I mention sin or anything she doesn't like, it's "your interpretation" or "glib phrases."

When I hung up the receiver there was no joy in the thought of her inconsistency. Of all the people we have dealt with here, Frieda has had more light than any other one. If she spends an eternity in hell it will be of her own choosing. Our duty to her has been fulfilled many times over. And yet how we long to see these people open their eyes and hearts to the blessed Word of God! As anti-Semitism sweeps Europe and as their eyes and hearts turn toward their suffering loved ones, can they not see their ONLY HOPE is in the Messiah of Israel? Or will they continue to twist the Word of God and take away the wonderful miracles He did for them? Will they continue to believe, as Frieda, that the story of creation is a fable; that man isn't inherently sinful; that God isn't punishing a disobedient Israel? Or will they see before it is too late?

"For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else. I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth:

I said not unto the seed of Jacob, seek ye me in vain . . . Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else" (Isa. 45:18-22).

NEW BIBLE A FINANCIAL RACKET

By Dr. Carl McIntire, President, International Council of Christian Churches

[Editor's note: This news release by Dr. McIntire should be read by every child of God. Aside from the doctrinal discrepancies in the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible it reveals one of the more subtle aspects in the purposes of the National Council of Churches in the publication. In addition to commercializing the Word of God this royalty racket will make millions of dollars available for the propagation of the modernism and apostasy of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States of America. We are printing Dr. McIntire's statement verbatim.]

It has just been revealed in a statement of policy entitled, "Privileges of Quotation, Revised Standard Version of the Bible," released by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States, Division of Christian Education, which holds the copyright on the new Bible, that it intends to collect royalties not only on the text of the Bible itself but upon all books, novels, concordances, commentaries, Sunday-school lessons, and any and every publication and book that is sold for profit which uses more than 250 verses of the new Bible.

The National Council declares that it "reserved to itself the right to grant permission to quote portions of the text which are less than any full book (a gospel or epistle) in length." Under the statement entitled, "Royalty Policy for Use of This Text," it is specifically stated that in "books or publications which are sold for profit" in which 250 verses or more are used that a royalty shall come to the National Council of Churches. It is further said, "Any charge for permission will depend upon (a) the amount of quotation for which permission is desired, (b) the number, size, and price of the proposed edition, and (c) the type of publication. Each such case will be decided solely by the Division of Christian Education on the basis of the evidence which is submitted with the application. In such cases, two copies of the publication must be submitted to the Division immediately after publication." These provisions give the National Council absolute control over the use of this Bible in all books and publications and opens up a field of profit-making for the council itself that is virtually unlimited. As the necessary books, commentaries, Sunday-school publications, and the like are produced—in fact an entire library of literature, including concordances, will be necessary—the National Council will receive royalties running into many thousands of dollars.

It is impossible to estimate the money the Council will receive from these sources in the years to come, and this commercializing, making merchandise of the Scriptures in this way, is beyond anything which has yet been seen in the history of the Protestant church.

This statement of policy, "Privileges of Quotation," also stipulates, "Acknowledgment of copyright will be required as indicated in Section II of this statement."

This section is entitled, "Copyright Notices Required," and it is explained that even when any verses of the Bible are quoted, a copyright notice must be included. And in the case of books and publications using more than 250 verses, on which the Council is to receive a royalty, on every particular page where a quotation begins of more than 1 chapter in length, there shall be a footnote at the bottom of that page declaring that it is copyrighted and carrying the name of "the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches and used by permission." And in a general acknowledgment on the inside copy of the publication the following must appear: "The Bible text (or Scripture quotations) in this publication is (are) from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, copyrighted 1946 and 1952 by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches, and used by permission." In this manner the National Council of Churches not only receives royalties, but it requires publicity and recognition concerning itself. No plan or scheme yet devised in the history of the Protestant church for the promotion of a particular religious organization has ever been inflicted upon the Christian public.

The announced plan of the National Council of Churches to have the new Bible accepted as the "authorized" version and to replace the King James Version is now being pressed on every side, with a recent revelation that another half-million dollars will be spent in the publicizing of the new book. It is further estimated, and easily seen by those who are studying the problem, that it will be necessary for the National Council to sell as a minimum between 40 and 50 million copies of the new Bible throughout the English-speaking world, in order for it even to begin to replace the King James Version.

With the sale price of $6 and $10 per volume, this alone would include on a minimum basis, $240,000,000, and with the usual royalty commission of 10 percent on each book the National Council of Churches will receive $24,000,000. The Council has refused to reveal to the public the percentage of its royalty on the Bible.

If its royalty is even half of this amount, the National Council stands to gain $12,000,000, and without doubt it will be considerably more.

The whole program now revealed by the National Council of Churches constitutes one of the greatest religious rackets in the history of the church and this racket has to do with the sale and the control of what men have always considered "God's Word." The whole situation should be offensive to all liberty-loving Christians who believe that the Bible should be a free book, for a free people, and that it should be used to free men from their sins by the proclamation of the glorious Gospel that Christ died for our sins and that His blood cleanses from all sin.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Altoona, Pa., churches—First, pastored by Mark Malles, and Grace, pastored by Phillip J. Simmons—held an afternoon service April 3 at the First church with Pastor W. A. Ogden, of Johnstown, as speaker.

Pastor Miles Taber reports that the Ashland, Ohio, church held its largest communion service April 4, and had 596 people in the Easter morning unified service, with 18 of them making public decisions. The offerings on Easter totaled $1,656.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Page, Long Beach, Calif., announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly Jane, to Homer A. Kent, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Homer A. Kent, Winona Lake, Ind. An early August wedding is planned.

Pastor George M. Richardson terminated his ministry at the Bellflower, Calif., church April 5, after serving there for 6½ years. He has no definite future plans.

The Berrien Springs, Mich., church, pastored by Arthur F. Collins, held joint services with the local Baptist church April 3, with the Baptist preacher, Rev. Dillon, giving the message.

Effective April 20 the new address of Pastor Edward Bowman will be Hollins, Va. (change Annual, p. 67).

Pastor J. Ward Tressler resigned as pastor of the Chico, Calif., church effective June 30.

Bro. Harry Parks, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, father of Mrs. Charles W. Turner, Flora, Ind., died April 5.

The Akron, Ohio, church had 418 people in Sunday school April 5, a new high, and 254 in morning worship service, reports Pastor Harold H. Etling.

A Bible class was started in Salem, Oreg., April 6 by Pastor Glen Welborn, of Albany, and Pastor Vernon

J. Harris, of Portland. Any person living in that area or who knows of people living in that area who are interested should communicate with one of these pastors.

Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr., preached at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church of Elkhart, Ind., April 5.

Pastor and Mrs. Robert L. Bates, Jackson, Mich., announce the birth of a son, Stephen LaVerne, March 13.

The annual conference of the Northern Ohio District Fellowship of Brethren Churches is scheduled for the Rittman church April 21-24.

The Harrah, Wash., church was host to the churches of the western end of the Yakima Valley for afternoon services April 3.

Pastor Jesse Hall, Harrah, Wash., conducted funeral services for Glen Smith, who accepted the Lord under Brother Hall's ministry just 1 week before he died.

Pastor Russell Weber, Harrisburg, Pa., was the speaker at a local sunrise service April 5 held at the Sand Beach Independent Church.

The Harrisburg, Pa., church was host to the Philadelphia Bible Institute choir April 6 in a sacred music program.

Pastor Robert Holmes was ordained to the Christian ministry at the West Homer Brethren Church, Homerville, Ohio, where he has been serving as pastor. The service was held March 27 with Pastor Kenneth Ashman, Wooster, delivering the message and other pastors of the district assisting in the ordination.

Mrs. Alice Lambert, of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died February 23.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter H. Nowag placed their membership letters in the Johnstown, Pa., First church, and Brother Nowag preached there March 22. He recently retired from the active ministry, having served the Singer Hill church as his last pastorate.

The Johnstown, Pa., First church, pastored by W. A. Ogden, had an average of 145 people present for the Bible conference conducted there by Dr. William A. Mierop March 8-12. This church is to be host to Dr. Percy Crawford April 18 and Dr. Hyman Appelman April 25.

The Leesburg, Ind., church, pastored by Nathan Meyer, had 100 people in Sunday school, witnessed 10 public confessions and 8 baptisms, and received 9 members on Easter Sunday.

Pastor William Clough reports that records were broken at the Tracy, Calif., church April 5 with 180 people in Sunday school and 162 in the morning worship service. This church is joining with the local Baptist church in special meetings April 12-19 at the Baptist church, with Rev. Charles Garrett, Reading, Pa., as the speaker; and April 19-26 at the Brethren church, with Pastor Harold Painter, of Modesto, Calif., as the speaker.

The Leon, Iowa, church had a rally of protest against the Revised Standard Version of the Bible on March 22 with A. M. Veltman as the speaker and with 275 people present. On Easter Sunday 181 people attended the Sunday school and 310 the morning worship service, reports Pastor Marion D. Gates.

A daughter, Nancy May, was born to Pastor and Mrs. Marion D. Gates, Leon, Iowa, March 23.

Pastor George O. Peek reports that 15 people made public confessions, 7 for the first time, at the Long Beach, Calif., Second church March 29. In the evening 14 people were baptized and received into church membership. On Easter Sunday 14 more people made public decisions, 8 for the first time. This church held duplicate services Easter morning, with 1,041 people present. A helpful part of the evening services has been the music given by the men's chorus directed by the assistant pastor, James Sweeton.

Pastor Glenn O'Neal was one of the speakers at a union Friday afternoon service, April 3, in the southern section of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Chester McCall, Los Angeles, Calif., national treasurer of the Women's Missionary Council, fell recently and fractured 2 ribs.

The La Verne, Calif., church, pastored by Orville Lorenz, held a special musical program March 29. The program was presented by 3 members of the church: Mr. Vere Raley, baritone soloist; Mrs. Vere Raley, violinist; and Mrs. Charles Doyen, organist.

Pastor Henry Rempel reports that Rev. and Mrs. Herman Baerg, former members of the Los Angeles, Calif., Second church, presented a program at that church March 29.

The Los Angeles, Calif., Third church, of which James C. Beatty is pastor, held its own Friday service, April 3, and followed it with the spring communion service.

The Meyersdale and Summit Mills, Pa., churches, pastored by H. Leslie Moore, held an Easter sunrise service at Meyersdale with James Hoffmeyer, Jr., and Edward Kerschensteiner as speakers.

The Middlebranch, Ohio, church, reports Pastor Edward Lewis, held its own sunrise service April 5. It was a musical program under the direction of Mrs. Ted Henning.

Bro. W. V. Findley, of the Roanoke, Va., Ghent church for 30 years, died March 28. Before moving to Roanoke he had been a member of the Glenford, Ohio, Brethren church. At the time of his death he was moderator of the local church, secretary-treasurer of the Ghent Men's Gospel Fellowship, secretary-treasurer of both the Southeast District mission board and the men's fellowship, secretary of the Southeast Fellowship of Brethren Churches, and treasurer of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches. He was born November 11, 1891. He was faithful in all the work of the Lord, having at-

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale . . . . .	March 29-Apr. 19	Clyde Balyo . . . . .	Michael Guido.
South Gate, Calif. . . . .	March 30-Apr. 19	Alfred Dodds . . . . .	R. Paul Miller.
Limestone, Tenn. . . . .	April 5-19 . . . . .	Randall Rossman . . . . .	William Smith.
Camden, Ohio . . . . .	April 12-26 . . . . .	Robert Betz . . . . .	Ward Miller.
Johnson City, Tenn. . . . .	April 12-19 . . . . .	John Burns . . . . .	Ralph Colburn.
Yakima, Wash. . . . .	April 12-26 . . . . .	Russell Williams . . . . .	Robert Ashman.
Harrisburg, Pa. . . . .	April 13-26 . . . . .	Russell Weber . . . . .	Clyde Landrum.
Roanoke, Va. (Clearbrook) . . . . .	April 16-19 . . . . .	William Howard . . . . .	Lester Pifer.
Kittanning, Pa. (First) . . . . .	April 18-19 . . . . .	Gordon Bracker . . . . .	Herman Hoyt.
Dayton, Ohio (First) . . . . .	April 19-26 . . . . .	William Steffler . . . . .	Paul Bauman.
Tracy, Calif. . . . .	April 19-26 . . . . .	William Clough . . . . .	Harold Painter.
Flora, Ind. . . . .	April 19 . . . . .	Charles Turner . . . . .	John Whitcomb.
Phoenix, Ariz. . . . .	April 26-May 17 . . . . .	J. C. McKillen . . . . .	R. Paul Miller.
South Bend, Ind. . . . .	April 26 . . . . .	Russell Ogden . . . . .	Herman Hoyt.
Warsaw, Ind. . . . .	April 26 . . . . .	Charles Horne . . . . .	John Whitcomb.
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) . . . . .	April 28-May 10 . . . . .	Robert Miller . . . . .	Bern'rd Schneider.

tended a communion service in his local church just 2½ days before he died.

Pastor Robert Holmes, of the Homerville, Ohio, church, was the speaker at the sunrise service April 5 at the Rittman, Ohio, church, pastored by Charles Ashman.

Robert (Bob) Miller, son of Pastor and Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller, Roanoke, Va., is recovering very slowly and should be remembered in prayer.

Pastor G. D. Engelman reports that the San Diego, Calif., church had an average of 132 people in Sunday school during the first quarter of 1953, with a high of 163.

The South Pasadena, Calif., church extended a unanimous call to Dr. Charles H. Ashman to become its pastor. He has been serving as interim pastor since January 1, and with Mrs. Ashman will move to the parsonage about June 20. This congregation just recently purchased the parsonage and also spent $4,000 on improvements on the church building. Bro. Dave Willis preached there March 29 while Pastor Ashman was holding special meetings at Ramona, Calif.

Pastor Clyde Landrum reports a record high of 309 people in Sunday school Easter, with 296 in the morning worship service and 196 in the evening service, and 3 people made public confessions in the morning, at the Uniontown, Pa., church. The pre-Easter communion service was attended by 93 people.

The Washington, D. C., church had its redecorated auditorium ready for the Easter services, according to Pastor James G. Dixon. Dr. Homer A. Kent, former pastor of the church, preached there March 29 and April 1, and with his son, Homer, Jr., helped with the spring communion service April 2.

The Waynesboro, Pa., church had 56 people with perfect attendance in Bible school during 1952; for Grace Boyer it was the 23d year of perfect attendance, for B. L. Stains, 21; for LeRoy and Mary Yingling, 16; for Charles Alter and Albie Newcomer, 13; and for Harry Rosenberger, 10. The semiannual communion service was attended by 167 people March 29, according to Pastor Dennis Holliday.

Alexander A. Margin, of the Waynesboro, Pa., church, died March 24. Funeral services were conducted by Caleb Zimmerman, former pastor of the church, assisted by Pastor Dennis I. Holliday.

On March 15 the Philadelphia, Pa., First church honored Mrs. Schill on her 85th birthday. Missionary Hill Maconaghy was the speaker at the Easter sunrise service at the church. Rev. John Neely spoke there March 29 and directed the choir in its special Easter musical program.

Public Confessions

Ashland, Ohio . . . . .	18
Findlay, Ohio . . . . .	3
Long Beach, Calif. (Second) . . . . .	29
Los Angeles, Calif. (First) . . . . .	2
Middlebranch, Ohio . . . . .	2
San Bernardino, Calif. . . . .	2
South Pasadena, Calif. . . . .	13
Uniontown, Pa. . . . .	3

Additions to Membership

Johnstown, Pa. (First) . . . . .	5
La Verne, Calif. . . . .	2
Leesburg, Ind. . . . .	9
Meyersdale, Pa. . . . .	4

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Chambersburg, Pa. (Pond Bank) . . . . .	8
Leesburg, Ind. . . . .	1
Middlebranch, Ohio . . . . .	3
Waynesboro, Pa. . . . .	7

"THE DAYSPRING FROM ON HIGH HATH VISITED US"

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Chairman of Book Club Review Committee

Springtime is now here, and the warming rays of the sun encourage us as we look forward to the good things of summer. The chill and gloom of winter are gone and the prospect of approaching summer delights our hearts. Could anything be a finer setting for the words of the father of John the Baptist at the birth of his son when he prophesied of the coming of Christ: "The day-spring from on high hath visited us" (Luke 1:78)?

"The rising out of the east" is quite literally what Zacharias said. Perhaps he was thinking of the Shekinah Glory which took its flight to the east some 6 centuries before. But when the Glory departed night settled in upon Israel. Winter came upon them. The chill winds of judgment blew over them. The silence of heaven deepened. But Zacharias, with many others of the faithful in Israel, looked for a return of the Glory. And it finally came.

But when the Glory returned, "the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory)," as John says (John 1:14). The Lord Jesus Christ came. Heaven had broken the long silence, and God spoke His last word "by his Son" (Heb. 1:2). Final triumph is the tremendous message in the Son. In these days, balmy with spring, stop long enough to let the sunshine of triumph in Christ shine in upon your soul.

For this purpose the book club committee has chosen the companion to the April first-choice for the month of May. It is "The Triumph of the Crucified," by Erich Sauer. This is the first-choice book. This one will be sent to members of the club unless they notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company to the contrary before May 1. In the event members desire the second-choice book, or some other book listed previously in these columns, as a substitute, do not fail to notify the company to that effect.

The second-choice book is "The Jade Elephant," by Elise Fraser.

As a premium for joining the book club, your choice of the following books is offered: "Stranger Than Fiction," by Florence Gribble; "The Biography of Robert Murray McCheyne," by Andrew Bonar; or "Prayer: Asking and Receiving," by John R. Rice. By ordering 1 of the 2 books listed for the month of May you become a member of the club and are entitled to 1 of the premium books.

To members of the club who will be purchasing books April through July, a dividend book will be sent—"How to Obtain Fullness of Power," by Reuben A. Torrey.

THE TRIUMPH OF THE CRUCIFIED

By Erich Sauer

This is the companion volume to "The Dawn of World Redemption." If you have read the first volume, you will not want to miss the second. In these 2 volumes, covering one great whole, the message of the entire Bible from eternity to eternity, is contained the theology of redemption. And what a story.

In this second volume, the writer begins with the incarnation of Christ and traces the movements of God's plan through the Age of the Spirit, this present dispensation; through the Age of the Son, the millennium to come; and through the Age of the Father, the eternal state as the grand consummation.

In remarkable fashion he analyzes the kingdom of Satan in its revolt against God, and the final stages of rebellion which shall bring the judgment of God, swift and sure. Every lover of premillennial truth will exult in the way the author depicts the close of this present age. The reader will see from the Scriptures in a new and even a more amazing way how Satan has blinded the minds of men and has cleverly deceived many students of the Bible. He will see that nothing short of the coming of Christ for His church, the world-shaking events of the tribulation period, and the sudden appearing of Christ in revelation glory will be sufficient to consummate and usher in the kingdom.

This volume, with its companion, will be read and reread, and will serve as a reference work for the student of the Scriptures. Price of the book, $3.—Herman A. Hoyt.

THE JADE ELEPHANT

By Elise Fraser

Who can guess what fortune or misfortune can follow a casual visit to a souvenir shop? Certainly Adrienne could never have imagined what was in store for her as she entered a small shop in the Chinese section of Los Angeles and there purchased a "white elephant." It would be so much fun to have a real white elephant. As she looked at the trinket no price could be seen, but there was a small scratch on the bottom of it which was later to be of real significance. When a price of five dollars was agreed on, Adrienne paid it and departed with her new miniature—for adventures unknown.

Imagine her surprise when in the course of events the amount of $20,000 was offered for this little white elephant! Was this some regal treasure? Was it some real antique? She did not know, but determined to find out. On another visit to the shop she gave those in charge her address in case they needed to contact her about the elephant. That night her apartment was entered and practically turned upside down. On another occasion her life was threatened on her way home from work. What was the meaning of all this effort on the part of someone to gain possession of a jade elephant purchased in a shop in Chinatown? Perhaps you have guessed, but to be sure you must read this latest novel from the pen of Elise Fraser (author of "The Emerald Necklace").

In addition to the suspense and romance of "The Jade Elephant," you will find a Christian atmosphere which is lacking in so many of our current novels. You will see once again how the Lord is able to make all things work together for good for those who love Him. This is a story which you will not want to lay aside till you learn how it all comes out. Price is $2.—Blaine Snyder.

GARDENS

By Rev. Harold H. Etling, Akron, Ohio

A very dear friend of mine came into my office a little while ago and said, "Well, Harold, do you have your potatoes planted yet?" and then he laughed. He has always loved to "kid" me about my garden, for it is a very ordinary garden. As a matter of fact it is the poorest garden in the community, for I do not have the proverbial "green thumb." A few vegetables and a few flowers planted early in the spring make up my garden.

Yet my garden is more—it is the place where I have opportunity to talk with my neighbors, and gardens ought to be like that. All winter long all of us have been closed in by the cold and snow, but now with the coming of spring it is time again to start thinking about gardens and those neighborly chats across the back fence. Perhaps the most important thing a Christian can grow in his garden is the friendship made across the fence. The Lord Jesus used such a place for one of the last opportunities He had to teach His friends. He took the disciples into a garden and there made 3 important statements for them and for us.

The Request

The first statement took the form of a request. It is almost that of a command, for it comes from the lips of the Saviour and Creator and is given to disciples and creatures. As He took His intimate friends with Him into the inner garden He said: "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation" (Matt. 26:41). These would always be significant words, but coming from the lips of Jesus at the time just before the cross they are of more than ordinary significance. He knew better than anyone in the garden the danger of temptation. He knew that Satan was and is still the most subtle of all creatures.

The Saviour knew that His hour had come. He knew that it was an hour of loneliness and suffering, and so He invites the disciples to pray with Him. He knew the strength that can come when another prays with him and for him.

What a challenge it ought to be to us as we begin to work in our gardens this spring. There are men and women all about us who face testings and problems in life in which we might share if we would only enter into friendship with them. There are neighbors and friends to whom we might witness if only we would heed the admonition to "watch and pray." The two can never be separated. If we watch without prayer we may fail as did Peter by depending upon our own swords. If we pray without watching we may miss the opportunity. How important even for our own lives, as we face the temptations of Satan, that we watch and pray!

Rev. Harold Etling

Someone has said: "To pray without watching is fanaticism, and to watch without praying is presumption."

The Rebuke

And then there is a second word spoken by our Lord when He said: "Could ye not watch with me one hour?" (Matt. 26:40). It is spoken with sorrow and yet becomes a rebuke. The disciples had fallen asleep. They had allowed natural weariness to overcome them, so that they had no part in the conflict of the inner garden endured so near them and for them.

But there was greater reason for the rebuke, for on the outside of the garden the enemies of Jesus were wide awake. They were gathering their forces. They were mapping their strategy. They were plotting their false trials. So is it ever with the people of the world. Their watchfulness ought to be a rebuke to our sleepiness. Those who frequent the places of pleasure are often more eager than members of Christ's body to invite their companions to join them.

Even a little garden is a reminder, for when we neglect it for a short time it becomes filled with weeds.

Gardens require faithfulness. The Garden of Gethsemane demanded faithfulness, but the disciples, in spite of all their promises, were faithless. As we go out this spring to do our work in the garden, let us remember His words, "Could ye not watch with me one hour?"

The Regret

But the third statement seems to me to be the saddest of all. After Jesus had found His friends asleep, and knew that the enemy was at the gate, He said, "Sleep on now" (Matt. 26:45). Their opportunity had passed and it would never return in the identical manner. Because they had failed, they had missed the power that could have been theirs for the hour of crisis.

What a difference between Jesus who had seized the opportunity and the disciples who had failed. He had prayed while they slept. Now He is very calm and assured of victory. They are still sleepy and unprepared for the crisis. They forsook Him and fled, while He went willingly to the trial and the cross.

Beloved, gardens are not just places to plant flowers and vegetables. They are places of friendship, of opportunity, and of blessing. As we work in our gardens this spring "let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober" (I Thess. 5:6) lest He should say to us, "Sleep on now, and take your rest."

1953 YEARBOOKS AVAILABLE

Forty-seven copies of the 1953 "Charis," yearbook of Grace Theological Seminary, are available at the price of $4 each.

The 88-page book contains full-page photographs pertinent to the school. Perhaps one of the pages most interesting to Brethren people is the full-page portrait of Dr. McClain, taken just a few weeks ago. Also outstanding are the photos of the school taken at night.

Order from Jesse D. Humberd, editor, Winona Lake, Ind.

"MY FAVORITE MAGAZINE"

"Enclosed is $2 for my favorite magazine subscription for another year. (Signed) Mrs. G. W. Shook, Elyria, Ohio."

WATERLOO, IOWA, MEN DEDICATE BOYS CLUB BUILDING

Eighty-three men and boys enjoyed a wonderful father-and-son banquet March 14, and dedicated a fully equipped Brethren Boys Club building in back of their church at Waterloo, Iowa. The boys' clubhouse was made by converting a cement-block garage and is equipped with 3 jigsaws, a wood lathe, a table saw, and 6 work benches equipped with wood vises and small tools. The equipment was donated by Christian businessmen in the church, some of whom are also working with the club.

A former pastor of the church, Arnold Kriegbaum, was the speaker at the banquet and brought a stimulating message entitled, "A Father's Challenge." Ralph Grady, youth director of the church, was master of ceremonies, and Rev. Hilmore Cedarholm furnished special music. Clyde Stitt, BBC chief, outlined the plans, aims, etc., of the club, and Lew Deits gave the dedicatory remarks and prayer for the clubhouse.

Father-and-son banquet in basement of Waterloo, Iowa, church, showing speaker's table and a small part of the crowd.

Brother Stitt is getting real cooperation from a number of the men of the church and is doing a great job with the recently reorganized club in this church. And with that fine set-up, they really ought to be an active, growing club!

POND BANK CHURCH SHOWS PROGRESS

Talk about a singing church! The Grace Brethren Church at Pond Bank, Pa., near Chambersburg and Waynesboro, certainly qualifies! The people enjoyed learning a number of new choruses during the recent 5-day campaign with Youth Director Ralph Colburn. Attendance ranged as high as 66 in the basement auditorium of their new, but unfinished, building. Pictures were shown each night.

Rev. Edward Clark leads in a full schedule of services at this church. A child evangelism class is also to be started in the community very soon.

WINCHESTER YOUTH ENJOY PROGRESSIVE DINNER

More than 20 young people from our Winchester, Va., church met at the pastor's house on a recent Tuesday evening and received napkins and celery sticks as the first stage of a progressive dinner. Spring had just arrived, and it was a lovely evening, so they walked from place to place for juice, then salad, then turkey, vegetables, potato chips, and hot rolls, then an elaborate dessert stop for ice cream, cake, cookies, mints, nuts, and punch. Various games were played and choruses sung at all the stops. Then at our last stop toothpicks were passed out, and devotions enjoyed, under the leadership of Youth Director Ralph Colburn. Last reaction: "Let's do it again tomorrow night!"

YORK YOUTH ENJOY "BACKWARD" PARTY

Everybody had to dress with part of their clothes backward, and the whole emphasis was on fun and foolishness at the April Fool party of the York, Pa., Brethren young people. Games, refreshments, and pictures filled the evening with enjoyment for the fine group of young people present. Rev. Gerald Polman is pastor of this church.

"The only happy people are the ones who get a big kick out of the way they do their daily jobs. The fancy words for this are 'challenge' and 'self-fulfillment,' but whatever you call this meeting and mastering of the problems of the day, it gives the most solid sense of worth-while-ness."—H. L. Brown in Changing Times.

Clyde Stitt, BBC chief, showing one of the boys how to operate a jigsaw in the new clubhouse, while some of the men and boys look on.

GOSPEL IS STILL POWERFUL

The Pocket Testament League claims that "you don't need motion pictures, snappy choruses, or a brightly lighted auditorium to get Korean soldiers to a gospel meeting. To them the Gospel is good news. They crowd into stuffy quonset huts, stand in windy fields, sit on cold hill-sides to listen to someone tell the old, old story of salvation."

Evangelist Don Robertson, working under the supervision of the league, tells of an experience he had. He reported that "2,000 men in the 2d ROK Replacement Battalion, with full combat packs, sat on the cold ground as we preached the Gospel. We told them of a Saviour worth dying for and a Lord worth living for. We explained fully what it means to be a Christian. Then we gave an invitation. Like one man they raised their hands."

Another evangelist in Korea wrote: "The burden of the fighting in Korea is resting more and more with the ROK troops. It's a tremendous privilege and responsibility to speak to these soldiers who may soon be facing death."

Brethren, pray for the soldiers in Korea.

---

ANNOUNCING OUR SECOND CRUSADE TEAM

CHARLES BERGERSON
Pianist

WALTER A. LEPP
Evangelist

FRANK COFFIN
Song Leader

AN "ALL-BRETHREN" TEAM

WALTER A. LEPP—He has served pastorates in Los Angeles, Calif.; Cleveland, Ohio; and Hagerstown, Md. He has been successful in evangelistic meetings wherever he has gone. He has felt the definite call of the Lord to full-time evangelistic work for a long while. He is now leaving a very happy and successful pastorate of 7 years, during which time the attendance increased 100 percent, and the annual financial report shows receipts of $38,657.74.

CHARLES R. BERGERSON—He has been professor of music in Grace Theological Seminary at Winona Lake, Ind. He has been pastor at Flora, Ind.; Cleveland, Ohio; and assistant pastor at Hagerstown, Md. But his heart has been in evangelism ever since he was a member of the "America Back to God" quartet.

FRANK S. COFFIN—He is a member of the First Brethren Church, Uniontown, Pa. He graduates from the School of Music at Bob Jones University in May. He has felt the call to the field of evangelism, and effectively prepared himself for the work.

This team is scheduled to start work September 1 in the Central District. They have 2 dates in September and October still open. The rest of the season is full for them.

All teams under the Crusade will enter any field, large or small, with an intensive evangelistic campaign purposed not only to win the unsaved people to Christ, but to leave the church geared to go on winning souls. Pastors and congregations desiring a meeting with this team or other teams under the Crusade should get in touch with your district Crusade representative as follows:

Atlantic—Rev. Walter A. Lepp
California—Rev. Glenn O'Neal
Central—Rev. William Steffler
East—Rev. Clyde Landrum

Iowa—Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum
Northern Ohio—Rev. Lester Pifer
Northwest—Rev. William Schaffer
Southeast—Rev. Robert E. Miller

For the sake of economy, and the accumulative force of evangelism in each district, the Crusade purposes to schedule enough churches in one district to enable a team to work there for an entire season. So it may not be possible to send any team anywhere at any time to meet one church's desire. Cooperation and patience from our pastors and congregations will help us much.

Don't Let America Accuse Us at the Judgment. Let Us Do All We Can to Evangelize Our Own Country!

The Brethren Evangelistic Crusade

SARAH'S SCHOOLMATES

By Mabel Donaldson

[This is the article promised in last week's issue of this paper for the Sisterhood girls.—Ed.]

Sarah came home from school in a "dither." She was exhausted. She had had so many extra things to do that day. Her Aunt Sue, who was visiting the Barrs for a week, wanted to give Sarah all the comfort and sympathy she could, so she began to ask questions to find out what had happened.

"Oh!" said Sarah, "Miss Bell, the teacher, assigned many of us various tasks to do to get ready for the school fair. She gave all the girls jobs like decorating, getting the booths ready, and making the signs and cards for advertising. She gave the boys the jobs of hammering, sawing, constructing, and moving. She put John in charge of the boys and asked me to supervise the girls. Well, things went along pretty well for about an hour, then the girls began finding silly excuses for not doing their individual jobs. One broke her fingernail and she was 'ill' for the rest of the day because her hands were not 'pretty' any more. Another was afraid to use the paints for fear she would stain her dainty hands. Some of the girls didn't want to sew or use thumbtacks because they might get stuck. So, of course, I had to just work, work, work, as well as take the responsibility that the things were done by the end of the day. I am 'just plumb tuckered out,' as Aunt Mose would say."

"Sarah, you might have had a lot of trouble, and I do feel sorry for you, but your difficulty has stirred a little note of joy and thanksgiving in my own heart," said Aunt Sue.

Sarah was truly startled by this remark. She was quite anxious to know how her troubles had made her Aunt find a bit of appreciation in her own life. Now it was Sarah's turn to ask the questions, and she hastened to say: "Well, Aunt Sue, that is surely a strange remark. How in the world could all my trouble at school make you express a note of thanksgiving?"

"It causes me to think about God. I am so glad that each member of the Godhead does His part and does not shirk, for without Christ I would not have my salvation; without the Father I would not have my assured home in heaven; without the Holy Spirit I would be really floundering in this old world of sin and misery.

"Now consider the Holy Spirit. He had and has many jobs to do for the whole universe and for the believer in particular. According to Psalm 33:6 He had a definite part in the creation of this universe: 'By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath [Spirit] of his mouth.' Then the creation of man is attributed to the Spirit. Job 33:4 says, 'The spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life.' The power of the Spirit is seen in preserving nature: 'The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it' (Isa. 40:7). This is a great, staggering thought—the Spirit comes in the fierce east wind with its keen, biting blast of death. He comes also in the summer breeze which brings life and beauty."

"Why, Aunt Sue," said Sarah, "you are right. Suppose He did not do His work properly, we really would be living in a jumbled-up mess of a world. Please tell me more."

Then Aunt Sue told how the Spirit has some definite work to do among all human beings, according to John 16:8-11. She remarked how sad it was that humans ignored the work of the Spirit, for if they would pay attention to Him they would be a happier group of people. She also spoke of the Spirit being the Spirit of Truth and testifying for the believers. She read from John 15:26 and from Acts 5:32 about the Spirit being a witness to the work and power of Jesus Christ.

"But," said Aunt Sue, "the part I like best about the Holy Spirit is the work He does for me, a believer in the Lord Jesus Christ. He has special work to do for God's children. He regenerates and renews the believer. When I get weary, tired, and discouraged in my work for the Lord, He comes along and gives me a 'boost' so that I take heart and do more for my Master. John 3:3-5 and Titus 3:5 are good verses to read for this. He lives right in my body and is a constant help to me. In I Corinthians 6:19 we read: 'Your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you.' Romans 8:9-11 tells us that no matter how weak we may be, or how poor a Christian we may seem to be, we have the Spirit within to help if we will only let Him take full charge.

"Then, too, the Spirit seals the believer and gives him daily assurance of his salvation. He causes us to know in both our hearts and minds that we have had sins forgiven and that we have become a part of God's family. He also gives the believer the power to do any task God has for him to accomplish. So no child of God has any right to say he can't do anything that he is sure in his heart the Lord wants him to do. All one needs to do is ask the Spirit to take control and give the power and wisdom for the work. He loves to give wisdom to God's children. Part of His work is to guide the believer's life. Romans 8:14 and Galatians 5:16, 25 tell us to 'walk in the Spirit.' There is no detail of a believer's life that may not be under the control and direction of the Spirit. 'The steps [and, as one has well said, "the stops"] of a good man are ordered by the Lord.' He guides the young believers into their field of service.

"So, Sarah, as you are growing older, always look to the Spirit of the Lord to help you choose your work for you. He'll never fail you like your schoolmates did today. He'll never find 'silly' excuses to keep you from getting the job done. He never thinks of Himself first, like your chums did. Now, don't you feel you can praise the Lord, too?"

HOW?

1. How does the Spirit of God assure us of salvation?
2. How did the Spirit help in creation?
3. How does He control nature?
4. How can we be sure that we can do a job for the Lord?
5. How can we know He is with us constantly?

1946

1947

1948

1949

1950

1951

1952

• • •

The Faculty and Senior Class

OF

Grace Theological Seminary

EXTEND THIS INVITATION

TO ATTEND

The Commencement Services

MAY 10 THROUGH 15

1953

Winona Lake, Indiana

• • •

Grace Seminary 1953 Graduation Services

THE CLASS SERVICE

SUNDAY, MAY 10, 10:45 A. M.

At the Winona Lake Brethren Church
(Chapel of Grace Theological Seminary)

William F. Short, Class President, Presiding

W. Russell Ogden, Director of Music

Piano Prelude.....Mrs. Harriet Hoyt
*Processional
*Call to Worship—Doxology
*Invocation.....Richard DeArmey
Hymn—"Holy, Holy, Holy"—No. 17
Responsive Reading, Romans 10.....Scott Weaver
Hymn—"The Church's One Foundation"—No. 25
Scripture Lesson.....R. Paul Miller
Prayer.....Glen Schwenk
Hymn—"I Will Sing the Wondrous Story"—No. 23
Announcements.....Rev. Herman W. Koontz
Presentation of Offerings
Solo.....Robert Belt
The Class Sermon.....Ivan French
(President of the Student Body)
*Hymn—"Channels Only"—No. 286
*Benediction.....Richard D. Tevebaugh
Postlude
*Congregation Standing

THE BACCALAUREATE SERVICE

Sunday, May 10, 7:30 P. M.

Auditorium of Grace Theological Seminary

Director of Music—Donald Ogden

Prelude.....Mrs. Helen Bartling
Processional (the congregation standing)
Invocation.....Rev. Herman W. Koontz
Hymn—"How Firm a Foundation"—No. 14
Scripture Reading.....Rev. Milton L. Dowden
Announcements.....President Alva J. McClain
Hymn—"Praise Him! Praise Him!"—No. 24
Prayer.....Rev. George E. Cone
Vocal Solo.....LeRoy Hawkins
Baccalaureate Sermon.....Rev. Miles Taber
(Pastor, W. 10th St. Brethren Church, Ashland, Ohio)
Hymn—"I Know Whom I Have Believed"—No. 85
Prayer and Benediction.....Rev. J. Frank Meyers
Postlude

THE GRADUATION SERVICE

Friday, May 15, 7:30 P. M.

Auditorium of Grace Theological Seminary

Director of Music—Donald Ogden

Prelude and Processional.....Mrs. Beatrice Horne
Academic Procession (the congregation standing)
Invocation.....Rev. Lester E. Pifer, Th.B.
Hymn—"Amazing Grace"—No. 40
Scripture Reading.....Rev. Earl Umbaugh, B.D.
Annual Seminary Announcements.....Rev. William A. Ogden
(President of the Seminary Board)
Hymn—"Immanuel's Land"—No. 370
Prayer.....Rev. William J. Sweeting, Th.D.
Seminary Trumpet Trio.....Edwin Cashman,
Edward Smith, Harold Westing
Graduation Address...Rev. Allan A. MacRae, Th.B., Ph.D., F.R.G.S.
(President, Faith Theological Seminary)

Presentation of the Class Gift.....William F. Short Response.....Prof. S. Herbert Bess, A.B., M.A., B.D.
Recognition of Honors.....Prof. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., A.B., B.D.
Presentation of Candidates.....Dean Herman A. Hoyt, Th.M., Th.D.
Conferring of Diplomas and Degrees....President Alva
J. McClain, Th.M., D.D., LL.D., assisted by Vice President Paul R. Bauman, B.D., D.D., and Registrar
Homer A. Kent, Th.M., Th.D.
Hymn—"Fade, Fade, Each Earthly Joy"—No. 268
Prayer and Benediction.....Rev. Ward Miller, B.D.
Postlude

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

DIRECTORY OF THE 1953 SEMINARY GRADUATING CLASS

To acquaint our readers with the 37 students who make up the 1953 graduating class of the seminary and college divisions, the following directory has been prepared. Churches or individuals desiring to contact any of these students may reach them by mail or phone in care of Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind., until May 15, unless otherwise indicated in the items that follow.

BURTON LOUIS BARTLING—Member, First Baptist Church, Mentone, Ind. Accepted Christ January 13, 1946. Married. Two daughters, aged 4 years and 6 months; one son, aged 3 years. Education: Student, Moody Bible Institute; Grace Theological Seminary (collegiate division), A.A.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with Th.B. degree. Practical experience: Personal work at Chicago missions; young people's work at First Baptist Church, Mentone. Future plans: Possibly several years more of schooling.

ALVIN F. SHOWALTER—Member, Church of the Brethren, Darlow, Kans. Accepted Christ in 1943 while in military service. Education: College of Jewish Studies, Moody Bible Institute. Will graduate in May with theological diploma. Practical experience: Street meetings, deputization work, Sunday-school class teaching while in school, and preaching. Future plans: Completed work at end of first semester and left for Israel the latter part of February to work as a missionary among the Jews. Present address: Box 857, Jerusalem, Israel.

ROBERT W. BELT—Member, First Baptist Church, Kewanee, Ind. Accepted Christ April 1943. Married. One daughter, 9 months of age. Education: Student, Otterbein College, A.B.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree (magna cum laude). Practical experience: Young people's work, Sunday-school teacher, 3 years; gospel-team work, 4 years; supply pastor, 3 months; pastorate, 2½ months. Future plans: Continue as pastor of the First Baptist Church at Kewanee.

IVAN HARRY FRENCH—Member, First Christian Church, La Grande, Ore. Accepted Christ in 1936. Married. One daughter, aged 3½ years. Education: Student Northwest Christian College; Eastern Oregon College of Education; Westmont College, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree (magna cum laude). Practical experience: Choir directing, gospel solo and quartet work; rural Sunday school work, 3 years; student pastor, 3 years. Future plans: Pastor, McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, Elkhart, Ind.

HAROLD G. BUNCH—Member, Leon Brethren Church, Leon, Iowa. Accepted Christ in 1933. Married. Two sons, aged 3 years and 7 months; one daughter, aged 2 years. Education: Student, Temple Missionary Training School; Grace Theological Seminary (collegiate division), A.A.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with Th.B. degree. Practical experience: Services and personal work at county home in Iowa, and nursing home in Fort Wayne, Ind. Future plans: Going to San Diego, Calif., awaiting call for pastorate.

FRANK THOMAS INMAN—Member, Grace Brethren Church, Beaver City, Nebr. Accepted Christ in early childhood. Married. One daughter, 5 months old. Education: Student, Kansas State Teachers College; William Jennings Bryan University; Tabor College, A.B.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree (summa cum laude). Practical experience: Bible-school teaching, Sunday-school teaching, youth work, camp work, some pastoral work, gospel-team work. Future plans: Work in Taos, N. Mex., and later to Argentina.

GARTH DALMAIN CONGDON—Member, First Federated Church, Des Moines, Iowa. Accepted Christ Easter evening, 1939. Education: Student, University of Oklahoma; William Jennings Bryan University, A.B.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Young people's work; gospel-team work, 2½ years; pastorate, 1 year. Future plans: Further education for Th.M. degree.

RICHARD DELMAR TEVEBAUGH—Member, Edgemont Bible Church, East St. Louis, Ill. Accepted Christ in 1946. Married. One daughter, 3 years old; one son, 8 months old. Education: Student, William Jennings Bryan University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree (cum laude). Practical experience: Street-meeting work, Bible class work in public schools, 3 summers worked with St. Louis Hebrew Mission in Jewish evangelism, 1 year assistant pastor and youth director at Bourbon Bible Church, supply preacher. Future plans: Enter army as chaplain.

DIRECTORY OF THE 1953 SEMINARY GRADUATING CLASS

WILLIAM RUSSELL OGDEN—Member, First Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa. Accepted Christ in 1932. Married. Two sons, aged 3½ and 1 year; one daughter, aged 2 years. Education: Student, Westmont College; Bob Jones University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Gospel - team work; 3 years in home mission pastorate. Future plans: Pastor, Sunnymede Brethren Church, South Bend, Ind.

VICTOR H. MEYERS—Member, Leamersville Brethren Church, Leamersville, Pa. Accepted Christ in childhood and united with the church at 12 years of age. Married. One son, aged 9 years; one daughter, aged 6 years. Education: Student: McPherson College; Huntington College, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Sang and played instrument in musical groups in high school and college. Chaplain's assistant while in army; Youth for Christ director. Future plans: Mission field.

SIBLEY MARVIN EDMISTON—Member, Second Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif. Accepted Christ in 1929. Married. Two daughters, aged 6 and 5 years; two sons, aged 3 years and 6 months. Education: Student, John Brown University; Westmont College; Bible Institute of Los Angeles; Wycliffe Summer School of Linguistics. Will graduate in May with Th.B. degree (cum laude). Practical experience: Navigators, 2½ years; missionary to Spanish-American people of Taos, N. Mex., 7 months; gospel-team chairman at Grace Seminary. Future plans: Work with Mexicans along the Texas border.

DONALD W. FARNER—Member, West Tenth Street Brethren Church, Ashland, Ohio. Accepted Christ in 1938. Married. Three sons, aged 14, 12, and 11 years. Education: Student, Ashland College; William Jennings Bryan University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Taught Sunday-school class; pastorate, 7 months. Future plans: No definite plans.

GLEN FREDERICK SCHWENK—Member, First Baptist Church in Warsaw, Ind. Accepted Christ November 15, 1941. Married. Education: Student, William Jennings Bryan University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree (magna cum laude). Practical experience: Street-meeting work, jail work, 4 years; pastor 7 months during senior year in seminary. Future plans: U. S. Air Force chaplain.

DONALD E. BISHOP—Member, West Tenth Street Brethren Church, Ashland, Ohio. Accepted Christ in fall of 1939. Married. One daughter, aged 8 months. Education: Student, Bible Institute of Los Angeles; Whitworth College, A.B.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, 6 years; quartet, song leader, choir leader, 6 years; young people's work, 5 years. Future plans: Foreign work in Argentina when sufficient funds are available.

DOROTHY ROBINSON—Member, First Brethren Church, La Verne, Calif. Accepted Christ when 7 years old. Education: Student, Pomona College; La Verne College, A.B. Will graduate in May with M.R.E. degree. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, D. V. B. S. teacher, child evangelism work, gospel-team work, 10 months missionary work in Mexico. Future plans: Further education at Grace Theological Seminary, then missionary work in Baja California.

DONALD ROBERT GRIFFITH—Member, Pike Brethren Church, Mundy's Corner, Pa. Accepted Christ at about age of 8 years. Married. Education: Student, Bob Jones University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Assistant pastorate work; gospel-team work. Future plans: No definite plans as yet.

RICHARD P. DeARMEY—Member, Sidney Brethren Church, Sidney, Ind. Accepted Christ at age of 14 years. Married. Two sons, aged 11 and 4 years; one daughter, aged 8. Education: Student, Grace Theological Seminary (collegiate division), A.A.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with Th.B. degree. Practical experience: Supply preaching, including 7 months at Listie Brethren Church. Pastorate at Jenners Brethren Church; pastorate, 4 years, Sidney Brethren Church. Future plans: Pastorate at Grace Brethren Church, Waterloo, Iowa.

HAROLD FRANCIS MORR—Member, West Tenth Street Brethren Church, Ashland, Ohio. Accepted Christ when about 6 years old. Education: Student, Bob Jones University; Moody Bible Institute; Ashland College, A.B. Will graduate from Grace Theological Seminary in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Assistant pastor, youth work, Sunday-school teacher. Future plans: Enter the United States Air Force as chaplain.

DIRECTORY OF THE 1953 SEMINARY GRADUATING CLASS

R. PAUL MILLER, JR.—Member, Bethel Brethren Church, Berne, Ind. Accepted Christ in 1934. Married. Two sons, aged 2 years and 1 month; one daughter, 4½ years old. Education: Bob Jones University, A.B.; Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, street meetings, personal work, student pastorate, solo trumpet work. Future plans: Pastorate, Carlton Brethren Church, Garwin, Iowa.

WILLIAM RICHARD FOSTER—Member, Wortley Road Baptist Church, London, Ontario, Canada. Accepted Christ in 1942. Married. Education: Student, London Bible Institute and Theological Seminary; University of Western Ontario, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: General work in local church; counselor for Christian youth camp; librarian at London Theological Seminary for 3 years. Future plans: Graduate work at Grace Theological Seminary.

ROBERT G. DELNAY—Member, Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, Chicago, Ill. Accepted Christ in April 1935. Married. Education: Student, Jackson Junior College; Michigan State College; Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, A.B., B.D. Will graduate in May with Th.M. degree. Practical experience: Pastor for 2 years of Community Baptist Church; trustee, treasurer, and co-director of the Challenger Club, Inc. Future plans: Awaiting position to teach, or further education.

ROY E. GLASS, JR.—Member, Commonwealth Avenue Brethren Church, Alexandria, Va. Accepted Christ during early childhood. Married. One son, aged 3 years; one daughter, aged 2 years. Education: Student, Bob Jones University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Brass and vocal quartet, 1 year; Sunday-school teacher; started a mission in Asheville, N. C.; gospel-team work. Future plans: None as yet.

ROBERT WAYNE SNIDER—Member, First Brethren Church, Martinsburg, Pa. Accepted Christ in early childhood. Education: Student, William Jennings Bryan University, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree (cum laude). Practical experience: Street meetings, jail services, summer pastorate, film work for Moody Bible Institute, grade-school ministry under Christian Service Association at Bryan University. Future plans: Further education at Grace Theological Seminary.

EILEEN MUELLER SELLERS—Member, Sidney Brethren Church, Sidney, Ind. Accepted Christ in 1946. Married. One son, aged 5 years. Education: Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with diploma in Christian education. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, child evangelism teacher, personal work. Future plans: Children's work in home missions.

RAYMOND W. THOMPSON—Member, First Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif. Accepted Christ in March 1934. Married. Three daughters, ages 4, 3, and 1 years. Education: Student, Bible Institute of Los Angeles; University of Oklahoma; Whittier College, A.B. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, Christian Endeavor superintendent, gospel-team work, some preaching work. Future plans: Some phase of foreign mission work (Africa or Mexican border or Hawaii), as the Lord leads.

WILLIAM F. SHORT—Member, First Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif. Accepted Christ in 1933. Married. One daughter, 5 months old. Education: Student, California Institute of Technology; Long Beach City College; University of California, B.S. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Preaching on week ends. Future plans: Do graduate work toward higher theological degree, probably at Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill.

ARCHER BAUM—Member, Harrah Brethren Church, Harrah, Wash. Accepted Christ February 23, 1941. Married. Two daughters, aged 6 and 4 years. Education: Student, Wheaton College; Multnomah School of the Bible; Lewis and Clark College, A.B. Grace Theological Seminary, 3 years. Will graduate in May with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Began preaching at the age of 19; has had 4½ years experience as a student pastor; 1½ years experience as a full-time pastor. Future plans: Awaiting a call to serve as pastor of a church.

MARY DUKESHIRE—Member, New Brunswick Bible Church, New Brunswick, N. J. Accepted Christ before age of 9. Education: Student, Houghton College; Yale University, A.B., M.A. Will graduate in May with M.R.E. Practical experience: Camp counselor, Sunday-school teacher, D. V. B. S. teacher; 3 years mission work in western New York; gospel-team work; child evangelism teacher; faculty advisor to I. V. C. F.; teaching, 1 summer session (freshman English) at Houghton College, 3 years (freshman and sophomore English) at New Jersey College for Women, Rutgers University. Future plans: Further graduate study at Yale University, then college teaching or student work, possibly in Europe.

SCOTT WEAVER—Member, Bible Baptist Church, Kokomo, Ind. Accepted Christ in 1946. Married. One son, aged 11 years; one daughter, aged 8 years. Education: Student, Grace Theological Seminary (college division), A.A. Will graduate in May with Th.B. degree. Practical experience: Street meetings; jail services; pastored Sharpville Grace Brethren Church 3 years; used gospel magic with young people, 2 years; song leading. Future plans: Pastorate at Sharpville Brethren Church.

GEORGE E. CONE, JR.—Member, Winona Lake Brethren Church, Winona Lake, Ind. Accepted Christ when about 7 or 8 years old. Married. Education: Student, Oklahoma University; Akron Bible Institute; Colorado State College of Education; William Jennings Bryan University, B.S. Will graduate in May from Grace Theological Seminary with B.D. degree. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, youth director, personal worker in jail, pastor for 7 months. Future plans: Teach at Summer Institute of Linguistics, Canada; teach in college division of Grace Theological Seminary next year.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN WILES—Member, Grace Brethren Church, Hagerstown, Md. Accepted Christ in June 1943. Education: Grace Theological Seminary (college division), A.A. Will graduate in May with theological diploma. Practical experience: Sunday-school teacher, young people's work, song leader. Future plans: Possibly go into the South to start a Brethren church, particularly, Asheville, N. C.

CHARLES M. HORNE—Member, First Baptist Church, Warsaw, Ind. Accepted Christ at age of 5 years. Married. Education: Student, Missionary Training Institute, Nyack, N. Y.; Grace Theological Seminary (college division), 2 years, A.A. Will graduate in May with A.B. degree. Practical experience: Young people's work; pastor of Pleasant View Community Church. Future plans: Continue education at Grace Theological Seminary. Mr. Horne has the distinction of being the first graduate of the college division of the seminary.

To change human society one must change individual souls. You can't build an A-1 society out of C-3 people.—F. J. Maizard in Prophecy Monthly.

Top—One of the screens. Bottom—A blind is installed.

During the past few months "something new has been added" to the seminary's equipment which is already proving to be a blessing to the school and the Winona Lake Brethren Church. It has come as a gift from Bro. Edison Yoder, a member of the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church. Blinds to darken the chapel, lower auditorium, social lounge, and 2 of the classrooms have been installed. Along with them, 4 projection screens have been hung. With the exception of the chapel screen, which was given by Miss Jane Edmonds, of Temple City, Calif., in memory of her mother, Mrs. Coryet Edmonds, all the equipment came as a gift from Brother Yoder.

Now, for the first time, when missionaries come to the school with pictures fresh from the field, it is possible to project them at a regular chapel service. A number of the classes can profit by the use of visual education, and this is already making the teaching of several courses much more effective. The large auditorium screen proved a real blessing during the recent midwinter and alumni conferences. All groups can plan to show pictures at the meetings of our national fellowship next August.—P. R. B.

The Present-Day Need for Education in the Ministry—Part II

By Lewis C. Hohenstein, Pastor of the First Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif.

Note: This is the second installment of a paper which was read by Brother Hohenstein (Class of '49) at the recent alumni conference at Grace Seminary.

At the turn of the century a great Negro educator, Dr. DuBois, said: "True college education will ever have one goal—not to earn meat, but to know the end and aim of that life which meat nourishes."<sup>8</sup> The Christian philosophy of education is not judged by what it says alone, but also by the lives it produces.

Therefore it is our responsibility, as the leaders of conservative fundamental thought, to urge, if not demand, of ourselves first, and then of those who follow us, a greater depth of Christian scholarship; and to show the need among Christians everywhere of having leaders who believe that Christ is the coordinating center of all knowledge in all fields of science and industry.

It is embarrassing frequently to see ministers flailing away at a straw man of their own or someone else's creation and firmly believing that such belligerent action is an excuse for ignorance. "If Christian education is to stand alongside of secular education, those who receive its benefits must pay a price of dedicated industry."<sup>9</sup>

We as Christian ministers are the first reapers of the benefits of such training. These benefits are seen in 3 relationships.

1. FORMAL EDUCATION'S VALUE TO THE MINISTER AS IT RELATES TO HIS PERSONAL LIFE.

Plato, in his dialogue, "Phaedo," relates Socrates as giving the following advice to Cebes, as Socrates awaits the fatal hemlock: "We must lay hold of the best human opinion in order that borne along by it as on a raft, we may sail over the dangerous sea of life, unless we can find a stronger boat or some word of God which will more surely and safely carry us."<sup>10</sup>

We have the Word of God—it is to us a "bulwark of defence," an "ark of safety." Being anchored steadfast by it we can exercise great freedom in being "transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove the will of God, even the thing which is good and acceptable and perfect."<sup>11</sup>

The value of seeing oneself "approved unto God," of having "full assurance" and a "steadfast hope," of being "confident—that He will complete the work begun," is greater than jewels of great price to the individual. When such a feeling of security and confidence is missing a man's ministry will lack power.

But there is another value which education affords the individual, expressed by Dr. DuBois: "It teaches thinkers to think—a needed knowledge in a day of loose and careless logic."<sup>12</sup> The background of higher education gives the ability to make qualitative choices and decisions in this world of quantitative value systems, where the throne of the glory of God has been usurped by the appetites of the flesh.

Not only are there subjective values to the individual, but there are also innumerable objective values, such as background material, illustrations, examples, etc., which are adaptable to his ministry and instructive to his constituency.

2. THE PASTOR'S EDUCATION AND HIS CONSTITUENCY.

The pastor's duty toward his constituency is fourfold. Chronologically they are, first, to evangelize; secondly, to lead the people in the worship of God; thirdly, to press the claims of Christ in demanding a full surrender to Him; and fourthly, to develop, by education, the talents and capacities in order that the Christian might be equipped to serve.

Many of us pastors are often guilty of doing the work which the Lord ordained we should train our people to do. In June of 1952 I delivered the moderator's address at the Iowa district conference. In it, in pointing out the present crisis of the church, there were 3 points of emphasis: First, we are betraying our youth; secondly, we are betraying our members; and thirdly, we are betraying Christ. We are betraying our youth in that we are not actively engaged in a program that will remove them from the influence of anti-Christian secular education; we are betraying our members in that we are not placing the responsibility of the church program more squarely upon them; and we are betraying Christ by preaching one gospel and living another.

Let us notice the pastor's place in the first 2 of these points. First, our betrayal of our youth. We are dealing with a generation of youth who have been taught to ask, "Why?" Whether we approve or disapprove is not the main issue—the main issue is, are we going to be able to answer that "Why?"

Unless our background is such that we can meet the inquiries and doubts that pour out of the classrooms, our job of evangelism is greatly hindered and our training program slowed down. Trite sayings and platitudinal quips are not sufficient; the pastor must meet doubts and queries with answers that satisfy the searching heart. We cannot relax in our fight against the subtle attack of Satan.

On this point I am firmly convinced we will constantly lose the fight dealing with the public-school system. If there is any change in attitude among educators (and there seems to be some indication of such), they will accommodate the liberal thought and at best the dreaded destructive neo-orthodoxy.

The answer lies in this: Every conservative church in America ought to be directly affiliated with a Christian day-school program which will meet the needs of its members and friends. Brethren, we have delayed too long; it is time for action. Every pastor entering our pulpits ought to be, in some measure, prepared in the establishment and direction of day schools that hold God to be the ultimate of existence and His only begotten Son as the redeemer of everyone who believes. This is not to add the "Christian religion" as an appended course of study but to put Christ in the center of all studies. This is one of the most urgent needs in the present-day education of the minister.

Secondly, in relation to his constituency the pastor

8—DuBois, "The Souls of Black Folk," p. 82.

9—Gabelin, "Christian Education in a Democracy," p. 276.

10—Plato, "Phaedo."

11—Romans 12:2, ARV margin.

12—DuBois, "Souls of Black Folks."

must be educated to promote a systematized, consistent leadership and teacher-training program. When Paul wrote to the Ephesian church he called to their attention the gifts that Christ gave to the churches: "And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ."<sup>13</sup> The original, according to Robertson, Alford, Hoyt, and others, carries the idea of relationship, that men were given gifts as "shepherds and teachers, for the perfecting of the saints unto the work of the ministry unto the edifying of the body of Christ." In other words, the minister should be both a pastor and a teacher.

"When God gifts a man as a preacher and a teacher he is to exercise that gift for the perfecting, the developing, of the saints in order that they might do the work of the ministry and thus edify the body of Christ."<sup>14</sup> . . .

Therefore I declare that the pastor's education today should include that which will equip him for active leadership in training and developing the talents and utilizing the capacities of his flock. . . .

The Gospel "is the power of God unto salvation."<sup>15</sup> It can be compared to a stockpile of uranium. The uranium has a great power potential, but that power cannot be released until the components of the atoms of uranium are separated and reapplied to produce energy or atomic power. . . .

A keen intellect, sharpened by consecrated experience and study, submitted to the Holy Spirit, is a worthy instrument for releasing God's power. Another applicable action of the released atom power is that it begins a chain reaction of continued energy release. The pastor stands as the one who can begin this great spiritual chain reaction of soul-winning and edification among his people.

The minister will be able to do his part in this four-fold relationship to his people if he is thoroughly trained in theological precepts, Biblical content, practical application, and contemporary "know-how."

3. THE MINISTER'S EDUCATION AND HIS RELATION TO THOSE "WITHOUT."

This is the most difficult aspect of this educative problem. Some have chosen to ignore the philosophic and intellectual problems of unbelief. I have already pointed out that one cannot ignore these and expect to make an impressionable impact upon this present generation. "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."<sup>16</sup> Unregenerate men are entitled to intellectual doubts, but by the same token all ministers and teachers who are servants of Christ are responsible to erase those doubts and to plant the seed of God's Word in their hearts.

Christ, on the night He was betrayed, said to His disciples: "Ye believe in God, believe also in me."<sup>17</sup> But today we can rarely stand before an audience of unbelievers and say, "Ye believe in God." Oh, they might say they believe there is a God, but they do not believe in the God who has revealed Himself in the Word by the prophets and in His Son. There are 3 kinds of unbelief: intellectual or organized unbelief, religious unbelief as seen in the cults and false religions, and rebellious unbelief which refuses the Saviour on moral grounds only. But all are under the wrath of God, and all, as far as we are concerned, are prospects for His saving grace.

If we are able to put our finger on the pulse beat of the people in our communities and diagnose their spiritual illnesses and in love administer "the balm of Gilead," we must spend time and diligent industry in preparation.

When obvious eruptions began to appear between the liberals and the orthodox believers during the last century, the liberal said, "You keep the pulpit and we will keep the classroom." Through the classroom they began their subtle satanic work under the guise of "scholarship" and with the plea for "academic freedom." Slowly but surely they poisoned the minds of our finest youth with their theories of evolution, relativity, and skepticism. They cast doubt upon the Word which had been the foundational strength of their forefathers, and they rejected the Christ who purchased them with His own blood. Then with a plan, worthy of its satanic author, they moved into the pulpits and gained control of the ecclesiastical power, demonstrated today in the World Council of Churches.

The Roman Catholic Church, likewise in her chameleon character, has risen from being "the sleeping kitty on the Tiber" to become a "wildcat" of temporal and ecclesiastical power. Today, under the cover of a plea for tolerance in America and by fear and power in the Catholic-dominated countries, she is on the move in her attempt to control the nations.

Then there is the God-hating, Christ-rejecting Communist power, our "common enemy," with its extended promise of peace and prosperity in this world of turmoil, heartache, hunger, and sorrow. Another appeal, under the guise of perfect science, has reached unprecedented and unexpected proportion. Then add to these organized forces of unbelief all the cults and false religious groups; and add the great horde of rebellious moral unbelievers, and you have a foe that calls for a dedicated Spirit-led attack.

The answer is not in belligerence, tolerance, compromise, or a passive faith. It is in a dedicated, informed ministry as an instrument in the hand of our omnipotent God.

"For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds; casting down imaginations [reasonings, marginal], and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringeth into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ."

WHICH VERSION?

A Critical Evaluation of the Revised Standard Version

By the Faculty of Grace Theological Seminary

40 pages of thought-provoking and readable material. Prices: 15c a copy; 8 copies for $1.00; 100 copies for $10.00. Address all orders to

GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY
Winona Lake, Indiana

13—Ephesians 4:11-12.

14—Ironside, "In the Heavenlies," p. 193.

15—Romans 1:16.

16—I Peter 3:15.

17—John 14:1.

Grace Seminary Offerings for March 1953

The month of March has been an occasion for real praise to God at the seminary. The report which follows shows that during this month more than $9,000 in offerings came in from the churches listed. These represent both monthly and annual offerings, and there is good evidence already that the report for the month of April will also be a good one. Many of you have been praying for the seminary. Let us not forget also to praise the Lord.—P. R. B.

Church	Amount	Church	Amount	Church	Amount
Alexandria, Va. ....	$18.00	Jackson, Mich. ....	9.40	San Bernardino, Calif. ....	33.70
Alto, Mich. ....	25.00	Johnstown, Pa. (First) ....	1.00	San Diego, Calif. ....	10.00
Altoona, Pa. (Grace) ....	7.25	Lake Odessa, Mich. ....	196.44	Sidney, Ind. ....	371.00
Ankenytown, Ohio ....	31.00	La Verne, Calif. ....	13.00	Singer Hill, Pa. ....	20.00
Beaver City, Nebr. ....	9.00	Leon Iowa ....	1.00	South Bend, Ind. ....	1.00
Buena Vista, Va. ....	87.85	Limestone, Tenn. ....	7.00	South Pasadena, Calif. ....	4.00
Cedar Rapids, Iowa ....	128.00	Listie, Pa. ....	1.00	Summit Mills, Pa. ....	77.00
Chico, Calif. ....	5.00	Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	3,038.38	Sunnyside, Wash. ....	2.00
Clayton, Ohio ....	93.66	Long Beach, Calif. (Second) ....	1.00	Taos, N. Mex. ....	4.50
Cleveland, Ohio ....	97.00	Los Angeles, Calif. (First) ....	81.26	Temple City, Calif. ....	300.00
Compton, Calif. ....	21.00	Los Angeles, Calif. Second) ....	97.98	Uniontown, Pa. ....	37.00
Covington, Va. ....	28.00	Los Angeles, Calif. (Third) ....	6.00	Waterloo, Iowa ....	12.00
Dallas Center, Iowa ....	2.00	Martinsburg, Pa. ....	46.00	Waynesboro, Pa. ....	50.00
Danville, Ohio ....	98.00	Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	81.00	Whittier, Calif. ....	240.05
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ....	250.00	Meyersdale, Pa. ....	69.00	Winchester, Va. ....	169.50
Everett, Pa. ....	12.00	Middlebranch, Ohio ....	31.00	Winona Lake, Ind. ....	115.50
Fillmore, Calif. ....	75.00	Modesto, Calif. ....	287.30	Winona Lake, Ind. (Special) ....	32.50
Findlay, Ohio ....	32.50	Mundy's Corner, Pa. ....	40.00	Yakima, Wash. ....	27.10
Fort Wayne, Ind. (Special) ....	20.00	New Troy, Mich. ....	108.00	Yellow Creek, Pa. ....	25.00
Garwin, Iowa ....	87.00	North English, Iowa ....	5.00	York, Pa. ....	33.00
Garwin, Iowa (Special) ....	10.00	Osceola, Ind. ....	20.00	Miscellaneous—
Grafton, W. Va. ....	40.00	Peru, Ind. ....	33.00	Building maint. (Winona Lake
Hagerstown, Md. ....	2.00	Philadelphia, Pa. (Third) ....	147.00	Brethren Church ....	500.00
Harrah, Wash. ....	36.00	Portland, Ore. ....	67.00	Isolated Brethren ....	53.00
Harrisburg, Pa. ....	31.04	Radford, Va. ....	28.00	Non-Brethren ....	268.05
Hollidaysburg, Pa. ....	50.00	Rittman, Ohio ....	381.50
Homerville, Ohio ....	15.00	Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) ....	588.00	Total .....	9,082.42

INTERFAITH HARMONY AND THE GOSPEL OF GRACE

Commentators on religious news have featured a story highlighted as an example of commendable interfaith cooperation. A piece of property in Toledo, Ohio, had been sought by the officials of a Jewish organization, B'nai Israel, and also by the officials of a Roman Catholic convent, as well as by the civic authorities of Toledo.

According to the commentators, the following amiable settlement was made, to the satisfaction of all concerned: The Jewish organization purchased the entire property at its own expense, but reserved for its own use only a smaller proportion of it. A much greater part was given to the Roman Catholic convent for the erection of a school. A third and smaller piece was donated to the city of Toledo for the construction of a playground. No fences are to separate the parcels of land, and the architecture is to be "harmonious."

While society in general will applaud this unusual gesture of good will, the evangelical Christian will observe that this cooperation between such widely differing religious organizations is not so extreme as at first it might be imagined. As long as salvation by the grace of God through the sacrifice of Jesus Christ is not preached, harmony between such religious groups might be preserved. When a man's works are treated as meritorious, the offense of the cross has ceased (Gal. 5:11).—S. Herbert Bess.

OFF-CENTERED THEOLOGY

In 1951 the Dominican Republic issued a stamp to raise funds for children's work, that pictured Christ seated with hand on the head of a child. Beneath the picture there was the Spanish inscription for "Suffer the little children to come." This was a touching scene. The stamp had a religious "flavor."

One thing marred it all. In large capitals above the picture were the words, "ERA DE TRUJILLO." With

GIFT FROM COLLEGIATE STUDENTS

In the accompanying picture, Prof. Ralph Gilbert is using one of the five new maps which have been purchased for the school and installed as a gift from the 1952 graduates of the collegiate division. These include maps of the world, Europe, the United States, Great Britain, and Palestine. They are fastened to permanently attached mountings in such a fashion that they may be removed and replaced by other maps, or moved for use in another classroom. The maps all roll down from the neat metal cases which protect them when they are not in use. The school is grateful for this very useful gift.

those words President Trujillo, the dictator of the Dominican Republic, was being praised. More important than the gospel invitation, "Come unto me," was a dissipated dictator!

What a graphic picture of the fact that even the Devil can quote Scripture. Unsaved men can be very "religious" and "pious" for their own ends. Truly the need is great to make known the fact that Christ is calling men to come to Him—children and adults alike—for Jesus will give them rest. His yoke is easy, yes, but better still, His yoke is good.—Ben Hamilton.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Mrs. Vinnie Burns, of Dayton, Ohio, and mother of Bro. Eugene Burns, Winona Lake, Ind., died April 11, with funeral services April 13.

Rev. Jerry Yerian, Los Angeles, preached at the Bellflower, Calif., church April 12. Pastor George M. Richardson ended his ministry there April 5, having served the church 6½ years.

The Central District has planned a youth rally for May 1-2 at the Osceola, Ind., church, where Ward Miller is pastor.

Mr. Fred Smith died March 23 and Mrs. Clara Vaught died March 30. Both of these were of the Whittier, Calif., First church.

The spring rally of the East District WMC is scheduled for May 7 at the Leamersville, Pa., church, pastored by Robert D. Crees. This church is substituting for Vicksburg, whose building burned recently.

The Philadelphia, Pa., First church, pastored by John M. Aeby, averaged 201 people in Sunday school the 1st quarter of 1953, an increase of 18 percent over the same quarter in 1952.

Mrs. Lutie Koontz, mother of Pastor Herman W. Koontz, is seriously ill in a hospital at Warsaw, Ind. Prayer is requested.

The Findlay, Ohio, church held special meetings March 30-April 12, with Rev. and Mrs. Iner Basinger in charge the first week, and Pastor Forest F. Lance doing the preaching the second week.

Pastor and Mrs. Gerald Teeter, Martinsburg, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter, Joy Annette, April 6.

Rev. Arthur F. Collins has resigned as pastor of the Berrien Springs, Mich., church effective April 30. His new address is Bible Book Center, 413 S. Michigan St., South Bend,

Ind. Phone 7-5587. (Change Annual, p. 67.)

The Leesburg, Ind., church, pastored by Nathan Meyer, had an average of 74 people in Bible school the 1st quarter of 1953. This church plans to support Mr. and Mrs. Tom Inman this summer as they work in the Brethren Spanish - American mission at Taos, N. Mex.

The Dayton, Ohio, Patterson Park church, pastored by Caleb S. Zimmerman, reached a new high in Sunday school attendance April 5 with 82 people present.

On Easter there were 232 people in Bible school, 273 in the morning service, and 263 in the evening service at the Wooster, Ohio, church, and the offerings totaled $1,548, according to Pastor Kenneth Ashman.

The Altoona, Pa., First church, pastored by Mark Malles, held its spring communion service April 5 with 86 participants.

The Winona Lake, Ind., church called Pastor Herman W. Koontz to serve for his 5th year there. Total receipts of this church for the 1st quarter of 1953 were $5,112.

Mrs. Jesse Hall, wife of the pastor of the Harrah, Wash., church, is ill in a Wapato, Wash., hospital and prayer is requested on her behalf.

The Sharpsville, Ind., church, according to Pastor Scott Weaver, had 108 people present Easter morning.

Bro. Samuel Brush, of the Berne, Ind., church, died March 26. Pastor Ord Gehman was in charge of the funeral.

The York, Pa., church had 60 people in Sunday school March 29, a record high for this mission point. The total offerings for the 6 months ending March 31 were $1,261, more than one-half of this being for God's work beyond the local church. Pastor Gerald Polman began a full-time ministry there April 1, having done manual labor for more than a year to support himself and family while starting this church.

The Clayton, Ohio, church, with the local Evangelical-United Brethren church, held an Easter sunrise service in a local park, with Pastor Clair Brickel preaching the sermon.

The Whittier, Calif., Community Brethren Church, organized less than 3 years and now fully self-supporting, had 520 people in the combined morning service Easter, 205 of them being adults. The pastor of the church, Wayne Flory, is soon leaving to become a chaplain in the U. S. Army.

The Conemaugh, Pa., church gave its pastor, Stanley F. Hauser, a call to continue as pastor, his 2d year, with an increase in salary.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bogue, of the Compton, Calif., church, died March 30.

Mrs. Hattie Bowser, one of the oldest faithful members of the Kittanning, Pa., First church, died on March 31. Warren E. Hooks, also of this church, died April 6 in a Veterans Administration hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio. Pastor Gordon W. Bracker was in charge of both funerals.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fiscus, of the Kittanning, Pa., First church, plan to spend their summer vacation helping the Horneys in vacation Bible school work in New Mexico.

Pastor Paul E. Dick has been called by the Winchester, Va., church to serve there for his 13th consecutive year.

Prof. John Whitcomb, of Grace Seminary, is at this time (April 14), confined to his bed with a severe case of measles.

Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind., is scheduled to speak at the Barnhart Community Church, Stewartsville, Va., April 29-May 1, and at the Anderson Street Church, Bristol, Tenn., May 3-8.

The attendance Easter morning at the Mansfield, Ohio, church was 504. This church recently bought a parsonage next door to the church building, and the pastor, Bernard Schneider, and family have moved into it. The address is 534 Forest St., Mansfield, Ohio, and the telephone number is 8731-6. (Change Annual, p. 71.)

The Conemaugh, Pa., Singer Hill church dedicated new hymnals on March 29. These were presented to the church by the Esther Bible class of the Sunday school. Kenneth Wilt is now pastoring this church. The Girl Haven Choir of Altoona is to present a musical program there the evening of April 26.

A LAND FLOWING WITH MILK AND HONEY

By Prof. John Rea, Winona Lake, Ind.

This is the 3d article from Brother Rea, who is engaged in a 4-month period of archeological study in Palestine and other Mediterranean Sea area countries.—Editor.

Many travelers to Palestine have been puzzled by the description of Canaan as a land flowing with milk and honey. To them the land given by God to His chosen people seems rocky and hilly and quite barren.

The Promise of God

Nevertheless, God's promise stands true when we understand it. "For Jehovah thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and springs, flowing forth in valleys and hills; a land of wheat and barley, and vines and fig-trees and pomegranates; a land of olive-trees and honey; a land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack anything in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig copper" (Deut. 8:7-9, ASV). Again we read: "The Lord sware unto your fathers to give unto them and to their seed, a land that floweth with milk and honey. For the land, whither thou goest in to possess it, is not as the land of Egypt, from whence ye came out, where thou sowedst thy seed, and wateredst it with thy foot, as a garden of herbs: but the land, whither ye go to possess it, is a land of hills and valleys, and drinketh water of the rain of heaven: a land which the Lord thy God careth for" (Deut. 11:9-12).

The Situation in Egypt

God led the children of Israel out of the country of the Nile into a land quite different from Egypt. During their 430 years in the land of their bondage, the descendants of Jacob became accustomed to the intensive cultivation of the narrow strip of land along the Nile and of the flat delta region with its sluggish rivers. In order to support the large population the Egyptians had to plow every square foot of soil that was flooded by the annual rising of the Nile and that could be irrigated by pumping the water from the river by foot. Egypt has no rain; its people have always been dependent on the Nile for water. All the watered earth was needed for growing food—wheat, rice, grapes, fruit, and vegetables—and cotton or flax for clothing. Consequently there was space for very few flowers, wild or cultivated. That meant few blossoms, few bees, and little honey.

It is true that the Israelites did have their own flocks in Goshen in the eastern part of the Nile delta. What cattle the Egyptians had, however, were sacred, to be worshiped as gods. The Tomb of the Sacred Bulls at Memphis, a tremendous underground cavern chiseled out of solid rock for a burial ground for 24 bulls, still shows to what extent they carried their worship. These beliefs and the lack of pasture lands meant that there were few cows, goats, and sheep to give milk. Egypt was not a land of milk and honey.

The Land of Promise

What a contrast, then, Canaan would be to the Israelites, waiting on the eastern side of the Jordan to cross over into the Promised Land. It was different both from Egypt and from Gilead, modern Transjordan. The latter, which they had just captured, is very hilly and rocky, with few trees and poor soil except in the narrow valleys. It is suitable only for pasture land, as Numbers 32:1, 4 indicate.

They were coming to settle a land which today still has a rainy season and mountain streams. The rocky fields and slopes are good for pasturage; many hillsides are covered with olive trees. Terraced orchards and vineyards dot the terrain. The fertile valleys at this time of year are green with young wheat and other grains. This is true not only in the coastal region belonging to the new state of Israel, but also in the valleys of Samaria cultivated by the Arab farmers of the Hashemite Kingdom of the Jordan. The plains of Jericho produce bananas, big juicy oranges, lemons, grapefruit, and dates.

Flocks of sheep and goats and herds of cows are everywhere. Often the road is blocked by sheep being led from one field to another. In the springtime thousands upon thousands of lovely wild flowers—red anemones, yellow and blue flowers—add their beauty to the roadside and to the rocky hills. These and the fruit-tree blossoms enable bees to produce much honey. In one little plot of ground along the road to modern Nablus, near ancient Samaria, we noticed 20 or 30 hives of bees. In contrast to Egypt, this land is definitely one flowing with milk and honey.

The Curse on Palestine

We must also remember that now Palestine is under a divine curse because of Jewish disobedience to God's commands (Deut. 28). How much better the earth must have been before the conquests of Nebuchadnezzar and Titus long ago and, more recently, 400 years of wasteful Turkish mismanagement until 1917. The successive conquerors practically stripped the hills of their trees; the Turks even imposed such a stiff tax on fruit and olive trees that their owners were forced to cut them down. Now the country of Jordan is unable to support its 500,000 refugees from Israel.

The Lesson for Christians

Someday soon, though, our Saviour shall return as King. Then the land shall be glad and blossom abundantly as the rose. To it shall be given the glory of Lebanon with its cedars (Isa. 35:1-2).

Until then we need to heed the warning given to Israel as they were about to cross over into the land of milk and honey: "Beware lest thou forget Jehovah thy God, in not keeping his commandments . . . lest, when . . . thy silver and thy gold is multiplied . . . thou say in thy heart, My power and the might of my hand hath gotten me this wealth. But thou shalt remember Jehovah thy God, for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth" (Deut. 8:11-18, ASV).

THE OTHER SIDE

"There's a great big tear on your cheek, Paul Kent. Where did it come from?"

Ever quick to detect the moods of her "church son," Mrs. Mills whispered this question in the ears of the 5-year-old. Since this family moved to Roanoke, Kent has been the particular charge of "Mills" (as he affectionately calls her) each Sunday in church. A reciprocal love has grown between the two.

"I've been cryin'," he whispered. "Mommy pushed me down on the floor." More tears pushed their way like diamonds down his pink cheeks as he recounted his tale of woe. "Mommy pushed me and I fell on the floor," he continued. "Then she told me to get up and sit on the white chair."

"That's too bad, Paul Kent," Mrs. Mills sympathized. "Were you a naughty boy?"

"No; I didn't do anything. Mama just pushed me down. It's not nice for mamas to push their little boys to the floor, is it?"

"I guess it isn't." This mother-at-heart had to tread carefully lest she become unduly involved. After all, Kent's mother doesn't make a practice of throwing her children around. If the lad's story is true—and there must be some basis for his tale—there is an explanation.

"It's not nice for mamas to push their little boys down." Kent pressed the theme of his story further as he felt the assurance of "Mills'" understanding. "Mama is a big lady and I'm a little boy. Jesus doesn't want her to push me down."

Now church had started and the story was done. A grieved lad didn't look up to Mother in the choir with his usual grin that morning.

By the time dinner was on the table Kent's grief seemed to have been assuaged. Mother and son were on friendly terms again. The unhappy incident of the morning was forgotten in the pleasure of some lovely music, a story, and a walk. At bedtime Mother never tucked a sweeter boy under the covers.

At the close of the evening service Mrs. Mills smilingly asked, "Say, what did you do to my boy this morning?"

"What did I do?" Mother asked.

"I saw tears on his cheeks and asked him why they were there. He told me you pushed him down on the floor, then made him get up and sit on the white chair till time to come to church. He asked me if I didn't think it was naughty for big mamas to push their little boys down. He almost convinced me of mistreatment with his story and tears," Mrs. Mills laughingly concluded.

At the recital of the story, a flood of remembrance swept over Mother. What a morning that had been! About an hour before church time all of Satan's imps seemed to have been let loose to possess some of the children. David just would not scrub those potatoes. He had to finish making his bed, dress, and comb his hair, didn't he? (He did all that and scrubbed the potatoes, but Mother lost some very precious time in using the pressure of the right kind of persuation on him.) Sharon was tired of doing the dishes. The curlers had to be taken out of her hair. Why can't Dorotheann help? All she has to do is straighten the girls' room and beds, carry any and all soiled clothes to the hamper, help dress the baby, and in general be Mother's "right-hand man."

"Don't worry about Dorotheann, young lady," a harried Mother commanded. "She has more than enough to do. Watch your own knitting."

"Aren't my new blue trousers shortened yet?" a perturbed Bill inquired. "I don't like the press in these grey trousers at all."

"Press them yourself after this," snapped Mother. "I don't get my own clothes pressed." Tears sprang unbidden to her eyes. "Dear Lord, give me grace. Prepare me somehow through all this confusion for the message my heart needs. And help me to understand Billy's boy-heart. He is so precious. Ever since Bob has been confined to bed, Bill has waited on him hand and foot whenever he's home. Bob's illness has woven a web around them.

"And, dear Father, be very real to Bob on this another Lord's Day when he can't go to Thy house. Sometimes I can hardly stand it when I look around to check on all my lambs and his dear face is missing. I can't understand why he has to be laid aside for so long a time. Neither does he understand, Lord, but we do trust Thee."

Yes, preparations for church attendance were trying this day. Mother knew the only reason she hadn't given up and stayed home was because of God's grace operating in her heart. There never has been a trial too great for His dear love to bear.

At this end of the day the problems of the morning took on a new perspective. With a smile, Mother told Mrs. Mills the story back of Kent's tears. While she had been changing Bob's bed and getting him ready for the day, Kent had taken Althea's purse from her. This caused our "bundle of dynamite" to explode. The air was getting thick between the youngsters when Dorotheann stepped in to settle them and retrieve Althea's purse. Since this was not to Kent's liking, he decided to fix his older sister. Mother came on the scene just in time to see him raise his foot to kick Dorotheann. With unexpected swiftness Mother caught his leg so he could not kick. The force of the impact made the 5-year-old lose his balance and fall.

The air was sharp with screams from a boy whose plans for revenge had been frustrated. Mother told him to dry it up and sit on the chair and "don't move till I tell you."

"That's my story, Mrs. Mills. There are always 2 sides to a story."

"I knew there had to be another side to Kent's story, but I had to tease you a little."

There's another side to life's story, too. God stooped down to man's need and wrought his redemption. In his willful blindness man has kicked God's gift around, thinking to wrest his destiny out of God's hand. But judgment will come as surely as night follows day. In that day God's side of the story and how you responded to His love-gift will be all that matters. If you've been kicking His offer around and crying tears of self-pity, stop NOW and realize your lost condition. "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2).

McCLAIN, BAUMAN TO SPEAK AT ACCC CONVENTION

Dr. Alva J. McClain and Dr. Paul R. Bauman, president and vice president, respectively, of Grace Theological Seminary, are listed among the scheduled speakers for the spring convention of the American Council of Christian Churches.

This convention will be held at Sagmount, Joplin, Mo., April 29-May 1. The general theme is "The Changeless, Inspired, and Infallible Word of God." Dr. W. W. Breckbill, president, will preside at the business sessions.

Dr. Bauman is to speak on the afternoon of April 29 on "The Fulfilled Prophecies of the Bible." Dr. McClain will speak at the evening session of the same day on "The Inspiration of the Bible."

Other speakers for the 3-day conference include Rev. W. O. H. Garman, Dr. Allan A. MacRae, Dr. David Otis Fuller, and Dr. Carl McIntire.

This convention will be followed by a 1-week "School of the Prophets," May 2-9, at the same place.

ZEOLI GOES TO EUROPE

Evangelist Anthony Zeoli, widely known as "the walking Bible," recently went to Europe to preach the Gospel. He plans to hold "crusade campaigns" in Rome and Florence, Italy; Geneva, Switzerland; Paris, France; Glasgow, Scotland; Belfast, Ireland; and London, England.

Zeoli was won to the Saviour in Eastern State Penitentiary in Philadelphia 30 years ago. Since then he has preached in various parts of the United States. Now, at the insistence of Youth for Christ International, he has gone to Europe to hold evangelistic meetings. He plans to return in time for the anniversary services of his home church, the Church of the Open Door of Philadelphia, June 10-14.

HERALD GIVES PERSPECTIVE

"I am enclosing check for $4 in payment of renewal subscription for 2 years.

"While I am a member of another denomination I enjoy your publication, since it aids me in maintaining a true perspective of what our Lord and Saviour died for and what He expects of believers. (Signed) H. L. Hosler, San Francisco, Calif."

Easter Among the Russian Molokans

By Rev. Jack Green

Director of the Young Russian Christian Association, Los Angeles, Calif.

This was undoubtedly my happiest Easter. In 15 years among the Russian people I have never seen such a demonstration, especially among the older-young parents (ages 35-40). There is a growing hunger among them for the Living Word.

Much time and work had been put into our first Easter play by our director of Christian education and her helpers. Our first choir to sing regular American hymns had been formed. Each of the 5 divisions of the YRCA had a part in the program.

What to expect? We had printed on special Easter bulletin paper 80 programs, others on plain paper—"just in case." For Russian Easter chi (tea) we had planned for 75-100.

Those who came on time could not find seats. Every bench and chair that could be squeezed into the auditorium was filled. Children that finished their parts in the program were ushered out and the older ones took the seats. People crowded the doorways; the nursery above the auditorium was filled with grown-ups; and more than 50 mingled around outside because there was no more room inside. The chi? Every available table was used. My heart was really full, and I was glad I had no part in the program, as I hadn't even anticipated being able to attend.

Seven parents came and asked me when we were starting a Bible class for their age. One lady said she had 4 other couples lined up and waiting. What a challenge! Our problem—when to have it and who to teach it.

Here is your part, friends! Pray that the Lord will give me sufficient health and strength to put full effort into this work and also in the work we plan to start in Mexico this summer.

Rev. Jack Green

IT IS NOT DEATH TO DIE

It is not death to die,
For sons of God on high;
It is but sleep, for God doth keep
That soul: it shall not die!

Though mortals weep below
When friended ones must go;
'Tis heav'n to gain, and e'er to reign
With Christ, whom men must know.

We see the vacant chair
Of him who oft was there.
But our Lord Christ prepares a tryst
Upon the golden stair!

O, sinner, see the bliss
Of him who now we miss.
God gave His Son that you might not
"The Way" to heaven miss!

—Charles Bergerson.

HERALD HELPS TO BRIDGE GAP

"We are indeed sorry for the delay in mailing our subscription for the Herald. Our address has been changed. We live in Florida.

"The Lord willing, we pray there will soon be a Brethren church here in the South. We enjoy the Herald very much and will look forward even more to receiving it since we are away from our home church. (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hesse, Pensacola, Fla.

NO BOREDOM IN LOVE

An old Scotch woman who was alone for the greater part of the day was asked, "What do you do during the day?"

"Well," she said, "I get my hymn book and I have a little hymn of praise to the Lord. Then," she added, "I get the Bible and let the Lord speak to me. When I am tired of reading, and I cannot sing any more, I just sit still and let the Lord love me."—Missionary Digest.

Uniontown, Pennsylvania

A Back-to-the-Bible revival campaign was held in the Uniontown, Pa., church March 9-22. It was a real joy to work with the Brethren there.

Preparation for revival was evidenced. Unsaved people were present at almost all the services. There were 8 first-time decisions to accept Christ as Saviour, 6 of these being young married people. There were also several rededication-of-life decisions and confessions of sin.

It was good to see the saints in full support of the pastor. The existing condition of this church is a healthy one and will undoubtedly result in much fruit-bearing in the days ahead.—Russell H. Weber, evangelist.

This church enjoyed a good revival campaign March 9-22 with Pastor Russell H. Weber, of Harrisburg, Pa., as the evangelist.

The general attendance was fine, with an average of 110 for the 2 weeks. Brother Weber presented practical back-to-the-Bible messages that created interest. He also spoke twice on the Gospel Truth radio program from our church.

Our pastor, Clyde K. Landrum, was in charge of the music and had special numbers each night.

There were 8 first-time decisions and several rededications, for which we praise the Lord.

On Easter we had 309 people in Sunday school, a new record for us, 296 in morning worship, and 196 in evening service. Two young married people received the Saviour and one came for rededication.—Leona Coffin, corresponding secretary.

Clay City, Indiana

It was the writer's happy privilege to be used of the Lord in a revival effort at the Clay City church, where Bro. Ralph Burns, a recent graduate of Grace Seminary, is pastor.

Clay City is far removed from other Brethren churches, yet it was

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Camden, Ohio....	April 12-26.....	Robert Betz.....	Ward Miller.
Yakima, Wash....	April 12-26.....	Russell Williams..	Robert Ashman.
Harrisburg, Pa... April 13-26.....	Russell Weber....	Clyde Landrum.
Dayton, Ohio
(First) .....	April 19-26.....	William Steffler..	Paul Bauman.
Tracy, Calif.....	April 19-26.....	William Clough...	Harold Painter.
Phoenix, Ariz....	April 26-May 17	J. C. McKillen...	R. Paul Miller.
South Bend, Ind..	April 26.....	Russell Ogden....	Herman Hoyt.
Warsaw, Ind.....	April 26.....	Charles Horne....	John Whitcomb.
Waterloo, Iowa... April 26.....			Dr. Homer Kent.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) .....	April 28-May 10	Robert Miller.....	Bern'd Schneider.
Leamersville, Pa. May 1.....		Robert Crees.....	Percy Crawford.
New Troy, Mich.. May 3.....		Richard Jackson..	John Whitcomb.
Yellow Creek, Pa. May 10.....		Sheldon Snyder...	Gerald Smelser.

ready for a heaven-sent revival. The attendance average for the 1st week was 68 and for the 2d week it was 76. This is a good average for a church with a membership of less than 80.

It was my privilege years ago to baptize the Burns and receive them into the membership of the Philadelphia, Pa., Third church. It was good to be in their home and also to see how they are gaining the confidence and love of the people in Clay City.—William A. Steffler, evangelist.

The blessing of the Lord has been on the First Brethren Church of Clay City during the 2-week (March 9-22) revival campaign with Pastor William A. Steffler, Dayton, Ohio. There were 10 first-time public confessions of faith in the Saviour and 3 rededications.

Preceding the service each evening Mrs. Burns and Carolyn Oberholtzer conducted children's meetings with an average of 16 boys and girls.

In the past 3 months 9 people have been received into church membership on confession of faith and baptism and 2 by letter.

Six months ago Mrs. Burns started a Happy Hour Bible club with 6 children. There are now 27 members in the club.

The Brethren Youth Fellowship has grown to the place where we had to divide it into 2 groups.

There were 93 people present for the Easter morning service and more than 100 in the evening service.—Ralph Burns, pastor.

Dayton, Ohio (Bethany)

March 29 was a red-letter day for Bethany. A young couple was baptized in an afternoon service, and in the evening 3 people received the Saviour, 3 came for membership, pending the reception of letters from another church, and 2 made public rededications.

Bro. Don Talbert was in charge of the midweek service April 1 while Pastor and Mrs. John Evans were on a short trip to South Carolina.

On Easter our Sunday-school attendance was 81. Following the morning service we had an egg hunt for the children.

Our congregation voted to begin work on a new auditorium and additional rooms for Sunday-school classes.

We covet the prayers of God's people for our work in this part of His vineyard.—Doris Hapner, secretary.

Conemaugh, Pennsylvania

Since January 1 our church has had a visitation program which the Lord has blessed in creating new interest in our church and Sunday school.

During this time 4 people received the Saviour and joined the church following baptism, 5 came into membership by letter, and 5 others made public rededications.

On Easter we had a fine attendance at the sunrise service. Miss Ruth Snyder, member of this church and now home on furlough from missionary work in Africa, spoke at the morning worship service. Her brother, Rev. Blaine Snyder, assistant business manager of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, also took part in this worship service.

In the evening of Easter Day 116 people participated in one of the best-attended communion services ever held in this church.—Stanley F. Hauser, pastor.

Chambersburg, Pennsylvania (Pond Bank)

The Lord is working in a real way here and is building up a Brethren church in this community.

On March 18 we baptized 8 people, using the baptistry of the Waynesboro church. These were later received into church membership, and others are awaiting baptism and membership.

Just recently we had the privilege of leading 2 young fathers to the Saviour, their wives having previously accepted Christ. We have been praying for men and the Lord is adding to the church those of His own choosing.

There have been real blessings in the work, as well as some heartaches. Pray for this field, this church, and for us that we will always seek Christ's glory and the salvation of souls.—Edward Clark, pastor.

Troy, Ohio

The Lord has blessed us here at Troy. We reached our goal of 100 in Sunday school on Easter Day.

We had a sunrise service this year with Rev. Arthur Carey as the speaker. This was followed by a breakfast at the church for all who attended the sunrise service.

Already we have exceeded our foreign-mission goal, which will give us the largest offering in the history of the church for this cause.

On April 1 we held our spring communion service with 23 people in attendance.—Blanche Garber, reporter.

Berne, Indiana

The Bethel Brethren Church held special meetings February 22-March 15 with Evangelist Patrick Henry, Memphis, Tenn., as the preacher. The campaign was planned for a duration of 2 weeks, but the Spirit compelled us to continue another week.

The campaign began with a fine

Additions to Membership

Chambersburg, Pa. (Pond Bank)	8
Clay City, Ind. ....	11
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	9
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ....	8
Kittanning, Pa. (First) ....	4
Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	14
Long Beach, Calif. (Paramount) .	9
Modesto, Calif. (La Loma) ....	8
Phoenix, Ariz. ....	7

Public Confessions

Bellflower, Calif. ....	1
Berne, Ind. ....	11
Chambersburg, Pa. (Pond Bank)	2
Clay City, Ind. ....	3
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	5
Phoenix, Ariz. ....	2

Dedication of Babies

Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	9
Wooster, Ohio ....	2

spirit of prayer and continued that way throughout the 3 weeks. We have been here 6 years and yet we never before saw so many unsaved people attend the services as came during this campaign.

There were 11 first-time confessions of faith, and numerous other decisions by people who already knew Christ as Saviour.

It was a pleasure to work with Brother Henry, both in and out of the pulpit. He worked willingly and faithfully, being a very congenial yokefellow.

Much remains to be done in this field and we ask the Brethren to remember us in prayer.—Ord Gehman, pastor.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (First)

We praise God for one of the greatest Easter Sundays we have seen in Kittanning. The sunrise service was attended by the largest number of people to ever attend a sunrise service here, and a fine play was presented.

The Sunday school had 299 people present, with the young married people's class carrying the banner with 80 of these.

The worship service was attended by 175 people and was broadcast, which is usual for our Sunday-morning services.

The Easter program was witnessed by 279 people in the evening, at the close of which Mrs. Bracker and the pastor were surprised with the gift of a beautiful quilt, which Mrs. Bracker had unwittingly helped to make.

Four people were received into membership and the offerings totaled almost $900 during the day.—Gordon W. Bracker, pastor.

Jenners, Pennsylvania

The Lord has been blessing the Jenners Brethren Church.

The pastor held special Easter services April 3-5 which were well-attended. Saturday evening was youth night, featuring the Maranatha Quartet of our Martinsburg, Pa., church, and was attended by 145 people. An extra offering was received Friday and Saturday nights for foreign missions, amounting to $51.48.

An Easter sunrise service was held with 76 present; and our Sunday-school attendance reached 151.

During the 1st quarter of 1953 a total of $526 was received for our building program. This was $100 in excess of the amount given during the previous quarter. All of this was given by the local people.

The men of the church spent many hours during the quarter in completely redecorating the basement of our building. So much enthusiasm has been created among the men because of the work done that they are going to continue the work on the upper auditorium, as the Lord provides the funds.

Pray with us that God will bless our new emphasis on the building program, for we greatly need a place to worship the Lord here in Jenners.—Victor S. Rogers, pastor.

Hagerstown, Maryland

On March 29 there were 423 in Bible school, 242 in morning service, and 159 in evening service. On Easter the corresponding records were 510, 324, and 210, and 110 attended the sunrise service. The 2 corresponding midweek services were attended by 95 and 142.

On the afternoon of April 12 this church, with the Waynesboro, Pa., church and with the approval of the district mission board, sponsored a "Family Altar" radio rally in Chambersburg, Pa. The purpose was to see what interest exists in that city for a Brethren church.—Selected from bulletin of Hagerstown church.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Four Years of College Now Offered At Grace Theological Seminary

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Dean

Unanimous approval of the board of trustees of Grace Theological Seminary launches 4 years of collegiate training in the field of liberal arts. The 3d year is to be added to the already existing 2 years of college training in the fall of 1953, and the 4th year will be added in the fall of 1954. This will enable high-school graduates to pursue a course of study through 4 years in the college division and receive a bachelor of arts degree at the conclusion.

This decision was reached after 5 years' experience with the 2-year collegiate course. During that time more than 100 students have received training, and many have expressed the desire to complete their college training at Grace. Students will not need to go elsewhere now before entering the seminary division. In the good providence of God, the Lord has opened the way for enlarging the liberal arts training to 4 years under a competent and spiritual leadership.

It will now be possible for students to receive the same training as in other liberal arts colleges. But added to the competent instruction under capable teachers will be the high spiritual leadership of faculty members who are not only prepared in the field in which they teach, but also in the field of Biblical scholarship. The policy of the school is to insist on theological training for its teachers as well as academic training.

It will be possible for students to major in Archeology,

Bible, English, Greek, History, Linguistics, and Philosophy. Minors may be taken in many fields such as Modern Languages, Music, Psychology, Science, and Sociology. Various combinations of these will provide ample background for those who desire to enter the seminary or who may desire to pursue further study in another field at some university.

Marked advantages will accrue to students here because of a student body sufficiently small to allow for congenial relations and intimate touch with the faculty. Opportunity is provided for students to engage in extra-curricular activities, practical Christian work, and cultural advantages. A daily chapel service designed to meet the spiritual needs of student body and faculty, and a determined effort to maintain a prayer-charged environment constitute only several features of the school atmosphere.

The cost of living is comparatively low, and for those who need employment, there are excellent opportunities in both Winona Lake and the bordering town of Warsaw.

Brethren pastors are urged to send the names of high-school students graduating this spring, who are interested in attending college. Students are encouraged to write for catalog and further information to Dr. Homer A. Kent, Registrar of Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind. Students desiring to transfer from other colleges are also urged to write for information.

Students in the College Division of Grace Theological Seminary, 1952-53.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard
Editor, Foreign Mission Number

With Joy My Heart Is Ringing!

Joy from personal salvation comes first! Then the fine reports which have been coming from our various Brethren pastors with respect to the foreign-mission offering add to that joy. It is too early to begin to estimate totals in the offering, or to evaluate the situation with respect to the sending out of additional missionaries. One thing does bring rejoicing to us, however, and that is the assuring cooperation given by pastors and people alike in the foreign-mission enterprise.

In most of our churches only one-third to one-half of the foreign-mission offering is received by the close of the Easter Sunday services. But to date the reports are of gain in offerings all along the line. When the other one-half to two-thirds of the offering is completed, we believe that the amounts received will be just the amounts the Lord knows are necessary for His work for this year. Usually churches will continue to urge toward the goal of gifts through the last Sunday in May, and then send the offering and the complete list of all donors to our foreign mission office during the first week in June.

Tailoring to the Cloth

We desire to remind our Brethren people again that money reserves for our foreign mission work will be practically gone by the end of this fiscal year. These reserves came during the years when our people gave generously and few missionaries were sent to the field. Your foreign board believed that those funds were given to get the Gospel out, and that missionaries should be sent out with the message. This we have sought to do judiciously and prayerfully. But now we will be able to send additional missionaries only as there are additional funds to care for them. We must tailor our foreign mission garments to the cloth supplied to us.

COVER PAGE

Our cover this month pictures the Plaza Congress, Buenos Aires, Argentina

—Courtesy of H. Armstrong Roberts—

20 New Missionaries This Year

As these editorial notes are being written, 16 missionaries have already embarked on missionary careers during this fiscal year. Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise plan to fly to Honolulu on May 8, and Rev. and Mrs. Victor Meyers and family will probably sail for Argentina early in June. Thus a total of 20 will have begun missionary service during this present fiscal year. We rejoice at the blessing, but we tremble at the responsibility. The responsibilities are the responsibilities of all of us and of each one of us. The missionaries can serve only in their places as we care for our responsibilities here. Pray God that we and they will prove faithful.

How Many Minutes Will You Take?

A month ago we mentioned that for a sum so small as $25 one might support our whole foreign mission program with all 87 missionaries for 1 minute, and that for such a gift probably 1 person would come to know Jesus Christ as personal Saviour. That is on the basis of our records for last year. How many minutes will you take?

But, someone might say, that's terribly expensive! Would you have the courage to investigate your total expenditures in your local congregation last year. (foreign missions excluded), and then determine the total number in your congregation who accepted the Lord Jesus Christ and gave any evidence of the new birth? I invite you to do it; then, by simple arithmetic, determine just what it cost in your local congregation to win one soul to Jesus Christ. I have no doubt that you will, by so doing, be convinced that foreign missions offers an avenue for the wise expenditure of the Lord's money.

Problems in Solution

We so greatly appreciate the many people who have been praying for the solution of our many problems in relation to our work in Baja California. Our missionaries have been exploring every possibility. Dr. Charles W. Mayes, Rev. Glenn O'Neal, and your general secretary have visited the field and counseled with the workers. It is too early to report in any detail, but suffice it to say at the present time the Lord has been working for us, and most of our problems seem to be well on the way to a solution. Just thank God with us, and keep on praying. We are more convinced than ever that the Lord has entrusted to the Brethren Church a very large share in the evangelization of the 275,000 people living in Baja California.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

Brethren, Pray for Us!

A trite saying, yes, but we repeat it: Brethren, pray for us! In recent messages your general secretary has referred a number of times to the very challenging verses in Colossians 4:2-3—"Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving; withal praying also for us, that God would open unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ." God has opened the door of utterance—in 6 fields, in many different areas—but the need is still that you will be "praying also for us."

I think I know the missionaries—they need your support in financial ways—but if you asked them for the one thing they would desire that you do for them (if you could do only one thing), they would say, "BRETHREN, PRAY FOR US." Let this be the plea of those who go and of those who send them.

EASTER OFFERING REPORTS

Financial report blanks for use in reporting the Easter offering have been sent to all pastors and churches. Be sure to contact our foreign mission office if you did not receive your supply.

Your Easter offering and report should reach our office by June 1, 1953, or as soon as possible thereafter. Such must arrive by June 15, 1953, in order to be counted as part of the foreign mission offering for this fiscal year.

Send all reports to the foreign mission office, addressing them as follows: Miss Ruth E. Reddick, P. O. Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind. Please make all checks, money orders, etc., payable to The Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church.

DO YOU FEEL THE DARKNESS?

By Mrs. Roy Snyder, Bouca, Africa

In the bush village of Marze, the village at the end of the road, the rest house is up on a hill overlooking the village. One night before crawling under our mosquito nets to sleep we stood looking out over the village. Here and there a fire was burning, but all else was darkness. Here and there a few natives were talking, a child was crying, someone was pounding grain—then there was stillness! Night in an African village! Yes, one can feel the darkness.

As we stood looking and listening, I thought: What a picture of Africa! Physically speaking it's a dark continent, but more than that, the people are in spiritual darkness. As I saw a fire burning here and there, I was reminded of the few natives here and there in the various villages who have received Christ and been born anew. They are lights in the midst of darkness. We do praise the Lord for them, but how few they seem and how weak their light in the midst of such darkness! How we need to reach more with the gospel of light—that light which is able to lead them out of darkness.

Pray for us, especially during this dry season, as we visit the villages, live among the people, and give the Word to them. Pray for our native leaders and preachers, that they will be faithful in giving out the Word day by day, for we know "it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Pray for the believers, that they may have a testimony before their brethren, that their lights may shine brightly, that they may have a zeal to win others, that they may stand faithful in the face of temptation, and that they may grow in grace. Particularly do they need our prayers for steadfastness in temptation. Material possessions and worldly pleasures, here as well as in the homeland, are calling loudly for followers.

Here in the Bouca district temptation is coming from another source these days and trying our Christians severely. Those in authority are using many ways and methods to disrupt the Lord's work. They are ridiculing the Christians, laughing at their faith, denying Christ, and trying to plant all sorts of doubts in their minds. Many are standing true, however, and we praise the Lord for them, but some are weak and when temptation comes from such high places they fall.

The battle against evil and the evil one is great these days. How glad we are that we're on the Lord's side—the winning side. "Greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world." Christ is our commander-in-chief. We're in the battle for Him—yea, on the firing line. One of these days soon—oh, happy day—the battle will be over, the victory won, and He'll claim His own!

Fellow Christians, are you having a part in the battle out here? Can you, too, feel the darkness? You can help to dispel it with your prayers, your encouragement, and your offerings.

Bro. Roy Snyder and a group of native
Christian leaders.

CLEANSING THE LEPERS

By Miss Marybeth Munn, Beandje, Africa

Perhaps many of you are wondering just how we are treating the lepers and how many we are reaching now. We are using the new sulfone drugs almost exclusively. These are in pill form, so they are painlessly and quickly given. There have been some remarkable changes in many of the patients after just a few months' treatment.

One woman formerly had lost her voice; she could speak in only a high-pitched squeak. Now her voice is gradually coming back to her and the first words I heard her speak were, "Oh thank you, Lord." One young man had nodules that made him hideous to look upon. His face was covered with these big lumps. The nodules have nearly disappeared and his face is becoming smoother. Others had large raised bronze spots over their foreheads extending over the eyes and to the upper lip in a diamond shape. Most of these are nearly gone, too. Though we are very encouraged, and the patients are even more encouraged, we realize that the medicine is still very new and the future is uncertain. We have noticed that the greatest and most spectacular changes come in the first 6 months. After that the progress seems to be slower.

We treat the 71 patients in our Beandje family every day, but this is impossible for the local lepers as they come for miles. So every Wednesday we have the outpatient day. There are 175 patients who come on this day, but still there are many more in this area who live too far to walk here even once a week. So this year we have been driving out to meet them. On Monday morning we go 30 miles in the direction of Laka land. We have 60 who meet us there. Some of them walk 30 miles or farther to receive this help.

Native nurses and the little red pickup at Beandje, the leper village.

On Monday afternoon we go down near Paoua. Here we treat 70 lepers. If you could come with us just once to see the faces of some of these poor people, it would be an experience you, too, would not soon forget. At Beandje we have the catechists and Christians who are mostly young and in the first stages of leprosy. But these poor people are not only torn by the ravages of sickness, but also by sin. We open the Word to them each time and try to point them to Jesus the Saviour, for we know that if only their bodies are helped we have not done all that we have come to do.

Leprosy is certainly no respecter of persons. Among those who come to us, perhaps one-fifth are children. We have 2 canton chiefs who have just developed the disease, and many of the patients are children or close relatives of these or other chiefs. We have several educated patients and one chauffeur. We have rich men and poor men, good men and bad, young and old.

When we first started our work among these ordinary villagers, they were the butt of ridicule for well people as well as to other lepers. The taunt was that nothing could be done for this disease. Hadn't their fathers, for generations, tried to cut off the spots, burn off the spots, and heal the spots with hoodoo, all in vain? But now not a Monday passes without new patients coming to be enrolled with the others. They have seen the results of just 6 months of treatment, so have stopped their mocking and are coming for help, too. Continue to pray that this work among these poor unfortunates might bring forth much fruit to His glory.

MISSIONARY MATHEMATICS

There are 2,400,000,000 people in the world.
Over half of them have never heard the name of Jesus.

• • •

There are 300 million Roman Catholics; 130 million Orthodox Catholics; 200 million Protestants.

• • •

There are 310 million Confucianists and Taoists; 300 million Moslems; 300 million Hindus; 140 million Buddhists; 130 million Animists; 30 million Shintoists; and 12 million Jews.

• • •

Every Moslem is a missionary. Roman Catholics have 85,000 missionaries, while Protestants have 27,000—but only 22,000 are active.

• • •

Nearly half of all Protestant missionaries are in Africa.

• • •

Every day 230,000 babies are born; there are 170,000 deaths every 24 hours. Thus the world's population increases 60,000 souls a day. Of those who die daily, over 100,000 die without any knowledge of Christ whatsoever.

—India's Challenge.

More About the New Work in Buenos Aires, Argentina

By Solon W. Hoyt

(This concludes the article which began in the April 4 issue of the Herald.)

In our short time here we had been able to enter into conversation frequently with a man and his wife who operate a vegetable market. Several times I mentioned the fact that we were expecting to have tent meetings as soon as possible. They immediately manifested curiosity. With this slight encouragement, I mentioned that we expected to have a D. V. B. S. also, and their 2 children seemed to be delighted. Later they asked me more about the D. V. B. S., seemingly becoming anxious that we have it soon. Considering this evident interest, we invited their children, together with a couple of others, to our house for a little class on Sundays. We didn't invite many, for we just wanted to feel our way a bit longer. After the second class, one boy asked Mrs. Hoyt what she would teach after she finished the lessons on the wordless book. He breathed a sigh of relief as she showed him a drawer filled with lessons, and he said: "I'm so glad because I like these very much." (That boy stepped out like a man in the tent meeting and accepted the Lord.)

The children were questioned and cross-questioned when they got home to find out what they had been taught. The parents thus became interested even to the point of learning the choruses we had taught them.

"I Want to See Buenos Aires Before I Die"

We have imagined this to be the desire of the Bible coach ('29 Model A) as it crept along the highway carrying the tent and equipment as well as 4 passengers for the first tent meeting in this area. In spite of its good intentions, its age greatly limits its possibilities. We hadn't gone but about 90 miles when we had motor trouble. This delayed us some 10 hours and thus the whole trip took some 32 hours. Even the poorest sense of humor would have appreciated the sight of this antiquated vehicle, with its 4 passengers almost one upon the other, as it creaked into the capital city of Argentina.

Someone Must Be Praying

Twenty days before the date for the tent meetings I

A group of Sunday school children at the Hoyt home.

"WHEN WILL YOU HAVE
THE
D. V. B. S.
MEETING?
I WANT TO COME!"

had presented the necessary petitions for a lot, use of the public-address system, police authorization, and so on. As the days passed by without any answer whatsoever, I wondered many times whether I should make that long trip from Rio Cuarto to Buenos Aires with the Bible coach and equipment without previous authorizations. Nevertheless, feeling fully confident that the Lord would answer, even if it were "in the nick of time," we made the trip. The day came for the tent meetings and still no authorization from the police, nor electricity. But in the afternoon, all within an hour we received the permission from the chief of police and a neighbor consented to our securing electricity from him. Yes, someone was praying. In fact, I know you folks at home have been praying for this new undertaking, and the believers throughout the mission here seem to have a special burden for the new work in Buenos Aires.

The entire campaign seemed to be owned of the Lord. There was a consciousness on the part of all who had a part that the Holy Spirit was working. There were no great crowds, but those in attendance were consistent. There were no great preachers nor attractive programs, but the Gospel was given forth simply night after night. There were no sudden nor unusual manifestations on the part of the listeners, but there seemed to be a growing interest and conviction. No invitation was given until the next to the last night—we wanted to give the people as much time as possible to understand the Gospel. When the invitation was given, a goodly number responded. We say frankly that we do not believe that some of these knew what they were doing. However, we do believe that some passed from death unto life. In the last analysis, however, we choose to allow time to give the final verdict.

"Pastor, Can You Direct Us to a Good Church?"

Several nights before the meetings closed, I was asked

(Continued on Page 287)

Foreign Missionary Editor's Mail Box

Macapa, Brazil—

A letter, dated April 4, just arrived from the John Teeter family as this material was being prepared for the Herald. We know you will enjoy hearing from our newest missionary family on the field, so quote as follows: "To say that we're thrilled with the prospects of the field would be to put it mildly! Our hearts ache, though, as we see the need before us and know so few words of the people's language. We are to start Portuguese lessons this Monday morning with one of the professors from the school here, and are anxious to get under way.

"We had a very delightful trip down. We had one rather bad experience (that is, Jack did), in that the first morning out he got quite seasick and, being up on the deck, he leaned over the rail and commenced to feed the fishes! That part wasn't so bad, except that he fed his partial plate of dentures to the fish, as well as his breakfast! So the rest of the trip he spent minus his 3 front teeth, but plus a very noticeable lisp! The Lord gave several good contacts aboard ship despite this handicap, however, for which we were very thankful. I was the only woman on board and hence stayed pretty close to the cabin with the baby.

"We arrived Saturday afternoon, March 14, in Belem, and Keith Altig, Jack Zielasko, and Eddie Miller were all there to give us a royal reception. We spent a week there in Icoraci before flying on over here to Macapa. I guess we got through customs easier than any of our predecessors.

"Jack flew up to Mazagao with Eddie (Bro. Edward Miller) Thursday and they had a good meeting there that night. All in all, we are very encouraged with the field and are looking forward to great things from the hand of the One who has sent us here to this needy field. Do pray for us as we start the language, for we feel so incapable."

Nzoro, Africa—

It does not take long after furlough for one to get back into the swing of things again on the field, as indicated in a recent letter from Miss Estella Myers. "Well, I am glad to be back home again and am feeling very well for me. The trip inland was hard. We have been busy fixing up roofs for the rainy season and fixing up the old dispensary. The medical work has been heavy—several burn cases and accidents from bicycles, in addition to the usual ailments. All the natives of prominence have bicycles and they bring broken 'bikes' also, but I tell them I have no medicine for those.

"The catechist here comes every afternoon to help me with translations. The people so much want the Word in their own language. They will be glad for the Book of John when it comes from London (where it is being printed). Continue to pray for us—there is much to be done."

Don Bosco (Buenos Aires), Argentina—

A report has just come from Bro. Solon Hoyt concerning their recent D. V. B. S., and we want to share a bit with you. "We just finished a daily vacation Bible school here. I believe the average attendance was 24, which we consider good for a new work. Wednesday evening we are having the program when we hope to get the parents out. How wonderful it would be if we could just see the parents of half the children interested enough to return again after this program.

"We are continually encouraged, although we're not seeing mushroom growth in our work. There seems to be quite a steady, consistent attendance. Last Sunday night there were 26 of us, including 2 institute girls who were here to help us in the D. V. B. S., and 2 visiting believers from another suburb of Buenos Aires."

France—

In a recent letter, Bro. Fred Fogle tells of the work and plans in the Lyon area in France. "The Lord has wonderfully led, has wonderfully answered prayers, both our own and those of the Brethren everywhere, and the situation is very encouraging. Since January I have bill-posted Caluire twice and Villeurbanne, which adjoins Lyon, yet has a separate administration, courthouse, and so on. It is a town of almost 100,000 with only 2 gospel witnesses of any kind. I do not need to say that thousands are untouched. In Caluire we have put a tract in each mailbox and this has had effects.

"Permission has been given in Caluire for us to hold 4 meetings from May 5 to 8 in one of the public buildings. In Villeurbanne we will be having 4 meetings, also, from May 20 to 23. In a sense, the location of these meetings couldn't be better, but the drawback is that one organization can have only a limited number of consecutive days. Believe me, the Lord undertook to make these possible—several weeks ago it looked as though there would be no meetings at all this spring. Pray much for us."

Yalohe, Africa—

It is garden time in Africa (as well as in Winona Lake)! A bit of news comes from Mrs. Floyd Taber in a letter dated April 2. "I just got my seeds in time for the big planting rain. I began to think they were lost or stolen, but they arrived on Monday, and I have most of them planted now. I just love garden time.

"Nearly 2 weeks have passed since I let out Junior Bible School, so the fellows could get home to plant garden. It was a happy term, even though there were not as many students as usual. Most of those who failed to show up went on the annual hunt. It seems that most of them would prefer a longer term in the fall (I generally have 3 months) and no spring term. That would make it rather tiring for me unless I can get more help. Please make this a matter of prayer."

CLARENCE L. SICKEL AMONG THE "GREAT CLOUD OF WITNESSES"

By Luis Siccardi, Almafuerte, Argentina

Dr. Sickel

Bro. Siccardi

(Editor's Note—In Argentina the date of death, rather than that of birth, is observed as the anniversary date. The following article appeared in a recent issue of "El Heraldico Evangelico Argentino," the paper published by our missionaries and national workers in Argentina. It was written by one of our national workers, Brother Siccardi. We are indebted to Miss Johanna Nielsen for this information and for the translation of this article from the Spanish.)

Brethren, do you remember? It was December 10, 1951, that we received the word of the promotion of Pastor Sickel to the company of the saints in light. Today, a few days from his glorious anniversary, we have to feel that he lives among those already blessed, but he has not ceased to live among us. We can say with certainty that, though absent from the body, in spirit he still lives among us. His bodily presence, with its blending of vivid color, has impressed itself in such a way on our lives and memories that time has not been able to blur in the least this exemplary life. Like the fragrance of a delicate flower, its perfume has impregnated our hearts and its aroma is all about us. All those who remember him do not count him among those who have ceased to be, but among the best of those who are.

As a gentleman, considerate and helpful, he was always alert. All of us remember the cordial reception before and after general conference, whether or not he was the pastor at Rio Cuarto. No detail escaped him; all received the help needed. We all remember how he used to spend the last night, sitting up, watching the time so that no brother should miss train or bus for the return home.

Of a friendly disposition and conversation always amenable, he was constantly surrounded by friends and brethren wherever he might be. His laugh was extremely contagious. His reverent manner in the pulpit, accompanied by a clean-cut personality backed by the firmness of his evangelical convictions, gave his messages the authority and dynamic that stirred the hearts of the most uninterested or sluggish.

As a teacher in the Bible institute, according to the testimony of the students themselves, he knew how to present the lessons in such a way that no one in the class was inattentive, drowsy, or "doodling." His lessons made the scenes, persons, and things live so vividly that no one missed details or forgot easily.

Returning to his missionary labors, I would say that during the 30 years from his arrival in our country in 1919, with his faithful and efficient coworker, Loree Sickel, the work of our beloved brother was as varied as it was fruitful. From chauffeur of the Bible coach to evangelist, excellent singer, gentle and wise pastor, teacher, and even mechanic or craftsman, he filled his earthly career. Huinca Renanco, Realico, Buchardo, Rosario, Rio Cuarto, Almafuerte, Tancacha, and Berrotaran enjoyed the privileges of having him as pastor.

Brethren, in this first anniversary of his departure, let us raise our hearts to the Lord in gratitude for the value, both moral and spiritual, that he, our brother, was to all of us, and let us pray the Lord to make us fit for His service, as he was. Let us beseech the Lord that He will send workers like this, so that the Brethren Church may be notably Christian and fruitfully missionary.

MORE ABOUT THE NEW WORK IN BUENOS AIRES

(Continued From Page 285)

this question by 2 different families. Needless to say, I was deeply moved to see how the Lord was working. I hadn't mentioned further meetings nor the possibility of starting a church as yet, but the Lord was already creating that desire within them. I announced the first meeting in our home for Christmas Eve. We truthfully didn't know whether to expect 1 or 10, especially since it was Christmas Eve. However, to our great joy, there were 15 besides us. The second meeting was held December 28 and there were 22 besides us. Will they be faithful? Are they really born again? We'll leave the answer to those questions for another chapter in the book.

Two Young People Go to Camp

Removing ourselves 350 miles from the center of our mission seemed to us to close the door once and for all as to seeing any young people from here participate in the camp. Nevertheless, we prayed that the Lord would raise up some to go this year, for we know what a blessing it would be to the work to have young people coming back all enthusiastic about the Lord and the Christian young people they have met. Before we ever had one meeting here in our home the Lord had raised up 4 to go—2 boys and 2 girls. Only 2 were finally able to go, for sickness kept the 2 girls at home. Both of these boys are ready to enter the university. One has already made a profession of faith in Christ and shows great interest in spiritual things. The other claims to be an atheist, although he seems to be weakening in his position each time I see him.

We are praying that our work here may grow, and that our people may quickly fit into the plan and program of the entire mission. Now that we have launched out into this new area we trust that we will soon have a healthy, self-supporting church and become closely united to the other churches, although separated by 350 miles.

Understanding his language is the key that will unlock the door of fellowship with any man. This key is a necessary tool in the hands of each missionary on foreign soil. It must be gained by hours of mental concentration and mechanics of the tongue. The Lord is able to supply both the wisdom and the energy. Pray!—Alys Haag.

Progress

Native Christians studying the Word.

TALKING TAPE

By J. P. Kliever, Bekoro, Africa

It is amazing how many kinds of tape one finds in this present world besides the increasing variety of "red" tape. The importance of the Word of God being READ PUBLICLY was newly brought to me as we translated the Book of Nehemiah. The public reading of the Word brought almost uncontrollable conviction of sin. The Spirit of God is not manned with "strange armour and weapons" when He has the pure Word of God to take into the hearts of the hearers.

On a tape recording we read the narrative parts of the account of the trial and death of our Lord. I changed my voice, trying to have a different tone or a change of speed of words and so on for the different characters that speak. I read primarily the Gospel of John account. The reaction at each place where I played back the tape was very decidedly to the effect that it was so very much more real now. Some have said that weeks afterward, as they themselves read the account, it comes to them so much more clearly than before. Beginning readers, when they read a verse for themselves that was read by the "machine" as they call it, will exclaim in surprise, "Why this is what the machine told us!"

There were a few interesting incidents as I did the recording. As I tried to put the feeling into a few of the phrases, folks walking by on the outside, and hearing a voice, were quite startled. Miss Cripe claims she was very much startled when she heard a loud voice calling out of my office, "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit" (in Sango, of course). One of the men walked by and heard loud talking, and all of a sudden a shout—"Crucifie Lo" (Crucify him). Needless to say, his foot stopped in mid-air!

As we were playing the tape in the chapel, folks coming in late could hear my voice but they could not see the machine. The window level allowed them to see me. I was talking, but my lips were not moving! The puzzled expressions were something to see. Then, as they came into the chapel, they saw the machine winding away the tape.

This was an experiment. We are hoping that we can enlarge this ministry, using native readers also—readers with voices having good expression and tone quality, reading well many "key" portions of the Word and, by changes of the voice, putting in a little memory

"tack" that will pin the Word onto the "memory wall" of their hearts.

As the natives listened, they were quite amused at Peter's denials, and they were very disgusted with Pilate—the idea of washing his hands of this judgment, and then turning around and having Christ scourged! The result, as a whole, was a sober thinking-over of what they had just heard.

Pray for this ministry that, even as the stones, the "talking tape" will cry out.

"The entrance of thy words giveth light."

An idol altar.

in Africa

Mrs. Kliever and group of native Christian women.

WE ARE GROWING

By Mrs. J. P. Kliever, Bekoro, Africa

We here in Africa are growing, our other mission fields are expanding, new fields are being opened where we have never had a work before, some of your missionary candidates who are ready to serve have been sent forth. We can never thank you enough for those who were sent to us here in Africa, but they still are not enough to properly take care of our expanding programs and fields.

Many times we have been asked: "How can you need so many more people out there? Time and again we have heard your call—'Send us 1, 2, or 3 more couples, some nurses, a doctor, a builder, a teacher—that will care for the need.' As soon as they are sent you cry for more."

All of this is true. By sending these workers the need was met, but more than that—you made it possible to intensify the preaching and teaching ministry in each one of our districts and also to open up new work in new places and in new tribes that had not yet had the Gospel. Would our church be happy if we had remained with just Bassai, Yaloke, Bellevue, Bekoro, Bouca, and Bozoum as it was when we came to the field in 1938? I think not. It would be hard for us to think of our African field now without Bossembele, Batangafo, M'Baiki, Nzoro, and the Bible institute. Each one of these places is teaching people, preaching to people, and reaching people who might never have heard the gospel story if you had not made this expansion possible by sending the asked-for missionaries and the means for all of us to carry on the work to which you sent us.

You would need only a very short time with us in our work to see another reason why we are continuing to ask for more missionaries and the means to keep them moving. Our adversary, the Devil himself, is on the job as never before, spreading his lies and propaganda among our people in the villages. His emissaries are all about, spying out the land, getting acquainted with the people, and making great and glowing promises to them. Our people here in this section have seen just enough of western wealth and wisdom to know what it can get and do; hence, they are willing to do anything to obtain it. Little do they realize that by listening to this propaganda they will lose even what little they now have.

Satan would like nothing better than to keep us station-bound, and we would like nothing better than to have a good training center at the station to do the final training of the workers who get their beginning training in the villages. Up until now that has been impossible because someone must be out in the villages where our people are, and where Satan also is carrying on his work. So do not be surprised that we are still asking for another couple to be sent here in order that we may have a good station program going, and at the same time be able to keep up the work of establishing the churches that already are, and building new ones where there are groups of believers ready to take the responsibility. More than that, we still have sections right here in our territory that have not yet been occupied for the Lord.

A large section of the Rei-Bouba territory has been allotted to us for evangelization; 20,000 Kabba and Laka are our portion, but up until now we have not been able to get to them even once. Why not? Because we took a furlough, and when we came back we did not come back to Bekoro but helped out at Bozoum while Dr. and Mrs. Jobson were gone. I'm sure we were just where the Lord wanted us all this time, but that does not do away with the fact that it left our Bekoro district without pastoral oversight for 2 years and 4 months. During this time Satan's emissaries have been to all the villages with their propaganda. Will the people listen to our message when we do get to them now?

Yes, we are growing, but you can see that we need to grow some more. How happy we are that our church realizes that the home work and the foreign work are inseparable; as one prospers the other will prosper, as one grows the other will also grow. We have been able to grow only because you have grown—grown in numbers, in interest, in praying, in giving, and in sending forth those whom the Lord has called to go.

The psalmist's prayer was, "Strengthen, O God, that which thou hast wrought for us." This, too, is our prayer. Alone we cannot do this work but, in partnership with you, the Lord will answer that prayer and make possible the evangelization of those yet not reached.

SOME AIDS FOR YOUR PRAYING IN MAY

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Continue to pray that the Lord will guide and bless with an abundant foreign mission offering sufficient to meet the needs and send forth new workers. We are praising Him for the encouraging news which has been coming to us thus far.

2. Pray for Mrs. Hill Maconaghy, now recuperating from surgery, that the Lord will undertake in her behalf and enable the Maconaghys to return to their field of service in Argentina as soon as possible.

3. Pray for Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise as they begin their ministry in Honolulu—they are due to fly from the States on May 8. Pray that they may find suitable employment and adjustment in their new life.

4. Continue to pray for the Lord's leading and direction for the work in Baja California, that soon there may be a way open into the country for our workers.

5. Pray for Rev. and Mrs. Victor Meyers and family as they make plans to sail for Argentina around the middle of June.

6. Pray for the Fogles in France as they diligently serve the Lord in that new field. Pray especially for the special meetings to be held the early part of May in the city of Caluire, and the latter part of May in the city of Villeurbanne.

7. Pray for the physical well-being of all our missionary family; especially for Bro. Jack Churchill in Argentina, who has been ordered by the doctor to take a month's complete rest.

8. Pray for the Teeter and Zielasko families as they study the Portuguese language and take on responsibility in Brazil.

9. Pray for Bro. Keith Altig as he plans to leave Brazil about the middle of May for furlough in the States.

10. Pray for the missionaries, native workers, and any who have a part in the work in the great field of Africa. These are changing days and there are many challenges and hindrances to the work.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray that Pastor Ralph Hall, of the Johnstown, Pa., Riverside church will soon be able to give up his secular work and devote full time to preaching the Gospel.

2. Pray for the daily vacation

Bible school work being planned for the Taos, N. Mex., area, where 10 schools will be conducted this summer. Pray for sufficient help for Brother Horney in this task.

3. Pray for wisdom in Seattle, Wash., where every indication points to the need for 2 churches to be started now. Pray that one location may be available soon, with the funds necessary to purchase same.

4. Praise God that Pastor Gerald Polman, of York, Pa., is now able to give full time to the church. Pray that a suitable location for a church in York may soon be found.

5. Pray that Pastor Russell Ogden, of South Bend, Ind., will be able to find a home near the church so he can move onto the field after graduation from seminary.

6. Pray for the many financial needs in the new building programs this spring at Findlay, Ohio; Roanoke, Va. (Washington Heights); and Temple City, Calif.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the way He has blessed and prospered the seminary. Be much in prayer for the 4-year college program approved by the board of trustees; for special wisdom in carrying it out; and for the faculty as they plan a broader curriculum.

2. Pray for students, especially for our Brethren young people, to take advantage of this opportunity for a full-college education under Brethren training and leadership.

3. Praise God for the way the monthly offering plan is being supported by so many churches. Pray for the finances of the school as we plan to launch a wider program.

4. Pray for the baccalaureate and graduation services; and for guidance for the graduates, that each may find the Lord's chosen field of service.

THE HERALD—

1. Pray that the Lord will richly bless all who write either for the Herald or for the Sunday school literature of the denomination.

2. Pray that the Lord will open more homes into which the Herald will go each week with its message of truth and information.

3. Pray that the Lord will give wisdom and strength to the employees of this company to accomplish the work that must be done each day.

4. Pray that the remodeling program will soon be finished.

5. Pray that every contact made in the store will be profitable for the work of Christ on earth.

WMC (MIDWEST DISTRICT)—

1. Pray that our women will live more separated unto the Lord.

2. Pray that they will have more interest in the Sisterhood girls.

3. Pray that they will be more willing to give their time for family altars.

4. Pray for the devotional and conference program committees as they make the final plans for national conference.

SMM—

1. Pray for the Sharpsville, Ind., Sisterhood and their patroness as they reorganize their group.

2. Pray that the mother-daughter banquets might be used to bring the women and girls closer to one another and to the Lord.

3. Pray that by being consecrated "Ambassadors for Christ" the SMM girls and patronesses may win many to Christ this year.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray that the summer camps, now being planned, will be times of real spiritual blessing and harvest of decisions.

2. Pray that young people who will be finishing school in the next few weeks may be guided as to the next step in their lives.

3. Pray for the youth director as he finishes his Atlantic District itinerary, and returns to Indiana in late May.

4. Pray that the financial needs of the Youth Council will be met, and that we may be able to get needed equipment for the office.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. Gilbert D. Engelman resigned as pastor of the San Diego, Calif., church to return to his former position as assistant pastor of a Presbyterian church in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mrs. Auguste Martin, of the Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, celebrated her 89th birthday April 16.

Bro. Donald Austen, of the South Pasadena, Calif., church, gave an A. B. Dick mimeograph machine to the Seattle, Wash., church. The Sunnyside, Wash., church gave the first money to the Seattle church to buy property in that city.

There were 190 people in Bible school and 209 in morning service Easter at the Modesto, Calif., La Loma church, where Harold D. Painter is pastor.

The 2 Easter morning services at the Long Beach, Calif., First church were attended by 1,351 people, according to Pastor Charles W. Mayes.

The California Association of Christian Schools sponsored a music festival at Pasadena College April 17, in which 65 students from the Long Beach Brethren High School participated.

Pastor Gerald Polman reports 2 new records at the York, Pa., church with 70 people in the Sunday school and 62 in the morning service on Easter. Here is another record: the membership of this church is 33, yet 35 participated in the first communion service.

There were 180 people in Sunday school at the Tracy, Calif., church Easter. Pastor William H. Clough led in the dedication of new church hymnals April 12.

Rev. Wayne Flory left Whittier, Calif., for Fort Lewis, Wash., April 20, to begin his work as a chaplain (first lieutenant) in the army. The Whittier Community church held a farewell and gave him a gift at a covered-dish dinner April 17.

The months of May and June have been designated by the National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church as the time to emphasize the importance of the family and the home. During these months we observe Mother's, Father's, and Children's Day.

Dr. Paul R. Bauman, in connection with a pre-Easter conference at the Waterloo, Iowa, church, spoke at the Waterloo city-wide sunrise service in the KXEL auditorium April 5. On April 17 he spoke at a father-son banquet in Wabash, Ind.

At the Canton, Ohio, church, pastored by John Dilling, 291 people attended Sunday school on Easter, 267 the morning service, 79 the evening service, and 60 the midweek prayer service.

Mrs. Kate Bush, member of the Long Beach, Calif., First church since 1916, died March 10. The funeral was conducted by Dr. Charles W. Mayes and Rev. Alan S. Pearce.

Bro. Sid Hatch, the 62-year-old father of Pastor Burton G. Hatch of the Seal Beach, Calif., church, died March 29. Dr. Charles W. Mayes preached the funeral sermon at Whittier. Two other children are also in Christian work: Sid, Jr., is a Baptist pastor in Arlington, Tex., and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Mills, is the wife of a Presbyterian pastor at Wapato, Wash.

The Long Beach, Calif., Paramount church, pastored by John Mayes, had 135 people in Bible school and 136 in morning service on Easter. Recently 9 members were added by baptism.

The Clayton, Ohio, church, pastored by Clair Brickel, broke 2 records on Easter with 141 people in Bible school and 150 in morning service. On April 12 the corresponding totals were 141 and 138. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt preached there April 12.

Pastor Kenneth Ashman and the young people of the Wooster, Ohio, church held a service at the Pleasant Home Methodist Church April 2. The Wooster church recently organized 3 new musical groups: orchestra, junior choir, and men's chorus.

Dr. Alva J. McClain, Winona Lake, Ind., spoke at the annual banquet and mortgage-burning ceremony of the Detroit, Mich., Bible Institute April 17.

Pastor Walter A. Lepp, of Hagerstown, Md., attended a conference of the National Air Chaplains, in which organization he is a major, at Denver, Colo., April 14-16.

The Washington, D. C., church, pastored by James G. Dixon, reached a new high with 304 people at Easter morning service.

The Glendale, Calif., church, where Charles M. Underwood is pastor, had 210 people in Sunday school, 209 in morning service, and 129 in evening service on Easter.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph R. Hoffman, of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church, vacationed for 2 weeks in April in Hawaii.

The spring communion service at the Portis, Kans., church was attended by 73 people, according to Pastor Raymond Kettell. The Portis churches united in a rally, addressed by Redd Harper and attended by about 500 people, several of whom were saved.

The Leesburg, Ind., church voted unanimously to begin plans for the construction of a basement-unit building, according to Pastor Nathan Meyer. The estimated cost to repair their present building is about the same as the estimated cost of the first unit of a new building; the upper unit to be added later when needed.

The Taos and Cordillera, N. Mex., churches participated in a community-wide Easter sunrise service with the 2 pastors, Sam Horney and Tony Luna, each having a part in the program. Rev. Leslie Hutchinson preached at the Taos church that day.

The average evening attendance at the Meyersdale, Pa., church during the first quarter of 1953 was 142, according to Pastor H. Leslie Moore; 218 attended a musical program March 29.

Pastor Charles M. Underwood, of Glendale, Calif., spoke to the Long Beach Elementary Parent-Teacher Fellowship April 15.

THE GREATEST NEED IN THE BRETHREN CHURCH

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

The earth quaked; the prison walls shook; the doors flew open; the prisoners' bands were loosed. "What must I do to be saved?" cried the jailer in his terror at midnight.

A Bit of Speculation

Verily, what a team this will make! What an opportunity to reach the people! The jailer will take 45 minutes to give his testimony. He will tell of the hardness of his heart before conversion; how the prisoners in their dark, damp dungeons cried for mercy and received none; how they pleaded for water and he taunted them in their thirst.

Then Silas will sing a solo and Saul will give a 15-minute discussion on "Justification by Faith." How the crowds will come—100 hands raised for prayer the first night. But alas, the opportunity is missed; the jailer fades out and Paul and Silas go on alone.

But the headlines flash again! A blind man is healed. Verily, what a team this will make. He will take 30 minutes to give his testimony. He will tell of the long weary hours in darkness; how he bumped into trees; how his friends left him; and the horror of life without eyes; and then the thrill as the first rays of light flashed upon his consciousness. Then Peter and James will each sing a solo and John will give a 5-minute discussion on "The Love of God."

But what mean these words—"Tell no man" these things (Luke 8:56; 9:21)? How strange that our Lord was content to move about with a dozen men and give His most profound message to a single earnest soul, while Paul met in humble homes and wherever a group would gather.

Life Will Tell

When I was a little lad I liked to play at my grandmother's home. What fun as we played with the cousins in the big red barn and in the big thick woods. But my grandmother had one thing I never played with—never did I play with her turkey gobbler. There he was, strutting around, with tail in a fan, dragging his wings, and uttering the peculiar turkey "Puff! Puff!"

Some 30 years passed. Many generations of turkeys came and went.

I was on a farm in Pennsylvania when several hundred turkeys arrived. They were hatched in an incubator, they were raised in a brooder; they never saw a grown turkey in all their life, and yet that fall there were scores of turkey toms strutting about, with their wings dragging, and uttering the peculiar turkey "Puff! Puff!"

And why did they do this? Simply because they had turkey life, and life will always tell. The goal of that farmer's labors was to get those small birds to become full-grown, and the goal of our salvation is that we be conformed to the image of God's Son (Rom. 8:29).

How did the farmer get the turkey life to develop? Did he use a screw driver? Or did he put on a noisy demonstration? Not at all. The poultry store had a bag of feed and on that bag a tag, listing the contents. Everything those little turkeys would need was in that bag, and all the farmer did was to put out the feed and let the turkey life develop.

And so everything the child of God will need is in the Bible. Let him feed upon it and he is thoroughly furnished (II Tim. 3:16-17). Just put out the Word of God and "let the word of Christ dwell in" him richly (Col. 3:16) and he will be changed "into the same image" (II Cor. 3:18), as his spiritual life develops.

The unborn babe is nourished by the food the mother eats. And so let us feed upon the Word of God "until Christ be formed" in us (Gal. 4:19).

This One Thing I Do

In my early pastoral days I heard Rev. A. T. Wirick give a message on "This One Thing I Do." The supreme business of the pastor is to "feed the church of God" over which the Holy Ghost has made him an overseer (Acts 20:28). Yet as the calls come thick and fast upon his time there is danger that he may enter the pulpit weary and unprepared. These words have rung in my heart through the years as I have determined to fulfill them.

Today a pastor is often rated as to his ability to keep his church in motion. A board meeting on Monday, a social on Tuesday, a committee on Wednesday, in spite of the fact the church building is not the center of our spiritual life. Verily, the Christian home is the sacred spot and parents should stay at home, have a family altar and quietly spend the evenings with their children. There will be no question as to television, radio, etc., in a home where the parents are concerned about the welfare of their children.

A Monthly Bible Conference

Verily, the greatest need in the Brethren Church is a monthly Bible conference in every church. True, the crowds will not come and the visible results will be small, but behind the scenes and out of sight to mortal eyes the results may be greater than other things that draw the crowds and win applause.

I have spoken in as many as 20 states and provinces in a year and I have never found anything to out-rival the group of women I found in Portis, Kans. A large group came together (although a small town) from various churches, not just to have another meeting or to put on a program, but for a systematic study of the Bible.

Verily, the greatest need in the Brethren Church is a monthly Bible conference in every congregation. Hold to a certain day, say the first Monday or Monday and Tuesday of the month, and Bible-loving people from other churches will put that date on their schedule. It will be slow and small, but worth it.

Bro. Lyle Marvin is determined that the church at San Bernardino, Calif., be known not merely as a Bible-believing, but as a Bible-teaching center. I have seldom been to a place where so many strangers "drop in." Since I have been home, I have heard from Atlanta, Ga., from a person who was in the services in San Bernardino.

Of course I delight to gather with God's people, whoever they are and wherever they meet. But having belonged to the Brethren Church for 47 years, having been an ordained minister in the Brethren Church for

(Continued on Page 296)

LIMESTONE IS HOST TO YOUTH OF SOUTHEAST DISTRICT

The Southeast District Brethren Youth chose "Youth Conquering for Christ" as the theme for the spring rally held at Limestone, Tenn., April 10-11. The weather was beautiful, and more than 80 registered for the event. About 60 were lodged overnight by people of the host church.

Evangelist Bill Smith was the Friday-night speaker and Youth Director Ralph Colburn brought the message Saturday morning. A girls' chorus from the Unaka Avenue Baptist Church in Johnson City brought several specials at the Friday-night service, and Ralph Colburn led the singspiration. Refreshments were enjoyed after the service, in the basement.

A recreation period, followed by a banquet, was enjoyed at the Bow-

Forty-two young people from the Covington and Roanoke area churches tax the seating capacity of the Covington bus, for a happy trip to Limestone and back.

mantown school, a short distance from the church, on Saturday, and Bill Smith was the toastmaster. Several new members were inducted into the "Order of the Fork."

Good attendance at the rally was made possible by the Covington, Va., church bus, driven by Brother Craghead. Limestone is about 260 miles from Covington, so the young people who came that way had a good many hours for singing, fellowship, and fun on the bus. Twenty-two came from Covington and they picked up 20 more in Roanoke from the Ghent, Clearbrook, and Hollins churches.

A wonderful time was enjoyed by all. Next district event is summer camp, then a fall rally at the Covington, Va., church.

YOUTH DIRECTOR VISITS SOUTHERN SCHOOLS

More than a week was spent recently by your youth director, visiting Bob Jones University, Columbia Bible College, and Bryan University. We have approximately 40 Brethren students and staff members at Bob Jones, and it was good to visit with them at meals, at conferences, and at a Brethren party one night, and also to enjoy the tail end of their annual Bible conference. Our Brethren students at BJU come from California, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

More than 80 young people enjoy rally banquet on Saturday. Toastmaster Bill Smith and Youth Advisor John Burns are at head table, upper left.

We have just one couple, from California, at Columbia Bible College—Paul and Mary Lou Fink—and I enjoyed a visit and dinner with them. But we have about 30 Brethren at Bryan University, and it was a real pleasure to speak in chapel, and to visit with our students there. We have 13 from Ohio, 6 from Virginia, 6 from Pennsylvania, 3 from Indiana, 1 from Iowa, and 1 from Tennessee, attending there.

A large percentage of these young people are looking forward to some type of full-time Christian service, and it is a real joy to see their zeal for the Lord, and to know of their plans for His work.

SERVICE QUICKENS LIFE

A traveler was crossing mountain heights of untrodden snow, alone. He struggled bravely against the overpowering sense of sleep, which weighed down his eyelids; but it was fast stealing upon him and, if he had fallen asleep, death would have been inevitable. At this crisis his foot struck against a heap lying across his path. Stooping down, he found it to be a human body, half buried in the snow. The next moment the traveler had taken a brother in his arms and was chafing his chest and hands. This effort to restore another brought back to himself life and energy and was the means of saving both. Helping others in highest matters, our own spiritual vitality is quickened.—Selected.

WHY GO TO COMMUNION?

By Robert E. A. Miller, Roanoke, Va.

Perish the idea that the holy communion service is merely a ceremony to perform, an ordinance to practice, or a tradition to keep. Too, let us avoid the thought that this service, precious as it is, should ever be depended on for salvation or justification in the sight of God.

Our blessed Lord Jesus in the upper room on that memorable night before Calvary, instituted what we Brethren have come to love and cherish—the threefold holy communion service. In telling the disciples what this service should mean to them He concluded with these oft-repeated words: “If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.”

The word “happy” means “blessed” since it comes from the root for our word “grace.” It is also first cousin to “thanks” and “gift,” which come from the same root meaning. Our Lord taught that there are definite and delightful spiritual blessings in store for every Christian who partakes in the threefold holy communion service. May we give thanks for His spiritual gifts.

The first blessing we discover is that of the cleansed heart.

It is the heart-cry of every Christian even as with David the psalmist, “Create in me a clean heart, O God” (Psa. 51:10).

How is this to be accomplished? Again from Psalm 51 comes the answer: “Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin” (vs. 2).

The Apostle John, who leaned so heavily upon the Saviour’s bosom, has translated to us the Lord’s own way of obtaining this blessing. In his first epistle we are admonished: “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1:9).

Confession of sin opens the way for the forgiving heart of the Lord to operate in behalf of one of his own children. Forgiveness of sin is the promise God makes to the penitent, honest-confession believer. It is a promise He will keep daily if we daily come to Him with contrite heart. It is a daily routine, not just twice a year or three times or quarterly when the service is conducted. The performance of the ordinance is to picture the daily provision.

In the washing of the saints’ feet you are missing a tremendous blessing if you do not experience the blessing of the cleansed heart through genuine confession and forsaking of your sins that break fellowship with God and with your fellow Christian.

My robes were so stained with sin,
I knew not how to make them clean,
Until a voice said, sweet and low,
“Go, wash, I’ll make them white as snow!”

That promise, “Whosoever will,”
Included me—includes me still!
I came, and ever since I know
His blood, it cleanses white as snow!

Rev. Robert Miller

I do not doubt, nor do I say,
“I hope the sin is washed away,”
For in His Word I read it so:
His blood, it cleanses white as snow!

Oh! who will come and wash today
Till all their stains are washed away;
Until by faith they see and know
Their robes are washed as white as snow?

—Author unknown.

Another blessing you will receive from the Lord is that of a cleared conscience. This seems to have been in the mind of the psalmist, following his confession of sin, when he said, “Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit” (51:12).

The believer’s conscience is made sensitive to sin by the operation and control of the Holy Spirit. The unbeliever’s conscience becomes seared as with a hot iron; it becomes calloused. No unsaved sinner dare have a cleared conscience until first of all he comes to the Saviour seeking mercy and pardon awaiting him upon repentance and personal commitment to the Lord Jesus.

The saved sinner, however, faces the problem of daily defilement. No rest or peace is in store for the believer who has broken fellowship with his Lord through disobeying the Lord’s will. Sins of omission as well as those of commission must be reckoned with before the Lord. Any sin will darken the conscience of a Christian. Only by the way of heart-confession, then a cleansed heart, will there also come the joy and blessing of a cleared conscience.

The natural—or should I say the supernatural—result will now come in the blessing of the consecrated testimony. David concluded, “Then will I teach transgressors thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto thee” (51:13).

One of the valuable lessons in our communion observance is that we must be right with God and with our fellow Christians if we are to enjoy our Christian faith. Sin in the life locks the lips. Sweet water cannot flow from a bitter spring.

Christianity has not failed. It is the Christian who falls below the divine standard who fails the Lord and his fellow believers. Sinners all about us are stumbling, but not because of the atheists, the infidels, and the skeptics. Souls are turned away from salvation in Christ because of the marred and misleading directions given by counterfeit Christians. Above all, the Lord desires reality, not hypocrisy. God needs genuine Christians.

A world has gone stark mad in sin and shame. Mankind is now in the process of committing civilization to the depths of despair. If our communion service is worth anything at all, it certainly ought to bring us consecrated testimonies and produce in us a living witness to the saving and sustaining power of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Christianity isn’t worth the snap of your finger if the Lord doesn’t transform your life from a shameful sinner into a shining saint! God grant you the experience of a cleansed heart, a cleared conscience, and a consecrated testimony for His glory. “If ye know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.”

The Northern Ohio District youth leaders are planning a district-wide banquet for May 16 for the high-school juniors and seniors in the Brethren churches of the district.

NEWS from the CHURCHES

Long Beach, California (First)

We held special meetings, March 1-15, with Evangelist R. Paul Miller, of Berne, Ind., at the First Brethren Church.

Brother Miller preached faithfully throughout the 2 weeks to changing crowds, with the result that there were a number of decisions registered, both first-time and for other purposes. We are finding that the deep conviction which mounted during the meetings is apparently the basis for decisions which are coming regularly since the campaign.

Brother Miller's work was of special value in his personal visitation in the homes and in awakening believers, stirring up their minds by way of remembrance.—Charles W. Mayes, pastor.

Portland, Oregon

The Lord gave us a very fine meeting with Evangelist Robert Ashman. The influence of his ministry will not soon be forgotten by this church.

The average attendance for the evangelistic meetings was 76 and the average for the Happy Hour for the children was 75. The 151 mark set on Easter Sunday was the highest we have ever had for a morning worship service. There were 170 in Sunday school.

There were 4 decisions among the adults—1 for rededication and 3 for public confession of faith in Christ. In the children's meetings 45 made decisions for Christ, and out of these 11 later made public confession of faith in the regular church services.—Vernon J. Harris, pastor.

Everett, Pennsylvania

Greetings in the precious name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Our church recently received $50 from the Berean Class of the First Brethren Church of Johnstown for the purpose of buying a communion set. This church and its pastor, W.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Phoenix, Ariz....	April 26-May 17.	J. C. McKillen....	R. Paul Miller.
Everett, Pa.....	April 28-May 10.	H. Lingenfelter...	Ding Teuling.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) .....	April 28-May 10.	Robert Miller.....	Bern'rd Schneider.
Chico, Calif.....	May 4-10.....	Ward Tressler....	Vincent Bennett.
Philadelphia, Pa.
(First) .....	May 17-24.....	John Aeby.....	Archie Lynn.
Sterling, Ohio....	May 18-24.....	Joseph Gingrich..	Paul Bauman.

NEW GLENDALE PASTOR

Introducing to the Brethren denomination Pastor and Mrs. (Juanita) Charles M. Underwood. Brother Underwood recently became the pastor of the First Brethren Church, Glendale, Calif. (Photo by James C. Martin.)

A. Ogden, have shown great interest in our work in Everett.

Brother Ogden was the speaker here when we organized in November of 1951, and he brought the message at our dedication last June. Recently he spoke here in behalf of foreign missions.

We are praying and planning for our spring revival, April 28-May 10, with Rev. Ding Teuling as the evangelist. Rev. and Mrs. Victor Meyers, candidates for missionary work in Argentina, will be in charge of the music. Brethren, pray for us in Everett.—Homer Lingenfelter, pastor.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (First)

We had a very fine 2-day Bible conference, April 18-19, under the leadership of Dean Herman A. Hoyt of Grace Seminary. He spoke 4 times, at our request, concerning the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Each session was well-attended and the Sunday morning message was broadcast over station WACB.

We are now sending forth "WACB Waves of Light," a mimeographed paper that goes to 530 people on our radio mailing list. A radio committee of 3, with helpers, do much of the work connected with the mail from radio listeners. We broadcast 3 days a week.

The average attendance in our Sunday school for the first quarter of 1953 was 205. We also had a blessed communion service. Among those who attended were Miss Angie Garber and her sister, Mrs. Sam (Esther) Dible, with whom she is visiting while recuperating her strength.

The pastor is conducting special meetings April 26-May 3 for Pastor Harold Kattman, at the Church of the Open Door, Spartansburg, S. C. It was Pastor Kattman who led me to the Lord. Bro. Bob Dain will be in charge here while we are away.—Gordon W. Bracker, pastor.

Additions to Membership

Bellflower, Calif. ....	2
Long Beach, Calif. (Second) ....	14
Modesto, Calif. (La Loma) .....	8
Washington, D. C. ....	2

Public Confessions

Hagerstown, Md. ....	1
Leesburg, Ind. ....	3
Roanoke, Va. (Ghent) ....	3

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Los Angeles, Calif. (Third) ....	5
Portis, Kans. ....	3

Dedication of Babies

Akron, Ohio .....	1
-------------------	---

Browsing Among the Books

It is the purpose of this column to bring to the reader's attention some of the books that are being presented to the reading public today. Each book reviewed here will present a message of some merit and worthy of consideration, though a review of a book does not necessarily mean that the reviewer approves everything in it.

Any book mentioned in this column may be purchased from the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Winona Lake, Ind.

CRUDEN'S COMPLETE CONCORDANCE, by Alexander Cruden. John C. Winston Company. 783 pp. 5½ by 8½ inches. Cloth. $3.50.

This is a new, clear-type edition of a handy, economical index to all the key words of the Bible. This new edition of this standard work includes more than 200,000 references to the Old and New Testaments. It is the only edition that includes references to the English Revised Version and the American Standard Version, as well as to the King James Version.

Definitions and articles written by Cruden have been revised in accordance with modern scholarship, and the whole work has been set up in a new, clear type, making it more pleasant to use.

This is an excellent aid for the layman or Sunday school teacher who may not be trained in the use of the larger works dealing with the original language.—Blaine Snyder.

PRINCIPLES OF PERSONALITY BUILDING FOR CHRISTIAN PARENTS, by C. B. Eavey. Zondervan Publishing House. 321 pp. Cloth. $3.75.

From the cradle to the grave there is a plan for every life. This plan is primarily achieved by God through Christian parents who are keenly aware of the grave responsibility toward their child. Giving proper evaluation to pre- and postnatal relationship with the child, the Christian parent seeks to guide toward capability for playing the role of life, and affording to the child constantly increasing freedom to act for himself.

The duty of the Christian parent is to act as an agent through whom God may accomplish what He wills in the life of the child. To perform this work as an agent "no parent can poison the fountain of his own life and not have bitter streams issue therefrom into the life of the child." Yet it is often tragically true that a parent is the greatest enemy of a child.

The chief aim of the Christian parent should be to direct the child in the exercise of his power to will. Secondly, the Christian parent should see to it that proper considerations are given to the extent to which the child should be free to choose his own purposes.

This book should be read and carefully studied by every Christian young couple contemplating parenthood. Children are human beings, and as such they are not put into this world to become mistakes. Through proper training and guidance such mistakes, to a large measure, could be avoided.—Arnold R. Kriegbaum.

GLEANINGS FROM THE WORD, by Keith L. Brooks. Van Kampen Press. 150 pp. Cloth. $2.

With 2 discussions to a page, the author here gives expositions of Scriptural truths as they relate to daily Christian living. This book could nicely be used as a premeal meditation in every Christian home.—Arnold R. Kriegbaum.

PROPHETIC QUESTIONS ANSWERED, by Keith L. Brooks. Van Kampen Press. 162 pp. Cloth. $2.

Raising 76 questions in the field of eschatology, or the doctrine of last things, the author has prepared a handbook on prophetic truth in

Dr. Bernard L. Ramm, professor of philosophy at Bethel College and Seminary, St. Paul, Minn., is the winner of the Moody Press Bible Institute and Seminary Textbook Contest. This contest closed December 30, 1952, but the judges have only recently announced the winner.

For his manuscript on "Protestant Christian Evidences," Dr. Ramm was awarded $1,000. It will be published this fall by Moody Press, in time to be used in the fall semester, according to Kenneth N. Taylor, director of Moody Press.

Rev. Fred H. Wight, South Pasadena, Calif., was awarded second place for a manuscript on "Manners and Customs of Bible Lands." This will also be printed early this fall.

THE GREATEST NEED . . .

(Continued From Page 292)

32 years, and a pastor for 20 years, and having spoken in 106 meeting places, I have an interest in Brethren work that is not found in most others. It grieves me to see the Brethren Church laying great claim to the Bible and yet weak in the very ministry where they should be strongest, namely, a monthly Bible conference.

Verily, our Lord was not discouraged with the few earnest souls, and let not the servant be above his Lord.

IFCA GOES TO TERRE HAUTE

The annual convention of the Independent Fundamental Churches of America is scheduled to be held May 2-7 at Terre Haute, Ind. The theme this year is "Christ Jesus, Our Sure Foundation and Blessed Hope." Among the speakers are Dr. William McCarrell, Rev. Lowell Wendt, Rev. William Ashbrook, Rev. Nye J. Langmade, and Dr. John Walvoord.

which the Christian or Sunday school teacher can quickly find the answers to pertinent questions in the field of prophecy. As an authority on the doctrine of final things, the author gives short, concise answers to many common questions.—Arnold R. Kriegbaum.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 19

WMC NUMBER

MAY 9, 1953

—Photo by Wally Hagin

HAPPY HOUR CHILDREN AT SPOKANE, WASHINGTON

(See Story of Spokane Meeting on Page 301)

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. W. Wayne Baker and Rev. G. L. Lawlor preached April 19 and 26, respectively, at the Uniontown, Pa., church while Pastor Clyde K. Landrum was holding meetings at the Harrisburg church.

The Northern Ohio District elected Pastor Miles Taber moderator, Pastor Wesley Haller vice moderator, Pastor Robert F. Holmes, secretary-treasurer, and plans to hold its 1954 conference at Fremont.

The Rittman, Ohio, church plans to erect a Sunday school addition this summer. There were 210 people in the morning service April 5, largest such attendance in pastorate of Charles Ashman.

A cablegram was received in the office of the Foreign Missionary Society April 23 from Rev. and Mrs. James Marshall, Corral de Bustos, Argentina, stating, "Boy. All well!"

The Atlantic Fellowship conference is planned for May 13-16 at the Winchester, Va., church, pastored by Paul E. Dick.

A final reminder of graduation week events at Grace Seminary: The senior class service is set for the morning and the baccalaureate service for the evening of May 10; the examinations begin May 11; the communion is scheduled for May 14; the final chapel service and the commencement are set for May 15, with Dr. Allan A. MacRae, president of Faith Seminary, as the commencement speaker.

The Osceola, Ind., church, pastored by Ward A. Miller, purchased property adjoining the church lots for extension, and voted to join the National Association of Evangelicals.

Mrs. Sam (Beth) Horney, Taos, N. Mex., has been reported ill and in the hospital there.

Bro. Vernon Metzger, 73 years of age, and for many years a member of the Los Angeles, Calif., First church, died April 5.

Pastor James D. Hammer, Fort Wayne, Ind., attended the conference of the National Chaplains of the Civil Air Patrol at Colorado Springs the week of April 13.

Rev. Bruce Button and Rev. Albert L. Flory preached at the Bellflower, Calif., church April 19 and 26 respectively.

The Beaumont, Calif., church, pastored by Gene Farrell, had 176 and 159 people in Bible school April 5 and 12, respectively. Rev. Noble Crawford preached there April 19.

Pastor Walter A. Lepp resigned at the Hagerstown, Md., church, effective August 2, and Assistant Pastor Charles B. Bergerson resigned effective August 16. These 2 men, with Bro. Frank Coffin, Uniontown, Pa., are forming an all-Brethren evangelistic team.

The Bell, Calif., church, pastored by Harry A. Sturz, held dedication services for their bus April 12. The Sunday school goal of 150 was passed on April 5.

Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr., has been confined to his bed with a severe throat infection.

A new church is being organized in Elkhart, Ind. On April 27 Elders Luther L. Grubb, Arthur D. Cashman, Herman W. Koontz, and Ward A. Miller met with 17 members of the Osceola church at 3515 S. Main St. (Road 33 South at Yellow Creek) and created a temporary organization of the Grace Brethren Church of Elkhart. Wesley Miller is moderator, Willard Secaur is secretary-treasurer, and Robert Schumacher and Edward Kluth are the trustees. The group will be "mothered" by the Osceola church in its beginning stages. Regular services are scheduled to begin at the above address June 1.

A daughter was born to Rev. and Mrs. Clair W. Gartland, of the Conemaugh, Pa., Pike church, April 17.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, 82-year-old member of the Clay City, Ind., church, died April 7, and Pastor Ralph Burns conducted the funeral.

The Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church voted to borrow money and proceed with its building expansion program June 1, according to Pastor Clyde G. Balyo.

Rev. Victor H. Meyers, missionary appointee for Argentina, has placed his membership in the Leamersville, Pa., church. Mrs. Meyers became a charter member of this church in 1939.

The Washington, D. C., church, pastored by James G. Dixon, is to be host to the graduation program of the Washington Bible Institute evening school May 19.

The Clay City, Ind., church, pastored by Ralph Burns, held its communion service April 12 with 43 members present. Rev. and Mrs. Westphal spoke at the local Youth for Christ April 25 and at this church April 26.

Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Winona Lake, Ind., is scheduled as the speaker of the Houtzdale-Brisbin, Pa., Bible conference May 18-19.

Prof. John Whitcomb, of Winona Lake, Ind., plans to speak at the Burr Oak Baptist Church, pastored by Kenneth Marken, on May 10, and at the Waterloo, Iowa, church May 17.

The Yellow Creek, Pa., church, pastored by Sheldon Snyder, has scheduled Rev. Gerald Smelser as the speaker for May 10 and Dr. Herman A. Hoyt for May 17.

Dr. Paul R. Bauman, Winona Lake, Ind., plans to speak at the Fremont, Ohio, church, pastored by Lester Pifer, May 17; the Sterling, Ohio, church, pastored by Joseph L. Gingrich, May 18-24; the Akron Bible Institute May 18-22; and the Christian Business Women's Fellowship of Akron May 25.

Pastor Thomas E. Hammers, of Seattle, Wash., spoke at the Spokane church, pastored by William H. Schaffer, April 19.

Bro. Robert Bingham preached at the Waterloo, Iowa, church April 12 and Rev. Charles Mercer preached there April 19.

Rev. R. I. Humbert, Flora, Ind., plans a Bible conference for the Calvary Baptist Church, Canton, Ohio, May 10-13.

THE FAITH OF TWO MOTHERS AND A BOY

By Rev. Conard Sandy

The Apostle Paul, in his second letter to the young pastor at Ephesus, wrote some words that ought to challenge Bible students on this Mother's Day. Let his words occupy your attention.

Said he: "I thank God, whom I serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day; greatly desiring to see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy; when I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also" (II Tim. 1:3-5).

The thing for which the apostle is thankful is "the unfeigned faith" that dwelt in these 3: grandmother, mother, and son.

A Remembered Faith

Paul, though far from Ephesus when he wrote this epistle, remembered the faith of Timothy and he took great delight in recalling it to mind.

It is natural to remember things concerning one's friends. What do others remember about you, mothers? Are you remembered because you have sons strong in the faith, sons who are known as men of faith?

A visitor one day came to a home and found a young mother with her infant lying in her lap and a Bible in her hand. "Are you reading to the baby?" was the question he asked in a light manner. "Yes," answered the mother. "Do you think he understands?" questioned the caller. The woman of faith replied: "I am sure he does not understand yet, but it is always my custom to read the Bible aloud. I hope in the days to come my boy's earliest recollection of his mother will be that of her reading the Bible." Faith like that is worth remembering and will be remembered by others.

A Real Faith

Paul wrote: "I thank God . . . when I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith." The faith he remembered was real, it possessed genuine quality, there was no false or insincere parts in it. This faith was not invented, devised, or imagined. It was centered in the Lord Jesus and therefore unfeigned.

During the War Between the States a Confederate chaplain knelt by a dying soldier and said: "Well, my brother, what can I do for you?" The man of God was surprised at the answer, which was not a cry for help.

"Chaplain, I want you to cut a lock of my hair for my mother, and then, chaplain, I want you to kneel down and return thanks to God for me."

"For what?" asked the chaplain.

"For giving me such a mother. Oh! she is such a good mother. Her teachings are my comfort now. And then, chaplain, thank God that by His grace I am a Christian. What would I do now if I were not a Christian? And thank Him for dying grace. He makes this hard bed feel 'soft as downy pillows are.' And oh, chaplain, thank Him for the promised home in glory—I'll soon be there."

"And so," said the chaplain later, "I knelt by his bed with not a petition to utter, only praises and thanksgiving for a good mother, a Christian hope, dying grace, and an eternal home in glory." Dear reader, that is what Paul meant by an unfeigned, a real faith.

A Resident Faith

Note again the words the Spirit of God inspired Paul to set forth for the good of the saints: "I thank God . . . when I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice." This was a resident faith, it dwelt in the hearts of Lois and Eunice, a mother and daughter.

This was not a transient faith, nor had it been a recent acquirement of the family. This faith belonged to this family, it resided there, and had been proved by 2 generations before it was shared with Timothy.

Augustine wrote concerning his mother: "And Thou, O Lord, stretchest Thine hand on high and drew-est my soul out of that darksome deepness, whenas my mother, Thy faithful one, wept to Thee for me, more bitterly than mothers use to do for the bodily deaths of their children. And Thou heardst her, O Lord; and despisedst not her tears, when flowing down they watered the very earth under her eyes to the very place where she prayed; yea, Thou heardst her." The faith of the mother of Augustine caused her to pray and "hold on" to God until He answered her prayer for her son. This faith resided in her heart and was proved genuine by this mother, as was the case with Lois and Eunice.

A Relayed Faith

The apostle concluded concerning this unfeigned faith with these words that showed what he thought of it: "And I am persuaded that in thee also." This is his approval upon the faith of the mothers.

Mothers without a faith like this to transmit and relay to their offspring could easily become a menace to them. Much of the present-day juvenile delinquency should be and must be laid at the feet of mothers who lack a living, dynamic faith they can share with their children.

John Scudder, a promising young physician in New York, picked up a tract from the table of a patient, and he read it. This simple act sent him and his young wife to India as missionaries. Their 9 children, 7 sons and 2 daughters, all became missionaries in that land because of the faith and faithfulness those parents revealed to them. Together the family gave almost 600 years of missionary service to India.

When Mr. Scudder was asked the cause of this, he replied: "The only explanation I can give is that the children were literally prayed into the kingdom by their mother. She was accustomed to spend the birthday of each child in all-day prayer for him, and God answered her prayers."

O God, give to Thy church more mothers like Lois and Eunice—possessors of a remembered, a real, a resident faith, worthy of being relayed to their children.

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (North Buffalo)

The Lord has been richly blessing the work here. The week before Easter 3 ladies were baptized.

We began Easter Day with an outdoor sunrise service attended by 20 people. There were 138 in Sunday school, 130 at the morning worship, and more than 100 in the evening service for the program of the Sunday school. We received 10 new members into our fellowship at the morning service.

On April 12 a young woman accepted Christ as Saviour.

The contractor says we should be able to have the dedication for our basement building on Mother's Day, May 10. The Lord has been blessing this work and friends and neighbors have given donations toward the expenses.—Donald W. Rossman, pastor.

Hagerstown, Maryland

Both Pastor Walter A. Lepp and Assistant Pastor Charles B. Bergerson resigned effective in August so they can form a team under the sponsorship of the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade.

At the quarterly business meeting attendance in each department of the church was reported above the same period a year ago, except the Sunday evening service. The Sunday school gained 53, the Sunday morning service 13, and the prayer meeting 8. The budget was met, and 13 members were received during the quarter.—Excerpts from bulletin.

Limestone, Tennessee

In a recent meeting in this church, April 5-19, we felt the power of God in every service, with 8 people making rededications and many others making decisions to be soul-winners.

The Southeast District youth rally was held in cooperation with the meeting, April 10-11, with about 80 registered for the banquet.

It was with deep regret that Rev. Randall Rossman, pastor of the church, was unable to attend any of the services. He spent the first week at home and the second week in the hospital with a severe case of sinus infection. He returned home the last day of the meeting.

The average attendance was about 100, and the cooperation and spirit were excellent during the 2 weeks. We praise the Lord for His blessing and for every remembrance of the saints in Limestone.—Bill Smith, evangelist.

North English, Iowa

The Pleasant Grove church received 7 members—3 by baptism, 2 by relation, 2 by letter—April 19, and 3 babies were dedicated.

There were 115 people at the Easter morning service.

The spring rally of the Iowa District WMC was held at the church while the ministers met at the parsonage April 9. A dinner was served to 75 people.—Mrs. Wilma E. Myers, corresponding secretary.

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (First)

Easter Sunday was a great day here at Oxford and Knorr. There was a total of 825 in attendance at the day's services, with 71 at the fellowship breakfast. The cantata

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Phoenix, Ariz....	April 26-May 17.	J. C. McKillen....	R. Paul Miller.
Everett, Pa.....	April 28-May 10.	H. Lingenfelter...	Ding Teuling.
Roanoke, Va.
(Ghent) .....	April 28-May 10.	Robert Miller.....	Bern'd Schneider.
Chico, Calif.....	May 4-10.....	Ward Tressler....	Vincent Bennett.
Philadelphia, Pa.
(First) .....	May 17-24.....	John Aeby.....	Archie Lynn.
Sterling, Ohio....	May 18-24.....	Joseph Gingrich..	Paul Bauman.
Artesia, Calif....	May 24-June 14.	Adam Rager.....	R. Paul Miller.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balye.

PRAISE GOD FOR "MOM"

'Tis Mother's Day—and filled with thoughts
Of yesteryears at home with "Mom."
What pendulums of time have wrought
Since first for wisdom I had sought,
Belongs to what my mother taught:
"Is Jesus Christ your Saviour, son?"

That sin brings death, 'tis proven true:
Hence, ere in me sin's course would run,
I to my mother's Saviour flew;
I found the "Faithful One and True";
And now I say in faith anew:
"Yes, Jesus is my Saviour, Mom!"

And now I walk and talk with Christ,
Once dead, now resurrected One;
His Word is now a holy tryst,
Whose value never has been priced,
Whose doctrines ever have sufficed.
—Praise God for "Mom," who taught her son!
—Charles Bergerson.

and the messages of Bro. Hill Macconaghy in the morning centered in the triumph of Christ.

The Bible school program in the evening brought a fine response. It was directed by Rev. John Neely,
Mrs. Gladys Hearn, and Mrs. John Aeby. The junior choir made its first appearance at this service.

Building progress has been fine this last few weeks, thanks to the men and women who have put in many hours of work. All new lighting is now in operation in the upper auditorium and the fixtures formerly there have been installed in the lower auditorium.—Excerpts from bulletin.

Spokane, Washington

The days and nights of March 8-22 were really wonderful for us.

Evangelist Robert A. (Bob) Ashman, of Winona Lake, Ind., was well received by both adults and children.

The visible results of these meetings were 3 applications for church membership by letter, 4 renewals of faith, 14 confessions in the regular church services, and 47 in the Happy Hour. The average Happy Hour attendance for 10 sessions was 103. Four were baptized and received into membership.

A week previous to these meetings a former Jehovah's Witness was converted. She was an ordained minister and used to stand on the street corners in Spokane offering their literature for sale. In the summers she tramped from farm to farm peddling their propaganda. She has now dedicated her life as a missionary for the Lord. A week later her husband was saved.

Brother Ashman was a tireless

BIBLE MOTHERS

(Gen. 17:16; Ex. 2:3; 6:20; I Sam. 1:18; Acts 9:36; II Tim. 1:5; Luke 1:30-31)

To many lovely mothers I would fain
Sing a tender Mother's Day refrain;
Godly mothers who have done their part
To satisfy the Father's longing heart.

Sarah, Princess Sarah, who is famed
For comeliness—the one Jehovah named
"Mother of Nations." Out of her still rise
Kings of people destined for the skies.

Dear Jochabed, mother in exile—
God saw that tiny ark beside the Nile;
Angels, kind and strong, were guarding well
The fairest little child in Israel.

Hanna, gracious Hanna, sad and dull,
Prayed within her heart for a miracle.
Her countenance was changed with sudden glow
As new-born faith began to rise and flow.

Dorcas, sweet gazelle, like many true
Maiden ladies, mothered all she knew.
Her needlework still shines, it could not dim,
Because inwrought with purest love for Him.

Lois and Eunice treasured in their hearts
The secret of the finest of fine arts:
Teaching the young . . . God's truth by word and mien,
That His will and life be plainly seen.

Fairer than a May-dawn is the name
And person of the virgin we acclaim
The loveliest of all . . . None but she Could have cared for Christ so tenderly.

—Leona D. Cole.

worker and a faithful preacher of the Word. His work with the children was excellent, especially his gospel magic with the spiritual applications.

The Spokane Brethren will not soon forget the ministry of Brother

"Bob" in song and word, for he won his way into the hearts of the people as he exalted the Lord Jesus Christ.

The basketball team representing our church met and defeated all comers in the AA Class League sponsored by the YMCA for church teams.—William H. Schaffer, pastor.

Public Confessions

Arroyo Hondo, N. Mex. ....	2
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	1
Kittanning, Pa. (First) ....	1
Kittanning, Pa. (N. Buffalo) ...	1
Leesburg, Ind. ....	3
Meyersdale, Pa. ....	22
Middlebranch, Ohio ....	10
Rittman, Ohio ....	6
Taos, N. Mex. ....	2

Dedication of Babies

Leamersville, Pa. ....	3
Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	1
North English, Iowa ....	3

Additions to Membership

Dayton, Ohio (First) ....	5
Dayton, Ohio (N. Riverdale) ...	15
Kittanning, Pa. (N. Buffalo) ...	10
Leamersville, Pa. ....	8
Leesburg, Ind. ....	2
Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	3
Los Angeles, Calif. (First) ....	8
Meyersdale, Pa. (Summit Mills).	4
North English, Iowa ....	7
Rittman, Ohio ....	6
Uniontown, Pa. ....	2

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Homerville, Ohio ....	3
Taos, N. Mex. ....	8

HARRISBURG TO HEAR WELLS

Dr. Robert (Bob) Wells and his party are scheduled to begin a citywide evangelistic campaign in Harrisburg, Pa., May 31.

In this campaign Dr. Wells will be associated with the churches that stand true to the Word of God. He has openly declared he cannot work in cooperation with pastors and churches which deny the great fundamental truths of God's revelation, or which are associated with modernistic organizations.

A HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE SPOKANE CHURCH

By Pastor William H. Schaffer

The following history of the First Brethren Church, Spokane, Wash., was taken from the dedication program, August 3, 1919.

"In the fall of 1913 three families—Mellingers, Bowerses, and Gochenours—began meeting together in little house prayer meetings and Bible readings.

"During the following summer, July 1914, Bro. W. S. Bell was in our city and Brother and Sister Monroe Mellinger and Sister Edna Robinson were baptized in the Spokane River.

"The interest in the little meetings was sometimes hard to keep up, but through prayers and much persistence the work continued.

"In October 1914, with W. S. Bell's assistance, the first communion was held at the home of Bro. B. C. Gochenour and 12 were around the communion table.

The church today.

"The following spring, April 1915, Sister Vianna Detwiler came to our aid and organized the small band of about 15 into a Sunday school, which met each week at the home of Bro. M. M. Mellinger. Others were constantly gathered in and soon a primary class was started in the kitchen.

"In August 1915, much encouragement was gained from a visit by Brother and Sister James Gribble. Five of the number, Sister Wood, Sister Robinson and her 2 daughters, Velma and Grace, and Sister Lillian Bowers were then baptized in the river, and the second communion was conducted by Brother Gribble and Sister Detwiler at the home of Bro. J. L. Bowers.

"By February 1916 the Sunday school had made considerable progress and the meetings were transferred to the home of Bro. B. C. Gochenour.

"That spring the first board of trustees was selected, consisting of J. L. Bowers, B. C. Gochenour, B. W. Graybill, M. L. Smith, and Harry Myers; and with much prayer and searching, a lot for a church building was selected and a tent purchased in which to conduct a series of revival meetings. Bro. L. S. Bauman was secured to conduct these meetings during June 1916, and 47 more were added to the membership.

"Then our pastor, Bro. R. P. Miller, was secured through the assistance of Bro. L. S. Bauman, and was welcomed into our midst at the close of our first evangelistic campaign.

"A temporary organization was effected early in July, and on August 15, 1916, a permanent organization was established and incorporated, and plans were immediately formulated toward erecting a church building. We raised all we could locally, and through the kindness of the mission board, Sister Detwiler was given the privilege to canvass the Brotherhood, with their approval, to obtain gifts for the Spokane work.

"God richly blessed her efforts and many hearts responded in a wonderful way. Great is our gratitude to the many ministers and others who so kindly assisted her to get the need before the Brotherhood.

"In the meantime the work was pushed with added vigor, and on Labor Day, September 9, 1916, the men of the church gathered and began the work of excavation.

"Two weeks later we stepped out on faith (we surely had nothing else to step out on), trusting God to supply the need, and began building the work in earnest. Six weeks after, November 18, we held our first services in the basement of our present building, which we had temporarily roofed over till we were better able to complete it.

"On Sunday, December 19, we dedicated our basement. Bro. J. C. Beal, who was then preaching at Sunnyside, came and brought us 2 strong messages for the occasion.

"In January 1917, Bro. J. L. Bowers, whose earnest and devoted efforts to build a work of God here had endeared him to the hearts of all, passed to his sweet reward. The work here lost one of its strongest pillars, but heaven gained by his presence.

"From this time on, though the outlook was discouraging at times, the hand of God was upon the work and souls were steadily being added to the Lord's work here, the debts were all paid off, and in October 1917 an exceptional offer to buy enough brick for our whole church was taken, the brick hauled to the site and covered till used. During 1918 every effort to complete was blocked by one thing or another. But in the spring of 1919, by the blessing of God, all obstacles were cleared away and we at once set things in motion to complete, and on April 7 began the last lap in finishing the building. On Easter Sunday afternoon the cornerstone was laid with a splendid service and interest.

Pastor Schaffer

"While the actual cost of our building completed will be close to $10,000, the actual value is about $13,500. This is made possible not only by much volunteer labor on the part of brethren and friends, but also due to the kind assistance rendered by so many firms in the city. Never before have we found so real an interest in a like Christian work on the part of business houses in general."

We have 8 of the 57 charter members still living and active. A 4-day Bible conference followed the dedication. Featured speakers were C. H. Ashman, then pastor at Sunnyside; W. S. Bell, Dr. J. Allen Miller, and Henry V. Wall.

The following pastors have served this church in the past 34 years: R. Paul Miller, J. C. Beal, Earl W. Reed, E. S. Flora, Kenneth Monroe, Tom Broad, Albert Lantz, Ruskin Garber, and Wm. H. Schaffer.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

W. V. FINDLEY REPORTS FROM ROANOKE ON EVE OF HOMEGOING

We are letting Bro. W. V. Findley take over the "lead" to this page this month. His words are coming to you from "over there," for our dear brother went to be with the Lord the day after sending this letter to the Laymen's Page editor. There is a strong possibility that these words are the last he ever wrote to anyone and we are happy to share them with you.

March 27, 1953.

Dear Brother Deloe:

Nothing "big" to report, but if no one sent any news you'd never receive it, so will tell about our monthly meeting.

We are continuing to hold the regular services at the City Alms Home and the City Rescue Mission and our men have recently had the opportunity to hold services 3 times a month at a church which formerly had services once a month. We have Sunday school and church services on 3 Sundays and Sunday school only the other Sunday, as a layman from another denomination has been holding once-a-month church services for some time. The attendance was rather low at first, but has been as high as 60. So far have held 7 services and plan to continue as long as the Lord seems to open the way.

Bro. Mason Cooper (our national president) is filling the Covington, Va., pulpit (about 60 miles away), pending their calling a pastor. He has held 20 services and helped in 1 other. He has also had 7 services for servicemen at the Service Center, and there has given out 625 Testaments. He reported 19 decisions and 1 rededication.

[Your editor has been toying with the idea of publicly chiding Brother Cooper for not writing some articles he promised for the Laymen's Page, but how can you fuss at a guy who's doing such a wonderful work for the Lord?—J.B.D.]

Our local president, Bro. W. C. Fisher, who is also national secretary-treasurer, had to resign his local office on his doctor's orders. All our men should pray for him that further curtailment of his Christian activity might not be necessary. Bro. W. K. Jefferson was moved up from vice president to president, and Bro. S. M. Coffey was elected vice president. Our offering of $13.35 was voted to the Brethren United Evangelistic Committee.

The national secretary-treasurer reported that from his recent appeal to Brethren laymen for funds for the Crusade Committee he received one five-dollar check from our national vice president, Bro. E. R. Cole. I am wondering, Brother Deloe, if in your page you could emphasize this need again? As yet, it seems, our Brethren laymen have not caught the vision of how much work this committee could do throughout our Brotherhood (and over the nation) if they had sufficient funds to be kept busy the whole year through. And a team's work could be doubled by having funds available for two teams. [Italics mine.—J.B.D.]

Yours in His service,

W. V. Findley, secretary,
Men's Gospel Fellowship,
Ghent Brethren Church.

RANDOM NOTES

According to the April 19 church bulletin of the First Brethren Church of Glendale, Calif., the men of the church were to gather on the following Saturday to prepare the auditorium for the laying of new carpet.

The men of the Whittier, Calif., First Brethren Church met around a ham dinner April 14 and heard Bill Carle sing and give his testimony.

Walter Herring spoke to the men of the Men's Magnify at the First Brethren Church, Long Beach, Calif., at their dinner meeting on April 21.

Bro. Don Rager, of the Riverside Brethren Church, was the speaker for the laymen's meeting held April 30 at the Jenners (Pa.) Brethren Church.

WINFRED V. FINDLEY—1891-1953

Our dear Brother Findley was promoted to glory yesterday morning at 3:30. He was 61 years of age.

A lifelong member of the Brethren Church, his home was back in Glenford, Ohio. He graduated from Ashland College and taught public school for a short time before serving in World War I. It was in 1921 that he came to Roanoke, and in July of that year he became a member of this congregation, then meeting on Gilmer Avenue.

He faithfully served the Lord and the church in the 32 years that followed. His fellow members have looked to him as moderator of the congregation for a number of years. He asked to be relieved but was pressed into service a second time. He had served as trustee of Ghent since 1938. His presence in any meeting was always a blessing and inspiration. He could always find the bright spots.

Brother Findley loved music and was a pianist much in demand at our men's meetings. He sang in the choir. He was a willing servant in any capacity, but his carefulness in detail led his brethren to elect him to such as these: treasurer of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, secretary-treasurer of the Southeast District Mission Board, secretary-treasurer of the Southeast District Brethren Laymen, secretary-treasurer of the Men's Gospel Fellowship, Ghent.

May the Lord help us to carry on the work of our Lord until He shall come in that glorious resurrection day up ahead. It will be impossible to fill Brother Findley's place—his work is done. May his faithfulness and sweetness of character continue to be a blessing to us all.

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints" (Psa. 116:15).

—Reprinted from the church bulletin of the Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va., March 29, 1953.

LOVEST THOU

ME

W. M. C.

52-53

JOHN 21: 15-17

As a special salute to the fine Christian mothers who are so vital a part of national WMC, we have given you a slightly different Herald this month. Some regular features, such as a leading theme article and editorial, have been deliberately omitted. We hope you'll read YOUR magazine and enjoy its difference. Women like a change once in a while, so here it is. The Newsnatches are coming in fine. Enjoy these and look for yours in subsequent issues. Have an extra special MOTHER'S DAY!—Althea S. Miller.

NEWSNATCHES

Roanoke (Clearbrook), Va.

Greetings in the name of our Lord from the Clearbrook WMC.

We thank God for all the many blessings and progress in the past year.

As our local project we obtained cabinets and equipment for our new kitchen.

At Christmas time we remembered our boys in service and our missionaries from our church with gifts.

We were very happy to have the Maconaghys visit with us. They were honored with a shower.

We have given to all our offerings and are now working on our missionary hope chest.

To our January meeting we invited all our local district councils to be with us and to hear our Jewish speaker, Brother Gruen. Brother Gruen's message for the evening was on "Jewish Religion and Holidays."

We have just closed a campaign in which we sought to get new members. The result—4 new members.

We pray that the Lord will continue to richly bless.—Mrs. Kathleen St. Clair, secretary-treasurer.

Jenners, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings in the precious name of our Lord from the WMC of the Jenners Brethren Church!

We have been busy lately, packing clothing for our mission in Kentucky. Four large bags were filled and sent. Also a good number of kimonos and receiving blankets were sent to our foreign missionary work in Africa.

Our WMC is not large, but we pray that God will give us many interested women who will begin coming to our meetings. We desire your prayers that God will bless and increase our work abundantly for His glory.—Mrs. Victor S. Rogers.

Roanoke (Ghent), Va.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

The Ghent Sr. WMC is happy to report an attendance of more than 30 for the January and February meetings. Our prayer is that we may continue to grow and serve our Lord and Saviour faithfully each day until He comes.

In order to keep in touch with the young people of the church who are away from home the council remembers them with birthday cards and candy, and the church bulletin is being sent them. We also remember our shut-in members with cards.

Articles for the missionary chest are coming in nicely and we hope to have a nice selection of useful items before too long. As our local project we are furnishing the church kitchen with a new electric range. However, in all our undertakings may self be forgotten and may everything we do be for the honor and glory of our precious Saviour, who has done so much for us.—Mrs. Inez Hutton, corresponding secretary.

Canton, Ohio.

The Jr. WMC of Canton, Ohio, has several projects of interest to others, such as providing refreshments for the BYF one meeting out of the month; and each member sending a card to every Junior Sisterhood member on their birthday.

Most important, we thought, was our sponsoring a fund for repairs on the parsonage, along with the help of other members and organizations.

Our February meeting was held in the church basement and all the members contributed to a spaghetti supper for a special membership drive.

A beautiful hand-made rose was given to each woman. Seated at the table in our birthday order we found a program with our birthday month flower on it.

A large cake decorated with 28 candles was in the center, in honor of all our birthdays. We sang "Happy Birthday to Everyone."—Vivian Himes, secretary.

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

"The Lord hath done great things for us; whereof we are glad" (Psa. 126:3). This is the testimony of the Fort Wayne WMC, for the Lord has blessed our council in so many ways. In the last few years our council has doubled in membership in spite of the fact that at least half of the original group have moved away and are not members now. We have gained new members this year and have a large number of prospects in view. An interesting thing about our membership is that we have a number of ladies who are from other denominations who love the Lord as we do and have become a part of us as a result of the testimony of our council. With a membership of 54 you can understand why we have been meeting in the church instead of the homes.

At the beginning of the year our council adopted a budget plan whereby we take only one offering at each meeting. The executive committee then budgets the money to meet the various offerings throughout the year. So far this year the plan seems to be working out very well—it certainly eliminates taking so many offerings!

The Fort Wayne council was hostess to the Central District rally last October and it proved to be a grand day of fellowship and blessing. In November, which is our guest night, a fine group of ladies from the Sidney, Ind., church were with us and added much to the meeting and fellowship.

For our project this year we voted to continue sending canned food to the missionary residence as we have been doing for a number of years. So far this year we have sent 250 cans of food to Winona Lake.

For our local project we plan to provide furnishings for the north room of our church, which is being remodeled and will be a meeting place for our council when it is finished. We enjoyed getting toys for the children in Kentucky and sending them to Evelyn Fuqua in time for Christmas.

Our council is especially enjoying the Bible and mission studies this year. Since a missionary to the Jewish people has gone out from this church, we appreciate learning more about these people through the missions study and thus we are able to pray more effectively for them. And through the Bible studies we are learning more of the kind of love we should have for our Lord and these have proved a real blessing to us. Trusting this finds our WMC ladies always abounding in the work of the Lord.—Mrs. Richard P. David, secretary.

The Women's Missionary Council of the Cherry Valley Brethren Church has substituted mending clothing in place of bandage rolling as their regular morning activity. The clothing is sent to a Brethren mission point at Taos, N. Mex. The group changed to this activity because the recently organized Sisterhood of Mary and Martha for girls has undertaken the bandage-rolling project as a part of their program.—From the Beaumont, Calif., Gazette.

Akron, Ohio.

Have you ever heard or read the expression, "Long time, no see"? That is what our WMC editor is saying about some of us who have failed to send in news reports. So here are greetings to all our sisters in Christ from Akron, Ohio, WMC.

Since national conference we have been holding regular monthly meetings, sometimes at the church and other times in the homes, with an average attendance of 33. We greatly appreciate the program materials which have been furnished by the national organization.

The following activities have kept us on our toes: A canned goods shower and gift of Boontonware dishes which the writer had the privilege of delivering personally during the month of October to our WMC editor. (It was a real privilege to be entertained in Mrs. Miller's home, even though it was only for a short time.) We sent some books and a year's subscription to a children's magazine to the children living with Marie Mishler in Africa; sent a chenille robe and woolen sweater to a former WMC member who now resides in a home for the aged; sent Marie Mishler 2 dresses; packed 11 boxes for the soldier boys; remembered 11 church widows with a gift of hosiery and handkerchiefs at the holiday season; are conducting services once a quarter at both the Old Folks Home and Akron Detention Home; sent $60 to the national project offerings; $25 to the district; gave money gifts to 2 missionaries who visited our church who are now child evangelism workers in Canada; and made a New Year's resolution to observe the 15th of each month as a day of prayer. We also used the following to get some extra money to help our Junior Sisterhood girls. Our project committee pasted little cut-out aprons on envelopes, on which the following was typed and handed to all members:

"Dear WMC Member,
This little apron we give to you
And kindly ask that this you do;
Measure your waistline inch by inch,
And see that the tapeline does not pinch.
For each small inch you measure around,
Into the envelope put a penny so round;
To the Junior Sisterhood it will go—
We talked about helping them, you know.
We thank you so much, and ever will pray
That Jesus our Saviour will gladden your way."

—Gladys M. Lindower, president.

Clayton, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Miller:

Greetings in our Saviour's name from the Sr. WMC ladies at Clayton, Ohio.

Our ladies meet once a month to mend clothing for our various mission stations in New Mexico and Clayhole. We have a covered-dish dinner, a time of prayer, then back to sewing.

We have been working on our kitchen project. Last summer we piped the water into the church. We recently put a sink in.

Instead of our regular Mother-and-Daughter banquet we are having family night, inviting the husbands and children. The ladies are bringing the food, the men are furnishing the program.

We are helping the SMM girls by buying their pen-nants for them.

We praise the Lord for His goodness to us. We feel the programs this year are real interesting. We also have tried some of the workshop ideas and found them a blessing.—Martha Brickel, secretary.

NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT

The Valentine theme was carried out in our winter rally held in Middlebranch January 26. Heart-shaped placards with Sallman's Head of Christ and our slogan, "Lovest Thou Me?" decorated the tables, along with matching programs.

An offering of $105.22 was received for our project, which this quarter was Jewish missions.

Our last quarterly project was for a mimeograph machine for the new Findlay church. It was reported that enough money had been received to purchase both a used mimeograph machine and a good used long-carriage typewriter.

Many councils reported renewed interest in the 15th-day-of-the-month prayer observance for our missionaries. Others reported aiding the Sisterhoods of their local churches, and also the sending of many useful items and boxes of used clothing to our home mission points in New Mexico and Kentucky.

We were thrilled by the message of our speaker, Mrs. Robert Miller. Her subject was "The Family Altar" (Deut. 6), and she pointed out that consistent family worship is a matter of the heart. She mentioned some of the varied excuses given for failure to have family altar. This was followed by the statement that "nothing is impossible with God if we are yielded and willing."

Mrs. Miller also favored us with a lovely vocal solo.

We rejoice in the Lord for such a wonderful day of prayer, instruction, and fellowship.—Mrs. R. M. Ward, assistant secretary.

---

MEET YOUR OFFICERS

---

By Althea S. Miller

MRS. CHESTER McCALL

Have you ever tried to keep an account of other people's money, disperse it to the proper channels, and make everyone involved happy? This man-sized job belongs to our national financial secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Chester McCall. She is doing a wonderful job.

Hinton, W. Va., is the birthplace of Mrs. McCall, where for several years a colored mammy kept her eye on the comings and goings of this little girl who lived on a large plantation. At the age of 9 Mrs. McCall's family moved to California. The Second Brethren Church of Los Angeles is where she found Christ as her Saviour in 1923. During the years since her new birth, Rae McCall has served the Lord and her church as deaconess, recording secretary, and teacher.

Our financial secretary-treasurer is the mother of 4 children—2 boys and 2 girls. She has served as office manager and bookkeeper for her husband for some 18 years. All her efforts to be "fired" by her boss have been to no avail. Mr. McCall is the owner of McCall's Electric Shop in Los Angeles.

We are very grateful to Mrs. McCall for her fine work in WMC. Hers is an admittedly hard job, but she does it faithfully as unto Him. Pray for her as she dispenses the WMC money, and keep her busy with large offerings for His honor and glory.

---

FLASH REPORT:

Miss Gail Jones, who is in Belgium at a school for the study of tropical diseases, sends her sincere thanks for all the birthday and Christmas greetings sent to her by the various WMC's over the country.

No space for "Making Christian Marriage Work" column this month. Watch for it in June.

---

WMC OFFICARY

President—Mrs. Kenneth Ashman, 205 Ihrig Ave., Wooster, Ohio.
 Vice President—Mrs. Henry Rempel, 1539 E. 80th St., Los Angeles 1, Calif.
 Recording Secretary—Mrs. Robert Ashman, Winona Lake, Ind.
 Financial Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Chester McCall, 3421 W. 82d Pl., Inglewood, Calif.
 Literature Secretary—Mrs. Conard Sandy, Box 373, Winona Lake, Ind.
 Editor—Mrs. Robert Miller, 1511 Maiden Lane, S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
 Prayer Chairman—Miss Mary Emmert, Dallas Center, Iowa.
 Patroness of SMM—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. N.E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

YOUR REMINDER

It is high time you were actively planning to be represented at the annual conference of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches with your display board. We want every council to have a part in the display at the WMC sessions, either in a group with your district or as an individual council. Contact your district president if you do not know whether to plan for an individual display or to go in with the district display. We want a sample of every idea and plan which you have put to use throughout the year. Get busy, council president!

By this time you should be well on your way to planning when and how you will receive a birthday offering from your council to go toward the support of a full-time WMC foreign missionary. If you have not received this offering yet, it might be well to remind you that June is the deadline month for this offering. Bring your offering to Winona Lake at conference time and enjoy a special service for the setting up of this particular missionary fund.

ATTENTION! Do you want your delegates to the WMC sessions at national conference to be seated? You do? Then be sure all credentials are properly filled out with the name of the delegate and signed by the properly designated officers. This is very important. Last year too many delegates came with improperly signed or not-signed-at-all credentials. WMC conference voted last year not to seat any delegate this year or any year hereafter whose credential is not properly filled out. District president, check with each council president and see that they understand what should be done.

---

MISSIONARIES' BIRTHDAYS

Africa—

Rev. Robert W. Hill.....July 4
 Mrs. Floyd W. Taber.....July 8
 Miss Florence Bickel.....July 10
 Dr. Orville D. Jobson.....July 11
 Rev. Robert S. Williams.....July 15
 Mrs. Orville D. Jobson.....July 21

Argentina—

Michael Stephen Marshall.....July 12, 1951
 Rev. Ricardo E. Wagner.....July 16
 Mrs. Solon Hoyt.....July 29

Baja California—

Douglas Haag.....July 9, 1949

Brazil—

Carol Ann Miller.....July 31, 1947

Belgium (School of Tropical Diseases)—

Miss Marian Thurston.....July 24

United States (at school)—

Miss Jean Altig.....July 20

France—

Rev. Lester Kennedy.....July 4

Give to foreign missions during March, April, and May. Send your foreign mission offering no later than June 10 to MRS. CHESTER McCALL, 3421 W. 82d Pl., Inglewood, Calif.

MISSIONARY LETTER FROM GRACE BYRON

What flashes through the mind of a native woman when a 2-day WMC conference is announced? From some of the evidences seen they could be: "My permanent needs straightening and my braids done over," and "What shall I wear? I haven't a thing." Sounds natural, doesn't it? A few years back, the women could say, "I have not a thing to wear," and mean it literally. Many of the older women never owned a dress, and never will. Many are happy if they possess a cheap cotton dress, or one that has been given to them, but the minority always attract the attention.

Times and fashions change in the Congo. They have changed from wearing bustles of leaves to gaudy cotton prints, of geometrical designs, of phonographs, of the coronation of King George, of elephants, of the alphabet, to most any design the manufacturer can think of to attract the native; for the African and his money are soon parted. It seems that the American shirt manufacturers have taken over the gaudy prints that some of the native women are discarding for the more glamorous fabrics of cheap satin and velvet. These come in shimmering shades of blue and yellow with stripes of vivid contrasting colors. The material is made into the popular long 2-piece dress. Some women buy 2 or 3 yards for an extra wrap-around that she can adjust and readjust as she speaks, or it can be used as a sling to carry her baby in. What some women will suffer to appear well-dressed! Imagine wearing a velvet dress trailing the ground, when it is 100 degrees in the shade and no shade! Then can you imagine them scrambling over the rack of the truck in this attire, when they arrive at the chapel. It is beyond description. They make a dash to greet their friends. They clasp each other in their arms, slapping one another on the back several times and finish up by blowing vigorously in each other's ears. Everybody is happy, all talking and laughing at the same time. Then time for the meeting is announced from the door of the chapel.

All is quiet and they file noiselessly into the chapel in their bare feet. Mrs. Jobson presided. The meeting began with singing several gospel songs. Mrs. Lois Miller read the first chapter of First John and led in prayer. Then a time was given for prayer and testimony. They praised the Lord for His wonderful grace and for His faithfulness since their last meeting. Mrs. Minnie Kennedy gave an inspiring message. After this they divided into groups. They told of what they had accomplished and planned to do greater things for the Lord and to win others to their Saviour, and the possibility of organizing other WMC's. They disbanded for lunch. They had brought their food. What did they bring? Thick cassava mush and stew, of course, made with vegetables and meat. No tables to set, no dishes to wash; they eat with their fingers and wipe their sticky hands on the nearest post or their hair. It is as simple as that.

They met again at 2:30. Mrs. Dorothy Beaver led them in a lively song service. As they sang "Heavenly Sunshine," they went up and down the aisles shaking hands with everyone. There is real joy in Christian fellowship. Mrs. Pauline Sumey read the second chapter of First John, led in prayer, and also led the Bassai delegation in singing "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour." There was a season of prayer, more testimonies and reports. An offering of 830 francs were given. They use their offerings wherever there is a need, sending out catechists to new preaching points and helping those in distress.

It was the Bozoum group of women that purchased the pulpit Bible for the Grace Seminary chapel in their appreciation for the missionaries trained within its walls. The first day of the conference Ester, the wife of the pastor at Bozoum, gave a very enthusiastic report of the dedication of the Bible given. I would like to have heard it, but the Bassai delegation came for the second day only, because we do not like to keep the women away from their families overnight. They will be interested in seeing the dedication pictures taken at the time of the dedication. I hope they appear in the Herald soon.

Many tribes were represented, including ours, the American tribe. It is only through the grace of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ that it is possible to have such a conference and such a time of blessed fellowship as one body. Formerly they hated each other and would have nothing to do with those of different tribes. It is marvelous that all this has taken place in a lifetime. We were inspired and challenged. The time is short. What a wonderful change has been wrought through the power of the Gospel of His grace. These downtrodden women, who were considered hardly human, incapable of learning, and only useful as burden-bearers, providers of food, and bearers of children, now have an intelligent expression with the love of Jesus Christ shining in them, are reading His Word, taking part in meetings, and witnessing what the Lord has done for them.

Pray for them—pray that they will stand true in times of temptation and testings, pray that they will win their sisters to the Lord, and pray especially that they will not be led away by false doctrine and be swayed by materialism, which is so rampant in Africa today.

I might add that one of our Christian mothers died just the other day. She leaves a married daughter, and 7 other children, the youngest an infant of 3 months. While she was sleeping on the earthen floor of her hut a very poisonous snake passed over her naked body; she grabbed it and it bit her on the ankle. Her husband gave a very good testimony in church this morning and exhorted the people to stand firm in the Lord. Death is always a test of their faith, as there are so many heathen rites and customs connected with death.

Sisters, pray for us.

Your sister in Christ,

Grace Byron.

FLASH REPORT:

Mrs. Chester McCall writes that the national WMC gave an offering of $2,229 to Grace Seminary. Praise God and remember this month of May is the last for giving to foreign missions for this year. Have you done your best?

DEVOTIONAL STUDIES FOR JUNE

Bible Study—"The Promise of That Love."

Mission Study—"Pointers in Witnessing to the Jews."

Here is a list of project suggestions listed by districts for the consideration of each district and council. Mrs. Henry Rempel, national project chairman, just sent this list to be printed for your consideration and to lead you in your choice of projects.—Ed.

ATLANTIC DISTRICT—

1. Hymn books (50-75); "Inspiring Hymns" desired.
2. Strip film projector—$50-$75.
3. Used sound projector—$100-$200.

—Gerald Polman, pastor, York, Pa.

CENTRAL DISTRICT—

1. Lectern to be used for pulpit; will be replaced by a regular pulpit desk when building is completed. Lectern will be used for other purposes then.

2. Folding chairs.
3. Folding tables for Sunday-school rooms.

—C. S. Zimmerman, pastor, Dayton, Ohio.

CALIFORNIA DISTRICT—

1. Used mimeograph—$50.
2. Piano, used—$100-$200.

—Bruce Button, Jewish missions, Los Angeles, Calif.

EAST DISTRICT—

1. Outside bulletin board—$75.
2. Slide exit doors for upper auditorium—$100.
3. Slide and film strip projector—$50-$75.
4. Back exit doors for church—$75.

—Victor S. Rogers, pastor, Jenners, Pa.

MIDWEST DISTRICT—

1. 35-mm. projector for film strips or slides—$100 (needed badly).

2. A bell for the Cordillera church steeple.

—Sam Horney, Spanish missions, Taos, N. Mex.

NORTHWEST DISTRICT—

1. 100 new hymn books—$100 (a very present need).

—Glen Welborn, pastor, Albany, Ore.

1. Royal or Smith-Corona 14-inch typewriter—$190; $115 used.

2. Automatic electric heating unit for pastor's study—$50.

3. Outside bulletin board—$185.

—Vernon J. Harris, pastor, Portland, Ore.

1. 20, 30, 40, 50, or as many steel folding chairs, good standard line so more can be added as needed—approx. cost, $5.50 per chair.

2. Communion tray with unbreakable plastic (clear) cups.

3. Money for necessary toweling, basins, etc., for conducting communion service for 50 people.

—Thomas Hammers, pastor, Seattle, Wash.

SOUTHEAST DISTRICT—

1. Slide and film strip projector and screen—$125.
2. Monroe folding tables for Sunday school use—$50.
3. Children's hymn books—$50.
4. Material to curtain off basement for Sunday school—$75.

NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT—

1. A new typewriter, long carriage—$150.

—Russell Ward, pastor, Cleveland, Ohio.

At this season of the year, it is common to pay tribute to mothers. We who sometimes forget about this all-important matter during the balance of the year, practically "lean over backward" on Mother's Day to prove our love for her. We have given her cards, flowers, candy, personal gifts, and dinners—all lovely tributes. But the question still remains: "Just what is the best tribute we can give to Mother?" Maybe the following poem from the long ago will answer our question:

"I love you, Mother," said little John; then left his work and his cap went on; then out to the garden, high in the swing—left her the water and wood to bring. "I love you, Mother," said rosy Nell; "I love you more than tongue can tell." Then she went pouting full half the day; Mother was glad when she'd gone to play. "I love you, Mother," said little Fan. "Today I'll help you as best I can; how glad am I that school doesn't keep." Then she rocked the baby till he fell asleep. Then stepping softly, bringing the broom, swept up the floor and cleaned the room. Busy and happy all day was she—and happy as a child could be. "I love you, Mother," that night they said—three little children who went to bed. How do you think that mother guessed which of her children loved her best?

So, whether Mother is still with us, or has gone to her reward, let us not forget that the highest tribute we can pay her is that of a life of loving, faithful obedience to our mother's God!—Mrs. Frank Lindower.

Give to foreign missions during March, April, and May.

SUPPOSE

By Ida R. Baker, Martinsburg, Pa.

Supposing God had so decreed

That I should be of foreign birth,

And that from a child I'd never see

Happy faces filled with mirth.

That God's name and His Book be banned,

And prison camps should fill my land.

Suppose I never had a home

Filled with love and Dad and Mother,

Just sorrow, misery, hate, and fear

Behind cold walls. I had no other.

I'd never known a Saviour died—

That for my sins was crucified.

Yes, many live in such a land

And never hear God's only way,

Of how He died and rose again

And is coming for His own one day.

How grateful to Him I should be

To be living in a land that's free.

Just suppose God's tenderness and love

Had altogether passed me by!

With humble heart I offer thanks

That there, but for His grace, go I.

1. Christian-American flag set—$75.

2. 35-mm. slide projector and screen—$50-$100.

3. Offering plates.

4. Public-address system for nursery in new building.

—Forest Lance, pastor, Findlay, Ohio.

"Ambassadors for Christ"

Sisterhood of MARY and MARTHA

II COR 5:20

Don Beck

POLLY'S PROBLEM

By MABEL DONALDSON

"And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Gen. 1:26-27).

The youth fellowship group was going to have a meeting about the things of creation mentioned in the first chapter of Genesis. Polly had been assigned the part about the creation of man. As she worked out her topic she was a little disturbed about just how to make the other members of her group understand what was meant about "being in the image and likeness of God." They had all recently learned that God was a Spirit; that Jesus said He was not a spirit when He came out of the tomb; that spirits did not have flesh nor did they eat as He ate. Now what could she say to make this clear to her friends?

Polly went to the dictionary for some help. There she found that "image" means the shadow or outline of a figure, while "likeness" means the resemblance of that shadow or figure. Really they mean practically the same. But if God is a Spirit, then the image doesn't mean physical likeness. It doesn't mean hands, feet, face, hair, etc., yet at times we are told in the Scripture that God took upon Him various forms as He appeared to people. Some of them were a dove, an angel, a cloud, and a pillar of fire.

"Now," thought Polly, "when Jesus came, He, being God, took upon Him the form of man. But I must make my friends remember that this form was yet different from those around about Him, for it was sinless and they were still bound by the shackles of Adam's sin. But surely there must be something in God's Word to help me understand this confusing problem."

This little girl had learned a great lesson, one which many grown-up folk have yet to learn. She took her problem to the Lord in prayer. She said: "Now, Lord, I must make these things clear to my friends. Please help me. Please show me some Scripture to use and make my whole talk count for Jesus and for His glory. Amen."

At dinner time it was the custom of this family to read cards on which were printed verses from the Bible. Mother began. Then came Polly's turn. She read Ephesians 4:23-24: "And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness."

"Oh," said Polly out loud. "Thank you, Lord. Thank you, Lord." Seeing both Mother and Father confused, she hastened to tell them about her task and her prayer. "Now I have an answer," she said.

As Father read his verse, she listened very carefully. His was Colossians 3:10: "And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him."

"That should help you, too, Polly," said Father as he handed her his card. They were all thrilled that the Lord had heard and answered the prayer. They were pleased that He always helps His children when they come to Him with their problems.

So Polly began her talk by showing from these verses that the image of God consists in knowledge, righteousness, and holiness. It is a moral image and not a physical likeness. Not just flesh and blood enter into it, but the spiritual qualities are the important things. The things of the soul are the everlasting things. But she went on to show from the Genesis passage that the first man, Adam, was a very "smart" man, for he was given the job of naming all the animals. He had to be intelligent to do this. He also had power of speech. He was not like the animals he named. He could talk freely so that Eve understood him, the animals understood his commands, and God understood Him when He came in the cool of the evening to walk with them in the Garden. Not only that, he could use his reasoning power in connection with his speech. He had very good thoughts and expressed them. He attached words to ideas. He did not have to make sounds like the animals.

Adam also had mental and moral power to know and choose right from wrong. No animal has this power. God gave him this. Jesus was also put to tests along this line. Jesus came out all right, but Adam failed. He had choice, and chose unwisely.

"Now," thought Polly, "I have told what man was like and what it meant by being in the 'image and likeness of God.' I'll close my talk by showing that man could not have come from some sort of degraded animal. He was above the animals. Then, too, he did not get better and

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR JUNE

SINGSPIRATION.

INTERCESSION—Using "Prayer Suggestions."

SCRIPTURE—Psalms 119:145-160.

TRAINING FOR AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"British-Israelism."

Middlers—"Closed Doors."

Juniors—"Polly's Problem."

SPECIAL MUSIC.

REPORT ON AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Closed Doors."

Middlers, Juniors—"Dr. Jonathan Goforth of China."

BENEDICTION.

BUSINESS MEETING.

better from some savage state. He was perfect to start with. If anything, he got worse and worse. I'll have to remind my friends that if they are Christians they can't afford to let folks see them get worse and worse. It is bad testimony to the fact that God dwells within them. They should study hard and do everything to improve themselves in order that they might reflect the image and likeness of God through their daily lives."

As Polly read over her talk before going to youth fellowship meeting, she breathed another prayer of thanksgiving to the One who had helped her, and asked Him to give her courage to give the talk so that others might see Jesus and want His image in their lives.

QUIZ

1. Does God have hands, feet, ears, etc.?
  2. Was Adam made with wrinkles and sores?
  3. Did man come from animals?
  4. Was man a cruel beast of savage type?
- Can you prove your answers?*

CLOSED DOORS

By ADA M. ETLING

Almost every day we are confronted with the lament, "If I only knew what I want to be." Girls of the Sisterhood of Mary and Martha, we cannot tell you what to be, but as we follow our study this month, we trust you may be helped, encouraged, and inspired to become what God wants you to be and to follow where the Holy Spirit may lead you.

God has a plan for every life. He leads one in one manner and another in a diverse manner and yet He leads both. He may speak to one so audibly that there can be no doubt as to what He wants that one to do. Another may have to wait upon God in prayer and searching the Scriptures. Even then she may have to step forth by faith. One thing is certain: God wants to direct our every step. If we let Him, life will be sweet, full, and adventuresome, despite the fact that He may close the door which we want to enter.

Let us look at some instances of closed doors. Will you turn to Acts 6:5 to discover a comparatively young man chosen to office because of his faith and Spirit-filled life. Early records (Acts 6:8) show that Stephen was powerful, and did great wonders and miracles. As so often happens, men of the synagogue were jealous of his power. Consequently they called a council, set up false witnesses, and finally stoned him to death.

It would appear that it had not been worth Stephen's courage and unwavering faith, as if God had untimely closed doors. But notice that Saul, who is the great hero of our present studies, witnessed that event (Acts 7:58). I am sure the sublime serenity of this man made it easier for Paul to say, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

"Closed doors" may mean that God asks life itself, as was the case of our own missionary, James Gribble, and of John and Betty Stamm.

Turn to Acts 8:5 and let us examine doors that were closed to a young evangelist named Philip. Philip was chosen deacon at the same time as Stephen (Acts 6:5). He yielded his life to the Lord and as a layman went into Samaria to preach. He had the right message, for he preached Christ (Acts 8:5). He was successful, for Acts 8:6 tells us that the people with one accord gave heed to his message, that unclean spirits came out of many, and that many were healed. In the midst of success the angel of the Lord called Philip to the desert (Acts 8:26). There was Queen Candace's treasurer ready for the Word!

You say: "Would God close the doors of service to huge crowds and send one to preach to a single person?" Yes, the door of Samaria was closed upon Philip, but the lone Ethiopian took the message of salvation to Africa!

While we have considered Africa a heathen nation, yet through the years thousands of that country have come to a saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus that Philip taught about that day on the desert. I am sure that accepting the closed door of Samaria meant even greater awards in the soul-winner's crown for Philip.

As we followed Paul in Acts 16:6-7 we discovered that the door seemed to be closed twice. First when they were in Galatia they were forbidden to preach in Asia. We know not the circumstances nor reasons for the forbidding, but he knew it was not God's will and didn't go. Had he disobeyed perhaps you and I would never have heard the Good News.

The second closed door came shortly after, when Paul and his companions (Acts 16:7) desired to go into Bithynia, but the Spirit forbade them.

Girls, remember He who closes doors can also open them. After the second door was closed, God immediately opened another. A vision appeared to Paul in the night and a man from Macedonia prayed, "Come over . . . and help us."

The Word says that immediately they loosed from Troas, going in a straight course to Samothracia, the next day to Neapolis, and thence to Philippi.

Because Paul accepted closed doors and entered open ones, Christianity has become world-wide.

Yea, the door may close upon life itself, as was the case in Stephen's career, or it may mean hindrance to our own zealous plans that greater doors of service may be opened.

Ours is to say: "Ready to go, ready to stay, ready His will to do."

OFFICIAL REPORT

JUNE 30: This is the deadline for reporting memorization of I Peter in order to qualify for an award. Let's get this in as soon as possible.

July 31: This is the deadline for your general fund offering. Also your bandages must be sent to the bandage secretary, Evelyn Vnasdale, by this date.

HONOR DISTRICT? Do you want to be an honor district? If so, don't forget to send in a written report as to what your district has been doing. Remember also to bring a display from your district to national conference. Then the honor goal is to help send the district president to the early board meetings which are held at Winona Lake. We would like to have every district an honor district this year.

Rosalind had prayed that if the Lord wanted her to marry, He would lead her "to one wholly given up to Him and His service." When she met Jonathan Goforth she first noticed that he was rather shabbily dressed, for he was very poor. In fact, he wore such poor clothing when he entered college that the students made fun of him. They also laughed at him for witnessing of Jesus in the slums and prisons of Toronto. But they later came to respect him highly and were much ashamed of their treatment of him.

Rosalind, too, soon saw that her prayer was answered and that he was truly on fire for God. After their engagement he asked her, "Will you give me your promise that always you will allow me to put my Lord and His work first, even before you?" She said she always would.

Jonathan had heard the Lord saying, "Who will go for us and whom shall we send?" and he had answered, "Here am I; send me." So, soon after their marriage the Goforths really went forth to China. That was in 1888.

When Hudson Taylor heard that they wished to go to the Honan Province in China, where the people hated foreigners the worst, he told them: "If you would enter this province, you must go forward on your knees." And they certainly found it true that much prayer was needed every step of the way.

Special prayer by his old college friends that Jonathan might become skillful in speaking the new language was answered definitely on the day they prayed. Before this time he had studied a whole year without much progress.

The Goforths did not spare themselves, but worked very hard, and endured the many hardships patiently. They often preached and taught the Chinese all day long, taking turns at it, as their visitors came and went in huge crowds. One day, for example, they had 2,400 in various services.

Mr. Goforth was a great soul-winner, and truly one of the greatest missionaries of modern times. He loved to read his Bible and pray. He was always cheerful in the Lord's service, for he had great faith that God would do mighty works in answer to prayer.

They went through some very hard trials. Several of their children died from the terrible diseases sweeping over China. They lost their possessions by fire and by flood, and they were often in danger of their lives. The worst time was when they had to flee from the country during the Boxer Rebellion. The cruel bandits attacked Jonathan with their swords and knives, cutting him severely, and leaving him for dead. The Lord spared their lives, however, in what they described as a thousand miles of miracles.

When they returned to China later, Mr. Goforth was greatly used of the Lord in bringing about great revivals, where those who had fallen into sin confessed and made right the wrongs they had done. Many new souls were won to the Lord also. He said it was all the Lord's doing. His motto was, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit," saith the Lord."

Dr. and Mrs. Goforth labored on in China until 1934. He had become blind and she was in poor health, but they continued to work as long as they could. He died in 1936 and she in 1942.

"EITHER-OR; NEITHER-NOR"

By Marybeth Munn

We see bats every evening flying from tree to tree around our yard, but I had never seen one up close until Jake (Kliever) shot one for me with his .22. It had a head like a dog with a long nose, big ears, and fur. It had a wing spread of about 15 inches. It really was a weird-looking specimen.

The people here have a story about these bats. It seems that all animals were gathered to a banquet. So Mr. Bat came to the feast. At his arrival he had to pass a physical examination. "Are you truly an animal?" the examiners asked. "See my face and my body," replied Mr. Bat. "Aren't they the face and body of a true animal?" "Yes, that is true, but still you have wings, so you are a bird and no birds are allowed here."

So poor Mr. Bat went up in the trees where all the birds were feasting. Here again he had to pass the examiner. "Are you truly a bird?" the birds asked. "Yes, indeed," Mr. Bat hopefully replied; "don't you see my large wings? Didn't I fly up here? What animal can fly?" "That's true, but you have no bill and you have the face and body of an animal. No animals are allowed at our table."

Poor Mr. Bat—neither animal nor bird. He was outside both realms. To moralize on the story just a little: Many Christians are like Mr. Bat. They still have so many characteristics of the world that they don't find fellowship with consecrated believers. Yet they have enough Christian principles and ways that they don't enjoy the fellowship of the unsaved either. The Lord tells us that He wants us either cold or hot, and that because some are neither cold nor hot He will spue them out of His mouth (Rev. 3:16).

PRAYER SUGGESTIONS

1. Pray for our SMM missionary in Africa, Miss Marybeth Munn.
2. Pray for national SMM officers as they plan the program of the coming year.
3. Pray that the Lord will bless the service of SMM girls that souls will be saved.
4. Pray for the special needs of your own SMM group.

OFFICIARY FOR 1952-53

President—Patty Griffith, Box 4053, Bob Jones University, Greenville, S. C.
Vice President—Cora Luna, Box 711, Taos, N. Mex.
General Secretary—Helen Small, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Treasurer—Mary Hooks, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Literature Secretary—Myra Joy Conner, 4131 Vermont Ave. NW., Roanoke, Va.
Bandage Secretary—Evelyn Vnasdale, 555 Kinnaird Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind.
Patroness—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. NE., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
Assistant Patroness—Mrs. John Armstrong, R. R. 2, Wooster, Ohio.

BRITISH-ISRAELISM

By Dr. Homer A. Kent

In British-Israelism we have a cult which is built upon some very definite misinterpretations of the prophetic Scriptures. It is not to be considered a cult in the sense that it denies the inspiration of the Scriptures, the deity of Christ, or the claims of Christ upon the lives of men. It does not deny these things. It boldly affirms itself to be thoroughly Christian. Its main error is in relation to the prophetic Word, which it twists into grotesque shapes in order to make it fit into their unique ideas. Because of its usage of the Scriptures and its true affirmations, the movement becomes all the more subtle to those who are unlearned in the Word.

I. What is the significance of its NAME? The name "British-Israelism" carries within it the distinctive idea that this group emphasizes, namely, that Israel or the 10 "lost" tribes are to be identified with Great Britain. Joseph Wild, in his book, "The Ten Lost Tribes," states that Messiah's throne of righteousness and peace is to be identical with the throne of England, and the English people are "the saints of the Most High," to whom all the kingdoms of the world shall soon be given. In another of their publications, "The Banner of Israel," the following statement is found: "During the wanderings in the desert His (God's) presence was manifested by the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night. . . . The same Lord still watches over the ten lost tribes of Israel in England." The Shekinah glory of God is made out to be the glow of British furnaces and steam engines in its present-day manifestation! The movement is sometimes called "Anglo-Israelism."

II. Who BELONGS to the movement? Anton Darms, in his excellent book, "The Delusion of British-Israelism," says there are over 2,000,000 adherents connected with it. Among these are many distinguished people, mostly British or Anglo-Saxon in origin, including royalty, members of Parliament, and leading clergymen in the Church of England. Thus it is a movement which tends to foster pride among the English people.

Many of its adherents believe strongly in the Lord Jesus Christ as evangelical believers do. They are pre-millennial as far as the Lord's coming is concerned. They are a people who have a peculiar bent for prophetic study. In fact, as their writings are read, the reader sometimes wonders if they are interested in much else in the Word.

III. What are some of its MAIN BELIEFS? Rev. Curtis G. Morrill, in an excellent short article on British-Israelism appearing in the Brethren Missionary Herald, June 27, 1942, lists 11 tenets of this system, some of which the writer of this article now presents. They claim that:

(1) The Scriptures clearly distinguish between Israel and the Jews.

(2) The 10 tribes of Israel inherited all the promises of Abraham while the Jews received the curses.

(3) The 10 tribes were lost through the captivity and never returned to the land of Palestine.

(4) These "lost" tribes were promised that they would be a great nation, possess the islands of the sea, and hold the gates of their enemies.

(5) When 9 of these tribes were lost, they wandered through central Europe and finally into the British Isles.

(6) The tribe of Benjamin later left the Jews and went northward also, and appeared as the Norman conquerors, and thus were reunited with their fellow countrymen.

(7) The long line of British rulers is the continuation of the throne of David.

(8) The British people, together with the United States, constitute the lost (?) 10 tribes of Israel today, and are God's covenant people, which explains the great world empire and power of these people. Some say that England is Ephraim and the United States is Manasseh.

(9) They interpret the stone cut out "without hand" referred to in the Book of Daniel as being the British Empire instead of Christ, and go as far as to say that the empire today is the kingdom of God on earth.

IV. How may the movement be REFUTED?

First of all, the movement refutes itself by its many expressions of doubt. As Darms points out (p. 93), the writings of British-Israelism are full of such expressions as "no doubt," "in all probability," "tradition," "legend," "myth," "doubtless," "that we may guess," "can there be any doubt?" "may we not infer?" "there were probably," "it may have been," "perhaps," "we may reasonably suppose," "we venture to think," and "it is not hard to believe." Thus it shows itself to be a delusion of supposition and doubt.

Secondly, they are wrong in assuming that Israel and the Jews are to be distinguished from the time of Solomon to the present time. For instance, the Book of Ezra refers to those who returned from the Babylonian captivity as "Jews" 8 times and "Israel" no less than 40 times, and in Nehemiah they are called "Jews" 11 times and "Israel" 22 times. Coming to the New Testament we find Paul referring to himself as "a Jew of Tarsus" (Acts 21:39) and "an Israelite" (Rom. 11:1). In his aforementioned article, Curtis Morrill says that in the New Testament the same people are referred to as "Jews" 174 times and "Israel" 75 times. Hence the distinction that the British-Israelites talk so much about is a mere fiction.

Thirdly, they are wrong in claiming that the 10 northern tribes were lost. In the previous paragraph we have seen that Israelites as well as Jews returned from the captivity. Our Lord sent His disciples to preach to the "lost sheep of the house of Israel." The Epistle of James was written "to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad." Evidently they were not lost therefore. Moreover, Josephus tells us just where the majority of the 10 tribes were located in his day.

The seriousness of the British-Israelite teaching is that it changes the plain meaning of the Word of God into a meaning that fits into a system that tends to foster the pride of a particular people in the world. When men begin to play fast and loose with the Scriptures, who can tell what the end shall be? The movement, moreover, does irreparable damage to the prophetic element in the Scriptures.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 20

HOME MISSION NUMBER

MAY 16, 1953

SEATTLE BRETHREN SEARCH FOR LOCATION

The Seattle Brethren have been searching for months to find God's location for a church and, as the picture reveals, they even look to the air for help. (Inset) Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Hammers and family searching the Scriptures; the Seattle Bible class meeting in the YMCA; Rev. Hammers and Brethren Cunningham, McConahay, and Mackey; the type of homes in the area.

SEATTLE CHALLENGES BRETHREN EVERYWHERE

A 3-day visit to Seattle, Wash., was convincing evidence to us that this is indeed one of the most challenging and most rapidly growing cities in the United States. Statistics prove this fact unquestionably. Therefore it is a strategic spot in which to establish several Brethren churches.

Bro. Thomas Hammers, who is our pastor in this growing city, says he has never seen as great an opportunity and is thrilled with the possibilities.

A group of faithful Brethren, who were first brought together by Bro. Russell Williams, have met periodically in the YMCA chapel downtown and have prayed earnestly for the establishment of a Brethren church. Through the months God has been working and now we are ready to launch out definitely in this great field.

Due to the tremendous growth, the cost of property is extremely high. We have a splendid location in mind for our first church in Seattle and we urgently need the help of Brethren all across this nation in providing investment funds to help finance this project. Such help would make it possible for us to go ahead immediately. We also need your gifts and prayers for the development of the work.

Since Brethren families are scattered to the extreme edges of the city it will be necessary for us to start 2 Brethren churches almost simultaneously. This means a greater outlay of funds than average. Brother Hammers says: "From the outset it has been apparent that a Brethren church should be planned for both the north and south ends of the city." We also should be planning for a work in the east and west, going into Bremerton and Bellevue.

The Brethren in Seattle have been willing to assume large responsibilities in these matters and they are absolutely worthy of our support.

Let us indeed make Seattle a beachhead for the greater growth of our Fellowship throughout the Northwest!

Write us if you can help in any way!

Editorials

By L. L. Grubb

JEWS DOING WELL FOR THE JEWS

We have it on reliable authority that $50,000,000 a year has been spent by American Jews on aid to Jews abroad during the past 20 years. This amounts to $1,000,000,000.

Even this amount does not reflect the additional millions which were given personally to friends and relatives overseas.

The Scripture says that "the liberal soul shall be made fat." This certainly means fatness for thousands of Jews if they are in the circle of God's blessing through Christ. However, it is more likely that most of these Jews have never found the joy of salvation through their rejected Messiah.

Since America has at least afforded a temporary haven for the Jew it is also true that she will share in some of that "fatness." The plan of God for blessing those who bless Israel has never been changed. On the other hand, it has been abundantly proved by His treatment of nations that have persecuted and slaughtered the seed of Israel.

The alarming situation is the increase in anti-Semitic feeling in our nation. One Jew was heard to make this statement: "Someday—I don't know when—the same thing that happened to Jews in Germany will happen in the United States. Then Israel will be the only place to go." During the past 2 years especially, a new wave of anti-Jewish feeling has swept across America and has ranged from the halls of Congress to the average man on the street.

According to the prophetic Word we know that this anti-Jewish feeling will be on the upswing as we approach the end of the age. As the children of God we should be careful to have no part in it. Instead, our support of Biblical Jewish missions should be increased.

ARE THE CHURCHES FAILING OUR GIs?

Former Chief Chaplain of the United States Navy Rear Admiral S. W. Salisbury feels that the Protestant churches of America have definitely failed to meet the spiritual challenge of the current GI. In a recent statement he said: "We are a military state, whether we like it or not—and most of us do not. Nevertheless, the fact that we have been forced into a military state in time of peace—or semipeace—demands that our churches develop new techniques and new programs if they are to fulfill their spiritual responsibilities to our young GI men and women."

To give point and emphasis to his conviction he has retired at the age of 62 with the avowed intention of devoting his full time to maintaining contacts with churchmen and urging a stepped-up program for spiritual help for the GI.

It is certainly true that most Protestant churches have little, if any, systematic program for meeting the needs of GI's leaving their congregations for 2 years or more of service in the armed forces. Very little is done to prepare these young men and women spiritually for

(Continued on Page 321)

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

POSSIBLE NEW CHURCH IN DAVENPORT, IOWA

With 2 Brethren preachers, Arnold Kriegbaum and Lester Pifer, we winged our way into the great populated area where Davenport, Rock Island, and Moline join hands across the mighty Mississippi River. This is a large populated area with many thousands of people who need the Gospel.

For several months, Brother Kriegbaum, pastor of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, church, has been driving to Davenport and holding a Bible class each week. As a result, a number of folks have become vitally interested in establishing a Brethren church in that great city.

Our meeting with these folks in the Clifford Strock residence was indeed a blessing. Tentative plans were made for the future with the hope that the Lord will lead and guide in providing all needs incidental to a new work.

Here is another important item for your prayer list.

BRETHREN IN BALTIMORE

Recently we enjoyed a short visit with the Brethren folks in Baltimore, Md. Still meeting regularly for fellowship and instruction in the Word, these folks are anxious to get established in a new section of the city and expand their ministry for Christ. It is also encouraging to know that other Brethren families are moving, or planning to move, to Baltimore and join this group. Soon we hope to be able to announce some extended plans for this work.

MEETING IN MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

While in this area we took advantage of the opportunity to fellowship with our home mission folks in Martinsburg.

God's blessing has been richly bestowed on this church. Many souls have been saved. Through the ministry of Bro. Leon Myers, the pastor, a strong testimony is going forth in this needy community. There is much for which to praise the Lord.

FELLOWSHIP DINNER IN YORK

One of the finest fields we have for new church endeavor is found in York, Pa. A thriving, growing city, and center of a wide agricultural area, York promises to be an increasing challenge for the future.

Here our pastor, Bro. Gerald Polman, and a fine group of people are meeting in a former grocery store which has been "converted" to become a church and Sunday school.

A fellowship dinner in this building was an event of real blessing to all.

We need to purchase property for a new church in York and have not as yet been able to make a decision. Your earnest prayers are needed for a location and a new church building.

THE LORD IS BLESSING IN HARRISBURG

One of our fine home mission churches is located in a new section of the capital city of the State of Pennsylvania. Here we have the first unit of a new building and a fine growing congregation, pastored by Bro. Russell Weber.

During our recent visit there we could not be in a public service, but we did have the opportunity of meeting with the Brethren Boys Club and seeing what a fine work is being done with them. Several hard-working laymen were present at that meeting assisting in the task.

HOME MISSION BOARD MEETS

Due to the increased amount of activity in our Brethren home mission work, our directors came together at Winona Lake for a meeting a few weeks ago.

The largest task faced was the revising of the budget to meet the offerings given during the last Thanksgiving season. Even though that offering did not meet the budget, the Home Missions Council decided to give the Lord an opportunity to send in the difference over the period of 1 year.

Many important decisions were made. One of the most important, which we hope will have a definite bear-

(Continued on Page 321)

These pictures taken at Martinsburg, W. Va., show the church, the growing congregation, and the pastor, Rev. M. L. Myers, with his wife and family.

A NEW MEXICAN "MACEDONIAN CALL"

By Evan Adams, Brethren Navaho Mission

The Rio Grande River cuts through the mountains of north-central New Mexico in a wandering gorge of exposed strata and tangled brush. Occasionally it flows out of its deep canyon and crosses small fertile valleys, slackening its pace and bringing life to an otherwise semiarid area. It is in such small valleys along the banks of the muddy Rio Grande that some of the old villages of New Mexico are situated. Their histories are as dusty as the many small adobe huts clustered in them. Such names as Embudo, Rinconada, Alcalde, Pilar suggest their ancestry.

The conquerors of New Spain brought more than old-world names for their villages; they brought their black-robed padres, carrying the crucifix to conquer the hearts of the people for the Church of Rome. Though the Spanish soldiers have long vanished and New Spain is now only a historical name, the vestiges of Rome have not been erased from the scenes of the past. Still today the shadow of the adobe catedrales is cast across the village streets by the hot spring sun; the crucifix is still the pinnacle of the leaning, weather-stained bell towers. Though the rule of the crown of Spain has long been gone, the padres of Rome still hold the keys to the gates of heaven.

The Spanish-speaking remnants of New Mexico are held in an almost absolute power by these priests who can "absolve" or "condemn a person to hell" on personal, arbitrary decision. In most of these villages the Dark Ages reappear regularly in the practices and ritual of the Penitentes. This Roman sect specializes in extreme self-torture to attain—they know not what. They assembled with the bodies of the dead at night to pray—for what? They don't know. The resurrection season finds them celebrating a dead Christ in a coffin.

Paul Martinez bears in his chest and back deep scars from self-inflicted wounds; cuts made with a jagged piece of a broken bottle to bring forth his blood—for "without shedding of blood is no remission." Only he didn't know then that it was the Lord Jesus Christ whose blood had to flow to give remission for sins. Today the wounds of Paul are long healed, and only scars attest to the past. Better yet, he now knows that it is the Lord Jesus Christ "in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col. 1:14).

I met Paul Martinez as he was walking along the mountain road near his village of Velarde, N. Mex. A cold April wind was blowing through the valleys and the highway was still damp from the morning rain as I brought the truck to a halt beside him, sliding the suitcases and coats over to make room for him in the cab. He hadn't signaled for a ride; he was merely trudging slowly in my direction. He hadn't asked for a ride, but something brought the truck to a halt for some reason. I had just driven 1,400 miles and hadn't picked up a single hitch-hiker in that distance.

As this stranger climbed into the seat he asked, in his

Rev. Evan Adams

Spanish-accented English, "Where you are going?" I replied that I was headed for our mission over near Counselor Trading Post, across the mountains from there. A broad grin broke over his face as he said, "Then you are a believer?" His hand was thrust out in the token of brotherhood.

For the next few miles he told me how happy he was to meet another Christian. His village of 600 Spanish people has only one Christian—Paul Martinez. From his pocket came forth a small Spanish Testament, well-read and well-marked. Another pocket divulged numerous Scripture memory verses pasted on cardboard. Much of it was in his heart, too, for he soon quoted the 14th chapter of John in Spanish; many other verses followed. My new-found friend was full of questions, which indicated his hunger to know more about God's Word and to discuss the things which were dear to his heart. And then as we approached Española, his destination, he asked if I wouldn't wait for him a few minutes while he paid a debt, so that he might ride on as far as Santa Fe for more time of fellowship.

As we were driving away from Española, Paul asked if we couldn't have a time of hymn singing together. Only one song in Spanish depleted my repertoire from memory, and then we sang for each other—he in Spanish, I in Navaho. Finally we sang many of the old hymns together in English as we rolled through the mountains north of Santa Fe.

Of course I was interested in Paul's life in his home village as a Christian.

"How do your people treat you?" I asked.

"They call me 'Hallelujia.' They say I am dead since I don't get drunk with them any more nor do the many other things they do. I answer them that they are right; I am dead to the sin of my old life."

"How does it happen that you are the only believer in your family and in your village?" I further questioned my fellow traveler. "How did you hear the Gospel under those conditions?"

Paul then related the events of his conversion. He told how a couple of Christians came to his little house in Lupton, Colo., where he was working in the beet fields some years ago. They had asked him if he would allow them to hold services in his dwelling, and that they might invite others of the field workers in too.

He recalled: "I didn't know what it was all about, but I said they could use my house for the week of meetings if they wanted to. The second night, while the man was talking to us from the Word of God, I began to cry. That night I called on the Lord Jesus Christ as my Saviour, and the next day when I awoke everything was changed and new. I never smoked again after that, nor ever drank again. You should have seen what a drunkard I was too. I didn't have to try to get rid of those things in my life. The Spirit of God had taken them away from me, and all my desires changed overnight. Ever since then it has been as if I suddenly came out of a dark place into light and understanding. I used to pray at night with the dead bodies when I was a Penitente, but I never knew why we were praying. Everything then was darkness and fear."

As the truck rolled into the outskirts of Santa Fe, our parting place, Paul asked: "Why can't you come and live in my village with me for awhile? We have a 7-room adobe house, with only my old mother and me living there. Once I was in a village where there were meetings every night for a month. Now I know no Christians around me with whom to talk. Do you know any believers near my home that I could meet?"

I then asked him if he knew of the work of our friends, the Sam Horneys, in Taos Valley among the Spanish people. Paul replied that he knew of them and had received tracts from them through the mail. Recently I had heard that one of my friends from California was now in Los Alamos working for the A. E. C. and that he was still carrying on his lay preaching and helping to organize a group of believers there. His name was written down for future fellowship and help for this hungry Spanish believer.

As we were parting, Paul said: "You will probably forget about me, but I wish you would write to me. Also come and visit me whenever you come through this part of New Mexico. Sometime I would like to come and visit your mission across the mountains, if I can find a way to get there."

Obviously I haven't forgotten about Paul Martinez, of Velarde, N. Mex., for I am writing this 5 days later. It will be hard for me to forget him and his call for help and fellowship. Will you forget him?

ADDITIONAL HIGHLIGHTS ON THE DEDICATION OF THE CHURCH AT ALEXANDRIA, VA., MARCH 29

SHOWERS OF BLESSINGS HAVE FALLEN ON US

By Wilbur K. Hess, Sunday School Superintendent

Seeing our new church building grow from an imagination to the present beautiful building gives me a great amount of respect for the work of the Brethren Home Missions Council. Without their help we in Alexandria would still be holding our services in a schoolhouse.

All of us here are praising God for giving us such a beautiful house of worship. Through the help of Brethren home missions, and through much prayer, work, and sacrifice by the people here, we have a church which is second to none in beauty in this city. God has truly "poured us out a blessing" in that we have not only a new building, but it is complete with new furniture, a new organ and piano, and new hymnbooks.

Since we occupied the basement of our new building nearly 2 years ago, it has been our joy to see a large number find the Lord Jesus Christ as personal Saviour, and to see many lives reclaimed for Him. Now that we are occupying our finished auditorium, we are looking forward to much greater blessings in the days ahead.

In our desire to see others share in this type of blessing, home missions can depend on wholehearted support from the people in Alexandria so that dozens of other Brethren churches may grow up in all sections of the country.

These pictures of the Alexandria, Va., dedication did not arrive in time for the April issue of the Herald. From the top down: the completed Alexandria church; those who participated in the dedication service which included the following out-of-town people: Rev. Homer A. Kent, Jr., Miss Beverly Page, Rev. Galen Lingenfelter, Dr. Homer A. Kent, Sr., and Mr. Roy E. Glass, Jr.; the pastor, Kenneth L. Teague, and family; and the capacity crowd in attendance. (The testimony of Mr. Hess was held over for lack of space last month.)

FINDLAY, OHIO (Forest F. Lance, pastor)—

Our meetings, we feel, were a real success, with 7 first-time decisions. We were able to state our position as a church to many people of the community, and it has been very well received. New families are becoming regular attenders and some are contemplating joining with us. Our goal of 100 for Easter was surpassed by 10, and the following Sunday night 80 were present for a prophetic message. More and more we are realizing our desperate need for our new building. We need to enlarge our Sunday school set-up at the present time, but we do not have the room. We expect to baptize at least 10 within the next few weeks and we praise the Lord for these fine new people He is giving us.

BEAUMONT, CALIF. (Gene Farrell, pastor)—

Now that we are having more prayer in our church, God is beginning to move. We had 55 out to prayer meeting last Wednesday night, of which 22 were young people. We have 2 additional prayer meetings each week, with one on Tuesday from 9 to 12 and the other on Saturday at 5 o'clock. These are some of the results: A family returned to fellowship with the Lord and us and in addition brought 3 neighbor children with them. The wife of a new couple is picking up children and taking the difficult office in our Bible school as registrar. The morning worship service is now running over 100 in attendance. A $300 check came last week with some others that were needed to complete our church. More family altars are in session now, too, praise the Lord. II Chronicles 7:14.

PORTLAND, OREG. (Vernon Harris, pastor)—

We have just concluded our meetings with Bro. Robert Ashman. The Lord gave us a good meeting and a wonderful Easter service. There were 170 in Sunday school and 151 in the morning worship service. Needless to say our basement auditorium was packed.

The average attendance for the meetings was 76, and 75 for the Happy Hour for children. There were 4 decisions among the adults, with 1 for rededication and 3 for public confession of faith in Christ. In the children's Happy Hour there were 45 decisions, with 11 making public confession in the regular church services.

A NEW BIBLE CLASS WAS STARTED IN SALEM, OREG., ON MONDAY NIGHT, APRIL 6, WITH 9

PRESENT. THERE WAS A FINE INTEREST MANIFESTED BY ALL THOSE PRESENT, AND THERE IS A REAL DESIRE TO SEE A NEW BRETHREN CHURCH IN SALEM. THE PRESENT PLAN IS TO MEET EVERY 2 WEEKS IN THE MERRILL GROAT HOME, 3350 N. RIVER RD.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA. (M. L. Myers, pastor)—

We of the Rosemont Brethren Church are continually being amazed by the grace of God. During the past 3 months there have been approximately 40 decisions of all kinds, 13 of which were first-time. There were 14 new Christians who joined the church, including 4 young married couples for whom we have been praying for over a year. During the 3-month period there were 11 who entered the waters of Christian baptism by trine immersion.

We are rejoicing too that our average attendance has reached a new all-time high during the month of April.

THE BRETHREN NAVAHO MISSION (Evan Adams, missionary)—

This was the last week of school for these Navaho boys and girls in the boarding school. We still had 20, but it was like defending a stockade against marauding Navahos to keep them here until the last day. Many of the parents wanted their children for shepherding their sheep and this made it difficult to keep them in school.

Sunday we had one of our biggest crowds—Sunday school, 28; afternoon church, 101; and evening service, 31. At the close of the afternoon service about 15 came to have prayer and make some profession of the Lord. Of course I never count any conversions until we have seen some evidence of growth over a period of months. Two who came forward were daughters of the medicine man, who is very antagonistic to our mission. He was away working on the railroad and the girls were free to come. On the following Thursday we held a service in their hogan. We have 8 or 10 of the Navahos who show some growth and take an active part in the services, prayer, testimony, singing, etc. The most of these are in their teens. Really, only the Lord could ever know what is in the hearts of most of the Navahos who profess to be Christians.

ALBANY, OREG. (Glen Welborn, pastor)—

It was a year ago that digging began for the basement of the Albany, Oreg., Grace Brethren Church parsonage.

Three days before Christmas the pastor and family moved into a lovely 3-bedroom parsonage. One outstanding feature about this full-basement, 2-story house is its sawdust-burning furnace which produces adequate heating at the small cost of about $35 a year.

The parsonage is located south of the church on the same property. And right here we want to insert an invitation to our traveling Brethren to stop in and try our guest room.

Saving the best for last, we turn to the spiritual. On Easter Sunday morning there were 3 babies dedicated to the Lord by 3 couples of our church. Following the evening service 5 people entered the baptismal waters, giving testimony to the fact they have been united with Christ in His eternal salvation.

JUNIATA, PA. (Phillip J. Simmons, pastor)—

It is a joy to send you greetings from your mission church in Juniata, suburb of Altoona, Pa., so that you will be able to join us in praise and prayer.

There is a constant joy as we reflect over His many blessings, and our voices of appreciation are lifted to our Lord. However, we have ever before us a deep sense of humility and cause for heart searching as we consider those heights which still remain untouched.

One of our encouragements at the present is the newly organized young married people's class. Since the first of the year those couples under 30 have been grouped, and show promise of becoming one of our most rapidly growing classes.

Our young people's BYF gives us cause for praise. Until recently they had met in the main auditorium, where they shared the opening service with other groups. A desire was expressed for a separate room. One was assigned, and enthusiasm now runs high, and real strides have been made in fully equipping and beautifying it.

Our boys' work has been a delight and is proving to be a special blessing.

We are rejoicing in the fact that this week our treasurer made the payment which brought us to the half-way mark on our note at the First National Bank. It is not our only loan, but this one is the largest and must be met in monthly payments.

Bro. J. G. Shaw, our senior deacon, who had been like a spiritual father to the congregation, was called to his heavenly home in February.

We have had a severe winter for illness which has reached almost every family. We have just paused from our writing long enough to jot down 16 cases of hospitalization in recent weeks. All this has tended to keep down attendances, but we rejoiced to see our attendance reach 170 in Sunday school, which was an Easter Sunday record, and has been surpassed only 3 times during our Christian Life contest last fall when we reached 194.

Satan has given us reason, as people and pastor, to be constantly reminded of the spiritual conflict in which we are engaged. He does not tire in his efforts. Of course the pull of the flesh is just as apparent in Altoona as in other communities. May we use this opportunity to request in our own behalf, and for other mission churches, a very definite place in your daily prayers.

FIRST BRETHREN DISTRICT CONFERENCE OF 1953

From top down: The Northern Ohio District conference in session; the First Brethren Church, Rittman, Ohio, host church; and pastors of the district, including Rev. Conard Sandy, Brethren Missionary Herald Editor.

The Northern Ohio District conference, held in the Brethren church at Rittman, Ohio, sounded a fine note in many different ways for others to follow. The attendance and spirit were excellent. Progressive and far-reaching plans were made for the future. Home mission activity is to increase. This district showed its vital interest in building Brethren churches by turning in a 25-percent increase in their offerings.

Often home mission churches start at a district conference. Plans are now being made together with the Brethren Home Missions Council to enter a new field in Elyria, Ohio, with a Bible class and soon another Brethren church. Other fields also are under investigation.

Already we have home mission groups at Findlay and Cleveland. There are also 4 former home mission churches in this district. One of these, in Fremont, Ohio, where Bro. Lester Pifer is pastor, is now engaged in starting a work among the colored people of the area.

PHOENIX BREAKS GROUND FOR BUILDING

Rev. J. C. McKillen reports that the Phoenix, Ariz., church broke ground for its building April 26. R. Paul Miller, Carlo Pietropaulo, A. L. Howard, LeRoy D. Thomas, and Roy L. Laurin participated in the program. More complete account will appear on these pages later.

ISRAEL CALLS!

THIS IS FAIRFAX!

By Bruce L. Button

A street some 30 or 40 blocks long, lined at intervals with groups of shops and stores, teeming with people, noisy with traffic—this is Fairfax Avenue. This is the street I walk every day. This is the business street of the section of Los Angeles, Calif., where the Brethren Messianic Witness is giving forth the Gospel.

Our immediate business section is 4 blocks long. Here you find only stores and shops that cater to Jewish trade. There are the delicatessens, the book stores, the kosher meat and grocery shops, theaters, photo shops, all striving for the Jewish trade. Here also you find the synagogue, the temple, the Jewish community center.

Each day Fairfax Avenue teams with thousands of people, people you recognize to be Jewish from their actions and appearance, people with happy faces and sorrowful faces, peaceful faces and troubled faces; people with wealth and people of poverty; people with families and people all alone; people who love and hate, laugh and cry; people like the folks in your town, like your neighbors, like yourselves, with but one exception. As you live with and love these people you begin to recognize what this exception is. It is not in the matter of "blood," for the Word of God maintains all men are of one blood. It is not in the classification of the names "Jew" and "gentile," for the Word of God maintains there is no difference between the Jew and the gentile, for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him. Only those who call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. Rather, this difference lies in the intensity of Jewish living.

They seem to feel an uncertainty, as far as security is concerned. They seem to fear that the cruelty and oppression which has always been showered upon the children of Abraham by the ungodly and unregenerated gentiles will be brought to the fore here in this last refuge of democracy. They seem to feel it is necessary to live for today, for tomorrow might bring forth the terror.

When I first contact the people of the Fairfax District they seem to throw up a barrier between us. They are polite and courteous. However, they are not interested in what I have to say. They have their own religion. They are sorry, but they are so busy. They are sure I understand. And the interview is over. And I do understand. You also should understand. These dear folk we contact have lost loved ones in the concentration camps of Dachau, Buchenwald, Vught, Terezin, and the many other camps set up in Europe during World War II. In not a few cases these people I talk to are the very refugees from these camps. At times I learn that the person to whom I am speaking is the last of a family which, at the beginning of the war, numbered 50 or 60 people. Mother, father, sisters, brothers, uncles, aunts, cousins all disappeared during the Nazi blood bath. Why should they listen to me? Why should they even talk to me? They do not know me. They have every right to be suspicious of me.

So they consider the interview ended. But I do not. I have a Lord who is able to make the dead live. He can cause the blinded eyes to see. He can make the deafened ears to hear. He can make the hardest heart receptive to His gracious words. He IS ABLE to open the way for a testimony concerning His gracious Son, the Messiah of Israel and the Saviour of all mankind. Thus I pray and study His Word and go back again ready to grasp the opportunity He will open to me each new day. And each day they become better acquainted with me. Each contact means a word of testimony here, a Scripture quotation there. It is line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, there a little.

Then a real opportunity comes. I've dropped into the delicatessen for a small purchase. No one is there but the proprietor. Time and time again I have tried to witness to this man. He will not listen. Only a little at a time. I have seen him at his home. Still no opportunity. Two years of contact—no real testimony. Our business is concluded. He jokes with me. If I continue eating Jewish food I'll soon become a Jew. I laugh with him and then suggest he would be surprised if I were to tell him I was a Jew. He says he does not believe I am. I tell him I am not as far as physical birth is concerned, but in spiritual birth it is another matter. I am a child of Abraham through faith! Through faith? What do I mean? Do I believe in Judaism? I reply that I do, but it is the Judaism of the Tenach in which I believe—a Judaism that has Messiah as the chief cornerstone. It is the Judaism which recognizes Psalms 2:12 and 16:10; Isaiah 9:6-7 and chapter 53; Daniel 9:25-27; Zechariah 12:10 and 13:6. It is the Judaism which recognizes sin and the need of atonement for the soul which sins. It is the Judaism of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, the prophets. It is NOT the Judaism of the Talmud or the rabbis.

It is then the opportunity presents itself. The question: "What is the difference of which you speak?" I open God's Word and begin to read the passages referred to, and also others which deal with the identity of Messiah and His reason for coming to earth.

"But Israel is not a sinful nation," is the reply. I turn to Isaiah 1:4 and read: "Ah sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a seed of evildoers . . ." and on to the end of the chapter. There is no answer to this reading. My friend is silent. I tell of the graciousness of Jesus and of His claims. I read Scripture from the New Testament—passages that state the fulfillment of the Old Testament passages I have previously read.

Someone comes up to the counter. I tell my friend I will see him again and hand him the Mediator, with 2 tracts enclosed in it. "My address and phone number are in the pamphlet," I say. "Should you have further questions, get in touch with me and I will be glad to answer for you." He bids me good-bye and I start for the door. I hear the customer say, "You and the missionary?" As I go out the door my friend answers, "Can you do better?"

Testimonies such as this are made possible by your prayers for and gifts to the Brethren Messianic Witness. God's Word only goes forth as God's people pray. Brethren, pray for us.

(Continued From Page 314)

what they will be facing away from home in the form of sinful temptation. The pastor may have a little talk with the individual, which often is soon forgotten in the demands and temptations of military life. Many of our young people look on these months of military training as a lark—a sort of opportunity to sow a few wild oats. In the process sometimes their lives and bodies are ruined morally and physically. This we have seen personally in several vivid cases.

The Roman Catholic Church provides preinduction courses for their prospective GI's. Lectures, films, and advice on how to conduct one's life in the armed services are given to Catholic young men and women.

Within a few years more than 10 million young men and women will have spent an average of 2 years in military service. This is an amazingly large segment of our population. More important, it is the segment which will be ruling America tomorrow, making its laws, and administering its government. Admiral Salisbury points out that these young people "will bring back with them the imprint of their service life, their observations, and their experiences in the countries in which they have served."

Protestant churches, including our own, should further investigate this matter. If we continue to ignore the spiritual and recreational needs of these young people the moral fiber of America will suffer another severe blow. Deprived of this help, hundreds of GI's are turned into cheap dance halls, disreputable night clubs, "clip joints," houses of prostitution; and some become professional gamblers.

Churches which are close by military installations have a special responsibility and privilege. They can meet the GI need on a local basis by providing some spiritual and social help for these often very homesick men and women. To say the least, home churches can keep in contact with their servicemen by mail at regular intervals and, through other printed literature and special prayer meetings, can further fortify them against daily temptation. For larger denominations a special national agency could certainly find plenty to do in keeping contact with service personnel all over the world.

This is one more indication that sometimes the church needs to change its methods, program, and approach, even though we still preach the same Gospel which is the power of God unto salvation. The church limits the scope of its ministry and its effectiveness for Christ when it fails to see and meet these needs and remains in the same traditional rut.

HOME MISSIONS TRAVELOG

(Continued From Page 315)

ing on the growth of our church in the future, is the decision to organize a Brethren Construction Company. This has been done and the company is now operating in the construction of Brethren churches. One construction gang is already at work, headed up by Bro. Tom Bailey, and others are in the making.

We need the prayers of Brethren everywhere for wisdom in meeting the ever-increasing challenges to establish and build new Brethren churches.

All rights Reserved

C. S. Zimmerman

I Thessalonians

I. Presents.

A. The relation of the second advent to Christian experience.

II. Key Words.

- A. Coming (1:10 implied; 2:19; 3:13; 4:15; 5:23).
- B. Gospel of God (2:2, 8, 9).
- C. Word of God (2:13).

III. Key Verses.

A. 1:3—"Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father."

Unfolded in 1:9-10.

- 1. "Faith" points to the past—"turned to God."
- 2. "Labour of love" points to the present—"serve the living God."
- 3. "Hope" points to the future—"wait for his Son."
- B. Cf. 1:10; 2:19; 3:13; 4:15; 5:23.

IV. Key Outline.

A. Personal (1-3).

Each argument enforced with the idea of the return of Christ.

B. Instruction (4-5).

- 1. Exhortation (4:1-12).
- 2. The substance of the teaching (4:13-5:3).
- 3. Other exhortations (5:4-22).
- 4. Prayer (5:23-24).
- 5. Conclusion (5:25-28).

V. Key Thoughts for Today.

A. Ways that we are to respond to the truth of the second coming of our Lord.

1. In our own life, by sanctification.

The life of sanctification is that of personal purity, love of the brethren, and honesty in the world. That is response to doctrine (I John 3:3).

2. In face of death.

We fall asleep, knowing that when the Lord shall come we will be awakened, and changed with those who remain. We wait not for death, but for Him.

3. In view of the judgment that lies beyond.

It will keep us from—

- a. Unbelief, and return to idols.
- b. Indolence, which issues in strife.
- c. Impatience, which issues in sin.

B. The sanctification of the spirit, soul, and body consists in that waiting for Jesus which is the waiting of unceasing service. It puts feet and hands to our hope.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Dr. Herman A. Hoyt is scheduled to speak at the California District conference the first week in August and is open to other speaking engagements in that area.

Pastor and Mrs. Norman A. Nelson, of the Compton, Calif., church, became the parents of a son, Nels Norman, April 11.

The address of Chaplain (1st Lt.) Wayne S. Flory is Hq. 130th Inf. Reg., 44th Inf. Div., Fort Lewis, Wash. (change Annual, p. 68).

The Dayton, Ohio, Patterson Park church, pastored by Caleb S. Zimmerman, maintained an average of 66 in Bible school during April.

Miss Ruth Snyder is scheduled to speak at the Flora, Ind., church May 17, according to Pastor Charles Turner.

Pastor Charles Turner, of the Flora, Ind., church, is scheduled to be ordained to the ministry at his home church, Akron, Ohio, May 17 at 2:30 p. m., with the pastor of that church, Harold H. Etling, in charge.

The Cornell Heights Sunday school, sponsored by the Dayton, Ohio, First church, had 59 people present April 26. Pastor William A. Steffler was the teacher of the adults that day.

The Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, church gave its pastor, Richard L. Burch, a call to serve another year.

The Canton, Ohio, church, where John Dilling is pastor, was host to a singspiration service, May 3, of the Canton Bible Institute.

Pastor Miles Taber, of the Ashland, Ohio, church, will speak over the local radio outlet each day during the week of May 18.

Dr. Alva J. McClain, president of Grace Seminary, is scheduled to speak over the national network of the American Broadcasting Company on 4 Saturdays—May 16, 23, 30, and June 6. Consult local papers for time. These messages are in the series, "Bible Messages," being sponsored by the American Council of Christian Churches.

The East District preachers met at the Altoona, Pa., First church, April 20-21, for a time of Bible study and prayer. Dr. Ralph Stoll, a local Baptist pastor, was the main Bible teacher. The churches of this district have planned a banquet for the seniors in their congregations for May 16 at Baker's Summit school-house. The laymen of the district have set aside May 23 as a day of prayer, with the sessions being held at the Conemaugh, Pa., Pike church.

A daughter, Pamela Sue, was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeton in April. Brother Sweeton is assistant pastor of the Long Beach, Calif., Second church.

The South Gate, Calif., church, pastored by Alfred Dodds, held a campaign, March 31-April 19, led by the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade team of R. Paul Miller and Carlo Pietropaulo. It resulted in 60 decisions. The church recently added Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Zimmerman, and Mrs. Mabel Force to its deacon board.

Dr. Homer A. Kent preached at the Waterloo, Iowa, church April 26. Prof. John Whitcomb and Dr. Alva J. McClain are to be there May 17 and 24, respectively.

Pastor Orville A. Lorenz ended his ministry at the La Verne, Calif., church with a communion service April 5. He is now the chaplain in charge of Chapel 1 at Camp Roberts, Calif.

Pastor James G. Dixon accepted a call to continue his ministry at the Washington, D. C., church.

Rev. Marvin Goodman, Jr., and Bro. Howard Schrock have been in charge of services at the La Verne, Calif., church following the resignation of Rev. Orville A. Lorenz.

The father of Miss Dorothy Magnuson, office secretary at Grace Seminary, died in a Los Angeles hospital

May 1. Miss Magnuson left for California at once by airplane.

The California District has planned a precamp youth rally for May 18 at the Compton church, where Norman Nelson is pastor.

The Third church of Philadelphia, Pa., pastored by Robert S. Cessna, had 170 people in Sunday school April 26, and received 5 new members during April.

At the York, Pa., church, where Gerald Polman is pastor, the Sunday school attendance was 60 or more each Sunday in April, with a high of 70 on April 12.

Plans have been developed suddenly making possible a 9-weeks tour among Brethren churches and summer camps by the Brass Trio of Grace Theological Seminary. The team is composed of Edwin Cashman, Eddie Smith, Harold Westing, and David Halvorsen, accompanist. Dr. Paul Bauman, vice president of the seminary, will travel with them. Further information will appear in the Educational Number of the Brethren Missionary Herald next week.

The Long Beach, Calif., First church, pastored by Charles W. Mayes, called Rev. Albert L. Flory to continue as minister of education and superintendent of the Brethren Schools of Long Beach; and called Bro. Don Hocking, Grace Seminary student, to join the staff during the summer—his third there.

Bro. Walter M. Fergus is now serving as pastor of the Accident, Md., church.

Profs. S. Herbert Bess and George Cone, Jr. (with Mrs. Cone), attended the foreign language conference at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky., April 23-25. On the last day of the conference Mr. Bess read a paper on the "Philosophic Preconceptions Reflected in the Revised Standard Version of the Bible."

Mrs. Don Pugh, 1110 Burchland Dr., Martinsville, Va., would like to meet other Brethren or people interested in the Brethren Church living in that community.

Evangelist William Smith is scheduled for services at Grafton, W. Va., where Lee Crist is pastor, May 10-17; Voice of Christian Youth Conference, Clarksville, Mich., May 30; California summer camp, June 20-July 11; Atlantic-Southeast camp, July 20-August 1; and Michigan camp, August 3-15.

"HARVEST IS PAST, THE SUMMER IS ENDED"

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Chairman of Book Club Committee

Centuries ago, an old prophet of Israel cried out in anguish to a people whose ears were dull of hearing, that "harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved" (Jer. 8:20). There is no better time to meditate upon the words of this prophet than during those days when summer is just approaching. These are the days of planning, planting, seed-sowing, preparing for the harvest which is sure to come.

In a very real sense these are days of planning, planting, seed-sowing, and preparing for the spiritual harvest that will come at the close of this age. Every believer has some place of importance in relation to the coming harvest. All should be sowing the seed, which is the Word of God. Others are watering the new growth. Some are cultivating the soil. There is no place or position in relation to this great coming harvest that is to be minimized. The clearer the understanding of the task, the more efficient and capable the laborer, the greater will be the harvest. For this purpose Brethren people should be availing themselves of the good Christian literature that will furnish them for the task.

Brethren people who do not belong to the book club could well afford to join the group who share in this fellowship of good reading. Your book club committee has spent many hours each month poring over the mass of material coming from the press. Much of it is worth nothing. Some of it will live for many, many years. To save the time of the readers, and to guide the members of this club to worth-while books, this page is maintained from month to month.

Join this club today. Send for one of the books recommended for your reading, and you automatically become a member of the club. A premium book will be sent you immediately. You may have your choice of the following books as a premium: "Stranger Than Fiction," by Florence Gribble; "Prayer: Asking and Receiving," by John R. Rice; or "The Emerald Necklace," by Elise Fraser. By ordering one of the two books recommended for the month of June you will then be entitled to the premium book.

The first-choice book for June is "Elijah the Tishbite," by Krummacher. The second-choice book is "Across the Seas," by Allen. The reviews follow. The first-choice book will be sent to members unless the Brethren Missionary Herald Company is informed otherwise before June 1. In case you desire another selection, either the second-choice for this month or some other book listed previously in these columns, be sure to send word to the company before June 1. Members of the club purchasing books April 1 through July will receive the dividend book for this period, "How to Obtain Fullness of Power," by Reuben A. Torrey.

ELIJAH THE TISHBITE

By F. W. Krummacher

There was no more interesting person in Old Testament times than Elijah the Tishbite. James said he was "a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain: and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months. And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit" (Jas. 5:17-18).

Elijah is the man with whom the Lord Jesus compared John the Baptist and the one chosen to represent all the prophets on the Mount of Transfiguration. He is the man who was caught from the earth by a "miracle" of God, not yet having suffered death, though he lived centuries before the time of Christ.

Dr. F. W. Krummacher, of Germany, has set forth this Old Testament prophet in his surroundings in a clear, interesting, and readable manner. Yet this is much more than a historical biography of a man of God. This treatise by Krummacher shows the meaning of his ministry and the underlying purposes back of his prophecies.

In the 32 chapters of this book the author treats the 32 events in the life of this man that God has recorded concerning him in the Word of God.

Saints everywhere owe their appreciation to the Zondervan Publishing House for making this classic of the church available to this generation, and the members of the book club committee take much joy in being able to offer this volume to the members of the Brethren Book Club at the very reasonable price of $2.95.

—Conard Sandy.

ACROSS THE SEAS

By Leroy Allen

One of the delights of the men on board a destroyer is participation in the initiation of newcomers into their society. Our story opens with this hilarious occasion on board the U. S. S. Mastin, far out in the Pacific Ocean. Our 2 heroes, Mickey Conant and Tom Wilson, were enjoying themselves to the full—until the young man about to be initiated changed the entire tone of the proceedings. With defiance and hatred he threatened Mickey if he received the same treatment as the ones who had gone before him. Mickey was almost too stunned to move, but not his buddies; so this sneering newcomer really got the "works."

This was the beginning of an extremely varied relationship between these 3 men. Rumor on board had it that Ernie Farrow was a Communist, which immediately placed him under suspicion. How he was freed of this evil association and his name cleared of any stigma makes captivating reading. Ernie turned from a "watched" man into a real hero by a daring act on board ship. Most important of all, he found Christ and a new life through his association with Mickey and Tom.

There is tension, action, and romance—everything needed to make a real story. Those who have met Tom and Mickey in "Desires of the Heart" will look forward with anticipation to their further adventures in this new book, priced at $2 a copy.—Blaine Snyder.

THE MARK OF THE BEAST

By Rev. R. I. Humbert, Flora, Ind.

Fifty years ago German peddlers trudged through our country with packs on their backs, offering their trinkets to whomsoever would buy. Sometimes they would stay all night at our house. One man told my father that in Germany all young men had to take military training and that he had come to this country to escape it. Another said that a German farmer was not even permitted to butcher one of his own hogs without permission from the government.

In our boundless American freedom we could hardly imagine such a condition on this earth. But as the years passed and I read how that in the end of the age a world despot would arise who would grasp the reigns of human government and control all industry, I wondered what could ever happen that would lead the people of our land to permit their government to control their buying and selling.

The "Blue Eagle"

Several years ago I spoke in the State of New York on the 13th chapter of Revelation, and mentioned the mark of the beast. The very next Tuesday night I passed through Roaring Spring, Pa., and saw my first "Blue Eagle" in a grocery store window. Verily, that old bird was not the mark of the beast, but she most certainly laid an egg that will hatch out into the real thing some day. And who of us does not even now remember the day, not so long ago, when to buy a gallon of gasoline or a pound of sugar we had to produce a coupon with its certain mark upon it.

The political end of this age is set before us in Revelation 13 and is to be characterized by 2 evil men.

"And I stood upon the sand of the sea, and saw a beast rise up out of the sea" (Rev. 13:1). The Book of Revelation is written in picture language, thus we seek the meaning of the pictures somewhere in the Bible. In 17:15 we read that the water represents the great mass of humanity, "peoples, and multitudes, and nations." This beast, or man, rises from living humanity. This is important, because another beast comes from another place later on in this chapter.

This beast has "ten horns" (13:1).

"And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings. . . . These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast" (17:12-13).

A Universal Dictator

Gentile world power is to end in a United States of Europe (Dan. 2). The old Roman Empire is to revive and one man will head the whole league of nations. But get Italy, England, Spain, and the other nations to unite under one man if we can. Impossible? But, verily, it shall be done. In fact, such a union has been accomplished in years past.

Rev. R. I. Humbert

In the first World War, the Germans were fighting the Allies on the west and the Russians on the east. The Allies knew they should unite under one head, but English soldiers did not wish to fight under a French general, neither would it work the other way. And then Russia withdrew on the eastern front, leaving a million German soldiers free to go to the western front. It was a tremendous crisis and the Allies went under one man—General Foch.

And so again, let a great outside power loom up in the distance, and the same thing can happen again. In fact it has already happened as the growls of the Russian bear have vibrated the hearts of the kings of Europe and made them form a union for self-preservation.

United States of Europe

Twenty-five hundred years ago Daniel prophesied of a coming league of nations. In August 1952 the Pathfinder magazine declared that "a fully matured United States of Europe may be 10 or 20 years away, but according to every statesman who counts, it's a sure thing now." Verily, when these things begin to come to pass, "Look up."

The beast of Revelation 13 is Satan's superman, the Antichrist. "And the dragon gave him his power, and his seat, and great authority" (13:2). The dragon is Satan. Once Satan offered this power to Christ. Our Lord refused, but Satan will yet find a man who will accept.

"And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast" (vs. 3). Satan seems to stage some sort of a resurrection for his man, the Antichrist.

"And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth" (13:11). This second beast comes up out of the underworld. He has lived before, and now returns to play his part in the great drama of the Satanic trinity. Both of these beasts are immortal and do not die again, for they are cast "alive" into the lake of fire (19:20).

Satan's Great Desire

Satan's great desire is to be like the Most High. God is presented as a trinity and Satan presents his power as a trinity—the dragon and the 2 beasts. The Father gave authority to Christ and the dragon does likewise to his Antichrist. The true Christ was killed and rose again and we worship Him because of His resurrection. The Antichrist has a "deadly wound" and is healed and the world worships him (13:12). The Holy Spirit bears witness to the death and resurrection of Christ, and leads us to worship Him. The second beast, as an antiholy spirit, causes earthdwellers to worship the Antichrist "whose deadly wound was healed."

"And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on earth in the sight of men" (13:13). It has long been an established fact that only God can bring fire down from heaven, so the scene on Mount Carmel will be enacted again. Once Elijah called fire down from heaven and the people shouted their faith in their God. Now let the scene be reenacted; let them build an altar; let a great electric wizard like Edison examine the altar and assure the people there is absolutely no trick. Then let fire fall out of heaven and millions will go wild with joy and will gladly embrace the Antichrist.

The Plain of Dura Again

But the scene on the Plain of Dura must also be reenacted. Once proud Nebuchadnezzar erected an image of himself and demanded worship of the image under penalty of death. Three young Hebrew men refused to bow the knee and were thrown into the fiery furnace, but their God delivered them. And so again, the order goes out "to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by the sword, and did live" (13:14).

The great day of dedication will draw nigh. Untold thousands will gather to give honor to the beast whose deadly wound was healed. We can imagine that some of the same television sets that now are in American homes will be used to report this great event.

Worship or Die

"And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed" (13:15).

I have stood by the statue of some noted man and tried to imagine some such similar experience. There it stands, cold, hard, and lifeless as the years roll by. Suddenly I see the flit of an eyelid, the blush of health appears on the cheeks, and the statue comes to life.

And so, as this great image is to be dedicated, a sudden hush falls upon that vast audience. The image receives "life." Not mere mechanical movements, but life. And not merely life, but intelligent life; it can "speak." And not mere intelligent life, but almost supernatural life, for it is able to discern disloyal ones in that vast throng.

There it stands. Signs of life appear as the ponderous head moves around; the massive hand is raised; the eyes are focused on the crowd; the lips part and a voice thunders forth, a voice so unearthly that every heart is made to tremble with dread and fear. "Grab that man in the yellow sweater. Down with those 3 men under that tree."

Soon it is a wild scene of terror as the dupes of hell carry out orders and all who will not worship are killed. Out over the air the fearful sights are wafted; into the homes of countless thousands the bloody sights are televised, and earth's millions go wild with joy and excitement and vie with one another to outdo their fellow men in honoring the beast which had power to do such things.

It is over. Not a disloyal soul still lives in that vast throng. But countless millions of earthdwellers have not taken their stand. The issue must be world-wide. The earth is too small to hold a single godly soul. Everyone must worship their great emperor or perish.

The Mark of the Beast

A mark is devised and "all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond," are commanded "to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: and that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name" (13:16-17).

There is a sudden shift on the television and the emperor himself appears on the screen. He utters a fiery speech as he blasphemes the God of heaven and His humble saints. Then in wild excitement he presents the issue.

Next Wednesday morning every citizen on earth must receive a mark. The mark will be received at the courthouse and the doors will be open at 8 o'clock, and woe to anyone who does not appear.

Verily, our nation has already been prepared for just such an event, for only a few years ago we had to humbly petition our government for permission to buy or sell.

Fearful Scenes

One time I stood on a dark street in a little town and watched an NRA parade move past. I fairly shuddered as I cast my mind a few years into the future when a similar parade may go down that same street in honor of the Antichrist, and woe unto that man who stands on that street with my attitude toward the whole affair.

Well can we imagine the fearful scenes as blaspheming humanity gathers at the courthouse to receive the mark. A half dozen men lay on the lawn all night; they are determined to be the first to receive the brand of hell. Four-thirty a. m. and the cars begin to arrive; 5 and then 6 o'clock, and hundreds are milling about the courthouse lawn. There have been 3 or 4 fights about the courthouse door as men vied with each other to be the first to enter.

Seven-thirty and then 7:45 . . . only 15 minutes until the doors open. Thousands are jostling about; excitement is high, as everyone seeks to outdo his neighbor in ascribing glory and honor to their great emperor whose deadly wound was healed. There are 3 or 4 more fights about the courthouse door when suddenly in the air above their heads an angel voice peals forth: "If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, the same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb: and the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name" (14:9-11).

A sudden hush falls upon that vast crowd; a sudden spell of fear and surprise. But only a moment do they cease their mad scene, for one man shakes his fist at the angel and yells his defiance. Another pulls out his gun and shoots at the heavenly messenger and the whole yard goes into a wild orgy of screaming and blaspheming as the poor dupes of hell pour out their hatred to the God of heaven.

The Warning Heeded

But wait; not in vain did that angel warn; not in vain did those words go forth, for down that alley runs a man. Over there half a dozen others break away from the crowd.

"Hey, where are you going?"

"I don't want that mark!" cries the convicted soul.

"Grab him!"

Someone runs to the hardware store for a few feet of wire; another runs for a gallon of gasoline. The doors of the courthouse open and the excited crowd files through, while the quiet air of their doomed city wafts to their nostrils the odor of burning living human flesh.

Verily, let mortal man mock at these things if he will; some such scenes are on schedule for end-time events, and even now we can see them casting their shadows across our path.

REVIVAL AT LONG BEACH FIRST CHURCH CONTINUES

By Rev. R. Paul Miller, Field Secretary, Brethren Evangelistic Crusade

The first revival conducted under the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade in California was in the First Brethren Church of Long Beach, of which Dr. C. W. Mayes is pastor. We found the finest of fellowship and cooperation with Dr. Mayes in these meetings. Many years ago we worked with him in his congregation at Whittier, Calif. God sent a precious revival then, and He greatly blessed us again here in Long Beach.

Brother Mayes' great concern is that his own people be reaching others for Christ, and he asked that we keep his own people in mind especially during these meetings. This we did. We asked him for a paragraph setting forth his appraisal of the results of the meeting among his people 1 month after the campaign came to a close. He very graciously dictated the following at once:

"We recently closed a 2-weeks meeting with Evangelist R. Paul Miller at the First Brethren Church in Long Beach.

"Brother Miller preached faithfully throughout the 2 weeks to changing crowds, with the result that there were a number of decisions registered, both first-time and for other purposes. We are finding that the deep conviction which mounted during the meetings is apparently the basis for decisions which are coming regularly since the meeting.

"Brother Miller's work was of special value in his personal visitation and in awakening believers."

We have never found a more capable and efficient group of responsible laymen in any field. They knew what to do and how to do it. The personal work, the advertising, and the music committees were outstanding.

Attendance ranged from 300 to 800, and interest in the preaching of the Word from the evangelistic standpoint was excellent.

The Long Beach church does a great work for God both at home and a fine work to date, under God. The group has grown, but still it is very small for such an undertaking. Attendance, finances, workers are a tremendous concern for the pastor and his people.

Pastors, please do not forget Phoenix when you call your people to prayer each week. Hold up these courageous hearts now when they need it so much. If our Lord tarries, there will be a strong Brethren church in Phoenix, and you will be glad you prayed and helped them when they started. REMEMBER! Your church was a small and struggling group once, and every bit of help meant a lot to you.

When this reaches your hands, we will be in our last days of the Phoenix campaign. We will be needing help from God more than ever. Drop to your knees and plead with God for victory in Phoenix, won't you? The report will come in a later issue.

Pray for the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade. Our goal: "Twenty thousand souls for Christ in five years."

Dr. Mayes

abroad, and with a growing emphasis on evangelism its harvest of souls in Long Beach will become as great as its harvest in foreign lands.

Phoenix Meeting Begins

The Phoenix, Ariz., campaign began Sunday, April 26. This is a tent campaign. The weather is already very warm in Phoenix at this time of the year. Bro. Kenneth Peters brought the tent and equipment out several weeks ago. He did it as a layman's gift to his Lord. It is such laymen who have been such a joy in bringing about the greater evangelistic ministry of our Brethren churches. Other laymen are doing outstanding work to lay the foundation for great revival to spread over our Brotherhood, and we will bring them forth to you as we are able.

Bro. J. C. McKillen is pastor in Phoenix. He came and took over a handful of people a year ago, and has been sweating it out with the Lord through all the problems that confront any new work amid the tremendous opportunities that prevail in the West today. He has done

TO REPEAT CFE CAMPAIGN

The Christ for Everyone simultaneous evangelistic campaign of October 1952 enlisted the cooperation of thousands of pastors and churches all through the United States and Canada.

Mr. Horace F. Dean, president of Christ for America, with headquarters in Chicago, will again direct the Christ for Everyone campaign which is set again for the month of October. However, each church is given complete freedom in setting its own dates.

Chairman for the United States is Dr. Charles E. Fuller, and chairman for Canada is Premier E. C. Manning, of Alberta.

Dr. Billy Graham is again writing the official tract for the campaign. Vast quantities of his 1952 tract were used.

There will be no enlistment or registration fee required. Sample packets of supplies, advertising aids, stimulating booklets, and manuals for workers may be secured at $2 a packet from the Chicago office, 542 S. Dearborn St., Chicago 5, Ill.

ICU OPENS IN JAPAN

A double celebration was held April 13 to mark the official opening of the International Christian University in Japan. One celebration was held in Tokyo and the other at the Japanese Embassy in Washington, D. C., where Sherman Adams represented President Eisenhower.

This university is a postwar dream of some churchmen in the United States and was sponsored by a number of denominations, most of which are members of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

The "purpose" is to teach Japanese young people practical Christianity. But one wonders how this is to be done when one considers who the sponsors are.

Young People! Attend a Brethren Youth Camp This Summer!

IOWA DISTRICT—

Junior Camp Hawkeye, ages 9-12.
Senior Camp Iowa, ages 13 and up.

To be held simultaneously, Aug. 2-8, at Riverside Bible Camp Grounds (a new site), 11 miles north of Ames, Iowa. $12.50.

Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum, camp director.

CENTRAL DISTRICT—

Juniors, 9-12, Aug. 2-8.

Seniors, 13 and up, Aug. 9-15.

Camp Indisinewa, to be held this year at a beautiful new lake site near Clarksville, Mich.

Rev. Lee Jenkins, camp director.

NORTHWEST DISTRICT—

Boys 9-13, July 20-25. $10.

Girls 9-13, July 27-Aug. 1. $10.

Seniors, 14 and up, Aug. 3-8. $10.

Camp Clear Lake, near White Pass, in Washington.

Rev. Russell Williams, camp business manager.

CALIFORNIA DISTRICT—

Senior Camp, June 20-27.

Junior Camp, June 27-July 4.

Junior High Camp, July 4-11.

Tahquitz Pines, near Idyllwild, Calif.

Rev. L. W. Marvin, camp president.

When a young person goes to a Brethren youth camp, you can be assured that he will be adequately supervised, well fed, and wholesomely encouraged in every good thing. All campers are insured, in case of sickness or accident, and precautions are taken for their safety. The best in recreation, fun, and spiritual emphasis are provided, and lasting friendships and life decisions are frequent. Get your young people registered early for Brethren camp this summer, for capacity crowds are expected in almost all of them.

EAST DISTRICT—

Juniors, 9-13, June 28-July 4.

Seniors, 14 and up, July 5-11.

Kamp Keystone, near Somerset, Pa., in Laurel Hills State Park.

Rev. R. D. Crees, camp director.

NORTHERN OHIO DISTRICT—

Juniors, 9-12.

Seniors, 13 and up.

Camps to be held simultaneously at Camp Buckeye, June 14-20, on the lake near Leesville Dam. $13.

Rev. Kenneth Ashman, camp manager.

MIDWEST DISTRICT—

Dates and prices not known at this writing.

One week of camp, for all ages, 8-20, at Camp Id-Ra-Ha-Je, 40 miles southwest of Denver, Colo.

Rev. Lowell Hoyt, camp committee chairman.

ATLANTIC AND SOUTHEAST DISTRICTS—

Juniors, 9-12, July 20-26. $12.

Seniors, 13 and up, July 26-Aug. 1. $12.

Camp Grace, near Woodstock, Va.

Rev. Paul Dick, camp business manager.

NATIONAL YOUTH CAMP—CAMP BETHANY—

For all young people, 12 and up. August 24-30 (simultaneous with national conference). $20 for the week. Costs more, but it's worth more, too! Youth Director Ralph J. Colburn, camp director.

Long Beach, California (Los Altos)

"Attempt great things for God—expect great things from God." Today we, as a church, stand on the threshold of a new door of opportunity. The new church site in Los Altos, which includes about 1½ acres of ground, has been purchased. Those who have prayed long that we might have a testimony somewhere in the Lakewood area may now see God's answer to prayer. Unlimited possibilities now lie before us.

We may well take a look again at William Carey's motto that one more Brethren church and school will soon be established. The board of trustees is expecting the support of the people of this congregation for 2 reasons:

First, the board feels that all of our people are interested in broadening our testimony and establishing a church in this new and vast area of homes.

Secondly, the church in business meeting on 2 occasions gave the board of trustees the sign to go ahead to make the necessary arrangements to purchase this property.—Pastor Charles W. Mayes, in Fifth and Cherry Light for May 3.

Whittier, California (Community)

Rev. Wayne Flory, former pastor, arrived at Fort Lewis, having left here early Monday morning, April 20. He is now a chaplain in the 130th Infantry Division of the U. S. Army.

The Sunday school attendance April 19 was 298—105 beginners, 69 primaries, 53 junior-junior highs, 24 young people, and 47 adults. There were 23 people in the prayer meeting April 22.

The congregation has already begun work on additional rooms for the Sunday school, the new addition to total 2,976 square feet.

Rev. Ernie Johnson, of Youth for Christ, was in charge of the services April 26, and the Calvary Men's Quartet were present May 3.—Excerpts from church bulletin.

Aleppo, Pennsylvania

The Lord is "daily loading us with benefits" at Aleppo, so thought we'd let the rest of you know about it.

We had a series of 4 pre-Easter services. The spirit and attendance were very fine. The pastor was the speaker. We had a sunrise service on a hill at 5:30. Just as the colors were shining in the sky the message of the Light of Easter was brought to 35 hearts. Then followed a camp-fire breakfast.

Our superintendent had a feeling the Sunday school attendance record of 127 would be broken on Easter, so he had a phonograph record there ready for the occasion. The last person to enter the building that morning was a young man. He made the attendance stand at 138. He was asked to come up and break the record, which he gladly did.

The Lord has been working in hearts for the last several months, which is shown by an increase in attendance at all services. Part of this increase and added interest is created by the presence of more men in our meetings. What a happy and hopeful outlook for the church is given when heads of families begin to see and take their rightful place in the things of the Lord!

The Sisterhood girls and their

Additions to Membership

Ashland, Ohio .....	3
Clayton, Ohio .....	7
Long Beach, Calif. (Second) ....	8
Philadelphia, Pa. (Third) .....	5
Uniontown, Pa. ....	3
Washington, D. C. ....	1

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Glendale, Calif. ....	3
Uniontown, Pa. ....	2

Public Confessions

Ashland, Ohio .....	9
Clayton, Ohio .....	13
Compton, Calif. ....	8
Glendale, Calif. ....	2
Long Beach, Calif. (Second) ....	14
Meyersdale, Pa. ....	4
Radford, Va. ....	2
South Gate, Calif. ....	60

mothers enjoyed a covered-dish meal and meeting in April, the birthday month for Sisterhood, when an offering was taken for the higher education of missionaries' children. We had the pleasure of having Mrs. Arthur Carey, of Troy, Ohio, as guest speaker.

In January the WMC conducted a family altar service in the BYF meeting. As a part of the program a family conducted a family worship service.

Lastly, we want to praise the Lord for putting into the hearts of the people the desire and courage to buy a parsonage. The trustees are at work now getting ready a down payment. The property purchased includes a building which can be used for D. V. B. S., boys' meetings, Sisterhood meetings, etc. Pray and praise with us as we make the necessary repairs and payments, that all this will be a true testimony to our Lord.—Fred and Lyda Walter.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Phoenix, Ariz. ....	April 26-May 17.	J. C. McKillen ....	R. Paul Miller.
Grafton, W. Va. ....	May 10-17. ....	Lee Crist. ....	William Smith.
Philadelphia, Pa. (First) .....	May 17-24. ....	John Aeby. ....	Archie Lynn.
Sterling, Ohio. ....	May 18-24. ....	Joseph Gingrich. .	Paul Bauman.
Artesia, Calif. ....	May 24-June 14.	Adam Rager. ....	R. Paul Miller.
Long Beach, Calif. (Second) .....	May 31-June 5..	George Peek. ....	Alva J. McClain.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 21

EDUCATIONAL NUMBER

MAY 23, 1953

THE GRACE TRUMPETERS

This week we present four young men with whom many of our Brethren churches will become better acquainted during the summer months. The team, left to right, is composed of David Halvorsen, accompanist; Edwin Cashman, Harold Westing, and Eddie Smith. Grace Trumpeters, together with Dr. Paul Bauman, vice president of Grace Seminary, will be leaving for a nine-weeks tour on May 31. During June and July they plan to visit as many Brethren young people's camps, churches, and district conferences as possible. The tour is being made especially for the purpose of interesting Christian young people, particularly high school graduates, in the college division of Grace Theological Seminary. Pray for them as they travel together.

EDITORIALS

By Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

For Your High School Graduates

Do you have Christian young people in your church or community who are graduating from high school this year? You will do them a service and, possibly, change the whole course of a life by passing your copy of this magazine on to one of them with an urgent request to prayerfully consider God's plan for his or her life. Grace Seminary, college division, is now offering Christian young people 4 full years of liberal arts training which lead to a standard A. B. degree. Parents can send their young people to no safer place than Grace. It means much to send a boy or girl off to school in these days of callous unbelief with the assurance that he or she will come home believing more firmly than ever that the Bible is the eternal, inspired Word of God. Young people today, more than ever before, need to be reminded that any education that is not influenced by a proper Christian philosophy of life derived from the Word of God is, after all, no true education at all. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge" (Prov. 1:7). Make sure that you have such an education.—P. R. B.

Many Students Enrolling Early

Already more than 40 young people have sent in their applications for enrollment for next year in either the seminary or college divisions of Grace Seminary. If early registrations are any indication, there will be a sizeable increase, particularly in the college division, next year.—P. B.

New Catalog Ready for Students

Young people considering the advisability of attending either the college or seminary division at Grace are invited to send for the new catalog which is now going to press. Address your request to Dr. Homer A. Kent, registrar, Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind.—P. B.

Graduation Number Next Month

It is graduation time as the seminary number of the Herald goes to press, and it is just a few days too late to give a report of the commencement services. The June issue will contain pictures and considerable material of interest. Watch for it!—P. B.

The Vacation Period and Seminary Offerings

Do not fail to take at least a glance at the financial report of Grace Seminary offerings for April, printed elsewhere in this magazine. The grand total of offerings given to all funds was $9,704.70—another occasion for thanksgiving to God! As we enter the summer vacation period, let us not forget that school expenses do not take a vacation, summer or winter! In fact, this summer the school will be making some of the heaviest expenditures of the year. Most of these are in the form of vitally necessary campus improvements, some of which are already under way. If you plan to be away on a vacation, be sure to place in your church offering that little yellow envelope containing your contribution to the Monthly Finance Plan. Do it before you leave. Remember, school expenses do not take vacations!—P. B.

Delinquent Grandparents

Recently a country-wide survey of juvenile crime by the Associated Press found that some of the increase was due to a corresponding rise in the population, but that the average age of offenders had dropped—some house-breakers being only 10 or 12. Among the contributory causes blamed by officials were increased divorce and delinquent parents. One authority named "delinquent grandparents," meaning that if the parents themselves had come from better homes they might have been better mothers and fathers. Long ago God warned concerning the danger of becoming a "delinquent grandparent." No less than 4 times in the earliest books of the Bible did He cause to be written in substantially the same form these words: "The Lord God . . . will by no means clear the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, unto the third and to the fourth generation" (Ex. 34:6-7). Oh, that more parents these days would covet the blessing God promised Abraham. It was not without a reason, "For I know him, that he will command his children and his household after him, and they shall keep the way of the Lord, to do justice and judgment" (Gen. 18:19). The force of these words is even more evident as one reads the following chapter and considers the tragic story of Lot, a delinquent parent who became a delinquent grandparent. Consider the tragic history of the Moabite and Ammonite nations which came into being as a result of his delinquency. What a heritage a young man has today when it can be written of him as it was by the Apostle Paul to the young man, Timothy: "When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also" (II Tim. 1:5). What kind of a grandparent will you be?—P. B.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

THE GRACE TRUMPETERS GREET BRETHREN YOUNG PEOPLE

Psalms 19:9-10—"The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb."

During the past year it has been my joy to search out the judgments of the Lord as He has revealed Himself in His Word. Under the guidance of earnest teachers I have searched and found great treasure. And it is wonderful to know that limitless riches yet remain to be discovered.

Before coming to Grace Seminary I studied at 3 secular institutions. Hence it has been a special delight for me to receive instruction from teachers who exalt the person of Christ and the written Word of God and to fellowship with other students of like precious faith. Furthermore, it has been gratifying to find that the standard of scholarship maintained compares favorably with that of secular graduate schools.

Therefore I thank God for Grace Seminary and for the faithful men and women of the Brethren churches who support it with their gifts and with their prayers.—Ira D. Halvorsen, Jr.

Thankfulness is one of the traits which the Bible tells us is much to be desired. As I begin to write this brief testimony of what Grace Theological Seminary means to me, my feeling is indeed that of gratitude, both to the Brethren people for their part in making the school possible and to the faculty and administration for the many hours which they have devoted in bringing the school to the position which it now holds today. During this year the enlarged student body has shown a wonderful spirit, both in the things of the Lord and in their student projects and activities. Grace effectively demonstrates that fundamentalism and orthodoxy are far from being dead as a way of life.

Since my home is here at Winona Lake, it was possible for me to enjoy some of the benefits and blessings of the seminary during my years in high school. Those experiences were truly only a sample of those which were to come. Excellent instructors guide us into the riches of the Scriptures and related subjects. The Bible conferences and chapel programs provide real spiritual inspiration so necessary to complement our daily studies in God's Word. Opportunities for witnessing and service help to round out a full schedule of activities. There need never be an idle moment, for there is always a job to be done.

As we travel this summer in the interest of our school, it is our desire, first of all, to be an effective testimony for our Lord Jesus Christ, and second, to present effectively the challenges and advantages of an education at Grace. Will you pray for us that our goals may be realized?—Edwin E. Cashman.

Being at the halfway point of my years here at Grace, I can say that I am looking forward with great joy to the next 2 years. After graduation from Bible school, I came here to finish college before entering seminary. I have found sweet Christian fellowship among the students in student prayer and testimony meetings. It's a thrill for me to be able to pray with different students over many matters and then rejoice with them as God sends the answers.

I continue to praise the Lord for the Brethren people and for their kindness in providing an education for me. To me Grace Seminary is the best school I could have chosen for my preparation for the Lord's service.

I'm thankful for salvation in Christ Jesus, my Lord. Having been saved as a young boy, I have had joy in years of service for Him already. Knowing what peace there is in His service, I'm looking forward to a life completely yielded for His use and glory.—Harold Westing.

My second year in the college division at Grace Seminary is now past history. Already I have begun packing my books away and in a few days will begin my summer's work with the Grace Trumpeters.

As I write this I cannot help but think over the blessings of the past school year. The classroom lectures, chapel periods, practical work, and social activities have all been wonderful. I am also very thankful for the real Christian fellowship that prevails here at Grace.

The college division also presents a challenge to me. First of all, it challenges me in my devotion and service to Christ. Secondly, I am challenged to join with other young people in building Grace College. I sincerely believe that this school can become one of the greatest Christian colleges in the country.

Upon graduation from high school I was very perplexed as to what college I should attend. I knew of several young people who had made careless choices in colleges and as a result their faith in Christ was shattered. This was proof enough that I should choose a Christian college. After much prayer and investigation I was led by the Lord in the choice of schools. I have never been sorry that I came to Grace.

May I suggest that you also prayerfully consider Grace College?—Eddie Smith.

DEFEATED AT MADISON AND HALSTED STREETS

By Eugene McKeen—As Told to Arnold R. Kriegbaum ('40)

Just one of a thousand men who have lingered around Madison and Halsted Streets in Chicago. That's right, I'm just one of thousands, but my story has a different ending from most. Let me tell you about it. As I tell it I hope it might be used of God to challenge every true believer and to help lost men who, like myself, may be lingering defeated at some Madison and Halsted Streets.

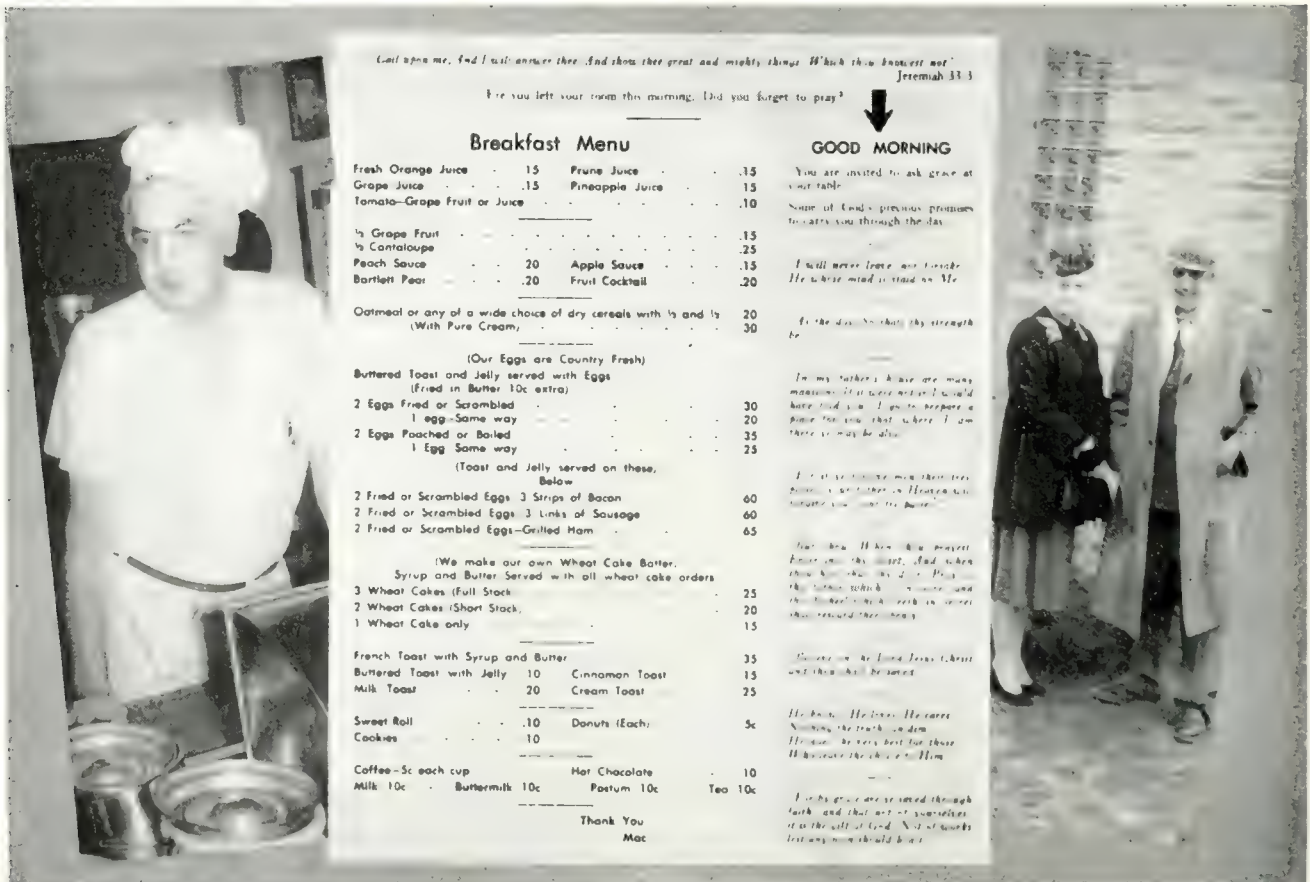

I was born in the tall-corn State of Iowa on March 8, 1901. My father was a buttermaker in Dewar. I was the 5th of 9 children. That's right, Number 5! Could this be the reason God has shown grace to me since that night I lingered at Madison and Halsted Streets?

In 1902 my father moved to Waterloo, Iowa, and there I went through high school. For some 12 years I worked as a bus boy in Black's Luncheonette and Acme Cafe. This gave me my early training in the restaurant business. In 1928 I left Waterloo for Chicago, where I was employed as a chef for the Thompson restaurant chain and later managed a chain of restaurants in Chicago. A better offer came from the Carson-Pirie store of Chicago, which is one of the larger department stores of the "Windy City." As floor manager, I worked with this firm for 4 years. Still a better job was offered to me and I went to work for the Shell Oil Company. In a short time I held the position of dispatcher and depot manager for the entire Chicago area. With my success in business came defeat in spiritual things.

A church member, yes indeed! A Sunday school teacher, that's right! But spiritually I was dead! I was in a church which taught salvation based principally upon meritorious works, and I was lacking in a basic understanding of the marvelous grace of God. My business responsibilities were pressing ones, and the tension sought release. A man always finds his release in 1 of 2 avenues—carnal or spiritual. Like thousands lingering around Madison and Halsted Streets I was seeking peace and happiness in the carnal or "fleshly" things of the world. In my business I made many contacts, and as a gesture of good will my clients far too frequently handed me gifts—from hell. It was not an unusual thing to receive 15 quarts of fine whiskey at the christmas season. Notice the small "c" on christmas, for then Christ was a small thing in my life.

However, God's ways are "past finding out." What leisure hours I spent at home or in my car I frequently tuned in radio station WMBI of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Often were the times that I was deeply distressed and convicted as I listened to those old hymns and heard the messages from godly men proclaiming God's grace. But just as often I relieved my convicted heart with one excuse or another.

Left, Eugene McKeen as he appears in chef's clothing. Center, one of the menus from his restaurant, showing selected Scriptures printed on the right side. Right, Mr. and Mrs. McKeen as they appear when in attendance at the Grace Brethren Church of Cedar Rapids.

I was slipping deeper and deeper into sin, and far too frequently the tension of business was finding an escape valve in the bottle. My wife and 3 children, whom I dearly love, were seeing their home life vanishing because the sin of drink was getting more and more of a hold upon me.

It was a winter night down on Madison and Halsted Streets, and I walked with unsteady step when a young man approached me near the Calvary Mission and handed me a gospel tract. The young man started on down the sidewalk passing out tracts, but I called him to come back. He did, and I inquired if he were from the Moody Bible Institute. He said he was, and I told him that I listened to WMBI regularly and would like to talk to him. He informed me that he had to conduct a meeting in Calvary Mission and invited me to go in. I declined, but told him I would wait in my car up the street until his meeting was over and then I would talk to him. I showed him where my car was parked, and he went into the mission and I retreated to my car. Soon I was sound asleep, so sound asleep in fact that when the young man came out of the meeting he could not so much as awaken me. He left a note on my windshield giving his phone number and address and asked that I phone him. I didn't bother to phone him, but a day or so later he phoned me. And, praise God, this Christian gentleman never gave me any peace from that time on until I found real peace in my Saviour!

The young man would phone me in the morning, at noon, and at night. Along with my position with Shell Oil Company, I had purchased a restaurant and was "burning the candle at both ends." This young fellow seemed to know when I was at the restaurant, and he persistently came and would actually follow me around the restaurant quoting portions of God's Word. Oh yes, I rebelled! I didn't appreciate it, I thought! But praise the Lord, the Holy Spirit was working, and every verse was as a sword piercing my sinful heart.

This young man urged me to accept Christ and make an absolute decision for Him, but with my lack of understanding of His Word, I failed to see that "it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do his good pleasure." I feared that I might not be able to "hold out." Praise God for the day when the truth of God's Word broke upon my soul which says "faithful is he that calleth, he will perform it." "Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy . . ."

Spiritual inventory revealed that while I was going to church and taking rather an active part, I was still foreign to God's wonderful grace. To me it was only form. Why, I could tell as "snappy" a story as anyone. I could tell them by the hour. My mouth was vile with filthy stories and a filthy language.

But here was a young man telling me there was victory over all this through simple faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Praise God I accepted the gospel story without mental reservation, and salvation became mine through simple faith in God's unchanging Word. What the Lord Jesus did for me he can do for any man who will believe on His name. I tried to overcome sin, but I failed miserably. Then I turned the whole matter over to the Lord Jesus and He forgave me of my sin and gave me peace of heart. Soon after my new relationship with the Lord the thought came to my heart: "Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word of God." Hundreds of people were entering my restaurant every day. Why not tell them the story? How could I do this? The menu! I started printing Scripture verses on my menus and placing gospel mottos on the walls. God only knows what this has accomplished.

Interior of Mac's Sugar Bowl, Mount Vernon, Iowa. Left to right—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, Mrs. Eugene McKeen, Richard Kriegbaum, Mr. McKeen, Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum, Mrs. David Bright.

In April 1948 my family and I moved to Mount Vernon, Iowa, where I purchased the restaurant that I now operate. I entered the church of my denomination in this city, but time revealed that I was not in a church that was honoring the Lord Jesus. I was personally studying the Word of God and listening to gospel radio messages, and I was more and more aware that I was not in a church that was preaching the Gospel of Christ.

Then my friend that had led me to the Lord wrote me a letter and told me about a church in Cedar Rapids where the Gospel of the saving grace of God was faithfully proclaimed. Thank God that I am now a member of the Grace Brethren Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Praise God for this church which has been established through the sacrificial gifts of God's people to the Brethren Home Missions Council.

But I know what you are wondering. Who was the young man that God used to bring me to the Lord? May I introduce you to my beloved friend, Rev. Alvin Showalter, who this year graduated from Grace Theological Seminary. Brother Showalter is still proclaiming the glorious Gospel, not to a lonely man on Madison and Halsted Streets, but to God's chosen people in the land of Israel.

Alvin Showalter

I won't see you down on Madison and Halsted Streets, but the next time you drive through Mount Vernon, Iowa, stop in at Mac's Sugar Bowl and I, Eugene McKeen, will gladly come from the big kitchen and sit down in a booth to talk with you about the most wonderful subject in the world, my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

By the way, the next time you are down by your Madison and Halsted Streets, just remember there is victory in Christ over any sin—tobacco, drink, or whatever sin is defeating you. Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory!

Editor's Note: The above article, written by an alumnus of Grace Theological Seminary who is also pastor of one of our thriving home mission churches, should certainly demonstrate the value of training men and send- ing them forth to the harvest fields of the world. Rev. Alvin Showalter completed his work at Grace Seminary in January of this year and left almost immediately for Israel, where he is now engaged in missionary work. The story of his experiences since leaving the United States is a thrilling one and will be shared later with our readers. Brother Showalter's present address is c/o Jacob Blum, Box 857, Jerusalem, Israel.

GRACE COLLEGE STUDENTS BEAR THEIR TESTIMONY

I have profited much during these past 2 years in the college division of Grace Seminary. I am so glad that I transferred from a secular institution because, since I arrived at Grace, I have grown much in the Lord. Coming from an ethical but non-Christian environment to the Spirit-filled atmosphere of this campus brought me to the realization that some adjustments had to be made in my life. The Lord has truly blessed me, and has been with me continually, teaching me many things about His Word. Recently I gave my life wholeheartedly for Him, and I am now trying to discover His place for me to serve. I am looking forward upon my return to Grace to meeting my Christian friends, and to our good times in studying, working, and in the clean social activities of the school.—Harriet Hutchings.

"For the Lord is a great God and a great King above all gods." Many times this past year I had occasion to whisper this verse. As I rethink the events of this school year I am awed at God's goodness to me. When I graduated from high school I had no intentions of furthering my education. But God led me here, and this year of schooling has indeed opened new worlds to me. I have enjoyed my secular studies tremendously. Because of this blessed fellowship with students and with God, I plan to return next year. I again thank God for raising up Grace Seminary and especially the college division. To further one's education in some secular schools is often detrimental to one's faith. How good it is to study in such an atmosphere as I have found at Grace.—Jane Hose.

Grace Seminary has been a blessing to me throughout this year. I have enjoyed every part of it: the classes, studying, and the fine Christian fellowship of the students. I have learned much concerning the Scriptures, and have learned to put my trust in Him more than I ever have before. I want to thank the Lord for sending me here to the college division of Grace Seminary. The year is now finished, and I am looking forward to returning again in the fall.—Betty Flora.

By the time this reaches you the halls of Grace Seminary will be quiet, for once again a school year has come to an end. Truly I can say that I have received the richest blessing of my life during this first year in the college division at Grace. I praise the Lord from the bottom of my heart for calling me to this place. Especially do I thank Him for professors who not only know their subjects in the secular fields of study, but who also know the Word of God. The most inspirational time this year has been the chapel hour, with its rich feast of spiritual food. I am looking forward to more years at Grace, and I heartily recommend the school to any young person desiring either a secular education or preparation for Christian service.—Roy Dice.

How thankful I am for the opportunity that has been mine these past 2 years in attending the college division of Grace Seminary. The Lord has really blessed my life during that time. Even though I have been a Christian since I was 6 years of age, I feel I have grown more spiritually while here than at any other time.

The verse that has become very precious to me is Psalms 68:19, "Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation." If I would sit down each day and try to count the blessings God has given me it would be impossible. But this is the promise that the Lord has given us as believers.

My future education is rather uncertain, but I am hoping it will be possible for me to continue here at Grace.—Nancy Bry.

If you want to study the Word of God and still get a solid liberal arts background, then come to Grace College! How I praise the Lord for the instruction I have received while studying here. Every course has been so designed that it can be readily applied to the Christian's life. Such subjects as Greek, Archeology, Old Testament Survey, New Testament Survey, and Bible Prophecy, along with courses in Speech, English Composition, English Literature, World History, U. S. History, and Science have indeed proved a great source of blessing. One of the most outstanding things here is the desire on the part of the faculty to teach God's holy Word in all its truth. Surely God has raised up this school in order to prepare and send forth laborers into His harvest. If you anticipate entering college this fall, then permit me to sincerely recommend that you very prayerfully consider Grace College.—Donald F. Locke.

I accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as my Saviour in the fall of 1949, and it was some months later that I felt the call into full-time service. It was by His wonderful working and leading that I finally decided to come to Grace Seminary college division and then on to seminary.

It has been a wonderful 2 years that I have spent here. I have received many blessings while being instructed in God's Word and also in the secular subjects as we looked at them in the light of God's Word.

There is a fellowship found here among the professors and students that can be found only in a Christian college which has a deep spiritual interest in each of its students. I can heartily recommend our college to any Christian young person who is looking for a place of preparation, and I know all who attend will receive as great a blessing as I have.—James Hoffmeyer.

Amazing Grace

During my 2 years of schooling here many people have asked me why I chose to come to Grace College. I will answer the question with a written example—a man who has started from "scratch" and has worked his way up the "ladder of success" in the world can generally attribute his success to a wise and vital investment somewhere early during his climb.

In His Word the Lord has told us that we are "to present our bodies" to God, and it is very important that we as young people wisely invest our "bodies" in a foundationally superb institution that will ground and saturate us in an extensive Christian education. This is especially needed in view of our oncoming experiences with the people of this world.

The reason that I have entitled my testimony as such is this—Grace College answers the question to all doubts as to this type of institution. It fits to a "T." It has been my privilege during the last 2 years to sit at the feet of learned men, and I am anticipating a great third year. I sincerely hope that any young person who is being led by the Lord to attend a Christian college will thoroughly consider Grace College. This is not an advertisement! This is not propaganda! This is the true conviction of my own heart!

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction. . . . Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."—Larry Lawlor.

Faculty Plans for the Summer

President McClain expects to spend the major portion of the summer in conference work on the Pacific coast. He will officiate at the wedding of Prof. John Whitcomb.

Dr. Herman Hoyt will be engaged in conference work in the East and in California.

Dr. Paul Bauman will be traveling with the Grace Trumpeters during June and July. He will also be speaking at the Gull Lake Conference and 3 Brethren district conferences.

Dr. Homer A. Kent will be kept busy with the work of corresponding with prospective students and registration. He and Mrs. Kent expect to travel westward for the wedding of their son, Homer Kent, Jr.

Dr. James Boyer will be kept busy at Winona Lake with his responsibilities as financial secretary. All Brethren should remember that school finances do not take a vacation.

Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr., will travel to California, where he will be united in marriage to Miss Beverly Page, August 1, at the First Brethren Church of Long Beach.

Prof. John Whitcomb will be united in marriage to Miss Edisene Hanson, June 7, at the Second Brethren Church of Long Beach.

Prof. George Cone, Jr., and Mrs. Cone will be spending the summer at Norman, Okla. Mr. Cone will teach at the Summer Institute of Linguistics, which is sponsored by the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Prof. John Rea will continue his work in the Holy Land, where he has been serving as a member of the archeological expedition working under the direction of Dr. Joseph Free, of Wheaton College.

MISS MAGNUSON IN CALIFORNIA

The Grace Seminary family was recently saddened by the news that the father of Miss Dorothy Magnuson, our office secretary, was lying dangerously ill in a hospital at Huntington Park, Calif. She made immediate plans to fly west, but even before the plane left, word was received concerning his death, and Miss Magnuson was obliged to travel to California to care for the funeral service and other business. The funeral service was in charge of Dr. Charles W. Mayes. Both students and faculty have missed the cheery smile and efficient work of Miss Magnuson. We trust she will soon be able to return to Winona Lake.

A CORRECTION

In the directory for the 1953 seminary graduating class which appeared in the seminary issue of the Herald last month, there was a mistake in the statement concerning the future plans of Mr. Roy Glass. He and Mrs. Glass are candidates for missionary service in Brazil and plan to undertake such service when sufficient funds are available.

Roy Glass

$10,000 IN MISSIONARY GIFTS—HOW IT WAS DONE

By Rev. James D. Hammer, Pastor, First Brethren Church, Fort Wayne, Ind.

"A strong missionary program will always build a strong church." We have seen the truth of this statement demonstrated in the First Brethren Church of Fort Wayne during the past year.

At the beginning of the year the church was giving to all Brethren interests in fairly good proportion. In addition they were paying the full salary of Miss Isobel Fraser, a member of the Brethren Messianic Witness staff.

But God had raised up 3 more missionaries and 3 missionary children right out of our own congregation. With real enthusiasm the Fort Wayne church assumed the outfit and salary support of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Mason and family and Miss Mary Ann Habegger. The result—an increase of 111 percent in the foreign missions offering.

In August we began to participate in the monthly plan to support Grace Seminary. In the first 4 months the congregation of 225 members gave an average of $121.75 per month toward the monthly goal of $6,000. This represents a per-capita average of 54 cents a month. With the added emphasis on an annual offering for Grace Seminary the December figure came to about $240, raising the per-capita average in 5 months to 65 cents a member per month.

During the same time the church assumed an increase in salary for Miss Fraser and showed a sizable increase in its annual home mission offering.

Altogether, our missionary giving for 1952 amounted to about $10,000, with an additional $15,000 expended on building and other local interests. The church closed the year in a sound financial condition.

"What is the secret of giving at Fort Wayne?" I have been asked. The answer lies in the method adopted under the ministry of the former pastor, John M. Aeby, which simply provides for spreading out our missionary giving into 52 weeks instead of concentration at each offering date. By vote at annual meeting, we distribute our giving through the "mission" side of our duplex envelopes as follows: December and January—Grace Seminary annual offering; February through May—Foreign Missions; June—District Missions; July—Publications; August through November—Home Missions.

Rev. James D. Hammer and Family

A great majority of our congregation make use of the "mission" part of the envelope every week. An additional blank on the envelope cares for Miss Fraser's support and the monthly envelopes for Grace Seminary come in each week. We thank God at Fort Wayne for this simple workable plan which enables us to participate in the spreading of the Gospel through the various agencies of the Brethren Church.

GRACE SEMINARY FINANCIAL REPORT FOR APRIL 1953

Church	Amount	Church	Amount	Church	Amount
Accident, Md. ....	$2.00	Hagerstown, Md. ....	50.00	San Diego, Calif. ....	10.00
Albuquerque, N. Mex. ....	6.50	Harrah, Wash. ....	32.03	Sidney, Ind. ....	25.00
Aleppo, Pa. ....	12.00	Harrisburg, Pa. ....	23.34	South Bend, Ind. ....	67.10
Alexandria, Va. ....	24.00	Homerville, Ohio ....	7.00	South Pasadena, Calif. ....	162.00
Alto, Mich. ....	13.00	Jackson, Mich. ....	5.00	Spokane, Wash. ....	24.00
Altoona, Pa. (First) ....	208.15	Johnson City, Tenn. ....	37.15	Summit Mills, Pa. ....	9.00
Altoona, Pa. (Grace) ....	19.00	Johnstown, Pa. (First) ....	429.50	Tracy, Calif. ....	27.50
Ashland, Ohio ....	343.00	Kittanning, Pa. ....	196.73	Uniontown, Pa. ....	15.00
Beaumont, Calif. ....	22.00	Lake Odessa, Mich. ....	19.00	Washington, D. C. ....	639.95
Berne, Ind. ....	181.00	La Verne, Calif. ....	10.00	Waterloo, Iowa ....	61.50
Berrien Springs, Mich. ....	32.00	Leon, Iowa ....	1.00	Waynesboro, Pa. ....	57.00
Canton, Ohio ....	89.00	Leamersville, Pa. ....	94.25	Whittier, Calif. ....	135.50
Cheyenne, Wyo. ....	36.18	Limestone, Tenn. ....	7.00	Whittier, Calif. (Special) ....	5.25
Clay City, Ind. ....	20.00	Listie, Pa. ....	177.25	Winchester, Va. ....	38.00
Cleveland, Ohio ....	7.00	Long Beach, Calif. (First) ....	13.00	Winona Lake, Ind. ....	110.00
Compton, Calif. ....	14.00	Long Beach (Special) ....	20.00	Winona Lake (Special) ....	14.00
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	56.00	Long Beach, Calif. (Second) ....	10.00	Wooster, Ohio ....	619.00
Covington, Ohio ....	43.61	Los Angeles, Calif. (First) ....	64.50	Yakima, Wash. ....	88.25
Covington, Va. ....	47.00	Los Angeles, Calif. (Second) ....	41.00	Yellow Creek, Pa. ....	32.00
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio ....	5.00	Mansfield, Ohio ....	955.25	Miscellaneous—
Dallas Center, Iowa ....	343.00	Martinsburg, Pa. ....	9.00	Isolated Brethren ....	3.00
Danville, Ohio ....	15.00	Mundy's Corner, Pa. ....	20.00	Non-Brethren ....	135.00
Dayton, Ohio (First) ....	384.46	North English, Iowa ....	25.00	Nat. WMC (Sidewalks) ....	2,229.00
Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) ..	94.50	Osceola, Ind. ....	258.00	Gifts for Alumni Map ....	8.50
Denver, Colo. ....	8.00	Philadelphia, Pa. (First) ....	236.50	Totals—
Everett, Pa. ....	11.00	Portland, Oreg. ....	9.00	General ....	7,412.95
Flora, Ind. ....	64.00	Portis, Kans. ....	69.50	Special ....	2,291.75
Fort Wayne, Ind. ....	5.00	Radford, Va. ....	5.00
Glendale, Calif. ....	221.50	Rittman, Ohio ....	37.25	Grand Total ....	9,704.70

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The York, Pa., church, pastored by Gerald Polman, is cooperating in the "Key to Life Crusade for York County" to be held June 7-21 at the local fairgrounds. Rev. Ulysses L. Gingrich spoke at the church May 13 and is helping to organize home prayer meetings in preparation for the crusade.

Mrs. Agnes Brandt, of Clayton, Ohio, died early in May.

Dr. O. E. Phillips spoke on behalf of Jewish missions at the Hagerstown, Md., church, pastored by Walter A. Lepp, on May 10.

The Sunnyside, Wash., church, pastored by Herbert Collingridge, on May 2 gave a dinner in honor of the boys on its basketball team that won the city church league championship, and on May 8 gave a banquet in honor of the high school seniors and juniors who attend that church. Rev. Val Cloud was the speaker there May 7.

The Los Angeles, Calif., First church, pastored by Glenn O'Neal, was host during May to a series of classes on personal work, conducted by Ben Weiss, in preparation for the city-wide campaign under the leadership of Rev. Jack Shuler, May 17-June 14.

Rev. Raymond Yeater preached April 26 at the Conemaugh, Pa., church, where Stanley F. Hauser is serving as pastor.

Rev. Albert L. Flory, Bro. Fred Wetzell, and Rev. Carl E. Sisson spoke at the Bellflower, Calif., church April 26, 29, and May 3, respectively. This church is temporarily without a pastor.

Rev. Bernard Kruse spoke at the Osceola, Ind., church April 26, Pastor Ward Miller being in special meetings at Camden, Ohio.

The Spokane, Wash., church recently redecorated the primary department room and installed new equipment in the kitchen, reports Pastor William H. Schaffer. On April 30 the church gave a banquet in honor of its basketball team, champions in the church league.

The Central District held its best-attended youth rally May 1-2 at the Osceola, Ind., church, with 206 registrants present.

The Beaumont, Calif., church, pastored by Gene Farrell, averaged 100 people in the morning and 80 in the evening services during the first quarter of 1953, and received $3,186 in offerings.

The Berrien Springs, Mich., church officially changed its name to the Grace Brethren Church. (Change Annual, p. 58.)

Bro. Roy Callahan, of the Canton, Ohio, church, died April 28.

A recent windstorm severely damaged the roof of the building of the New Troy, Mich., church. According to Pastor Richard Jackson, the damage was covered by insurance.

The rally held at Chambersburg, Pa., April 12 was attended by 206 people. It was sponsored by the Waynesboro, Pa., and Hagerstown, Md., churches to learn what Brethren interest exists in the city.

The Long Beach, Calif., First church voted to invite the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches to hold the 1955 conference in Long Beach. On this matter, Pastor Charles W. Mayes said: "It remains to be seen whether or not the conference will vote to accept this invitation."

The Clayhole, Ky., church saw the film, "Mr. Texas," May 6, according to a report from Pastor Sewell S. Landrum.

Pastor Thomas E. Hammers, of the new work in Seattle, Wash., spoke at the Yakima, Wash., church May 10, while Pastor Russell L. Williams was holding special meetings in another church.

Rev. and Mrs. Leo Polman, of Temple City, Calif., ministered to various groups in the Seattle, Wash., church April 26-27, according to a recent report from Pastor Thomas E. Hammers.

Speakers at the Kittanning, Pa., church while Pastor Gordon W. Bracker was holding meetings in another church, were Bro. Robert Dain and Bro. Harry Fink.

The Harrisburg, Pa., church, of which Russell H. Weber is pastor, sponsored a spiritual life conference for young people May 8-9, with Rev. Donald Martin as the speaker.

Prof. S. Herbert Bess, Winona Lake, preached at the Sharpsville, Ind., church April 12. Scott Weaver is pastor of the church.

The son of Rev. and Mrs. James Marshall, in Argentina, was born April 23 and was named Peter Philip. Date and name were not known when previous announcement was made.

Pastor Richard E. Jackson, Jr., is to be ordained to the ministry May 24 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the New Troy, Mich., church, where he is now ministering. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, of Winona Lake, Ind., is to deliver the ordination sermon, and other elders of the district will participate in the service.

Rev. Paul Eiselstein, member of the Denver, Colo., church and missionary under the American Sunday School Union in Colorado, in addition to supervising more than 34 Sunday schools, will be overseer of 6 young people's camps this summer, beginning July 19.

Pastor Kenneth B. Ashman, Wooster, Ohio, was the counselor for the "Social and Spiritual Service" section of career day at the Dalton, Ohio, high school April 21.

The Compton, Calif., church ordained, April 19, the following to the office of deacon and deaconess: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bickford, Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Jenison, and Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Bryan. Rev. Arvid L. Viedmark preached there April 26.

Mrs. Laura Towner, of the Dayton, Ohio, First church, died near the end of April.

Pastor Gerald Polman, York, Pa., spoke each morning during the week of May 3 over the local radio station.

Rev. Richard DeArmey, pastor of the Sidney, Ind., church, preached at the Fort Wayne, Ind., church May 3, according to Pastor James D. Hammer.

THE WATCHMAN OF THE HOUSE OF THE LORD

By Rev. Kenneth Ashman, Wooster, Ohio

This sermon was preached at the Homerville, Ohio, church March 27, 1953, at the time of the ordination of Bro. Robert Holmes, pastor of that church.—Editor.

There are 3 qualifications for a good sermon:

(1) Be short—come to the point early, establish the point, and conclude. I saw a sign in a wholesale house in Wooster which read: "Samson killed a thousand Philistines with the jawbone of an ass. But he was a piker. Ten thousand sales are killed every day by the same weapon." Multitudes of souls are lost for eternity because of the lengthy sermonizing of some men, especially those who speak out of their own wisdom.

(2) Be specific—have a point to come to. Many sermons are pointless. The speaker says a lot of wonderful things but never brings his listeners around to decision. We might ask, when he concludes: "What's the point?"

(3) Be salty—have a point worth establishing. The little girl's description of salt was, "It makes me thirsty." Our sermons ought to be likewise—making the people thirsty, thirsting after righteousness.

Paul wrote to the Israelite converts to Christianity these significant words: "Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you" (Heb. 13:17). He must have had in mind the words of God to Ezekiel the prophet: "I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel" (Ezek. 3:17).

For the purposes of his calling, Ezekiel claimed 2 things: (1) "The word of the Lord came expressly unto Ezekiel" (Ezek. 1:3), and (2) "the hand of the Lord God fell" upon Ezekiel (Ezek. 8:1). What the prophet recognized pertaining to himself must be the sincere conviction of every true minister of the Gospel. He is the caretaker of the Word of God and, under the hand of the Lord, he becomes the watchman of souls. It is a sobering thing to realize that every sermon deals with the eternal utterances of the Almighty. It is more sobering to know that each and every person in the parish will shortly be in heaven or hell, largely because of your ministry. With these truths paramount, Ezekiel was quick to warn against an unfaithful testimony on the part of the watchman (Ezek. 3:18-19).

In our text, the "watchman" is thus being applied to the minister, and "your souls" is being applied to the congregation. The duties of each are assigned. Rewards are promised to both for faithful obedience to those duties. We therefore direct our attention first to the watchman.

Rev. Kenneth Ashman

The Watchman

Your pastor labors under a two-fold call:

1a. God has called him to be a preacher of the Word (I Tim. 1:12). In this man God has found qualities and convictions which make him worthy of such a high calling. In accepting that call, which he has rightfully done, he assumes heavy responsibilities.

1b. He must be a learner of the Word. Notice, I did not say a student. Many people have studied the Bible all their lives and have never learned much from it. He may learn the Word in 2 ways:

1c. "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Tim. 2:15), and—

2c. "Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me" (Matt. 11:29).

Thus, through study and through practice he may be a learner of God's Word. This he must be before his ministry will bear any fruit.

Some ministers spend most of their time reading about the Word and gathering materials to support the Word. It's like getting a new rope, a new bucket, and a new windlass, without dropping the bucket into the well. One never gets a refreshing drink that way. The bucket must be dropped into the water—then comes forth the needed drink. Even so, we must know the Word, be submerged into its refreshing goodness, before we can give the thirsty souls of men a satisfying drink. How well do I remember that morning when all my hours were spent in rearranging my books, dusting the shelves, and adjusting the desk chair. With about a half hour left until lunch, I decided to sit down and read a little. From the shelf came a book by Spurgeon. Upon the first page these words glared out in conviction: "Some ministers spend so much time arranging their studies that they never have time to get at that study."

2b. He must be an applier of the Word. This is another way of expressing the command of Paul to Timothy: "Preach the word." I wish that the Lord could say of me, your pastor, and all our ministers what He wrote of John the Baptist: "He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light." Too many ministers are like the woman upon whose tombstone was written: "She was religious but without enthusiasm." We must have a fire burning from within—the outworking of the blessed Holy Spirit. "A man with a burning heart will always start a fire." We need the message of the song: "Give me oil in my lamp, keep me burning in the camp, until the break of day." And while we do not press the truth, we observe that the record shows that the people "willingly" abode in the ministry of John while he burned. Perhaps more burning from the pulpit will kindle more fires of devotion in the pews, and will eliminate a lot of freezes which discourage both pastor and people.

2a. You have called him to be a pastor of the people, the shepherd of the flock. As pastor, he is the "watchman of your souls." After he has applied the Word to his own life, he must apply it to yours. In so doing he is first—

1b. A convictor. Remember, he is the Holy Spirit's messenger to your soul. As such, he does the work of the Spirit. The Spirit's work is described in John 16:8-11—He convicts the world of sin, of righteousness, and of judgment. It is to be expected, therefore, that your pastor will "bear down on your iniquities" occasionally. It may entertain the congregation to have the pastor denounce the "Communism of Russia," the "waste of Washington," or the "laxity of the school board," but entertainment is not what you need or want. If it's your tooth that is decayed, you need dentistry. If it's your heart that is evil, you need the Word applied.

2b. A comforter. Again the Holy Spirit uses him to minister to your heartaches and sorrows. The Holy Spirit is the great Comforter, and He uses your pastor to accomplish His purposes. He should be responsive to the heartbeats of his people, ministering to their sicknesses, their sorrows, and their seasons of distress. "Bear ye one another's burdens," should have its brightest exemplification in him. This is no easy part of his pastorate, but it is a blessed part indeed.

3b. A counselor. Of the Holy Spirit it was written: "He shall guide you into all truth." The pastor is the Spirit's counselor to the people. He advises the young in their growing-up problems; he endeavors, by faith, to keep breaches between husband and wife from becoming unbridgeable gulfs; he counsels the parents on the rearing of children; he leads the officers and teachers into a closer walk with the Lord. He thus puts into his life the passion of the life of the Lord: "I came not to be ministered unto, but to give my life a ministry for others."

Our text declares that he must give an account of his ministry. This is a solemn thing. Since that account is given unto God, as unto God he should serve. Good advice on this score may be found in Paul's writings of I Corinthians 4:1-5. Read these verses! In the Hebrew passage before us (13:5-6) there are some nuggets for the pastor. Note the word "content" means "to be self-sufficient" because of being Christ-dependent. The pastor, knowing he is doing the work of God in God's way—and of that he wants to be absolutely sure—boldly ministers, fearing naught that man might say or do. In the final analysis, it is what God will say, not what man does say.

Now we direct our attention to "your souls."

The Congregation

Note, there are 2 responsibilities laid upon the people unto whom the watchman ministers.

1a. Obedience. Obey his preaching. Remember, you are not obeying a man, you are obeying the Truth, Christ! We sing the song, "Trust and Obey, for there's no other way, to be happy in Jesus, but to trust and obey." Happy indeed is the congregation that has a pastor they can trust. Happy indeed is the pastor who has a congregation that will obey. Now the word "rule" in the text is a poor translation. A better meaning would be "those that guide you." Your pastor is a well-trained guide, not an arbitrary despot. Foolish indeed is that parishioner who refuses to follow the path he clearly marks. Obey his preaching—it is the Word of God. Therein you can't go wrong.

Rev. Robert Holmes

2a. Submit. Accept his pastoring. Receive his planning in the home, in the Bible school, in the church. God has given him certain means and methods—cooperate with him to the fullest of your ability. And in this respect may I offer a few suggestions.

1b. Remember, your pastor is inadequate, therefore pray for him. Paul, realizing the greatness of his calling, requested the Roman Christians to "strive together with me in your prayers for me." Note that word "together"! It took 100,000 men to build the pyramids that shall someday end in dust. But in this community the eternal destiny of many souls hangs upon the ministry of 1 man. His work is divided into 5 spheres: studying, calling, prospecting, pastoring, and preaching—any one of which should require his full time. But to each he must give but 20 percent of his time and ability, the 80 percent being left undone. Don't pity him, but pray for him. He's having the best time of all—but he is inadequate to his tasks. He needs your constant and fervent prayers.

2b. Remember, your pastor is alone; he has no pastor. He faces real dangers. His temptations are more than yours. Besides the ordinary ones he must guard against self-esteem, due to his high calling. He must guard against slovenliness, due to the diversity of his duties. He must guard against discouragements, due to the daily facing of many problems. There is a mental strain that accompanies the ministry that most of you people know nothing about. He must deal with carnal members, rebellious men, officious women, wayward young people, the easily hurt, the self-righteous, and many others.

3b. Remember, your pastor has a home, too. By choice, he is away from that home and family most of the time. Therefore, unto his helpmate falls much of the managing and counseling in that home. Robert Morris financed the American Revolution. Next to Washington, he was the most essential personality of that era. But he died in poverty. He had been so busy caring for the affairs of national finance that he had neglected his own books. Your pastor stands in the same danger. Help him to avoid it.

4b. Remember, your pastor is with you. He is here 12 months out of the year. He preaches most of the 52 Sundays and most of the prayer-meeting nights. Don't expect him to produce a masterpiece each time. Lincoln is remembered mainly for but one address. Most great orators are known for but a half dozen great masterpieces at the most. Each week you expect your pastor to interest you, instruct you, convince you, stir you, and move you—and sometimes it's a hard job. The visiting evangelist comes in with 10 to 20 of his finest sermons. How we fall all over him in praise and commendation. We send him away with an offering of large proportions. But at the same time we forget to honor our local pastor who all the time has been presenting the same truths in different words, and for a lot less remuneration.

Never worry about your pastor having a nervous breakdown from overwork. He may have such a breakdown, but it will come from a lack of appreciation, a feeling of futility, a frustration of the plan of God for himself and his people. And you, the members of the congregation, can guard him against such a tragedy. Remember, he's with you day after day. He knows you as you are. You know him intimately. It takes the "bond of love in the Spirit" to make such a close relationship a happy one. I trust that it shall be so.

Returning to our text, we note the result of such a careful ministry and such a considerate congregation. The pastor will be able to give an account of his ministry before God "with joy," and the relationship of himself with his people will be "profitable unto you." Paul declared that in the people of Philippi he anticipated his "earnest expectation" to be accomplished, so that he should not "be ashamed" at the coming of Christ (Phil. 1:20). The congregation ought to heed the advice of John when he wrote: "Abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed" (I John 2:28).

LIKE LETTERS FROM HOME

"We wish to renew our subscription to the Missionary Herald. The articles, testimonies, and news are always a blessing and a real help. We are isolated members of Fifth and Cherry, Long Beach, and don't know what we would do without the Herald and our church publication, the Light. They are like letters from home, and I thank the Lord for them. (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. Hubert C. Tiesing, Fresno, Calif."

SHULER GOES TO LOS ANGELES

Evangelist Jack Shuler, son of Dr. Robert (Bob) Shuler, has been secured to conduct a city-wide evangelistic campaign in Los Angeles, Calif. The series of meetings is planned for 1 month in length—May 17-June 14—and will be held in a large tent erected for that purpose. Some of the Brethren in that area are participating in this campaign.

LOVE

(A Metrical Version of I Cor. 13)

Though I speak with fiery tongues,
E'en with men and angels vie,
Yet does not a holy love
In my burning bosom lie;
Bragging brass and cymbals' clang
Do my empty life desecry.
O my Saviour, from above
Fill my life with holy love!

Though with power of prophecy,
And with knowledge weighing all,
Yea, discerning mysteries,
And with faith that sees no wall;
Yet, without the self-less love,
Nothing still am I withal.
O my Saviour, from above
Fill my self with self-less love!

Though I make the poor to shine
In a philanthropic turn,
Though for friend and fellow mine
I should let my body burn;
Yet, without a timeless love,
I should then no profit earn.
O my Saviour, from above
Fill my soul with timeless love!

Love is patient, yea, and kind,
Envies not nor self displays,
Knows no arrogance or pride,
Leads itself in wholesome ways,
Knows no selfishness or goad,
And of evil makes no prey.
O my Saviour, from above
Fill my heart with perfect love!

Love rejoices not in wrong,
With the truth its gladness rests;
Love bears all, believes yet all,
Hopes all, still endures all tests;
Love unending never fails;
Blest he who in love is dressed.
O my Saviour, from above
Dress me in unending love!

Prophecy shall sometime fail,
Tongues no longer needful be,
Knowledge stretch beyond this vale,
Mysteries be certainty;
Yet remain faith, hope, and love:
Love, the greater of these three.
O my Saviour, from above
Fill my mind with greater love!

—Love for Jesus Christ my Lord,
Him who, dying, first loved me;
Love for brethren in the Lord,
Counting not life dear to me;
Love for souls who spurn God's love,
That in heaven they may be.
O my Saviour, from above
Fill me full with Thine own love!

—Charles Bergerson.

CHRISTIAN FLIGHT

A well-known English author notes that many migratory birds fly high. Three reasons are given: (1) By so doing they have a wider view and a better sense of direction; (2) high flight takes them out of the range of their enemies; (3) in the rarer atmosphere of the higher altitudes greater speed is possible.

How perfect is this parallel in the life of the Christian. (1) The Christian who stays too near the questionable things of earth soon loses all sense of direction. He may become so confused that the "way of death" looks like the way to heaven. (2) How many are the enemies of the Christian life! The world, the flesh, and the Devil—their arrows are sharp and poisonous. But, thank God, they are all earthbound, never penetrating the higher altitudes. (3) Speed—ah, yes! Christian at Vanity Fair thrust his fingers into his ears and ran, crying, "Life, life, eternal life."

"Urge on your rapid course,
Ye blood-besprinkled bands;
The heavenly kingdom suffers force;
'Tis seized by violent hands."

—Covenant Weekly.

A CURE FOR MISERY

"When you find yourself overpowered with melancholy," said a saintly man, "the best way is to go out and do something kind to somebody or other. Thousands who today are sitting daily in the gloom of a self-created misery would soon lose it if they began to care for others." One quaint writer says concerning this: "When I dig a man out of trouble, I turn the hole he leaves behind him into a grave in which I bury my own trouble."—Gospel Herald.

POOR EATING

Lou Smith, the publicist, tells of a missionary who fell into the hands of cannibals. "Going to eat me, I presume," he said. The chief grunted. "Don't do it," he advised, "you won't like me." The chief grunted again, so the missionary took out a knife, sliced a piece from the calf of his leg and handed it to him. "Try this and see for yourself," he said. The chief took one bite and choked. The missionary remained for 50 years. He had a cork leg.—Selected.

THE THREE R's OF SALVATION

By Rev. Ben Hamilton, Winona Lake, Ind.

Though not entirely out of date, yesterday's three R's of education (reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic) are not now stressed the same way. Today, as always in God's plan, salvation from sin is based on the three R's of Colossians 1:13-14.

Rescue

All who turn their backs on God and seek to do only that which seems good in their own eyes are in darkness. Insofar as God is concerned there is only one Light, Jesus Christ. Darkness is a powerful influence. One has only to see an African funeral or know some of the features of tribal initiation rites to appreciate what power the darkness of heathenism has over its victims. Ask a refugee from behind the Iron Curtain about conditions in such lands. The power which Stalinism has over the slaves in Russia and its satellites is another depressing demonstration of the potency of darkness.

But there is another darkness that is overwhelmingly powerful. It is that spiritual darkness, springing from Satan, that blinds a man so that he does not desire God's righteous way, but the path of the wicked which leads to destruction. That path is described in Proverbs 4:19 thus: "The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble."

But the salvation which God offers will rescue the sinner who stumbles in darkness from the power thereof. For the word "delivered" in Colossians 1:13 is the one which Homer and other famous Greek writers used to mean "rescue." This is the meaning of the word wherever it appears in the Septuagint (Greek Old Testament). Thus he who turns to God can have the assurance of being rescued from the power of darkness that results from sin and the danger of death.

Release

Once rescued from the power of darkness, the sinner is released from sin's stranglehold upon Satan's slave. Colossians 1:14a reads, "In whom we have redemption." This seemingly technical theological term "redemption" means, in the original New Testament language, "a loosing away from" in the sense of release from something. Proverbs 5:22 gives a graphic picture of the man who refuses to accept Christ and prefers to be a servant of the Devil. For truly such a man "shall be holden with the cords of his sins."

Just as a prisoner handcuffed to an officer of the law cannot be released without a key, so the sinner cannot be released from the bonds of his sins without the proper key. That key is not good works. On man's part the key is belief in Jesus Christ, the Son of God. On God's part the key is Jesus Christ, His Son whom He gave (because God so loved the world) that whosoever should believe in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. This is shown by the fact that "his dear Son" of Colossians 1:13b is the person described "in whom" at the opening of verse 14.

Rev. Ben Hamilton

Removal

Rescued and released from sin, the man who accepts Christ as Saviour can have the perpetual joy of knowing that his sins are removed. Not temporarily from one act of penance to the next, but forever. For the word "forgiveness" in Colossians 1:14b has the root idea of "removal." The basic meaning is to send away, and once a man's sins are sent away they are definitely removed. Seven times the word is translated "remission" in the New Testament. Remission comes from a Latin word which means "to send back."

The African porter, at the end of his trip, is always glad to have the burdensome load which he carries on his head removed that he might have relief and rest. So it is with gladness that more than one African convert has praised God and thanked Jesus for removing from the African's head the weighty load of sin.

Men, women, and children of all races are weary under the burden of sin. Heavy laden, discouraged, weighted down; they too can enjoy that rest which only comes when the load of sin is removed. But who can truly forgive sin insofar as God can be satisfied? Only Jesus Christ.

Is there anything that man can possibly do to gain removal of sins? Nothing that man does in his own strength can obtain release from sin, and certainly man's own good works will not rescue him from the power of darkness. Yet there is—

Repentance as a Requirement

Christ said to the apostles that repentance and remission of sins must be preached in His name among all nations (Luke 24:47). This repentance of which Jesus spoke is a turning away from the darkness of Satan's way. In his own strength no man can or will turn from the darkness which sinful man so loves (John 3:19). It is only as God moves the heart of a man and convicts that person that there is a full turning away from sin. Then, and only then, can there be a complete renunciation. Then, and only then, can God rescue and release the sinner from the cords of sin and remove the sinner's transgressions and this only through Jesus Christ.

Three wonderful, foundational R's are those shown in Colossians 1:13-14. Millions will go to hell without enjoying rescue and release from their sins, wandering aimlessly, stumbling in darkness without the removal of their sins. May the precious three R's of Paul's message to the Colossian church be made plain everywhere today.

HERALD IS RICH BLESSING

"Greetings in our Saviour's name. . . . Will you kindly renew my subscription for another year. The magazine has been a rich blessing from the Lord the past year. (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. John Allison, Long Beach, Calif."

JOHN E. PATTERSON, PASTOR FOR 49 YEARS, RETIRES

Pastor John E. Patterson retired from the active ministry at the end of April, after 49 years in the ministry of the Gospel in the Brethren denomination.

Brother Patterson was born March 4, 1883, in Bedford County, Va. Of himself he said: "My entire life has been spent within about 25 miles of the place of my birth. Both of my parents died while I was in my teens. I do praise God for a Christian home where the children were gathered around the family altar. This has meant a great deal in my life. I do praise the Lord that He has been able to use so weak a vessel to His glory, and that He has given me such a fine group of people with which to labor in His service."

John Patterson received the Saviour in 1902 in a mission service, and, as he said: "From the time of conversion I could not get away from the urge to preach the Gospel." Though his parents were members of the Methodist church, he was baptized and received into the Brethren denomination at Red Hill by Rev. N. W. Jennings.

"The urge to preach" was always with him. Therefore, on June 4, 1904, he was ordained to the ministry by Rev. N. W. Jennings and Rev. D. C. Moomaw.

Immediately, Brother Patterson began to preach at the Red Hill church, preaching there once a month from 1904 to 1936, a ministry of 32 years. Also, at the same time, he began preaching at Boone Mill once a month and continued until 1924, a ministry of 20 years.

A writer in a Roanoke, Va., newspaper quotes Mr. Patterson thus, concerning those early days: "I preached at Red Hill (now the Clearbrook church), Hollins, and at Boone's Chapel at Boone Mill. Sometimes I would come to Roanoke from Hollins, ride the trolley through town, and then walk to Red Hill [7 miles]. Other times I rode horseback." The newspaper writer then adds that the "Hollins minister who began his career by traveling miles on foot and horseback to preach is retiring after 49 years of service."

For some time Brother Patterson preached in the Hollins community in any and every place he could get an audience to listen to the Word of God. His greatest joy came and his greatest monument began when he organized the Mountain View Brethren Church of Hollins, Va., with 12 charter members. That was in 1913, and this man of God has been the only pastor this church has had from that time until the end of April 1953—a period of 40 years.

During those 40 years the membership of that rural church has grown to 176. Looking back over the years, Mr. Patterson says one of the most gratifying experiences is "having 3 and 4 generations of the same families come into the church." (Who says long pastorates do not pay nor have satisfying results?) This congregation has given generously through the years, not only for its own welfare, but to the various agencies and auxiliaries of the Brethren Church. Chief in its giving is the sending forth of Rev. J. Paul Dowdy to missionary service for Christ in Argentina.

Rev. John E. Patterson

For the first 9 years, before the organization of the Hollins church, he had no salary, and even in the first years of the church the salary was very small. During those years he supported himself and his wife, a real helpmeet to him since September 18, 1901, and 2 foster sons, John and James, by raising and selling vegetables from his garden. During the latter part of his ministry, however, he devoted his entire time to the church and the work of Christ.

On September 18, 1951, the Hollins people held a celebration in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of the Pattersons. Pastor Galen M. Lingenfelter, of Buena Vista, wrote of this occasion: "It was my privilege, as a fellow pastor in the Southeast District, to attend a reception held for the Pattersons at the church on this anniversary evening. . . . The auditorium of the church was filled to overflowing and a great majority of the people in attendance had been baptized and received into the Brethren Church by Brother Patterson. Many gave heart-stirring testimonies as they told of Brother Patterson's influence upon their lives. . . . Many were unable to express the feelings of their hearts as they gave honor to their beloved pastor and his wife. This was an unusual and yet a wonderful blessing to hear some testify how they, their children, their grandchildren, and even their great-grandchildren were won to Christ under the ministry of Brother and Sister Patterson. . . .

"I have been in the Southeast District just 3 years [in 1951], but from the very beginning of my ministry here I found the Pattersons always interested in the other pastors and their families and always ready to help them. Their lives have been a real blessing and encouragement to us. . . ."

A recognition service in honor of Brother Patterson's long ministry was held at the Hollins church April 21. Representatives from the various churches of the Southeast District were present, and Pastor Herman W. Koontz, Winona Lake, Ind., who had worked with Brother Patterson for 18 years in the district, was the speaker, and the choir of the Roanoke Ghent church, under the direction of Bro. Joseph B. Huffman, furnished the music.

Following this recognition service a pastor of the district received this note from Brother Patterson: "If I live to be 100, I will never forget the kind verbal expressions of brotherly love and friendship directed to me last Tuesday night (April 21). It was truly one of the warmest demonstrations of appreciation I have ever witnessed or been a part of."

"Your monetary gifts were certainly not expected, but I want you and your congregation to know that from the bottom of our hearts we thank you for them and for your continued loyalty and love through these many years."

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Bowman have moved from Garwin, Iowa, to Hollins, and Brother Bowman became pastor of the church as of May 1.

Camden, Ohio

Under the combined efforts and talents of 3 men of God, we experienced a wonderful revival here in Camden.

Pastor Ward A. Miller, of the Osceola, Ind., church, was the evangelist, and he preached soul-stirring messages from the Word of God. Pastor Charles A. Flowers, of the Sampleville, Ohio, mission, was in charge of the music, and his wife, Maxine, was pianist on occasions. Together they sang several duet numbers. The pianist for the campaign was Bro. Arthur Flick, of Williamsdale, Ohio. In addition to special piano solos, he also played his own sleighbell instrument.

During the first week 19 people made public rededication of life and 1 person received Christ as Saviour. Then there were no more decisions until the closing day, April 26, when a number made decisions of rededication in the morning, and 16 came forward in the evening, 5 of whom were receiving Christ for the first time.

The pastor wishes to thank Brother Miller and all others who helped, including the delegations from other churches. The average attendance was 103, with a low of 78 and a high of 144.

On May 8 Mrs. Rose Foster was

Additions to Membership

Chico, Calif. ....	3
Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) .	2
Johnstown, Pa. ....	5
Spokane, Wash. ....	2
Summit Mills, Pa. ....	1
Waynesboro, Pa. ....	7

Public Confessions

Conemaugh, Pa. ....	1
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	1

Dedication of Babies

Chico, Calif. ....	3
Uniontown, Pa. ....	1
Waynesboro, Pa. ....	1
Winona Lake, Ind. ....	2

ONE FOR TWO

A Christian opened store one day;
In walked a worldling, boist'rous gay;
The worldling, muttering, proclaimed
With finder's joy and dupe's disdain:
"Christian, you have it, rare and new;
I'll buy this one marked price of two!"

The Christian took the double price,
And, mutt'ring at his sacrifice
In selling something new and rare,
He chuckled with the meanest air:
"Ha, ha! I'm smarter than I knew;
I've just sold one for price of two!"

Need else be said? Oh, God, anoint
This lesson: Christian, see the point:
Who loves to make the ephah small
And shekel great, deceiveth all!

—Charles Bergerson.

with us to speak at the mother-daughter banquet, and then she spoke at both services on May 10.—Robert Betz, pastor.

Chico, California

The Lord began to pour out special blessings upon us the first day of April by sending us the Solts, a missionary family from the pastor's home town.

Easter Sunday was a blessing to us. The pastor spoke at a sunrise service in which 5 churches cooperated. This was followed by breakfast in the church basement. There were 127 in Sunday school and 147 in church, our peak attendance for these services. Three babies were dedicated to the Lord. In the evening the young people presented a play.

On April 19 the Gideons were in charge of the morning service, and on April 26 we baptized and received 3 members.—Ward Tressler, pastor.

BLIND

Blind! Blind! What awful tragedy
When one is born to never see
The beauties that around us lie—
The green of tree, the blue of sky.

Blind! Blind! What greater tragedy
When one is blind and will not see
The beauties that in Christ abound,
The joy that may in Him be found.

Oh God, touch blinded eyes, I pray,
And cause those eyes to see the Way.
Poor, blinded souls who grasp and grope,

Give them the eyes of faith and hope!

—Geneva Showerman.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Philadelphia, Pa.
(First) .....	May 17-24.....	John Aeby.....	Archie Lynn.
Sterling, Ohio....	May 18-24.....	Joseph Gingrich..	Paul Bauman.
Osceola, Ind.....	May 21-24.....	Ward Miller.....	Herman Hoyt.
Artesia, Calif....	May 24-June 14.	Adam Rager.....	R. Paul Miller.
Long Beach, Calif.
(Second) .....	May 31-June 5..	George Peek.....	Alva J. McClain.
Denver, Colo.....	June 1-14.....	Lowell Hoyt.....	Arnold Kr'gbaum.

5-55
Mr. and Mrs. Elaine Snyder
Winona Lake, Ind.

A Familiar Scene in the Seminary Library—Just Before Exams!

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 22

FOREIGN MISSION NUMBER

MAY 30, 1953

African Village——

"How shall they hear without a preacher?"

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By Russell D. Barnard

Editor, Foreign Mission Number

Africa—Next Goal of the Communists

Dr. Max Yergan, a leader among American Negroes, and recognized as a sufficient authority on African affairs to have been called to testify behind closed doors at a joint meeting of the International Security Committee and the Foreign Relations Committee of the U. S. Senate, sees this land of treasure and trouble as "next" on the list for Communist attack. This is the conclusion of an interview with Dr. Yergan, reported in a 12-page discussion in the May 1, 1953, issue of United States News and World Report. Unless the God of heaven intervenes and prevents this terrible thing, every other bit of information confirms Dr. Yergan's contention.

Can We Meet the Attack?

The May 4, 1953, issue of Life magazine devotes the entire issue to a review in word and picture of economic and political conditions in Africa. It is hardly possible for one to read that issue without coming to the hopeless conclusion that the governments of this world have failed and are failing to fortify Africa for any such attack. Only a vital faith in God revealed in allegiance to the Lord Jesus Christ has been able to combat the Communist view in any land. Only this view of things and the personal faith implanted in the hearts of African natives will fortify them in this situation.

Have Missions Failed in Africa?

One writer, in the issue of Life mentioned above, expresses it as his conviction that all missions, and especially Protestant missions, have failed in Africa—at least so far as giving strength to the natives is concerned. We doubt not but that the writer writes from a prejudice and bias with which we could not for one moment agree. Yes, many missions in Africa have gone as far astray as the modernism of America. Certainly such missions have nothing constructive to offer Africa.

But missions have not failed—not in our field in French Equatorial Africa where some 20,000 give evidence of being born-again believers. Just one step from dark paganism, they are now happy in the service of the Lord. Lives have been changed, as have homes, villages—yes, even whole communities. Administrators and native chieftains alike testify that believers are better citizens living better lives. BRETHREN MISSIONS IN AFRICA HAVE NOT FAILED, other than in that 94 percent of the people in our area are still without Christ. This 94 percent is a "No 1 seedbed for communism."

200 Missionaries by 1963?

Is this an unreasonable goal for the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church? At present we have 1 missionary for every 225 members of the Brethren Church. Another fellowship of believers now has 1 missionary for every 100 members of that fellowship. They are not wealthy people! They do not love the Lord more than the Brethren! Even with no gain in the membership of the Brethren Church during the next 10 years, 1 missionary for every 100 members would give us 200 missionaries by 1963. It would take every one of them to man our present fields sufficiently and to open those other fields now knocking at our doors.

99 Missionaries, a Sufficient Present Challenge!

With the arrival of Brother and Sister Foster Tresise in Honolulu and the departure of Brother and Sister Victor Meyers and family for Argentina, we will have 89 missionaries on our roster. Then, IF we are enabled to send out 10 additional ones from among those who have completed training, or who will complete it within this year and waiting for appointment, our total will be 99. These 99 missionaries will tremendously challenge the dedication and the supplying of funds by our Brethren people, but IT CAN BE DONE!

2,880 New Members of the Foreign Missionary Society

This increase in membership in the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church would help greatly—yes, it would probably care for our entire needs. The offering envelope being used for this annual foreign missionary offering sets up a goal for 8,880 who will make gifts of $5 or more. Last year our list of donors

EASTER OFFERING REPORTS

Please remember: Your Easter offering must arrive before June 15, 1953, in order to be counted as a part of the offering of this fiscal year. Offerings and reports should be sent to Miss Ruth E. Reddick, P. O. Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind.

Make all checks, money orders, etc., payable to The Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balvo.

totaled only about 6,000. Is it unreasonable to expect 15 new donors out of every 100 members of our Brethren churches? We believe this is entirely possible.

4c Per Member Per Day

Just 4c per member per day for every member of the Brethren Church will care for our entire program of missions and send out all the new candidates who are ready to go. "Easy," you say. Yes, but it hasn't been easy, possibly because so many have not presented of their tithes and offerings for foreign missions. Last year we gave a little less than 2½c per member for our foreign mission work. Thus far, just parking-meter money represents our giving to foreign missions. Many have been giving most sacrificially, and we pray for the day when that will characterize the giving of every member of the Brethren Church. Newsboys and baby-sitters, if they love the Lord, will dedicate of their income that boys and girls in other lands may hear the Gospel—they can help raise the per-member giving in the Brethren Church.

There's Still Time

If the coming of the Lord is still future when you read these editorials, there is still time to help in this business of world evangelization, in this business of getting the Gospel out. Our annual offering period concludes with the end of the month of May, and offerings should be sent immediately thereafter to our financial secretary, Miss Ruth E. Reddick, Winona Lake, Ind.

Re-think your giving to foreign missions this year. Re-pray it. Be sure you have given all that the Lord has directed and we shall say, "Thank you, and praise God!"

"BE NOT DISMAYED"

By James B. Marshall, Corral de Bustos, Argentina

Recently a group of believers from our local church accompanied me to Isla Verde (Green Island), a little town about 12 miles from Corral de Bustos. I dropped 2 people off at each street with an armful of tracts and in 1 afternoon we covered the town.

One man, the owner of a hotel behind the Catholic church, received me with an open mouth. As soon as I greeted him and explained why I had come, he insisted on presenting his views of God, future life, and the Bible. The fact is that he didn't believe in anything and he seemed to delight in explaining why. The man challenged me. He read and spoke several languages and was versed in almost all the major philosophies of the past century. He didn't believe in God and he had a well-defined philosophy of why he didn't. I asked him why he had such an odium of the Christian faith and he told me his story.

"When I was a child I was a Roman Catholic. I was baptized by the church, but I didn't like to go to the masses or the confession. One day my father told me to go to mass, but I didn't obey him. When he learned of my disobedience he was furious. He forcibly carried me to the Catholic church and tied me to a hitching post directly in front of the door. I stayed there that day and all through the night without anything to eat. Every moment that passed I hated my father and his church more and more. Finally he returned to set me free, hoping that I had learned my lesson and had repented. Yes, I learned my lesson, but not what my father wanted to teach me. I learned that Christianity is a despicable thing that makes men act like brutes, and I determined to forsake it entirely. I was only 14 years of age when I left my home in Italy never to return."

It was a great privilege to explain to him the faith of the Bible, and that God does not demand human efforts but rather a simple trust in His Son who gave Himself in love on the cross of Calvary. This is just one experience of many that we have regularly in our work.

How needy the people are, and how ignorant they are of their need! As the Lord spoke to Jeremiah: "Thou therefore gird up thy loins, and arise, and speak unto them all that I command thee: be not dismayed at their faces, lest I confound thee before them," so He speaks to us today. Pray with us that the Lord will give us the strength, the wisdom, and the ability to fulfill His desires for our lives, and that He will open the hearts of the people to receive the Word of Life.

WHO IS THE ARCHITECT OF YOUR LIFE?

An architect complains that many of his clients come and ask him to design a house for them, only to let him speedily discover that they have already designed it for themselves. What they really want is the sanction of their own plan, and the satisfaction of seeing him draw on paper what they have fully in their own minds.

In very much the same fashion we often go to the great Architect with our lives. We ask for wisdom and guidance, like Solomon; but we have already planned how we will build our fortunes and shape our course; and it is not His way we are seeking but His approval of ours.—Selected.

ABROAD

Church in Polish-occupied Silesia run by laymen: The German Evangelical Church in the Polish-occupied part of Silesia has virtually become "a church without clergy." There are about 40,000 Protestants in some 100 scattered parishes in the area, but they are served by only 2 pastors, both of them ailing and overworked. Services and religious classes are being held by lay men and women. Before World War II, the Evangelical Church in Silesia was one of the most prospering in Germany. It had 2,300,000 members and 734 parishes served by over 900 pastors.—The Alliance Weekly.

In one place in South India the wind blew away a number of copies of the Gospel, one of which was picked up by a Muslim shopkeeper. Next time he saw the worker, who had not noticed that any were missing, he told her that he himself and 50 other men had read it, and that others were waiting to do so.—Selected.

Foreign Missionary Directory

LATIN AMERICA

ARGENTINA, SOUTH AMERICA—

Abel, Miss Bertha, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Churchill, Rev. and Mrs. Jack B., Remedios de Escalada 74, Rio Tercero F.C.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Dowdy, Rev. and Mrs. J. Paul, Jorge Ross 631, La Carlota, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Hoyt, Rev. and Mrs. Solon W., Calle 31, No. 33, Don Bosco, F.C.G.R., Argentina, S. A.
Marshall, Rev. and Mrs. James, 178 Calle Reconquista, Corral de Bustos, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Rottler, Rev. and Mrs. Carson, San Martin 254, Huinca Renanco, F.C.N.G.S.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Schrock, Rev. and Mrs. Lynn, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F.C.N.G.B.M. Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Sickel, Mrs. Loree, Remedios de Escalada 74, Rio Tercero, F.C.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.

National Workers—

Nunez, Miss Nelida, Rivadavia 433, Rio Cuarto, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Siccardi, Mr. and Mrs. Luis, Casilla de Correo, No. 7, Almafuerte, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.
Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo E., 599 Belgrano, Gral. Cabrera, F.C.N.G.B.M., Prov. Cordoba, Argentina, S. A.

BRAZIL, SOUTH AMERICA—

Miller, Rev. and Mrs. Edward D., Macapa, Terr. Federal do Amapa, Brazil.
Teeter, Rev. and Mrs. John S., Macapa, Terr. Federal do Amapa, Brazil.
Zielasko, Rev. and Mrs. John W., Caixa Postal 861, Belem, Para, Brazil.

BAJA CALIFORNIA, MEXICO—

Haag, Rev. and Mrs. Walter E., 439 Sunset Lane, San Ysidro, Calif., U. S. A.
Howard, Rev. and Mrs. A. L., 439 Sunset Lane, San Ysidro, Calif., U. S. A.

AFRICA

Beaver, Rev. and Mrs. S. Wayne, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Bickel, Miss Florence, Bellevue via Bossangoa, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Byron, Miss Grace, Mission a Bassai, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Cripe, Miss Mary, Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Dunning, Rev. and Mrs. Harold L., Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Garber, Rev. and Mrs. Martin M., Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Geske, Miss Edith, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Habegger, Miss Mary Ann, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Hill, Rev. and Mrs. Robert W., Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Jobson, Dr. and Mrs. Orville D., Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Jones, Miss Gail, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kennedy, Rev. and Mrs. Lester W., Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kennedy, Mrs. Minnie, Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kent, Miss Ruth, Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Kliever, Rev. and Mrs. J. P., Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Miller, Rev. and Mrs. Donald F., Mission a Nzoro, Bocaranga via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Mishler, Miss Marie, Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Munn, Miss Mary Elizabeth, Mission a Bekoro, Paoua via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Myers, Miss Estella, Mission a Nzoro, Bocaranga via Bozoum, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Samarin, Rev. and Mrs. William, M'Baiki via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Schwartz, Miss Clara, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Sheldon, Rev. and Mrs. C. B., Bellevue via Bossangoa, via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Sumey, Rev. and Mrs. Charles, Mission a Bassai, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Taber, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd W., Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Thurston, Miss Marian, Bozoum via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Tyson, Miss Elizabeth, Mission a Yaloke, Bossembele via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.
Williams, Rev. and Mrs. Robert, Batangafo via Bangui, Oubangui-Chari, French Equatorial Africa.

FRANCE

Fogle, Rev. and Mrs. P. Fredrick, 86 Chemin de Vassieux, Caluire et Cuire, Rhone, France.

Mason, Dr. and Mrs. Harold A., 23 Rue du Coquart, Villennes-sur-Seine, Seine et Oise, France.
Taber, Rev. and Mrs. Charles R., 38 Avenue du Marechal Foch, Villennes-sur-Seine, France.

HONOLULU, HAWAII

Tresise, Rev. and Mrs. Foster, c/o T/Sgt. Edwin J. Jones, Mar. Det. N.A.S. Navy 128, Box 1373, F.P.O., San Francisco, Calif.
The above address is only temporary. Watch the News Briefs for the new address.

MISSIONARIES ON FURLOUGH

Altig, Rev. and Mrs. J. Keith, 206 S. Nicholson, Monterey Park, Calif.
Balzer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert, c/o Henry C. Kersting, 8415 Fenwick St., Sunland, Calif.
Emmert, Miss Mary, Dallas Center, Iowa.
Foster, Mrs. Rose, P. O. Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind.
Goodman, Rev. and Mrs. Marvin L., Jr., 1811 Baseline Rd., La Verne, Calif.
Maconaghy, Rev. and Mrs. Hill, c/o Charles Lewis 2121 Chew St., Philadelphia 38, Pa.
Nielsen, Miss Johanna, P. O. Box 588, Winona Lake, Ind.
Snyder, Rev. and Mrs. Roy, 715 Chandler St., Philadelphia 11, Pa. (This address will be effective as of July 1.)
Snyder, Miss Ruth, 211 Second St., Conemaugh, Pa.

They Are Taking the Gospel

REV. AND MRS. JOHN TEETER AND JOHNNY
NOW AT MACAPA, BRAZIL

(The picture was taken on board ship as they were ready to sail from New York)

They Need the Gospel!

Boys and Girls in Brazil

ROY A. PATTERSON MEMORIAL

DONATED BY THE FIRST BRETHREN CHURCH, DAYTON, OHIO

The Bronze Memorial Plaque

DEDICATION AT BEANDJE

By Orville D. Jobson, Bozoum, Africa

On the Tuesday following Easter Sunday, at Beandje, the Brethren leper colony near our Bekoro Station, it was the writer's privilege to assist at the dedication of the Roy A. Patterson Memorial donated by the First Brethren Church of Dayton, Ohio.

April is a warm month at Beandje, and on this particular morning the sun came up bright and unusually warm. There was a hustle and bustle in the village, for the patients knew a great day had dawned for them. Possibly a hundred lepers gathered on the laterite rocks which form natural benches under the shade trees between the dispensary and the ward building. Misses Munn and Cripe, faithful nurses to the lepers, were there in white uniforms to direct their patients. Pastor Kliever and Mrs. Kennedy represented the Bekoro Station, and Pastor and Mrs. Jobson came from Bozoum especially for this glad day.

The service opened by all singing the much-loved song, "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," led by one of the patient-nurses. Then Brother Jobson gave a brief statement concerning the dispensary and how the First Brethren Church of Dayton, Ohio, came to choose the building and its furnishings as a memorial to their beloved leader, Bro. Roy A. Patterson. The microscope, a part of the furnishings for the memorial, was placed on the table and the beautiful bronze tablet was fastened to one of the pillars of the building. Then Brother Kliever led in the dedicatory prayer. The reverence and interest shown by the patients fully expressed their deep appreciation for this act of love on their behalf.

These expressions of interest and love, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, for these unfortunate but happy people are deeply appreciated by them, their missionary nurses, and the mission as a whole. May the Lord's blessings rest upon each one who had a part in making these practical gifts available for our leper colony.

Scenes at the Beandje Dedication (from left to right)—

Marybeth Munn and Mary Cripe, with native nurses, on the veranda of the leper dispensary. Note the Memorial plaque on the pillar.

A close-up view of Misses Munn and Cripe and the Memorial Plaque.

Leper patients viewing the new microscope.

INTO GBAYALAND

By Harold L. Dunning, Africa

(Editor's Note—At the time Brother Dunning wrote the following article he and his family were stationed at M'Baiki. Since that time they have moved to Bozoum, where Brother Dunning will be teaching in the Institute Biblique.)

"Rain, rain, go away," had been our chant for several weeks. In the normal course of events rain would be the order of the day for several more weeks around M'Baiki, but up in GBayaland the big rains were about over. It was an off season for work among the GBaya, so more people would be found in the villages than usual. It was a good time to visit the GBaya.

To get ready for a stay of several weeks in a land of no hotels, no restaurants, no grocery stores, no service stations or garages—nothing but bush, bush, and very primitive villages—is no small task. Though now it is an old story to us, it still takes time. Clothing, food, water, bedding—all the minimum requirements and essentials koutou." (They all figure they have pushed this car about as far as it has run under its own power.) Fortunately the road from the garage is slightly downhill, so it did not take us long to get up the momentum necessary. The motor sounded good when it caught. Waving our good-by's, we rolled merrily on our way with the prayer in our hearts, "Lord, bless and give us souls among the GBaya."

We Visited Boda

Boda is a government post on the edge of GBayaland. Here we have a group of about 50 believers. We spent 3 days with them, preaching each morning and evening. After dark we showed slides depicting the life of Christ. The attendance was good, for Boda, with over 100 at each service.

The believers there were attempting to build a brick chapel. One day was spent with them hauling bricks to the chapel site. Working with them like this gives one a little closer insight into their thinking. The believers at Boda are being influenced strongly by current political movements, and this can definitely hinder the church if it grows. Pray that the believers at Boda will put first things first.

We Visited Bogana

Our next move was deep into the heart of GBayaland to the village of Bogana, which is a main village of a first line chief. There are a government school and dispensary, as well as several stores located here. Over 7 months ago a young man named Bouhele moved here to preach the Gospel. The village has long been under Catholic influence, but their workers have moved away recently because of the lack of interest on the part of the people. The Bogana GBaya are hardened heathen. Bouhele reported that only 15 or 20 attended any of the meetings, but a village about 3 miles east was very much interested.

We stayed here 2 days, having 30 turn out for our morning meetings. In the evenings I visited surrounding villages and Marguerite spoke at Bogana to a group of about 60—there are over 500 in the village. The pictures on the life of Christ which we showed each night drew a larger crowd and gave us an opportunity to preach to them.

While at Bogana we lived in a back room of the dispensary, the entrance being made through the same door with all manner of diseases. (The 2 back rooms are used as government rest houses.) The nurse's wife insisted on cooking under our window through which the smoke poured into the room. When she was finally persuaded to move, she went just beyond the end of the shade, preferring to be a "martyr" in the hot sun rather than to cook in the shade of her own dwelling. We could not fail to see at every glance out the window how "abused" she was. Also, she picked Alberta's nap time for keeping up a loud chatter with anyone in sight. This was not mere thoughtlessness, but a planned program of petty persecution. One often runs into such for the life of a family of 3 had to be gathered and adequately packed for a rough trip. The pickup had to be checked and put into as good condition as possible. As we checked from front to rear we were cheered to see the new propeller shaft in place at last. Many miles had been covered in past months with an "invention" taking its place. Everything else, as far as we could see, looked all right. Of course, the right front spring was only a makeshift. The new main leaf ordered a month or more ago had not yet arrived, but the 2 broken pieces bolted into place should, with reasonable care, stand the trip. The battery connection was badly worn, but it should hold for the trip, and the new one should reach us by the time we returned.

Traveling down the M'Baiki road.

It was just light enough to see when we climbed into the pickup and stepped on the starter. No response! Dead! The cable connection just could not be made tight enough. Perhaps by pushing . . . ? The black boys grinned as we climbed out, saying, "Poussez koutou- things in modern Africa. We were white, and whites are often not very popular.

We Visited Bonaguilo

After a short but profitable visit in the village of Joubele, 20 miles off on a side road, we moved on to the village of Bonaguilo, about 25 miles farther on. This is a village of a principal chief and is a center like Bogana, but lacks the stores, school, and dispensary.

There has been a chapel here at Bonaguilo for about 12 years now, but no definite impression has yet been made on the heathen population. Louis Mounou took over the work here in 1950 after he was graduated from the Institute Biblique. At the time he came here there were about 5 young men who said they wanted to dedicate their lives to the preaching of the Gospel. Since then one has been called home to glory, another has gone back to making beer, another has taken a job as a storekeeper, another has just lost interest, but one, Ouabingui, stuck, and he has undergone some hard trials during the past year.

Mounou has secured a fair hearing for the Gospel among some of the smaller villages nearby. From these meetings have come 2 other young men who profess a desire to preach the Gospel to their own people. These will be starting their elementary Bible training this year.

The congregation has been built up by Mounou to around 80 and 100 on Sundays. This he manages to do each fall and winter. Then comes the circumcision dance season, which sweeps through each year as a terrible, evil wind, and by April or June leaves the battered and beaten congregation here with about 10 people. It is one of the most rending sights ever to be seen, and the toll it takes on the faith and patience of these Christian workers is tremendous. How much they need the prayers of God's saints! While here we worked daily with Mounou and Ouabingui to perfect the GBaya translation of the selected verses. Each morning and evening while the people were available we held meetings.

We Visited Our Children at Yaloke

The last day of October we packed up again and drove the 40 miles into Yaloke to visit our two eldest daughters, Ruth and Verna, who are at school there. We went because November 1 was Ruth's birthday and we had not seen them for 2 months. Can one describe the joy and rejoicing of such a reunion?

In spite of a repair job on the pickup, we had a gay week end. Halloween party! Birthday party! Fun for the kids and fun for us who needed a break from isolation! We had debated as to whether to spend Sunday at Yaloke or in the bush again. We felt the fellowship with others of our own kind was a thing not to be forsaken this time. It was of the Lord. Bro. Don Miller, who was at Yaloke at the same time, brought a message on doing our utmost for the Lord. His message touched our girls to tears, and their tears and the meaning behind them fired us with increased zeal to win these precious souls around us.

We Visited in Untouched Villages

Monday we started out again—this time to visit Sele-moui, Gazebia, Gazipama, Kolopele, and several other villages where the Gospel has been preached very rarely, if at all. Can we describe the joy that was ours as we set up camp, started the phonograph, and tried to present the Gospel message simply in the power of God's Spirit to these darkened, enslaved souls? In village after village we met them. We should stay and work at least months in each place, but the best we could do was to hold a meeting or two and talk with the people, offering Christ as Saviour. How did they respond? Those who had felt Catholic influence were antagonistic. Others, who had heeded political antiwhite propaganda, were sullen. Those whose only knowledge of the things of God was that the children of God don't drink or dance or carouse were suspicious. On the whole the response was friendly and noncommittal. The GBaya will respond favorably if given an adequate chance to really hear the Gospel.

We Returned Home

Unfortunately, ours is the responsibility of evangelizing not only the GBaya, but the Boufi, the M'Baiti, the M'Baka, some pygmies, and others—around 80,000 in all. The time was up for that part of GBayaland this season. We had touched in 3 weeks about one-third of the villages and perhaps one-fourth of the GBaya. The task is stupendous. We were very conscious of it as we drove home. Each turn of the pickup motor gave rhythm to our prayers. "Lord, raise up at least one more missionary to help. Lord, raise up native workers from among the GBaya to take hold of the work. Lord, multiply Mounou, Bouhele, Ouabingui, and the other Christian workers many times. Lord, have mercy on the GBaya and let them hear."

The graduating class of the Institute Biblique, November 1952, with teachers, Miss Ruth Snyder and Bro. Wayne Beaver.

Home again! In the mail is word from the United States. New missionaries coming! Praise God! Wait, what is this? Certain candidates being held up because of the need of funds? It just can't be true! It just can't be that Brethren young people have met the challenge, laid their lives on the altar, only to have the Brethren Church say, "You can't go now. There is not enough money." That is what it says here in black and white, but it just can't be true. Is it true? You are the ones with the answer!

The Bible, placed in the hands of the Africans, can take your place on the field. Will you help give them the Word of God?—The Sudan Witness.

"But when he saw the multitudes,

HE WAS MOVED WITH COMPASSION ON THEM..."

By P. Fredrick Fogle, France

"But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd. Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plentiful, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest" (Matt. 9:33-38). These familiar verses should always stand out in the mind of a Christian. The great teaching in verse 36 is not that Jesus saw the multitudes, but rather that upon seeing them, "He was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd."

It is necessary to note that this "compassion" was not just a thought passing through His mind, nor a stirring of emotions which could be soon restored to normalcy, but according to the Greek word it was an impression which reached to the very depth of His inward feelings that produced an inward compulsion to action. How many Christians there are who, upon reading the Word for themselves or hearing it preached, say "Amen" to the challenge presented to reach with the Gospel the multitudes of sinners without Christ. They have an impression that something should be done, or they have the emotions stirred, but as a result, do little or no acting. This is not compassion. True compassion, as experienced by our blessed Lord, always moves to action.

In Matthew 14:14 we see that the compassion of Christ on the multitudes moved Him to heal the sick. In Matthew 5:32 and following His compassion caused the gracious feeding of the 4,000 men plus women and children. In Mark 6:34 He was moved to "teach them many things." Also we know that it was His love and compassion on us as lost sinners that impelled Him to suffer the death of the cross. And in the verses under consideration He prayed and asked the disciples to pray that laborers be sent forth.

These multitudes, these sheep without a shepherd that Matthew spoke about, are on every one of our fields of Gospel endeavor—Africa, Argentina, Baja California, Brazil, France, Hawaii, and even the United States. My first concern is France, but my responsibility extends to all the others.

In France there are probably more than 35 million sheep without a shepherd, a human flock of souls engulfed in spiritual darkness and distress by ignorance and unbelief. This is not a criticism of them but rather of ourselves, the Christians of the world. It is our fault that these dear souls are ignorant and unbelieving.

Some months ago a fellow gospel worker in France asked me, "Where are you going to work in France? It is a big country, you know!" In comparison to some other countries it does not cover a large area, but when one travels through the many towns and villages which have absolutely no evangelical testimony it is easy to see how really great is the task. I have had the privilege of traveling across the north of France from the west boundary to the east and from the north boundary southward to Lyon, about two-thirds the total distance from north to south. As I passed through the hundreds of villages and towns, the question presented itself—"Who will tell these people who deserve to hear of Christ's salvation by grace apart from human works?"

Of the 37,989 cities, towns, and villages in all of France, approximately 35,200 have 2,000 or less inhabitants. Of these 35,200 there are 23,655 having a population under 500 inhabitants. A bit of simple arithmetic will show that about 75 percent of France's population live in these smaller communities. Who is going to reach them? How are they going to hear? The average person has no idea of the Gospel as we understand it. Evidently the answer is that the need is for laborers.

Rev. P. F. Fogle

A French Village Street Scene

Who will go? Who will send them? France needs workers from without, but also there is a great need for young people from within who will preach the "good news" to their own people.

In the cities the need is great, too. There are some outstanding testimonies scattered over France, but they are too few in number. As I have made my way through the streets of several cities putting up portions of the Word of God in the form of gospel posters, I have passed by many, many homes into which a true gospel witness has never entered.

Everywhere I turn, everywhere I look, there are opportunities, places to go to preach the Gospel, and multitudes to preach to. But there is nothing to do but choose from all the opportunities those seeming the best for the moment and let the rest go without attention.

Oh, what could be done if we Brethren had a compassion on the multitudes the same as that of Christ! Wherever we are we see these multitudes, but does each of us have a genuine compassion that has moved us to the action of soul-winning as Christ would have us do?

What will you do with your life, young man, young woman? What will you do with your possessions, my brother, my sister? Will you spare yourself the trouble of taking the message to those in France, as well as to those in our other fields? Will you store up your possessions on earth "where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal," or will you put everything you have into the service of Jesus Christ so that you will have souls to present to your God? You and I are the ones to answer! May God give us the compassion to give the right answer!

A "LOOK UNTO THE FIELDS"

After 50 generations, only 35 percent of the people on earth have heard the Gospel. There are 1,700 languages without a single word of Scripture. In Latin America there is 1 missionary to each 55,000 persons, and 60 million are unevangelized. In Africa there is 1 missionary to 18,000 people, and 70 million unevangelized. In India and Pakistan there is 1 missionary to 100,000 natives, and 200 million unevangelized. Japan has 1 missionary to 83,000 people, with 40 million unevangelized. Central Asia is practically closed to missionaries, with 30 million unevangelized. There are 27 million unevangelized in the island world. Europe has 150 million still unevangelized.

The highest number of foreign missionaries throughout the world at any one time, according to the late Dr. Robert C. McQuilkin, has been 35,000, to work among 1,000 million people, while in America there are at least a million full-time workers to minister to 150 million people.

These facts paint a horrible picture of a job that is far from being accomplished. Christians are singing, "Speak, My Lord," when He has already spoken. They should be singing "To the Regions Beyond I Must Go." The theme song of the church should be "Onward, Christian Soldiers."—Brown Gold.

HOW TO FACE IT—Never think that God's delays are God's denials. Hold on; hold fast; hold out. If there be no enemy, no fight; if no fight, no victory; if no victory, no crown.—The Alliance Weekly.

A street scene in Caluire, the town where the Fogles live.

*In front of the Courthouse
Lyon, France*

A country home in France

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager, Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions, R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC, Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM, Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions, Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary, Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Rev. J. Keith Altig, pioneer Brethren missionary to Brazil, arrived at Monterey Park, Calif., May 13 for his first furlough.

Mrs. Lewis Hostetler, for many years a member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died May 15 and the funeral was held at Windber, Pa., May 19. In addition to her husband she is survived by 2 sons: Allen and Merle; and 3 daughters: Mrs. William Schaffer, wife of the pastor at Spokane, Wash., Mrs. Paul Dick, wife of the pastor at Winchester, Va., and Mrs. Blair Dick.

Rev. Lee Jenkins resigned as pastor of the church at Lake Odessa, Mich., effective July 1, to become a chaplain in the United States Marine Corps.

Pastor Harold H. Etling is scheduled to preach the baccalaureate sermon for the Ellet High School of Akron, Ohio, on June 7.

Bro. Arthur Keiser died July 23, 1952, at the age of 72 years. He was a member of the Brethren Church for more than 42 years and was a charter member of the Findlay, Ohio, church. The funeral was conducted by Pastor Forest Lance.

Pastor William Gray has been called to continue at the Allentown, Pa., church for his 8th year. Recently he held an evangelistic campaign in Connersville, Ind.

At the Dryhill, Ky., chapel 86 people were present in Sunday school May 10, according to Miss Evelyn Fuqua.

The Uniontown, Pa., church, pastored by Clyde K. Landrum, designated May as "Family Month" in the local church. Families furnished the special music and conducted the prayer meetings during the month.

Bro. Frank Coffin, of the Uniontown, Pa., church, is among this year's graduates from Bob Jones University. He is to be associated with Rev. Walter A. Lepp and Rev. Charles Bergerson in a Brethren Evangelistic Crusade team.

The church at South Pasadena, Calif., pastored by Dr. Charles H. Ashman, held rededication and presentation day May 17, following an extensive program of remodeling and refurnishing the building. Pastor Lewis Hohenstein, of Whittier, was the speaker at the special afternoon service.

Rev. Jerry Yerian spoke at the Bellflower, Calif., church May 10, and Missionary Albert Balzer spoke there May 17.

Missionary Marvin L. Goodman, Jr., spoke at the South Gate, Calif., church May 10, reported Pastor Alfred Dodds.

Pastor Alfred Dodds officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Luella Dumond on April 28 and at the funeral of Bro. Lowell Didricksen on April 30. Both were of the South Gate, Calif., church.

The average attendance at the Ashland, Ohio, church during April was 449 in the morning service, 152 in evening, and 61 in prayer meeting, according to Pastor Miles Taber's report. On May 10 Dr. Raymond Gingrich preached at this church.

Bro. John Rasbach, for many years a member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died April 15.

The Johnstown, Pa., First church, pastored by Dr. W. A. Ogden, was host to meetings sponsored by the Christ for Greater Johnstown committee April 25-28. The speakers were Dr. Hyman J. Appelman and Dr. G. B. Vick.

Bro. Harry Smith, of the Johnstown, Pa., First church, died April 18.

The Meyersdale, Pa., church, pastored by H. Leslie Moore, is to be host to the Bob Jones University Musical Ensemble June 5.

The Bell, Calif., church, pastored by Harry A. Sturz, has done much improvement on and around the church building, including a new sign outside announcing the activities of the church. The junior Christian Endeavorers received a prize for full registration for the convention.

Miss Dolores Degan, member of the Washington, D. C., church, died May 7.

The East District held a youth rally at the Altoona, Pa., First church May 8-9. Rev. Gerald Teeter was the director and Rev. Woody Newman and Rev. Victor Rogers were the speakers. Brother Newman was also the preacher at the church for the Sunday services May 10.

Pastor Mark Malles, of the Altoona, Pa., First church, spoke at the Curtin school parent-teacher association May 12.

The Midwest District conference is scheduled for June 12-14 at the Denver, Colo., church, where Lowell Hoyt is pastor.

Recent speakers at the Waynesboro, Pa., church, according to Pastor Dennis Holliday, were Rev. H. Val Johnson, May 3, and Bro. Ernest Reisinger, May 17.

The Seattle, Wash., church held its first communion service May 17. Dr. Russell D. Barnard aided Pastor Thomas E. Hammers in conducting this service in the home of the pastor.

Mr. LeRoy Hawkins and Miss Ruth Clough were married at the Fort Wayne, Ind., church May 16. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, Rev. William Clough, of Tracy, Calif., assisted by Pastor James Hammer, of the local church.

Pastor Robert Cessna, of Philadelphia, Pa., plans to preach at the Osceola, Ind., church May 31. Rev. George Poole and Mr. John Smith preached there May 10 while Pastor Ward Miller was in California.

Pastor Walter A. Lepp and Charles Bergerson, of Hagerstown, Md., have been conducting a Bible class in Chambersburg, Pa., with 16 people in attendance May 12.

Recent speakers at the La Verne, Calif., church were Rev. Ralph Hatton, April 26; Rev. Jerry Yerian and Dr. David Cooper, May 3; and Rev. J. Ward Tressler, May 17. Bro. Ovie Christopherson spoke for Tressler at Chico that Sunday.

Editor Conard Sandy preached at the Winchester, Va., church, pastored by Paul Dick, May 17, following the Atlantic District conference which met at that church May 13-16.

GIVE MUCH TIME TO PRAYER IN JUNE

THE HERALD—

1. Pray that the offering given to this work during the Herald period of June and July will meet the needs of this work.

2. Pray that at least 300 new subscribers will be secured during this same 2-month period.

FOREIGN MISSIONS—

1. Pray for Anne Goodman, who is recuperating from surgery performed May 15 in an effort to enable her to walk again. Pray also for all members of the family—they desire to return to Africa as soon as possible.

2. Praise the Lord for permission for our workers to reenter Baja California. Pray definitely for the Lord's guidance in this work and that a national pastor may be secured.

3. Pray for Brother and Sister C. B. Sheldon, both of whom recently underwent surgery at a hospital in Elat, Africa, that they may be restored fully to health and returned to their station at Bellevue.

4. Pray for Brother and Sister Foster Tresise, who arrived in Honolulu on May 8, that the Lord will lead them in every phase of the work.

5. Pray for the Victor Meyers family, whose sailing date to Argentina is being delayed because of a physical problem on the part of their son, Dennis.

6. Pray for Brother and Sister Hill Maconaghy, who are expecting to return to Argentina in July.

7. Pray for the group studying in France and Belgium. According to present plans, the Garbers, Lester Kennedys, and the 4 nurses expect to leave for Africa shortly before the end of June. The Charles Tabers are expecting to leave for Africa in July. The Mason family will remain in France for further study.

8. Pray for Brother and Sister Roy Snyder, who expect to leave Africa around the latter part of June for furlough in the States.

9. Pray especially for our missionary personnel in Africa and Argentina in the light of present-day political and national conditions.

10. Pray for the 3 families in Brazil as they carry on the work there—the Edward Millers, the Zielaskos, and the Teeters. Bro. Keith Altig has now joined his family on furlough in the States.

11. Pray for the Fogles in France, that the Lord will lead in the establishing of regular meetings and a permanent Brethren testimony.

HOME MISSIONS—

1. Pray for the youth revival to be held at Martinsburg, W. Va., June 14-20 with the King's Ambassadors from King's College.

2. Pray for Mr. and Mrs. Dean Fetterhoff as they spend the summer months establishing a testimony in Kingsport, Tenn. Mr. Fetterhoff is a student in Grace Seminary.

3. Pray for the work in Johnson City, Tenn.; especially that their building fund goal of $1,000 will be reached before June 30, 1953.

4. Pray that the new Bible class started in Salem, Oreg., by Rev. Glen Welborn and Rev. Vernon Harris will develop into another Brethren church.

5. Praise the Lord for the way He is meeting the financial needs of the Cherry Valley Brethren Church and for the large number of young people attending the services, and pray for some who are not saved.

6. Pray for the home mission plans made at the many district conferences, that there will be a fine spirit of cooperation as the national and district organizations work together.

7. Praise God for His every blessing upon the home mission work this last fiscal year. Truly He has been good to the Brethren Church.

GRACE SEMINARY—

1. Praise God for the way He has met every need of the school this year, especially through the systematic giving of the monthly offering plan, and praise Him for specially designated gifts that make possible needed improvements. Just now we are praising God for the sidewalks being put in because of the generous gift from the national WMC.

2. Pray for the ministry of the seminary during the summer months as faculty members and some of the students will be serving the Lord in Bible conferences and special meetings across the country.

3. Be much in prayer for the special ministry of the Grace Trumpeters as these young men travel this summer in the interest of the school. Pray that their testimony may count for the Lord and that they may be a blessing and a help to young people looking forward to further schooling.

4. Continue to pray for the many extra problems that arise in the launching of a full 4-year college program.

5. Be much in prayer during the summer months that God will choose the students He wants to enter our school next fall and that He will lead them in their preparation.

WMC (NORTHERN OHIO)—

1. Pray that our WMC ladies will not forget their Prayer Warrior pledges, remembering that God will bless our church and organizations if we are faithful in prayer.

2. Pray for the new WMC district officers, that they may have wisdom and strength in caring for their duties.

3. Pray that the mother-daughter banquets may draw the family ties closer to each other and to Christ.

4. Pray that the Lord may be put first in the lives of our WMC members; that too much effort may not be given to household and garden duties at the expense of time to be alone with Christ.

SMM—

1. Pray for the SMM girls preparing for full-time service for the Lord.

2. Pray for the missionaries' children in schools here in the homeland.

3. Pray that the Sisterhood sessions at the district camps will be a blessing to the girls.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP—

1. Pray for the leaders and the young people as they attend summer camps.

2. Pray that our young people will begin witnessing for the Lord while they are young and in the formative years.

MEMORIAL DAY MESSAGE

By Rev. L. W. Marvin, San Bernardino, Calif.

At the close of the War Between the States the day set aside to re-decorate the graves of those lost in battle was called "Decoration Day." After World War I the day was re-named "Memorial Day." On that day we now remember all those valiant ones who laid down their lives for their country in all wars. Various patriotic groups through ceremony and parades help to keep fresh the memory of these heroes. Therefore Memorial Day serves a very worthy and precious purpose in the eyes of the nation, for each succeeding generation, asking about this day, learns of our sons who died for our country, and we refresh our memories also.

Other Memorials

This Memorial Day that comes each year on the 30th of May is not the only one—nor is it the only one that should be. Israel had a Memorial Day. When she passed through the dry Jordan as God by His breath held the waters back, she was instructed to build a memorial. Twelve stones were placed in Gilgal. The descendants of those favored people, upon seeing these 12 stones, asked, "What mean ye by these stones?" Then the elders would have their memories refreshed as they repeated the history of the crossing of the Jordan. It was an arresting and intensely interesting story concerning the mighty arm of Jehovah that moved on behalf of the Israelites, as the events were unfolded. I'm sure those young Israelites learned of the grace, the power, the mercy, and the faithfulness of their Jehovah God through the story told each succeeding generation.

God's Memorial

God has a Memorial Day too. The event to commemorate happened on the little hill Calvary, just outside the walls of the earth's hub city, about 33 A. D. It was the greatest act of mercy God ever did for man. Every last sin of all civilization was paid for there. Man, through the many centuries preceding, had been away from the home hearth. God, lonesome for the fellowship of the man He created, had in the fullness of time provided a way back into the family circle for this man. Jesus laid down His life to purchase the righteousness needed by man for a garment with which he must be covered, to stand before the holy, just, and righteous God. He took this life up again that He might justify many. But new generations see no pile of stones as a memorial of this event. No, in their place they ask about the bread and the cup—"What meaneth this loaf and this cup?" Thus the forgetful ones have memories refreshed as we tell of the cross, the preaching of which is still foolishness to those who are not born again.

Rev. L. W. Marvin

But out of each generation comes that group who believe with the heart the Gospel of Christ and are given the right to become children of God. Those of exceptional faith partaking of the memorials along with those of sick faith have ever been the cross-section of the listeners as the story is related to the younger generation. Never could Israel thrill in recounting the events memorialized by the 12 stones as we can today in telling the memorial of the loaf and the cup. Where they memorialized the salvation unto life in an earthly promised land, we memorialize the salvation unto life in the heavenly eternal land.

"I am my Saviour's loved one.
For me He came to earth.
I am His relative by blood,
His cross—my second birth."
—Leona Cole.

Personal Memorial

Each one of us should have a personal Memorial Day. The 12 stones prompted the younger to ask of their meaning—the bread and the cup cause our younger ones to ask of their meaning. Just so, we individually should have memorials that will keep green the memory of the Christ who died for us. What memorials can we have? Well, it must be something that all can afford. All cannot expend sums of money to establish one—for all are not able. But all need one. Israel spent nothing for hers—God spent a rugged cross for His—the church spends practically nothing for hers. But can we, individually, have a memorial, practically costless, that all, rich and poor alike, may have one? Yes, it is possible to have one or several.

Perhaps by far the easiest to raise up—the one most beneficial to us—and the one most pleasing to our heavenly Father—is the family altar. Each person not of the family, either witnessing or partaking, will know of its meaning, and it is a continual refresher for the memories of the whole family. The family gathered together in prayer and meditation is benefited beyond room here to point out. This one thing, families that pray together daily stay together happily, is reason enough, though there are at least a dozen more.

Daily individual devotions and prayer could very well be considered the next memorial possible for all to establish. Not of small consideration are:

1. The family gathered together in the pew each church service.
2. The prominent plaque viewed from the open front door—that every caller might see.
3. The tract rack fastened to the doorpost, adjacent to the doorbell button.
4. Grace at each meal.
5. The definite planned effort on a schedule (nothing else will interrupt) to reach the lost.

Yes, each of us in Christ has had a day—a day in which there was a definite crisis, a place in our experience in which we were thrilled to count the blessings of grace, mercy, and peace from God our Father. We should—we need to—therefore establish our own personal memorial that through the days to come, in telling others "what meaneth these things," we can keep fresh the memory of the One who was so long-suffering to usward.

Ancient Shechem is one of the most interesting sites to visit among the Old Testament towns of Palestine. The fortifications that protected this city of great Biblical significance from 1700 to 1200 B. C. are some of the most remarkable that have yet been uncovered in Palestine. At most of the excavated Old Testament towns it is difficult to trace the ruins of the walls and the buildings. Not so at Shechem; the city gate in the great defense wall and the massive walls of the temple are clearly discernible. Dirt and weeds have not yet succeeded in covering again the ruins excavated by the German archeologist, Ernst Sellin, in 1913 and 1926.

Shechem lies between Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim on the eastern outskirts of the modern city of Nablus. This is the Arabic name equivalent to Neapolis, the name of the city which the Roman Emperor Vespasian built to replace Shechem. He probably destroyed the latter about A. D. 67, when he ransacked the Samaritan temple on Mount Gerizim.

History of Shechem

Shechem was the first place at which Abraham stopped in the land of Canaan. There he built his first altar unto the Lord who appeared unto him (Gen. 12:6-7). "And the Canaanite was then in the land." Beautiful pottery and thick walls from archeological excavations in the region of Samaria show that one of the most flourishing periods of this area was during the early Bronze Age (3000-2000 B. C.), before Abraham's time. He did not come to live among uncivilized savages.

When Jacob returned from living with his Uncle Laban in Mesopotamia, he came to Shechem and camped near the city. There, from a resident of Shechem, he bought the piece of land on which he had pitched his tent (Gen. 33:18-19). Less than a mile southeast of Shechem is the quite authentic well of Jacob. At the end of his life Jacob willed this land and the well to Joseph (Gen. 48:21-22; John 4:5-6). Here it was, therefore, that Joshua and the Israelites buried Joseph's bones (Josh. 24:32).

Genesis 34 relates the tragic story of how Jacob's children, who were not taught to live a separated life, got into trouble with the local inhabitants. When Shechem, the son of Hamor, defiled Jacob's daughter, 2 of her brothers, Simeon and Levi, plotted against the men of the city, came upon them unawares, and killed them all. Then they plundered the city completely. Yet Jacob hardly lifted a finger to correct his sons.

Gate of the City

Verses 20 and 24 of Genesis 34 mention the gate of the city. The oriental custom is to do business at the town gate and to meet there for conversation. Since the location of city gates seldom changed in the different levels of occupation of buried towns, it is interesting at Shechem to see the gate of the following period after Jacob's time. It is a fortress gate with 3 gateways inside it, each flanked by a pair of massive piers.

Before going further north to Dothan (where the writer is helping to excavate at present), Joseph's brethren stopped with their father's flocks in Shechem (Gen. 37:12-17). The valley between the 2 high mountains, Ebal and Gerizim, is well-watered, a fine place for pasturing sheep.

Several centuries later Joshua assembled the Israelites at Mount Ebal to worship the Lord (Josh. 8:30-35). In order to hear the law of God read, and to recite the blessings and the curses, the people were arranged on either side of the ark of the covenant; half were in front of Mount Ebal and half in front of Mount Gerizim. Both of these mountains have a large curved pocket on the sides facing each other, together forming a huge amphitheater. As the voices of one group swelled in unison, the shouted amens could clearly be heard by the other group across the valley (Deut. 27:11-15). Undoubtedly Joshua's army had already captured Shechem.

City of Refuge

The town was important enough to be designated 1 of the 6 cities of refuge a few years later (Josh. 20:7). Here Joshua gathered all the tribes of Israel when he delivered his farewell address (Josh. 24:1).

Once again Shechem suffered from the consequences of parental delinquency. Although he was a great patriot, Gideon the judge let his military success turn his heart to idolatry. Equally serious, he failed as a family man. In addition to his many wives he had a concubine in Shechem. She bore him a son, Abimelech. As happens so often today among the Moslem Arabs, who can have as many as 4 wives, Gideon had too many children to support and discipline properly.

Judges 9 is the account of how Abimelech had his 70 half-brothers slaughtered and of how he tried to maintain his leadership in Shechem. At a time when Abimelech was away Gaal, the son of Ebed, revolted and took over the city. Verses 41 through 45 tell how Abimelech recaptured and razed the city. Necessarily he had to climb over or breach a great sloping wall at least 30 feet high and 10 feet thick. Sellin uncovered a large section of this impressive wall and the gate described above.

Political Center of Israel

"And when all the men of the tower of Shechem heard thereof, they entered into the stronghold of the house of El-berith," a heathen god (Judg. 9:46 ASV). Then Abimelech had trees cut down and put against the walls of the building. A fire was kindled, and in a short time the thousand defenders were killed or burned to death. The stone foundations of this temple-fortress still remain. They measure about 80 x 65 feet, each wall nearly 17 feet thick. The entrance was flanked by towers. Six stone columns in the interior undoubtedly helped to support 2 or more stories of mud brick. This heathen temple was probably what the Bible calls the tower of Shechem.

Shechem became an early center of the 10 northern tribes of Israel. Solomon's son Rehoboam held his coronation here, instead of in Jerusalem, as a diplomatic move to try to hold his father's kingdom together. Here also he rashly decided to increase the labor and taxes required of the people. After the secession of the northern tribes Jeroboam rebuilt the city as the first capital of the kingdom of Israel (1 Ki. 12:1-25).

The characters in the checkered history of Shechem seem to come alive once again for the Bible reader after he has visited these ancient ruins.

THE PASTOR SAYS GOOD-BY

By Rev. Lewis C. Hohenstein, Whittier, Calif.

The following is part of the farewell message given by Pastor Lewis Hohenstein in leaving Waterloo, Iowa.

The severance of the relationship between a pastor and his people is a very delicate operation. Attended to by a diligent and informed staff it can be quite successful for the Lord.

Method of Severance

The severance must be done quickly and with the deftness and artistry of a skilled surgeon. Hemostats must be quickly and properly adjusted so that none of the life-giving blood of the church is lost or the useful testimony of the pastor is marred. The wound must not be dirty, for then it will become a source of corruption and a blot against the Lord who bought the church with His own precious blood. The wound must not be jagged or crude, for then there will be an ugly scar for the world of men to see and frown upon.

Such a severance should be a "sweet sorrow," for though the pastor and his family are taken away to another service, the Lord has "His man" to be transplanted into the place vacated. And He will ease the pain with the "balm of Gilead" and bind up the wounds with the strands of His own love.

Hope Beyond

Surgery is generally a dreaded thing, yet beyond the pain, nausea, and fear lies renewed hope and power and life. And I verily believe that our leaving and the coming of Pastor Richard DeArmey will prove to be of great value to the Lord's work in the Grace Brethren Church of Waterloo.

Rev. L. C. Hohenstein

In the years immediately past we have come to know you and to love you all dearly in the Lord. We have in Christ tried to share your laughter and tears, your hopes and fears, your heartaches and joys. Undoubtedly we have often failed. We are doubly sorry for those failures, but we count it all joy for what we could do as we ministered the things of Christ among you.

Estimation of Work

We have always felt that we owed no man aught but to proclaim the saving grace of God through Christ, and that we have tried to do by the power of the Holy Spirit. Never consciously have I esteemed one of you above another as to my responsibility. Though I must say, to your shame, that some of you have continually, willfully, for some very trivial excuses rejected the plaintive plea of the Gospel which I have preached. Some because I was not someone else, some because you did not always approve of us as a family, some because our children were not made to obey as you thought they should; but if for any of these or other personal reasons you have rejected Christ's plea through me, it will be a flimsy standard on which to lean at the bema. This I say, not to be critical in any way, but to admonish and exhort you that your lives will be fruitful for His glory.

Plea for New Pastor

And I say these things also, realizing that the new pastor will be human, that his wife and kiddies will be human. He will not look like I do, he will not preach as I preach, his approach will be different and he will emphasize different things. But this we have in common: he loves the Lord as I do and his ministry, as mine, will be for the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ.

As I leave and he comes, he will be your pastor. Please, for my sake and for the glory of our dear Lord, accept him as such. He will make mistakes just as I made mistakes, he will have problems and there will be trials. He does not promise to bring in the millennium, but he will preach the Gospel. Pray for him, work with him, and encourage him as you have me in my labor for Christ.

I am certain that many of you will never see my face again until you see it as we pass through the ethereal spaces to meet at the feet of our blessed Lord. So I can but commend you to the "love of His grace."

HIGHEST HONORS AT GRADUATION

In the school of Christ, the highest
Class for saints, we would not shun,
Because of many tests and failures,
Before the proper grades are won.

For when their school days here are finished,
And all the rigorous years at last
End in heaven, He will grant them
Kingdom honors, high and vast.

On the day of graduation
His "well done" they will have earned,
For the lessons resolutely,
In the "class of patience" learned.

Perfect, entire, wanting nothing;
Prepared by Him from second birth,
To rule and reign with the King of Glory,
In the heavens, and on the earth.

—Leona D. Cole.

NEWS from the CHURCHES

Kittanning, Pennsylvania (North Buffalo)

The prayerful interest of God's people is urgently requested for the work at North Buffalo. The building of the basement unit nears completion; in fact, the public dedication has been held.

However, the matter of securing a loan to finance the balance of the work has not been worked out. The banks and loan agencies will not grant us the needed $1,200 because we have no one in the congregation with proper security to back such a loan.

Because of this condition, we are asking you to seek the Lord in prayer for us in regard to this matter. Our contract states we are to finish paying off our contractor when the work of the basement is completed and approved as satisfactory to the church. This will not be very far in the future.

Pray for us that the Lord will raise up those whom He would have to help in this need. It may even be that the Lord would have YOU to have a small part; at least won't you just now take time out and pray for us?—Donald W. Rossman, pastor.

God's Blessing on YRCA

I would once again like to share with you some more blessings we have received recently here among the Russian people in East Los Angeles.

On May 10, Marjorie Trulin, member of the First Brethren Church of Rev. Conard Sandy recently presented his resignation as editor and business manager of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, effective July 31, 1953. The board of directors, after much deliberation and prayer, accepted the resignation, but requested Brother Sandy to remain as editor and business manager through August 31.

Rev. Arnold R. Kriegbaum, pastor of the Grace Brethren Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has been called as editor and business manager, effective September 1, 1953.—Walter A. Lepp, secretary, board of directors, Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Inc.

Rev. Arnold Kriegbaum

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Los Angeles, and the jungle camp nurse for the Wycliffe Translators in southern Mexico, was our speaker.

The Young Russian Christian Association has partially supported Marjorie for a year and purchased a much-needed microscope for her. The final payment on the $500 was made possible when over $100 came in in the missionary offering alone.

Another blessing was that after showing some interesting colored slides and giving the challenge, one of our fine Russian girls responded to the call and leaves next month for Wycliffe training. Vera Bukan, a graduate of both Biola and Whitworth College, has been our director of Christian education, and we hate to lose her, but our loss will be the gain of the Mexican Indians.

One of our boys, Al Gussiff, will be graduating from Biola in June and will also be leaving for the Wycliffe training this summer.

This sort of thing is new among these Russian people and is very bitter to them indeed. They do not understand nor appreciate their young people going out as missionaries. Pray for us—so many are responding that it is going to cause a great deal of antagonism and criticism.—Jack Green, director.

YFC HOLDS BIBLE QUIZ

Youth for Christ International plans to hold its fifth annual Bible quiz finals in connection with the annual convention of YFC at Winona Lake, Ind., June 28-July 12. During the 4 years the contest has been in progress it has been won twice each by Detroit, Mich., and Kansas City, Mo.

Eleven cities have already entered teams for this year's finals to be held Saturday, July 11. Each team is composed of 5 members and will be examined this year on the Book of Acts.

Additions to Membership

Ashland, Ohio .....	3
Clayton, Ohio .....	7
Dayton, Ohio (First) .....	10
Glendale, Calif. ....	4
South Gate, Calif. ....	2
Summit Mills, Pa. ....	1
Uniontown, Pa. ....	2
Washington, D. C. ....	4

Public Confessions

Ashland, Ohio .....	1
Clayton, Ohio .....	2
Glendale, Calif. ....	1
Meyersdale, Pa. ....	4
Washington, D. C. ....	6

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Clayton, Ohio .....	8
Whittier, Calif. (First) .....	4

Dedication of Babies

Johnstown, Pa. (First) .....	1
Kittanning, Pa. (First) .....	7
Uniontown, Pa. ....	3

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Artesia, Calif. ...	May 20-31.....	Adam Rager.....	R. Paul Miller.
Long Beach, Calif.
(Second) .....	May 31-June 5..	George Peek.....	Alva J. McClain.
Denver, Colo. ....	June 1-14.....	Lowell Hoyt.....	Arnold Kr'gbaum.
Los Angeles, Calif.
(First) .....	June 21-July 12.	Glenn O'Neal.....	R. Paul Miller.

LIFE WITH A PURPOSE

An Actual Incident as Reported to Arnold R. Kriegbaum

How about a cigarette? Sure, come on and have one! Where was I last Friday night? Let me think. Oh yes, I was playing cards with the boys . . . some game! Saturday night? Why I was home, I guess. You didn't find me there? Funny! I take it all back; I went to the show . . . yea, pretty good one; I just wish you had seen— Worked in your garden Sunday morning? Well, my wife and I went to church. Sure, we go about every Sunday morning. A fellow should! The preacher down there at the church is a pretty good Joe. . . .

This was my routine of life. To summarize my life prior to February 10, 1950, it was a "life without a purpose."

It has been quite different since my eyes were opened on February 10, when the Spirit of God spoke to my heart during an evangelistic campaign in the First Brethren Church of Dayton, Ohio. As the evangelist was preaching, my heart was pricked and my sins stood as giants before my mind and heart. But then I beheld the giant-slayer, the Lord Jesus, who not only died on the cross to release me from sin, but He arose from the grave to unshackle me from the power of sin's grip.

Satan tugged hard to hold me in his grip, but the Holy Spirit won! I dropped my hymn book and started to make my way toward the aisle. Alone? No indeed, for I knew the Lord was with me. Alone? No indeed, for right behind me came my dear wife. Down the aisle we made our way toward the front of the church, but honestly, it was to the arms of the Lord we were coming! We wanted victory! We wanted purpose in life! We found what our hearts wanted!

Since that night my outlook on life has been revolutionized. Things in my life have been changed more than most of my closest friends even realize. I never thought so many long-standing habits could be broken so easily, by simply trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ. I can honestly testify that since that night that I absolutely turned my life over to the Lord for salvation and submission, all those desires and habits have gone without any effort on my part.

Teach a Sunday school class? Who? Me? No, not before February 10, 1950. Since then, God has opened this effectual door of service, and one of the greatest joys of my life is teaching my class of boys of high-school age. Maybe I can keep them from the pitfalls I had. The more I teach the more I learn! The more I learn the more I am blessed!

There have been so many happenings in my life and in our family during the last 3 years that only now I am beginning to see why God's hand moved in on my life.

Now I can say I am living a "life with a purpose"; that purpose is to serve the Lord Jesus until He by His grace calls me home to be with Him.

OUR ROCK NEVER TREMBLES

Dr. J. U. Stotts tells the story of a man who was out in a boat when a terrific storm came up and the boat was capsized. The man struggled to a rock and with great difficulty clung to it until rescued. One of his rescuers asked him if he did not tremble greatly during the raging of the tempest. "Yes," he replied, "I did tremble, but the rock didn't."

Christ our Rock never trembles, no matter how severe the storms of life or how much we may tremble. On Him we are safe until the boat comes that shall take us ashore to our eternal home (Matt. 7:25).—Moody Church Herald.

FOR BETTER, FOR WORSE

Make up your mind that you will find
Much of imperfection
In the one to whom you give
The all of your affection.

Make up your mind that your mate will find
Early at the start,
No small share of undreamed faults
And failures on your part.

Be resigned each time you find
In bright and stormy weather
That you are mortals housed in clay;
Not angels joined together.

So never doubt, but talk things out,
Embrace, then laugh and joke;
This is enchantment that will clear
Your skies when things provoke.

Let all be done in Christ, the Son;
Let every thought be humble.
Gild the walls with sacred love
And they will never crumble.

From strength to strength, while heart to heart,
As well as hand in hand;
Each will make up what the other lacks,
As your Creator planned.

—Leona D. Cole.

Founded on the Word of God

Defending the Word of God

Proclaiming the Word of God

THIS IS THE STORY OF THE BRETHERN MISSIONARY HERALD
IN THREE SIMPLE STATEMENTS

This title tells the story of the Brethren Missionary Herald. It is our paper—the only weekly magazine produced among, by, and for those churches and believers in affiliation with the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches.

Our Paper

It is our paper because it is produced by the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, Inc., which corporation is composed of those members of the Brethren denomination who give $5 or more in a single gift during the year of membership for the support of this work.

It is our paper because it is the only medium of exchange, on a church-wide scale, of ideas, instruction, and information for the welfare of all the constituent parts of the Fellowship.

It is our paper because, in the main, it is written and produced by Brethren people for Brethren people in all parts of the world.

Our Purpose

It is the purpose, under God, of all concerned with the production of this weekly paper to keep it at all times according to certain stated and well-known standards.

1. This paper is true to the Word of God and it is our intention that it always shall remain thus.

2. This paper is true to the position of the Brethren Church and it is our intention to keep it thus, so long as the denomination remains true to its Saviour and Lord, Jesus Christ.

3. This paper is the servant of the whole denomination and it is our intention to keep it free from all sectionalism, partyism, or individualism.

It is our intention, in other words, that this paper shall serve all the people, all the time, with the whole Word of God, and for the eternal welfare of the congregations and individuals affiliated with the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches.

Our Procedure

Illustrations of how this paper is our paper and of how it carries out its purposes are to be found in this issue of the Herald.

The article by Bro. Blaine Snyder is an illustration of how it presents the Word of God in its presentation of God's revelation to and for us.

The articles by Brethren Russell D. Barnard, Ralph Colburn, Luther L. Grubb, and Alva J. McClain, and the article by Miss Ruth Snyder are examples of how the Brethren Missionary Herald serves the whole denomination and binds it together in one in the service of the Lord of the church.

The pages given to news briefs, to church reports, to the story of the Berne church by Bro. Ord Gehman, and the account of the ordination of Bro. Richard Jackson give illustrations of how the magazine is the medium of exchange of news and the bearer of good tidings. The news briefs, along with the schedule of the itinerary of the Grace Trum-peters, give an example of how the paper calls attention to "good things" to come so that people in various communities may also share in these things.

Then there are from time to time special articles that tell of God's wonderful grace in saving souls from sin and damnable heresies. As an illustration read the article by Bro. William H. Schaffer.

Our Goal

Our goal is to continue the improvement of the paper in every way possible. A new editor will assume the direction of the work September 1 and new features will be added when needed and available.

An immediate goal is to raise the subscription list to 8,000. It is hoped this will be done during June and July, the period in the calendar of the Brethren Church allotted to this phase of the work. The subscription list is now slightly in excess of 7,700, therefore 300 new subscriptions will make it possible to pass the 8,000 goal by July 31.

This goal can be reached if each church and individual will do either of the following or both.

1. If each congregation in the denomination would become 100 percent in subscriptions that would put us over the top. A 100-percent church is where the Brethren Missionary Herald is sent into each home represented in the membership of the congregation. Most of the churches are already on the list; if the remainder would join the list our goal would be easily reached before July 31.

2. Or if 300 present subscribers would subscribe each for a relative or friend not already reading our paper the goal would be attained.

The subscription price is only $2 a year, or $1.50 a year for subscriptions on the 100-percent lists. Incidentally, names may be added to these lists any time during the year and also they may be added for people who are not members of the Brethren Church, so long as they come through the church and are recognized by it.

Our Offering

There are 2 reasons why offerings from the saints of God are needed for this phase of God's missionary program.

1. The Brethren Missionary Herald is sold to the subscribers at less than actual cost. Part of the deficit is made up by subsidies from the various auxiliary organizations using our paper. But these are not sufficient to carry the full burden, therefore we ask God's people to give generously to the work of this paper. As long as God's people give for this work we can keep our paper free from advertisements as a means of income.

2. An offering of $5 or more in a single gift makes the donor, if he is a member of the Brethren Church, a member of the Brethren Missionary Herald Corporation for 1 year, with all the rights of membership. An offering of $100 or more in a single gift makes one eligible to life membership, provided that person is a member of the denomination. Members of the corporation are needed to determine the program and policies of this part of God's work.

Our Suggestions

1. That the Brethren pray much for this work, especially during our period of June and July.

2. That an offering be given for the continuance of this work. We suggest June 28 as the day for the presentation of this offering in the local churches. If this day is not suitable, use the day that fits the local program.

3. That each reader will secure 1 new subscription for the Brethren Missionary Herald during June or July.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Dayton, Ohio, area churches are sponsoring a dinner June 12 at the North Riverdale church to honor this year's graduates.

The Compton, Calif., church, pastored by Norman Nelson, was host to the California Brethren camp rally May 15, and held a family dinner May 23 in honor of the pastor's birthday. Rev. Arvid Viedmark preached there April 26 and Rev. Owen Murphy on May 10.

The Seattle, Wash., church held its first communion service with 23 people present in Pastor Thomas Hammers' home May 17, with Dr. Russell D. Barnard assisting. The church has purchased property at 35th Avenue NE. and E. 68th St.

The First church, Los Angeles, Calif., pastored by Glenn O'Neal, was host to the local chapter of Evangelical Released Time Education for its banquet, with Dr. Alexander Stoddard as speaker. The church bought a bus for its Sunday school and Christian day school.

The Beaumont, Calif., church, according to Pastor Gene Farrell, averaged 160 people in Bible school, 121 in morning and 95 in evening services, and received $997 for the building fund in April.

Pastor and Mrs. William Steffler were given a surprise celebration May 20 by members of the Dayton, Ohio, First church in honor of their 29th wedding anniversary.

Pastor Ward A. Miller resigned from the Osceola, Ind., church effective June 21 and accepted the pastorate of the Whittier, Calif., Community Brethren Church effective about July 1.

The Peru, Ind., church, pastored by Ronald Robinson, had 50 people in prayer meeting May 14. Rev. Ross McLennon spoke there May 24, Rev. Ralph Colburn is to speak June 7, and Prof. Herbert Bess, one-time interim pastor, is to speak on Anniversary Sunday, June 21.

Pastor Thomas E. Hammers, Seattle, Wash., preached at Spokane May 24 while the Schaffers were attending the funeral of Mrs. Schaffer's mother at Johnstown, Pa.

The Glendale, Calif., church, pastored by Charles M. Underwood, has planned a youth week, with a series of meetings for the young people, June 21-26.

Mrs. Harry D. Ringler, for many years a member of the Johnstown, Pa., First church and mother of 11 children, died May 14 at Johnstown. In the absence of Pastor W. A. Ogden, the funeral was conducted by Pastor Paul Mohler, of Listie, Pa.

Recent speakers at the Waterloo, Iowa, church were Rev. J. B. Williams and Miss Bernice Preble, May 10; Prof. John Whitcomb, May 17; and Dr. Alva J. McClain, May 24.

The Whittier, Calif., First church, pastored by Lewis Hohenstein, held a dinner and reception for Missionary J. Keith Altig, former pastor of the church and now on furlough from Brazil, May 26. Prof. John Whitcomb spoke there May 24.

The York, Pa., church, pastored by Gerald Polman, though yet without a building of its own, gave $519 to foreign missions, which exceeded the goal of $15 a member. The mother-daughter banquet was attended by 41 women.

The address of Chaplain (1st Lt.) Wayne S. Flory and family is Quarters 391-D, Ft. Lewis, Wash. (change Annual, p. 68).

Pastor John M. Aeby, of the Philadelphia, Pa., First church, was elected moderator of the Atlantic District conference.

The San Bernardino, Calif., church, pastored by Lyle W. Marvin, began junior church services May 24. The Russell Browning family gave the church 25 hymnbooks.

Pastor William H. Clough, of Tracy, Calif., preached at the Uniontown, Pa., church May 17, according to Pastor Clyde K. Landrum. Brother Clough pastored the Uniontown church almost 13 years.

During the first quarter of 1953 the South Pasadena, Calif., church, pastored by Dr. Charles H. Ashman, witnessed 20 confessions of faith and 5 baptisms, received 8 members, and had 3 volunteers for life service for Christ.

The Ankenytown, Ohio, church, pastored by Wesley Haller, held special meetings March 8-13 under the leadership of Pastor Bernard Schneider, of Mansfield, Ohio, with an average attendance of 92.

Dr. Paul R. Bauman, Winona Lake, gave a series of lectures on archeology at the Akron (Ohio) Bible Institute May 18-22, and Pastor Neil Beery, of Danville, Ohio, spoke at the homecoming banquet of the school May 22. Dr. Raymond Gingrich is president of the institute.

During April and May Rev. R. I. Humberd, of Flora, Ind., spoke at 3 churches in Dayton, Tenn.; a church and radio station in Birmingham, Ala.; Youth for Christ, radio station, 3 churches, and a seminary in Salisbury, N. C.; 3 churches and radio station in Bristol, Tenn.; church in Dresden, Ohio; and Bible institute, Akron, Ohio. On June 12 he is scheduled to speak at the Calvary Baptist Church and June 14 at the Grace Brethren Church, both of Altoona, Pa.

The Hollins, Va., church, pastored by Edward Bowman, has honored the man who served there for 40 years by making him, Rev. John E. Patterson, pastor emeritus of the church. The church plans to build a parsonage in the near future.

The average attendance in the Bible school of the Philadelphia, Pa., First church for April was 210. Rev. John Balyo, of Kokomo, Ind., spoke for Pastor John Aeby May 10.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Feters, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

WHAT THE HERALD MEANS TO GRACE SEMINARY

By Dr. Alva J. McClain, President of Grace Theological Seminary

I want to begin this article by saying that the Brethren Missionary Herald is a publication of which the Brethren Church should be proud. Considering its size, the excellent articles it contains, the unusually high number of pictorial features, the good quality of the paper on which it is printed, and then to remember that it is issued every week, not merely once a month, you cannot help but wonder how the Herald can be produced at such a low subscription price. Other publications issued monthly often cost as much per year, although their circulation far exceeds that of the Herald.

I am inclined to question whether our Brethren people really appreciate how remarkable an achievement we have in the Brethren Missionary Herald. If they could compare it with the weekly papers of other denominations vastly larger than we are numerically (as I have done), see the cheap quality of the paper on which the latter are printed, the almost complete absence of pictures, and consider the high prices charged for subscriptions, it would be a matter of wonder how a church of 20,000 membership could issue a paper like the Herald for the price we charge for it. As a matter of fact, there are many non-Brethren people who do wonder how it can be done. And it could not be done except for the close financial cooperation of the various boards of the church in this important venture.

Representing Grace Theological Seminary, I am writing this article to say something about the high importance of the Brethren Missionary Herald to our educational interests.

I. The Herald provides a channel through which the seminary can minister the Word of God to all our churches.

The members of the faculty should indeed visit the churches personally for the ministry of the Word of God, but this at best is a limited ministry both in time and geographically. The printed pages of the church paper provide a wider field for this ministry, and its added advantages are, first, that it reaches all the churches at the same time, and second, it provides a medium which is permanent in form. It is not like the word spoken in a sermon which can so easily be forgotten and lost.

Also through the Herald the seminary is able to review and recommend good books, and thus exercise its ministry directly as well as through the students trained here and sent out as missionaries and pastors.

II. Through the Herald the ministry and needs of the seminary can be kept before the churches and their members.

There is no question at all about the value of the Herald in attracting students to the seminary. Since the majority of the students come, and should come, from Brethren churches, it is clear that there must be some medium of information between the school and the churches. Furthermore, practically all the financial support for the seminary comes from Brethren churches and members. It is not exaggerating the case to say that without the medium of some organ like the Herald there could not be such a school as Grace Seminary is today. It is true that seminary publicity could be specially printed and mailed directly to the churches, as in the case of other schools. But an organ such as the Herald provides a wider coverage, and also does this with less cost.

Dr. McClain

III. Through the Herald our churches become acquainted with our students and they with the churches.

I cannot remember how many times people at a distance who have never been at the seminary will ask me about some particular student whose activities have been related in the Herald, or whose picture has been seen there. This is a matter of great importance, especially for a denomination which is congregationally governed. In churches with highly centralized forms of government this is not of great consequence, since pastors are assigned by the ruling powers. It is not so in the Brethren Church. Therefore, for us some medium of information is all the more essential.

IV. The Herald helps maintain the unity of our churches.

As long as the Herald continues to be what it ought to be, and as long as it is circulated widely as it should be among the various congregations, it is bound to prove a powerful deterrent to disunity. Congregations are less likely to become "isolationist" in their attitude. And Grace Seminary and its best interests depend greatly upon the unity of our Brethren churches. And this unity cannot be maintained by any form of ecclesiastical pressure. It must be voluntary, based upon information and teaching.

In conclusion, I wish to point out that while the circulation of the Herald is good among Brethren churches, it should be much greater among those outside. And I feel that a tremendous opportunity is being overlooked just here. Spending a few dollars for extra copies, or even extra subscriptions, is the most valuable publicity that any local Brethren congregation could possibly put out. We have not yet begun to exploit this field as we should. And it is the cheapest. Where is the local church that can afford to publish anything like the Brethren Missionary Herald 52 times every year?

HERALD IS APPRECIATED

"This is to notify of a change in address, for I don't want to miss a single copy. I appreciate my Brethren Missionary Herald more than ever since there is no Brethren church near me now. May God bless this phase of His work. (Signed) Mrs. Don Pugh, Martinsville, Va."

"OPERATION COOPERATION"

By Dr. Russell D. Barnard, General Secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society

There are two very definite parts in "Operation Cooperation" so far as this business of getting the Gospel out to a lost world is concerned. These are expressed in Psalm 68:11 as follows: "The Lord gave the word: great was the company of those that published it." There is God's part, the part of the senior partner in the corporation, and the believer's part, the part of the junior partner—and very "junior" indeed. Probably about 99.99 percent of the work done by those who are spoken of as "the company of those that published it" is of God's empowering, guiding, and encouraging. Man's part is a small part in relation to the whole undertaking, but it is a very important part, since God has arranged that the work shall be done in this way.

A Manual of Procedure

How shall we proceed in this business of getting the Gospel out? I believe God has given the formula, really the "manual of procedure," for this in His Word. In I Corinthians 3:9 we read: "For we are labourers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building." There is certainly no misapplication of the Scriptures in thus referring to the agencies of our fellowship of believers, since they are all engaged in this business of getting the Gospel out.

Laborers

God has no place in His program for slackers or lazy folk. He can't use the slothful. Our work for God must be more than shadow-boxing. St. Paul didn't want to be found "beating the air" at the coming of the Lord. Ours is a big job, in America, in neighboring countries, and to the ends of the earth. The business of getting the Gospel out is the biggest business in the world today and the most needed. Communism today is almost synonymous with opposition to the Gospel of God, and no weapon that has been devised against it has been successful. Only the gospel message as it affects the hearts of native and national believers can fortify them against the terrific attacks of this communistic monster. The Brethren Missionary Herald Company is being used in this business of getting the Gospel out.

Together

God doesn't have much room in His program for "soloists." Oh, I'm not speaking of those who render beautiful vocal or instrumental music. Rather am I thinking of those born-again believers who, although they want to serve the Lord, do not work well with other believers. God permits them to accomplish some things, but how much better it would be, and how much more they would accomplish working together with others. In our foreign missionary work we have ample opportunity to see the Herald Company at work, since it publishes our issue of the Brethren Missionary Herald, as well as much other missionary literature. We have found those in that company eager to work cooperatively with us in this great work.

Dr. Barnard

God's Husbandry

God is in the farming business with every "tiller of the soil." He is also in another kind of farming business, that which looks to a spiritual harvest. Even in looking to a spiritual harvest there must be clearing of the ground, plowing, sowing, and tilling before there can be a harvest. There will be no bountiful harvest unless the laws of sowing and cultivating are observed. Our publishing agency, the Brethren Missionary Herald Company, is uniquely fitted to help in God's farming business. Through their Christian publications, Bible-centered, well-written, and beautifully published, they point the lost to Christ, and encourage the born-again to grow in the things of the Lord. It is stimulating to read the reports of missionary activity, and the Herald company is so very willing to publish all such reports.

God's Building

In a real sense the whole church is God's building; every believer is as a stone in that building. The agencies of our fellowship of churches have demonstrated themselves as a part in God's building. The Herald Company contributes largely to this building—the institution by which Sunday school literature is prepared, Christian magazines are supplied, tracts and booklets are printed, and the latest of spiritual Christian books are made available to our people.

Please Help

This is the season of the year when all our Brethren churches will be thinking of, praying especially for, and making gifts to the support of this helpful company. We urge you, as a friend of foreign missions, to be a friend of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company and to help in every way possible.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY IN ITALY

The courts of Italy, according to recent reports, are insisting that the guarantees of religious liberty embedded in the country's constitution be respected and that no one shall be punished for religious convictions.

A trial court freed a Protestant minister, Franco Sommani, who had been charged with failing to get a permit for public worship. On another occasion the highest court of the land, the Court of Cassation, upheld the right of Protestants to conduct public church services without obtaining police permission, which permission was often difficult and sometimes impossible to secure.

All Christians ought to rejoice in this turn of affairs in Italy and pray for the believers there who desire to worship God according to the dictates of their hearts and according to their understanding of His Word.

HERALDING HOME MISSIONS

By Dr. Luther L. Grubb, Secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council

This is a large task!

How can we tell the story of Brethren home missions most effectively to the most people and most frequently? The answer to this question is very important. On it hinges much of the success of the Brethren home mission program. It is a question which is faced constantly in this great, basic missionary endeavor of the Brethren Church.

Sharing Information

Those intimately connected with the home mission work know what is happening in the field. We are thrilled daily as reports of spiritual victories, the salvation of precious souls, and the growth of our churches come to the office. Our hearts are encouraged to greater diligence in this missionary endeavor.

But our great concern is how to get this thrilling information to you. We want those who have prayed for us and helped the missionary enterprise with their gifts to know about these multiplied blessings from our blessed Lord. You should be sharing in the joy of these dividends from God.

Thus we are constantly seeking for means of conveyance. Every possible channel of information is being used. However, one of the most effective means of publicity available is our Brethren Missionary Herald. We place great value on this medium of publicity for several reasons.

Reaching the Maximum

We are able to reach a maximum of those who are interested in the work God has given us to do. We are also able to reach many who otherwise would know absolutely nothing of our missionary program. The subscription list covers a vast portion of our Brethren membership. These are the folks who support Brethren home missions and who should directly know of God's blessings resulting through their prayers and gifts. At the same time there have been a number who have come to know of the Brethren program here at home for the first time as they have read of it in the Herald. As a result of this, new friends have been gained and the potential of the effort increased. The Herald information will reach those that no other medium of advertising would reach. This is a strong reason for the increase of our subscription list to the maximum.

Using Pictures

Pictures speak volumes. The Herald tells a picture story monthly of the blessings of God on the Brethren home mission work. You see brand-new church buildings under construction and then completed. You see pictures of new-born babes in Christ. The growth of our churches is pictorially reported in every way.

Dr. Grubb

Thus the tangible results of your giving and praying are vividly seen. Many have expressed great appreciation for the pictures seen in the Herald. Pictures are shown in various churches setting forth the growth of the work, but the Herald reaches many who do not get to these churches.

Our desire is to contact our missionary donors in the field as often as possible. Our church paper makes at least a monthly contact possible. Even though our home mission season is specifically during the Thanksgiving period, we are contacting the churches around the calendar.

Developing Churches

Frequently the Herald assists us in the development of a new church. A small note in the paper asking for the identity of Brethren people in a certain area often brings unforeseen contacts. Thus members and help are gained for a new church.

You have an opportunity to follow the travels of your secretary through the Home Missions Travelog, thus seeing some of the country and learning of pieces of interesting news through your servant in the field.

Our home missionaries are grateful for the privilege of telling you about the Lord's blessings in the field. You may be sure that the things they write come direct from their hearts and are well documented.

For us as well as for our other church agencies the Herald serves as an evangelist. Articles carrying the message of salvation and Christian edification bring the blessing of our Lord to our many readers.

No missionary organization could operate efficiently without some printed means of expression and publicity. Many such organizations finance their own paper at great cost. In our Brethren plan the cost is much less by using the pages of the Herald once each month.

In short, those of us in the Brethren home mission work feel that the Herald is a rather indispensable instrument in the conduct of the work.

Need for Funds

Since the subscription list is of paramount importance in determining the effectiveness of any magazine the subscription price of the Brethren Missionary Herald has been kept within easy reach of the average individual and church. We all know that this price does not nearly cover the cost of producing this fine magazine. Therefore, some additional funds must be found elsewhere to make up the difference in cost.

Here is one reason for an annual offering for Brethren publications. When you give liberally to this offering you are helping Brethren home missions at the same time. The Herald carries on a missionary ministry through each of its issues. This is certainly fulfilling the command of Christ in Matthew 28:19 where He says, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations."

Help us herald Brethren home missions by laying a liberal offering on the altar for Brethren publications this year!

"EVERYBODY OUGHT TO KNOW"

By Rev. William H. Schaffer, Spokane, Wash.

This is a catchphrase of a well-known chorus. And "everybody ought to know who Jesus is."

The Command to Witness

The command still stands: "Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8). The Lord has not excluded any one of us. If He has not made known to me personally that I should go, then I am commanded to "pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest" (Matt. 9:38).

Now there is a certain amount of expense involved in reaching "the uttermost part of the earth." Have you ever known a man of prayer who was not also hilarious in his giving to the Lord's work? That's what I think the Lord had in mind when He said: "For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matt. 6:21). He knew that children of God who put their gifts in the depository of heaven are praying children.

Yes, "everybody ought to know who Jesus is." If we don't get busy telling "everybody" how are they to know? We take so much for granted. It may sound a bit egotistical to say that the Brethren Church as we now know it has the most complete message for everybody concerning the person and ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ. And yet we sit idly by. We, like the 4 lepers of II Kings 7, should say to each other, "We do not well: this is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tarry till the morning light, some mischief will come upon us." The moment a church is self-satisfied, that's the very moment some mischief will come upon it. A church that's busy getting the Gospel out won't have any time left for bickering and dissention within its own membership.

The Need for Cooperation

But the local congregation can't carry on this tremendous program alone. It takes the combined efforts of all our Brethren churches. What is it that binds us all together to make possible this greater effort? What medium do we use more than any other for mutual information, encouragement, and challenge?

It's the Brethren Missionary Herald!

The Brethren Herald doesn't sound right, does it? But how glibly we use this title without stopping to think that our weekly paper is primarily a missionary magazine. We members of the board of directors know this, but do you? The subscription price you pay, with the subsidies of the various boards which use our pages, does not cover the total cost. That is why we ask for an annual offering of those who are really missionary minded.

Rev. W. H. Schaffer

Will you stay with me for just a few more lines? I would like to illustrate what I told you a few paragraphs above concerning our "complete message."

An Illustration in Point

Last winter there came into our services a woman who was actively engaged in "Jehovah Witness" work. You know, the people who go from door to door with literature and a talking machine. The people who will stand by the hour on the street corners "hawking" their literature. The people who will in the summer time go from farm to farm peddling their antichrist propaganda.

Well, this lady was one of them. She tells how during the last world war as a nurse she would stuff her blouse full of this literature to smuggle it into the army hospitals. She knows what it is to have doors slammed in her face and feet caught in them until they ached for days. She knows what it is to stand on the street corners in the cold of winter and the heat of summer, "witnessing."

For years she searched over this great Northwest for the true Gospel—the Gospel that could satisfy a hungry heart. She thought she finally had it in Jehovah Witness doctrine only to discover that that too was empty.

You should have heard her testimony at her first communion in the Brethren Church. That satisfied look on her face, that knowledge of complete assurance of salvation in the finished work of Christ spoke more eloquently than her lips. She also testifies that the grace of God has been really sufficient to bear the trials and tribulations which heretofore were unbearable.

Now she wants to witness for her Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ like she used to for Satan. How many of you would ever know of this trophy of His grace if you had not read it in the pages of THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD?

SCIENCE OUTWITTED

The smart new professor scarcely bothered to conceal the fact that he was an agnostic, if not an atheist. "Unless you shake off old-fashioned views and act for yourself," he kept telling his classes, "the world will leave you behind. Putting your faith in God may be all right, but you can't stop there. Take rain-making. When the farmers simply got down on their knees and prayed for rain, what did they get? The Dust Bowl! Now all they do is send up a plane, drop some chemicals on a cloud, and it rains. No question about that, is there?"

To the professor's surprise, a drawling farm boy spoke up. "Sure, there's a question," he said. "Who furnishes the cloud?"—Selected.

FINEST LITTLE PAPER

"Enclosed please find $2 for renewal of the Herald. It's one of the finest little papers I ever read. (Signed) Mrs. Amanda Mong, Mansfield, Ohio."

WHAT THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD MEANS TO A MISSIONARY ON THE FIELD

By Miss Ruth Snyder, Missionary on Furlough From Africa

If any Brethren were to visit a chapel in some African village in the section of Africa where we work, he would no doubt see the picture of some dear friend, or perhaps of himself, adorning the Testaments or hymnbooks of his African brethren. In this land where paper poverty is rife, each scrap of this precious material is employed to the limit. Having reached the back of some African's precious book, the Brethren Missionary Herald will find no further employment. However, before it has reached this final phase of its usefulness, this little magazine has had a satisfactory career.

The Arrival of Mail

The Herald had left Winona Lake as a sweet, clean paper should. Any trials or tears that may have been contributed to its composition have been washed away by the prayers that have hallowed it for its wide ministry.

There are those (even among missionaries) to whom the smell of printer's ink is a delight. To that variety of persons the opening of a new magazine is a real joy. Just here, we must admit, is found one of the trials of missionaries. The clean, sweet smell—where is it?

The arrival of mail is the great event which breaks the monotony of isolation. Happy is the missionary whose mail arrives just as he finishes his supper. The day's work is ended, the supper table is cleared, "fire is put in the lamp," and the missionary looks through his mail. Among the arriving mail may be at least 6 copies of the Brethren Missionary Herald. (This may not always be true, of course, but when second-class mail does arrive, it is usually thus.)

Waters for the Soul

"As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country" (Prov. 25:25). Just how greatly the thirst for news can oppress one is something that must be experienced to be understood. No vocabulary in any language is adequate for some emotions. With a sigh of satisfaction the missionary picks up his Herald. To his great disappointment his thirst cannot be quenched that night for his magazines are too wet to be read. Alas! the water which has soaked his magazines is not sweet and clean but muddy and dirty—unfit for his thirst. There is no sweet smell of printer's ink to stimulate his thoughts tonight. However, by spreading his magazines out by the lamp he may be able to handle them by the time he should be going to bed.

Miss Snyder

Or perhaps it is dry season, and as he opens his copies of the Herald a sneezing fit destroys his joy, for his paper is full of dust. Or perhaps neither of these things happens, but the white ants have made the edges of the paper as lacy as a valentine. Or it may be, as often happens, the paper has come through in good condition.

The Bearer of News

The cleanness and sweetness are gone, but one thing remains. It is still hallowed by the prayers that have ascended in behalf of the ministry of the Herald. Water and dust cannot remove the blessings of God upon a work done in His name.

How refreshing is this news from a far country. Every missionary has many dear friends throughout the home churches. In the whirl of today's activities many of these friends never take a few minutes to send a note to the missionaries. This loss (it is indeed a great loss) is restored in part by the news items of the Herald. Through these the missionary keeps in touch with his friends among the churches.

The Bond of Unity

An even greater joy comes to the missionary in being thus kept in touch with the churches. To know how the Lord is blessing the work in the homeland is a stimulating experience for the missionary. How willingly he rejoices with them that rejoice.

Sometimes through the pages of the Herald he has the privilege of weeping with them that weep. Privilege? Yes; thus he is enabled to obey the command, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." In joy and sorrow the brethren who have gone to the ends of the earth are one with those in the homeland. Brazil, Baja California, Argentina, France, Africa, Hawaii, the United States—

"Tho' sundered far, by faith we meet Around one common mercy seat."

Being kept in contact with the home base and its far-flung interests is not the only contribution the Herald makes to the missionary. In leaving the homeland he has left behind him the facilities for study which had benefited him through his years of preparation. It is essential that each one keep in contact with the spiritual studies of others. This would be impossible for the missionary if it were not for the magazines coming to his door. The Herald makes a great contribution to this need of "the lonely wilderness."

The End of the Paper

After the missionary has refreshed himself with this good news from a far country, he faces the problem of what to do with the paper. Where there is room to do so, the copies are usually kept through the years. However, as everyone realizes, this could not always be done. At this point the African comes to the assistance of the missionary and gladly relieves him of any paper with which he is willing to part. Thinking that if the paper is stored away the white ants will eventually eat it, the missionary gives it into these eager

(Continued on Page 374)

"I READ IT IN THE HERALD"

Frequently, when I am contacting young people on college campuses, and we talk of some recent developments or plans in some phase of the Brethren church's expanding activities, I hear one say, "Oh, yes; I read something about that in the Herald." And our church paper is a vital link with our young people in Christian schools away from home. We believe every one of them ought to be getting it, so if their own churches do not subscribe for them, we offer to do so, and I suppose that the Youth Council thus provides for about 100 or more subscriptions each year.

But it's not only when they're away from home that it helps, but our young people at home profit from the Herald. And I know the reading is not confined to the Youth Page. But especially through that page they can learn what other groups are doing in BYF, and in BBC, and in district activities. It's a vital link that makes us feel more like one great group of Brethren young people, rather than a great many isolated groups.

Rev. Ralph Colburn

Those pictures help, for they attract us to the article involved, and then we always like to see our own pictures in print!

Do we appreciate the Herald? I'll say we do! We in the Youth Council office appreciate it as a means of communication with our youth and those interested in youth. And our young people who are readers appreciate it for the news, information, and ideas it conveys. Let's keep it a strong, attractive publication always!

—Ralph J. Colburn.

BRETHREN BOYS ACTIVE FOR THE LORD IN KOREA

Pvt. Glenn Lee Knepper, of York, Pa., and Pvt. Arthur Martinez, of Taos, N. Mex., were assigned to the same company in South Korea (both are in the Medical Corps) and are enjoying real fellowship in the Lord. They have Bible study and prayer together every night. They have obtained a number of tracts in the Korean language and give them out liberally. Arthur has led 9 souls to Christ since being overseas. (He is also national president of Brethren Boys Clubs.)

Pvt. Andy Varos, also of Taos, is stationed in Korea also and is busy distributing tracts and witnessing for the Lord.

Don't forget to pray for these and many other Christian boys in Korea, that they may use their opportunities for Christ there.

YOUTH FEATURED AT ATLANTIC DISTRICT CONFERENCE

A youth singspiration was held on the last night of the Atlantic District conference, at Winchester, Va., and about 100 young people, plus about the same number of adults, stayed to enjoy it. Many of the young people stayed overnight and shared in the SMM, BBC, and BYF seminars on Saturday morning. Thirty-eight were present at these sessions.

AKRON BOYS RECEIVE SCOUTING AWARDS

On Sunday night, May 31, Harold and Roy Nelson, of the First Brethren Church of Akron, Ohio, received the highest award of the Boy Scouts of America—the God and Country Award. In order to earn this honor, a boy must be an exemplary scout, extraordinarily faithful in his church activities, and must complete a number of assignments made by his pastor.

The awards are made in the local church by the pastor. Bro. Harold H. Etling reports that these boys are also very active in the local BBC, as junior leaders, and are faithful workers in BYF too. Congratulations, fellows, and keep up the good work!

Carl Key, of Covington, Va., now at Wheaton College, received this award a couple of years ago, and it is possible that other Brethren boys have earned it too. If so, we would like to hear about them.

EAST DISTRICT YOUTH RALLY AT ALTOONA

Although it was not one of the largest, a very fine youth rally was held at the Altoona, Pa., First church May 8-9. Rev. Woody Newman, formerly of the host church, was the chief speaker, and also brought special music. There were other numbers by a brass quartet, a vocal quartet, and others, and a Bible-hour message by Pastor Victor Rogers, of Jenners, Pa.

The Altoona area churches are also having a banquet honoring the high school graduates, with parents and friends invited. Dean Walter, pastor at Vicksburg, is the toastmaster, and Rev. Robert Shultz is the speaker.

"NEVER THINK OF OURSELVES"

A friend told us that he was visiting a lighthouse lately and said to the keeper, "Are you not afraid to live here? It is a dreadful place to be in constantly."

"No," replied the man, "I am not afraid! We never think of ourselves here."

"Never think of yourselves! How is that?"

The reply was a good one: "We know that we are perfectly safe, and only think of having our lamps brightly burning and keeping the reflectors clear so that those in danger may be saved."—The Quiver.

"PUT UP . . . THY SWORD"

By Rev. Blaine Snyder, Winona Lake, Ind.

Among the doctrines of the Brethren there is none which has caused more difficulty and discussion than that of nonresistance. We wonder why this should be, since the Brethren have been known as "peace people" from their earliest history and from the fact that year after year in our general conferences we "reaffirm our historic position with regard to war." It would do little good to attempt to fix responsibility for our lamentable state. The problem is here and needs more consideration in the future than it has received in the past.

A full discussion of this subject would require a book of many pages. Therefore the best we can hope to do here is deal with a few of the salient issues. This is not a discussion of the subject of war as such, but of necessity we must at least mention some of the major aspects of war before we are in a proper position to formulate a standard of conduct with respect to it. Very briefly, then, we want to mention 3 phases of the subject of war, and then deal with what our attitude toward it should be in the light of the Bible.

Revelation in James

First, we should note the causes of war. What is it that brings one nation to the place where it attacks and plunders another nation? Sociologists and economists have their answers, but God has one, too. It is set forth for us in James 3:16-4:3. In these verses we have God's description of that which causes contention and strife among believers. Rest assured that the motives which are successful in bringing strife within the church are also the very ones which bring on war in the world.

This passage reads in part: "For wherever jealousy and rivalry exist, there will be confusion and all sorts of evil practices. . . . What causes wars and quarrels among you? Is it not your different desires which are ever at war within your bodies? You desire things and cannot have them, and so you commit murder. You covet things, but cannot acquire them, and so you quarrel and fight. . . . You ask and fail to get them, because you ask with evil, selfish motives" (Williams translation).

Facts to Notice

There are 3 phrases which you should notice in particular: (a) jealousy and rivalry, (b) different desires, and (c) selfish motives. We do not know where you can find as complete an analysis of the causes of war in so brief a space as you have in these 6 verses. Even these could be further simplified to 1 word—sin. Study these verses carefully and you will agree that they quite well describe the history of national enterprise for the last many centuries.

Rev. Blaine Snyder

If we know anything from the Word of God and from experience concerning the conduct of the Christian it would be this, namely, that the conduct of a child of God is not characterized by jealousy, by covetousness, by rivalry, and by evil practices. These found no place in the life of Christ and are just as foreign to those who are His true followers. How can those who are truly God's children lend their service to that which is utterly incompatible with the character and conduct of the Lord whose steps we are to follow?

Weapons of War

Second, we should point out the method and weapons of war. International morality is simply thrown to the wind in times of war. The barbarities and atrocities of war are too fresh on our memories to deal with at length here. Let us remind you that these were not all committed by one side in the last war. When we think of what Christian nations (so-called) have done, it is little wonder what was done by other nations. One of the "reasons" for our entrance into World War I was the killing of innocent and defenseless people. The sneak attacks upon ships, sending people to the bottom of the ocean without a chance, was heralded from coast to coast. We now blush with shame at the mention of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Our skirts are far from clean with respect to how we treated prisoners of war (see Economic Council Letter No. 214). That is what war does to men and nations.

How does this compare with the conduct that is characteristic of a child of God? How can we reconcile the conduct of nations at war with such words as "love your enemies," "do violence to no man," "avenge not yourselves," etc.? The mass killing of men by murder and starvation, the subjection of men by force, are not the ways and means which God has ordained that His children should avail themselves of.

Results of War

Third, we should consider the results of war. What have wars accomplished in the last 200 years? Devastated countries, depleted natural resources, physical, mental, and moral wrecks of thousands of people, international resentment and mistrust, bankruptcy of nations, spiritual default and disaster for countless thousands. The so-called treaties have often been the very seed plots for further strife. It yet remains to be seen whether or not more could be accomplished by peaceful methods rather than by armed conflict.

Attitudes in Contrast

In contrast to the results of war, what are the effects of the preaching of the Gospel? Do any of the previously mentioned things manifest themselves as the rewards for labors of the faithful child of God? Can we believe that men are worse in any way because the Gospel has been brought to them? Does Christ's message breed contempt? Does His message make men and nations hate one another? Does His message help men or hasten their ruin? If the results of war are irreconcilable with the results which come from making Christ known to men, then we should have little trouble in deciding where we shall give our influence and support.

"Whoever can reconcile this, 'Resist not evil,' with, Resist violence by force; again, 'Give also thy other cheek,' with, Strike again; also 'Love thine enemies,' with, Spoil them, make a prey of them, pursue them with fire and sword; or, 'Pray for those that persecute you . . . ' with, Persecute them by fines, imprisonments, and death itself . . . whoever . . . can find a means to reconcile these things, may be supposed also to have found a way to reconcile God with the Devil, Christ with Antichrist, light with darkness, and good with evil" (R. Barclay).

Word of God

If the causes of war are un-Christian, if the methods of war are un-Christian, if the results of war are inconsistent with the results of Christian effort, then it seems that we would not need to go any further in this study, for every child of God should be able to make a decision in the light of what has been presented. However, there is much more to be said on this subject. So far, we have been presenting ideas which are self-apparent and could be the result of our own thinking. We must turn to the Word of God and see what it has to say on this matter. If it speaks clearly, then that is our final authority. Certainly those who are God's children should be content to govern their lives in accord with His Word.

One of the great passages upon which we formulate our position is Matthew 26:52-54. It is not to be expected that everyone will accept the simplest meaning of these words, but before they are rejected, careful consideration should be given to them. From the passage before us there are 3 general principles which we present for consideration.

Warfare of Christians

1. The sword is not a means to an end for God's children. Our Lord said, "Put up . . . thy sword." Peter may have had his faults, but there is no question but that he was a child of God. But in one of the greatest crises which he ever faced, when he was about to use force to accomplish his purpose, the Lord told him to put up his sword. If ever a sword was drawn in a just cause, this was the time, so apparently the worthiness of the objective is not to be the basis upon which we shall decide to take up arms. The reason for this is quite apparent. The warfare of the Christian is not against flesh and blood, but it is a spiritual battle (Eph. 6:10-17). Therefore it is impossible to use carnal weapons to wage it (II Cor. 10:3-4). The instruments used must be compatible with the type of warfare in which we are engaged. We are not seeking to establish an earthly kingdom, but a spiritual one. That is why our Lord commanded Peter to resheath his sword. We pump water, not gasoline, on a fire to quench it. Even so, if we are fully being used of the Lord, seeking His kingdom first, then we will use instruments to accomplish our end which have the approval of our Lord and will be consistent with our walk and warfare.

Creator of Strife

2. The use of the sword genders strife and usually leads to retaliation in kind. The passage says, "They that take the sword shall perish with the sword." We did not say this, but Christ did. There may appear to be exceptions to this rule, but the principle will stand, as every student of history well knows. Since this is such common knowledge, we will not discuss it further, but go to the third of these principles.

3. The source of strength and protection for God's children is God Himself. "Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels?" (vs. 53). We are not told to pray for 12 legions of angels, but we are taught that our safety is in the Lord (Psa. 90, etc.). It is for us to decide whether we believe these words or not. Have we come to the place in the Brethren Church where we put more confidence in steel than we do in the Lord? We personally know of one church from which over 70 young people were in the service in the last war. Only 1 entered on Christian convictions. We are convinced that this is not an isolated case. In view of this it is high time that we either openly abandon our position on war, or else get the courage of our convictions.

Recognition of Nonresistance

This doctrine of nonresistance offers no "city of refuge" for the unpatriotic, the cowards, or the pacifists. These words do not describe a Christian and are unjustly used of him if he is a true nonresistant. Our military leaders during the late war recognized nonmilitary service as patriotic service which places all who sincerely availed themselves of the privilege beyond just criticism. It should further be borne in mind that many times the danger and suffering of the noncombatant was every whit the equal of that of the regular service man, with the added fact that he was unarmed.

In summary we notice that Jesus said, "My kingdom is not of this world" (John 18:36). Thus, as members of His body interested in that kingdom for which we are taught to pray, we refuse the weapons of carnal warfare as a means to our end. The weapons of this world are inconsistent with our walk, incompatible with our weapons, and inappropriate for our warfare; therefore, Christian, "put up . . . thy sword."

THE BETHEL BRETHREN CHURCH, BERNE, INDIANA

By Rev. Ord Gehman, Pastor of the Church

The Bethel Brethren Church was the name given to the church which was organized a few miles east of Berne, Ind., December 14, 1889, by Rev. J. H. Swihart. The group was gathered together by Elder Swihart and its charter membership consisted of 16, none of whom are living today.

Immediately following the organization of the church at Berne, a revival meeting was held under the leadership of Elder Swihart, which resulted in 26 confessions of faith. All these were baptized and received into the membership of the church. Another meeting was held by Elder Swihart in 1890 and 49 more were added to the membership of this church.

Dedication Services

The original building was erected in 1892 at a cost of $991. Much labor on the building was donated by members and interested friends. The south addition to the building was added 20 years later and was dedicated to the Lord by Dr. L. S. Bauman, free of debt, March 3, 1912.

The 25th anniversary of the church was observed on October 4, 1914. Rev. W. F. Johnson was the speaker and the service was attended by 9 charter members.

Rededication services were held February 19, 1939. This service marked the addition of hardwood floors, new pews in the main auditorium, new pulpit desk, new curtains, and other improvements. Rev. Leo Polman was the speaker on the occasion of this service.

The 50th anniversary services of the church were held December 17, 1939. In addition to talks given by local members, Dr. J. C. Beal was the speaker for this occasion. An active membership of 180 was reported at this time.

Other Improvements

A special service was held April 27, 1941, at which time a completed basement with 2 outside entrances and tables for use in the communion services of the church were dedicated to the Lord. The special speaker for the occasion was Dr. Louis S. Bauman. The approximate cost of these improvements was $1,100.

Additional improvements to the building included new fluorescent lighting in 1950, and restrooms were installed in 1951. Recently a pastor's study was arranged and plans are under way for other internal improvements to the building which will facilitate our services for the Lord. In addition to these improvements, as far as the church building is concerned, the congregation purchased a 7-room parsonage in Berne in 1948. The parsonage has recently undergone considerable improvements.

Rev. Ord Gehman

Pastoral Leadership

The Bethel Brethren Church has had the following men who gave it pastoral leadership during the years:

Elders J. H. Swihart (1889-90), Lewis Huber (1891-92), D. A. Hopkins (1893-94), J. C. Cripe (1895-97), L. W. Ditch (1898-99), J. H. Swihart (1900-01), W. W. Summers (1902-03), W. H. Hamilton (1904), William Miller (1905-06), L. A. Hazlitt (1907-09), Frank Johnson (1910-19), Kenneth Ronk (1920-21), John Parr (1922-39), W. H. Schaffer (1940-45), G. L. Lawlor (1945-47), Ord Gehman (1948-).

Dedicated Lives

During the history of the Bethel Brethren Church a number of young people have gone from this church into the service of the Lord.

Elder Frank Johnson and Elder John Parr were both ordained to the Christian ministry from the membership of this church. More recently the following have gone into full-time service for the Lord: Robert E. A. Miller, present pastor of the Ghent Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.; Ward A. Miller, pastor of the Bethel Brethren Church, Osceola, Ind.; True Hunt, pastor of the First Brethren Church, Dallas Center, Iowa; Lowell Leistner, associate pastor with Dr. R. S. Beal, Tucson, Ariz.; Carl Miller, pastor, Washington Heights Brethren Church, Roanoke, Va.; Elaine Christy, Christian day school teacher, Long Beach, Calif.; Wanda Lautzenheiser, missionary to Japan under the Far Eastern Gospel Crusade; Lester O. Smitley, pastor of the new home mission church at Parkersburg, W. Va.; R. Paul Miller, Jr., pastor of the Carlton Brethren Church, Garwin, Iowa.

Elder R. Paul Miller, Sr., makes his home at Berne, Ind., and is a member of the Bethel Brethren Church, and at the present time is engaged in full-time evangelistic work.

ROOMMATES ENJOY IT, TOO

"I would appreciate it very much if you would change the address for my Brethren Missionary Herald. . . .

"My two roommates and I all enjoy the Herald very much. I'm especially thankful for the articles on the different cults. May God continue to bless you and the work. (Signed) Barbara Hulse, Oakland, Calif."

BAPTIST YOUTH GO TO BRAZIL

The fourth Baptist Youth World Conference is scheduled to be held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, July 15-22, 1953. Among the featured speakers are Evangelist Billy Graham and Dr. Oscar Johnson, of St. Louis, Mo.

The Bethel Brethren Church, Berne, Ind.

THOUGHTS FOR CHRISTIAN PILGRIMS

By Conard Sandy

One Standard for All

The State of Indiana is setting up a double standard in the matter of gambling.

The legislature has enacted a law forbidding gambling within the confines of the State, yet Judge Walter Myers, Jr., of Indianapolis, has ruled that the law is not for churches nor church employees, so long as they are working for the church.

Joseph E. Bauer, 33 years of age, was brought before the judge, accused of possessing lottery tickets and records. Bauer's defense was that he was an agent of St. Rita's Church and that the proceeds of the lottery were to be used in erecting a church youth center—as though the end justifies the means.

The judge dismissed the case on the basis that churches and church employees are exempt from the State's gambling laws.

Thus it is ruled that gambling is wrong when practiced in the home, in the clubs, on the streets, or in the open fields, but gambling is all right when carried on in church buildings or by employees of the church, when the proceeds go to the church.

How is the oncoming generation ever to learn right from wrong? How can a gambling church declare the way of salvation to professional gamblers?

God has no double standard! Paul wrote of men who judged others, yet did the same things: "Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things" (Rom. 2:1).

Total Depravity Doctrine Hated

Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, in a syndicated article under the caption "Let's Explore Your Mind," denies the truth of total depravity, or the entire sinfulness of man. In answer to the question, "Does love bring out the good in people?" he answered:

"Yes. If a man, however low, is loved by some woman, it proves there is still some good in him. The notion of 'total depravity' that Jonathan Edwards and others once preached so powerfully has about died out."

The doctrine has not died out with

God. Therefore one ought not to accuse Jonathan Edwards and others of something of which they were not guilty. They preached "total depravity" because they explored the mind of God as revealed in His revelation and did not have much time for exploring the minds of men.

God's Word declares: "There is none righteous, no, not one: there is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good, no, not one" (Rom. 3:10-12).

Paul had much to boast of if he would have been given to that kind of life, but after meeting Jesus, he said: "For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing" (Rom. 7:18). God and Paul believed in "total depravity," and Dr. Wiggam will someday also believe it, though he may say he does not believe in it now.

Shield of Faith and Prayer

According to the Associated Press, Salvation Army Commissioner Herbert A. Lord, of London, England, defied with prayers an atheistic North Korean Communist with a gun—and won. Here is the commissioner's account of what happened after he, a British civilian, was captured in Korea at the beginning of the war, but recently released.

"Do you believe there is a God?" demanded the guard.

"Yes," replied the commissioner firmly.

"You are an intelligent, educated man and yet you really believe there is a God?"

"Yes."

"And do you believe that this God answers prayer?"

"Yes."

"Well, we'll prove it. I am going to stand behind you and I want you to pray to your God and ask Him to tell you in which hand I am holding this gun."

"I refuse to offer such a prayer—God is not a conjurer."

"And yet you believe He answers prayer?"

"Yes, and I am praying now."

"For what?"

"That He will give me grace not to lose my temper with you, and that if you decide to use your gun I may die like a Christian gentleman."

Commissioner Lord wound up his story: "The Korean guard was silent and walked slowly away, leaving a greatly relieved internee."

The Spirit of God admonished: "Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. . . . Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit" (Eph. 6: 16, 18).

Parents Blamed for Youth Crimes

The National Voice quotes a letter written by "A Very Sincere Las Vegas Teen-Ager" to Hank Greenspun, editor of the Las Vegas, Nev., Sun. The letter is clear and timely and is therefore quoted here without comment.

"I have just read your editorial for April 13, which concerns the recent dope tragedy. You mentioned something about a lack of recreational facilities and some other things, but I think that you were closer to the real point when you mentioned the parents.

"Too much blame for things like this is put on the youth, when it is the parents of these boys and girls that should be reprimanded. Speaking as a girl who has been brought up in such a way that I would never think of using narcotics, I say that it is my parents that have given me the knowledge and attitudes which make such things as this seem like a horrible nightmare.

"It is not a lack of 'teen-age centers' that makes young people turn to crime, but a lack of family security.

"This generation seems to have a false set of values. In L. V. high school it is not the studious, serious-minded pupil who is accepted by the top crowd, but the fast kid who won't say no to anything the gang decides to do.

This problem is the fault of the schools, which are overcrowded and cannot give enough (or won't give enough) time to those students who show signs which later lead to dope. They should not be expected to take the place of parents, but when par-

(Continued on Page 375)

Limestone, Tennessee

During April our hearts contained mingled emotions of joy and sorrow—joy because of the spiritual activities of the church, and sorrow because of the serious illness of our pastor, Bro. Randall Rossman.

On April 4 we observed our spring communion service.

Rev. William Smith, of Washington, D. C., began a youth revival with us April 5 and concluded the series of meetings April 19. All of us were refreshed. Each message was a challenge to sinners and to Christians as the evangelist exalted Christ. The visible results were 8 rededications and others expressing their desire to win souls.

On April 22 we entertained some of the overnight guests attending the WMC rally of the Southeast District which convened at the Johnson City church the next day. Among those who lodged with us was Pastor Robert Miller, of the Roanoke, Va., Ghent church. He led us in our midweek prayer meeting.

Rev. L. L. Grubb, secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council, spoke to us the morning of April 23.

Additions to Membership

Canton, Ohio .....	7
Compton, Calif. ....	7
Glendale, Calif. ....	3
Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	4
South Pasadena, Calif. ....	7
Uniontown, Pa. ....	2

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Glendale, Calif. ....	4
Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	3

Public Confessions

Canton, Ohio .....	2
Conemaugh, Pa. ....	1
San Bernardino, Calif. ....	1

Dedication of Babies

Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	3
Uniontown, Pa. ....	1

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Denver, Colo.....	June 1-14.....	Lowell Hoyt.....	Arnold Kr'gbaum.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	June 7-14.....	Charles Mayes...	Alva J. McClain.
Osceola, Ind.....	June 28-July 5..		Dudley Long.
Los Angeles, Calif.
(First) .....	July 8-26.....	Glenn O'Neal.....	R. Paul Miller.
South Bend, Ind..	July 12-19.....	Russell Ogden....	Ding Teuling.

Many from our congregation attended the evening service at Johnson City and saw the film, "The Forgotten Navaho."

Brother Rossman was able to resume his regular duties at the church Sunday, May 3, for which we praise the Lord.

Our daily vacation Bible school is scheduled for June 16-26.—Lelia Arnold, recording secretary.

Grafton, West Virginia

We just closed a week's revival meeting with Bro. Bill Smith as the evangelist. Brother Smith brought inspiring, helpful messages. And, true to God's promise, the Word brought forth fruit. There were 5 first-time decisions, all of them being youngsters and young people. There were several other decisions of rededication.

We are grateful to the Lord for our Sunday school and church attendance. We have been trying the past few months to exceed the highest Sunday school attendance record of 147. We have come within 7 of reaching this record. On Sunday evening we had 125 present.—Lee Crist, pastor.

From Grafton, W. Va., we can report another great blessing from the Lord. During the 8 days (May 10-17) there were 28 decisions made—5 first-time decisions for Christ, 10 rededications, and 13 heads of homes pledged themselves to make Christ first in the home.

I had been with Rev. Lee Crist in Covington, Va., several years ago and it was surely nice to be with him for another meeting and to meet many wonderful people in Grafton.—Bill Smith, evangelist.

WHAT THE HERALD MEANS TO A MISSIONARY ON THE FIELD

(Continued From Page 368)

black hands rather than to the insatiable appetite of the termites. This is not the last the missionary will see of his magazine. Quite the contrary is true. Morning, noon, and evening he will be meeting it.

The Brethren Missionary Herald has now entered the most conspicuous phase of its career. Soaked once, or perhaps full of dust, maybe already frayed at the edges, the paper is valuable to the African. For him a Testament and a hymnbook were a great investment of his money. He would like to protect his cherished property. The near tragedies which have befallen the magazine on its long journey over sea and land are unknown to him.

He carefully makes of it a cover for his loved books.

The books, proud in their new overcoats, are carried on the owner's head to church, or to school, or sometimes just carried. Many a missionary has chuckled as he saw the face of a dear friend on the head of an African. Many a missionary has been reminded of his prayer partners as he saw a picture of his home church far out in some African village.

It is obvious that this final phase of the magazine will soon be ended by the hands of an eager African. Having seen how the magazine so wonderfully serves to the very end, don't you agree with the missionary who says that the Brethren Missionary Herald has had a glorious career?

"Lousy Sportsmanship"

By Rev. Alan S. Pearce
Long Beach, Calif.

Such is the term ascribed by News Commentator Malcolm Epley to the so-called wrestling programs televised into millions of homes for kids to watch.

"These affairs," continues Commentator Epley, "are replete with obvious, unpunished fouls of all sorts, and participants sometimes even attack the officials without penalty.

"The claims that these are just exhibition affairs for entertainment only, doesn't mean a thing. They are billed and presented as bona fide contests, and the conduct of the participants has an impact on millions of impressionable viewers equal to what they see displayed at a football game or boxing match.

"Parents already are hard-pressed preaching to children that various horrifying things they see on TV are only make-believe. It's doubtful if they can convince them that those glowering brutes tearing each other apart in the wrestling ring don't mean a bit of it."

Commentator Epley recalled the days when as a news reporter he covered wrestling for his newspaper, that the racket wasn't so bad then, but it was bad enough. He felt then how fortunate it was that few children attended such places.

Shortly after the publishing of this column a reader, discussing TV wrestling, asked: "Isn't there some way to stop such a crude, degrading, degenerate form of entertainment?"

Epley replied, "Yes, indeed. When enough people turn off their TV sets when wrestling programs come on, or switch to something else, this form of 'entertainment' will disappear from the TV screens—and ultimately from the American scene. The sooner the better."

Mr. Epley is to be commended for his fearless stand against such so-called "sport." Whether or not such programs will cease to be televised, they surely have no place in the home of a born-again believer who is admonished to manifest "the fruit of the Spirit" at all times, which is, "love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, temperance."
—From Fifth and Cherry Light.

JACKSON ORDAINED AT NEW TROY

Richard Jackson, Jr., was ordained to the eldership in the Brethren denomination in a very impressive service Sunday afternoon, May 24, at the New Troy, Mich., Brethren church, before 95 people.

Pastor Ward A. Miller, of the Osceola, Ind., church, presided and read the authorizations from the Central District Ministerial Examining Board and the New Troy the Scriptural qualifications from Titus 1 and John 15.

Brother Jackson was questioned and led in his vows by Pastor Lee Jenkins, of the Lake Odessa, Mich., church. The prayer of consecration and the welcome to the ministry were given by Pastor Herman W. Koontz, of the Winona Lake, Ind., church. Editor Conard Sandy gave the charge to the candidate.

The congregation joined in singing a hymn—"Beneath the Cross of Jesus"—and the Rev. Richard Jackson, Jr., led in the closing prayer and benediction.

Bro. Richard Jackson was originally a member of the Cleveland, Ohio, church. Following service in the military forces during World War II, he entered the college division and later the graduate division of Grace Theological Seminary. He graduated in the class of 1952, but had begun serving as pastor of the New Troy, Mich., church several weeks before completing his school work. During his days at Winona Lake, Brother Jackson served as a teacher, music director, youth director, and supply preacher at the Leesburg, Ind., church. (This church was represented by a delegation at the ordination service.)

Brother Jackson is married to Jean Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foye Miller, of Winona Lake, and sister of Missionary Edward Miller, in Brazil. The Jacksons are parents of 3 children.

Rev. Richard Jackson

church. Pastor Robert Markley, of the Berrien Springs, Mich., church, led in the opening prayer following the singing of "Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross." Dean Straub, of the local church, was the organist, and Mrs. Richard Jackson, Jr., wife of the candidate, sang "Yielded" as a solo.

The ordination message, "The Man of God," based on II Timothy 3:17, was preached by Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, dean of Grace Theological Seminary. Pastor W. Russell Ogden, of the South Bend, Ind., church, read ents are neglectful, a boy or girl hasn't a chance.

THOUGHTS FOR CHRISTIAN PILGRIMS

(Continued From Page 373)

"Another fault is in the government, or whatever one wants to call it. I call it politics. I was mad during the last episode of dope peddlers in Las Vegas that it was hushed up so quickly. I believe that a big-time dope pusher should be given a life sentence. He is not only a murderer, but a traitor, undermining the youth of our country. Worst of all, too many big wheels in the dope racket are able to buy their way out.

"I am not excusing the kids—sure it is they who get into trouble—but I am saying that it won't do any good to educate them against the use of narcotics. It will do some good, though, to educate the modern teenager to become a better parent.

"Another thing, it is not the youngster the authorities are protecting when they keep names out of the papers, but their parents. The kids don't care whether people know or not. It is the parents who are going to be hurt. That's a laugh. These parents do not care enough for their kids to give them a good home, but when the curtain falls they do not want to take the 'boos,' only the applause.

"Please, Mr. Greenspun, we need some help, and fast. You have a voice. Let's hear it!"

Rev. and Mrs. Blaine Snyder
Winona Lake, Ind.

GRACE TRUMPETERS ANNOUNCE TENTATIVE ITINERARY

The Grace Trumpeters and Vice President Paul R. Bauman from Grace Theological Seminary and College began a 9-weeks tour of Brethren churches, conferences, and young people's camps on May 31. They spent their first week among the churches in Iowa. The schedule below is subject to change in a few places. If there are such, notices will appear in the Herald.

Sun., June 7 (a. m.)—North Riverdale, Dayton, Ohio.
Sun., June 7 (p. m.)—Clayton, Ohio.
Mon., June 8—Camden, Ohio.
Tues., June 9—Akron & Cuyahoga Falls at Akron, Ohio.
Wed., June 10—Ashland & Homerville at Ashland, Ohio.
Thurs., June 11—Danville & Ankenytown at Ankenytown, Ohio.
Fri., June 12—Sterling & Rittman at Sterling, Ohio.
Sat., June 13—Canton & Middlebranch at Canton, Ohio.
Sun., June 14 (a. m.)—Mansfield, Ohio.
Sun., June 14 (p. m.)—Wooster, Ohio.
Mon., June 15 (p. m.)—Camp Buckeye, Ohio.
Tues., June 16—Camp Buckeye.
Wed., June 17—Callender Church, Wilkinsburg, Pa.
Thurs., June 18—Kittanning & North Buffalo at Kittanning, Pa.
Fri., June 19—Open.
Sat., June 20—Johnstown, Pa., youth rally.
Sun., June 21 (a. m.)—Johnstown, Pa.
Sun., June 21 (p. m.)—Leamersville & Vicksburg at Leamersville, Pa.
Mon., June 22—Martinsburg, Everett, and Yellow Creek at Martinsburg, Pa.
Tues., June 23—Altoona First and Grace at Altoona, Pa., First.
Wed., June 24—North Mountain Bible Conference, Red Rock, Pa.
Thurs., June 25—North Mountain Bible Conference.
Fri., June 26—Allentown, Pa.
Sat., June 27—Open.
Sun., June 28 (9:30 a. m.)—First Church, Philadelphia, Pa.
Sun., June 28 (11 a. m.)—Third Church, Philadelphia, Pa.
Sun., June 28 (7:30 p. m.)—Calvary Bible Church, Lancaster, Pa.
Mon., June 29—Open.
Tues., June 30—Hawthorne, N. J., Bible Conference.

Wed., July 1—Open.
Thurs., July 2—Casanova Baptist Church, Buffalo, N. Y.
Fri., July 3—Open.
Sat., July 4—Gull Lake Conference, Gull Lake, Mich.
Sun., July 5—Gull Lake Conference.
Mon., July 6—Youth for Christ Conference, Winona Lake, Ind.
Tues., July 7—Youth for Christ Conference.
Wed., July 8—Youth for Christ Conference.
Thurs., July 9—Camp Keystone, Pa.
Fri., July 10—Camp Keystone, Pa.
Sat., July 11—Open.
Sun., July 12 (a. m.)—Washington, D. C.
Sun., July 12 (p. m.)—Alexandria, Va.
Mon., July 13—Southeast District Conference, Clearbrook, Va.
Tues., July 14—Southeast District Conference.
Wed., July 15—Southeast District Conference.
Thurs., July 16—Ghent Church, Roanoke, Va.
Fri., July 17—Buena Vista, Va.
Sat., July 18—Covington, Va.
Sun., July 19 (a. m.)—Uniontown, Pa.
Sun., July 19 (p. m.)—Open.
Mon., July 20—East District Conference, Meyersdale, Pa.
Tues., July 21—East District Conference.
Wed., July 22—Open.
Thurs., July 23—Harrisburg, Pa.
Fri., July 24—York, Pa.
Sat., July 25—Open.
Sun., July 26 (a. m.)—Hagerstown, Md.
Sun., July 26 (p. m.)—Winchester, Va.
Mon., July 27—Camp Grace, Va.
Tues., July 28—Camp Grace, Va.
Wed., July 29—Open.
Thurs., July 30—Open.
Fri., July 31—Open.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 24

WMC NUMBER

JUNE 13, 1953

REDECORATED AUDITORIUM AT WASHINGTON

This is a recent view of the remodeled and redecorated auditorium of the First Brethren Church of Washington, D. C., showing Pastor James G. Dixon, the choir, and the congregation in a worship service. (See story, p. 380.)

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

The Sidney, Ind., church called Earle E. Peer, formerly pastor at Limestone, Tenn., and now a Grace Seminary student, to be its pastor effective May 28. He moved to Winona Lake. (Change Annual, p. 77.)

To Mr. and Mrs. Jack Peters (he is an employee of the Brethren Missionary Herald Company), was born a son, Stephen Paul, May 25.

The Johnstown, Pa., First church gave Dr. W. A. Ogden a call to continue as its pastor and he accepted.

Rev. and Mrs. Chauncey Sheldon, missionaries in Africa, both underwent successful surgery at the American Presbyterian Hospital at Elat, Africa, according to a telegram to Dr. Russell Barnard May 31.

Richard P. DeArmedy, recent graduate from Grace Seminary and former pastor at Sidney, Ind., began his pastoral work at the Waterloo, Iowa, church May 31. He has moved to 1315 Randolph St., Waterloo, Iowa. (Change Annual, p. 68.)

Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind., is scheduled for meetings June 17-18 at the Springfield, Ohio, Bethel Baptist Church, and June 22-25 at the Struthers, Ohio, Baptist Tabernacle.

Mrs. Martha Livengood, of the Uniontown, Pa., church, died May 22.

The South Gate, Calif., church, according to Pastor Alfred Dodds, sponsored a family night supper May 22, with Nelson Hall, assistant pastor at the Long Beach First church, as the speaker.

Pastor and Mrs. Charles W. Turner, Flora, Ind., were injured in an automobile accident (details unknown in Herald office), causing postponement of Brother Turner's ordination from May 17 date.

The Washington, D. C., church, pastored by James G. Dixon, was host to the graduation program of the Washington Bible Institute, May 26, with Glenn W. Wagner as the speaker. Alice Beem and Frank Campbell, of that church, were among the graduates. Dr. Karlis Leyasmeyer spoke at the church May 24.

Paul L. Mohler resigned from the Listie, Pa., church to accept the pastorate of the Covington, Va., church, effective about July 1.

Russell H. Weber resigned as pastor of the Harrisburg, Pa., church to become pastor of the Hagerstown, Md., church early in August. Pastor Walter A. Lepp terminates an 8½-year ministry at the Hagerstown church August 2 and Weber will move to the field soon after that date.

Youth for Christ Leader Jack Hamilton spoke at the Waynesboro, Pa., church May 17, according to Pastor Dennis Holliday.

Rev. and Mrs. Foster Tresise now live at 1589E South Beretania St., Honolulu, T. H. (Change Annual, p. 72.)

"Philip with the Lord." This cablegram was received June 3 in the office of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church from Dr. Orville Jobson in Africa. The reference is to Philip Ned, the 6-month-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Beaver, missionaries in Africa. No other particulars are known here at Winona Lake nor was there any knowledge that Philip had been ill.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell D. Barnard arrived at Winona Lake June 2 after an absence of more than 3 months in behalf of foreign missions. They report much fine interest in the foreign missionary program of the Brethren Church. Remember, dear reader, it is never out of season to give to carry the Gospel to the unevangelized.

Conard Sandy plans to speak at the 2 Philadelphia, Pa., churches June 21.

Remember the Brethren Missionary Herald Company especially during the months of June and July. Read last week's issue of the Herald carefully and then give a generous offering for the maintenance and advancement of this phase of the missionary program of the denomination. This company belongs to the church, therefore let every member of the church have part in its support by prayer and gift. Also help us reach the goal of 8,000 subscribers by July 31. Subscribe now for a relative or a friend, thus helping your company and also the one to whom the subscription is given.

Donald Bishop, recent Grace Seminary graduate and candidate for missionary work in Argentina, was licensed to the ministry by his home church in Ashland, Ohio, of which Miles Taber is pastor.

Recent speakers at the pastorless Whittier, Calif., Community church were Ward A. Miller, soon to be pastor of the church, May 10; Carl E. Sisson, of Whittier, May 17; George M. Richardson, of Bellflower, May 24; and J. Keith Altig, missionary on furlough, May 31. The prayer meeting on May 24, conducted by Richard Fralick, had 41 people present, a new record high for that church.

Reuben J. Witter, for 35 years a member of the Berne, Ind., church, died May 26. The funeral service was conducted by his pastor, Ord Gehman, at the church, and burial was in Ohio.

Recent speakers at the pastorless church at Bellflower, Calif., were Charles A. Beatty, Long Beach, and Albert Balzer, missionary on furlough from Africa, May 17; David Willis, Anaheim, May 24; and Carl E. Sisson, South Whittier, May 31.

The Los Angeles, Calif., Second church, according to Pastor Henry Rempel, voted to discontinue the Brethren Chapel work among the Negroes because the work showed so little progress after 3 years. Lincoln Oliver ended his work there April 26 and the property has been sold to a Baptist church.

During an illness of John M. Aeby, the pulpit of the Philadelphia, Pa., First church was occupied May 31 by Rev. John Neely and Mark Goodyer, the highway evangelist.

The Los Angeles, Calif., Third church, pastored by James C. Beatty, has scheduled Missionary J. Keith Altig, first pastor of that church, as speaker for June 14. Missionary Marvin L. Goodman, Jr., spoke there May 24 and Dr. Robert Schaper spoke there June 7.

THE CHRISTIAN AND THE TELEVISION

By Rev. R. I. Humberd, Flora, Ind.

The question is not, "Can a Christian sometimes look at television?" but "Will a truly spiritual Christian delight in it?"

Christianity is a matter of life, of birth, of nature. Every creature on earth has a nature that it received by its birth, and it orders its life according to its nature.

A Birth and a Nature

That which is born of a pig is pig, and pig life will teach it to root in the ground, wallow in the mud, and sleep in a bed of straw. That which is hatched of a chicken is chicken, and chicken life will teach it to scratch for its food, lift its head when it drinks water, and sleep on a long, narrow pole. That which is born of a dog is dog, and dog life will teach it to lap milk with its tongue, gnaw bones, and chase cats.

That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that birth gives us a nature that loves the world and delights in the lust of the eyes, the lust of the flesh, and the pride of life (I John 2:16). That which is born of the Spirit is spirit, and this birth makes us partakers of the divine nature (II Pet. 1:4), and this nature teaches us to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts and to live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world (Tit. 2:12).

Nature Rules the Life

A pig delights in the mud puddle, but a sheep has a nature that abhors the mud. If a creature loves the mud puddle, the life of a sheep is not in it. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him (I John 2:16-17).

Everything responds according to its nature. A man made a mechanical bee. He placed it on the table and it buzzed around so real and he was so proud of it that he caught some real bees, placed them on the table, and dared his friends to pick out his bee. Then someone dropped a bit of honey, to which the true bees turned. And so do we unconsciously reveal our inner condition by the things we delight in.

In this article we are not dealing with the world-bordering Christian who, like Lot, is so close to the world that we must have a divine revelation to know he is saved (II Pet. 2:7). But it is the Spirit-filled child of God, the one who is in fellowship with his God, we have in mind.

The Evil Nature

"For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: all these evil things come from within, and defile the man" (Mark 7:21-23). Verily, is there anything that abounds with these things more than television? If our Lord declares that they defile the man, then who are we to say "No" to Him? We may be surprised to note that even "foolishness" is "evil."

Verily, it is not a matter of opinion. Two times two make four. And it is not a matter of opinion; it is a fact. "If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth" (I John 1:6). The fading sense of sin is one of the greatest characteristics of our day.

Feeding the New Nature

"Blessed is the man" whose "delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night" (Psa. 1:1-2). We will meditate on what we see and hear, so blessed are we if we curtail our eyes and ears. I have not taken a daily newspaper for over 20 years. If I did, I would read it too much; and we cannot fill our mind with the murders and evils of an evil world and still meditate upon the things that please the Lord.

Some things are definite. Jump into a lake and you will get wet; walk up to a fire and you will get warm; meditate upon the Word of God and you will be blessed. We can have what we want. Noting this, I decided to put myself in line with this blessing. Years ago I memorized much Scripture and read my Bible through and through. Then suddenly my health gave way and I could not read.

I was so miserable that I would go out into the woods to cut wood and for 10 years I worked in the open to feel better. But as I moved about, my mind meditated upon the Scriptures, and my books began to come. But I am told that we must keep up with the world, but I ask, "Which world?" Certainly to meditate on the things of the Lord does not make a person useless, for I have written 34 books and spoken to more than 13,000 students in 48 colleges and schools of higher learning.

The Separated Life

Verily when God wished to use a man He used a man with whom He could fellowship, and truly fellowship with God is a lonely life, from the worldly standpoint, but it is a happy life. John the Baptist spent his early years in the desert, Elijah was a lonely man, Enoch and Noah were "one-man and God," Moses spent 40 years in the wilderness before God could use him, David was a shepherd lad.

One day I was helping shred fodder in Michigan. I was on the wagon handing the bundles to the man at the machine. The third man was to look after the machinery and stop the tractor if necessary. And what did that man do? Verily, it was warm by the exhaust, and there he stood cleaning his fingernails.

We yelled and yelled, and I had to throw an ear of corn to draw his attention. We were calling all right, but he had so much noise of the exhaust in his ears that he could not hear. And so today. So many have so much of the noise of the world in their heart that they cannot hear the still small voice of the Lord.

Sometime ago a young woman was singing a solo just before I was to speak. I was meditating on my message when suddenly 2 lines sprang out at me with great force: "Turn your eyes upon Jesus," and "the things of earth will grow strangely dim."

Verily, our Lord has promised to satisfy the thirsty soul (Matt. 5:6). He has promised to open a fountain from within that will quench every thirst and longing of the human soul (John 4:14; 7:37-39).

Do we need to repeat our question? Can a truly spiritual Christian enjoy the television? Verily, we never can prove the delights of His love until all on the altar we lay.

HISTORY OF THE FIRST BRETHREN CHURCH OF WASHINGTON, D. C.

By Francis E. Simmons, Moderator

This is the story of the First Brethren Church in your Nation's Capital. It is one of the older churches of the denomination and one of the comparatively few located in a large metropolitan area (about 1½ million people). Situated at the very heart of the city, only 12 blocks from the Capitol along famous Pennsylvania Avenue, it has seen wave after wave of expansion push the metropolitan boundaries farther and farther into the limits of the District of Columbia and even into Maryland and Virginia. Yet its original location remains fairly strategic and the colonial architecture of the church sanctuary continues to be one of the most beautiful and attractive in Washington.

Reason for Growth

The large scale decentralization of earlier member families of the church out into newer residential suburbs and a notable change in downtown population have created many problems and have largely changed the composition of our membership. Withal the church has steadfastly kept true to God's course and today rejoices in a revival of the growth and vision that characterized our earlier years, a revival sparked by a particularly fine young man of God, Rev. James G. Dixon. If any one observation is to be drawn from our 60-year experience, it is that our periods of sustained growth have been directly associated with the long, patient labors of consecrated men, notably Rev. William M. Lyon, founder and pastor for 26 years; Rev. Homer A. Kent, pastor for 15 years;

Homer A. Kent
1925-1940

and Bro. H. Clay Dooley, who served as Sunday school superintendent for 33 years.

Beginning of Work

But to relate our history. This congregation began as a mission project of the German Baptist Church when, on October 4, 1892, Rev. William M. Lyon was sent to Washington at the request of a small group of Tunkers. The first meeting of the new congregation was held on October 30 in a private home, with later meetings in a rented hall. A Sunday school of 15 members was organized in August 1893. Subsequent differences between this struggling flock and the German Baptist Church led Brother Lyon and 17 members to affiliate with the Progressive Brethren Church on August 17, 1896. In the ensuing few years the membership grew in numbers and confidence to the point of deciding to buy or build an adequate place of worship. The outcome was the purchase from the Methodists on April 2, 1900, of the present church location at 12th and E Streets SE., on which a small frame chapel then stood.

Ministry of Lyon

Acquisition of church property gave an impetus to the work so that by the summer of 1903, some 170 souls had been brought into the church. Feeling that the congregation was then well-enough founded that he could leave it for a needier field, Brother Lyon resigned to take a call in Sergeantsville, N. J. The next 7 years saw the ministries of Rev. J. F. Koontz and Rev. L. O. Hubbard advancing the work, but again in 1910 the congregation turned to Rev. William M. Lyon, who returned to shepherd the flock in a renewed surge of evangelism. By 1923 the Sunday school enrollment had grown to 300 and the church was once more obliged to consider ways and means to expand. A building fund was begun and the church was about ready to build when, in 1925, Brother Lyon's health failed and he was called to be with the Lord on

The Present Building

May 28, 1925. Emerson Rohart, a student at the seminary, filled the pulpit temporarily until the call of Rev. Homer A. Kent, who began his ministry on September 10, 1925.

Ministry of Kent

Then followed a second era of sustained growth as Brother Kent and his bride won the love and respect of the congregation and launched a successful ministry of 15 years. Seeing the urgency of the building program envisioned by his predecessor, Brother Kent established that as an immediate goal. The response was such that by April of 1926 the congregation courageously voted to raze the existing building and to begin construction of the basement unit of the present edifice. During construction, the brethren met in rented quarters nearby, first a storeroom then a veterans' home.

On Sunday, October 10, 1926, the cornerstone was laid by Pastor Kent and on January 30, 1927, the grateful congregation dedicated the basement and themselves to the Lord in a service at which Dr. L. S. Bauman was the speaker. Within 2 years, attendance was again taxing the capacity of the building. The Sunday school enrollment, under the energetic leadership of H. Clay Dooley as superintendent, had jumped to over 400 and the church enrollment to 260. The church "bulged at the seams" under these conditions, until by 1934 they had been able to pay off all obligations and to acquire a building fund reserve that permitted the retention of an architect to plan the completion of the building. The building plan was approved on April 17, 1934, and construction began. The congregation continued to meet in the basement and to thrive in spite of all obstacles.

Bernard N. Schneider
1940-1944

It was a happy occasion, indeed, when the completed church was dedicated on March 24, 1935. That provided room for expansion of the church attendance in the main auditorium up to nearly 500, but satisfactory quarters for departmentalized Sunday school services were still lacking. Accordingly, the congregation voted on April 12, 1938, to purchase the 2 residences next north of the church. These "annexes" were remodeled so as to cope with the needs of an enrollment of 440 persons and turned over almost completely to the junior and junior-senior high departments.

Tribute to Dooley

Meanwhile, Pastor Kent had received several invitations to transfer to the seminary faculty. It was only when he had seen his ministry blessed with a healthy church that he finally acceded in 1940 to join the seminary faculty that fall. Under his 15-year ministry nearly 460 persons had been brought into the congregation! By no means to detract from the role of Brother Kent and his predecessors in building the membership, the untiring devotion of Bro. H. Clay Dooley, who retired in 1942, must be mentioned as an important factor contributing to that growth.

L. S. Bauman
1948-1950

Ministry of Schneider

Rev. Bernard Schneider began his ministry on October 8, 1940. His evangelistic enthusiasm carried over to a fine group of young men who had been coming along under Brother Kent's ministry, with the result that several decided on full-time service for the Lord. He conducted the only radio ministry the congregation has ever had. But the urge to missions and to building was overpowering, so that Pastor Schneider resigned on January 3, 1944, to take over the Brethren mission in Mansfield, Ohio.

Harold O. Mayer, previously pastor of the Juniata Brethren Church at Altoona, Pa., was called, effective June 25, 1944, and resigned by request in January 1948.

The congregation experienced many blessings during the decade of the 1940's, but in the main this was a period of great testing and attrition. The mortgage on the church building was burned at a special church service on June 17, 1945, and the church's first parsonage was acquired that same year. Other developments, including the loss of about 75 members to the Ashland Brethren (1942), the transfer (1945-46) of around 30 of our members to the Brethren mission work in Alexandria, Va., sponsored by our congregation, and internal problems, left the church in great need of a healing and rebuilding ministry.

James G. Dixon Present Pastor

Ministry of Bauman and Pearce

Our all-knowing heavenly Father had His choice servants for our needs. After He had closed the door on our several calls, He afforded us the unforgettable blessing of Dr. Louis S. Bauman's rich ministry from October 1948 to his homegoing on November 8, 1950; and that of his valued associate, Rev. Alan S. Pearce, until October 1951. Their powerful ministry and their loving fellowship with the brethren provided the healing balm that prepared our congregation for the reconstruction era which we feel has begun under Pastor James G. Dixon. He was graduated cum laude from Grace Seminary and had pastored the Ashland, Ohio, congregation with notable blessing for 4 years.

Alan S. Pearce
1948-1951

Ministry of Dixon

Brother Dixon became our pastor in October 1951 and began immediately the difficult task of rebuilding an older congregation which had "kept the faith" diligently through many testings, but which sorely needed a revival of its former zeal. Today our enthusiasm matches our vision as we hold our church services in a sanctuary newly beautified to the glory of God [see cover picture], and as we contemplate plans for a modern church school building to house our expanding enrollment.

The capacity and interest which earned Pastor Dixon membership on the National Sunday School Board of the Brethren Church have been fruitful here. We praise God for his ministry, for our very own missionaries, Fred and Maurita Fogle and Edith Geske, for our adopted missionaries, the Dowdys, for our young men serving the Lord as preachers and teachers—Ralph Gilbert, Roy Glass, Jr., William Howard, Homer Kent, Jr., Leon Myers, William Smith, and Warren Tamkin, and for our every privilege to witness for Christ in this great capital city in these turbulent days when Christ's return seems ever so near.

NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP OF BRETHREN LAYMEN

Jesse B. Deloe, Editor

IS OUR "FELLOWSHIP" TAKING THE PLACE OF FRUITBEARING?

From 15 to 25 church bulletins are handed to me by Brother Sandy, the editor of this magazine, during the interval between the appearances of this page in the Herald. These bulletins contain news of laymen's activities, and as I attempt to assemble them for your information, I am made to think. Yes, THINK!

I THINK that the number of bulletins containing news of laymen's activities is woefully small; therefore I THINK that there must be many, many churches without organized laymen's activities.

I notice nearly every month that of the bulletins that come to me, 99 percent of the activities mentioned featured food, fun, and fellowship. I THINK something is wrong there. It may be that the messages heard at these meetings inspired the hearers with the desire to go out and compel the lost to come in. It may be that the food and fellowship caused the men to develop more love for the brethren. It may be that the fun makes them realize that there is no need for Christians to be long-faced.

BUT I THINK that sometimes the readers of our bulletins, and by extension, the readers of this page in the Herald, should know something of the results of these meetings.

Don't take what I say to mean that I'm "agin" these 3 "F's." I think I can qualify as a partaker of large quantities of all 3. What I'm trying to say is that it is vastly more important to the Lord and to His church that fruit be borne as we labor in His vineyard.

Therefore I THINK that it would be wonderful if we could read of the spiritual victories won—the souls who come to the Lord, the visits of comfort made to the sick, dying, and bereaved, the really important things that are important in the Father's sight—rather than those things that are of the flesh.

"Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples" (John 15:8).

ACTIVITIES OF LAYMEN—GATHERED FROM CHURCH BULLETINS

The next men's fellowship meeting of the First church, Los Angeles, Calif., will be held on Monday, June 15, with Dr. Alva J. McClain, president of Grace Theological Seminary, as the speaker.

On May 15 there were 59 men present at Buena Vista, Va., for the meeting of the Southeast District Brethren Laymen. A program was presented by the "Fishers of Men" from Lynchburg, Va.

Frank W. Campbell, of the Clearbrook church, was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed the late W. V. Findley.

Fort Wayne men met May 19 for a pot-luck supper and devotional meeting. Dr. L. L. Grubb spoke.

A laymen's day of prayer was held May 23 at the Pike Brethren Church, Mundy's Corner, Pa. Speakers for the occasion were Homer Lingenfelter and H. Leslie Moore.

The laymen at the First church, Whittier, Calif., heard Max Jones, a Christian magician, of Bell, at their May meeting. The men had charge of the evening service at the church on May 3.

The Father-Son banquet at the Bethel Brethren Church, Berne, Ind., was held June 2. Rev. Ralph Colburn, national youth director, was speaker.

Two men accepted Christ at the Father-Son banquet held May 26 at the Community Brethren Church, Whittier, Calif. George Momme was the speaker.

Charles Croker was host to the men's fellowship of the First church, Philadelphia, Pa., at an outdoor meeting June 6 at his home.

At Glendale, Calif., the Father-Son banquet was held May 8. The speaker was "Tiny" Roebuck.

Bro. Earl Diehl was the speaker at the May meeting of the laymen of the First church, Dayton, Ohio. A Father-Son picnic is scheduled for June 13 at Twin Valley Gun Club.

The men's fellowship of the East District met in May at the Cone-maugh Brethren church and heard Bro. Fred Bence, layman of Riverside, Johnstown, Pa.

Bob Hubbard, a Baptist pastor, spoke at the men's fellowship meeting April 28 at the Second church, Long Beach, Calif. The Weatherford Quartet sang.

Rev. Harry Sturz, pastor of the Bell, Calif., Brethren church, was guest speaker at the men's brotherhood meeting, held April 24.

On May 28 the men at the Third Los Angeles church heard Al Balzer, missionary on furlough.

Laymen of the Everett, Yellow Creek, Martinsburg, Leamersville, Vicksburg, Altoona Grace, and Altoona First churches met in April at the First church, Altoona, Pa. The speaker was Bob Walters, manager of radio station WVAM.

A potluck supper was served at the men's brotherhood meeting of the La Verne, Calif., church, held April 21. Rev. Lyle Marvin spoke.

Questions on Personal Evangelism

Question—The one I am dealing with says, "I don't understand, therefore I cannot accept Christ." How should I answer him?

Tell this inquirer, "Salvation does not depend upon your understanding, but upon your faith in Christ." Life is full of things we use daily but do not understand.

This person's trouble is not in his head, but in his heart. He understands plenty to save him.

(From "To Save a Soul From Death," by R. Paul Miller.)

Smitley Ordained to Ministry

Bro. Lester O. Smitley was ordained to the eldership within the Brethren Church in an impressive afternoon service at the Berne, Ind., church May 31.

Brother Smitley is one of the young men who has gone out from the Bethel Brethren Church of Berne to enter God's work on a full-time basis. For that reason he wanted the ordination service in his home church, and at his request Pastor Ord Gehman of the church preached the sermon. Others assisting in the service were Luther L. Grubb, secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council, James D. Hammer, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Fort Wayne; and Ralph J. Colburn, national youth director.

Rev. Lester Smitley

The first sermon preached by Brother Smitley after his ordination was in his home church, Berne, the evening of May 31.

Brother Smitley graduated from Grace Theological Seminary in the class of 1952. Since that time he and his wife have been supporting themselves by manual labor while organizing and establishing a Brethren testimony in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Long Beach, California (First)

It will be an important day in Brethren church school history when 20 boys and girls will be given their diplomas from Brethren High School Thursday, June 18, at 8 p.m. A large company of boys and girls will also be given eighth-grade diplomas the same day at 3 p.m.

Even though enrollments have not yet been opened officially, there are already 35 applications for one grade. Those who are interested in school next year should not delay enrollment.

It is expected that it will be possible to open 4 grades at Los Altos this fall. It seems like a huge undertaking, but with the beginning of a building at a reasonable time it is certainly well within the realm of possibility. The King's business requires haste.

Several elementary schools are interested in sending a number of high-school pupils our way this fall. One school sent a busload of young people to visit a day last week.

It is expected that the new shop building will be completed and ready to operate this fall. This means that definite courses will be offered in auto shop.—Dr. Charles W. Mayes, in Fifth and Cherry Light.

INTERESTED IN CALIFORNIA?

Since Brethren schools in California, in their expansion program, will be needing a number of teachers in the lower grades, we are taking this means of asking any young people interested in teaching in a definitely Christian elementary school to feel free to write us. The response should be as early as possible. Give education, qualifications, and spiritual viewpoint. Write to Dr. Charles W. Mayes, 1925 E. Fifth St., Long Beach 12, Calif.

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	June 7-14.....	Charles Mayes....	Alva J. McClain.
Ashland, Ohio....	June 19-21.....	Miles Taber.....	Joseph Dombek.
Osceola, Ind.....	June 28-July 5..	.....	Dudley Long.
Alto, Mich.....	July 3-5.....	Earl Funderburg.	Conard Sandy.
Los Angeles, Calif.
(First) .....	July 8-26.....	Glenn O'Neal.....	R. Paul Miller.
Kittanning, Pa.
(First) .....	July 12-19.....	Gordon Bracker..	Harold Kattman.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	July 12-14.....	Charles Mayes....	Herman Hoyt.
South Bend, Ind..	July 12-19.....	Russell Ogden....	Ding Teuling.

NOTICE FOR CUMBERLAND

In Cumberland, Md., a Grace Brethren Bible class was started May 27 with 6 people present. H. Leslie Moore, Meyersdale, Pa., was teacher of the class. During the summer James F. Hoffmeyer, Grace College student, will teach the class. Those interested or desiring to get information should contact Hoffmeyer at Bowling Green, R. R. 6, Cumberland, Md., or call Cumberland 2634-W.

LET'S DO IT TOGETHER

If each member of the Brethren Church would realize that the Brethren Missionary Herald Company belongs to the denomination and would therefore pray for and give to this company and would enroll at least one new subscriber, we would surpass our goal of 8,000 subscribers by July 31.

Additions to Membership

Conemaugh, Pa. ....	1
Dayton, Ohio (First) .....	1
Dayton, Ohio (North Riverdale) ..	2
Long Beach, Calif. (First) .....	4

Public Confessions

Hagerstown, Md. ....	4
Philadelphia, Pa. (First) .....	6
Radford, Va. ....	6

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Conemaugh, Pa. ....	2
---------------------	---

Dedication of Babies

Hagerstown, Md. ....	4
----------------------	---

LOVEST THOU

ME

W. M. C.
52-53
JOHN 21: 15-17

AN AFRICAN WOMAN'S DAY

By Miss Ruth Snyder, Missionary on Furlough

Some women are so important or so interesting to the public that leading periodicals give much publicity to every move these women make. Other women lead their lives without the fanfare of publicity. Still other women lead lives so remote from the public interest that they themselves do not so much as realize that their lives are different from those of the rest of the world. Among this last group are the women of central Africa.

If one were to publicize the life of an African woman, or if one were to write a novel using her for the heroine, little glamour would be seen. What would be seen would be the drabness and the hopeless monotony of her life.

Perhaps if one were to ask an African woman to give an account of her day it might read something like this:

- 2 a.m.—Hyena howled. Wakened family and stirred fire.
- 3 a.m.—The first rooster crowed.
- 4 a.m.—The baby coughed and cried.
- 5 a.m.—Went outdoors and started fire.
- 6 a.m.—Swept around the house.
- 7 a.m.—Went to garden. Could not work very fast because of nursing baby and watching little boy who is sick.
- 11 a.m.—Killed a scorpion near little sick boy.
- 3 p.m.—Left garden to hunt firewood.
- 4 p.m.—Went for water.
- 5 p.m.—Started pounding grain for food.
- 8 p.m.—Finally food ready so the men ate. When they finished eating, the children and I ate.
- 9 p.m.—Sat by the fire watching people play and dance. Joined them sometimes. Danced until rain drove us indoors.
- 11 p.m.—The baby coughed and cried.

Thus for weary day after weary day her life drags on. The only change for her is the seasonal change from rainy season with its garden work to dry season with its pottery-making and basket-weaving.

If sometimes this African woman should seem to be a dull, uninteresting creature, one would not marvel. Such a life as hers does not make gifted conversationalists or sparkling wits. Hopelessness and monotony seem to close the mouth.

During the time the African woman was dragging out her monotonous days and weary nights, something very wonderful happened. The God of heaven had not created her to be this dull person. He could not leave her to plod hopelessly on, so He sent His Son to bring salvation for her and all the lost human race. For centuries this woman did not hear what God had done, but now the light of the knowledge of Jesus Christ is dawning in Africa and reaching to the weary women in their isolated villages.

If the Gospel of Jesus Christ is effective, it will change the daily ways of those who accept it. These women of central Africa will not be changed into the polished women of Europe or America. They will remain African women. They will live in their villages as they did formerly. The hyena will disturb their slumber, the crowing rooster will remain their timepiece, the baby will cry, the children will get sick, scorpions will run on the path, wood must be chopped, and water drawn. None of this will be changed, but that a great change had been made, none could deny.

The woman whose heartbeat quickens in fear because of a lion on the path can now lift her heart to God, who is able to save her from the perils of the bush. The mother who weeps over her sick baby can ask God for His perfect will to be done in life or death. The dying one can rest on the arm of the Shepherd who will lead her safely through the valley. Thus the monotony of her hopelessness has been removed.

Her daily schedule has been changed as well as her hopes. At an early hour of the morning she finds her way to God's house. There in company with other Christians she commits her day unto the Lord. Sometime during the day she attends a reading class that she might learn to search out God's words in His Book. Evening finds her no longer watching idly as others play, nor does she join in their wild dancing. Now she is joining others in singing praises unto Him who loved her and gave Himself for her.

Alas for that poor woman who does not know the grace of our God. Many remain in heathen darkness with its monotony of hopelessness. It seems that nothing could be more fitting than that the women of the WMC should send a messenger to Africa to lead these lost women into the fold where there is room and rest for all who come. As you work and pray toward this goal, might your eyes be fixed on Jesus and may you seek to glorify Him.

DEVOTIONAL STUDIES FOR JULY

Bible Study—"The Produced Change That Love Makes."

Mission Study—"Messianic Scriptures Useful in Witnessing to Jews."

MAKING CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE WORK

By Althea S. Miller

Can one expect love to last between a husband and wife? When you started out on this marriage venture you expected that love to last, didn't you? What then makes married love, even among believers, lose its early delight? My heart is ever grieved at the dullness of eye, the matter-of-factness, or resigned expressions so evident on the faces of many married people. The loved one who once set the other's heart "a-skimming" has somehow lost that charm. WHY?

In facing this problem through the years several factors stand out like a sore thumb. It might be well for us to check on these in the light of our own marriage failures and work to overcome the mistakes. You cannot honor your Lord if your marriage is a life of frustrated unhappiness.

The first of these reasons for a lost or dulled love in marriage seems to devolve on the matter of challenge. Each new marriage faces a challenge. In many cases the challenge of the new relationship is fulfilled and the two are then ready for and capable of handling the daily challenges normal to the blending of 2 hearts. For the passage of years does not lessen the frequency or number of challenges. And where those early challenges are unmet, unconquered, defeat stalks the couple. Marriage is a state of changing conditions. Even love for each other changes—but the change is for the better; it is deeper and richer with the passage of time when God's love and will are supreme. Married folk must be willing to adjust to changing conditions and circumstances. It is unwillingness to adjust which makes for so much marital failure. No wonder then that God's Word enjoins believers to live "in honour preferring one another" (Rom. 12:10).

Another reason for that dulled heart is a lack of shared experiences. Whether there are children in the home or not, the husband and/or wife who sees only to his or her own tasks and responsibilities with no desire to help the partner builds selfishness. Selfishness sounds the death knell to the stoutest of loves. An attitude of "that is out of my sphere; that's his or her job; this is beneath me," alienates and estranges. The heart which once loved, but which allowed selfishness to usurp love's place, is indeed impoverished. True love gives itself away and in so doing is replenished and enriched for all eternity. How truly the Scriptures have said: "He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it" (Matt. 10:39).

There is no better way of cementing hearts in continuing love than the way of oneness of purpose and goal. Many husbands and wives share the common goal of the rearing of the children the very best they can do. Some just share the purpose of getting the family up and out from under the roof! When this hope and goal become a reality a vacuum is created into which boredom rushes with a vengeance unless the husband and wife have other plans and interests for their life together. With the children gone from the nest husband and wife are back where they started many years ago—just 2. Where a woman's entire married life has been within the confines of the home and where she may have failed to create for herself interests other than the family, she will be especially bored both with herself and her husband. As a result, both husband and wife will lose sparkle and zest. That desire for the intimacy of life and love together which once was so very satisfying will flee as winter's snow before the spring's warm sun. Let's have some stardust for each other in our eyes. We did once! Remember? The Apostle Paul said: "I press toward the mark [goal] for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" (Phil. 3:14). What a goal! We do well to ask ourselves if we are living up to our personal high calling in Christ Jesus.

Accept then the challenge of your marriage in all its changing conditions and circumstances; share the experiences and responsibilities in unselfish love; plan deliberately toward a goal with singleness of purpose both now and for whatever future God permits you to enjoy together, and your married love will last. If you love God the Father with all your hearts His delight will ever be to enable you to make your marriage and its love a monument to His grace and a witness to a sinful world.

The following is a quotation from a letter to Mrs. McCall from Dr. Alva J. McClain: "Writing to acknowledge with deep gratitude the check for $2,229 for Grace Seminary. [More has come in since I sent this in.—Mrs. McCall.] Please convey to the women of your organization the appreciation of the students and faculty for this very generous gift. We are losing no time in spending the money. As I am dictating this letter I can look out the window and see the concrete being poured for the sidewalks."

Africa—

Miss Estella Myers.....	August 9
Rev. Charles Sumey.....	August 13
Dr. Floyd W. Taber.....	August 16
Miss Ruth Kent.....	August 21
Rev. J. P. Kliever.....	August 21
Miss Elizabeth Tyson.....	August 25

Argentina—

Mrs. Lynn D. Schrock.....	August 17
Rev. Jack B. Churchill.....	August 20
Aldo Elwyn Hoyt.....	August 21, 1950
David Roger Dowdy.....	August 23, 1939

Brazil—

Joan Marie Miller.....	August 6, 1944
------------------------	----------------

France—

Mrs. P. Fredrick Fogle.....	August 7
Stephen Paul Mason.....	August 6, 1949
Gloria Elizabeth Mason.....	August 13, 1951

PRAY ONE FOR ANOTHER

By MARY EMMERT

The Lord told Peter, "I have prayed for thee." Shall we be able to say the same thing to our many missionaries, pastors, church officers, and converts when we all meet over in glory? Let us remember that we are engaged in an "all-out war" in which our prayers are needed every day to gain the victory over the enemy of our souls. Intercession is one form of service in which every Christian may partake. All that is required is faithfulness.

How are we coming with the covenant cards? Has each prayer band availed itself of these prayer warrior cards? Are they placed where they remind us daily to intercede for our church and our front-line workers? We trust that if your church has not yet procured any of these pledges you will write to our literature secretary at once for a sufficient number to supply the needs of your membership. The cards will cost you nothing, and will, we believe, be of real service in reminding you to be faithful in intercession.

Then what about the 15th? Have you found the real joy and blessing there is in joining forces with others of like mind on this special day of united prayer for the many aspects of our work? We should not begrudge several hours to this service for the Lord. Some churches have both a forenoon and an afternoon session on the 15th so that all may take part. Others divide their number into smaller groups.

Instead of a long list of requests read by the leader and not fully remembered by anyone, they could be cut in sections and distributed to all present. Then after the prayer session, each slip should be taken home by the one holding it and kept as a reminder for continued intercession. Think of the volume of prayer that would ascend for each petition if we all followed this simple plan!

Then, too, I am wondering about our prayer circle in the WMC meetings. Here the problem is a trifle different. Those of us who are greatly burdened to pray for the many urgent requests may be inclined to pray for all of them whenever an opportunity is given, without fully realizing the effect upon our WMC circle. May I suggest that part of our aim in the WMC prayer circle certainly should be to get everyone to take part, and that the customary few should not do all the praying? Let us by all means encourage the younger members to pray in our meetings.

There have been some inquiries on this very point. The burden of the plaint is this: "We want to get all to take part, but what shall we do then with such a large prayer circle which is bound to take up so much of our program time?"

Some councils have solved this problem by having all-day WMC meetings. Thus ample time is given for all to pray in the forenoon session. Then a sack lunch or cooperative dinner and a time of fellowship is enjoyed at noon, followed by the regular meeting in the afternoon. This certainly is ideal wherever local conditions permit it being carried out.

But for those councils who have only 2 hours at best for the entire meeting, some other plans are necessary. Here are a few suggestions we have gathered. Please send us others as you discover them, so that they too may be printed and used by all who will try them.

Very likely a number of you have tried cutting up the list of prayer requests into separate slips and handing one to each person who will accept it. The emphasis is on sentence prayers by as many as will take part. Suggestions were given at the national "workshop" sessions that these slips might be attached to a miniature Christmas tree for the December meeting, made in the form of a heart for the February meeting, and so on. Posters and displays representing our projects will aid. Some also exchange missionary prayer cards monthly, so that each one has a new missionary for whom to pray specifically that month.

But still the problem of the large prayer circle persists. I find several good ideas in the Herald, issue of November 22, 1952, in an article by Mrs. Evelyn Bell entitled, "More Interesting and Helpful Meetings." Look up that Herald and read.

Let the council be divided in 3 or more groups according to circumstances.

There is an effective way for intercession for the many petitions arising from our rapidly expanding work, which will not encroach upon your WMC programs but will meet your needs. "Let us study to show ourselves approved."

FURTHER SUGGESTED DISTRICT PROJECTS

CENTRAL DISTRICT—

1. Chairs for beginners and primary department.
2. Public-address system for the pulpit to nursery.
—Russell Ogden, pastor, South Bend, Ind.

1. 80-gallon approved electric water heater ($140—this is less 20-percent discount).
2. Flannelgraph lesson material. (Any choosing this should contact Brother Landrum first.)
3. 16-mm. movie projector (a good used one will do), $200.

Sewell S. Landrum, pastor, Clayhole, Ky.

EAST FELLOWSHIP—

1. Lawn mower (gasoline-powered), $125.
2. Material to build a boys club meeting room in basement and provide benches and equipment (first preference), $200.
3. Mimeograph (rebuilt A. B. Dick), $150.
Ralph C. Hall, pastor, Riverside, Johnstown, Pa.

SOUTHEAST DISTRICT—

1. 50 steel chairs, $200.
2. 75 songbooks, $100.
3. Sunday school classroom curtains, $50.
4. Outside bulletin board, $75.
W. Carl Miller, pastor, Wash. Heights, Roanoke, Va.

FLASH REPORT:

Newsnatches are coming in from all over the country. We thank you and ask you to be patient until your item appears. It will be printed just as soon as space permits.

Give to WMC General Expense Fund—June, July, August.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

The Junior WMC of the Kittanning, Pa., church would like to share with you some of our blessings. We enjoy reading of the activities of other councils so perhaps they'd like to read something of us. We have taken the Clarence Gutierrez family as our yearly project and have helped them in various ways. We purchased 100 water glasses to be used at communion services in our church. We join with the Senior WMC each month in planning our day of prayer. A different lady serves as chairman of the day of prayer for each month. We have a fine attendance at our meetings and have enrolled 2 members since November.

In His service,

Mrs. Jacob Tarr, secretary.

Dear Editor,

Greetings in the name of our blessed Lord from the Seven Fountains, Va., WMC. This has been a profitable year in Bible study and in prayer for our faithful missionaries. We have 18 faithful members who meet to carry on the work of WMC. We have helped with contributions to the Jewish work, foreign and home missions, Grace Seminary, and WMC general fund. The grand total of our offerings was $63.97.

Yours in Christ,

Isabel C. Ritenour, president.

Greetings from Grace Brethren Church of Waterloo, Iowa. We had a lovely installation and candle-lighting service in September. Covenant cards were signed and tracts were distributed to the membership for their use at any opportunity. In November we had charge of an evening church service with Mrs. Rose Foster as our guest speaker. The Senior SMM sends a member to each of our meetings to care for the little babies who are brought by their mothers. Four of the ladies are sponsors of the 2 SMM groups and are doing a good job of training the future missionary council.

We have aided in the district by contributing to the support of Marian Thurston, from the Garwin church, who is studying in France to be a missionary nurse. We are helping in the purchase of small mattresses to be used in the Navaho mission. We contribute regularly to the 4 major WMC offerings and to the Jewish mission work. It is a privilege to serve the Lord through WMC. We want to be a blessing.

Jesse King, secretary.

Dear President of WMC,

The Lord has done great things for us here at Uniontown and we'd like to share some of these with you. We are using the programs sent out by the national program committee and like them very much. We observe the 15th of each month as a day of prayer and this has been a great blessing to us. We have added 3 new members to our council in the past few months. In February we had a birthday banquet with 65 women and girls present. Each guest was seated according to the time of her birthday. We received a fine birthday offering which we gave to the SMM.

In His name,

Mrs. Harry Burnworth, president.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings from the Junior WMC of Martinsburg, Pa., First Brethren Church. We have much for which to be thankful. We are praising the Lord for an increase in attendance and membership. We have been enabled to complete many projects. We had a new bulletin board made for the church; we made baby dresses from feed sacks for Miss Florence Bickel to give to new babies when they leave the dispensary; we sent a large box of clothing to Clayhole; we had a surprise Christmas play and party for the Senior WMC; we are buying recording tapes for recording the church services which are played to the shut-ins of our church; we sewed buttons, tape, and numerous articles on Christmas cards which we sent to our missionaries; we alternate with the Senior WMC in sending birthday greetings to our missionaries. It is a joy to serve the Lord through WMC and we pray God will be pleased to use us for His honor.

In His service,

Mrs. Lois I. Metzker, secretary.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings to you in the name of our wonderful Lord and Saviour from the WMC at Hagerstown, Md.

It was a great pleasure to us here to entertain the Atlantic District rally last September. We are still rejoicing over the fine Christian fellowship and the challenging program of the rally.

The first project we had for this year was to send our own missionaries, the Rottlers, $10 worth of baby clothing for the new baby that arrived last September.

At the present time we are filling our missionary hope chest. It is a real pleasure to know we can use our time and our hands for the Lord in sewing clothing and linens for our missionaries to use on the field. Just recently we sent 2 large boxes of clothing to Clayhole, Ky.

On December 11 we held our Christmas party with the junior council as our guests. We had 38 present and we all had a wonderful and spiritual time in the Lord.

Another project we have is the sending out of gospel tracts. Our tract chairman sends a tract, "In Time of Sorrow," to the families of all the deaths listed in the daily paper; another tract, "Successful Mothering," is sent to the mother of each birth listed in the paper; to the sick our chairman sends the tract, "The Glory of Sickness"; people entering the hospital receive the tract, "So You Are Entering the Hospital." In each letter a card is placed which bears the name of the council and the church.

We have another project which we think is a very worthy one because of the souls that have been led to the Lord through it. This project is visiting the 2 convalescent homes in our vicinity. We have been going to these homes each week for the past few years. From 3 to 6 ladies constitute the group that attends these 2 homes each week. They read from the Word of God and have prayer with each patient. Also they sing for the patients their favorite hymns. At Christmas and at Easter we give a treat of candy, cookies, and fruit to the patients, with a program especially prepared for the occasion. Each one of us receives great joy from visiting these homes and witnessing, because there are many unsaved who can be led to a saving knowledge of our precious Lord and Saviour.

The back reading circle books which we had we gave to the BYF of our church for their library, which they started a month or so ago.

Each month on our birthdays and anniversaries we bring an offering for the new missionary fund.

Members from both our councils serve together in taking charge of the nursery of our church each Sunday morning and evening.

Our prayer is that each lady of our Brethren churches shall see the great need of becoming servants of the Lord, possibly through their own WMC groups, for there are many rewards for those who love and serve Him faithfully.

In His service,

Mrs. Roy H. Lowery, president.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings from the Summit Mills, Pa., WMC. We meet the second Wednesday of each month. The number on our roll is small but our attendance is good. In the last year and a half we have lost 2 charter members through death.

We sent clothes to our missions in Kentucky, New Mexico, and the Navaho Indians. We helped the Junior WMC to pack a Christmas box for the Spanish children. We are working to meet all the national WMC goals. We enjoy our studies in the Jewish work very much. We'd like to see those studies put up in permanent form.

Sincerely,

Mary E. Miller.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Just a note of greeting from the Senior WMC of Rittman, Ohio. We enjoy reading the letters from other councils. There are 24 members in our council. We faithfully observe the 15th of the month for a missionary prayer meeting. Together with the junior council we are supporting a Navaho school child.

We had our last October's meeting in the Cleveland Hebrew Mission with Floy Hoover and Florence Hagen. Miss Hagen gave a Bible study and Miss Hoover showed us pictures of some Jewish customs.

In His service,

Mrs. Mabel Brickel, secretary.

The Junior WMC of Washington, D. C., organized last fall, has been growing nicely and much interest is being shown. We gave a spring luncheon March 21 for the Sisterhood girls. We are collecting used books, suitable for Christian reading, to set up a church library. We have supplied our church kitchen with canister sets, dish towels, and other little needs. At present we are making layettes for the Indian babies.

In His service,

Mrs. Galen W. Richardson.

Dear Mrs. Miller,

Greetings to you in the name of our blessed Lord from the Senior WMC of Kittanning, Pa. We have a prayer meeting in the church the 15th of each month. We mend clothing; made baptismal robes; roll bandages; contribute a gift of money on our birthdays for the support of a missionary; do some cleaning in the church. We sponsored a tea for the SMM and send birthday greetings to the missionaries. We thank God for the privilege of serving Him through WMC.

In His service,

Mrs. Harry Bowser.

Dear WMC Sisters,

Greetings in the name of Christ from the Junior WMC of Mansfield, Ohio. We meet in the various homes the second Thursday of each month. The Sunday preceding, attractive invitations are passed out by the program committee. We had our consecration service in August, a fagot service in October, a social at Christmastime, pictures from Taos in January, a joint meeting with the Senior WMC in February. May is the month for the regular mother-daughter fellowship.

We have received a special blessing this year from our devotional studies. We appreciate the work of the national program committee in this respect. We have many projects and help to spread cheer and blessing in a wide range of ways. We help local folk, especially the young people away at school who are studying for the Lord's service; we participate in the national Jewish work; we enjoy helping at the various mission points. Our work night, the last Thursday of each month, is a real blessing in getting things done for the various mission centers, both at home and abroad.

There are 37 members in our WMC and we praise the Lord for the privilege of having a part in His work in this way.

In His service,

Mrs. Michael Mecurio.

OPEN LETTER

Dear ladies:

My recent stay in the hospital was made much more pleasant than I anticipated through the thoughtfulness of the ladies of the church who sent me a sunshine box.

The first day after surgery a huge gift-wrapped box appeared in my room. The next day my good husband opened it for me, revealing many smaller packages, all beautifully wrapped, each bearing a date and hour for opening. There were several for each day of my hospitalization.

A cooperating hospital staff helped to see that they were opened on schedule, for they were as eager as I to see the contents. It included everything from luxury bedwear and cosmetics to stationery and kitchen linens, and even a check to cover the cost of a phone call to my parents in Ohio, which was the best medicine available!

Best of all, each gift contained a personal note from the sender and a message from the Word of God which was a real blessing to my heart.

The hospital staff agreed that it was much better and more lasting "hospital cheer" than a room full of flowers.

My doctor and nurses were all Christians and many of them remarked that we must have a wonderful group of folks in our church, and this pastor's wife hastened to heartily agree!—Mrs. Harold Painter, Modesto, Calif.

Give to WMC General Expense Fund—June, July, August.

"Ambassadors for Christ"

Sisterhood of MARY and MARTHA

II COR 5:20

MARY REED, A LEPER FOR THE LORD

By MARY EMMERT

When Mary Reed was at home in Ohio on her first furlough in 1890, after 6 years of service in India, she noticed a peculiar sore one day on the tip of her right forefinger. One doctor after another examined her, finally agreeing with her own conviction that she had leprosy.

From her experience in India she knew that this dread disease generally begins with queer whitish spots, without any feeling in them. Then there are unhealing sores, accompanied by deep-seated pains and sleeplessness. It often causes a fierce leonine look and a hoarse voice. In final stages the bones are eaten away, causing fingers and toes to drop off at the joints, leaving only stubs.

She felt that God had permitted this disease to come upon her for a purpose; it was the Lord's will for her to give her life to teach and care for the lepers of India. So she left home before her furlough time was up, without kissing her folks good-bye or giving them any explanation. By the time she had reached London another spot had appeared on her cheek. When she arrived in India, and the doctor there was sure she had leprosy, she wrote to her family about it. She felt she would never see them again in this life.

She went to live in the leper colony at Chandag Heights, and was able to build up an attractive sanitary village instead of the small group of poor huts which she had found there. The number of patients increased rapidly when they found there was room enough for them, and someone to love and care for them.

Mary was very busy indeed, supervising the building work, working at the hospital, teaching the lepers to read, and leading them to know the Lord. She economized as much as she could in order to enlarge the colony and be able to accommodate more lepers.

Although she suffered much pain, yet she took none of the medicine she gave to others, for she believed that God had afflicted her and that He would keep her. She worked all the harder to keep her mind off her suffering.

In a few years her pain gradually grew less, and at the end of 6 years she was completely cured, although there was no known remedy for the disease at that time. It was a real miracle. She waited 7 more years to make sure, however, before taking another furlough.

Although completely healed, she devoted the rest of her life to the leper work, living 53 years among them. She died at the age of 89.

The Chandag colony at the time of her death in 1943 occupied 100 acres of land, with separate homes for men and women, a hospital, different treatment centers, and a church.

The lepers in India were outcasts with no one to care for them. People would drive them away from their cities, and refuse to have anything to do with them, unless it was to try to persuade them to let themselves be burned to death. Although this leper camp had been organized previously, yet there was no one to care for their souls. God had His own way of sending them a messenger with the words of salvation.

How happy we are that several remedies have been found of late years that seem to be a cure for leprosy, and that we have a definite work among lepers on our own African field.

SUGGESTED PROGRAM FOR JULY

SINGSPIRATION.

INTERCESSION—Have circle prayer using "Prayer Suggestions."

SCRIPTURE—Psalms 119:161-176.

TRAINING FOR AMBASSADORS—

Seniors—"Psychiana."

Middlers, Juniors—"Jean's Jealousy."

SPECIAL MUSIC.

REPORT ON AMBASSADORS—

Seniors, Middlers, Juniors—"Mary Reed, a Leper for the Lord."

BENEDICTION.

BUSINESS MEETING.

PRAYER SUGGESTIONS

1. Pray for your SMM officers as they complete all the work of this SMM year.
2. Pray for the planning of the new year's program for SMM.
3. Pray for the needs of the missionaries, that the Lord will provide all, and that He will bless them with souls for their labor.

OFFICIARY FOR 1952-53

President—Patty Griffith, R. R. 1, Conemaugh, Pa.

Vice President—Cora Luna, Box 711, Taos, N. Mex.

General Secretary—Helen Small, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.

Treasurer—Mary Hooks, Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.

Literature Secretary—Myra Joy Conner, 4131 Vermont Ave. NW., Roanoke, Va.

Bandage Secretary—Evelyn Vnasdale, 555 Kinnaird Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Patroness—Mrs. Arnold Kriegbaum, 1570 42d St. NE., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Assistant Patroness—Mrs. John Armstrong, R. R. 2, Wooster, Ohio.

As Tom and Mary were going home from school, Jean came along and made some remarks that made them look with wonder. She was surely jealous of the friendship of these 2. She was also jealous of Mary's good marks in school. She didn't see why Mary got asked to sing in the choir of their church and she, Jean, was turned down when she asked to sing a solo. Jean's whole life was most unhappy.

"I guess we got told off," said Tom. "I've been noticing her lately. The whole world seems to be against her, so she thinks. She wanted me to get Barry to take her to the school game last week, but I wouldn't wish her on my best friend."

"Now, Tom," said Mary. "I used to let her personality worry me, too. But recently I've come to realize that she must need the Lord. Surely one of His children wouldn't be so jealous of everybody and everything. She shows characteristics of being one of the Devil's children. She shows traits that we all inherited from Adam and Eve. Too bad she hasn't listened carefully enough to the good sermons we've had in church recently. They would certainly make her sit up and analyze her behavior."

"You're right, Mary. I surely learned a lot about myself from those sermons. I was quite interested in how some people just try to excuse their bad actions by saying that what happened to Adam and Eve was just myth. Dr. Jones made it clear that Adam and Eve were free moral agents with a will to say NO and to say YES as they saw fit. And didn't he make it clear that man is now 'dead' because of Adam's sin?"

"Yes, Tom. I suppose we who have the light should constantly keep before our friends the fact that all men are sinners before God. None is righteous, no, not one. A person who lives on this earth, whether today, tomorrow, or yesterday, is in one of two classes, either a sinner still lost, or a sinner saved by the grace of God through accepting the shed blood of Jesus as an offering for his own personal sin. If folk would only read Romans 3:9-10 and Isaiah 53:6! Romans 5:12 tells us: 'Wherefore, as by one man [Adam] sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned,' and verse 16 says, 'for the judgment was by one to condemnation,' and verse 19 brings out the truth that 'by one man's disobedience many were made sinners.' Oh, if people would only search the Scriptures they would know the meaning of their own natures that give them so much trouble."

Tom had a little book in his pocket which his Sunday school teacher had given him. In looking into it he found the chapter which told of the entire nature of man, mentally, morally, spiritually, physically, and how it was sadly affected by sin—because of Adam's willful choice when the Devil met him in the Garden of Eden. He and Mary took turns reading some of the Scriptures. They found out that the understanding is darkened (Eph. 4:18; I Cor. 2:14); the heart is deceitful and wicked (Jer. 17:9-10); the mind and conscience are defiled (Gen. 6:5; Tit. 1:15); the flesh and spirit are defiled (II Cor. 7:1); the will is enfeebled (Rom. 7:18); and we are utterly destitute of any godlike qualities which meet the requirements of God's holiness (Rom. 7:18).

"Oh, Tom," said Mary. "Just to think what human beings are like away from the Lord. Now, don't you feel sorry for Jean? She just can't be any different until she accepts Jesus as her Saviour and He makes her a new creation. We really should have a talk with her and show her these things we know, before we get so cross with her. Perhaps if she knew that she was a child of Satan and doing his bidding, she would welcome a chance to find out more about Jesus and become one of His followers. I'm sure if we did not have the Holy Spirit within us we would be just as mean and jealous as she—maybe even worse."

"That's right, Mary. We should not criticize her, but should pray for her. Let's try to take her with us some night when we go skating. Maybe we'll get a chance to talk to her about her condition. I believe the Lord would be pleased with us, and I'm sure He'd be so happy if she saw the light and did something about it."

So together they set out to make plans to help Jean overcome her undesirable traits and to find the Lord.

SOMETHING TO DO

1. List all undesirable traits in your own character before you found the Lord and since you came to know Him.
2. List Scripture verses which will help you to overcome the undesirable ones which you still have.
3. List for prayer, your friends you would like to see change into better people, and see what you can do to help them know the Saviour.

OFFICIAL REPORT

JULY 31: This is the deadline for your general fund offering and also your project offering. Let's get these in on time. This is important so that the treasurer can get her report ready for national conference.

BANDAGES: All bandages must be sent to the bandage secretary by July 31.

PERSONAL GOAL: The deadline for learning the names and fields of our missionaries has been set at August 5. Please send in to general secretary all the names of the girls that have completed this project, and be sure to specify which award they want. For learning all the names, you can get either a white SMM bandanna or an SMM pin. For learning all the home missionaries and 50 foreign missionaries you can get either an SMM emblem or an SMM bookmark. Send these names to the general secretary.

AUGUST 10: Your statistical blanks are due by this date. Be sure to get these in on time also so that we can have your material ready for you at conference time. Each SMM must send one to each the general secretary, the national president, and the district president. Do not fail to do this.

NATIONAL SMM BOARD MEETING: Our national SMM board will meet at 9 a.m. Saturday, August 22. Other meetings of this board will continue through Monday morning. Those who are included on this board are all the national officers, the new district presidents, and the new district patronesses. There will be more notice about this meeting later, but try to make your plans to be there.

STATISTICAL BLANK FOR SISTERHOOD OF MARY AND MARTHA

Date .....

Name of congregation .....

Address .....

SMM group: Junior.... Middler.... Senior.... Combined....

How many girls are in your SMM? .... Number gained .... Lost ....

What is the age range of your SMM? .... to ....

Is your Sisterhood an "Honor SMM"? ....

What organization goals did you fail to meet? .....

Did your Sisterhood roll bandages? .....

Has your Sisterhood been an "Honor SMM" for the last 5 years? ....

What projects did your SMM have part in? .....

What other benevolent work did your SMM do this year? .....

Did your SMM give an offering to the National General Fund? .....

Did your SMM give to the National Project? .....

Did your SMM give to the Birthday Project? .....

New officers for 1953-1954:

Patroness ..... Address .....

President ..... Address .....

Secretary ..... Address .....

Treasurer ..... Address .....

Names of girls in your SMM eligible for the diamond award:

.....
.....
.....

Names of girls in your SMM eligible for the emerald award:

.....
.....
.....

What are your suggestions for the coming year? (Use other paper.)

Please answer all questions as completely as possible and send before July 31 to Helen Small, Winona Lake, Ind. Also send a copy of your completed statistical blank to the national president, Miss Patty Griffith, R. R. 1, Conemaugh, Pa., and to your district secretary.

The following are the district secretaries:

Atlantic—Phyllis Mason, 105 Anderson Ave., Winchester, Va.

East—Janet Weber, 807 Wilhelm Dr., Harrisburg, Pa.

Iowa—Normajean Cochran, 1211 W. 3d St., Waterloo, Iowa.

Central—Kay Young, 208 South Wall St., Covington, Ohio.

California—Patty Benner, 1557 E. 33d, Long Beach, Calif.

Southeast—Suzanne Barnard, R. R. 4, Box 119, Roanoke, Va.

Northern Ohio—Ruth Moine, R. R. 1, Sterling, Ohio.

Midwest—Ocariz Duran, Box 283, R. R. 4, Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Northwest—Delores MacMahon, 1001 South 23d Ave., Yakima, Wash.

PSYCHIANA By DR. HOMER A. KENT

The "Psychiana" religion, with its headquarters in Moscow, Idaho, is another of that brood of cults which emphasizes the power of man's mind, if properly directed, to apprehend all that is necessary for successful, victorious, vibrant living. It sees no need for the great fundamental doctrines of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation. It claims that man himself without the substitutionary ministry of the cross can appropriate the "power of God." It has kinship in many respects with such cults as Christian Science, Unity, New Thought, and Pantheistic Mysticism.

I. Who was its FOUNDER? Frank Bruce Robinson is his name. He is called the Archbishop of Psychiana. He was reared in the Baptist Church, but in due time renounced his baptistic views. He became a licensed pharmacist in Canada and beat the drum in the Salvation Army. He studied in McMaster University, in Hamilton, Ontario, and later received a doctorate in psychology from the College of Divine Metaphysics, in Indianapolis. The latter study doubtless greatly influenced his future teaching. But all this background proved unsatisfactory to him and he said: "For 40 years I was perhaps the world's No. 1 failure. Then one day I talked with God. There came into my life a spiritual power so dynamic that all other powers and forces faded into insignificance beside it. You may have this power if you want it. It can do for you perhaps more than it did for me" (Free Booklet No. 2).

II. How did it ORIGINATE? The movement began with the "new" ideas that Frank Robinson foisted upon a gullible public. He claims to have received a new revelation which he is seeking to give to men and women all over the world in a series of lessons which cost a definite amount per lesson. He says concerning his new religion: "'PSYCHIANA' is a new revelation of God to the world. It is utterly different from any other revelation brought to the earth to date. The power which we teach students to find and use is not human power, but the power of the Spirit of God itself. It is the most dynamic spiritual power this world has ever had brought to it" (appearing in bold type in the aforementioned booklet). The writer of this article was sent an application blank which no doubt is sent to all whom Robinson seeks to enroll in the cult. It calls upon the applicant to sign the following statement: "I agree to faithfully follow your instructions for INVOKING the POWER of the LIVING GOD to aid me in the attainment of whatsoever worthy purpose I may desire." A promise is included in the application to refund any money given for lessons if the applicant is not satisfied. Captions of the following character appear again and again in all its literature: "POWER — surging, throbbing POWER — that is the message of PSYCHIANA" to you. And note how free they are in the use of capital letters!

III. What is its METHOD OF PROPAGATION? This consists mainly in the correspondence course of 20 lessons for beginners, with some advanced lessons also offered to those who wish to pursue the matter further. The following claim attends each one of the lessons: "The POWER of the SPIRIT of GOD will reveal itself to everyone who studies these lessons carefully." It endeavors by mail to get its devotees to tap the GOD-POWER which is available to all. It claims to be sending its propaganda into millions of homes in many nations each year. In order to get the movement well on its way it put ads in such magazines as the Pathfinder, Physical Culture, and Psychology Magazine, which proved very successful. The ads contained the blazing headlines: "I TALKED WITH GOD—YES, I DID—ACTUALLY AND LITERALLY." Inquiries and applications began to pour in to the Moscow headquarters.

IV. What is its DOCTRINAL POSITION? Psychiana has little place for doctrine in the orthodox Christian sense. The only fact with which the system seems to be concerned is expressed in the words taken from one of the lessons: "I believe in the POWER of the LIVING GOD." One is to become so mentally infatuated with this idea that God becomes a part of him and he can go forth to conquer all opposition.

Robinson thinks orthodox Christianity with its emphasis on man's unregenerate nature, the deity of Christ, His substitutionary atonement, etc., is a sham. He says, "No churches are necessary for a concept of God. No theology is necessary, no rite, no creed, no article of faith. God knows nothing about these things. What God knows all about is life—human life. For where there is human life there is God right in the middle of that life. Jesus was no more than that—a human life acting out the GOD-POWER" (quoted from Bach's, "They Have Found a Faith," p. 276).

V. What is its CONCEPTION OF CHRIST? The last sentence in the previous paragraph shows Robinson's denial of the deity of Christ. In Him was the divine spark as it is in all human beings, only to a greater degree. Robinson says some very nice things about Jesus, but denies those things which are vital. He says of Him: "I think he is the greatest of all spiritual pioneers. I cannot and do not accept the Immaculate Conception, the Virgin Birth or the Vicarious Atonement. I doubt whether Jesus would have accepted them himself." He said further: "His message was so potent that had not the churches cast it aside and worshiped the Messenger instead, the world would now know God. People are sick of the tradition of Jesus. They are sick of church theology. They want God. They want a spiritual power they can use now" (ibid., pp. 276-277). Thus Psychiana denies the Person and work of Christ.

VI. How may this system be REFUTED? Psychiana is one of the "damnable heresies" that God has plainly taught us would characterize the end of the age (II Pet. 2:1-3). It may be refuted by showing how it is at variance with the Word of God at all essential points and how God has spoken against such movements with the use of such terms as "damnable heresies." In short, folks who have been ensnared by this "ism" are sinners who need the saving Gospel. Give it to them.

NOTICE

The address of our national president is changed to R. R. 1, Conemaugh, Pa.

The Brethren Missionary Herald

GROUND-BREAKING SERVICE AT PHOENIX, ARIZONA

The ground-breaking service for the First Brethren Church, Phoenix, Ariz., was held on April 26, 1953, at 3 p. m. The top picture on the left shows Trustee Nicholas Zoah with the shovel and on the right is the Brethren United Evangelistic Crusade tent where services were being held each night. The center picture shows Rev. J. C. McKillen, the pastor, and Mrs. McKillen taking her turn with the shovel. Bottom left: Pastor McKillen turns the first shovel of earth as the Phoenix Brethren watch. Bottom right: Rev. R. Paul Miller, extreme left, the evangelist for the tent meetings, with his party assisted in the service.

GROUND-BREAKING Services

PHOENIX,
Arizona

Editorials

By L. L. Grubb

Alarming Increase in Crime

It has become the customary thing for the over-all American crime rate to increase each year. This past year of 1952 was no exception. Crime increased 8.2 percent, with increases registered in every category. This is a much higher percentage of increase than that of the past few years. It certainly indicates an alarming trend.

The American public and especially the true church of Jesus Christ are currently underestimating the danger of this situation. The "red signal" goes largely unheeded by those who are in a position to do most about it.

For years public servants such as J. Edgar Hoover, FBI head, and many others have sounded the note of warning to America. Something must be done about the consistent annual increase in the crime rate. These men have challenged the church to increase the scope of its ministry and touch the millions of youth growing up without any spiritual help whatever.

Certainly some have accepted this challenge, but most in a very limited manner. Others have branded these appeals as alarmist cries and have brushed them off with a shrug. The feeling seems to be that because this is America we enjoy some special immunity from disaster. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

The fact remains that two million major crimes, with an increase of 10.2 percent in crimes of violence, should stir the hearts of God's children to personal and collective evangelism as never before. More arrests in the age groups under 15 years of age than in any other age bracket should once for all show us the need of claiming youth for Christ. They become criminals at a very early age these days. The future of America is bound up with the destiny of its youth.

An increase in the scope of the Brethren home mission program would help to meet this great need. It is important that Brethren people realize that giving to Brethren home missions is giving to the security and well-being of future America.

Plans for Temple of Good Will

As the Roman Catholic Church has its headquarters in Rome we now face the possibility of having the headquarters of Protestantism in the city of Columbus, Ohio, should future plans be completed.

The Ohio Council of Churches, affiliate of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America, has purchased a 2-square-block site in connection with the Columbus Civic Center which is to become the location of the new Temple of Good Will.

The temple will provide space for all Protestant denominational and interdenominational headquarters in the nation. Of course you must agree in advance of construction to occupy these offices. The proposed temple will include an auditorium for church conferences and conventions to seat 3,000 to 5,000 people, and will also have a large banquet room. There will be a religious library containing all sorts of religious and social welfare literature. The estimated cost of such a structure would be about 15 million dollars.

Dr. B. F. Lamb, president of the Ohio Council of Churches, observed that this is "the most needed thing in Christendom." He has been gratified at the response to the new project. Several church groups have already signified their intention to house church offices in the new building. These include the General Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, the 1948 General Conference of the Methodist Church, the Ohio Synod of the Presbyterian Church, the Ohio Church of the Brethren, etc.

It is clear that this is a project of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America. It therefore follows that only those who propagate the council program will be welcome in such a setup. This means that it will be not a Temple of Good Will but a Temple of Modernism. Thus it certainly may be called a Temple of Bad Will instead, for there is nothing good about Modernism. It has been the concoction of Satan ever since the Pharisees uttered its precepts in the time of Christ. Modernism is not good news. It is bad news! The new temple will simply add to the efficiency of the modernistic program in this nation. Therefore we cannot see how the cause of Christ will be aided one iota by this new project. On the other hand we can see signs of grave danger.

Those of us who are orthodox cannot imagine having church offices with others under the same roof who do not believe in the deity or bodily resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ, and who refuse the doctrine of His premillennial return for His church. Imagine working across the hall from a man who refuses to accept the efficacy of the shed blood of Christ for the remission of sins! Our plans, programs, thinking, Christian activities would all be diametrically opposed to the modernistic program.

In our estimation, this is another step in the consolidating of the forces of apostasy in these last days according to the Word of God. Such a step will make the rise and work of the Antichrist much easier when he appears on the scene and finally heads up the ecclesiastical as well as the political and social life of the world.

Thus the attitude of various denominations toward this new project will pretty well brand them as to their stand on the Word of God. We may expect that the line of demarcation will become even sharper and clearer in these latter days. Fundamentalists must "come out" and stay out if they are to be a testimony for the Lord. Having any part in the schemes of the apostates is to cut off the blessing of God and to deteriorate to the level of humanism and socialism.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fettes, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

Meeting in Buena Vista, Va.

During a 2-week evangelistic effort in Buena Vista we certainly saw the blessing of our Lord manifested in many different ways.

Splendid preparation had been made for this meeting through the work of the pastor, Bro. Galen Lingenfelter, and the combined prayers of the saints. As a result we saw many victories won for Christ. The blessings to the soul of the evangelist were not the least of God's blessings and the challenge of the meeting still remains.

Here in Buena Vista is a fine growing church. Just 1 week previous to the meetings a new Sunday school addition had been dedicated and put into use. The addition is worth at least $60,000 and provides space for a much larger Sunday school, but is already being rapidly filled. Indeed, the Buena Vista church stands out as a lighthouse for Christ in this area where there are so few fundamental testimonies.

Ready to Build in Washington Heights

After a consultation with our building committee in the Washington Heights section of Roanoke, Va., we are ready to tell the Brethren that it will not be long until we have a spade in the ground preparing for the first unit of a new church building.

Under the leadership of Bro. Carl Miller, this group has been meeting in a rented home with very limited facilities and many inconveniences. However, the Lord has been blessing the work and as soon as adequate church housing is provided there will be others who will join the group.

We need investment funds for this project from Brethren who want to earn both earthly and eternal dividends on their money.

Visit to Limestone, Tenn.

During a visit into the Tennessee area in connection with home mission work we were privileged to renew our fellowship with the Brethren in Limestone in a Lord's Day morning service.

Real strides forward are being made there under the leadership of the pastor, Bro. Randall Rossman. Brother Rossman is now recuperating from a serious illness and needs the prayers of the Lord's people. A fine new section has been completed on the east side of the old building which provides additional classroom space.

Anniversary at Johnson City, Tenn.

Recently we celebrated the 4th anniversary of the home mission church at Johnson City. A special Sunday afternoon service was held, with a fellowship dinner for the Brethren of the area just preceding the meeting.

Bro. John Burns, the pastor, reports progress in the work. The attendance has been steadily growing.

Great Conference in Winchester, Va.

District conferences increasingly become times of spiritual blessing for the delegates and friends. They are not only times to transact business, but times of spiritual refreshing at the throne of grace.

Pictures taken at the Atlantic District Conference show at top the pastors of the district; next, the First Brethren Church, Winchester, Va., scene of the conference; and at bottom, the delegates in attendance at the conference.

This was abundantly true of the Atlantic Fellowship Conference. We were privileged to spend only 1 day here but it was a day of real blessing. From the standpoint of home mission activity this district is outstanding. Five strong home mission churches contribute their share of spiritual activity and others are on the horizon for development in the near future.

The theme of this conference was "Christ as Lord." This theme was followed out in the Bible messages which were delivered by the pastors of the district.

Our home mission rally was well attended and testimonies from the home mission workers were a thrill and challenge to all present.

Lots Purchased in Wheaton, Ill.

Recently negotiations were completed in the purchase of lots in the strategic city of Wheaton, Ill. We believe the Lord has given us one of the finest church locations in this community.

In spite of the fact that we have had no adequate place to meet, the Lord has been blessing this church through the prayers and faithful service of the people.

We are hoping to complete plans for a new building at an early date and get the construction under way soon. Pray for the Wheaton church.

Fellowship at Mansfield, Ohio

During the absence of the pastor, Bro. Bernard Schneider, we had the opportunity of fellowship in the Word with the Brethren in Mansfield. Here is a former home mission church which is giving an extremely effective testimony in its community.

New property has been purchased next to the present church which will serve as a parsonage and later become expansion space for the work as it grows.

Report on the Colored Work

God is richly blessing in the new colored work at Fremont, Ohio. Under the sponsorship of the former home mission church and the leadership of Bro. Lester Pifer, the pastor, the new colored work has enjoyed some fine expansion. Bro. Granville Tucker is pastoring this new church and sees bright prospects for the future.

Recently it was possible to purchase a movable building from the Fremont school board which will be placed on a good location and will then serve as our colored Brethren church. Pray earnestly for this work.

LA CRESCENTA, CALIF. (Robert Dell, pastor)—

We have a youth night on Friday of each week and it is well-attended, with as many as 25 junior and senior high students. The program for our youth night includes games, singspiration, Bible study, and refreshments. There is an open door for a young people's work in this area, as there is very little provided for them in the way of wholesome fellowship. Through these meetings additions have already been made to our Sunday school. Our peak in Sunday school attendance was 57, and this was the Sunday following Easter. We have enjoyed some real blessings in having Dr. Russell Barnard with us and showing us the films on Brazil, Europe, Africa, and Baja California. Brother and Sister Albert Balzer were also with us and showed a film on their work in Africa.

JOHNSON CITY, TENN. (John J. Burns, pastor)—

The Johnson City Brethren Church celebrated its 4th anniversary on April 26, 1953. During the 4 short years of our existence as a church God has looked with favor upon our efforts. He blessed us spiritually, allowing us to witness 141 decisions for Christ, of which 53 were first-time. He blessed numerically; from a charter membership of 24 in 1949 we have grown to our present membership of 47. He has blessed us financially; every financial obligation of the church has been met promptly. On the anniversary day L. L. Grubb, secretary of the Brethren Home Missions Council, brought the afternoon message and in the evening, "The Forgotten Navaho" film was shown to a capacity crowd.

Johnson City, Tenn., folks observe 4th anniversary.

ARTESIA, CALIF. (Adam Rager, pastor)—

The Lord is continuing His goodness toward us. Last Sunday we baptized 3 adults and 1 girl and received them into our membership. There were 176 in Sunday school last week and 91 in the church service. Twelve boys and girls accepted Christ as their Saviour in the child evangelism class last Monday. We praise the Lord for honoring His blessed Word.

CLAYHOLE RECEIVES CHRISTIAN LIFE CONTEST AWARDS

These are pictures of the awards won in the Christian Life Sunday School Attendance Contest by the Clayhole Brethren Church. The awards consisted of a flannelgraph outfit, combination blackboard and bulletin board, and 100 new church hymnals. The 2 pictures above show the pastor, Sewell Landrum, presenting the awards to the Sunday school superintendent, Charles Combs. The other 2 pictures show the new songbooks being put to use.

WHEATON, ILL. (Clark C. Myers, reporter)—

The Lord is blessing in the work at Wheaton, Ill. We have been meeting in homes since the model home was no longer available for a meeting place. Just recently we were able to obtain the use of the YMCA, but even this is not a very satisfactory meeting place. Now that we have the lots, a church is needed to continue the work where it first was started. Our new lots are located in the midst of a housing project containing several hundred new homes without a church in the area. Already people of that area are saying, "We are going to have a church in our part of the city," and we covet your prayers that we may establish a testimony for our Lord as quickly as possible to reach this community. The Brethren students at Wheaton College have been helping us in the teaching and preaching, for which we are grateful. Today there is a real interest for establishing a Brethren church in Wheaton and we are constantly being reminded of our 1952 conference theme that "Tomorrow May Be Too Late." Pray!

CLAYHOLE, KY. (Sewell S. Landrum, missionary)—

The past 2 weeks we have been enjoying a union revival campaign in Hazard, Ky. At the first service the Clayhole group made up 150 of the total attendance. A prize of a new bicycle was offered for the boy or girl under 16 bringing the largest number to the Saturday morning service, providing the number was over 50. Lois Kay said: "Daddy, I want to win that bicycle and give it to someone who can't afford to buy one." We started making calls and on Saturday we got the 2 buses, a jeep, a car, and a truck load, for a total of 185. Needless to say, Clayhole won, with 97 to spare. Lois Kay was called to the platform to receive the bicycle and when she announced that she was giving it to the children's home, she was given a Sheaffer pen-and-pencil set in appreciation for her generosity. Five from Clayhole made their decision for Christ.

ISRAEL CALLS!

I FOUND JESUS, MY MESSIAH!

By Mordecai Israel

The following article was written by a Hebrew Christian who has been attending the Bible study group each Wednesday evening at the Brethren Messianic Witness Mission, 469 North Kings Rd., Los Angeles 48, Calif. Mr. Israel has been a great blessing to us here at the mission. Being a well-informed Bible student, he has been able to lend the weight of his 50 years of messianic belief in witnessing to the unsaved but interested Jewish folk that attend this group from time to time. Pray that God will continue to use him in telling forth that Jesus is the Messiah of Israel and the Saviour of the world.—Bruce L. Button.

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Rom. 1:16).

I am so glad for the opportunity given to me through these columns to testify that Jesus, the Crucified, is my personal Saviour and Light of my life. I was born in a strict orthodox rabbinical Hebrew home in the city of Krakow, Poland. As a young person I would spit on the walk when I would pass a church, and when spitting did not seem to express my contempt, I would also curse. When I think of these former actions I am reminded of the Apostle Paul and his persecution of the church. Until the

Mordecai Israel

Lord Jesus revealed Himself as Saviour and the Light of the world, Paul would never have believed that he, Paul, would suffer persecution for preaching Jesus as the Jewish Messiah and that he would no longer persecute Him. I, likewise, did not believe that I would even mention the name of Jesus in any good way.

When I was about 17 years of age I left my home town to go to London, England. Arriving in London I began walking the streets searching for a job, and since I did not know the English language I soon realized I was a stranger in a strange land, without friends, utterly forsaken, alone in the wide world. One Sunday afternoon while I was walking in the Jewish section on a street called Whitechapel Road, I saw a church in the distance. As I drew nearer the church I saw at the rear of the church a large yard which was surrounded by an iron fence. At one end of the yard stood a pulpit. Before the pulpit stood a large group of Jewish people holding Jewish tracts in their hands and, wonder of wonders, the pulpit was occupied by a white-robed preacher who was delivering his sermon in Yiddish! I was amazed to hear a Christian minister speak in Yiddish and my surprise was all the greater when I noted that the preacher was definitely Jewish. Never before had I listened to anyone speak about the Christ I hated so much, but that a Jew should speak about him, and in Yiddish—well, I was compelled to listen. Praise the Lord, the Holy Spirit had directed my steps to this church and was even then working in my heart and opening my eyes, for I was brought in contact with a preacher who made the way of salvation so plain that I was forced to say to myself, "It is true! Everything this preacher is saying is true."

After the message the people sang 2 hymns. The names of the hymns? One was "Rescue the Perishing," the other, "Tell Me the Old, Old Story." It is impossible to tell the tremendous impression these hymns made upon me. The preaching of that Jewish pastor and the wonderful hymns were used by the Holy Spirit to touch my poor, sinful heart and I decided to see the preacher after the service and ask him to tell me more about Yeshua, the Meshiach. When I contacted him, he recommended that I go to the Barbican Mission to the Jews. He told me they would be more than glad to advise me what to do. Pastor Neugewirtz (for such was this preacher's name) was from my home city in Poland.

When I arrived at the Barbican Mission I introduced myself to the director of the mission. His name was Pastor Lipshitz. He invited me to come to his home, which was in a suburb of London. There, he told me, I would have ample opportunity to study the Bible and determine for myself whether or not Jesus was the Jewish Messiah. When I arrived in that Jewish mission I found more Jews who also came to study the Bible. In all there were about 15 of them and daily they searched the Scripture in order that they might know whether or not Jesus was the true Messiah. Some of these students confessed the Lord openly. As for myself, I took 4 Bibles (Yiddish, Hebrew, German, and English) out in the garden, under a tree where everything was quiet. Here I was able to concentrate upon my study. Then with a ruler and a red pencil and a blue pencil I underlined all the prophecies in the Old Testament and also the fulfillment of these prophecies as found in the New Testament. While honestly searching the Word of God, God in His mercy opened my blind eyes that I might see, and softened my heart that I might believe that Jesus is the true Jewish Messiah, the Bright and Morning Star, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world. It was then that I accepted the Lord Jesus as my personal Saviour.

It was not until December 19, 1903, that I publicly confessed the Lord Jesus, the Crucified, as my personal Saviour. Webb Peplow was the pastor of the church where I made by public confession. Before I received the Lord as my Saviour my path was so dark and I was without hope in the world. I was like a lost sheep without a shepherd. Worldly pleasures did not satisfy my poor heart. I had tried with my own power to overcome my bad habits, but without success. I suffered terribly. If I had had a million dollars I would have gladly given it to someone who could guarantee me freedom from all my habits. But wealth can never free from the really heavy burdens. However, when God in His mercy and grace led me to a strange land and caused me to hear the Gospel and accept Jesus as my Messiah, I found it was not necessary to be a millionaire in order to be redeemed from sins and from bad habits. Thank God, it is through the Lord Jesus and the shed blood on Calvary's cross we are made free from our heavy burdens. Thus when I heard the invitation, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matt. 11:28), and, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price" (Isa. 55:1), how could I resist the Lord?

I am so glad I obeyed the sweet voice of my Saviour and came unto Him! No more do I sorrow, because I have found the Lord is one to keep His promise. Thus I can truly say my Lord made me free from my heavy burdens and gave me in place of these the daily comfort of His holy Word. When I was a child I was told Messiah would come when the Jewish people stopped sinning and began to obey God. I did not know that the Tenach, the Old Testament, told the manner in which Messiah was to come and when we could expect Him. Since I have searched the Scriptures I have found the truth about Messiah, the time of His coming, and also the reason He was to come: "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8). It is not when we Jews are self-righteous that Messiah will come! Rather, the Bible states the main purpose of the coming of Messiah into the world is to be the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world. If the world of men, or any particular group of men, were or could and would in the future be righteous and without sin, why, I reason, was it necessary for the Lord Jesus to come to earth and shed His precious blood?

I thank God the way of salvation was made so clear to me and I was able with great ease of mind and heart to enter God's kingdom through the only door, the Lord Jesus Christ. Now I am so happy and praise the Lord for opening my eyes to the truth in His holy Word regarding the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ. Now I believe the Lord Jesus Christ is the Light of the World, the Bread of Life, the Only Way and Truth, the Bright and Morning Star, the Lily of the Valley. I no longer spit and curse when I pass a church. Instead I go into the church and worship my Lord! This same Jesus, whom through ignorance I cursed, I now through the grace of God call MY sweet Jesus. Is this not wonderful? Yes it is, for there was a time when I did not dare to take that name on my lips; now I can say that I love and adore Him. Old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new!

My earnest prayer is this: When the unbeliever, be he Jew or gentile, reads my testimony, may it be used to open his eyes and soften his heart so that the Holy Spirit might woo him into accepting Jesus as his personal Saviour. Oh, I pray all might taste the love of God which is revealed in the Lord Jesus. I promise they will not be sorry if they will but believe in the Lord Jesus Christ. Again with Paul I say, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to

(Continued on Page 401)

All rights Reserved

C. S. Zimmerman

II Thessalonians

I. Presents.

- A. A correction of a false view of the advent.
- B. A correction of the conduct arising out of this false view.
- C. A setting forth of the Christian position concerning "the day of the Lord."

II. Key Words.

- A. Shaken in mind (2:2).
- B. Falling away (2:3).
- C. Man of sin (2:3).
- D. Son of perdition (2:3).
- E. Mystery of iniquity (lawlessness) (2:7).
- F. He who now letteth (restraineth) (2:7).

III. Key Verses.

- A. As to their conditions:
  - 1. 1:4-5, referred to in the first epistle.
  - 2. 2:1-2; 3:11, referring to new conditions that had arisen.
- B. As to Paul's teaching.
  - 1. 2:1-3, giving the distinction between "our gathering together unto him" and "the day of the Lord."
  - 2. 2:4-12, giving the conditions that must exist before "the day of the Lord."
  - 3. 3:9-13, giving instructions as to Christian conduct in light of the above teaching.

"The whole burden of the 1st letter is this: He is coming again; wait for Him. The whole burden of the 2d letter is this: He cannot come yet; continue your work."

IV. Key Outline.

- A. Thanksgiving (1:1-12).
- B. Revelation (2:1-12).
  - 1. The reason for it (1-3).
  - 2. The contents of it (2-12).
- C. Exhortation and example (2:13-3:15).
- D. Conclusion (3:16-18).

V. Key Thoughts for the Day.

- A. The Abiding appeal.
  - 1. 2:2, a call to courage.
  - 2. 3:13, a call to conduct.
- B. The application of this letter to our times.
  - 1. These are days of lawlessness. A growing spirit of rebellion against all government; lawlessness. It is abroad everywhere.
  - 2. These are days of restraint also. God the Spirit, through the church, is restraining all the forces making for lawlessness.
- C. Application to the individual.
  - 1. "The measure in which I share the life of the Christ is the measure in which I am exercising restraint."
  - 2. "Let each Christian ask then: How far am I by influence of speech and work restraining lawlessness?"
  - 3. "And then let us remember that the measure in which we restrain lawlessness in the world is the measure in which there is no lawlessness in our own hearts."

BREAKING GROUND AT PHOENIX

By J. C. "Bill" McKillen

With the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade tent as a backdrop, ground was broken for the First Brethren Church of Phoenix, Ariz., on its wonderful lot at 30th Avenue and Bethany Home Road, at 3:45 p. m. Sunday, April 26, 1953. After the necessary preliminaries of pastor, Vice Moderator Stanley L. Beam, Trustees Lester M. Wilhide and Nicholas Zoaht, and visiting dignitaries tossing up a shovelful, work began in earnest when our ladies took hold. It was perhaps significant that they were not content with a shovelful, but each tossed out several.

The manner in which the Lord gathered together, from his busy harvesters, voices to give words of counsel, courage, and challenge to our people was wonderful. Evangelist R. Paul Miller and Rev. Leroy D. Thomas, president of the Phoenix Evangelical Ministers Association had been arranged for. To these the Lord added a schoolmate, Rev. Roy Howard, now a missionary to Baja California, and the pastor's one-time pastor, Dr. Roy L. Laurin, both of whom "happened" to be visiting Phoenix at this time.

There were hardly 50 present. A bare majority of our 31 members were able to come. Yet at least 6 or more Christ-honoring churches were represented, and the informality, cordiality, and well-wishing that went on, breaking up only with reluctance as Sunday-evening duties began to intrude on our thinking, were representative of all that is finest in the fellowship that exists between those whose denominational lines never protrude above the love that is ours in Christ Jesus.

This, in one sense, was the ground-breaking at Phoenix. In another sense, in a greater sense, this was just another shovelful.

Was it not a ground-breaking when Sister Minnie Niswonger wrote us last year at this time that she had been Dayton, Ohio, First church's member at Phoenix for many years and would be until there was a Brethren work begun in Phoenix? Was it not a ground-breaking when Mrs. Richard L. Riggs (now church clerk), and Stanley L. Beam (now vice moderator), and Robert E. Wilkerson (our first Sunday school superintendent), joined hands with the pastor at the close of the morning service, September 28, to double the local membership? Was it not a ground-breaking when, on November 16, the local group, now grown to 12, organized so that it could buy ground, and 3 days later decided to buy 9 acres rather than be cramped into 1½ acres.

We think each of those were ground-breakings! And many more are not here mentioned! Not only that, but here in Phoenix we recognize that each of us, and the church collectively, have many ground-breakings ahead. In Hosea 10:11-12 God twice commands the breaking of ground! First, He says Jacob shall "break his clods," and then He follows with, "Break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the Lord, till he come and rain righteousness upon you." We know we have ground-breakings to come from His hands.

Maybe some of you who read this will become ground-breakers with us. We have a 6-acre section which must be sold. It can be cut into about 24 lovely residence lots, Phoenix-style, about 75 feet wide and 100 deep. A subdivider may suddenly want to buy this as it is the connecting link between a 40-, a 20-, and a 10-acre plot, adjoining on north, east, and west. However, we would like to hold on to it until it is really ripe. It is taking us a "ground-breaking" of about $150 monthly just to hang on!

How would you like to set YOUR foot to a man-sized spadeful of Phoenix for the Lord? You would? Well, here's how:

The Brethren Home Missions Council will accept gifts, or loans, designated for the Phoenix work. Not only that, but if loaners wish to so stipulate, we will list them in the order of receipt of their loans of $1,000 or more. Then if it becomes feasible to subdivide the ground into about 24 lots, it would be to the council's and the church's advantage if any loaners wanted to take a residence lot instead of cash. We do not think you can buy a residence lot in this neighborhood for less than $1,000 to $1,200.

From the number of letters we have received, there are many more than 24 families thinking of moving to Phoenix. It would be wonderful to have a nucleus of Brethren families living within 2, 3, and 4 blocks of the church! For those who know the Phoenix area, we are about 5 miles northwest of downtown Phoenix, toward Glendale, and about 400 feet higher than downtown Phoenix. That means a little cooler, a little breezier! When you listen to the mercury bubbling in the thermometer at about 120° in August, "cooler" and "breezier" are lovely words! Several thousand new homes around us testify to what Phoenix itself thinks of this little northwestern plateau!

Speaking of lovely words, out west here there's a phrase, "Podner, here's a hand!" Just like the Macedonians in Century 1, we 20th-century Phoenicians are crying, "Come over and help!" If the Spirit is making these words mean "YOU," why don't you "git yo-self" down to the bank and have a ground-breaking—break it out to build a church! Is it a gilt-edged investment? I think so! But it's more than gilt-edged! To use your funds to build a church, and earn interest besides, is glory-edged—with a glory that won't wear off! Thanks, podner, here's the shovel. Break ground!

FINDLAY, OHIO, CHURCH BREAKS GROUND

Deviating from the usual plan of holding a ground-breaking service on Sunday, the First Brethren Church, Findlay, Ohio, broke ground on Thursday evening, June 11, at 7 o'clock. This change in the day for this service was planned for the convenience of the pastors in the district that they might have an opportunity to attend. The pastor, Rev. Forest F. Lance writes, "The plans for the new church are coming along very nicely and we are hurriedly making preparations for our building program." We will have pictures and more details for the next Home Mission number of the Herald.

FATHER ORDAINS SON AT SOUTH BEND

Top (left to right)—The Sunnymede congregation and Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Ogden and children. Center (left to right)—Rev. W. R. Ogden; the laying on of hands, with Dr. W. A. Ogden, Rev. Arthur Collins, Rev. H. W. Koontz, and Dr. L. L. Grubb participating; Dr. W. A. Ogden. Bottom (left to right)—Mrs. W. A. Ogden and son, Donald. Rev. W. R. Ogden and parents. Rev. W. H. Koontz, Rev. Ward Miller, and Donald Ogden. The Sunnymede Brethren Church, South Bend, Ind.

The Sunnymede Brethren Church of South Bend, Ind., had a unique service on Sunday, May 17, when their pastor, W. Russell Ogden, was ordained to the Christian ministry by his father, Dr. William A. Ogden, of the First Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa. Those who participated in the ordination service are pictured above and include the following: Rev. Ward A. Miller, who offered the invocation; Mrs. W. A. Ogden, the mother, and Donald E. Ogden, a brother, who sang a duet; Dr. William A. Ogden, who delivered the ordination message and read the authorization; Rev. Arthur F. Collins, who read the Scriptures, Titus 1:1-9, John 15:1-8, 16-17; Dr. L. L. Grubb, who presented the pastoral charge, II Timothy 3:1-5, 14-4:5, and also the questions and vows; Rev. H. W. Koontz, who offered the prayer of consecration; and W. Russell Ogden, who offered the benediction.

Rev. W. R. Ogden, who has been a student pastor at South Bend during the school year, graduated on Friday, May 15, from Grace Theological Seminary with a B. D.

degree, and in the same service his father, Rev. W. A. Ogden, received his D. D. degree.

Rev. W. R. Ogden will now assume the full-time pastorate at South Bend and care for the Sunnymede flock shown here.

ISRAEL CALLS

(Continued From Page 399)

every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek." Praise be to His holy name! Hallelujah!

Come to Christ, confession make;
Come to Christ, and pardon take;
Trust in Him from day to day.
He will keep you all the way.

Why not now? Why not now?
Why not come to Jesus now?

EDITORIAL STAFF

Editor and Business Manager...Conard Sandy
Winona Lake, Ind.
Foreign Missions.....R. D. Barnard
Winona Lake, Ind.
WMC.....Mrs. Robert E. A. Miller
1511 Maiden Lane S.W., Roanoke 15, Va.
SMM.....Miss Helen Small
Box 168, Winona Lake, Ind.
Home Missions.....Luther L. Grubb
Box 395, Winona Lake, Ind.
Grace Seminary.....Paul R. Bauman
Winona Lake, Ind.

Gordon W. Bracker, of Kittanning, Pa., preached at the Harrisburg, Pa., church, pastored by Russell H. Weber, June 7.

Remember the months of June and July are allotted to the Brethren Missionary Herald Company. Pray and give for this work.

Mrs. Anna M. Peck, of the Dayton, Ohio, First church, died recently and Pastor William Steffler conducted the funeral June 8.

Sibley Edmiston, recent graduate of Grace Seminary, preached at the Phoenix, Ariz., church, pastored by J. C. McKillen, May 31.

George M. Richardson, former pastor of the Bellflower, Calif., church, is now a public relations representative in the field department of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and has moved to 5853 W. 88th St., Los Angeles 45, Calif. (Change Annual, p. 71.)

Joseph Hoffmann, chaplain of the Los Angeles Fire Department, was confined to his bed during the last half of May by illness.

The Dayton, Ohio, North Riverdale church, pastored by Clyde G. Balyo, plans to be host to Phil Foxwell on June 28, and to the Bob Jones Brass Ensemble on July 1.

Pastor Edward Bowman reports the average Sunday school attendance at the Hollins, Va., church during May was 152, the Sunday evening service 79, and the midweek service 69.

The Elkhart, Ind., church, organized April 27 with Wesley Miller as moderator but yet without a pastor, held its first prayer meeting June 3 under the leadership of Lowell Demos with 26 people present. On June 7 the first Sunday services were held with 66 in Bible school, 71 in morning service, and 61 in evening service, with Conard Sandy as the preacher for the day. The offerings totaled $135.

Mrs. Cleve G. Miller, of the Waterloo, Iowa, church, fell in her home and broke or badly cracked the femur bone in her right leg on May 30.

The junior church at the Long Beach, Calif., First church, directed by James B. Crawford, has averaged 99 in attendance since its beginning December 14, 1952.

The Leamersville and Vicksburg, Pa., churches sponsored a program by the Bob Jones College Ensemble at the Leamersville church June 12.

The Seattle, Wash., church began its first Sunday service June 7 in Pastor Thomas E. Hammers' home, 6522 35th Ave. NE., with 29 people present. The pastor urges all Brethren people living in the Seattle area or vacationing there to attend these services and give their help in beginning this new church.

Darlene Matula, of the Johnstown, Pa., Riverside church, won first place in getting the most first-timers to attend the Johnstown Youthtime, which meets each Saturday night. The award is 1 week at Pinebrook Camp, all expenses paid.

The Johnstown, Pa., Riverside church gave its pastor, Ralph C. Hall, a unanimous call to continue as pastor—his third year. There are now 46 members in this church, 6 joining on June 7.

Archie Lynn has been preaching at the Covington, Va., church as interim pastor until Paul Mohler arrives on the field.

Robert Miller, son of the pastor of the Roanoke, Va., Ghent church, has been in the hospital again. At this writing he is home. His father says his condition remains serious, but not critical, and prayer is asked in behalf of Bob, for only God can restore him to health.

Kenneth Richardson preached at the La Verne, Calif., church May 10 and J. Ward Tressler was the preacher May 17. This church is temporarily without a pastor since the resignation of Orville Lorenz.

The Martinsburg, W. Va., church, pastored by M. Leon Myers, has made some additions to the furnishings of the church, especially a new Hammond organ which was dedicated May 10 by a special recital by Charles Bergerson, of Hagerstown, Md. The church is holding a Youth on the March revival which began June 14 with the King's Heralds.

At the call of the church, Clyde K. Landrum began his 5th year as pastor of the Uniontown, Pa., church on June 1.

Phillip J. Simmons has resigned as pastor of the Altoona, Pa., Grace church, to become effective sometime in August.

The Kittanning, Pa., First church, pastored by Gordon W. Bracker, holds a Saturday night prayer meeting sponsored by the young married people's class. Mrs. D. E. Wisner spoke to the church May 24, and Elzie White, moderator of the church, preached there June 7.

The Clayton, Ohio, church, pastored by Clair Brickel, voted to proceed at once in the erection of an annex to the present building. Groundbreaking took place June 7, with Dr. Paul R. Bauman and the Grace Trumpeters assisting in the service.

Paul E. Dick, Winchester, Va., was a recent speaker at the Conemaugh, Pa., church, according to Pastor Stanley F. Hauser.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton L. Eckerman, of the Long Beach, Calif., First church, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 3.

Additions to Membership

Johnstown, Pa. (Riverside).....	6
Leamersville, Pa. ....	12
Long Beach, Calif. (First).....	2
Los Angeles, Calif. (First).....	14

Public Confessions

Glendale, Calif. ....	1
Johnstown, Pa. (Riverside).....	3
Leamersville, Pa. ....	3

Baptisms Not Included in Additions

Jenners, Pa. ....	12
Martinsburg, W. Va. ....	6

Dedication of Babies

Leamersville, Pa. ....	3
Uniontown, Pa. ....	1

'THE LIBERTY WHEREWITH CHRIST HATH MADE US FREE'

By Dr. Herman A. Hoyt, Chairman of Book Club Review Committee

July is the month which speaks of freedom to the liberty-loving people of the United States. Annually now for more than 150 years we have been celebrating the Declaration of Independence. Though there has been much demonstration and fanfare during these years, probably no person outside of those who went through the experience of paying the price for liberty really know what it means. After a fashion each United States citizen enjoys the freedom without realizing the price of it or knowing what political bondage really means.

But for believers in Christ things are different. Everyone once knew the terrors of bondage to the law and sin. While there is none capable of appreciating or even understanding the price that was paid to purchase freedom, it is possible to know the personal value of liberty because there was once a time when he was without it. For no other purpose than that in some small way the horizon of blessing purchased at Calvary may be enlarged and more fully appreciated, the book club committee offers again several volumes for its members during the month of July.

Many have been glancing at these columns for several years but have never acted upon the suggestions of the committee. We are now urging you to do something about it. You will not be sorry. You have needed to do some reading. This committee has spent time reviewing the many volumes now coming from the press, and we are sure that the books being recommended will help you. Act today, and join the club.

You may join the club simply by ordering one of the books recommended for the month of July. As a premium for joining the book club, your choice of the following books is offered: "Stranger Than Fiction," by Florence Gribble; "Prayer: Asking and Receiving," by John R. Rice; or "The Emerald Necklace," by Elise Fraser.

To members of the club who will be purchasing their 4th book during April through July, a dividend book will be sent—"How to Obtain Fullness of Power," by Reuben A. Torrey.

The first-choice book for the month of July is "Hastening the Day of God," compiled and edited by John W. Bradbury. The second-choice book is "Wings of the Dawn," by Guy Howard.

The first-choice book will be sent to the members of the club unless otherwise instructed before July 1. In case you desire the second-choice selection for the month, or some other book listed in these columns in previous issues of the Herald, be sure to notify the Brethren Missionary Herald Company before the first of the month (July).

HASTENING THE DAY OF GOD

Compiled by John W. Bradbury

The appearance of a book like this is a rare and timely event in the realm of Christian literature. It is a book every Christian ought to read, and must read if he would be up-to-date concerning the prophetic Scriptures and their fulfillment.

The 36 chapters in this volume are 36 messages presented to the International Congress on Prophecy, held November 9-16, 1952, at the Calvary Baptist Church in New York City. Most of the well-known students of the prophetic Scriptures participated and have messages in this book.

Among the Christian educators who have articles here are Dr. Herman B. Centz, Dr. William Culbertson, Dr. V. R. Edman, Dr. Howard W. Ferrin, Dr. T. Leonard Lewis, Dr. Thomas Moseley, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, Dr. Louis T. Talbot, Dr. John F. Walvoord, Dr. Walter L. Wilson, and, above all to the Brethren, our own Dr. Alva J. McClain, whose message is on "Significant Signs of the Times."

Among the pastors and evangelists are Dr. Hyman J. Appelman, Dr. Richard V. Clearwaters, Dr. Theodore H. Elsner, Dr. Robert G. Lee, Dr. Herbert Lockyer, Dr. James McGinlay, Mr. J. Palmer Muntz, Dr. Oswald J. Smith, and Dr. John Summerfield Wimbish, pastor of the host church.

Editors of Christian magazines are represented by Dr. John W. Bradbury and Dr. Philip E. Howard. From England and Scotland came Dr. T. M. Bamber, Dr. David J. Laurie, and Dr. W. Myrddyn Lewis to speak at the congress.

Before the congress convened the committee which arranged the program assigned the subjects to be treated by each of the invited speakers. This accomplished 2 things, as the reader of the volume will discover to his satisfaction: Most of the main subjects of the prophetic Scriptures were considered in the congress, and little repetition is evident in the messages.

This book of 262 pages sells for only $3. We believe it is so timely that we recommend it to all readers of the Brethren Missionary Herald. Get a copy and enjoy it a chapter at a time and you will be richly blessed in spiritual truth.—Conard Sandy.

WINGS OF THE DAWN

By Guy Howard

It did not matter to John Malcom Smith where the bus loading at gate number 1 was going. All he wanted to do was to purchase his ticket and go as far away on it as possible. That was how he happened to arrive in Little Rock without a friend and with no place in mind to stay. John was determined to sever himself from all his past. He had been in the service of the country, but had been officially declared dead. When he was able to return to his old home town he learned that his wife had married another man. This was too much for Smith. Bitter in spirit and broken in soul he set out—destination unknown.

On the bus going to Little Rock a fellow passenger told John of an ideal fishing place and suggested that he go there for a while to rest himself. After a few days John followed

(Continued on Page 407)

REVIVALS THAT GO ON AND ON AND ON!

By Rev. R. Paul Miller

The Brethren Evangelistic Crusade is out for souls, first, last, and all the time. The Lord's return is imminent. Mankind is preparing to destroy millions of men in world contortions now impending. Time is no longer on our side. God's clock is at midnight.

But the Crusade well knows that just bringing a few unsaved folks into a congregation is NOT the way to reach the greatest number for Christ in the shortest possible time.

The great need is to lift the spiritual life of the church to a passion for souls so that they will go on and on winning souls all through the year. Any so-called revival that stops when the evangelistic team leaves is not a true revival at all. That God is enabling the Crusade to fulfill this sort of ministry is apparent from this paragraph from Bro. Alfred Dodds, pastor of the South Gate church.

A Testimony

"It is with all sincerity that we, pastor and people, of First Brethren Church, South Gate, Calif., do thank God for the rich blessing showered upon us through the special meetings recently held in this church by Bro. R. Paul Miller and Song Leader Carlo Pietropaulo. We felt at the close of the 3 weeks of meetings that we should have gone on for at least a further 2 weeks. God's children in the church received a tremendous challenge, and 58 rededications were made, 2 first-time decisions were made in the church, and several in the homes. Revival continued after the meetings were closed; there were 8 decisions the following Sunday morning. God is still speaking through these meetings with Brother Miller to the hearts of our people, and we believe there is going to be a glorious future for this church in South Gate 'til Jesus comes. We recommend the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade to all churches, even as it was recommended to us. 'They'll do you good.'—Alfred Dodds, pastor.

Praise God for revivals that go on and on!

The Phoenix Campaign

The Brethren work was just 8 months old when this tent campaign was begun. There were 31 members, including children, when the campaign started. Hundreds of new homes had been built near the church location during the last year. The folks that moved in to these homes were from all over America. They were strangers to each other and to the Brethren Church. This meeting, therefore, was a tremendous effort to introduce the Brethren Church to the entire section. In is the lack of a building of any kind. The group must still meet in the pastor's home. Stable people are slow to unite with a work that still shows little evidence of permanency. If they get one unit of their building plans completed this summer, growth will be fast.

Campaign Costs

The cost of a campaign like this when a group is so small is a real this the meetings were a real success. The children's meetings were very effective in reaching new homes. Personal visitation of members of the church and the evangelistic team reached many new homes. We expect that many of these new families will come into the church during the next few weeks or months. They were very friendly and favorable to a church that stood for the real Gospel.

Above left—Ground-breaking service at Phoenix, Ariz. Above right is Carlo, the song leader, atop the tent, putting up some banners. Below left is shown the revival tent and signs, and at right is Pastor J. C. McKillen and wife.

One real hurdle for the new work problem. To give such groups the very best when they need it the most is one aim of the Crusade. However, the Crusade is not yet a year old and has to depend upon individuals alone who realize the real need which we face today for widespread revival. With no chance to accumulate any funds to provide such help without cost to new fields, the strain is great, and we are driven to our knees daily for constant help. Here

(Continued on Page 407)

BRETHREN YOUNG PEOPLE RECEIVE VARIED HONORS

LISTIE BYF PUTS ON SPECIAL SERVICE

Young people of the Listie, Pa., Brethren Church recently adapted a regular BYF program for an evening church service, which they conducted in the absence of their pastor, Paul Mohler. The program, "Four Ships Go Sailing," had its origin with the Leamersville, Pa., youth group about a year ago.

The platform was appropriately decorated as a ship's deck, with a large sail mounted with the Christian flag in the background. Each of the four "ships" had a captain and a crew, who presented the Scriptures and the message, which was their ship's "cargo." The program was very well received by the folk of the church.

LISTIE GIRL "CAPPED"; AT HEAD OF CLASS

Betty Lou Wechtenheiser, of our Listie, Pa., church, who entered nurses' training in the Windber, Pa., hospital, was recently "capped" in the special ceremonies that observe their acceptance into an advanced stage of training. Since then, her work has been of such high caliber that she is at the head of her class.

Although the influence of the hospital is largely Roman Catholic, Betty Lou has borne a strong testimony for Christ, and is looking forward to some type of missionary work after the completion of her training.

Betty Lou Wechtenheiser

Listie Boys Present "Four Ships Go Sailing."

CHICO YOUTH TURN PUBLISHERS

Judging by the "C. E. Snoop," the young people of the Chico, Calif., church really have some good, live social times. We've received copies of recent editions of their paper and want to commend them for some clever reporting.

It's a lot of work (as a number of BYF groups have discovered already), but a lot of fun, too, to publish a regular young people's paper. Try it in your church!

MODESTO BOYS WIN PARADE PRIZE

More than 20 boys from our club at Modesto, Calif., were on the float entered in a local "Parade of Songs" held in connection with the California Relays program on May 16. Theme of this float was "Onward Christian Soldiers," and it won 2d prize in the religious division.

Not the least job in preparing for the parade was stamping 10,000 tracts with the church name and rolling them into "gospel bombs." More than 9,000 of these were thrown among the 50,000 spectators on the parade route, and many of them have been seen in local non-Christian homes since. A number of comments and phone calls expressed very favorable reaction to the float, and the tracts, too.

It is the hope and prayer of the church there that the testimony of the Lord will be greatly strengthened by this event.

Modesto Boys on Prize-Winning Float.

Arthur McKee Dies

Death came suddenly on Sunday morning, June 7, to Dr. Arthur McKee, executive manager of the Winona Christian Assembly at Winona Lake, Ind. He died of a heart attack, while sitting in his easy chair, just 1 week before the opening of the summer events at Winona Lake, for which he had planned and waited during the winter.

The funeral service was held in Warsaw under the direction of Dr. William Sweeting, pastor of the Warsaw, Ind., First Baptist Church, of which Dr. McKee was a member. Dr. Robert Constable, vice president of Moody Bible Institute, led in the invocation and Mrs. Ruth Rodeheaver Thomas sang "Sunrise Tomorrow," a favorite song of Mr. McKee, before the message. Following Dr. Sweeting's sermon, Rev. Howard A. Hermansen, associate pastor of the Moody Church of Chicago, led in the prayer. The Virgil Brooks then sang "Beyond the Sunset."

Dr. McKee

Dr. J. Palmer Muntz, director of the Winona Lake Bible Conference and long-time close associate of Dr. McKee, gave a testimony to the life and character of the deceased. "After the Toil and the Heat of the Day" was sung by Mrs. Dorothy Stratearn, and Dr. Peter McFarlane led in the closing prayer. The body was then taken to Haverhill, Mass., for burial.

Arthur McKee was born October 15, 1890, in Worcester, Mass. On June 2, 1914, he was married at the Moody Bible Institute to Ethel Nelson, who survives, along with one sister, Miss Hazel Church McKee, of New York.

He had been executive manager of the Winona Christian Assembly since 1938, except for a period of 2 years.

Curtis Morrill Killed in Accident

Rev. Curtis Glenn Morrill was killed Thursday, June 4, near Ashland, Oreg., when a tree fell on him. For some time he had been working in a lumber camp where he met with his accident. The funeral and burial were held in Oregon.

Brother Morrill, one-time missionary in the Brethren Church, was born April 18, 1909, at Stockton, Calif. His parents were members of the Turlock church nearby. Some time before he was 7 years old the Gribbles (James and Florence) visited for 3 weeks in the Morrill home. This visit and their work made a great impression on the boy.

At the age of 12 Curtis received the Lord Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour under the ministry of Rev. Alva Long in a Church of the Brethren in Seattle, Wash., where the family was then living, after a few years' sojourn in Canada in the meantime. Later he was baptized by Brother Long. Later, under the ministry of Rev. Herbert Tay, at La Verne, Calif., he received the assurance of his salvation. At the age of 13 he offered himself publicly for foreign missionary work.

Brother Morrill graduated from high school at La Verne and then attended the Bible Institute of Los Angeles for a year. He received his B. A. degree from Ashland College and spent 2 years in the Ashland Theological Seminary and a summer term at Penn State University. He received his B. D. degree from Grace Theological Seminary while on furlough from Africa. He was ordained to the ministry at the La Verne church in 1934, with Pastor Archie Lynn and Dr. Louis S. Bauman officiating.

Prior to that he held a similar position at the Cedar Lake Christian Assembly.

Before entering upon this type of work Dr. McKee had been a song leader and evangelist. For some time he was associated with Dr. Henry Ostrom and Dr. Paul Rader, and later traveled in evangelistic work in charge of music for Gypsy Smith, Jr., and Dr. William Ward Ayer.

The editor of the local Warsaw Times-Union wrote: "Under the management of Arthur McKee, the

Curtis Morrill

In the late 1930s he, with his family, spent 1 term in missionary service in Africa, pioneering the Bekoro field. They began a return trip to Africa in 1941 aboard the ill-fated Zam Zam. Following this experience he pastored the Harrah, Wash., church for 3 years. He resigned this pastorate to return to Africa, but there was much delay in getting to the field. Finally he resigned from the Foreign Missionary Society as a missionary and went to California, where both he and his wife taught in a missionary training school. For some time he served as pastor of a community Presbyterian church at Cannon Beach, Oreg.

In addition to his work in the lumber camp at the time of his death, Morrill was teaching several Bible classes in Oregon and making plans to go to Panama as a translator of the Scriptures.

Besides his wife, the former Bertha Gwinner, whom he met at Ashland College, he leaves 4 children: Elaine, 16 years of age; Stephen, 13; Edith, 7; and Dwight, 5. The present address of Mrs. Morrill and the children is Box 245, Cannon Beach, Oreg.

Winona Christian Assembly had made rapid strides toward regaining the eminence of the days when great names of history stood in the footlights at Winona. He was the rare mixture of keen businessman and charitable Christian so seldom found today. He was devoted to his work. . . .

"Knowing as he did that death was always at his elbow and inevitable [he suffered from heart attacks], Art changed his pace not one whit. The Winona Christian Assembly will be hard put to replace such a man."

REVERENCE IN OUR CHURCHES

BRETHREN BOOK CLUB

(Continued From Page 403)

By Rev. Stanley F. Hauser, Conemaugh, Pa.

"The Lord is in his holy temple: let all the earth keep silence before him" (Hab. 2:20).

Recently the subject of reverence in our churches was mentioned to me. I have been watching it for the past 10 years with keen interest, particularly as I have been privileged to visit among our various churches. This reference to it brought it to my attention again.

A Timely Illustration

The other day my wife and I were visiting among our parishioners when this subject was discussed. The lady where we were visiting began something like this: "One evening I took my husband to church—he is not a member of our church. He noticed various groups of people gathered at the back of the church auditorium under the balcony; they were talking and laughing out loud as though the church was just another ordinary meeting place, rather than the house of the Lord."

How careful we should be not to offend visitors and strangers who come to worship with us. Webster's Dictionary gives us one definition out of several that I believe is exceptionally good. Reverence is "profound respect mingled with love and awe."

An Omnipresent God

Our churches should be held in high regard by all who enter. The people should hold within their hearts a love mingled with awe and respect because of the omnipresence of God. The presence of the Lord is manifest. It is God's house. Not that we should make a shrine of it as some do, but we need to remember that where God is, is holy ground. Even on the backside of the desert, the Angel of the Lord said to Moses: "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground." Then Moses hid his face (Ex. 3:5-6).

Our churches should be considered sacred places. We should enter them with solemnity and for the purpose of spiritual blessing and comfort. We should take our place in the pew with bowed head and heart and a prayer for the one who breaks the "Bread of Life," as well as for those who worship with us. We go to church not to laugh aloud or joke, neither do we go to see what kind of a hat or dress Mrs. So-and-So is wearing, or what kind of shoes and suit Mr. So.-and-So has on, but for help in spiritual things and comfort as the Word of God is expounded.

Rev. Stanley Hauser

A Reverent Preacher

We do believe that reverence ought to control and rule the life and habits of the minister, especially as he enters his pulpit. No matter from which direction he enters, it should always be with dignity and reverence! Too often we personally have seen, and perhaps you have too, ministers coming to the church late. They hurry down the aisle, give one leap upon the platform, and with a loud announcement of a hymn, they open the evening service. This is not dignity! This is not reverence! This is not Christlike. Our churches will respond, we believe, to the exemplary life of the minister if he commands reverence in the pulpit.

Therefore let us always remember that our church is an edifice dedicated to win souls to Christ as well as for the edifying of the children of God. The self-existing One, the ever-present One is in our midst—Jehovah our Redeemer.

"In all things shewing thyself a pattern of good works, in doctrine shewing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you" (Tit. 2:7-8).

his advice and drifted into Clear Springs where his entire life was to be refashioned. His attitude toward life made it difficult to enter into the spirit of the hill folk of the Ozarks. He made few friends, but that was how he wanted it to be.

It was a long struggle before Mal overcame his bitterness, but he finally won the victory. Renewed fellowship with the Lord whom he had forsaken brought him peace and joy at last. With this came new friends, especially Mary whom he decided was different from any other woman he had ever known.

The descriptions of the Ozark region and its quaint hill people contribute much to the story. Its rapidly moving action, including an unexpected lawsuit, will hold your attention to the end. The author may already be known to many as the writer of "Give Me Thy Vineyard" and "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks." Price, $3.—Blaine Snyder.

REVIVALS THAT GO ON AND ON

(Continued From Page 404)

at Phoenix the Brethren Home Missions Council helped out splendidly. But many churches are not under the council. This summer we face a series of campaigns that will mean a deficit of at least $1,500 above all that may come in the offerings. God knows how to help us. He is our refuge.

If some Bible class, brotherhood, or laymen's fellowship would take the cost of the Crusade revival songbooks, $450, which we use in tent campaigns where there are no other songbooks, it would help a lot. We have just received them, and the bill for them!

Address the Brethren Evangelistic Crusade, Box 28, Berne, Ind.

"Brother, have you won your soul for Christ yet this year?"

HERALD CONTAINS BIBLE HELPS

"We wish to thank you for reminding us of the expiration of the Brethren Missionary Herald. . . . The paper has been a great blessing to us, with such fine Bible helps. (Signed) Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Abel, Columbus, Ind."

HEAVEN'S MUSIC

"Oh, David, if only I had a harp or access to one. I do so want to play one now. It's hard to be comforted with the hope of playing one in heaven when I want that delight now."

Mother was pouring her heart's desire into the sympathetic ears of her son as they enjoyed a symphony concert together. A hauntingly beautiful harp solo caused that ever-burning flame to burst into a fire of intense longing. Her heartbeat quickened with the inspiration of the hour.

"I liked that solo too, Mother. I wish you could have a harp. We'd both learn to play. But where would we ever get the thousand dollars to buy one?"

With one swift stroke of amazing practicality Mother was jerked back to reality. Eight children do make a harp quite a remote possibility. Nor would money be the only factor involved here. For the sheer delight of plucking music from this loveliest of instruments Mother would take time from things less important, less satisfying. "If only I had a harp..." We usually do what we really want to do.

We do what we want to do! Mother stopped in her reverie as she realized how true this is in the realm of Christian experience. So many professing Christians seem to have no time or desire for certain church work yet are never too weary or busy for a dinner and visiting with mutual friends hours on end. Could this be because the heart's affection is divided? "For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also" (Matt. 6:21). Someday God will judge His children on the basis of their hearts' interests.

Then why fret after the unobtainable in this life, Mother? It is so much more important to pluck the harp strings of life which will render music sweet to the ears of your Father. Such music is treasure laid up for eternity. Let's do what we really want to do by wanting to do the things which will redound to our Saviour's praise.

As she changed the linens on 8 beds, Mother tried to sing. But somehow the singing didn't come readily. The stretching and reaching around and across beds seemed to take so very much out of her today. As fast as the beds were stripped, the soiled linens were dumped in the washing machine. While soap and water did their part in keeping this family clean, Mother struggled with the clean sheets. At least in this warm weather there are no blankets to lug around and throw across the beds. Two phone calls, crackers at "recess" time for the 3 little ones, a chase after the baby, who had manipulated the gate to free herself from the confines of the porch, a caller, had punctuated the all-too-short morning hours. By noon the babies were hungry and fretful and Mother was hard-pressed to keep her equilibrium.

Why do I have to be so bound to the mundane things of life? Why is it that most everything I do has to be done in spite of circumstances rather than because of helpful influences? Why so many extreme disciplines in life?

Now the babies were in bed. Mother took some 30 minutes to possess her soul in the quietness of God's presence. "I know that my redeemer liveth" (John 19:25). "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength" (Isa. 30:15). "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright" (Psa. 33:1). Mother, when you complain you are not contributing one note of praise to heaven's music. Who are you to question God's judgments and leadings in your life? Keeping all those beds clean isn't exactly a Sunday school picnic, but haven't you often said you are so thankful each of your children has a bed of his own? Sure it is work to keep clean, but what sweeter perfume has ever graced your home than that of freshly washed clothes? So sing a song of praise, Mother, for all those mundane things of which God has made you custodian. There is praise in a freshly scrubbed and shining little girl and boy. And as you scrub them and their apparel never forget to cleanse their hearts and minds with the water of life so that they will ever sing songs of heaven's music.

"All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee" (Psa. 145:10).

---

PRAY FOR THESE SPECIAL MEETINGS

Church	Dates	Pastor	Speaker
Temple City, Calif.	June 17-July 5..	Leo Polman.....	R. Paul Miller.
Ashland, Ohio....	June 19-21.....	Miles Taber.....	Joseph Dombek.
Osceola, Ind.....	June 28-July 5..	.....	Dudley Long.
Alto, Mich.....	July 3-5.....	Earl Funderburg..	Conard Sandy.
Los Angeles, Calif.
(First) .....	July 8-26.....	Glenn O'Neal.....	R. Paul Miller.
Kittanning, Pa.
(First) .....	July 12-19.....	Gordon Bracker..	Harold Kattman.
Long Beach, Calif.
(First) .....	July 12-14.....	Charles Mayes....	Herman Hoyt.
South Bend, Ind..	July 12-19.....	Russell Ogden....	Ding Teuling.

---

Why
We're Coming to Grace
College

See Inside

EDITORIALS

By Paul R. Bauman, Vice President

Vacations Cost Money

Elsewhere in the magazine this week there appears a very frank statement by our financial secretary, Dr. James L. Boyer. If Grace Theological Seminary and its ministry mean anything to you, it is probably the first article you should read. This is the vacation period for many people all over the country, and this summer many will find that vacations cost money—that a vacation represents the most expensive time of the whole year. Perhaps most of us have not realized that this is true of Grace Seminary. It would appear that, with school out, there should be very little expense at such an institution. But this is not the case. During the summer the school must spend more money on publicity than at any other season of the year. Such publicity includes not only magazine advertisements, but also the school catalog, leaflets, etc. This year, because of the advance steps taken in the college division, the expense has been unusually heavy. It has been justified, however, for young people are being attracted to Grace. Then, much of the work in the way of campus improvements must be done in the summertime, and these, too, are expensive. Salaries must also be cared for. So, you see, vacations cost money. Will you join us in praying about this need? It may be wise for you to take a vacation this summer, but don't let that little yellow envelope for the monthly finance plan take one. Remember, vacations cost money!

New Monthly-Plan Envelopes

New envelopes for the dollar-a-month plan are now being printed and should be available at your church soon. It has been deemed wise by the executive committee of the board and the administration to send out only sufficient envelopes to last until the end of the year. At that time new sets will be sent out in time to make it possible for most churches to distribute them along with their own boxes of weekly offering envelopes. In the meantime be sure to get your supply of seminary envelopes for the next six months. When they arrive, use yours immediately. Your help just now will be greatly appreciated.

New Dormitory Facilities

An important announcement of genuine interest appears on the back cover of the magazine this week. The securing of such excellent dormitory facilities for our students represents a real answer to prayer and is cause for heartfelt praise to the Lord. Read about it, and rejoice with us.

The Ministry of the Grace Trumpeters

Your editor has been enjoying some thrilling experiences during the past month as he has traveled with the Grace Trumpeters on their nine-weeks summer tour of churches, young people's camps, and conferences. It is evident that our churches desire such teams, for an avalanche of invitations came from every direction. We are sorry that it was not possible for the trumpeters to include the churches of the Pacific coast in their itinerary this year, but plans for such a trip next summer are already being considered. From the State of Iowa east, no church is intentionally being missed during these nine weeks. In a few cases geographic location or lack of an open evening forbade the possibility of a service. Often it has been necessary to have as many as five churches join together in a rally so that all could share in the ministry of the group. The talent of these men is being greatly appreciated, and they are being graciously used of the Lord wherever they go. Everywhere we have been most graciously received, and people could not be more hospitable. Best of all, lives have been touched for the Lord, and a number of young people will be coming to Grace because of the summer's tour.

Dr. Paul Bauman
(above) and the Grace Trumpeters

Pray for the Grace Trumpeters as they continue their work through the entire month of July. Pray also for the young people who are facing decisions affecting their whole future.

THE BRETHREN MISSIONARY HERALD: Entered as second class matter April 16, 1943, at the post office at Winona Lake, Ind., under the act of March 3, 1879. Issued weekly by The Brethren Missionary Herald Co., Winona Lake, Ind. Subscription price, $2.00 a year; 100-percent churches, $1.50; foreign, $3.00. Board of Directors: Arnold Kriegbaum, President; Robert D. Crees, Vice President; Walter A. Lepp, Secretary; Ord Gehman, Treasurer; Bryson C. Fetter, Member at Large to Executive Committee; Herman A. Hoyt, S. W. Link, Mark Malles, Robert E. A. Miller, William H. Schaffer, Clyde Balyo.

Five Professors on Pacific Coast

The West is experiencing a veritable invasion of seminary professors during June and July. Five members of the faculty have gone or will go to the coast for one purpose or another. Dr. McClain is engaged in several Bible conferences in southern California, returning to Winona Lake about August 1. Dr. Hoyt is to appear at the California district conference in Long Beach, and in other churches of the area. Prof. John Whitcomb took unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Edisene Hanson. They were united in marriage at the Second Brethren Church of Long Beach on June 7. Dr. McClain officiated, assisted by Rev. George Peek, pastor. On August 1 at the First Brethren Church of Long Beach, Prof. Homer Kent, Jr., will be united in marriage to Miss Beverly Page. Dr. Homer Kent, Sr., will perform the ceremony, assisted by Dr. Charles Mayes.

MAYNARD TITTLES LOSE CHILD

Rev. and Mrs. Maynard Tittle recently suffered the loss of their infant child, David Michael, after the brief sojourn on earth of three days. The little one's body was laid to rest in a rural cemetery near Columbia City, Ind., following a brief funeral service held in the funeral parlor of the latter place. Dr. Homer Kent, of Winona Lake, was in charge.

Many will recall that Brother Tittle was a member of the seminary graduating class of 1952 and since that time has been pastoring a church in Culver, Ind. Mrs. Tittle at various times has done secretarial work in the seminary office. The child which the Lord has seen fit to take unto Himself was their only child. Deepest sympathies are extended to our brother and sister in this time of their deep sorrow by their many friends.—H. A. K.

LONG HALL AT SEMINARY BUILDING

Most people who have not actually visited the seminary building underestimate its size. This hall, 117 feet long, separates the chapel (the doors of which may be seen at the far end) from the library.

CLOUGH-HAWKINS WEDDING

Ruth Elizabeth Clough and LeRoy Hawkins were united in marriage the evening of Saturday, May 16, at 7:30 o'clock in a beautiful double-ring ceremony held at the First Brethren Church of Fort Wayne, Ind. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, Rev. William H. Clough, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Tracy, Calif. The latter was assisted by Rev. James Hammer, pastor of the Fort Wayne church. The bridal pair both attended Grace Seminary the past year, the bride in the graduate division and the groom in the collegiate division. They plan to live in Winona Lake in order that study may be continued.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy F. Hawkins

THE BIBLE AND THE BRETHREN CHURCH

The propagation and study of the Word of God are vitally related to the history of the Brethren Church. One of the major marks of the infant movement was its attention to the reading and study of the Scriptures. Did you know the following facts which illustrate this truth? That Alexander Mack, the founder of the Brethren, was one of the collaborators and editors of the famed Berleberg Bible which became the Bible of all the German pietists? That the text read by Mack on the occasion of the first baptism in Schwarzenau was Luke 14:16-33, the cost of discipleship? That a Brethren press, the Sower Press of Germantown, produced the first American Bible in a foreign tongue (1743)? That the first Bible on American-made paper (1763) and the first printed from American type (1776) rolled from this same press? That perhaps the first Sunday school literature of the new colonies was a series of small cards containing Scripture references in the German language for memorization by students in Brethren Sunday schools? There was ample reason, then, why the leaders of the early church chose as their motto, "The Bible, the whole Bible, and nothing but the Bible."—Ralph W. Gilbert.

1953 COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

Graduation Speaker

Baccalaureate Speaker

Rev. Miles H. Taber
Ashland, Ohio

Dr. Allan A. MacRae
Faith Theological Seminary

Class Speaker

Ivan H. French
Magna cum laude

By Prof. Homer A. Kent, Jr.

The 16th annual session of Grace Theological Seminary came to a close with the graduation service on Friday evening, May 15, at 7:30 o'clock. The service was held in the spacious lower auditorium of the seminary building, recently equipped with an acoustical tile ceiling to facilitate such gatherings. A capacity crowd of families and friends filled the main auditorium and the two adjoining rooms.

Graduation Service

The academic processions, which included all the students of the school and the faculty, formed on the main and second floors of the building, and then marched to the platform as the congregation stood to honor them. The piano processional was played by Mrs. Beatrice Horne, wife of a member of the graduating class.

The invocation was offered by Rev. Lester E. Pifer (class of '47), pastor of the Grace Brethren Church of Fremont, Ohio. After the singing of the hymn, "Amazing Grace," under the direction of Donald Ogden, instructor of music in the seminary, the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Earl Umbaugh (class of '43), Baptist pastor from Gary, Ind. The annual seminary announcements were made by Rev. William A. Ogden, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Johnstown, Pa., and president of the seminary board of trustees. He recounted the blessings of God upon the school in a financial way, and announced that 16 months have been completed on the building amortization plan. The inauguration of a third year of collegiate work in September, with the fourth year to be added in 1954, was revealed. Announcement also was made of the retention of all the current faculty for the coming year, and of the promotion of several faculty members. Following the congregational singing of "Immanuel's Land," Rev. William J. Sweeting, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Warsaw, Ind., offered the evening prayer. Before the graduation address, the Grace Trumpeters, composed of Edwin Cashman, Harold Westing, and Edward Smith, played "Saved by Grace." This trio and their accompanist, David Halvorsen, will be traveling with Dr. Bauman during June and July in the interests of Grace Seminary.

The graduation address was delivered by Dr. Allan A. MacRae, president of Faith Theological Seminary. He traced God's dealings with men as outlined in Isaiah 24, and encouraged the graduates to fortify themselves by recognizing the Adversary. Immediately following this address, William Short, president of the senior class, presented an IBM electric typewriter to the seminary on behalf of the graduating class. Prof. Herbert Bess accepted this gift on behalf of the faculty and administration.

Dr. Homer A. Kent then announced the honor grad-

Thomas Inman
Summa cum laude

Robert Belt
Magna cum laude

Glen Schwenk
Magna cum laude

Wayne Snider
Cum laude

Sibley Edmiston
Cum laude

Richard Tevebaugh
Cum laude

(Left) Dr. McClain presiding at Graduation Service. (Right) Dr. MacRae delivering address.

uates of this year's class. Thomas Inman received the award Summa cum laude. Ivan H. French, Robert W. Belt, and Glen F. Schwenk received the award Magna cum laude. Wayne Snider, Sibley M. Edmiston, and Richard D. Tevebaugh received the award Cum laude. Prof. John C. Whitcomb spoke in recognition of these honors.

Dean Herman A. Hoyt next presented the candidates for graduation to President Alva J. McClain, who conferred the degrees and diplomas on behalf of the board of trustees. Dr. McClain was assisted by Vice President Paul Bauman and Registrar Homer A. Kent.

In the collegiate division, Charles M. Horne received the Bachelor of Arts degree. Mr. Horne has the distinction of being the first to receive the A. B. degree from Grace Seminary collegiate division.

In the graduate or seminary division, 36 students received diplomas and degrees. Eileen Mueller Sellers received the Christian Education diploma. Mary Elizabeth Dukeshire and Dorothy Muriel Robinson received the Master of Religious Education degree.

The Theological Diploma was awarded to Alvin Freedly Showalter and William Franklin Wiles.

Six students were given the Bachelor of Theology degree: Burton Louis Bartling, Harold G. Bunch, Richard P. DeArmey, Sibley Marvin Edmiston, Phillip Jackson Simmons, and Scott L. Weaver.

Twenty-two students received the Bachelor of Divinity degree: Frank Archer Baum, Robert William Belt, Donald E. Bishop, George E. Cone, Jr., Garth Dalmain Congdon, Donald Wilson Farner, William Richard Foster, Ivan Harry French, Roy Edgar Glass, Jr., Donald Robert Griffith, Frank Thomas Inman, George Lawrence Lawlor, Victor Hilbert Meyers, R. Paul Miller, Jr., Harold Francis Morr, William Russell Ogden, Glen Frederick Schwenk, William Frederick Short, Glenn Ellsworth Smouse, Robert Wayne Snider, Richard Delmar Tevebaugh, and Raymond Walter Thompson.

Three students were awarded the Master of Theology degree: Stephen Herbert Bess, Robert George Delnay, and John Clement Whitcomb, Jr. The above groups constitute the largest number ever to take diplomas and degrees in the seminary division.

In addition, the honorary degree, Doctor of Divinity, was bestowed upon two men by the faculty upon the authority of the board of trustees. Those receiving these degrees were Rev. William A. Ogden, pastor of the First Brethren Church of Johnstown, Pa., and Rev. Luther L. Grubb, general secretary of the Home Missions Council of the Brethren Church.

Rev. W. A. Ogden

Rev. L. L. Grubb

AWARDED DOCTOR OF DIVINITY DEGREES

Following the singing of a hymn, the service was concluded with prayer and benediction by Rev. Ward Miller (class of '46), pastor of the Bethel Brethren Church of Osceola, Ind., and a brother of one of the graduates. After the service, the graduates were greeted by their friends at the front of the auditorium.

Collegiate Banquet

Commencement activities were initiated by the collegiate division banquet, held Tuesday evening, May 5, at the Eskimo Inn. Toastmaster Ed Smith introduced the various elements of the program and told a few stories

MEN AWARDED MASTER OF THEOLOGY DEGREE

Left to right—
S. Herbert Bess
Robert G. Delnay
John C. Whitcomb, Jr.

The camera records two views of the Graduation Service.

of his own. Special music was furnished by Miss Beverly Page and by the Grace Trumpeters. The climax of the evening was the inspirational message by Dr. William J. Sweeting, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Warsaw, Ind.

Middler-Senior Banquet

The middler-senior banquet was held on Friday evening, May 8, at the Eskimo Inn. This banquet, planned by the middler class to honor the seniors, was attended by the entire student body and faculty with their families. Joel Kettenring as master of ceremonies guided the activities of the evening. The banquet was climaxed by a most helpful and appropriate address by Dr. Torrey Johnson, pastor of the Midwest Bible Church of Chicago, Ill., upon the subject, "He Was a Burning and a Shining Light" (John 5:35).

Class Day Service

The annual Class Day service was held in the chapel of Grace Seminary, in conjunction with the Sunday-morning service of the Winona Lake Brethren Church on May 10. The graduating class had full charge of the service and wore their academic regalia. William Short, president of the senior class, presided over the service, and various members of the class participated. The class sermon was delivered by Ivan French, president of the student body, who spoke from I Thessalonians 2:4 on the subject, "Put in Trust with the Gospel." This impressive service was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience of families and friends.

Baccalaureate Service

The baccalaureate service was conducted on the evening of Class Day in the lower auditorium of the seminary. The student body and graduates marched in academic procession to the front of the auditorium, and the graduates then took their places on the platform. The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev. Miles Taber, pastor of the West 10th Street Brethren Church of Ashland, Ohio. Three men from his congregation are members of the 1953 graduating class. He spoke most helpfully from John 10.

Communion Service

A communion service for all the graduates and their families, and the faculty, was held on Wednesday evening, May 13, in the seminary lounge. Fifty-four persons attended this impressive gathering, which was directed and explained most clearly by Dr. McClain. Many testified of the blessing of God during their seminary careers.

With these meaningful activities, the 1952-53 seminary year came to an impressive close. Every student and faculty member is grateful to the Lord for all His blessings, and to the many friends in the Brethren Church and elsewhere whose prayers and gifts have made this year possible. We ask your continued prayers that the accomplishments of this school year will bear fruit for the glory of our Saviour in the years to come.

FIRST GRADUATE OF COLLEGE DIVISION

By Charles M. Horne

Note: Mr. Horne is the first student to be graduated with the A. B. degree from the college division of Grace Theological Seminary. Having received part of his training in a New York school, Mr. Horne entered the college division in 1949. He has therefore had an opportunity to experience something of the development of the college division to the well-organized school it is today. His testimony is appreciated.

I indeed consider it one of the greatest privileges of my life to be the first student to graduate from the college division of Grace Theological Seminary. In this day and age in which mankind has become more than ever before educationally minded, there is a tremendous need for genuine Christian scholarship, for that scholarship which does not have its roots firmly embedded in a Biblical philosophy of education will inevitably produce diabolical results in the realm of the social, political, economical, moral, religious, and scientific endeavors of the human race. Christ must be at the center of all education if that education is to be truly worth while.

Charles Horne

Having said this, I can honestly and sincerely affirm that the college division of Grace Theological Seminary has met that need in a very efficient manner. Every class period is opened with a word of prayer. All the professors reflect a deep spiritual and Biblical appreciation for the subject under discussion no matter whether that subject be secular or sacred, if indeed such a distinction be ultimately valid. I shall never cease to praise the Lord for the excellent training which I have received in what I believe to be one of the country's finest educational institutions.

WHY WE'RE COMING TO GRACE COLLEGE

(THE COLLEGIATE DIVISION OF GRACE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY)

Note: The following testimonies were written by the first students to enroll in the September class of the college division. Pictures of these students appear on the front cover. Each may be identified by the number appearing with the picture on the cover and on this page beside the name.—Ed.

